Includes the eight-unit Sirach translator’s prologue.

This edition carries 67 source-checked revisions across 16 books from the Greek fidelity review. The revised text was verified in the published staging chapters. Earlier wording comes from the verified 9 November staging reading snapshot.

Verse labels preserve the staging edition’s Greek-based numbering, including combined and lettered labels and the Old Greek Daniel 5 preface. Chapter headings link to the online reading pages for current source declarations and complete editorial notes.

The targeted revisions compare the project’s Septuagint and critical Greek New Testament reading texts. Independent language and read-aloud review remain pending.

Genesis

Genesis 1

1:1 In the beginning God made heaven and earth.

1:2 Now the earth was unseen and unformed, and darkness was over the deep; and the Spirit of God was moving over the water.

Note 1: 1. Genesis 1:2 Meaning. Unseen and unformed retain the two Greek descriptions. Spirit is the contextual rendering of pneuma; wind remains a lexical alternative. Moving preserves the continuing action. The capital letter is an editorial choice.

1:3 And God said, “Let there be light.” And there was light.

1:4 And God saw that the light was good, and God divided the light from the darkness.

1:5 And God called the light Day, and the darkness He called Night. And there was evening, and there was morning: one day.

Note 2: 2. Genesis 1:5 Wording. One day retains the cardinal number in the Greek. The following creation days use ordinal numbers. Significant repetitions, including evening and morning, remain in the reading text.

1:6 And God said, “Let there be a firmament in the midst of the water, and let it divide water from water.” And it was so.

Note 3: 3. Genesis 1:6 Meaning. Firmament names the source’s division between waters. No modern astronomical identification is added. The vegetation and tree-and-fruit phrasing in verses 11–12 now follows the supplied Bespoke Saints English guide provisionally. This English choice has not been freshly collated against the Greek. Kind is not a modern taxonomic rank.

1:7 And God made the firmament, and God divided the water beneath the firmament from the water above the firmament.

1:8 And God called the firmament Heaven. And God saw that it was good. And there was evening, and there was morning: a second day.

1:9 And God said, “Let the water beneath heaven be gathered into one place, and let the dry land appear.” And it was so. And the water beneath heaven was gathered into its gathering places, and the dry land appeared.

1:10 And God called the dry land Earth, and the gathered waters He called Seas. And God saw that it was good.

1:11 And God said, “Let the earth bring forth vegetation sowing seed according to its kind and likeness, and fruit-bearing trees upon the earth, each yielding fruit with its seed within it, according to its kind.” And it was so.

1:12 And the earth brought forth vegetation sowing seed according to its kind and likeness, and fruit-bearing trees upon the earth, each yielding fruit with its seed within it, according to its kind. And God saw that it was good.

1:13 And there was evening, and there was morning: a third day.

1:14 And God said, “Let there be lights in the firmament of heaven to give light upon the earth and to divide the day from the night. Let them serve for signs and seasons, for days and years.

1:15 And let them be lights in the firmament of heaven, to shine upon the earth.” And it was so.

1:16 And God made the two great lights: the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night; He made the stars also.

1:17 And God set them in the firmament of heaven to shine upon the earth,

1:18 to rule the day and the night, and to divide the light from the darkness. And God saw that it was good.

1:19 And there was evening, and there was morning: a fourth day.

1:20 And God said, “Let the waters bring forth living creatures that move, and birds that fly above the earth across the firmament of heaven.” And it was so.

Note 4: 4. Genesis 1:20 Meaning. Creeping things here includes aquatic life. Great sea creatures in verse 21 does not specify whales. Livestock in verses 25–28 keeps the wider ancient category and replaces cattle in the earlier Saints English trial, whose modern sense can suggest bovines alone.

1:21 And God made the great sea creatures, and every living creature that moves, which the waters brought forth according to their kinds, and every winged bird according to its kind. And God saw that they were good.

1:22 And God blessed them, saying, “Grow and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas; and let the birds multiply upon the earth.”

1:23 And there was evening, and there was morning: a fifth day.

1:24 And God said, “Let the earth bring forth living creatures according to their kind: four-footed animals, creeping things, and wild beasts of the earth according to their kind.” And it was so.

1:25 And God made the wild beasts of the earth according to their kind, and the cattle according to their kind, and all the creeping things of the earth according to their kinds. And God saw that they were good.

1:26 And God said, “Let Us make man in Our image and likeness; and let them rule over the fish of the sea, the birds of heaven, the cattle, all the earth, and every creeping thing that creeps upon the earth.”

Note 5: 5. Genesis 1:26 Meaning. Man is collective, including male and female in verse 27. The shift from singular man to plural let them have dominion is retained. The repeated according to is restored from the Greek. Capitalized Us and Our do not add an explanation of the divine plural.

1:27 And God made man; in the image of God He made him; male and female He made them.

1:28 And God blessed them, saying, “Grow and multiply, and fill the earth and subdue it. Rule over the fish of the sea, the birds of heaven, all the cattle, all the earth, and every creeping thing that creeps upon the earth.”

1:29 And God said, “Behold, I have given you every plant sowing seed upon all the earth, and every tree that bears fruit containing seed. These shall be yours for food.

1:30 And to every wild beast of the earth, every bird of heaven, and every creeping thing upon the earth that has life within it, I have given every green plant for food.” And it was so.

Note 6: 6. Genesis 1:30 Wording. I have given is understood from verse 29 and repeated to complete the English sentence. The Greek life or soul expression also applies to animals; it is not restricted to human beings.

1:31 And God saw all that He had made, and behold, it was very good. And there was evening, and there was morning: a sixth day.

Genesis 2

2:1 Thus heaven and earth were finished, and all their ordered array.

2:2 And on the sixth day God completed the works He had made, and on the seventh day He rested from all the works He had made.

Note 7: 7. Genesis 2:2 Text. The governing running text places completion on the sixth day and cessation on the seventh. Sixth is retained. This identifies the consulted edition’s reading, not the agreement of every Septuagint witness.

2:3 And God blessed the seventh day and hallowed it, because on it He rested from all the works that God had begun to make.

2:4 This is the book of the origin of heaven and earth, when they came to be, on the day when God made heaven and earth,

2:5 and every green plant of the field before it appeared upon the earth, and every plant of the field before it sprang up. For God had not sent rain upon the earth, and there was no man to till the ground.

2:6 But a spring rose from the earth and watered the whole face of the ground.

2:7 And God formed man from the dust of the earth, and breathed into his face the breath of life; and man became a living soul.

2:8 And the Lord God planted a garden in Eden, toward the east, and there He placed the man whom He had formed.

2:9 And God caused every tree that was beautiful to behold and good for food to spring up from the earth, with the tree of life in the midst of the garden, and the tree of the knowledge of good and evil.

Note 8: 8. Genesis 2:9 Meaning. The unusual tree of knowing what is knowable of good and evil retains the fuller wording here. Verse 17 uses a shorter construction. Garden renders paradeisos throughout Genesis; garden of delight retains the additional noun at 3:23–24.

2:10 And a river flows out of Eden to water the garden, and from there it divides into four branches.

Note 9: 9. Genesis 2:10 Wording. Four branches renders the river’s division into four archai, literally beginnings or heads. The inherited draft’s four beginnings is preserved here in the note. The translation describes the division without supplying a geographical reconstruction.

2:11 The name of the first is Pishon; it flows around the whole land of Havilah, where there is gold.

2:12 And the gold of that land is good; there also are the carbuncle and the green stone.

Note 10: 10. Genesis 2:12 Meaning. Carbuncle and green stone preserve the inherited rendering of the two Greek stone terms. Their precise mineral identification remains uncertain. Ethiopia in verse 13 is the source’s ancient geographical designation; it is not a statement of modern national borders.

2:13 The name of the second river is Gihon; it flows around the whole land of Ethiopia.

2:14 The third river is the Tigris; it flows opposite Assyria. And the fourth river is the Euphrates.

2:15 And the Lord God took the man whom He had formed and placed him in the garden, to tend it and keep it.

2:16 And the Lord God commanded Adam, saying, “You may freely eat from every tree in the garden;

Note 11: 11. Genesis 2:16 Grammar. Verses 16–17 now follow the supplied guide in using you when God addresses people. The earlier draft used thou for the permission in verse 16 and ye for the prohibition and consequence in verse 17, reporting a singular-to-plural distinction even though Adam is the named recipient. That Greek-number claim remains pending selected-source verification and is not erased by the shared English pronoun. Freely eat and surely die are retained; their Greek constructions also remain subject to that review.

2:17 but from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil you shall not eat. For on the day you eat from it, you shall surely die.”

2:18 And the Lord God said, “It is not good for the man to be alone. Let Us make him a helper corresponding to him.”

Note 12: 12. Genesis 2:18 Meaning. Let Us make is plural in the consulted Greek. A helper corresponding to him preserves the relationship expressed; verse 20 separately uses like unto him. Neither expression is expanded into a theological account of rank.

2:19 And God also formed from the earth every wild beast of the field and every bird of heaven, and brought them to Adam to see what he would call them. And whatever Adam called each living creature, that was its name.

2:20 And Adam gave names to all the cattle, all the birds of heaven, and all the wild beasts of the field. But for Adam no helper like himself was found.

2:21 And God cast a deep sleep upon Adam, and he slept. And He took one of his ribs and filled its place with flesh.

Note 13: 13. Genesis 2:21 Meaning. Deep sleep renders ekstasis in this sleeping context. The rib is built into a woman in verse 22, preserving the construction verb. Her husband in verse 23 retains the earlier draft's stated possessive choice; its Greek basis remains subject to the pending source check. Woman and man express the earlier note's naming explanation without manufacturing an English etymology. This, at last in verse 23 is the supplied guide's contextual English rendering, not a claim that a separate Greek word expressly adds at last.

2:22 And the Lord God fashioned the rib He had taken from Adam into a woman, and brought her to Adam.

2:23 And Adam said: This, at last, is bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh. She shall be called Woman, for she was taken from her husband.

2:24 For this reason a man shall leave his father and his mother and cleave to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh.

2:25 And the two were naked, both Adam and his wife, and they were not ashamed.

Genesis 3

3:1 Now the serpent was more cunning than all the wild beasts upon the earth that the Lord God had made. And the serpent said to the woman, "Why has God said, 'You shall not eat from any tree in the garden'?"

Note 14: 14. Genesis 3:1 Grammar. The serpent speaks to the woman with plural forms, referring to the human pair. These remain ye and your through verse 5. The serpent's quoted words are read as a total prohibition, so the verse reads any: in English, not … of every tree can suggest that only some trees are forbidden. The Greek negative with every does not by itself rule out other readings.

3:2 And the woman said to the serpent, "We may eat of the fruit of the trees in the garden.

3:3 But of the fruit of the tree in the midst of the garden, God said, 'You shall not eat of it, nor shall you touch it, lest you die.'"

3:4 And the serpent said to the woman, "You shall surely not die.

3:5 For God knew that on the day you ate of it, your eyes would be opened, and you would be as gods, knowing good and evil."

3:6 And the woman saw that the tree was good for food, pleasing to the eyes, and beautiful to contemplate. And she took of its fruit and ate; she also gave some to her husband with her, and they ate.

3:7 And the eyes of both were opened, and they knew that they were naked. And they sewed fig leaves together and made coverings for themselves.

3:8 And they heard the sound of the Lord God walking in the garden toward evening. And Adam and his wife hid themselves from the face of the Lord God among the trees of the garden.

Note 15: 15. Genesis 3:8 Meaning. Voice can also mean sound. The rendering does not insert footsteps. Toward evening follows the temporal expression. Face is retained as the source image in the hiding scene.

3:9 And the Lord God called to Adam and said to him, "Adam, where are you?"

3:10 And he said to Him, "I heard Thy voice as Thou didst walk in the garden, and I was afraid because I am naked, and I hid myself."

3:11 And He said to him, "Who told you that you are naked? Have you eaten from the tree of which alone I commanded you not to eat?"

3:12 And Adam said, "The woman whom Thou didst give to be with me—she gave me fruit from the tree, and I ate."

3:13 And the Lord God said to the woman, "What is this you have done?" And the woman said, "The serpent deceived me, and I ate."

3:14 And the Lord God said to the serpent: Because you have done this, cursed are you above all cattle and all the wild beasts of the earth. Upon your breast and belly you shall go, and earth you shall eat all the days of your life.

3:15 And I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your seed and her seed. He shall watch for your head, and you shall watch for his heel.

Note 16: 16. Genesis 3:15 Meaning. Watch against is the earlier trial's provisional contextual rendering of the repeated Greek watching verb. The same verb is retained for both actions. The masculine he remains visible beside seed; lower-case pronouns do not decide its later interpretation. Bruise or crush is not imported from another textual tradition.

3:16 And to the woman He said: I will greatly multiply your sorrows and your groaning; in sorrow you shall bear children. You shall turn toward your husband, and he shall rule over you.

Note 17: 17. Genesis 3:16 Meaning. Turning keeps the noun apostrophe visible. It is not silently replaced by desire or submission. Pains and groaning retain both Greek objects. This passage and 3:15 require independent linguistic review.

3:17 And to Adam He said: Because you listened to the voice of your wife and ate from the tree of which alone I commanded you not to eat, cursed is the earth in your labours; in pain you shall eat of it all the days of your life.

3:18 Thorns and thistles it shall bring forth for you, and you shall eat the plants of the field.

3:19 By the sweat of your face you shall eat your bread, until you return to the earth from which you were taken; for earth you are, and unto earth you shall return.

3:20 And Adam called his wife's name Life, because she was the mother of all the living.

Note 18: 18. Genesis 3:20 Wording. Life translates the name as the Greek explicitly gives it here. The narrative uses Eve at 4:1. This does not authorize replacing ordinary names with conjectured meanings. At 3:24 the Greek also says that Adam was settled opposite the garden; that action is retained.

3:21 And the Lord God made garments of skin for Adam and his wife, and clothed them.

3:22 And God said, "Behold, Adam has become as one of Us, knowing good and evil. And now, lest he stretch forth his hand and take also from the tree of life, and eat, and live for ever—"

3:23 And the Lord God sent him out of the garden of delight to till the earth from which he had been taken.

3:24 And He drove Adam out and settled him opposite the garden of delight. And He stationed the cherubim and the flaming sword that turns about, to guard the way to the tree of life.

Genesis 4

4:1 Now Adam knew Eve his wife, and she conceived and bore Cain, and said, "I have gained a man through God."

4:2 And again she bore his brother Abel. And Abel became a shepherd of sheep, but Cain tilled the earth.

4:3 And after some time Cain brought an offering to the Lord from the fruits of the earth.

4:4 And Abel also brought an offering from the firstborn of his sheep and from their fat. And God looked with favour upon Abel and his gifts,

4:5 but He gave no heed to Cain and his offerings. And Cain was greatly distressed, and his face fell.

4:6 And the Lord God said to Cain, "Why are you so distressed, and why has your face fallen?

4:7 If you offer rightly but do not divide rightly, have you not sinned? Be still. His turning shall be toward you, and you shall rule over him."

Note 19: 19. Genesis 4:7 Meaning. The Greek discusses offering rightly and dividing rightly. His turning and rule over him retain the masculine pronouns without identifying their referent inside the verse. The inherited wording is retained in traditional grammar; the familiar image of sin crouching is not inserted.

4:8 And Cain said to Abel his brother, "Let us go out into the field." And while they were in the field, Cain rose against Abel his brother and slew him.

4:9 And God said to Cain, "Where is Abel your brother?" And he said, "I do not know. Am I my brother's keeper?"

4:10 And God said, "What have you done? The voice of your brother's blood cries unto Me from the earth.

4:11 And now you are cursed from the earth, which opened its mouth to receive your brother's blood from your hand.

4:12 When you till the earth, it shall no longer yield its strength to you. You shall be groaning and trembling upon the earth."

4:13 And Cain said to the Lord, "My guilt is too great for me to be forgiven.

4:14 If Thou dost cast me out this day from the face of the earth, I shall be hidden from Thy face; and I shall be groaning and trembling upon the earth, and whoever finds me shall slay me."

4:15 And the Lord God said to him, "Not so. Whoever slays Cain shall incur sevenfold vengeance." And the Lord God set a mark upon Cain, that no one finding him should slay him.

Note 20: 20. Genesis 4:15 Meaning. Shall suffer sevenfold vengeance is a contextual rendering of a difficult Greek clause; the inherited draft has will discharge seven acts of vengeance. The force of the verb and the sevenfold expression remains open to specialist review. A sign for Cain does not specify its appearance or physical location.

4:16 And Cain went out from the face of God and dwelt in the land of Nod, opposite Eden.

4:17 And Cain knew his wife, and she conceived and bore Enoch. And he was building a city, and named the city after his son Enoch.

4:18 And to Enoch was born Gaidad; and Gaidad begot Maiel; and Maiel begot Methuselah; and Methuselah begot Lamech.

Note 21: 21. Genesis 4:18 Text. Gaidad, Maiel, and Mathousala retain the inherited Greek-facing names in this genealogy. They are not silently replaced by the familiar Hebrew-facing sequence. Harp and lyre in verse 21 retain the two instrument names; their precise construction is not specified.

4:19 And Lamech took two wives. The name of the first was Adah, and the name of the second was Zillah.

4:20 And Adah bore Jabal; he was the father of those who dwell in tents and keep livestock.

4:21 His brother's name was Jubal; he introduced the psaltery and the lyre.

4:22 And Zillah also bore Thobel, a smith who worked bronze and iron with the hammer. And Thobel's sister was Naamah.

4:23 And Lamech said to his wives: Adah and Zillah, hear my voice; wives of Lamech, give ear to my words. For I have slain a man to my own hurt, and a young man to my own bruising.

4:24 For Cain has been avenged sevenfold, but Lamech seventy times seven.

Note 22: 22. Genesis 4:24 Meaning. The difficult vengeance wording is retained as from Cain and from Lamech, with seventy times seven. Verse 23 remains Lamech's speech. The translation does not decide whether its wound and bruise clauses describe retaliation, consequence, or boastful justification.

4:25 And Adam knew Eve his wife, and she conceived and bore a son, and named him Seth, saying, "For God has raised up another seed for me in place of Abel, whom Cain slew."

4:26 And to Seth also a son was born, and he named him Enosh. He hoped to call upon the name of the Lord God.

Note 23: 23. Genesis 4:26 Text. He hoped to call preserves the singular subject and the hope verb. It is not replaced by a statement that people began calling. The preceding verse retains seed for the promised replacement offspring.

Genesis 5

5:1 This is the book of the generations of mankind. On the day when God made Adam, He made him in the image of God.

5:2 Male and female He made them, and He blessed them, and named them Adam on the day when He made them.

5:3 And Adam lived two hundred and thirty years, and begot a son in his own likeness and image, and named him Seth.

Note 24: 24. Genesis 5:3 Text. The ages throughout chapters 5 and 11 follow the consulted Greek running text. Thus Adam is 230 at Seth's birth, Seth 205 at Enosh's birth, and Methuselah 167 at Lamech's birth. These figures are not harmonized with other traditions or used here to construct a chronology.

5:4 And the days of Adam after he begot Seth were seven hundred years, and he begot sons and daughters.

5:5 And all the days that Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years, and he died.

5:6 And Seth lived two hundred and five years, and begot Enosh.

5:7 And Seth lived seven hundred and seven years after he begot Enosh, and begot sons and daughters.

5:8 And all the days of Seth were nine hundred and twelve years, and he died.

5:9 And Enosh lived one hundred and ninety years, and begot Cainan.

5:10 And Enosh lived seven hundred and fifteen years after he begot Cainan, and begot sons and daughters.

5:11 And all the days of Enosh were nine hundred and five years, and he died.

5:12 And Cainan lived one hundred and seventy years, and begot Mahalalel.

5:13 And Cainan lived seven hundred and forty years after he begot Mahalalel, and begot sons and daughters.

5:14 And all the days of Cainan were nine hundred and ten years, and he died.

5:15 And Mahalalel lived one hundred and sixty-five years, and begot Jared.

5:16 And Mahalalel lived seven hundred and thirty years after he begot Jared, and begot sons and daughters.

5:17 And all the days of Mahalalel were eight hundred and ninety-five years, and he died.

5:18 And Jared lived one hundred and sixty-two years, and begot Enoch.

5:19 And Jared lived eight hundred years after he begot Enoch, and begot sons and daughters.

5:20 And all the days of Jared were nine hundred and sixty-two years, and he died.

5:21 And Enoch lived one hundred and sixty-five years, and begot Methuselah.

5:22 And Enoch pleased God for two hundred years after he begot Methuselah, and begot sons and daughters.

5:23 And all the days of Enoch were three hundred and sixty-five years.

5:24 And Enoch pleased God, and was not found, for God transferred him.

Note 25: 25. Genesis 5:24 Meaning. Pleased God retains the Greek action in verses 22 and 24. Transferred now follows the supplied guide's approved English wording provisionally, replacing taken him away. This update is not an independent verification of the Greek removal verb or a claim of Göttingen collation. The verse does not identify a destination; none is supplied.

5:25 And Methuselah lived one hundred and sixty-seven years, and begot Lamech.

5:26 And Methuselah lived eight hundred and two years after he begot Lamech, and begot sons and daughters.

5:27 And all the days that Methuselah lived were nine hundred and sixty-nine years, and he died.

5:28 And Lamech lived one hundred and eighty-eight years, and begot a son.

5:29 And he named him Noah, saying, "This one shall give us rest from our works and from the toil of our hands, and from the earth which the Lord God has cursed."

5:30 And Lamech lived five hundred and sixty-five years after he begot Noah, and begot sons and daughters.

5:31 And all the days of Lamech were seven hundred and fifty-three years, and he died.

5:32 And Noah was five hundred years old, and Noah begot three sons: Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

Genesis 6

6:1 And it came to pass, when mankind began to increase upon the earth and daughters were born to them,

6:2 that the sons of God saw that the daughters of men were beautiful, and took wives for themselves from all whom they chose.

6:3 And the Lord God said, “My Spirit shall not abide in these men for ever, for they are flesh; and their days shall be a hundred and twenty years.”

Note 26: 26. Genesis 6:3 Meaning. My spirit retains pneuma without adding Holy or deciding every aspect of the spirit and breath imagery. The Greek says abide, not strive. Verses 6–7 distinguish God’s considering and reflecting from the angered wording; a familiar English formula is not substituted for both.

6:4 Now giants were upon the earth in those days, and afterward also, whenever the sons of God went in to the daughters of men and they bore children to them. These were the giants of old, the men of renown.

6:5 And the Lord God saw that the wickedness of mankind had multiplied upon the earth, and that each one continually set his heart upon evil all his days.

6:6 And God took to heart that He had made man upon the earth, and pondered it.

6:7 And God said, “I will blot out from the face of the earth the mankind I have made, together with the cattle, the creeping things, and the birds of heaven; for I am angered that I made them.”

6:8 But Noah found grace before the Lord God.

6:9 These are the generations of Noah. Noah was a righteous man, blameless in his generation; Noah pleased God.

Note 27: 27. Genesis 6:9 Meaning. Blameless renders teleios contextually, replacing the inherited complete. It describes Noah within his generation and is not expanded into a claim of absolute sinlessness. Verses 11 and 13 now provisionally use the supplied guide’s unrighteousness to preserve its English connection with righteous in verse 9. The earlier draft used iniquity for adikia; the Greek lexical choice remains pending source review. Violence has not been introduced as a replacement.

6:10 And Noah begot three sons: Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

6:11 And the earth was corrupt before God, and the earth was filled with unrighteousness.

6:12 And the Lord God looked upon the earth, and it was corrupt, for all flesh had corrupted its way upon the earth.

6:13 And God said to Noah, “The time of all mankind has come before Me, for the earth is filled with unrighteousness because of them; and behold, I am destroying them and the earth.

6:14 “Therefore make yourself an ark of squared timber. Make compartments within the ark, and coat it inside and out with pitch.

Note 28: 28. Genesis 6:14 Meaning. Squared timber follows the Greek description and the Law lexicon decision LAW-GEN-10; no wood species is inferred. Nests preserves the architectural image for compartments. Pitch is an ancient coating material. Cubits remain cubits without an exact modern conversion.

6:15 And this is how you shall make it: the ark shall be three hundred cubits long, fifty cubits wide, and thirty cubits high.

6:16 Make the ark taper toward the top, and finish it to a cubit above. Set the door of the ark in its side, and make it with lower, second, and third storeys.

Note 29: 29. Genesis 6:16 Meaning. By bringing it together preserves the difficult participle in the inherited draft. The narrowing or converging construction is uncertain; neither a window nor a fully reconstructed roof is inserted. Lower, second, and third storeys retain the stated levels. This line remains a priority for architectural and linguistic review.

6:17 “And behold, I am bringing a flood of water upon the earth, to destroy all flesh beneath heaven in which is the breath of life. Everything upon the earth shall die.

6:18 But I will establish My covenant with you. And you shall enter the ark, you and your sons, your wife and your sons’ wives with you.

6:19 “And from all the cattle, all the creeping things, all the wild beasts, and all flesh, you shall bring two of each into the ark, to sustain them with you. They shall be male and female.

6:20 Of all the winged birds according to their kind, all the cattle according to their kind, and all the creeping things upon the earth according to their kinds, two of each shall come to you, male and female, to be sustained with you.

6:21 “And take for yourself every kind of food that is eaten, and gather it to yourself. It shall be food for you and for them.”

Note 30: 30. Genesis 6:21 Grammar. Thou shalt take and unto thyself address Noah in the singular, but ye shall eat preserves the plural future within the same verse. At 8:17 the singular command to bring forth is followed by plural commands to increase and multiply.

6:22 And Noah did all that the Lord God commanded him; so he did.

Genesis 7

7:1 And the Lord God said to Noah, “Enter the ark, you and all your household, for I have seen you righteous before Me in this generation.

7:2 “Of the clean animals, bring in with you by sevens, male and female; and of the unclean animals, by twos, male and female.

Note 31: 31. Genesis 7:2 Wording. Seven by seven and two by two retain the distributive expressions. Verse 3 distinguishes clean and unclean birds as well as animals. The text does not replace the repeated sevens with an unmarked explanatory count.

7:3 Of the clean birds of heaven also, by sevens, male and female; and of the unclean birds, by twos, male and female, to preserve their seed upon all the earth.

7:4 “For in seven days I will bring rain upon the earth for forty days and forty nights, and I will blot out from the face of the earth every living thing that I have made.”

7:5 And Noah did all that the Lord God commanded him.

7:6 Noah was six hundred years old when the flood of water came upon the earth.

7:7 And Noah entered the ark with his sons, his wife, and his sons’ wives, because of the waters of the flood.

7:8 Of the birds, the clean animals, the unclean animals, and all the creeping things upon the earth,

7:9 two by two they entered the ark with Noah, male and female, as God had commanded him.

7:10 And after seven days the waters of the flood came upon the earth.

7:11 In the six hundredth year of Noah’s life, in the second month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, on that day all the fountains of the deep burst open, and the floodgates of heaven were opened.

Note 32: 32. Genesis 7:11 Text. The twenty-seventh day is retained at 7:11, 8:4, and 8:14. The reference is relative to Noah’s life and the narrative months; no modern calendar date is inferred. Closed the ark from outside, shutting him in, at 7:16 expresses the external closing and keeps the ark as the object of the Greek verb. The English clarification does not describe its mechanism.

7:12 And rain fell upon the earth for forty days and forty nights.

7:13 On that very day Noah entered the ark, with Shem, Ham, and Japheth, the sons of Noah, and Noah’s wife and the three wives of his sons with him.

7:14 And every wild beast according to its kind, all the cattle according to their kind, every creeping thing that moves upon the earth according to its kind, and every bird according to its kind

7:15 entered the ark with Noah, two by two of all flesh in which is the breath of life.

7:16 Those that entered were male and female of all flesh, as God had commanded Noah. And the Lord God closed the ark from the outside.

7:17 And the flood was upon the earth for forty days and forty nights. And the waters increased and lifted the ark, and it rose above the earth.

7:18 And the waters prevailed and increased greatly upon the earth, and the ark floated upon the waters.

7:19 And the waters prevailed exceedingly upon the earth, and covered all the high mountains beneath heaven.

7:20 The waters rose fifteen cubits above them and covered all the high mountains.

7:21 And all flesh that moved upon the earth died: birds, cattle, wild beasts, every creeping thing that moves upon the earth, and all mankind.

7:22 Everything that had the breath of life, everything upon the dry land, died.

7:23 And He blotted out every living thing upon the face of the whole earth: mankind, cattle, creeping things, and the birds of heaven. They were blotted out from the earth, and only Noah remained, and those with him in the ark.

7:24 And the waters remained high upon the earth for one hundred and fifty days.

Genesis 8

8:1 And God remembered Noah, and all the wild beasts, all the cattle, all the birds, and all the creeping things that were with him in the ark. And God brought a wind upon the earth, and the waters subsided.

8:2 And the fountains of the deep and the floodgates of heaven were closed, and the rain from heaven was restrained.

8:3 And the waters steadily withdrew from the earth; after one hundred and fifty days the waters had receded and diminished.

8:4 And in the seventh month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, the ark rested upon the mountains of Ararat.

8:5 And the waters continued to diminish until the tenth month. In the eleventh month, on the first day of the month, the tops of the mountains appeared.

Note 33: 33. Genesis 8:5 Text. The Greek says until the tenth month, then in the eleventh month for the appearing mountain tops. Both are retained. At 8:7 the raven returned not until the water dried; this is not replaced by a different description of repeated journeys.

8:6 And after forty days Noah opened the window of the ark which he had made.

8:7 And he sent forth the raven to see whether the waters had subsided. It went out and did not return until the waters had dried from the earth.

8:8 And he sent forth the dove after it, to see whether the waters had subsided from the face of the earth.

8:9 But the dove found no resting place for its feet, and returned to him in the ark, for water covered the whole face of the earth. And he stretched forth his hand, took it, and brought it to himself within the ark.

8:10 And he waited another seven days, and again sent forth the dove from the ark.

8:11 And the dove returned to him toward evening, bearing an olive sprig with a leaf in its beak. And Noah knew that the waters had subsided from the earth.

Note 34: 34. Genesis 8:11 Meaning. The inherited olive leaf, a dry piece retains the difficult karphos expression. Dry piece is provisional; the phrase is not silently changed to freshly plucked. The beak renders the bird's mouth in ordinary English. Independent lexical review remains needed.

8:12 And he waited another seven days, and again sent forth the dove; and it returned to him no more.

8:13 And in the six hundred and first year of Noah's life, in the first month, on the first day of the month, the waters had disappeared from the earth. And Noah removed the covering of the ark which he had made, and saw that the waters had disappeared from the face of the earth.

8:14 And in the second month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, the earth was dry.

8:15 And the Lord God spoke to Noah, saying,

8:16 "Come out of the ark, you and your wife, your sons and your sons' wives with you.

8:17 Bring out with you all the wild beasts that are with you, and all flesh, both birds and cattle, and every creeping thing that moves upon the earth. And grow and multiply upon the earth."

8:18 And Noah came out, with his wife, his sons, and his sons' wives.

8:19 And all the wild beasts, all the cattle, every bird, and every creeping thing that moves upon the earth came out of the ark according to their kinds.

8:20 And Noah built an altar to God. And he took of every kind of clean animal and every kind of clean bird, and offered whole burnt offerings upon the altar.

8:21 And the Lord God smelled the sweet fragrance, and the Lord God considered and said, "I will never again curse the earth because of the deeds of mankind, for the mind of man is bent intently upon evil from his youth. Therefore I will never again strike down all living flesh as I have done.

8:22 All the days of the earth, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, summer and spring shall not cease by day or night."

Note 35: 35. Genesis 8:22 Text. Summer and spring follow the Greek terms; winter is not substituted. Seedtime renders seed in its seasonal context. By day or by night reads the day-and-night expression adverbially with shall not cease.

Genesis 9

9:1 And God blessed Noah and his sons, and said to them, "Grow and multiply, and fill the earth and subdue it.

9:2 The dread and fear of you shall fall upon every wild beast of the earth, every bird of heaven, everything that moves upon the earth, and every fish of the sea. Into your hands I have given them.

9:3 "Every living thing that moves shall be food for you. As I gave the green plants, so I have given you all things.

9:4 But flesh with its lifeblood you shall not eat.

9:5 "And surely I will require your blood, the blood of your lives. From every beast I will require it, and from the hand of a fellow man I will require the life of man.

Note 36: 36. Genesis 9:5 Meaning. The hand image is restored where the inherited draft compressed it to from the animals and from a human brother. Blood and life remain linked. In verse 6, his own blood shall be shed in recompense clarifies the compressed Greek clause; no human executor is expressly inserted.

9:6 Whoever sheds the blood of man, his own blood shall be shed in return; for in the image of God I made man.

9:7 "But you, grow and multiply, and fill the earth and multiply upon it."

9:8 And God spoke to Noah and to his sons with him, saying,

9:9 "Behold, I establish My covenant with you and with your seed after you,

Note 37: 37. Genesis 9:9 Meaning. Covenant follows Law decision LAW-GEN-11. Seed preserves the offspring image. Living soul in verses 10–16 includes animals. Bow is retained in the cloud as the covenant sign without adding a theory of its symbolism.

9:10 and with every living creature that is with you: the birds, the cattle, and all the wild beasts of the earth with you, all that came out of the ark.

9:11 "And I will establish My covenant with you: never again shall all flesh perish by the waters of a flood, and never again shall there be a flood of water to destroy the whole earth."

9:12 And the Lord God said to Noah, "This is the sign of the covenant which I give between Me and you and every living creature with you, for everlasting generations:

9:13 I set My bow in the cloud, and it shall be a sign of the covenant between Me and the earth.

9:14 “And when I gather clouds over the earth, My bow shall appear in the cloud.

9:15 And I will remember My covenant between Me and you and every living creature of all flesh; and the waters shall never again become a flood to blot out all flesh.

9:16 “My bow shall be in the cloud, and I will look upon it and remember the everlasting covenant between Me and every living creature of all flesh upon the earth.”

9:17 And God said to Noah, “This is the sign of the covenant which I have established between Me and all flesh upon the earth.”

9:18 Now the sons of Noah who came out of the ark were Shem, Ham, and Japheth. And Ham was the father of Canaan.

9:19 These three were the sons of Noah, and from them people were scattered over all the earth.

9:20 And Noah began to till the ground, and planted a vineyard.

9:21 And he drank of the wine and became drunk, and lay uncovered in his house.

9:22 And Ham, the father of Canaan, saw his father’s nakedness, and went out and told his two brothers outside.

9:23 And Shem and Japheth took a garment, laid it across their shoulders, and walked backward to cover their father’s nakedness. Their faces were turned away, and they did not see their father’s nakedness.

9:24 And Noah awoke from his wine and knew what his younger son had done to him.

9:25 And he said: Cursed be Canaan; a household slave shall he be to his brothers.

Note 38: 38. Genesis 9:25 Meaning. Household slave preserves the servile relation rather than replacing it with hired employment. The curse names Canaan. No racial, geographical, or modern social identification is added. At 9:27 let him dwell leaves the pronoun’s disputed referent unresolved, and houses remains plural.

9:26 And he said: Blessed be the Lord, the God of Shem; and Canaan shall be his servant.

9:27 May God enlarge Japheth, and may he dwell in the houses of Shem; and let Canaan be their servant.

9:28 And Noah lived three hundred and fifty years after the flood.

9:29 And all the days of Noah were nine hundred and fifty years, and he died.

Genesis 10

10:1 These are the generations of the sons of Noah: Shem, Ham, and Japheth. And sons were born to them after the flood.

10:2 The sons of Japheth were Gomer, Magog, Madai, Javan, Elishah, Tubal, Meshech, and Tiras.

Note 39: 39. Genesis 10:2 Text. The genealogy retains the consulted Greek’s Elishah in the sons of Japheth, the Rhodians at 10:4, Cainan in 10:22 and 10:24, and the Greek-facing names where the inherited draft uses them. No member is removed to harmonize another genealogy. Established names such as Nimrod, Shinar, and Shelah remain the project’s naming convention.

10:3 And the sons of Gomer were Ashkenaz, Riphath, and Togarmah.

10:4 And the sons of Javan were Elishah and Tarshish, the Kittians and the Rhodians.

10:5 From these the islands of the nations were divided in their lands, each according to its language, by their tribes and their nations.

10:6 And the sons of Ham were Cush, Mizraim, Put, and Canaan.

10:7 And the sons of Cush were Seba, Havilah, Sabtah, Raamah, and Sabteca. And the sons of Raamah were Sheba and Dedan.

10:8 And Cush begot Nimrod. He began to be a giant upon the earth.

10:9 He was a giant hunter before the Lord God; therefore it is said, “Like Nimrod, a giant hunter before the Lord.”

10:10 And the beginning of his kingdom was Babylon, Erech, Akkad, and Calneh, in the land of Shinar.

10:11 From that land Asshur went out and built Nineveh, the city of Rehoboth, and Calah,

10:12 and Dasem between Nineveh and Calah; this is the great city.

10:13 And Mizraim begot the Ludim, the Enemetim, the Lubim, the Naphtuhim,

10:14 the Pathrusim, the Casluhim—from whom the Philistines came—and the Caphtorim.

10:15 And Canaan begot Sidon his firstborn, and the Hittite,

10:16 the Jebusite, the Amorite, the Girgashite,

10:17 the Hivite, the Arkite, the Sinite,

10:18 the Arvadite, the Zemarite, and the Hamathite. And afterward the tribes of the Canaanites were scattered.

10:19 And the borders of the Canaanites extended from Sidon toward Gerar and Gaza, and toward Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboiim, as far as Lasha.

10:20 These were the sons of Ham, according to their tribes and languages, in their lands and their nations.

10:21 And to Shem also children were born. He was the father of all the sons of Eber, and the brother of Japheth the elder.

Note 40: 40. Genesis 10:21 Meaning. The reading follows brother of Japheth the elder. The relationship of the comparative adjective has been disputed; the English choice is an editorial interpretation, not an apparatus judgment.

10:22 The sons of Shem were Elam, Asshur, Arphaxad, Lud, Aram, and Cainan.

10:23 And the sons of Aram were Uz, Hul, Gether, and Meshech.

10:24 And Arphaxad begot Cainan, and Cainan begot Shelah, and Shelah begot Eber.

10:25 And to Eber two sons were born. The name of the first was Peleg, for in his days the earth was divided; and his brother's name was Joktan.

10:26 And Joktan begot Almodad, Sheleph, Hazarmaveth, Jerah,

10:27 Hadoram, Uzal, Diklah,

10:28 Abimael, Sheba,

10:29 Ophir, Havilah, and Jobab. All these were the sons of Joktan.

10:30 And their dwelling extended from Mesha toward Sephar, the mountain of the east.

10:31 These were the sons of Shem, according to their tribes and languages, in their lands and their nations.

10:32 These were the tribes of the sons of Noah, according to their generations and their nations. And from these the islands of the nations were dispersed over the earth after the flood.

Genesis 11

11:1 And the whole earth had one language, and all shared one speech.

Note 41: 41. Genesis 11:1 Meaning. One lip restores the source image beside one voice; the sense concerns shared speech. Lips, tongue, and voice are retained where they occur in verses 6–9. Head of the tower retains the image of its top. Understand in verse 7 gives the contextual force of hearing another's speech.

11:2 And as they journeyed from the east, they found a plain in the land of Shinar and settled there.

11:3 And each said to his neighbour, "Come, let us make bricks and burn them in the fire." And they used brick for stone, and pitch for mortar.

11:4 And they said, "Come, let us build ourselves a city and a tower whose summit shall reach unto heaven, and let us make a name for ourselves before we are scattered over the face of the whole earth."

11:5 And the Lord came down to see the city and the tower which the children of men had built.

11:6 And the Lord said, "Behold, they are one people, and all have one language; and this they have begun to do. And now nothing that they purpose to do shall fail them.

11:7 "Come, let Us go down and confound their language there, so that they may no longer understand one another's speech."

11:8 And the Lord scattered them from there over the face of the whole earth, and they ceased building the city and the tower.

11:9 Therefore its name was called Confusion, because there the Lord confounded the languages of the whole earth, and from there the Lord God scattered them over the face of the whole earth.

Note 42: 42. Genesis 11:9 Wording. Confusion translates the naming formula in the Greek, as Life does at 3:20. The familiar identification is Babel. The explanation remains in the verse; the familiar name is supplied here in the note.

11:10 These are the generations of Shem. Shem was one hundred years old when he begot Arphaxad, in the second year after the flood.

11:11 And Shem lived five hundred years after he begot Arphaxad, and begot sons and daughters, and died.

11:12 And Arphaxad lived one hundred and thirty-five years, and begot Cainan.

11:13 And Arphaxad lived four hundred and thirty years after he begot Cainan, and begot sons and daughters, and died. And Cainan lived one hundred and thirty years, and begot Shelah. And Cainan lived three hundred and thirty years after he begot Shelah, and begot sons and daughters, and died.

Note 43: 43. Genesis 11:13 Text. Cainan's begetting and subsequent years occur within the publisher's verse 13. They are kept together under 11:13, with no invented verse number. Arphaxad's 135 and 430 years and Cainan's 130 and 330 years follow that displayed text.

11:14 And Shelah lived one hundred and thirty years, and begot Eber.

11:15 And Shelah lived three hundred and thirty years after he begot Eber, and begot sons and daughters, and died.

11:16 And Eber lived one hundred and thirty-four years, and begot Peleg.

11:17 And Eber lived three hundred and seventy years after he begot Peleg, and begot sons and daughters, and died.

11:18 And Peleg lived one hundred and thirty years, and begot Reu.

11:19 And Peleg lived two hundred and nine years after he begot Reu, and begot sons and daughters, and died.

11:20 And Reu lived one hundred and thirty-two years, and begot Serug.

11:21 And Reu lived two hundred and seven years after he begot Serug, and begot sons and daughters, and died.

11:22 And Serug lived one hundred and thirty years, and begot Nahor.

11:23 And Serug lived two hundred years after he begot Nahor, and begot sons and daughters, and died.

11:24 And Nahor lived seventy-nine years, and begot Terah.

11:25 And Nahor lived one hundred and twenty-nine years after he begot Terah, and begot sons and daughters, and died.

11:26 And Terah lived seventy years, and begot Abram, Nahor, and Haran.

11:27 These are the generations of Terah. Terah begot Abram, Nahor, and Haran; and Haran begot Lot.

11:28 And Haran died in the presence of Terah his father, in the land of his birth, in the country of the Chaldeans.

Note 44: 44. Genesis 11:28 Meaning. In the presence of his father clarifies the contextual sense of before his father, as the inherited draft makes explicit. Country of the Chaldeans follows the Greek; Ur is not inserted. Sarai follows the established project name at this stage of the narrative, while the Greek display writes Sara.

11:29 And Abram and Nahor took wives for themselves. The name of Abram’s wife was Sara, and the name of Nahor’s wife was Milcah, the daughter of Haran, who was the father of Milcah and Iscah.

11:30 And Sara was barren, and bore no children.

11:31 And Terah took Abram his son, Lot the son of Haran, his grandson, and Sara his daughter-in-law, the wife of Abram his son. And he led them out of the country of the Chaldeans to go into the land of Canaan. But he came as far as Harran and settled there.

11:32 And the days of Terah in Harran were two hundred and five years, and Terah died in Harran.

Genesis 12

12:1 And the Lord said to Abram, “Go out from your land, and from your kindred, and from your father’s house, to the land that I will show you.

12:2 And I will make you a great nation, and I will bless you and make your name great; and you shall be blessed.

Note 45: 45. Genesis 12:2–3 Blessed and tribes retain the Greek predicates and collective noun; a blessing and families are not silently imported. In thee remains the stated connection without adding a mechanism of blessing.

12:3 And I will bless those who bless you, and those who curse you I will curse; and in you all the tribes of the earth shall be blessed.”

12:4 And Abram went as the Lord had spoken to him, and Lot went with him. Now Abram was seventy-five years old when he went out from Harran.

12:5 And Abram took Sara his wife, and Lot his brother’s son, and all the possessions they had acquired, and every soul they had acquired in Harran; and they set out for the land of Canaan, and came into the land of Canaan.

Note 46: 46. Genesis 12:5,13 Soul renders psyche where the source counts persons and speaks of Abram’s life. Explain the contextual senses person and life; neither occurrence adds a doctrine about a separable soul. The acquired persons remain a historical social reality, not modern hired staff.

12:6 And Abram passed through the length of the land, to the place of Shechem, to the high oak. Now the Canaanites lived in the land at that time.

Note 47: 47. Genesis 12:6,9,16 The high oak, wilderness, calves, and mules follow the consulted Greek. Do not replace wilderness with the familiar south or Negev, or harmonize its animal list with another tradition.

12:7 And the Lord appeared to Abram and said to him, “To your seed I will give this land.” And there Abram built an altar to the Lord, who had appeared to him.

12:8 And he departed from there to the mountain east of Bethel, and pitched his tent there, with Bethel toward the sea and Ai toward the east. And there he built an altar to the Lord and called upon the name of the Lord.

12:9 And Abram departed, and journeyed, and camped in the wilderness.

12:10 And there was a famine in the land; and Abram went down into Egypt to stay there, for the famine had become severe in the land.

12:11 And when Abram drew near to enter Egypt, Abram said to Sara his wife, “I know that you are a woman with a beautiful face.

12:12 When the Egyptians see you, they will say, ‘This is his wife’; and they will kill me, but they will keep you alive.

12:13 So say, ‘I am his sister,’ that it may be well with me for your sake, and my soul shall live because of you.”

12:14 And when Abram entered Egypt, the Egyptians saw that the woman was very beautiful.

12:15 And Pharaoh’s rulers saw her and praised her to Pharaoh; and they brought her into Pharaoh’s house.

12:16 And they treated Abram well for her sake; and he had sheep, and calves, and donkeys, male slaves and female slaves, mules and camels.

12:17 And God afflicted Pharaoh and his house with great and grievous afflictions because of Sara, Abram’s wife.

12:18 And Pharaoh called Abram and said, “What is this you have done to me? Why did you not tell me that she is your wife?

12:19 Why did you say, ‘She is my sister,’ so that I took her as my wife? And now, look, your wife is before you; take her and hurry away.”

12:20 And Pharaoh commanded men to escort Abram away, with his wife and all that he had, and Lot with him.

Genesis 13

13:1 And Abram went up out of Egypt into the wilderness, he and his wife, and all that he had, and Lot with him.

13:2 Now Abram was very rich in livestock, and in silver, and in gold.

13:3 And he went back the way he had come, into the wilderness as far as Bethel, to the place where his tent had been before, between Bethel and Ai,

13:4 to the place of the altar, where he had made it at first. And there Abram called upon the name of the Lord.

Note 48: 48. Genesis 13:4 Made it at the first supplies it for the altar in the preceding clause; the inherited where he had made a beginning records the more literal construction. This is an English clarification of the referent.

13:5 And Lot also, who journeyed with Abram, had sheep, and cattle, and tents.

Note 50: 50. Genesis 13:5,8;14:14,16 Cattle is appropriate for boes, a bovine term, although livestock remains preferable for the wider category ktene. Brother and brethren can describe kinship, including Abram and his nephew Lot; literal kin terms do not change their genealogy.

13:6 And the land could not hold them while they lived together, for their possessions were many; and they could not live together.

13:7 And there was strife between the herdsmen of Abram’s livestock and the herdsmen of Lot’s livestock. Now the Canaanites and the Perizzites lived in the land at that time.

13:8 And Abram said to Lot, “Let there be no strife between me and you, nor between my herdsmen and your herdsmen; for we are brothers.

13:9 Look, is not all the land before you? Separate yourself from me. If you go to the left, I will go to the right; and if you go to the right, I will go to the left.”

13:10 And Lot lifted up his eyes and saw all the country around the Jordan, that it was all well watered, before God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, like the garden of God and like the land of Egypt, as far as Zoar.

Note 49: 49. Genesis 13:10–16 Garden maintains the rendering of paradeisos established in chapters 1–11. From the east, toward the sea, and sand retain the consulted Greek’s directions and image. The sea here indicates the western direction; the image remains in the verse.

13:11 And Lot chose for himself all the country around the Jordan; and Lot departed from the east, and they separated, each from his brother.

13:12 And Abram lived in the land of Canaan; but Lot lived in a city of the surrounding country, and pitched his tent in Sodom.

13:13 Now the men of Sodom were exceedingly wicked and sinful before God.

13:14 And God said to Abram, after Lot had separated himself from him, “Lift up your eyes and look from the place where you now are, toward the north, and the south, and the east, and the sea.

13:15 For all the land that you see I will give to you and to your seed for ever.

13:16 And I will make your seed like the sand of the earth. If anyone can count the sand of the earth, then your seed too shall be counted.

13:17 Rise, pass through the length and breadth of the land; for I will give it to you.”

13:18 And Abram moved his tent, and came and lived beside the oak of Mamre, which was in Hebron; and there he built an altar to the Lord.

Genesis 14

14:1 And in the reign of Amraphel king of Shinar, Arioch king of Ellasar, and Chedorlaomer king of Elam, and Thargal king of nations

Note 51: 51. Genesis 14:1–2 The Greek places the event in Amraphel’s reign and then names the other kings as subjects of made war. The following battle list includes all four. The sentence retains this construction rather than smoothing away the difference.

14:2 made war with Balla king of Sodom, and Barsa king of Gomorrah, and Sennaar king of Admah, and Symobor king of Zeboiim, and the king of Balak, which is Zoar.

14:3 All these joined together at the salt ravine, which is the Salt Sea.

14:4 For twelve years they served Chedorlaomer, but in the thirteenth year they rebelled.

14:5 And in the fourteenth year Chedorlaomer came with the kings who were with him, and struck the giants in Ashteroth-karnaim, and strong nations with them, and the Ommaeans in the city of Shaveh,

14:6 and the Horites in the mountains of Seir, as far as the terebinth of Paran, which is in the wilderness.

14:7 And they turned back and came to the Spring of Judgment, which is Kadesh; and they struck all the rulers of Amalek, and the Amorites who lived in Hazezon-tamar.

14:8 And the king of Sodom, and the king of Gomorrah, and the king of Admah, and the king of Zeboiim, and the king of Balak, which is Zoar, went out and drew up their battle lines in the salt valley

14:9 against Chedorlaomer king of Elam, and Thargal king of nations, and Amraphel king of Shinar, and Arioch king of Ellasar: four kings against five.

14:10 Now the salt valley was full of bitumen pits. And the king of Sodom and the king of Gomorrah fled and fell into them; and those who remained fled to the hill country.

14:11 And they took all the horses of Sodom and Gomorrah, and all their food, and departed.

Note 52: 52. Genesis 14:11,16,21 Horses follows hippos in the consulted Greek, even where another textual tradition has goods or possessions. Historical unfamiliarity is not grounds for changing the noun.

14:12 And they also took Lot, Abram's brother's son, and his baggage, and departed; for he lived in Sodom.

14:13 And one of those who escaped came and told Abram, the man from beyond. Now he lived beside the oak of Mamre the Amorite, the brother of Eshcol and the brother of Aunan; and these were sworn allies of Abram.

Note 53: 53. Genesis 14:13 The man from beyond renders perates; the familiar identification is Abram the Hebrew. Man is supplied for clear English. The explanation belongs in the note and does not turn the epithet into a conjectured migration route.

14:14 And when Abram heard that Lot his brother had been taken captive, he counted his own slaves born in his house, three hundred and eighteen, and pursued them as far as Dan.

14:15 And he fell upon them by night, he and his servants, and struck them; and he pursued them as far as Hobah, which is to the left of Damascus.

14:16 And he brought back all the horses of Sodom; and he brought back Lot his brother, and his possessions, and the women, and the people.

14:17 And the king of Sodom went out to meet him, after his return from the defeat of Chedorlaomer and the kings with him, at the valley of Shaveh, which was the King's Plain.

14:18 And Melchizedek king of Salem brought out loaves and wine; and he was priest of God Most High.

14:19 And he blessed Abram and said, "Blessed be Abram by God Most High, who created the heaven and the earth;

Note 54: 54. Genesis 14:19–24 Created retains the creation verb; the divine title is God Most High. The oath has a conditional form with an unspoken penalty; neither a curse formula nor a penalty is invented. They shall take a portion retains the closing future.

14:20 and blessed be God Most High, who has delivered your enemies into your power." And he gave him a tenth of all.

14:21 And the king of Sodom said to Abram, "Give me the men, and take the horses for yourself."

14:22 And Abram said to the king of Sodom, "I will stretch out my hand to God Most High, who created the heaven and the earth,

14:23 that I will take neither a thread nor a sandal fastening of anything that is yours, so that you may not say, 'I have made Abram rich,'

14:24 except what the young men have eaten, and the portion of the men who went with me: Eshcol, Aunan, and Mamre. They shall take a portion."

Genesis 15

15:1 After these things the word of the Lord came to Abram in a vision, saying, "Do not fear, Abram; I shield you. Your reward shall be exceedingly great."

15:2 And Abram said, "Master, what wilt Thou give me? I depart childless; and the son of Masek, the slave woman born in my house, is this Damascus Eliezer."

Note 55: 55. Genesis 15:2–3 Masek and Damascus Eliezer retain the difficult names and construction of the consulted Greek. The household-born terms in both verses are read as denoting slave status, with strong lexical and narrative support; slave woman and slave make this explicit. The clarification is adopted with moderate confidence. Born in my house, with a status note, remained a serious alternative.

15:3 And Abram said, "Since Thou hast given me no seed, a slave born in my house shall inherit from me."

15:4 And immediately the voice of the Lord came to him, saying, "This man shall not inherit from you; but the one who will come from you, he shall inherit from you."

15:5 And He brought him outside and said to him, "Look now toward heaven, and count the stars, if you can count them." And He said, "So shall your seed be."

15:6 And Abram believed God, and it was reckoned to him as righteousness.

Note 56: 56. Genesis 15:6 Believed God and was reckoned unto him as righteousness preserve the action and the passive construction. The verse is not expanded with a later theological explanation of justification or merit.

15:7 And He said to him, "I am God, who brought you out from the country of the Chaldeans, to give you this land to inherit."

15:8 And he said, “Master Lord, how shall I know that I shall inherit it?”

15:9 And He said to him, “Take for Me a heifer three years old, and a female goat three years old, and a ram three years old, and a turtledove, and a pigeon.”

15:10 And he took all these for Him, and divided them down the middle, and laid the pieces opposite one another; but he did not divide the birds.

15:11 And birds came down upon the bodies, upon their divided pieces; and Abram sat down with them.

Note 57: 57. Genesis 15:11–17 Abram sat down with them follows the Greek verb; drove the birds away is not substituted. Trance renders ekstasis here, where the verse does not explicitly add falling asleep as 2:21 does. A smoking furnace and plural torches of fire retain the Greek scene. The exact character of the trance remains an interpretive question.

15:12 And about sunset a trance fell upon Abram; and behold, a great dark fear fell upon him.

15:13 And it was said to Abram, “Know for certain that your seed shall live as strangers in a land not their own; and they shall enslave them, and afflict them, and humble them for four hundred years.

15:14 But I will judge the nation they serve; and afterward they shall come out here with much baggage.

15:15 But you shall depart to your fathers in peace, buried at a good old age.

15:16 And in the fourth generation they shall return here; for the sins of the Amorites are not yet filled up.”

15:17 And as the sun was setting, a flame appeared; and behold, a smoking furnace, and torches of fire which passed between these divided pieces.

15:18 On that day the Lord made a covenant with Abram, saying, “To your seed I will give this land, from the river of Egypt to the great river, the river Euphrates:

15:19 the Kenites, and the Kenizzites, and the Kadmonites,

15:20 and the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Rephaim,

15:21 and the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Hivites, and the Girgashites, and the Jebusites.”

Genesis 16

16:1 Now Sara, Abram’s wife, bore him no children; and she had an Egyptian slave woman whose name was Hagar.

16:2 And Sara said to Abram, “Look, the Lord has kept me from bearing children. So go in to my slave woman, that you may have children through her.” And Abram listened to the voice of Sara.

Note 58: 58. Genesis 16:2,5 Thou mayest have children addresses Abram in the singular. Verse 5 retains Sarai’s first-person seeing, unlike renderings that make Hagar the subject of that participle. The accusation remains Sarai’s speech, not an editorial verdict.

16:3 And Sara, Abram’s wife, took Hagar the Egyptian, her slave woman, after Abram had lived ten years in the land of Canaan, and gave her to Abram her husband to be his wife.

16:4 And he went in to Hagar, and she conceived; and she saw that she was with child, and her mistress was dishonoured in her sight.

16:5 And Sara said to Abram, “I am wronged by you. I gave my slave woman into your bosom; but when I saw that she was with child, I was dishonoured in her sight. May God judge between me and you.”

16:6 And Abram said to Sara, “Look, your slave woman is in your hands; do with her as you please.” And Sara afflicted her, and she fled from her face.

16:7 And an angel of the Lord found her by the spring of water in the wilderness, by the spring on the way to Shur.

16:8 And the angel of the Lord said to her, “Hagar, Sara’s slave woman, where have you come from, and where are you going?” And she said, “I am fleeing from the face of Sara my mistress.”

16:9 And the angel of the Lord said to her, “Return to your mistress, and humble yourself under her hands.”

Note 59: 59. Genesis 16:9–14 The commands and the mistreatment are translated as narrated, with no added moral endorsement. Wild man renders agroikos in context; wild donkey is not inserted. The seeing clauses and the well’s translated name preserve the Greek’s own naming act. Their compressed syntax remains open to further review.

16:10 And the angel of the Lord said to her, “I will greatly multiply your seed, and it shall be too numerous to count.”

16:11 And the angel of the Lord said to her, “Behold, you are with child, and shall bear a son, and shall call his name Ishmael, for the Lord has heard your affliction.

16:12 He shall be a wild man; his hands shall be against all, and the hands of all against him; and he shall live opposite all his brothers.”

16:13 And Hagar called the name of the Lord who spoke to her, “Thou art God who has looked upon me”; for she said, “For I also saw before me Him who appeared to me.”

16:14 Therefore she called the well, “The Well Where I Saw Before Me.” Behold, it is between Kadesh and Bered.

16:15 And Hagar bore Abram a son; and Abram called the name of his son, whom Hagar bore to him, Ishmael.

16:16 Now Abram was eighty-six years old when Hagar bore Ishmael to Abram.

Genesis 17

17:1 And when Abram was ninety-nine years old, the Lord appeared to Abram and said to him, “I am your God; be pleasing before Me, and be blameless.

Note 60: 60. Genesis 17:1,10–14 I am thy God and be pleasing follow the Greek rather than importing Almighty and walk. The address shifts between singular thou/thy and plural ye/your, even within verses 10, 12, and 13. The eighth-day qualification in verse 14 is retained. Broken renders the contextual force of scattered or dispersed in the covenant clause; this does not authorize replacing that verb elsewhere.

17:2 And I will set My covenant between Me and you, and will multiply you exceedingly.”

17:3 And Abram fell upon his face; and God spoke to him, saying,

17:4 “As for Me, behold, My covenant is with you, and you shall be a father of a multitude of nations.

17:5 And your name shall no longer be called Abram, but your name shall be Abraham; for I have made you a father of many nations.

17:6 And I will increase you exceedingly, exceedingly, and will make nations of you; and kings shall come from you.

17:7 And I will establish My covenant between Me and you and your seed after you throughout their generations, as an everlasting covenant, to be your God and the God of your seed after you.

17:8 And I will give to you, and to your seed after you, the land where you live as a stranger, all the land of Canaan, as an everlasting possession; and I will be their God.”

17:9 And God said to Abraham, “And you shall keep My covenant, you and your seed after you throughout their generations.

17:10 And this is the covenant that you shall keep, between Me and you, and your seed after you throughout their generations: every male among you shall be circumcised.

17:11 And you shall be circumcised in the flesh of your foreskin; and it shall be a sign of the covenant between Me and you.

17:12 And every male child among you, eight days old, shall be circumcised throughout your generations, the slave born in your house, and the slave bought with silver from any foreigner who is not of your seed.

17:13 The slave born in your house, and the slave bought with silver, shall surely be circumcised; and My covenant shall be upon your flesh as an everlasting covenant.

17:14 And the uncircumcised male who is not circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin on the eighth day, that soul shall be destroyed from his kindred; for he has broken My covenant.”

17:15 And God said to Abraham, “Sara your wife shall no longer be called Sara, but Sarah shall be her name.

Note 61: 61. Genesis 17:15–20 Sarai and Sarah are the established project spellings for the Greek Sara and Sarra. Verse 16 changes from her to him after the promised child; the masculine pronouns are retained. Verse 20 has twelve nations, not an imported list of twelve princes. Everlasting is the adopted covenant expression without an added theory of temporal duration.

17:16 And I will bless her, and will give you a child by her; and I will bless him, and he shall become nations, and kings of nations shall come from him.”

17:17 And Abraham fell upon his face and laughed, and said in his mind, “Shall a child be born to a man a hundred years old? And shall Sarah, who is ninety years old, bear a child?”

17:18 And Abraham said to God, “Let this Ishmael live before Thee.”

17:19 And God said to Abraham, “Yes; behold, Sarah your wife shall bear you a son, and you shall call his name Isaac. And I will establish My covenant with him as an everlasting covenant, and with his seed after him.

17:20 And concerning Ishmael, behold, I have heard you. Behold, I have blessed him, and I will increase him and multiply him exceedingly; he shall beget twelve nations, and I will make him a great nation.

17:21 But I will establish My covenant with Isaac, whom Sarah shall bear to you at this season next year.”

17:22 And He finished speaking with him; and God went up from Abraham.

17:23 And Abraham took Ishmael his son, and all the slaves born in his house, and all the slaves bought with silver, every male among the men of Abraham’s house; and he circumcised their foreskins on that very day, as God had spoken to him.

17:24 Now Abraham was ninety-nine years old when he circumcised the flesh of his foreskin.

17:25 And Ishmael his son was thirteen years old when he was circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin.

17:26 On that very day Abraham and Ishmael his son were circumcised.

17:27 And all the men of his house, both the slaves born in his house and the slaves bought with silver from foreign nations, he circumcised.

Genesis 18

18:1 And God appeared to him beside the oak of Mamre, as he sat at the door of his tent at noon.

18:2 And he lifted up his eyes and looked, and behold, three men stood over him. And when he saw them, he ran from the door of his tent to meet them and bowed to the earth, 18:3 and said, “Lord, if indeed I have found grace before you, do not pass by your servant.

Note 62: 62. Genesis 18:3–15 Singular thee in verse 3 changes to plural your and ye in verses 4–5. Lower-case guest pronouns do not settle the identification of the three men. The narrator expressly names the Lord in verse 13. Curds in verse 8 is the adopted contextual dairy rendering of boutyron; butter remains a historical lexical alternative. Verse 12 preserves Sarah’s different Greek wording rather than importing pleasure.

18:4 Let water now be brought, and let them wash your feet; and refresh yourselves under the tree.

18:5 And I will bring bread, and you shall eat; and afterward you shall go on your way, since you have turned aside to your servant.” And they said, “Do as you have said.”

18:6 And Abraham hurried to the tent, to Sarah, and said to her, “Hurry, knead three measures of fine flour, and make cakes baked in the embers.”

18:7 And Abraham ran to the cattle, and took a tender and good calf, and gave it to the servant; and he hurried to prepare it.

18:8 And he took curds, and milk, and the calf he had prepared, and set them before them; and they ate. And he stood beside them under the tree.

18:9 And he said to him, “Where is Sarah your wife?” And he answered and said, “There, in the tent.”

18:10 And he said, “I will surely return to you at this season, when the time comes round; and Sarah your wife shall have a son.” And Sarah heard at the door of the tent, being behind him.

18:11 Now Abraham and Sarah were old, advanced in days; and the way of women had ceased with Sarah.

18:12 And Sarah laughed within herself, saying, “It has not happened to me until now, and my lord is old.”

18:13 And the Lord said to Abraham, “Why did Sarah laugh within herself, saying, ‘Shall I indeed bear a child, though I have grown old?’

18:14 Is any word impossible with God? At this season I will return to you, when the time comes round; and Sarah shall have a son.”

18:15 And Sarah denied it, saying, “I did not laugh”; for she was afraid. And He said, “No, but you did laugh.”

18:16 And the men rose from there and looked down toward Sodom and Gomorrah; and Abraham went with them to escort them on their way.

18:17 And the Lord said, “Shall I hide from Abraham My servant what I am doing?

18:18 Abraham shall surely become a great and numerous nation, and all the nations of the earth shall be blessed in him.

18:19 For I knew that he would command his sons and his household after him; and they shall keep the ways of the Lord, to do righteousness and judgment, that the Lord may bring upon Abraham all that He has spoken to him.”

18:20 And the Lord said, “The cry of Sodom and Gomorrah has increased, and their sins are exceedingly great.

18:21 So I will go down and see whether they are being brought to an end according to their cry which comes to Me; and if not, that I may know.”

Note 63: 63. Genesis 18:21 Are being brought to an end retains a passive reading of syntelountai from the inherited translation. The force of the middle/passive verb and its relation to the outcry remain difficult; this is provisional, not a claim that the familiar have done altogether is impossible. Independent review is required.

18:22 And the men turned from there and came to Sodom; but Abraham stood before the Lord.

18:23 And Abraham drew near and said, “Wilt Thou destroy the righteous with the ungodly, and shall the righteous be as the ungodly?

18:24 If there are fifty righteous in the city, wilt Thou destroy them? Wilt Thou not spare the whole place for the sake of the fifty righteous, if they are there?

18:25 By no means shalt Thou do such a thing, to kill the righteous with the ungodly, so that the righteous shall be as the ungodly. By no means! Thou who judgest all the earth, wilt Thou not do justice?”

Note 64: 64. Genesis 18:25–32 The judge question remains direct second-person address: Thou who judgest. Earth and ashes preserve the Greek nouns. Spare renders the contextual force of aphiemi for the place in verses 24 and 26. The brief intercessions preserve the changing numbers and the repeated emphatic denial; no divine anger is inserted into the elliptical petitions.

18:26 And the Lord said, “If I find in Sodom fifty righteous within the city, I will spare the whole place for their sake.”

18:27 And Abraham answered and said, “Now I have begun to speak to the Lord, though I am earth and ashes.

18:28 If the fifty righteous lack five, wilt Thou destroy the whole city for the five?” And He said, “I will surely not destroy it if I find forty-five there.”

18:29 And he spoke to Him yet again and said, “What if forty are found there?” And He said, “I will surely not destroy it for the sake of the forty.”

18:30 And he said, “I pray Thee, Lord, allow me to speak: what if thirty are found there?” And He said, “I will surely not destroy it if I find thirty there.”

18:31 And he said, “Since I may speak to the Lord, what if twenty are found there?” And He said, “I will surely not destroy it for the sake of the twenty.”

18:32 And he said, “I pray Thee, Lord, allow me to speak once more: what if ten are found there?” And He said, “I will surely not destroy it for the sake of the ten.”

18:33 And the Lord departed when He had finished speaking to Abraham; and Abraham returned to his place.

Genesis 19

19:1 And the two angels came to Sodom at evening; and Lot sat beside the gate of Sodom. And when Lot saw them, he rose up to meet them, and bowed his face to the earth,

19:2 and said, “Behold, my lords, turn aside into your servant’s house, and lodge there, and wash your feet; and you shall rise early and go on your way.” And they said, “No; but we will lodge in the square.”

19:3 And he urged them greatly; and they turned aside to him, and entered into his house. And he made them a feast with drink, and baked unleavened bread for them; and they ate.

Note 65: 65. Genesis 19:3–16 Feast with drink preserves the drinking-feast noun. Lie with them in verse 5 expresses the sexual sense of synginomai in the coercive setting; known a man in verse 8 uses a different Greek verb. Lot’s proposal remains his speech, without an added endorsement. Sons-in-law who had taken his daughters and plural they were troubled retain the Greek construction; they are not harmonized with another account of betrothal or delay.

19:4 Before they lay down, the men of the city, the Sodomites, surrounded the house, from young to old, all the people together.

19:5 And they called Lot out, and said to him, “Where are the men who came to you tonight? Bring them out to us, that we may lie with them.”

19:6 And Lot went out to them at the entrance, and shut the door behind him.

19:7 And he said to them, “By no means, brothers; do not act wickedly.

19:8 I have two daughters who have not known a man; I will bring them out to you, and do with them as you please. Only do nothing unjust to these men, for they have come under the shelter of my roof beams.”

19:9 And they said, “Stand back there. You came alone to live as a stranger; will you also pass judgment? So now we will afflict you more than them.” And they pressed hard upon the man, Lot, and drew near to break the door.

19:10 But the men stretched out their hands, and drew Lot to them into the house, and shut the door of the house.

19:11 And they struck the men who were at the door of the house with blindness, from small to great; and they became helpless in seeking the door.

19:12 And the men said to Lot, “Do you have anyone here, sons-in-law, or sons, or daughters? Or if you have anyone else in the city, bring them out of this place.

19:13 For we will destroy this place, because their cry has risen before the Lord; and the Lord has sent us to blot it out.”

19:14 And Lot went out and spoke to his sons-in-law, who had taken his daughters, and said, “Arise, and depart from this place; for the Lord will blot out the city.” But he seemed to his sons-in-law like someone joking.

19:15 And at dawn, the angels urged Lot, saying, “Arise, take your wife and your two daughters whom you have, and depart, so that you do not perish with the lawless deeds of the city.”

19:16 And they were troubled; and the angels took hold of his hand, and the hand of his wife, and the hands of his two daughters, because the Lord spared him.

19:17 And when they had brought them outside, they said, “Save your own life. Do not look behind you or stand anywhere in the surrounding country. Escape to the mountain, so that you are not swept away with them.”

19:18 And Lot said to them, “I beg you, lord,

Note 66: 66. Genesis 19:18–24 Lot speaks unto them but uses singular lord and thee; capitalization does not identify the singular addressee as God. Mercy and righteousness remain distinct nouns in verse 19. Regarded thy face preserves the face idiom while its sense is accepted thy request. Verse 24 repeats the Lord and from the Lord without adding an explanation of the divine agency.

19:19 for your servant has found mercy before you, and you have shown me your great righteousness by preserving my life. Yet I cannot escape to the mountain, for calamities may overtake me, and I may die.

19:20 Behold, this city is near enough for me to flee to, and it is small. There I shall be saved; is it not small? And my soul shall live.”

19:21 And he said to him, “Behold, I have regarded your face in this matter also, that I will not overthrow the city of which you have spoken.

19:22 So hurry and be saved there; for I can do nothing until you enter it.” Therefore he called the name of that city Zoar.

19:23 The sun rose upon the earth, and Lot entered into Zoar.

19:24 And the Lord rained upon Sodom and Gomorrah sulphur and fire from the Lord out of the heaven;

19:25 and He overthrew those cities, and all the surrounding country, and all that lived in the cities, and all that sprang from the earth.

19:26 And his wife looked behind her, and became a pillar of salt.

19:27 And Abraham rose early in the morning, and went to the place where he had stood before the Lord.

19:28 And he looked toward Sodom and Gomorrah, and toward the land of the surrounding country; and he saw, and behold, a flame rose from the earth as the vapour of a furnace.

19:29 And when the Lord blotted out all the cities of the surrounding country, God remembered Abraham, and sent Lot out from the midst of the overthrow, when the Lord overthrew the cities where Lot lived.

19:30 And Lot went up out of Zoar, and lived in the mountain, and his two daughters with him; for he was afraid to live in Zoar. And he lived in the cave, he and his two daughters with him.

19:31 And the older said to the younger, “Our father is old, and there is no man upon the earth to come in to us as is the way of all the earth.

19:32 Come, let us give our father wine to drink, and lie with him, and raise up seed from our father.”

19:33 And they gave their father wine to drink that night; and the older went in and lay with her father that night. And he did not know when she lay down, nor when she arose.

19:34 And the next day the older daughter said to the younger, “Behold, I lay with our father yesterday. Let us give him wine to drink tonight also; and go in and lie with him, and let us raise up seed from our father.”

19:35 And they gave their father wine to drink that night also; and the younger went in and lay with her father. And he did not know when she lay down, nor when she arose.

19:36 And both the daughters of Lot conceived by their father.

19:37 And the older daughter bore a son, and called his name Moab, saying, “From my father.” He is the father of the Moabites to this day.

19:38 And the younger daughter also bore a son, and called his name Amman, “Son of my kindred.” He is the father of the Ammanites to this day.

Genesis 20

20:1 And Abraham journeyed from there to the land toward the south, and lived between Kadesh and Shur, and lived as a stranger in Gerar.

20:2 And Abraham said concerning Sarah his wife, “She is my sister”; for he feared to say, “She is my wife,” lest the men of the city should slay him for her sake. And Abimelech king of Gerar sent and took Sarah.

Note 67: 67. Genesis 20:2,14–18 The fear clause, the thousand didrachms in verse 14, the honour of Sarah’s face, the women with her, and the instruction to speak truth follow the consulted Greek. A didrachm is a Greek two-drachma denomination or reckoning unit in the translation; it is not evidence for a modern coin or a minted currency in Abraham’s own time. No pounds, pennies, or exact modern conversion are substituted.

20:3 And God came to Abimelech in his sleep by night, and said, “Behold, you are to die because of the woman whom you have taken; for she is married to a husband.”

20:4 But Abimelech had not touched her; and he said, “Lord, wilt Thou destroy a nation that is ignorant and righteous?

20:5 Did he not say to me, ‘She is my sister’? And she herself said to me, ‘He is my brother.’ I have done this with a pure heart and with righteousness of hands.”

Note 68: 68. Genesis 20:5,13 Righteousness of hands is Abimelech’s claim. This righteousness is Abraham’s description of the requested act. Preserve the speaker’s own term without making the narrator endorse his self-justification, and without globally changing righteousness to kindness.

20:6 And God said to him in his sleep, “I also knew that you did this with a pure heart; and I spared you, that you would not sin against Me. Therefore I did not allow you to touch her.

20:7 Now therefore return the wife to the man, for he is a prophet; and he shall pray for you, and you shall live. But if you do not return her, know that you shall die, you and all that is yours.”

20:8 And Abimelech rose early in the morning, and called all his servants, and spoke all these words in their ears; and all the men were very afraid.

20:9 And Abimelech called Abraham, and said to him, “What is this that you have done to us? Have we sinned against you, that you have brought upon me and upon my kingdom a great sin? You have done to me a deed which no man would do.”

20:10 And Abimelech said to Abraham, “What did you see, that you did this thing?”

20:11 And Abraham said, “For I said, ‘Surely there is no reverence for God in this place; and they will slay me for my wife’s sake.’

20:12 And indeed she is my sister by my father, but not by my mother; and she became my wife.

20:13 And when God brought me out from my father’s house, I said to her, ‘You shall show me this righteousness: in every place where we come, say of me, “He is my brother.”’”

20:14 And Abimelech took a thousand didrachms, and sheep, and calves, and male slaves, and female slaves, and gave them to Abraham; and he restored to him Sarah his wife.

20:15 And Abimelech said to Abraham, “Behold, my land is before you; live wherever you please.”

20:16 And to Sarah he said, “Behold, I have given your brother a thousand didrachms. These shall be for the honour of your face, and for all the women with you; and in all things speak the truth.”

20:17 And Abraham prayed to God; and God healed Abimelech, and his wife, and his slave women, and they bore children.

20:18 For the Lord had wholly shut every womb from outside in the house of Abimelech, because of Sarah, Abraham’s wife.

Genesis 21

21:1 And the Lord visited Sarah as He had said, and the Lord did to Sarah as He had spoken.

21:2 And Sarah conceived, and bore Abraham a son in his old age, at the season of which the Lord had spoken to him.

21:3 And Abraham called the name of his son who was born to him, whom Sarah bore to him, Isaac.

21:4 And Abraham circumcised Isaac on the eighth day, as God had commanded him.

21:5 Now Abraham was a hundred years old when Isaac his son was born to him.

21:6 And Sarah said, “The Lord has made laughter for me; for whoever hears shall rejoice with me.”

21:7 And she said, “Who shall tell Abraham that Sarah is nursing a child? For I have borne a son in my old age.”

21:8 And the child grew, and was weaned; and Abraham made a great feast on the day that Isaac his son was weaned.

21:9 And Sarah saw the son of Hagar the Egyptian, who was born to Abraham, playing with Isaac her son.

Note 69: 69. Genesis 21:9,14–19 Playing with Isaac, the child’s crying and weeping, and living water retain details of the Greek. The placement upon the shoulder in verse 14 is compressed and may include the child; its ambiguity is recorded rather than silently repaired by an age calculation. Living water here means fresh or spring water; a later theological interpretation is not inserted. Fir is a traditional identification of elate, not a verified modern species.

21:10 And she said to Abraham, “Cast out this slave woman and her son; for the son of this slave woman shall not inherit with my son Isaac.”

21:11 And the saying seemed exceedingly harsh in Abraham’s sight, concerning his son.

21:12 And God said to Abraham, “Do not let the saying be harsh in your sight concerning the child and the slave woman. In all that Sarah says to you, listen to her voice; for in Isaac seed shall be called to you.

21:13 And I will also make the son of this slave woman a great nation, for he is your seed.”

21:14 And Abraham rose in the morning, and took loaves and a skin of water, and gave them to Hagar, and laid them upon her shoulder, and the child also, and sent her away. And she departed, and wandered in the wilderness near the Well of the Oath.

21:15 And the water in the skin ran out; and she cast the child beneath a fir tree.

21:16 And she went and sat opposite him, far off, about a bowshot; for she said, “I will not see the death of my child.” And she sat opposite him; and the child cried aloud and wept.

21:17 And God heard the voice of the child from the place where he was; and an angel of God called to Hagar out of the heaven, and said to her, “What is wrong, Hagar? Do not fear; for God has heard the voice of your child from the place where he is.

21:18 Arise, take the child, and hold him with your hand; for I will make him a great nation.”

21:19 And God opened her eyes, and she saw a well of living water; and she went, and filled the skin with water, and gave the child to drink.

21:20 And God was with the child, and he grew, and lived in the wilderness, and became an archer.

21:21 And he lived in the wilderness of Paran; and his mother took him a wife from the land of Egypt.

21:22 And at that time Abimelech, and Ahuzzath his groomsman, and Phicol the chief commander of his army, spoke to Abraham, saying, “God is with you in all that you do.

Note 70: 70. Genesis 21:22–33 Groomsman retains nymphagogos, a bridal attendant; its precise court function is not established by this title alone. The Greek names Ahuzzath here, has plural wells in verse 25, and says Abraham planted a field in verse 33. Well of the Oath and Well of Swearing translate the source’s naming vocabulary; the familiar identification is Beersheba.

21:23 Now therefore swear to me by God that you will not wrong me, nor my seed, nor my name; but according to the righteousness which I have shown to you, you shall deal with me, and with the land where you have lived as a stranger.”

21:24 And Abraham said, “I will swear.”

21:25 And Abraham reproved Abimelech concerning the wells of water which Abimelech’s servants had taken away.

21:26 And Abimelech said to him, “I did not know who had done this thing; you did not tell me, nor did I hear of it until today.”

21:27 And Abraham took sheep and calves, and gave them to Abimelech; and the two made a covenant.

21:28 And Abraham set seven ewe lambs of the flock apart.

21:29 And Abimelech said to Abraham, “What are these seven ewe lambs which you have set apart?”

21:30 And Abraham said, “You shall take these seven ewe lambs from my hand, that they may be a witness to me that I have dug this well.”

21:31 Therefore he called the name of that place the Well of Swearing, because there they both swore.

21:32 And they made a covenant at the Well of the Oath. And Abimelech rose up, and Ahuzzath his groomsman, and Phicol the chief commander of his army; and they returned to the land of the Philistines.

21:33 And Abraham planted a field at the Well of the Oath, and there called upon the name of the Lord, the Everlasting God.

21:34 And Abraham lived as a stranger in the land of the Philistines many days.

Genesis 22

22:1 And after these things God tested Abraham, and said to him, “Abraham, Abraham.” And he said, “Behold, here am I.”

Note 71: 71. Genesis 22:1–14 Tested avoids the modern implication of enticing to evil in tempted. Beloved, high land, sheep, sabek plant, and The Lord Hath Seen follow the Greek. The female donkey’s sex is explicit in the Greek article and retained. Provide at verse 8 is an idiomatic rendering of see for Himself; the seeing and appearing verbs remain explicit at verse 14. Sabek is an uncertain plant designation, not an asserted species.

22:2 And He said, “Take your son, your beloved, whom you have loved, Isaac, and go to the high land; and offer him there for a whole burnt offering upon one of the mountains which I shall tell you.”

22:3 And Abraham rose in the morning, and saddled his female donkey, and took with him two servants and Isaac his son. And he split wood for the whole burnt offering, and arose and went, and came to the place of which God had spoken to him.

22:4 On the third day Abraham lifted up his eyes, and saw the place far off.

22:5 And Abraham said to his servants, “Stay here with the female donkey; and I and the lad will go over there, and worship, and return to you.”

Note 72: 72. Genesis 22:5–18 Return unto you retains Abraham’s plural statement about himself and the lad. The knife and slaughter remain plain, without added graphic detail. The angel’s my in verse 12 is not capitalized to decide his identity; the quotation expressly introduced as the Lord’s speech in verse 16 uses My. Cities in verse 17 is not replaced by another tradition’s gate.

22:6 And Abraham took the wood of the whole burnt offering, and laid it upon Isaac his son; and he took the fire in his hand, and the knife. And the two went together.

22:7 And Isaac spoke to Abraham his father, and said, “Father.” And he said, “What is it, child?” And he said, “Behold the fire and the wood; but where is the sheep for the whole burnt offering?”

22:8 And Abraham said, “God will provide for Himself a sheep for the whole burnt offering, child.” And the two went together,

22:9 and came to the place of which God had spoken to him. And Abraham built an altar there, and laid the wood upon it, and bound together the feet of Isaac his son, and laid him upon the altar, upon the wood.

22:10 And Abraham stretched out his hand to take the knife, to slaughter his son.

22:11 And an angel of the Lord called to him out of the heaven, and said to him, “Abraham, Abraham.” And he said, “Behold, here am I.”

22:12 And he said, “Do not lay your hand upon the lad or do anything to him; for now I know that you fear God, and have not spared your beloved son for my sake.”

22:13 And Abraham lifted up his eyes and looked, and behold, one ram was caught by its horns in a sabek plant. And Abraham went and took the ram, and offered it for a whole burnt offering instead of Isaac his son.

22:14 And Abraham called the name of that place The Lord Has Seen, that they might say today, “In the mountain the Lord appeared.”

22:15 And an angel of the Lord called to Abraham a second time out of the heaven,

22:16 saying, “By Myself I have sworn, says the Lord: because you have done this thing, and have not spared your beloved son for My sake,

22:17 surely I will bless you, and greatly multiply your seed as the stars of the heaven, and as the sand upon the shore of the sea; and your seed shall inherit the cities of their adversaries.

22:18 And in your seed all the nations of the earth shall be blessed, because you have listened to My voice."

22:19 And Abraham returned to his servants; and they arose and went together to the Well of the Oath. And Abraham lived at the Well of the Oath.

22:20 And after these things Abraham was told, "Behold, Milcah also has borne sons to Nahor your brother:

22:21 Uz the firstborn, and Buz his brother, and Kemuel the father of the Syrians,

22:22 and Chesed, and Azau, and Pildash, and Jidlaph, and Bethuel."

22:23 And Bethuel begot Rebekah. Milcah bore these eight sons to Nahor, Abraham's brother.

22:24 And his concubine, whose name was Reumah, also bore Tabek, and Gaham, and Tochos, and Mocha.

Genesis 23

23:1 And the life of Sarah was a hundred and twenty-seven years.

23:2 And Sarah died in the city of Arbok, which is in the hollow, that is, Hebron, in the land of Canaan; and Abraham came to lament Sarah and to mourn.

23:3 And Abraham rose up from his dead, and spoke to the sons of Heth, saying,

23:4 "I am a resident foreigner and a sojourner among you. So give me a possession for burial among you, that I may bury my dead away from me."

Note 73: 73. Genesis 23:4–20 Resident foreigner and sojourner distinguish the two status terms without implying modern nationality or citizenship law. King from God, double cave, and didrachms retain the Greek particulars; Machpelah is the familiar identification of the burial site. Your will in verse 8 clarifies the idiom literally in your soul. The field, cave, trees, borders, witnesses, and payment remain in the legal account; solemn prose does not justify shortening them.

23:5 And the sons of Heth answered Abraham, saying,

23:6 "No, lord; hear us. You are a king from God among us. Bury your dead in the choicest of our tombs; for none of us shall withhold his tomb from you, that you may bury your dead there."

23:7 And Abraham rose up and bowed himself to the people of the land, the sons of Heth.

23:8 And Abraham spoke to them, saying, "If it is your will that I bury my dead from before my face, hear me, and speak for me to Ephron the son of Zohar,

23:9 that he may give me the double cave which he has, which is in a part of his field. Let him give it to me for its full worth in silver among you for a possession for burial."

23:10 Now Ephron sat among the sons of Heth. And Ephron the Hittite answered Abraham in the hearing of the sons of Heth, and of all that entered into the city, saying,

23:11 "Come to me, lord, and hear me. I give you the field and the cave in it; before all my fellow citizens I have given it to you. Bury your dead."

23:12 And Abraham bowed himself before the people of the land,

23:13 and said to Ephron in the ears of the people of the land, "Since you are on my side, hear me. Take the silver of the field from me, and I will bury my dead there."

23:14 And Ephron answered Abraham, saying,

23:15 "No, lord; I have heard. Land worth four hundred didrachms of silver, what is that between me and you? Bury your dead."

23:16 And Abraham listened to Ephron; and Abraham paid to Ephron the silver which he had named in the ears of the sons of Heth, four hundred didrachms of silver approved by merchants.

23:17 And the field of Ephron at the Double Cave, which is opposite Mamre, the field and the cave in it, and every tree in the field within all its borders all around, was established

23:18 to Abraham for a possession, before the sons of Heth and all that entered into the city.

23:19 Afterward Abraham buried Sarah his wife in the double cave of the field, opposite Mamre, which is Hebron, in the land of Canaan.

23:20 And the field and the cave in it were confirmed to Abraham for a possession for burial, from the sons of Heth.

Genesis 24

24:1 Now Abraham was old, advanced in days; and the Lord had blessed Abraham in all things.

24:2 And Abraham said to his servant, the elder of his house, who ruled over all that he had, "Put your hand under my thigh,

Note 74: 74. Genesis 24:2–8,37–41 The oath beneath the thigh is retained without an invented explanation inside the verse. Conditional release depends on the woman's willingness and, in the retelling, the family's refusal. Curse and oath remain distinct words in verse 41. Repeated accounts are translated separately; their differences are not harmonized or summarized away.

24:3 and I will make you swear by the Lord, the God of the heaven and the God of the earth, that you will not take a wife for my son Isaac from the daughters of the Canaanites, among whom I dwell;

24:4 but you shall go to my land, where I was born, and to my tribe, and take a wife for my son Isaac from there."

24:5 And the servant said to him, "Perhaps the woman will not be willing to follow me to this land; shall I bring your son back to the land from where you came?"

24:6 And Abraham said to him, "Take care not to bring my son back there.

24:7 The Lord, the God of the heaven and the God of the earth, who took me from my father's house and from the land where I was born, who spoke to me and swore to me, saying, 'I will give this land to you, and to your seed,' He shall send His angel before you; and you shall take a wife for my son Isaac from there.

24:8 But if the woman is not willing to come with you to this land, you shall be free from this oath; only do not bring my son back there."

24:9 And the servant put his hand under the thigh of Abraham his master, and swore to him concerning this matter.

24:10 And the servant took ten camels from the camels of his master, and some of all his master's good things with him; and he arose, and went to Mesopotamia, to the city of Nahor.

24:11 And he made the camels lie down outside the city, beside the well of water, toward evening, when the women go forth to draw water.

24:12 And he said, "Lord, God of my master Abraham, grant me success today, and show mercy to my master Abraham.

24:13 Behold, I stand beside the spring of water, and the daughters of those who live in the city come out to draw water.

24:14 And let the virgin to whom I shall say, 'Lower your water jar, that I may drink,' and who shall say to me, 'Drink, and I will water your camels until they cease drinking,' be the one whom Thou hast prepared for Thy servant Isaac. And by this I shall know that Thou hast shown mercy to my master Abraham."

Note 75: 75. Genesis 24:14–16,43–44 Parthenos is rendered virgin in the requested sign and in the explicit statement that no man had known Rebekah. Maiden supplies a natural narrative designation at the first occurrence in verse 16 and in later references. Speaking in his mind appears in both the narrator's account and the servant's retelling; the prayer is not made aloud by editorial punctuation.

24:15 And before he had finished speaking in his mind, behold, Rebekah came out, who was born to Bethuel, the son of Milcah, the wife of Nahor, Abraham's brother, having her water jar upon her shoulder.

24:16 Now the maiden was very beautiful to look at; she was a virgin, and no man had known her. And she went down to the spring, and filled her water jar, and came up.

24:17 And the servant ran to meet her, and said, "Give me a little water to drink from your water jar."

24:18 And she said, "Drink, my lord." And she hurried, and lowered her water jar upon her arm, and gave him to drink,

24:19 until he ceased drinking. And she said, "I will draw water for your camels also, until they have all drunk."

24:20 And she hurried, and emptied her water jar into the trough, and ran again to the well to draw water; and she drew water for all the camels.

24:21 And the man watched her, and remained silent, to know whether the Lord had prospered his journey or not.

24:22 And when all the camels had ceased drinking, the man took golden earrings, each a drachma in weight, and two bracelets for her hands, ten gold pieces in weight.

Note 76: 76. Genesis 24:22,31,55,59–67 Earrings, each weighing a drachma, follow the Greek rather than a nose ring. Ten gold pieces in weight supplies pieces for the compressed ten of gold; the unit must not be silently identified as ten shekels or minted coins. Blessed be the Lord in verse 31, plural brothers in verse 55, possessions in verse 59, cities in the blessing, and mother's house in verse 67 retain the consulted readings. They are not replaced by blessed of the Lord, brother, nurse, gate, or tent from a familiar witness.

24:23 And he asked her, and said, "Whose daughter are you? Tell me, is there room with your father for us to lodge?"

24:24 And she said to him, "I am the daughter of Bethuel, the son of Milcah, whom she bore to Nahor."

24:25 And she said to him, "We have both straw and much fodder, and room to lodge."

24:26 And the man was well pleased, and worshipped the Lord,

24:27 and said, "Blessed be the Lord, the God of my master Abraham, who has not forsaken His righteousness and truth toward my master. The Lord has prospered my way to the house of my master's brother."

Note 77: 77. Genesis 24:27,40,48–60 Mercy, righteousness, and truth retain their distinct Greek words. Before whom I have been pleasing is not replaced by walked. Ask of her own mouth preserves the idiom of asking Rebekah directly, and I will go remains her answer. Become thou and let thy seed inherit retain the blessing's wish and command forms. Meditation in verse 63 is an editorial contextual rendering of adolescheo, without specifying an unmentioned prayer text.

24:28 And the maiden ran and told her mother's house of these things.

24:29 Now Rebekah had a brother, whose name was Laban; and Laban ran to the man outside, beside the spring.

24:30 And when he saw the earrings and the bracelets upon his sister's hands, and when he heard the words of Rebekah his sister, saying, "This is what the man said to me," he came to the man, who stood beside the camels at the spring,

24:31 and said to him, "Come in; blessed be the Lord. Why are you standing outside? For I have prepared the house, and a place for the camels."

24:32 And the man entered into the house, and unloaded the camels. And straw and fodder were given to the camels, and water to wash his feet and the feet of the men with him.

24:33 And loaves were set before them to eat. But he said, "I will not eat until I have spoken my words." And they said, "Speak."

24:34 And he said, "I am Abraham's servant.

24:35 And the Lord has greatly blessed my master, and he is exalted; and He has given him sheep, and calves, silver and gold, male slaves and female slaves, camels and donkeys.

24:36 And Sarah, my master's wife, bore one son to my master after he was old; and he has given him all that he had.

24:37 And my master made me swear, saying, 'You shall not take a wife for my son from the daughters of the Canaanites, in whose land I sojourn;

24:38 but you shall go to my father's house, and to my tribe, and take a wife for my son from there.'

24:39 And I said to my master, 'Perhaps the woman will not come with me.'

24:40 And he said to me, 'The Lord, before whom I have been pleasing, He shall send His angel with you, and prosper your journey; and you shall take a wife for my son from my tribe, and from my father's house.

24:41 Then you shall be free from my curse; for when you come to my tribe, if they do not give her to you, you shall be free from my oath.'

24:42 And I came today to the spring, and said, 'Lord, God of my master Abraham, if Thou wilt prosper the journey I am now making,

24:43 behold, I stand beside the spring of water, and the daughters of the men of the city shall come out to draw water. Let the virgin to whom I shall say, "Give me a little water to drink from your water jar,"

24:44 and who shall say to me, "Drink, and I will draw water for your camels also," be the woman whom the Lord has prepared for His own servant Isaac. And by this I shall know that Thou hast shown mercy to my master Abraham.'

24:45 And before I had finished speaking in my mind, immediately Rebekah came out, having her water jar upon her shoulder; and she went down to the spring, and drew water. And I said to her, 'Give me a drink.'

24:46 And she hurried, and lowered her water jar, and said, 'Drink, and I will water your camels.' And I drank, and she watered my camels.

24:47 And I asked her, and said, 'Whose daughter are you?' And she said, 'I am the daughter of Bethuel, the son of Nahor, whom Milcah bore to him.' And I put the earrings upon her, and the bracelets about her hands.

24:48 And I was well pleased, and worshipped the Lord, and blessed the Lord, the God of my master Abraham, who had prospered my way in the way of truth, to take the daughter of my master's brother for his son.

24:49 Now therefore, if you will show mercy and righteousness to my master, tell me; and if not, tell me, that I may turn to the right hand or to the left."

24:50 And Laban and Bethuel answered and said, "This command has come from the Lord; we cannot therefore oppose you with evil against good.

24:51 Behold, Rebekah is before you; take her and depart, and let her be the wife of your master's son, as the Lord has spoken."

24:52 And when Abraham's servant heard these words, he bowed to the earth before the Lord.

24:53 And the servant brought out articles of silver and gold, and garments, and gave them to Rebekah; and he gave gifts to her brother and her mother.

24:54 And they ate and drank, he and the men with him, and slept. And he rose in the morning, and said, "Send me away, that I may go to my master."

24:55 And her brothers and her mother said, "Let the maiden abide with us about ten days, and afterward she shall go."

24:56 And he said to them, "Do not hinder me, since the Lord has prospered my journey; send me away, that I may go to my master."

24:57 And they said, "Let us call the maiden, and ask of her own mouth."

24:58 And they called Rebekah, and said to her, “Will you go with this man?” And she said, “I will go.”

24:59 And they sent away Rebekah their sister, and her possessions, and Abraham’s servant, and those who were with him.

24:60 And they blessed Rebekah their sister, and said to her, “You are our sister; become thousands of ten thousands, and let your seed inherit the cities of their adversaries.”

24:61 And Rebekah arose, and her maidservants, and they mounted the camels, and went with the man; and the servant took Rebekah and departed.

24:62 Now Isaac was journeying through the wilderness near the Well of the Vision; and he lived in the land toward the south.

24:63 And Isaac went out to meditate in the plain toward evening; and he lifted up his eyes, and saw camels coming.

24:64 And Rebekah lifted up her eyes, and saw Isaac, and leaped down from the camel,

24:65 and said to the servant, “Who is that man walking in the plain to meet us?” And the servant said, “It is my master.” And she took her veil, and covered herself.

24:66 And the servant told Isaac all the things which he had done.

24:67 And Isaac entered into his mother’s house, and took Rebekah, and she became his wife, and he loved her; and Isaac was comforted concerning Sarah his mother.

Genesis 25

25:1 And Abraham took another wife, whose name was Keturah.

25:2 And she bore him Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbak, and Shuah.

25:3 And Jokshan begot Sheba, Teman, and Dedan; and the sons of Dedan were Raguel, Nabdeel, Asshurim, Letushim, and Leummim.

Note 78: 78. Genesis 25:3–4,13–15;36:11–43;46:9–24 Genealogical lists retain the consulted Greek’s members and relationships. Familiar English names are used where identification is secure; distinctive forms such as Elraga, Massam, Iduma, Sophar, Asar, Rison, Iamin, Arad, and Jemuel are not silently replaced by another witness’s list. A final name-index review should distinguish spelling conventions from different readings and from distinct bearers of a name.

25:4 And the sons of Midian were Ephah, Epher, Hanoch, Abira, and Elraga. All these were the sons of Keturah.

25:5 And Abraham gave all that he had to Isaac his son.

25:6 But to the sons of his concubines Abraham gave gifts, and while he was still alive he sent them away from Isaac his son, eastward into the land of the east.

25:7 And these were the years of the days of Abraham’s life which he lived: a hundred and seventy-five years.

25:8 And Abraham’s strength failed, and he died in a good old age, an old man and full of days; and he was added to his people.

25:9 And Isaac and Ishmael his sons buried him in the double cave, in the field of Ephron the son of Zohar the Hittite, which is opposite Mamre,

25:10 the field and the cave which Abraham bought from the sons of Heth. There they buried Abraham and Sarah his wife.

25:11 And after Abraham died, God blessed Isaac his son; and Isaac lived by the Well of the Vision.

25:12 And these are the generations of Ishmael, Abraham’s son, whom Hagar the slave woman of Sarah bore to Abraham.

25:13 And these are the names of the sons of Ishmael, by the names of their generations: Ishmael’s firstborn Nebaioth, and Kedar, Nabdeel, and Massam,

25:14 and Mishma, Iduma, and Massa,

25:15 and Choddad, Teman, Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah.

25:16 These are the sons of Ishmael, and these are their names in their tents and their dwellings: twelve rulers according to their nations.

25:17 And these were the years of Ishmael’s life: a hundred and thirty-seven years. And his strength failed, and he died, and was added to his family.

25:18 And he lived from Havilah to Shur, which is opposite Egypt as one goes toward the Assyrians. He lived opposite all his brothers.

25:19 And these are the generations of Isaac, Abraham’s son: Abraham begot Isaac.

25:20 And Isaac was forty years old when he took Rebekah, the daughter of Bethuel the Syrian from Mesopotamia, the sister of Laban the Syrian, to be his wife.

25:21 And Isaac prayed to the Lord concerning Rebekah his wife, because she was barren; and God heard him, and Rebekah his wife conceived.

25:22 And the children leaped within her; and she said, “If it is to be this way with me, why is this happening to me?” And she went to inquire of the Lord.

25:23 And the Lord said to her, “Two nations are in your womb, and two peoples shall be separated from within you; and one people shall surpass the other, and the greater shall serve the lesser.”

Note 79: 79. Genesis 25:23,27 Greater and lesser retain the comparative terms; the birth context permits older and younger as explanation. Unfeigned renders aplastos provisionally: straightforward or unsophisticated is the intended sense, not a declaration that Jacob never deceived anyone. Dwelling in a house follows the singular Greek house, not a substituted tents. This difficult character description needs independent lexical review.

25:24 And her days to give birth were fulfilled, and behold, there were twins in her womb.

25:25 And the firstborn son came out red, all over like a hairy hide; and he was named Esau.

25:26 And afterward his brother came out, and his hand held Esau’s heel; and he was named Jacob. And Isaac was sixty years old when Rebekah bore them.

25:27 And the young men grew; and Esau was a man skilled in hunting, a man of the countryside, but Jacob was a man without pretence, dwelling in a house.

25:28 And Isaac loved Esau, because his hunting supplied him with food; but Rebekah loved Jacob.

25:29 And Jacob cooked a stew; and Esau came from the field, exhausted.

25:30 And Esau said to Jacob, “Let me taste some of this red stew, for I am exhausted.” Therefore his name was called Edom.

25:31 And Jacob said to Esau, “Sell me your birthright today.”

25:32 And Esau said, “Behold, I am going to die; and what use is this birthright to me?”

25:33 And Jacob said to him, “Swear to me today.” And he swore to him; and Esau sold his birthright to Jacob.

25:34 And Jacob gave Esau bread and lentil stew; and he ate and drank, and rose and went away. Thus Esau despised his birthright.

Genesis 26

26:1 And there was a famine in the land, besides the former famine which was in the time of Abraham; and Isaac went to Abimelech king of the Philistines, to Gerar.

26:2 And the Lord appeared to him and said, “Do not go down into Egypt; live in the land that I shall tell you about.

26:3 “And live as a stranger in this land, and I will be with you and bless you; for to you and to your seed I will give all this land, and I will establish My oath which I swore to Abraham your father.

26:4 “And I will multiply your seed as the stars of heaven, and give to your seed all this land; and in your seed all the nations of the earth shall be blessed,

26:5 “because Abraham your father obeyed My voice, and kept My charges, My commandments, My ordinances, and My statutes.”

26:6 And Isaac lived in Gerar.

26:7 And the men of the place asked concerning Rebekah his wife, and he said, “She is my sister”; for he feared to say, “She is my wife,” lest the men of the place should kill him because of Rebekah, for she was beautiful to behold.

26:8 And he remained there a long time; and Abimelech king of Gerar looked through the window and saw Isaac playing with Rebekah his wife.

Note 80: 80. Genesis 26:8–14,28–35 Playing is retained without specifying an unmentioned act. Unwitting offence expresses agnoia in context. Barley and farmland retain the source’s concrete nouns. An oath with a curse explains ara; safety renders soteria at departure without forcing the theological sense salvation. Verse 32 says We found no water; the negative must not be dropped. Elon is called a Hivite here; the genealogy in chapter 36 must not retroactively change this verse.

26:9 And Abimelech called Isaac and said to him, “Surely she is your wife! Why did you say, ‘She is my sister’?” And Isaac said to him, “For I thought, ‘I may die because of her.’”

26:10 And Abimelech said to him, “What is this that you have done to us? One of my kin might easily have lain with your wife, and you would have brought an unwitting offence upon us.”

26:11 And Abimelech charged all his people, saying, “Whoever touches this man or his wife shall be liable to death.”

26:12 And Isaac sowed in that land, and in that year he reaped barley a hundredfold; and the Lord blessed him.

26:13 And the man was exalted, and continued to grow greater, until he became very great.

26:14 And he had flocks of sheep, herds of cattle, and much farmland; and the Philistines envied him.

26:15 And all the wells which his father’s servants had dug in his father’s time, the Philistines stopped up and filled with earth.

26:16 And Abimelech said to Isaac, “Depart from us, for you have become far mightier than we.”

26:17 And Isaac departed from there, and camped in the valley of Gerar, and lived there.

26:18 And Isaac again dug the wells of water which the servants of Abraham his father had dug, and which the Philistines had stopped up after Abraham his father died; and he called them by the names which Abraham his father had given them.

26:19 And Isaac’s servants dug in the valley of Gerar, and found there a well of living water.

26:20 And the shepherds of Gerar contended with Isaac’s shepherds, saying that the water was theirs; and he called the name of the well Injustice, for they wronged him.

26:21 And Isaac departed from there and dug another well, and they disputed over that also; and he called its name Enmity.

26:22 And he departed from there and dug another well, and they did not contend over it; and he called its name Broad Space, saying, “For now the Lord has made room for us, and has increased us in the land.”

26:23 And he went up from there to the Well of the Oath.

26:24 And the Lord appeared to him that night and said, “I am the God of Abraham your father. Do not fear, for I am with you, and I have blessed you, and will multiply your seed for the sake of Abraham your father.”

26:25 And he built an altar there, and called upon the name of the Lord, and pitched his tent there; and Isaac’s servants dug a well there.

26:26 And Abimelech came to him from Gerar, and Ahuzzath his groomsman, and Phicol the commander of his army.

26:27 And Isaac said to them, “Why have you come to me, when you hated me and sent me away from you?”

26:28 And they said, “We have clearly seen that the Lord was with you, and we said, ‘Let there be an oath with a curse between us and you, and let us make a covenant with you,

26:29 “‘that you shall do us no harm, even as we have not loathed you, and as we have treated you well and sent you away in peace.’ And now you are blessed by the Lord.”

26:30 And he made a feast for them, and they ate and drank.

26:31 And they rose in the morning and swore one to another; and Isaac sent them away, and they departed from him in safety.

26:32 And that same day Isaac’s servants came and told him concerning the well which they had dug, and said, “We found no water.”

26:33 And he called it Oath; therefore the name of the city is Well of the Oath to this day.

26:34 And Esau was forty years old, and took as wives Judith the daughter of Beeri the Hittite, and Basemath the daughter of Elon the Hivite.

26:35 And they contended with Isaac and Rebekah.

Genesis 27

27:1 And when Isaac was old and his eyes were too dim to see, he called Esau his elder son and said to him, “My son.” And he said, “Behold, here am I.”

27:2 And he said, “Behold, I have grown old, and do not know the day of my death.

27:3 “Now therefore take your gear, your quiver and your bow, and go out into the plain, and hunt game for me.

27:4 “And prepare for me savoury food such as I love, and bring it to me, that I may eat, and that my soul may bless you before I die.”

Note 81: 81. Genesis 27:4–29 Savoury food is edible fare, not modern meat restricted to animal flesh. My soul may bless thee retains Isaac’s repeated personal expression. Rulers, thy brother, and thy father’s sons in verse 29 follow the Greek, rather than silently importing another witness’s parallel terms. The retelling in verse 7 adds before the Lord; it remains present there without being inserted into verse 4.

27:5 And Rebekah heard Isaac speaking to Esau his son. And Esau went into the plain to hunt game for his father.

27:6 And Rebekah said to Jacob her younger son, “Behold, I heard your father speaking to Esau your brother, saying,

27:7 “‘Bring me game, and prepare savoury food for me, that I may eat and bless you before the Lord before I die.’

27:8 “Now therefore, my son, listen to me in what I command you.

27:9 “Go to the flock, and bring me from there two tender and good young goats; and I will prepare them as savoury food for your father, as he loves.

27:10 “And you shall bring it to your father, and he shall eat, that your father may bless you before he dies.”

27:11 And Jacob said to Rebekah his mother, “Esau my brother is a hairy man, and I am a smooth man.

27:12 “Perhaps my father will feel me, and I shall be before him as one who treats him with contempt, and shall bring a curse upon myself, and not a blessing.”

27:13 And his mother said to him, “Upon me be your curse, my child; only obey my voice, and go and bring them to me.”

27:14 And he went and took them, and brought them to his mother; and his mother prepared savoury food, as his father loved.

27:15 And Rebekah took the fine clothing of Esau her elder son, which was with her in the house, and clothed Jacob her younger son.

27:16 And she put the skins of the young goats upon his arms, and upon the bare parts of his neck.

27:17 And she gave the savoury food and the loaves which she had prepared into the hands of Jacob her son.

27:18 And he brought them to his father, and said, “Father.” And he said, “Behold, here am I. Who are you, my child?”

27:19 And Jacob said to his father, “I am Esau your firstborn. I have done as you told me. Arise, sit, and eat of my game, that your soul may bless me.”

27:20 And Isaac said to his son, “How is it that you have found it so quickly, my child?” And he said, “Because the Lord your God put it before me.”

27:21 And Isaac said to Jacob, “Draw near to me, that I may feel you, my child, whether you are my son Esau or not.”

27:22 And Jacob drew near to Isaac his father; and he felt him and said, “The voice is Jacob’s voice, but the hands are Esau’s hands.”

27:23 And he did not recognize him, for his hands were hairy as the hands of Esau his brother; and he blessed him.

27:24 And he said, “Are you my son Esau?” And he said, “I am.”

27:25 And he said, “Bring it to me, that I may eat of your game, my child, and that my soul may bless you.” And he brought it to him, and he ate; and he brought him wine, and he drank.

27:26 And Isaac his father said to him, “Draw near to me, and kiss me, my child.”

27:27 And he drew near and kissed him; and he smelled the fragrance of his garments, and blessed him, and said, “Behold, the fragrance of my son is as the fragrance of a full field which the Lord has blessed.

27:28 “And may God give you of the dew of heaven, and of the richness of the earth, and abundance of grain and wine.

27:29 “Let nations serve you, and rulers shall bow down to you. Be lord over your brother, and your father’s sons shall bow down to you. Cursed be the one who curses you, and blessed be the one who blesses you.”

27:30 And when Isaac had finished blessing Jacob his son, and Jacob had gone out from the presence of Isaac his father, Esau his brother came from his hunting.

27:31 And he also prepared savoury food, and brought it to his father, and said to his father, “Let my father arise and eat of his son’s game, that your soul may bless me.”

27:32 And Isaac his father said to him, “Who are you?” And he said, “I am your firstborn son Esau.”

27:33 And Isaac was exceedingly astonished, and said, “Who then hunted game for me and brought it to me? And I ate of all before you came, and blessed him; and let him be blessed.”

Note 82: 82. Genesis 27:33,38–40 Ekstasis in verse 33 describes astonishment, unlike the trance in 15:12. Isaac’s being deeply moved in verse 38 is retained. Of the richness in verse 39 follows the same apo construction used in verse 28; away from is an alternative interpretation that would reverse the sense and requires explicit justification. When thou castest down in verse 40 preserves an elliptical verb without supplying an unstated object. Verses 39–40 remain provisional and require specialist review.

27:34 And when Esau heard the words of Isaac his father, he cried with a great and exceedingly bitter cry, and said, “Bless me also, father!”

27:35 And he said to him, “Your brother came with deceit, and took your blessing.”

27:36 And he said, “He was rightly named Jacob, for he has now supplanted me these two times: he took my birthright, and now he has taken my blessing.” And Esau said to his father, “Have you not reserved a blessing for me, father?”

27:37 And Isaac answered and said to Esau, “If I have made him your lord, and made all his brothers his household slaves, and sustained him with grain and wine, what shall I do for you, my child?”

27:38 And Esau said to his father, “Do you have only one blessing, father? Bless me also, father.” And Isaac was deeply moved; and Esau lifted up his voice and wept.

27:39 And Isaac his father answered and said to him, “Behold, your dwelling shall be of the richness of the earth, and of the dew of heaven from above.

27:40 “And you shall live by your sword, and you shall serve your brother; but when you cast down, you shall loosen his yoke from your neck.”

27:41 And Esau bore a grudge against Jacob because of the blessing with which his father had blessed him; and Esau said in his mind, “Let the days of mourning for my father draw near, that I may kill Jacob my brother.”

27:42 And the words of Esau her elder son were told to Rebekah; and she sent and called Jacob her younger son, and said to him, “Behold, Esau your brother threatens to kill you.

27:43 “Now therefore, my child, obey my voice, and arise and flee into Mesopotamia, to Laban my brother at Harran.

27:44 “And stay with him a few days, until the fury

27:45 “and anger of your brother turn away from you, and he forgets what you have done to him. Then I will send and bring you back from there, lest I be bereaved of you both in one day.”

27:46 And Rebekah said to Isaac, “I am weary of my life because of the daughters of the sons of Heth. If Jacob takes a wife from the daughters of this land, why should I live?”

Genesis 28

28:1 And Isaac called Jacob, and blessed him, and charged him, saying, “You shall not take a wife from the daughters of Canaan.

28:2 “Arise, flee into Mesopotamia, to the house of Bethuel your mother’s father, and take a wife for yourself from there, from the daughters of Laban your mother’s brother.

28:3 “And may my God bless you, and increase you, and multiply you; and you shall become assemblies of nations.

Note 83: 83. Genesis 28:3,11–22 My God is the Greek title; Almighty is not supplied. Ladder renders klimax; stairway is a permissible architectural alternative, not proof of a different text. By his head avoids specifying a stone pillow beyond the expression. Sand, House of God, and Oulamlous preserve the Greek wording. Fearful means inspiring fear or awe, not timid. Safety in verse 21 remains the journey’s safe return.

28:4 “And may He give you the blessing of Abraham my father, to you and to your seed after you, to inherit the land of your sojourning, which God gave to Abraham.”

28:5 And Isaac sent Jacob away, and he went into Mesopotamia, to Laban the son of Bethuel the Syrian, the brother of Rebekah, the mother of Jacob and Esau.

28:6 And Esau saw that Isaac had blessed Jacob, and that he had gone into Mesopotamia of Syria to take a wife for himself from there; and that in blessing him he had charged him, saying, “You shall not take a wife from the daughters of Canaan,”

28:7 and that Jacob had obeyed his father and his mother, and gone into Mesopotamia of Syria.

28:8 And Esau saw that the daughters of Canaan were displeasing in the sight of Isaac his father.

28:9 And Esau went to Ishmael, and took Mahalath, the daughter of Ishmael Abraham’s son, the sister of Nebaioth, to be his wife in addition to his wives.

28:10 And Jacob went out from the Well of the Oath, and went toward Harran.

28:11 And he came upon a place and slept there, for the sun had set; and he took one of the stones of the place, and put it by his head, and slept in that place.

28:12 And he dreamed, and behold, a ladder was set upon the earth, whose top reached to heaven; and the angels of God ascended and descended upon it.

28:13 And the Lord stood firm upon it, and said, “I am the Lord, the God of Abraham your father, and the God of Isaac. Do not fear; the land on which you sleep I will give to you and to your seed.

28:14 “And your seed shall be as the sand of the earth, and shall spread toward the sea, and toward the south, and toward the north, and toward the east; and in you and in your seed all the tribes of the earth shall be blessed.

28:15 “And behold, I am with you, guarding you on every road wherever you go; and I will bring you back into this land, for I will not forsake you until I have done all that I have spoken to you.”

28:16 And Jacob awoke from his sleep and said, “The Lord is in this place, and I did not know it.”

28:17 And he was afraid and said, “How fearful is this place! This is none other than the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven.”

28:18 And Jacob rose in the morning, and took the stone which he had put there by his head, and set it up as a pillar, and poured oil upon its top.

28:19 And Jacob called the name of that place House of God; but the name of the city at first was Oulamlous.

28:20 And Jacob vowed a vow, saying, “If the Lord God is with me, and guards me on this way that I go, and gives me bread to eat and clothing to wear, 28:21 “and brings me back in safety to my father’s house, then the Lord shall be my God.

28:22 “And this stone, which I have set up as a pillar, shall be to me a house of God; and of all that Thou givest me I will surely give a tenth to Thee.”

Genesis 29

29:1 And Jacob lifted up his feet and went into the land of the east, to Laban the son of Bethuel the Syrian, the brother of Rebekah, the mother of Jacob and Esau.

29:2 And he looked, and behold, a well in the plain; and three flocks of sheep lay there beside it, for from that well they watered the flocks. And a great stone lay upon the mouth of the well.

29:3 And all the flocks were gathered there; and they rolled the stone from the mouth of the well, and watered the sheep, and put the stone back in its place upon the mouth of the well.

29:4 And Jacob said to them, “Brothers, where are you from?” And they said, “We are from Harran.”

29:5 And he said to them, “Do you know Laban the son of Nahor?” And they said, “We know him.”

29:6 And he said to them, “Is he well?” And they said, “He is well.” And behold, Rachel his daughter was coming with the sheep.

29:7 And Jacob said, “There is still much of the day left; it is not yet time to gather the livestock. Water the sheep, and go and pasture them.”

29:8 And they said, “We cannot, until all the shepherds are gathered, and they roll the stone from the mouth of the well; then we shall water the sheep.”

29:9 While he was still speaking to them, Rachel the daughter of Laban came with her father’s sheep, for she tended her father’s sheep.

29:10 And when Jacob saw Rachel the daughter of Laban his mother’s brother, and the sheep of Laban his mother’s brother, Jacob drew near and rolled the stone from the mouth of the well, and watered the sheep of Laban his mother’s brother.

29:11 And Jacob kissed Rachel, and lifted up his voice and wept.

29:12 And Jacob told Rachel that he was her father’s kinsman, and that he was Rebekah’s son; and she ran and told her father these things.

Note 84: 84. Genesis 29:12–17,31–35 Kinsman makes the wider sense of adelphos clear for Jacob and Laban without changing their relationship. Weak eyes does not diagnose Leah’s eyesight or declare her unattractive. Hated preserves the strong verb in verses 31 and 33; the preceding comparison of love is retained, without making less loved an automatic replacement for every occurrence of hate. The naming speeches are characters’ stated explanations.

29:13 And when Laban heard the name of Jacob his sister’s son, he ran to meet him, and embraced and kissed him, and brought him into his house. And Jacob told Laban all these things.

29:14 And Laban said to him, “You are of my bones and of my flesh.” And he remained with him a full month.

29:15 And Laban said to Jacob, “Because you are my kinsman, you shall not serve me for nothing. Tell me what your wages shall be.”

29:16 And Laban had two daughters: the name of the elder was Leah, and the name of the younger was Rachel.

29:17 And Leah’s eyes were weak, but Rachel was beautiful in form and fair to behold.

29:18 And Jacob loved Rachel, and said, “I will serve you seven years for Rachel your younger daughter.”

29:19 And Laban said to him, “It is better that I give her to you than that I give her to another man. Stay with me.”

29:20 And Jacob served seven years for Rachel; and they were in his sight as a few days, because he loved her.

29:21 And Jacob said to Laban, “Give me my wife, for my days are fulfilled, that I may go in to her.”

29:22 And Laban gathered all the men of the place, and made a wedding feast.

29:23 And evening came; and Laban took Leah his daughter and brought her to Jacob, and Jacob went in to her.

29:24 And Laban gave Zilpah his slave woman to Leah his daughter, to be her slave woman.

29:25 And morning came, and behold, it was Leah. And Jacob said to Laban, “What is this that you have done to me? Did I not serve you for Rachel? Why have you deceived me?”

29:26 And Laban said, “It is not done this way in our place, to give the younger before the elder.

29:27 “Therefore fulfil this one’s week, and I will give you the other also, for another seven years of service that you shall render to me.”

29:28 And Jacob did so, and fulfilled her week; and Laban gave him Rachel his daughter to be his wife.

29:29 And Laban gave Bilhah his slave woman to Rachel his daughter, to be her slave woman.

29:30 And he went in to Rachel; and he loved Rachel more than Leah, and served him another seven years.

29:31 And the Lord saw that Leah was hated, and opened her womb; but Rachel was barren.

29:32 And Leah conceived and bore Jacob a son; and she called his name Reuben, saying, “For the Lord has seen my humiliation; now my husband will love me.”

29:33 And Leah conceived again and bore Jacob a second son, and said, “For the Lord has heard that I am hated, and has given me this one also.” And she called his name Simeon.

29:34 And she conceived again and bore a son, and said, “Now my husband will be on my side, for I have borne him three sons.” Therefore she called his name Levi.

29:35 And she conceived again and bore a son, and said, “This time I will give thanks to the Lord.” Therefore she called his name Judah; and she ceased bearing.

Genesis 30

30:1 And Rachel saw that she had borne no children to Jacob, and Rachel envied her sister, and said to Jacob, “Give me children, or I shall die.”

30:2 And Jacob was angry with Rachel, and said to her, “Am I in the place of God, who has deprived you of the fruit of the womb?”

30:3 And Rachel said to Jacob, “Behold my slave woman Bilhah. Go in to her, and she shall bear upon my knees, that I also may have children through her.”

Note 85: 85. Genesis 30:3–24 Bear upon my knees preserves the social image without inventing an adoption ceremony in the verse. Rachel’s claims that God judged in her favour and helped her remain her speech. Mandrake fruit avoids the modern implication that the fruit is an ordinary apple. Good fortune, Reward, and the name explanations retain the Greek; the passage does not establish the medicinal efficacy of mandrakes.

30:4 And she gave him Bilhah her slave woman to be his wife; and Jacob went in to her.

30:5 And Bilhah, Rachel’s slave woman, conceived and bore Jacob a son.

30:6 And Rachel said, “God has judged in my favour, and has heard my voice, and has given me a son.” Therefore she called his name Dan.

30:7 And Bilhah, Rachel’s slave woman, conceived again, and bore Jacob a second son.

30:8 And Rachel said, “God has helped me, and I have contended with my sister, and prevailed.” And she called his name Naphtali.

30:9 And Leah saw that she had ceased bearing, and took Zilpah her slave woman, and gave her to Jacob to be his wife.

30:10 And Jacob went in to her; and Zilpah, Leah’s slave woman, conceived and bore Jacob a son.

30:11 And Leah said, “Good fortune!” And she called his name Gad.

30:12 And Zilpah, Leah’s slave woman, conceived and bore Jacob another son, the second.

30:13 And Leah said, “Blessed am I, for women shall call me blessed.” And she called his name Asher.

30:14 And Reuben went out in the days of the wheat harvest, and found mandrake fruit in the field, and brought it to Leah his mother. And Rachel said to Leah, “Give me some of your son’s mandrakes.”

30:15 And Leah said, “Is it not enough for you that you have taken my husband? Will you also take my son’s mandrakes?” And Rachel said, “Not so; let him lie with you tonight in exchange for your son’s mandrakes.”

30:16 And Jacob came from the field in the evening; and Leah went out to meet him, and said, “You shall come in to me today, for I have hired you with my son’s mandrakes.” And he lay with her that night.

30:17 And God heard Leah, and she conceived and bore Jacob a fifth son.

30:18 And Leah said, “God has given me my reward, because I gave my slave woman to my husband.” And she called his name Issachar, which is Reward.

30:19 And Leah conceived again, and bore Jacob a sixth son.

30:20 And Leah said, “God has given me a good gift; now my husband will choose me, for I have borne him six sons.” And she called his name Zebulun.

30:21 And afterward she bore a daughter, and called her name Dinah.

30:22 And God remembered Rachel, and God heard her, and opened her womb.

30:23 And she conceived and bore Jacob a son. And Rachel said, “God has taken away my reproach.”

30:24 And she called his name Joseph, saying, “May God add to me another son.”

30:25 And when Rachel had borne Joseph, Jacob said to Laban, “Send me away, that I may go to my own place and to my own land.

30:26 “Give me my wives and my children, for whom I have served you, that I may depart; for you know the service with which I have served you.”

30:27 And Laban said to him, “If I have found grace in your sight, I would divine by signs; for God has blessed me at your coming.

Note 86: 86. Genesis 30:27–43;31:7–12,41 Divination remains explicit; learned by experience would obscure the verb. The syntax of 30:27 is difficult and the conditional wording is provisional. Grey, white-marked, variously marked, and ash-grey with spots distinguish the source’s animal descriptions. Styrax, walnut, and plane tree preserve Greek plant designations without asserting a modern species. Chapter 30:42 contrasts unmarked and marked animals, not weak and strong animals. Chapter 31:7 and 41 speak of ten lambs and ten ewe lambs, not ten changes of wages. These are textual particulars, not stylistic modernization.

30:28 “Name your wages to me, and I will give them.”

30:29 And Jacob said to him, “You know how I have served you, and how your livestock have fared with me.

30:30 “For you had little before I came, and it has increased to abundance; and the Lord has blessed you wherever I set my foot. And now, when shall I also provide for my own house?”

30:31 And Laban said to him, “What shall I give you?” And Jacob said to him, “You shall give me nothing. If you will do this thing for me, I will again tend and guard your flock.

30:32 “Let all your flock pass through today, and separate from it every grey animal among the lambs, and every white-marked and spotted animal among the goats; these shall be my wages.

30:33 “And my righteousness shall answer for me tomorrow, for my wages are before you. Every goat with me that is not spotted and white-marked, and every lamb that is not grey, shall be counted stolen.”

30:34 And Laban said to him, “Let it be according to your word.”

30:35 And that day he separated the spotted and white-marked male goats, and all the spotted and white-marked female goats, and everything that had white upon it, and every grey animal among the lambs; and he committed them into the hands of his sons.

30:36 And he put a journey of three days between them and Jacob; and Jacob tended Laban’s remaining flock.

30:37 And Jacob took fresh rods of styrax, walnut, and plane tree; and Jacob peeled white strips in them, stripping away the green, so that the white which he had peeled appeared in a varied pattern upon the rods.

30:38 And he set the rods which he had peeled in the channels of the watering troughs, so that, when the sheep came to drink before the rods, when they came to drink,

30:39 the sheep might conceive facing the rods. And the sheep bore young that were white-marked, variously marked, and ash-grey with spots.

30:40 And Jacob separated the lambs, and set before the sheep a white-marked ram and every variously marked animal among the lambs; and he set apart flocks for himself, and did not mix them with Laban’s sheep.

30:41 And at the time when the sheep were mating and conceiving, Jacob set the rods before the sheep in the troughs, that they might mate facing the rods.

30:42 But when the sheep gave birth, he did not set them there. And the unmarked were Laban’s, and the marked were Jacob’s.

30:43 And the man became exceedingly, exceedingly wealthy; and he had much livestock, and oxen, and male and female slaves, and camels and donkeys.

Genesis 31

31:1 And Jacob heard the words of Laban’s sons, saying, “Jacob has taken all that was our father’s, and from that which was our father’s he has made all this glory.”

31:2 And Jacob saw Laban’s face, and behold, it was not toward him as before.

Note 87: 87. Genesis 31:2,5,19–35 As before clarifies literally yesterday and the third day without changing the contrast. Idols renders eidola; no special type of household image is conjectured. The River is not expanded inside the verse. The warning concerns evil speech, and the search proceeds through Leah’s dwelling, Jacob’s, the two slave women’s, and Rachel’s in the Greek order. Rachel’s claim about the customary condition of women means menstruation; it remains her claim. Revision, 29 September 2026. Wording. At 31:31, “What if thou shouldest” expresses the apprehension introduced by Greek mēpote. It replaces an incomplete independent “Lest” clause while retaining singular address, the daughters, and all Jacob’s possessions. Greek source.

31:3 And the Lord said to Jacob, “Return to the land of your father and to your kindred, and I will be with you.”

31:4 And Jacob sent and called Rachel and Leah into the field where the flocks were.

31:5 And he said to them, “I see your father’s face, that it is not toward me as before; but the God of my father has been with me.

31:6 “And you yourselves know that with all my strength I have served your father.

31:7 “And your father has cheated me, and changed my wages of ten lambs; but God has not allowed him to harm me.

31:8 “If he said, ‘The variously marked shall be your wages,’ then all the sheep bore variously marked young; and if he said, ‘The white shall be your wages,’ then all the sheep bore white young.

31:9 “And God has taken away all your father’s livestock, and given them to me.

31:10 “And when the sheep were mating, I saw them with my eyes in a dream; and behold, the male goats and rams mounting the sheep and goats were white-marked, variously marked, and ash-grey with spots.

31:11 “And the angel of God said to me in a dream, ‘Jacob.’ And I said, ‘What is it?’

31:12 “And he said, ‘Lift up your eyes and see the male goats and rams mounting the sheep and goats, white-marked, variously marked, and ash-grey with spots; for I have seen all that Laban does to you.

31:13 “‘I am the God who appeared to you in the place of God, where you anointed a pillar to Me, and vowed a vow to Me. Now therefore arise and go out from this land, and depart to the land of your birth, and I will be with you.’”

31:14 And Rachel and Leah answered and said to him, “Do we still have any portion or inheritance in our father’s house?

31:15 “Are we not counted strangers by him? For he has sold us, and has utterly consumed our money.

31:16 “All the wealth and glory which God has taken from our father shall be ours and our children’s. Now therefore do all that God has said to you.”

31:17 And Jacob rose, and set his wives and his children upon the camels.

31:18 And he led away all his possessions, and all his household goods which he had acquired in Mesopotamia, and all that he had, to go to Isaac his father in the land of Canaan.

31:19 And Laban had gone to shear his sheep; and Rachel stole her father’s idols.

31:20 And Jacob concealed it from Laban the Syrian, by not telling him that he was fleeing.

31:21 And he fled, he and all that he had, and crossed the River, and set out toward the mountain of Gilead.

31:22 And on the third day it was told to Laban the Syrian that Jacob had fled.

31:23 And he took all his kinsmen with him, and pursued him a journey of seven days, and overtook him in the mountain of Gilead.

31:24 And God came to Laban the Syrian in a dream by night, and said to him, “Take care not to speak evil to Jacob.”

31:25 And Laban overtook Jacob. And Jacob had pitched his tent in the mountain; and Laban stationed his kinsmen in the mountain of Gilead.

31:26 And Laban said to Jacob, “What have you done? Why did you flee secretly, and defraud me, and lead away my daughters as captives of the sword?

31:27 “If you had told me, I would have sent you away with gladness and music, with tambourines and lyre.

31:28 “I was not deemed worthy to kiss my children and my daughters. Now you have acted foolishly.

31:29 “And now my hand has power to harm you; but the God of your father said to me yesterday, ‘Take care not to speak evil to Jacob.’

31:30 “Now therefore you have gone, for you greatly longed to depart to your father’s house; but why have you stolen my gods?”

31:31 And Jacob answered and said to Laban, “For I thought, ‘What if you should take your daughters from me, and all that is mine?’

Note 87: 87. Genesis 31:2,5,19–35 As before clarifies literally yesterday and the third day without changing the contrast. Idols renders eidola; no special type of household image is conjectured. 31:32 “Identify what is yours among my possessions, and take it.” And he identified nothing with him. And Jacob said to him, “With whomever you find your gods, he shall not live before our kinsmen.” But Jacob did not know that Rachel his wife had stolen them.

31:33 And Laban entered and searched Leah’s dwelling, and found nothing; and he went out from Leah’s dwelling and searched Jacob’s dwelling and the dwelling of the two slave women, and found nothing. And he entered Rachel’s dwelling also.

31:34 And Rachel had taken the idols, and put them in the camel’s saddle gear, and sat upon them.

31:35 And she said to her father, “Do not take it badly, my lord; I cannot rise before you, for the customary condition of women is upon me.” And Laban searched the whole dwelling, and did not find the idols.

31:36 And Jacob was angry, and contended with Laban; and Jacob answered and said to Laban, “What is my offence, and what is my sin, that you have pursued me

31:37 “and searched all my belongings? What have you found of all your household goods? Set it here before my kinsmen and your kinsmen, and let them judge between us two.

31:38 “These twenty years I have been with you; your sheep and your goats have not miscarried, and I have not eaten the rams of your flock.

31:39 “I brought you no animal taken by wild beasts; I myself paid for what was stolen by day and what was stolen by night.

31:40 “By day I was consumed by the heat, and by night by the frost; and sleep departed from my eyes.

31:41 “These twenty years I have been in your house; I served you fourteen years for your two daughters, and six years among your sheep; and you defrauded me of my wages of ten ewe lambs.

31:42 “Unless the God of my father Abraham and the Fear of Isaac had been with me, you would now have sent me away empty. God saw my humiliation and the toil of my hands, and rebuked you yesterday.”

31:43 And Laban answered and said to Jacob, “The daughters are my daughters, and the sons are my sons, and the livestock are my livestock; and all that you see is mine and my daughters’. What shall I do today to these women, or to their children whom they have borne?

31:44 “Now therefore come, let us make a covenant, I and you, and let it be a witness between me and you.” And he said to him, “Behold, no one is with us; see, God is witness between me and you.”

Note 88: 88. Genesis 31:44–54;32:1 The Greek names the heap with translated witness expressions. Its displayed numbering has no separate 31:51; the heap-and-pillar material occurs in 31:48. Laban’s departure is 32:1 here, corresponding to 31:55 in many English Bibles; the following chapter-32 references are consequently offset by one. Preserve the conditional difficulty of 31:50–53 without inventing an oath penalty. Its syntax remains open for review. The skipped label is not an omitted translation verse.

31:45 And Jacob took a stone and set it up as a pillar.

31:46 And Jacob said to his kinsmen, “Gather stones.” And they gathered stones and made a heap, and ate and drank there beside the heap. And Laban said to him, “This heap bears witness between me and you today.”

31:47 And Laban called it Heap of Witness, but Jacob called it Witness Heap.

31:48 And Laban said to Jacob, “Behold this heap and this pillar which I have set between me and you: this heap bears witness, and this pillar bears witness.” Therefore its name was called The Heap Bears Witness, 31:49 and The Watch, because he said, “May God watch between me and you, for we shall be separated one from another.

31:50 “If you mistreat my daughters, if you take wives besides my daughters, see, no one is with us.

31:52 “For if I do not cross over to you, neither shall you cross this heap and this pillar to me for harm,

31:53 “the God of Abraham and the God of Nahor shall judge between us.” And Jacob swore by the Fear of his father Isaac.

31:54 And Jacob offered a sacrifice in the mountain, and called his kinsmen; and they ate and drank, and slept in the mountain.

Genesis 32

32:1 And Laban rose in the morning, and kissed his sons and his daughters, and blessed them; and Laban turned back and departed to his own place.

32:2 And Jacob went on his own way; and he lifted up his eyes and saw the camp of God encamped, and the angels of God met him.

Note 89: 89. Genesis 32:2–13,21–33 Camp and Encampments preserve the naming image; angels and human messengers render angelos according to referent. Verse 11 says the righteousness and truth suffice, not that Jacob is unworthy of mercies. The face idioms in verse 21 mean appeasing and being accepted. The wrestling figure remains a man in verse 25; uncertain pronouns stay lower-case. The thigh becomes numb, rather than being expressly dislocated. Form of God translates the place name; life in verse 31 is the contextual sense of psyche.

32:3 And Jacob said when he saw them, “This is the camp of God.” And he called the name of that place Encampments.

32:4 And Jacob sent messengers before him to Esau his brother, into the land of Seir, into the country of Edom.

32:5 And he charged them, saying, “This is what you shall say to my lord Esau: ‘Thus says your servant Jacob: I have lived as a stranger with Laban, and remained until now.

32:6 “‘And I have oxen and donkeys and sheep, and male and female slaves; and I have sent to tell my lord Esau, that your servant may find grace in your sight.’”

32:7 And the messengers returned to Jacob, saying, “We came to your brother Esau, and behold, he comes to meet you, and four hundred men with him.”

32:8 And Jacob was greatly afraid and perplexed; and he divided the people who were with him, and the oxen and the sheep, into two camps.

32:9 And Jacob said, “If Esau comes to one camp and strikes it down, the second camp shall escape.”

32:10 And Jacob said, “O God of my father Abraham, and God of my father Isaac, O Lord, who didst say to me, ‘Hurry to the land of your birth, and I will do you good,’

32:11 “all the righteousness and all the truth which Thou hast shown to Thy servant suffice for me; for with my staff I crossed this Jordan, and now I have become two camps.

32:12 “Deliver me from the hand of Esau my brother, for I fear him, lest he come and strike me down, mother with children.

32:13 “And Thou didst say, ‘I will surely do you good, and make your seed as the sand of the sea, which cannot be numbered for its multitude.’”

32:14 And he slept there that night; and he took gifts from what he had brought, and sent them to Esau his brother:

32:15 two hundred female goats and twenty male goats, two hundred ewes and twenty rams,

32:16 thirty nursing camels with their young, forty cows and ten bulls, twenty donkeys and ten foals.

32:17 And he committed them into the hands of his servants, each herd apart; and he said to his servants, “Go before me, and leave a space between herd and herd.”

32:18 And he charged the first, saying, “If Esau my brother meets you and asks you, saying, ‘Whose are you, and where are you going, and whose are these before you?’

32:19 “you shall say, ‘They are your servant Jacob’s. He has sent gifts to my lord Esau, and behold, he himself is behind us.’”

32:20 And he charged the first, and the second, and the third, and all who went along behind these flocks, saying, “Speak to Esau in this way when you meet him.

32:21 “And you shall say, ‘Behold, your servant Jacob comes behind us.’” For he said, “I will appease him with the gifts going before him, and afterward I shall see his face; for perhaps he will accept me.”

32:22 And the gifts passed on before him, but he slept that night in the camp.

32:23 And he rose that night, and took his two wives and his two slave women and his eleven children, and crossed the ford of Jabbok.

32:24 And he took them and crossed the torrent, and brought over all that he had.

32:25 And Jacob was left alone; and a man wrestled with him until morning.

32:26 And he saw that he could not prevail against him, and touched the broad part of his thigh; and the broad part of Jacob’s thigh became numb as he wrestled with him.

32:27 And he said to him, “Let me go, for dawn has risen.” And he said, “I will not let you go unless you bless me.”

32:28 And he said to him, “What is your name?” And he said, “Jacob.”

32:29 And he said to him, “Your name shall no longer be called Jacob, but Israel shall be your name, for you have been strong with God, and with men you are mighty.”

32:30 And Jacob asked and said, “Tell me your name.” And he said, “Why do you ask my name?” And he blessed him there.

32:31 And Jacob called the name of that place Form of God, “For I have seen God face to face, and my life has been preserved.”

32:32 And the sun rose upon him as he passed Form of God; and he limped because of his thigh.

32:33 Therefore the sons of Israel do not eat the sinew that became numb, which is upon the broad part of the thigh, to this day; for he touched the broad part of Jacob’s thigh, the sinew, and it became numb.

Genesis 33

33:1 And Jacob lifted up his eyes and saw, and behold, Esau his brother was coming, and four hundred men with him. And Jacob divided the children among Leah and Rachel and the two slave women.

33:2 And he put the two slave women and their sons first, and Leah and her children behind, and Rachel and Joseph last.

33:3 And he himself went before them, and bowed down to the earth seven times, until he drew near to his brother.

33:4 And Esau ran to meet him, and embraced and kissed him, and fell upon his neck; and they both wept.

33:5 And he lifted up his eyes and saw the women and the children, and said, “Who are these with you?” And he said, “The children with whom God has shown mercy to your servant.”

Note 90: 90. Genesis 33:5–20 Mercy, grace, and blessings are not collapsed into one term: blessings in verse 11 denotes the gifts. Bow down describes homage to Esau and does not imply divine worship. Booths translates the naming expression; Salem is treated as a place name in verse 18. A hundred lambs in verse 19 follows the Greek and is not converted to pieces of money. Verse 20 says Jacob called upon the God of Israel; it does not supply a different altar name.

33:6 And the slave women and their children drew near, and bowed down.

33:7 And Leah and her children drew near, and bowed down; and afterward Rachel and Joseph drew near, and bowed down.

33:8 And he said, “What do you mean by all these companies which I met?” And he said, “That your servant may find grace in your sight, my lord.”

33:9 And Esau said, “I have much, brother; let what is yours be yours.”

33:10 And Jacob said, “If I have found grace in your sight, receive the gifts from my hands; for I have seen your face as one might see the face of God, and you will accept me.

33:11 “Take my blessings which I have brought to you, for God has shown mercy to me, and I have all things.” And he urged him, and he took them.

33:12 And he said, “Let us set out and go straight ahead.”

33:13 And he said to him, “My lord knows that the children are tender, and the sheep and cows under my care are nursing; if therefore I drive them hard for one day, all the livestock will die.

33:14 “Let my lord go before his servant; and I will make my way slowly, according to the journey before me and the children’s pace, until I come to my lord in Seir.”

33:15 And Esau said, “Let me leave with you some of the people who are with me.” And he said, “Why this? It is enough that I have found grace in your sight, my lord.”

33:16 And Esau returned that day on his way to Seir.

33:17 And Jacob journeyed to Booths, and made houses for himself there, and made booths for his livestock; therefore he called the name of that place Booths.

33:18 And Jacob came to Salem, a city of Shechem, which is in the land of Canaan, when he came from Mesopotamia of Syria; and he camped before the city.

33:19 And he bought the portion of the field where he had pitched his tent from Hamor the father of Shechem for a hundred lambs.

33:20 And he set up an altar there, and called upon the God of Israel.

Genesis 34

34:1 And Dinah the daughter of Leah, whom she bore to Jacob, went out to see the daughters of the people of the land.

34:2 And Shechem the Horite, son of Hamor and ruler of the land, saw her, and seized her, and lay with her, and violated her.

Note 91: 91. Genesis 34:2–31 Seized, lay with, and violated preserve the violence without euphemistic consent. Maiden at 34:3 renders parthenos after the assault; the word is not evidence that the narrator denies the assault or a global rule that parthenos never means virgin. Horite, the named speakers Simeon and Levi, plural our daughters, and household captives retain Greek particulars. The slain in verse 27 renders traumatias, which in battle narratives regularly denotes the fatally wounded or slain; the city’s men had just been killed (verses 25–26). Wounded remains a wider lexical sense, but here the context favours slain. The speeches do not constitute editorial approval of the massacre.

34:3 And he was attached to the soul of Dinah, Jacob’s daughter, and loved the maiden, and spoke to the maiden according to her heart.

34:4 And Shechem spoke to Hamor his father, saying, “Take this young woman for me to be my wife.”

34:5 And Jacob heard that the son of Hamor had defiled Dinah his daughter; but his sons were with his livestock in the plain, and Jacob kept silence until they came.

34:6 And Hamor the father of Shechem went out to Jacob to speak with him.

34:7 And Jacob’s sons came from the plain; and when they heard, the men were deeply distressed, and were exceedingly grieved, because he had done a disgraceful thing in Israel by lying with Jacob’s daughter; and such a thing must not be.

34:8 And Hamor spoke to them, saying, “Shechem my son has set his soul upon your daughter; therefore give her to him to be his wife.

34:9 “Intermarry with us; give your daughters to us, and take our daughters for your sons.

34:10 “And live among us; behold, the land is broad before you. Live and trade in it, and acquire possessions in it.”

34:11 And Shechem said to her father and to her brothers, “Let me find grace in your sight, and whatever you say, we will give.

34:12 “Make the marriage payment exceedingly great, and I will give according to whatever you say to me; and give me this young woman to be my wife.”

34:13 And Jacob’s sons answered Shechem and Hamor his father with deceit, and spoke to them, because they had defiled Dinah their sister.

34:14 And Simeon and Levi, Dinah’s brothers, the sons of Leah, said to them, “We cannot do this thing, to give our sister to a man who is uncircumcised; for it is a reproach to us.

34:15 “On this condition we will become like you and live among you: if you also become as we are, with every male among you circumcised.

34:16 “And we will give our daughters to you, and take wives for ourselves from your daughters; and we will live among you, and be as one family.

34:17 “But if you will not listen to us to be circumcised, we will take our daughters and depart.”

34:18 And their words pleased Hamor and Shechem the son of Hamor.

34:19 And the young man did not delay to do this thing, for he was intent upon Jacob’s daughter; and he was the most honoured of all in his father’s house.

34:20 And Hamor and Shechem his son came to the gate of their city, and spoke to the men of their city, saying,

34:21 “These men are peaceable with us; let them live in the land and trade in it, for behold, the land is broad before them. We will take their daughters to be our wives, and give our daughters to them.

34:22 “Only on this condition will the men become like us, to live with us and be one people: that every male among us be circumcised, even as they are circumcised.

34:23 “And shall not their livestock, and their possessions, and their four-footed beasts be ours? Only let us become like them, and they will live with us.”

34:24 And all who went out through the gate of their city listened to Hamor and Shechem his son; and they were circumcised in the flesh of their foreskin, every male.

34:25 And on the third day, when they were in pain, two of Jacob’s sons, Simeon and Levi, Dinah’s brothers, each took his sword, and entered the city unopposed, and slew every male.

34:26 And they slew Hamor and Shechem his son with the edge of the sword, and took Dinah from Shechem’s house, and went out.

34:27 And Jacob’s sons came upon the slain, and plundered the city in which they had defiled Dinah their sister.

34:28 And they took their sheep and their oxen and their donkeys, whatever was in the city and whatever was in the plain.

34:29 And they took captive all their people, and all their household goods, and their wives; and they plundered whatever was in the city and whatever was in the houses.

34:30 And Jacob said to Simeon and Levi, “You have made me hated, so that I am offensive to all who live in the land, among the Canaanites and the Perizzites. And I am few in number; and they shall gather against me and cut me down, and I and my household shall be destroyed.”

34:31 And they said, “But should they treat our sister as a prostitute?”

Genesis 35

35:1 And God said to Jacob, “Arise, go up to the place Bethel, and live there; and make an altar there to the God who appeared to you when you were fleeing from the presence of Esau your brother.”

35:2 And Jacob said to his household and to all who were with him, “Put away from among you the foreign gods which are with you, and purify yourselves, and change your garments.

35:3 “And let us arise and go up to Bethel, and make an altar there to the God who heard me in the day of affliction, who was with me and preserved me on the way which I went.”

35:4 And they gave to Jacob the foreign gods which were in their hands, and the earrings which were in their ears; and Jacob hid them under the terebinth in Shechem, and destroyed them to this day.

Note 92: 92. Genesis 35:4–22 Destroyed them unto this day retains a compressed and difficult expression after hiding the images; it needs further review. Verse 8 locates Deborah’s death below Bethel under the oak and does not add a separate burial clause. The tower-of-Gader sentence is within 35:16 in the displayed Greek; there is no separate 35:21. The two movements in verse 16 and the two parts of verse 22 are retained under their displayed verse numbers. Soul departing in verse 18 preserves the death image without adding an explanation of the soul’s nature.

35:5 And Israel departed from Shechem; and the fear of God fell upon the cities around them, and they did not pursue the sons of Israel.

35:6 And Jacob came to Luz, which is in the land of Canaan, which is Bethel, he and all the people who were with him.

35:7 And he built an altar there, and called the name of the place Bethel; for there God appeared to him when he was fleeing from the presence of Esau his brother.

35:8 And Deborah, Rebekah’s nurse, died below Bethel under the oak; and Jacob called its name Oak of Mourning.

35:9 And God appeared to Jacob again in Luz, when he came from Mesopotamia of Syria; and God blessed him.

35:10 And God said to him, “Your name is Jacob; you shall no longer be called Jacob, but Israel shall be your name.”

35:11 And God said to him, “I am your God. Increase and multiply; nations and assemblies of nations shall be from you, and kings shall come from your loins.

35:12 “And the land which I gave to Abraham and Isaac, I have given to you; it shall be yours, and I will give this land to your seed after you.”

35:13 And God went up from him, from the place where He spoke with him.

35:14 And Jacob set up a pillar in the place where He spoke with him, a pillar of stone; and he poured a drink offering upon it, and poured oil upon it.

35:15 And Jacob called the name of the place where God spoke with him Bethel.

35:16 And Jacob departed from Bethel, and pitched his tent beyond the tower of Gader. And when he drew near to Chabratha, to enter the land of Ephrath, Rachel gave birth, and had hard labour in the birth.

35:17 And during her hard labour the midwife said to her, “Take courage, for this also is a son for you.”

35:18 And as her soul was departing, for she was dying, she called his name Son of My Sorrow; but his father called him Benjamin.

35:19 And Rachel died, and was buried on the way to Ephrath, which is Bethlehem.

35:20 And Jacob set up a pillar upon her tomb; this is the pillar of Rachel’s tomb to this day.

35:22 And when Israel lived in that land, Reuben went and lay with Bilhah his father’s concubine; and Israel heard it, and it appeared evil in his sight. And the sons of Jacob were twelve.

35:23 The sons of Leah: Reuben, Jacob’s firstborn, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun.

35:24 And the sons of Rachel: Joseph and Benjamin.

35:25 And the sons of Bilhah, Rachel’s slave woman: Dan and Naphtali.

35:26 And the sons of Zilpah, Leah’s slave woman: Gad and Asher. These are Jacob’s sons, who were born to him in Mesopotamia of Syria.

35:27 And Jacob came to Isaac his father at Mamre, to the city of the plain, which is Hebron, in the land of Canaan, where Abraham and Isaac lived as strangers.

35:28 And the days of Isaac which he lived were a hundred and eighty years.

35:29 And his strength failed, and he died, and was added to his family, old and full of days; and Esau and Jacob his sons buried him.

Genesis 36

36:1 And these are the generations of Esau, who is Edom.

36:2 And Esau took wives from the daughters of the Canaanites: Adah the daughter of Elon the Hittite, and Oholibamah the daughter of Anah the son of Zibeon the Hivite,

Note 93: 93. Genesis 36:2–43 Chief avoids the later European rank suggested by duke. Repeated names and varying wife lists remain as transmitted; they are not silently harmonized with 26:34 or 28:9. Iamin at 36:24 is left as the Greek’s uncertain designation, not replaced by mules or hot springs. The four sons in verse 27, Arad son of Barad in verse 39, and Matred’s being a son are retained. These readings and the transliterations need final specialist name review.

36:3 and Basemath the daughter of Ishmael, the sister of Nebaioth.

36:4 And Adah bore Eliphaz to Esau, and Basemath bore Reuel.

36:5 And Oholibamah bore Jeush and Jalam and Korah. These are Esau’s sons who were born to him in the land of Canaan.

36:6 And Esau took his wives and his sons and his daughters, and all the persons of his house, and all his possessions and all his livestock, and all that he had acquired and all that he had gained in the land of Canaan; and he went out from the land of Canaan, away from the presence of Jacob his brother.

36:7 For their possessions were too great for them to live together, and the land of their sojourning could not support them because of the multitude of their possessions.

36:8 And Esau lived in the mountain of Seir; Esau is Edom.

Genesis 37

37:1 And Jacob lived in the land where his father had lived as a stranger, in the land of Canaan.

37:2 And these are the generations of Jacob. Joseph, being seventeen years old, was tending the sheep with his brothers, a youth among the sons of Bilhah and the sons of Zilpah, his father’s wives; and Joseph brought an evil report to Israel their father.

37:3 And Jacob loved Joseph more than all his sons, for he was to him a son of his old age; and he made him a tunic of many colours.

Note 94: 94. Genesis 37:3,25–36 Tunic of many colours follows the Greek poikilos; it does not decide the sense of the Hebrew garment term in another source. Stacte is an aromatic substance whose exact identification is uncertain. Verse 28 says twenty pieces of gold; silver is not substituted. The agents in the selling sequence are not clarified beyond the source’s pronouns. Hades names the realm of the dead; neither a physical grave nor final punishment is automatically its meaning.

37:4 And his brothers saw that their father loved him above all his sons, and hated him, and could speak nothing peaceable to him.

37:5 And Joseph dreamed a dream, and told it to his brothers.

37:6 And he said to them, “Hear this dream which I have dreamed.

37:7 “I dreamed that we were binding sheaves in the midst of the plain; and my sheaf arose and stood upright, and your sheaves turned about and bowed down to my sheaf.”

37:8 And his brothers said to him, “Shall you indeed reign over us, or shall you indeed have dominion over us?” And they hated him still more because of his dreams and because of his words.

37:9 And he saw another dream, and told it to his father and to his brothers, and said, “Behold, I have dreamed another dream, as though the sun and the moon and eleven stars were bowing down to me.”

37:10 And his father rebuked him, and said to him, “What is this dream which you have dreamed? Shall I and your mother and your brothers indeed come to bow down to you to the earth?”

37:11 And his brothers envied him, but his father kept the saying in mind.

37:12 And his brothers went to pasture their father’s sheep in Shechem.

37:13 And Israel said to Joseph, “Do not your brothers tend the flock in Shechem? Come, I will send you to them.” And he said to him, “Behold, here am I.”

37:14 And Israel said to him, “Go and see whether your brothers and the sheep are well, and tell me.” And he sent him from the valley of Hebron, and he came to Shechem.

37:15 And a man found him wandering in the plain; and the man asked him, saying, “What are you looking for?”

37:16 And he said, “I am looking for my brothers; tell me where they pasture the flock.”

37:17 And the man said to him, “They have departed from here, for I heard them saying, ‘Let us go to Dothan.’” And Joseph went after his brothers, and found them in Dothan.

37:18 And they saw him far off, before he drew near to them, and plotted wickedly to kill him.

37:19 And they said one to another, “Behold, that dreamer comes.

37:20 “Now therefore come, let us kill him and cast him into one of the pits, and we will say, ‘An evil beast has devoured him’; and we shall see what shall become of his dreams.”

37:21 And Reuben heard, and delivered him from their hands, and said, “Let us not take his life.”

37:22 And Reuben said to them, “Shed no blood; cast him into this pit in the wilderness, but lay no hand upon him,” that he might deliver him from their hands and restore him to his father.

37:23 And when Joseph came to his brothers, they stripped Joseph of the tunic of many colours which was upon him.

37:24 And they took him and cast him into the pit; and the pit was empty, having no water.

37:25 And they sat down to eat bread; and they lifted up their eyes and saw, and behold, Ishmaelite travellers were coming from Gilead, and their camels were laden with spices and resin and stacte; and they were going to take them down into Egypt.

37:26 And Judah said to his brothers, “What profit is there if we kill our brother and conceal his blood?

37:27 “Come, let us sell him to these Ishmaelites, and do not let our hands be upon him, for he is our brother and our flesh.” And his brothers listened.

37:28 And Midianite merchants passed by; and they drew Joseph up and brought him out of the pit, and sold Joseph to the Ishmaelites for twenty pieces of gold, and brought Joseph down into Egypt.

37:29 And Reuben returned to the pit, and did not see Joseph in the pit; and he tore his garments.

37:30 And he returned to his brothers and said, “The child is not here; and I, where shall I now go?”

37:31 And they took Joseph’s tunic, and slaughtered a young goat, and stained the tunic with the blood.

37:32 And they sent the tunic of many colours, and brought it to their father, and said, “We have found this. See whether it is your son’s tunic or not.”

37:33 And he recognized it, and said, “It is my son’s tunic; an evil beast has devoured him, a beast has snatched Joseph away.”

37:34 And Jacob tore his garments, and put sackcloth upon his loins, and mourned his son many days.

37:35 And all his sons and daughters gathered and came to comfort him, but he would not be comforted, saying, “I will go down to my son mourning, into Hades.” And his father wept for him.

37:36 And the Midianites sold Joseph in Egypt to Potiphar, Pharaoh’s eunuch, the chief cook.

Note 95: 95. Genesis 37:36;39:1;40:2–4;41:10–12 Eunuch and chief cook retain spadon/eunouchos and archimageiros as lexical renderings of court titles. Their exact administrative and physical implications are not settled by the English labels; official and chief of the guard are contextual alternatives requiring a separate note and evidence. Chief cupbearer avoids the modern household sense of butler. Jailer titles remain prison offices; do not harmonize every title into one rank.

Genesis 38

38:1 And at that time Judah went down from his brothers, and came to a certain Adullamite man whose name was Hirah.

38:2 And Judah saw there a Canaanite man’s daughter named Shua; and he took her, and went in to her.

Note 96: 96. Genesis 38:2–26 The Greek names Judah’s wife Shua, and calls Hirah his shepherd. Perform a brother-in-law’s duty clarifies the marriage verb without importing a later law code. Seed links offspring and emission in verse 9; the object of spilled is supplied for intelligible English. Ring, necklace, and staff retain the pledged items. More in the right renders the comparative justification claim in verse 26, not an unqualified moral verdict on every action. No temple or cultic qualification is added to harlot. Revision, 29 September 2026. Wording. At 38:11, “What if” renders Judah’s apprehensive mēpote clause as intelligible direct speech. His concern remains his own reported thought, not a prediction by the narrator. Greek source.

38:3 And she conceived and bore a son, and called his name Er.

38:4 And she conceived again and bore a son, and called his name Onan.

38:5 And she bore another son, and called his name Shelah. And she was in Chasbi when she bore them.

38:6 And Judah took a wife for Er his firstborn, whose name was Tamar.

38:7 And Er, Judah’s firstborn, was evil before the Lord, and God put him to death.

38:8 And Judah said to Onan, “Go in to your brother’s wife, and perform a brother-in-law’s duty to her, and raise up seed to your brother.”

38:9 And Onan knew that the seed would not be his; and whenever he went in to his brother’s wife, he spilled his seed upon the ground, that he might not give seed to his brother.

38:10 And it appeared evil before God that he did this, and He put him also to death.

38:11 And Judah said to Tamar his daughter-in-law, “Remain a widow in your father’s house until Shelah my son is grown”; for he said, “What if this one also should die, as his brothers?” And Tamar went and lived in her father’s house.

38:12 And many days passed, and Shua, Judah’s wife, died; and Judah was comforted, and went up to those who sheared his sheep, he and Hirah his shepherd, the Adullamite, to Timnah.

38:13 And it was told to Tamar his daughter-in-law, saying, “Behold, your father-in-law goes up to Timnah to shear his sheep.”

38:14 And she took off the garments of her widowhood, and wrapped herself in a veil, and adorned herself, and sat by the gates of Ainan, which is beside the road to Timnah; for she saw that Shelah was grown, but he had not given her to him to be his wife.

38:15 And Judah saw her, and thought her to be a prostitute; for she had covered her face, and he did not recognize her.

38:16 And he turned aside from the way to her, and said to her, “Allow me to come in to you”; for he did not know that she was his daughter-in-law. And she said, “What will you give me if you come in to me?”

38:17 And he said, “I will send you a young goat from the flock.” And she said, “If you will give a pledge until you send it.”

38:18 And he said, “What pledge shall I give you?” And she said, “Your ring, and your necklace, and the staff in your hand.” And he gave them to her, and went in to her, and she conceived by him.

38:19 And she rose and went away, and took off her veil, and put on the garments of her widowhood.

38:20 And Judah sent the young goat by the hand of his shepherd, the Adullamite, to recover the pledge from the woman; and he did not find her.

38:21 And he asked the men of the place, “Where is the prostitute who was in Ainan by the way?” And they said, “There was no prostitute here.”

38:22 And he returned to Judah, and said, “I did not find her; and the men of the place say there is no prostitute here.”

38:23 And Judah said, “Let her keep them, lest we be mocked. I have sent this young goat, but you have not found her.”

38:24 And after three months Judah was told, “Tamar your daughter-in-law has acted as a prostitute, and behold, she is with child through her prostitution.” And Judah said, “Bring her out, and let her be burned.”

38:25 And as she was being brought out, she sent to her father-in-law, saying, “I am with child by the man to whom these belong.” And she said, “See to whom this ring, and this necklace, and this staff belong.”

38:26 And Judah recognized them, and said, “Tamar is more in the right than I, because I did not give her to Shelah my son.” And he knew her no more.

38:27 And when she gave birth, behold, there were twins in her womb.

38:28 And as she was giving birth, one put out his hand; and the midwife took it and bound a scarlet thread upon his hand, saying, “This one shall come out first.”

38:29 But as he drew back his hand, immediately his brother came out; and she said, “Why has a barrier been broken through because of you?” And his name was called Perez.

38:30 And afterward his brother came out, upon whose hand was the scarlet thread; and his name was called Zerah.

Genesis 39

39:1 And Joseph was brought down into Egypt; and Potiphar, Pharaoh’s eunuch, the chief cook, an Egyptian man, bought him from the hands of the Ishmaelites who had brought him down there.

39:2 And the Lord was with Joseph, and he was a prosperous man; and he was in the house of his Egyptian master.

39:3 And his master knew that the Lord was with him, and that whatever he did, the Lord made it prosper in his hands.

39:4 And Joseph found grace before his master, and pleased him; and he set him over his house, and committed all that he had into Joseph’s hand.

39:5 And after he was set over his house and over all that he had, the Lord blessed the Egyptian’s house for Joseph’s sake; and the blessing of the Lord was upon all that he had, in the house and in the field.

39:6 And he committed all that he had into Joseph’s hands, and concerned himself with nothing except the bread which he ate. And Joseph was handsome in form, and very beautiful to look at.

39:7 And after these things his master’s wife cast her eyes upon Joseph, and said, “Lie with me.”

Note 97: 97. Genesis 39:7–23 The woman’s accusations differ from the narrator’s account and from one another; direct-speech quotation boundaries preserve those differences. Mock retains the accusation’s contemptuous force. Outside is clearer than obsolete without. Fortress and prison distinguish the two Greek descriptions. Mercy and grace remain distinct in verse 21, and prosperous describes success in the narrative rather than a promise of wealth to readers.

39:8 But he would not, and said to his master’s wife, “If my master concerns himself with nothing in his house because of me, and has committed all that he has into my hands,

39:9 “and nothing in this house is above me, and nothing has been withheld from me except you, because you are his wife, how shall I do this evil thing, and sin before God?”

39:10 And though she spoke to Joseph day after day, he did not listen to her, to sleep with her and have relations with her.

39:11 And on a certain day Joseph entered the house to do his work, and none of the household was inside.

39:12 And she caught him by his garments, saying, “Lie with me.” And he left his garments in her hands, and fled and went outside.

39:13 And when she saw that he had left his garments in her hands, and had fled and gone outside,

39:14 she called those of the household, and said to them, “See, he has brought us a Hebrew servant to mock us. He came in to me, saying, ‘Lie with me’; and I cried with a loud voice.

39:15 “And when he heard that I lifted up my voice and cried, he left his garments beside me, and fled and went outside.”

39:16 And she kept his garments beside her until his master came to his house.

39:17 And she spoke to him in this way, saying, “The Hebrew servant whom you have brought to us came in to me to mock me, and said to me, ‘I will lie with you.’

39:18 “And when he heard that I lifted up my voice and cried, he left his garments beside me, and fled and went outside.”

39:19 And when his master heard the words of his wife which she spoke to him, saying, “This is what your servant did to me,” his anger was kindled.

39:20 And Joseph’s master took him and cast him into the fortress, into the place where the king’s prisoners were held in the fortress.

39:21 And the Lord was with Joseph, and poured mercy upon him, and gave him grace before the chief jailer.

39:22 And the chief jailer committed the prison into Joseph’s hand, and all those confined in the prison, and all that they did there.

39:23 And the chief jailer concerned himself with nothing because of him; for all was in Joseph’s hand, because the Lord was with him, and whatever he did, the Lord made it prosper in his hands.

Genesis 40

40:1 And after these things the chief cupbearer of the king of Egypt and the chief baker offended their lord, the king of Egypt.

40:2 And Pharaoh was angry with his two eunuchs, with the chief cupbearer and with the chief baker.

40:3 And he put them in custody with the jailer, in the prison, in the place where Joseph had been taken.

40:4 And the chief jailer committed them to Joseph, and he attended them; and they were in custody for some days.

40:5 And both dreamed a dream, each his own dream; in that one night each had the vision of his dream: the chief cupbearer and the chief baker of the king of Egypt, who were in the prison.

40:6 And Joseph came to them in the morning, and saw them, and they were troubled.

40:7 And he asked Pharaoh’s eunuchs who were with him in custody in his master’s house, saying, “Why are your faces downcast today?”

40:8 And they said to him, “We have dreamed a dream, and there is no one to interpret it.” And Joseph said to them, “Does not their explanation come through God? Tell me therefore.”

Note 98: 98. Genesis 40:8–20;41:14–16 Interpretation and explanation are related but distinct contextual terms. In 40:16 the bread term chondrites is provisionally rendered coarse bread; its precise preparation requires lexical review. Tree translates xylon without deciding the structure used for execution. Others shave Joseph and change his garments in 41:14. The difficult negative wording of 41:16 is retained as an answer bringing deliverance; it is not replaced by a quotation from another source tradition.

40:9 And the chief cupbearer told his dream to Joseph, and said, “In my dream there was a vine before me.

40:10 “And upon the vine were three branches; and it was flourishing and had put forth shoots, and its clusters of grapes were ripe.

40:11 “And Pharaoh’s cup was in my hand; and I took the grapes and pressed them into the cup, and gave the cup into Pharaoh’s hands.”

40:12 And Joseph said to him, “This is its interpretation: the three branches are three days.

40:13 “In three more days Pharaoh shall remember your office, and restore you to your office as chief cupbearer; and you shall give Pharaoh’s cup into his hand, according to your former office when you were his cupbearer.

40:14 “But remember me yourself when it goes well with you, and show mercy to me, and make mention of me to Pharaoh, and bring me out of this fortress.

40:15 “For I was indeed stolen from the land of the Hebrews; and here I have done nothing, yet they have cast me into this pit.”

40:16 And the chief baker saw that he had interpreted rightly, and said to Joseph, “I also dreamed a dream, and thought I was carrying three baskets of coarse bread upon my head.

40:17 “And in the uppermost basket were all kinds of food which King Pharaoh eats, the work of a baker; and the birds of heaven ate them from the basket upon my head.”

40:18 And Joseph answered and said to him, “This is its interpretation: the three baskets are three days.

40:19 “In three more days Pharaoh shall take your head from you, and hang you upon a tree; and the birds of heaven shall eat your flesh from you.”

40:20 And on the third day, which was Pharaoh’s birthday, he made a drinking feast for all his servants; and he remembered the office of the chief cupbearer and the office of the chief baker among his servants.

40:21 And he restored the chief cupbearer to his office, and he gave the cup into Pharaoh’s hand.

40:22 But the chief baker he hanged, as Joseph had interpreted to them.

40:23 But the chief cupbearer did not remember Joseph, but forgot him.

Genesis 41

41:1 And after two full years Pharaoh dreamed a dream. He thought he was standing beside the river.

41:2 And behold, as though from the river there came up seven cows, fair in appearance and choice in flesh, and they grazed among the reeds.

Note 99: 99. Genesis 41:2–7,33–57 Cows, ears of grain, grain, and food avoid archaic kine, corn, and meat where those terms would mislead. The wind’s direction is not supplied. Governors collect a fifth, and the stores remain grain. The herald’s actual words are not given; Bow the knee is not inserted. Verse 44 names the hand without adding foot. Psonthomphanech and Heliopolis retain Greek naming; uncertain etymologies belong in notes.

41:3 And seven other cows came up after them from the river, ugly in appearance and lean in flesh, and they grazed beside the cows upon the riverbank.

41:4 And the seven cows which were ugly and lean in flesh devoured the seven cows which were fair in appearance and choice. And Pharaoh awoke.

41:5 And he dreamed a second time, and behold, seven ears of grain came up upon one stalk, choice and good.

41:6 And seven other ears sprouted after them, thin and blighted by the wind.

41:7 And the seven thin ears, blighted by the wind, swallowed the seven choice and full ears. And Pharaoh awoke, and it was a dream.

41:8 And morning came, and his soul was troubled; and he sent and called all the interpreters of Egypt and all its wise men. And Pharaoh told them the dream, and there was none to explain it to Pharaoh.

41:9 And the chief cupbearer spoke to Pharaoh, saying, “I remember my offence today.

41:10 “Pharaoh was angry with his servants, and put us in custody in the house of the chief cook, me and the chief baker.

41:11 “And we dreamed a dream in one night, I and he; each of us saw his own dream.

41:12 “And a young Hebrew servant of the chief cook was with us, and we told him, and he interpreted to us.

41:13 “And as he interpreted to us, so it happened: I was restored to my office, and he was hanged.”

41:14 And Pharaoh sent and called Joseph; and they brought him out of the fortress, and shaved him, and changed his garments; and he came to Pharaoh.

41:15 And Pharaoh said to Joseph, “I have dreamed a dream, and there is none to interpret it; but I have heard it said concerning you, that when you hear dreams, you can interpret them.”

41:16 And Joseph answered Pharaoh, saying, “Without God, no answer bringing deliverance shall be given to Pharaoh.”

41:17 And Pharaoh spoke to Joseph, saying, “In my dream I thought I was standing beside the bank of the river.

41:18 “And as though from the river there came up seven cows, fair in appearance and choice in flesh, and they grazed among the reeds.

41:19 “And behold, seven other cows came up after them from the river, wretched and ugly in appearance and lean in flesh; I have never seen such ugly cows in all the land of Egypt.

41:20 “And the seven ugly and lean cows devoured the first seven cows, which were fair and choice.

41:21 “And they entered into their bellies, yet it could not be perceived that they had entered into their bellies; and their appearance was ugly as at first. And I awoke, and slept again.

41:22 “And I saw again in my dream, and as though seven ears of grain came up upon one stalk, full and good.

41:23 “And seven other ears sprouted beside them, thin and blighted by the wind.

41:24 “And the seven thin ears, blighted by the wind, swallowed the seven good and full ears. I told the interpreters, but there was none to explain it to me.”

41:25 And Joseph said to Pharaoh, “Pharaoh’s dream is one. God has shown to Pharaoh what He is about to do.

41:26 “The seven fair cows are seven years, and the seven good ears are seven years. Pharaoh’s dream is one.

41:27 “And the seven lean cows which came up after them are seven years; and the seven thin ears, blighted by the wind, shall be seven years of famine.

41:28 “And this is the word which I have spoken to Pharaoh: God has shown to Pharaoh what He is about to do.

41:29 “Behold, seven years of great abundance are coming in all the land of Egypt.

41:30 “And seven years of famine shall come after them, and they shall forget the plenty in all the land of Egypt; and the famine shall consume the land.

41:31 “And the abundance shall not be known in the land because of the famine which shall follow, for it shall be exceedingly severe.

41:32 “And as for Pharaoh’s dream being repeated twice, it is because the word from God shall be true, and God shall hasten to do it.

41:33 “Now therefore seek out a prudent and discerning man, and set him over the land of Egypt.

41:34 “And let Pharaoh act, and appoint governors over the land; and let them take a fifth of all the produce of the land of Egypt during the seven years of abundance.

41:35 “And let them gather all the food of these seven good years which are coming; and let the grain be gathered under Pharaoh’s hand, and let food be kept in the cities.

41:36 “And the food shall be kept for the land against the seven years of famine which shall be in the land of Egypt, and the land shall not be destroyed by the famine.”

41:37 And the words pleased Pharaoh and all his servants.

41:38 And Pharaoh said to all his servants, “Shall we find such a man as this, who has the Spirit of God in him?”

41:39 And Pharaoh said to Joseph, “Since God has shown you all these things, there is no man more prudent and discerning than you.

41:40 “You shall be over my house, and all my people shall obey your mouth; only in the throne shall I be above you.”

41:41 And Pharaoh said to Joseph, “Behold, I set you today over all the land of Egypt.”

41:42 And Pharaoh took his ring from his hand and put it upon Joseph’s hand, and clothed him in a robe of fine linen, and put a golden collar about his neck.

41:43 And he made him ride in his second chariot, and a herald proclaimed before him; and he set him over all the land of Egypt.

41:44 And Pharaoh said to Joseph, “I am Pharaoh; without you no one shall lift up his hand in all the land of Egypt.”

41:45 And Pharaoh called Joseph’s name Psonthomphanech; and he gave him Asenath, the daughter of Potiphera, priest of Heliopolis, to be his wife.

41:46 And Joseph was thirty years old when he stood before Pharaoh king of Egypt. And Joseph went out from Pharaoh’s presence, and passed through all the land of Egypt.

41:47 And the land brought forth sheaves during the seven years of abundance.

41:48 And he gathered all the food of the seven years in which there was abundance in the land of Egypt, and laid up the food in the cities; the food from the plains around each city he laid up within it.

41:49 And Joseph gathered grain like the sand of the sea, in great abundance, until they could not count it, for it was beyond counting.

41:50 And to Joseph were born two sons before the seven years of famine came, whom Asenath, the daughter of Potiphera, priest of Heliopolis, bore to him.

41:51 And Joseph called the name of the firstborn Manasseh, “For God has made me forget all my toil, and all the affairs of my father.”

41:52 And the name of the second he called Ephraim, “For God has increased me in the land of my humiliation.”

41:53 And the seven years of abundance which were in the land of Egypt passed away.

41:54 And the seven years of famine began to come, as Joseph had said; and there was famine in all the land, but in all the land of Egypt there was bread.

41:55 And all the land of Egypt hungered, and the people cried to Pharaoh for bread. And Pharaoh said to all the Egyptians, “Go to Joseph; do whatever he says to you.”

41:56 And the famine was upon the face of all the earth; and Joseph opened all the granaries, and sold to all the Egyptians.

41:57 And all the countries came into Egypt to buy from Joseph, for the famine prevailed in all the earth.

Genesis 42

42:1 And Jacob saw that there was grain for sale in Egypt, and said to his sons, “Why are you idle?

42:2 “Behold, I have heard that there is grain in Egypt. Go down there and buy us a little food, that we may live and not die.”

42:3 And Joseph’s ten brothers went down to buy grain from Egypt.

42:4 But he did not send Benjamin, Joseph’s brother, with his brothers; for he said, “What if sickness should befall him?”

Note 100: 100. Genesis 42:4–22,38;44:29 Sickness retains malakia in the feared harm to Benjamin. Tracks of the country is a literal, provisional rendering of ichne: routes or vulnerable approaches may be intended, but nakedness is not its Greek noun. By Pharaoh’s health preserves the oath. Peaceable renders eirenikos without silently replacing it with honest. The brothers’ confession of sin and Reuben’s statement about blood remain their speech. Revision, 29 September 2026. Wording. At 42:4, “What if sickness should befall him?” gives a complete English expression of Jacob’s apprehension. Sickness retains the existing Greek-based choice; no different calamity is substituted. Greek source.

42:5 And the sons of Israel came to buy among those who came, for the famine was in the land of Canaan.

42:6 And Joseph was ruler of the land; he was the one who sold to all the people of the land. And Joseph’s brothers came and bowed down before him, with their faces to the earth.

42:7 And Joseph saw his brothers and recognized them, but made himself a stranger to them, and spoke harshly to them, and said to them, “Where have you come from?” And they said, “From the land of Canaan, to buy food.”

42:8 And Joseph recognized his brothers, but they did not recognize him.

42:9 And Joseph remembered the dreams which he had seen, and said to them, “You are spies; you have come to inspect the tracks of the country.”

42:10 And they said, “No, my lord; your servants have come to buy food.

42:11 “We are all sons of one man; we are peaceable men, and your servants are no spies.”

42:12 And he said to them, “No, but you have come to see the tracks of the land.”

42:13 And they said, “Your servants are twelve brothers in the land of Canaan; and behold, the youngest is with our father today, and the other is no more.”

42:14 And Joseph said to them, “This is what I said to you, saying, ‘You are spies.’

42:15 “By this you shall be revealed: by the health of Pharaoh, you shall not go out from here unless your youngest brother comes here.

42:16 “Send one of you and bring your brother, but you shall be taken into custody until your words are made clear, whether you speak truth or not; and if not, by the health of Pharaoh, surely you are spies.”

42:17 And he put them in custody for three days.

42:18 And on the third day he said to them, “Do this, and you shall live, for I fear God.

42:19 “If you are peaceable men, let one of your brothers be held in custody; but you go, and carry away the grain which you have bought for your provision.

42:20 “And bring your youngest brother to me, and your words shall be believed; but if not, you shall die.” And they did so.

42:21 And they said one to another, “Yes, we are in sin concerning our brother, for we disregarded the affliction of his soul when he begged us, and did not listen to him. Therefore this affliction has come upon us.”

42:22 And Reuben answered and said to them, “Did I not speak to you, saying, ‘Do not wrong the child’? And you did not listen to me; and behold, his blood is required.”

42:23 But they did not know that Joseph understood, for the interpreter was between them.

42:24 And Joseph turned away from them and wept. And he came to them again, and spoke to them, and took Simeon from among them, and bound him before them.

42:25 And Joseph commanded that their vessels be filled with grain, and that each man’s silver be restored to his sack, and that they be given provisions for the way. And thus it was done to them.

42:26 And they loaded the grain upon their donkeys, and departed from there.

42:27 And one opened his sack to give fodder to his donkeys where they lodged, and saw his bundle of silver; and it was at the mouth of the sack.

42:28 And he said to his brothers, “My silver is restored to me, and behold, it is in my sack.” And their hearts were astonished, and they were troubled, saying one to another, “What is this that God has done to us?”

42:29 And they came to Jacob their father in the land of Canaan, and told him all that had befallen them, saying,

42:30 “The man, the lord of the land, spoke harshly to us, and put us in custody as spies of the land.

42:31 “And we said to him, ‘We are peaceable men; we are no spies.

42:32 “‘We are twelve brothers, sons of our father; one is no more, and the youngest is with our father today in the land of Canaan.’

42:33 “And the man, the lord of the land, said to us, ‘By this I shall know that you are peaceable men: leave one brother here with me, and take the grain which you have bought for your household’s provision, and depart.

42:34 “‘And bring your youngest brother to me, and I shall know that you are no spies, but peaceable men; and I will restore your brother to you, and you may trade in the land.’”

42:35 And as they emptied their sacks, each man’s bundle of silver was in his sack; and they and their father saw their bundles of silver, and were afraid.

42:36 And Jacob their father said to them, “You have bereaved me of children. Joseph is no more, and Simeon is no more, and you will take Benjamin. All these things have come upon me.”

42:37 And Reuben said to his father, “Slay my two sons if I do not bring him to you. Give him into my hand, and I will bring him back to you.”

42:38 And he said, “My son shall not go down with you, for his brother is dead, and he alone is left; and if he should fall sick on the way which you go, you shall bring down my old age with sorrow into Hades.”

Genesis 43

43:1 And the famine became severe in the land.

43:2 And when they had finished eating the grain which they brought from Egypt, their father said to them, “Go again and buy us a little food.”

43:3 And Judah said to him, “The man solemnly warned us, saying, ‘You shall not see my face unless your youngest brother is with you.’

43:4 “If therefore you send our brother with us, we will go down and buy you food.

43:5 “But if you do not send our brother with us, we will not go; for the man said to us, ‘You shall not see my face unless your youngest brother is with you.’”

43:6 And Israel said, “Why did you do me harm by telling the man that you had a brother?”

43:7 And they said, “The man questioned us closely concerning ourselves and our kindred, saying, ‘Is your father still living? Do you have a brother?’ And we told him according to this questioning. Could we know that he would say, ‘Bring your brother’?”

43:8 And Judah said to Israel his father, “Send the lad with me, and we will arise and go, that we may live and not die, both we and you and our households.

43:9 “I will stand as surety for him; require him from my hand. If I do not bring him to you and set him before you, I shall bear the guilt before you all my days.

Note 101: 101. Genesis 43:9–34 Surety means one who assumes responsibility for another; it does not add a modern contract. My God, grace, and the blessing upon the father in verse 28 follow the Greek. Terebinth nuts and nuts retain the two terms without asserting pistachios and almonds as secure botanical identifications. Inward parts in verse 30 represents an embodied emotion, literally the intestines; the sense is deep feeling. Became drunk retains the explicit verb in verse 34 without adding a moral judgment or softening it to merely being merry.

43:10 “For if we had not delayed, we should by now have returned twice.”

43:11 And Israel their father said to them, “If it is so, do this: take some of the fruits of the land in your vessels, and carry down gifts to the man, resin and honey, spices and stacte, terebinth nuts and nuts.

43:12 “And take double the silver in your hands; the silver which was returned in your sacks, take back with you; perhaps it was an oversight.

43:13 “And take your brother, and arise and go down to the man.

43:14 “And may my God give you grace before the man, and may he release your other brother and Benjamin. As for me, as I am bereaved, I am bereaved.”

43:15 And the men took these gifts, and took double the silver in their hands, and Benjamin; and they rose and went down into Egypt, and stood before Joseph.

43:16 And Joseph saw them and Benjamin his brother, born of the same mother, and said to the steward of his house, “Bring the men into the house, and slaughter animals and prepare; for the men shall eat bread with me at noon.”

43:17 And the man did as Joseph said, and brought the men into Joseph’s house.

43:18 And the men saw that they were brought into Joseph’s house, and said, “Because of the silver which was returned in our sacks at first we are brought in, that he may falsely accuse us and fall upon us, and take us for slaves, and our donkeys.”

43:19 And they drew near to the steward of Joseph’s house, and spoke to him in the gateway of the house, 43:20 saying, “We beg you, my lord: we came down at first to buy food.

43:21 “And when we came to the lodging place and opened our sacks, behold, each man’s silver was in his sack. We have now brought back our silver in its full weight in our hands.

43:22 “And we have brought other silver with us to buy food. We do not know who put the silver into our sacks.”

43:23 And he said to them, “May you find favour; do not fear. Your God and the God of your fathers has given you treasures in your sacks; but I have received your good silver in full.” And he brought Simeon out to them, 43:24 and brought water to wash their feet, and gave fodder to their donkeys.

43:25 And they prepared the gifts until Joseph came at noon, for they heard that he was to dine there.

43:26 And Joseph came into the house, and they brought him the gifts which were in their hands into the house, and bowed down before him, with their faces to the earth.

43:27 And he asked them, “How are you?” And he said to them, “Is your aged father, of whom you spoke, well? Is he still living?”

43:28 And they said, “Your servant our father is well; he is still living.” And he said, “Blessed be that man by God.” And they bowed their heads and bowed down before him.

43:29 And Joseph lifted up his eyes and saw Benjamin his brother, born of the same mother, and said, “Is this your youngest brother, whom you said you would bring to me?” And he said, “May God show mercy to you, my child.”

43:30 And Joseph was troubled, for his inward parts were deeply stirred for his brother, and he sought to weep; and he entered his chamber and wept there.

43:31 And he washed his face and went out, and restrained himself, and said, “Set out the bread.”

43:32 And they served him by himself, and them by themselves, and the Egyptians who dined with him by themselves; for the Egyptians could not eat bread with the Hebrews, for it is an abomination to the Egyptians.

43:33 And they sat before him, the firstborn according to his seniority, and the youngest according to his youth; and the men marvelled one at another.

43:34 And portions were brought to them from him; but Benjamin’s portion was five times as great as the portions of them all. And they drank and became drunk with him.

Genesis 44

44:1 And Joseph commanded the steward of his house, saying, “Fill the men’s sacks with food, as much as they can carry, and put each man’s silver at the mouth of his sack.

Note 102: 102. Genesis 44:1–34 Plural commands in verses 1–2 are followed by singular instructions to the steward in verse 4. My silver cup and my lord in verse 5 retain the Greek’s abrupt perspective shift. Divination is part of Joseph’s staged accusation; the narrator does not independently certify a technique. Be justified in verse 16 concerns being cleared of the charge. The servant/slave distinction follows social context. I will care for him in verse 21 is not harmonized into the earlier conversation. Soul hanging upon soul in verse 30 conveys the father’s dependence upon the lad.

44:2 “And put my silver cup into the sack of the youngest, and the price of his grain.” And it was done according to Joseph’s word, as he had said.

44:3 The morning dawned, and the men were sent away, they and their donkeys.

44:4 And when they had gone out of the city, and were not far off, Joseph said to the steward of his house, “Arise, pursue the men, and you shall overtake them, and say to them, ‘Why have you repaid evil for good?

44:5 “‘Why have you stolen my silver cup? Is not this the cup from which my lord drinks? And with it he indeed practises divination. You have done evil in what you have done.’”

44:6 And he found them, and spoke to them these words.

44:7 And they said to him, “Why does my lord speak such words? Far be it from your servants to do such a thing.

44:8 “If we brought back to you from the land of Canaan the silver which we found in our sacks, how should we steal silver or gold from your lord’s house?

44:9 “With whomever of your servants the cup is found, let him die; and we also shall be slaves to our lord.”

44:10 And he said, “Now let it be as you say: the man with whom the cup is found shall be my slave, but you shall be clear of guilt.”

44:11 And they hurried, and each set down his sack upon the ground, and each opened his sack.

44:12 And he searched, beginning with the eldest until he came to the youngest; and he found the cup in Benjamin’s sack.

44:13 And they tore their garments, and each loaded his sack upon his donkey, and they returned to the city.

44:14 And Judah and his brothers came to Joseph while he was still there, and fell before him upon the earth.

44:15 And Joseph said to them, “What is this deed that you have done? Do you not know that a man such as I indeed practises divination?”

44:16 And Judah said, “What shall we answer to my lord, or what shall we speak, or how shall we be justified? God has found out the iniquity of your servants. Behold, we are household slaves to our lord, both we and he with whom the cup was found.”

44:17 And Joseph said, “Far be it from me to do this thing. The man with whom the cup was found shall be my slave; but you go up in safety to your father.”

44:18 And Judah drew near to him and said, “I beg you, my lord, let your servant speak a word before you, and do not be angry with your servant, for you are next to Pharaoh.

44:19 “My lord, you asked your servants, saying, ‘Do you have a father or a brother?’

44:20 “And we said to my lord, ‘We have an aged father, and a young son of his old age; and his brother is dead, and he alone is left of his mother, and his father loves him.’

44:21 “And you said to your servants, ‘Bring him down to me, and I will care for him.’

44:22 “And we said to my lord, ‘The lad cannot leave his father; but if he leaves his father, he will die.’

44:23 “And you said to your servants, ‘Unless your youngest brother comes down with you, you shall see my face no more.’

44:24 “And when we went up to your servant our father, we told him the words of my lord.

44:25 “And our father said to us, ‘Go again, and buy us a little food.’

44:26 “And we said, ‘We cannot go down; but if our youngest brother goes down with us, we will go down. For we cannot see the man’s face unless our youngest brother is with us.’

44:27 “And your servant our father said to us, ‘You know that my wife bore me two sons.

44:28 “‘And one went out from me, and you said, “He has been devoured by a beast”; and I have not seen him again to this day.

44:29 “‘If therefore you take this one also from my presence, and sickness befalls him on the way, you shall bring down my old age with sorrow into Hades.’

44:30 “Now therefore, if I come to your servant our father, and the lad is not with us, since his soul hangs upon the lad’s soul, 44:31 “when he sees that the lad is not with us, he will die; and your servants shall bring down the old age of your servant our father with anguish into Hades.

44:32 “For your servant became surety for the lad to his father, saying, ‘If I do not bring him to you and set him before you, I shall bear the guilt before my father all my days.’

44:33 “Now therefore I will remain with you as a servant in the lad’s place, a household slave to my lord; but let the lad go up with his brothers.

44:34 “For how shall I go up to my father if the lad is not with us? Let me not see the evils which shall befall my father.”

Genesis 45

45:1 And Joseph could no longer bear all those who stood beside him, but said, “Send everyone away from me.” And no one else stood with Joseph when he made himself known to his brothers.

45:2 And he lifted up his voice with weeping; and all the Egyptians heard, and it was heard in Pharaoh’s house.

45:3 And Joseph said to his brothers, “I am Joseph. Is my father still living?” And his brothers could not answer him, for they were troubled.

45:4 And Joseph said to his brothers, “Draw near to me.” And they drew near. And he said, “I am Joseph your brother, whom you sold into Egypt.

45:5 “Now therefore do not be grieved, and do not let it seem hard to you that you sold me here; for God sent me before you to preserve life.

Note 103: 103. Genesis 45:5–24 To preserve life renders the purpose expression literally for life. The remnant language in verse 7 is retained rather than replaced by great deliverance. Goshen of Arabia preserves the geographical qualification while using the familiar spelling for Gesem. Marrow of the land means its choicest produce; it does not identify a new food. Verse 19 shifts from Joseph in the singular to the brothers in the plural; the supplied Take them makes the embedded command readable. Double robes, gold, and female mules retain the source’s particulars. Be not angry is clearer than an unexplained fall not out.

45:6 “For this is the second year of famine upon the land, and there are still five years left in which there shall be neither ploughing nor harvest.

45:7 “For God sent me before you, that a remnant of you might remain upon the earth, and to nourish a great remnant of you.

45:8 “Now therefore it was not you who sent me here, but God; and He has made me as a father to Pharaoh, and lord of all his house, and ruler of all the land of Egypt.

45:9 “So hurry, and go up to my father, and say to him, ‘Thus says your son Joseph: God has made me lord of all the land of Egypt; come down therefore to me, and do not delay.

45:10 “‘And you shall live in the land of Goshen of Arabia, and shall be near to me, you and your sons and your sons’ sons, your sheep and your oxen, and all that you have.

45:11 “‘And I will nourish you there, for there are still five years of famine, lest you be destroyed, you and your sons and all your possessions.’

45:12 “Behold, your eyes see, and the eyes of Benjamin my brother, that it is my mouth which speaks to you.

45:13 “Tell my father therefore of all my glory in Egypt, and of all that you have seen; and hurry and bring my father down here.”

45:14 And he fell upon the neck of Benjamin his brother, and wept over him; and Benjamin wept upon his neck.

45:15 And he kissed all his brothers, and wept over them; and afterward his brothers spoke with him.

45:16 And the report spread into Pharaoh’s house, saying, “Joseph’s brothers have come.” And Pharaoh and his attendants rejoiced.

45:17 And Pharaoh said to Joseph, “Say to your brothers, ‘Do this: load your beasts, and depart to the land of Canaan.

45:18 “‘And take your father and your possessions, and come to me; and I will give you of all the good things of Egypt, and you shall eat the marrow of the land.’

45:19 “And give this command, that they take wagons from the land of Egypt: ‘Take them for your children and your wives, and bring your father, and come.

45:20 “‘And do not let your eyes regret your belongings, for all the good things of Egypt shall be yours.’”

45:21 And the sons of Israel did so; and Joseph gave them wagons according to the words of Pharaoh the king, and gave them provisions for the way.

45:22 And to them all he gave two robes each; but to Benjamin he gave three hundred pieces of gold and five changes of robes.

45:23 And to his father he sent the same, and ten donkeys carrying some of all the good things of Egypt, and ten female mules carrying bread for his father’s journey.

45:24 And he sent his brothers away, and they departed; and he said to them, “Do not be angry on the way.”

45:25 And they went up from Egypt, and came into the land of Canaan to Jacob their father.

45:26 And they told him, saying, “Your son Joseph lives, and he rules all the land of Egypt.” And Jacob’s mind was astonished, for he did not believe them.

45:27 And they spoke to him all the words which Joseph had said to them. And when he saw the wagons which Joseph had sent to carry him, the spirit of Jacob their father was rekindled.

45:28 And Israel said, “It is a great thing to me if Joseph my son still lives. I will go and see him before I die.”

Genesis 46

46:1 And Israel set out, he and all that he had, and came to the Well of the Oath, and offered a sacrifice to the God of his father Isaac.

46:2 And God spoke to Israel in a vision of the night, saying, “Jacob, Jacob.” And he said, “What is it?”

46:3 And He said, “I am the God of your fathers. Do not fear to go down into Egypt, for I will make you a great nation there.

46:4 “And I will go down with you into Egypt, and I will bring you up at last; and Joseph shall lay his hands upon your eyes.”

46:5 And Jacob rose from the Well of the Oath; and the sons of Israel carried their father and their households and their wives upon the wagons which Joseph had sent to carry him.

46:6 And they took their possessions and all that they had acquired in the land of Canaan, and entered into Egypt, Jacob and all his seed with him,

46:7 his sons and his sons’ sons with him, his daughters and his sons’ daughters; and all his seed he brought into Egypt.

46:8 And these are the names of the sons of Israel who entered into Egypt, Jacob and his sons. Jacob’s firstborn was Reuben.

Note 104: 104. Genesis 46:8–30 The genealogy includes later descendants and its own stated totals. Retain sixty-six, nine, and seventy-five, and do not recalculate the text to match another witness. Benjamin’s descendants have a multigenerational structure, not a flat list of ten sons. Heroopolis and Rameses are explicit. At last in verse 4 is an interpretive rendering of eis telos; the phrase is not expanded into a doctrine of resurrection. Now I may die at verse 30 expresses the future’s contextual resignation.

46:9 And Reuben’s sons: Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi.

46:10 And Simeon’s sons: Jemuel, Jamin, Aod, Jachin, Saar, and Shaul the son of the Canaanite woman.

46:11 And Levi’s sons: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

46:12 And Judah’s sons: Er, Onan, Shelah, Perez, and Zerah. But Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan. And Perez’s sons were Hezron and Jemuel.

46:13 And Issachar’s sons: Tola, Phua, Jasoub, and Zambram.

46:14 And Zebulun’s sons: Sered, Allon, and Aloel.

46:15 These are Leah’s sons whom she bore to Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria, and Dinah his daughter. All the souls, sons and daughters, were thirty-three.

46:16 And Gad’s sons: Saphon, Haggis, Saunis, Thasoban, Aedis, Aroedis, and Aroelis.

46:17 And Asher’s sons: Jemna, Jesoua, Jeul, and Baria, and Sara their sister. And Baria’s sons: Chobor and Melchiel.

46:18 These are the sons of Zilpah, whom Laban gave to Leah his daughter; and she bore these to Jacob, sixteen souls.

46:19 And the sons of Rachel, Jacob’s wife: Joseph and Benjamin.

46:20 And to Joseph were born sons in the land of Egypt, whom Asenath, the daughter of Potiphera, priest of Heliopolis, bore to him: Manasseh and Ephraim. And to Manasseh was born a son, whom his Syrian concubine bore to him, Machir; and Machir begot Gilead. And the sons of Ephraim, Manasseh’s brother: Soutalaam and Taam. And the sons of Soutalaam: Edem.

46:21 And Benjamin’s sons: Bala, Chobor, and Ashbel. And Bala’s sons were Gera, Noeman, Anchis, Ros, Mamphin, and Ophimin; and Gera begot Arad.

46:22 These are Rachel’s sons whom she bore to Jacob: all the souls were eighteen.

46:23 And the sons of Dan: Asom.

46:24 And Naphtali’s sons: Asiel, Gouni, Issaar, and Syllem.

46:25 These are the sons of Bilhah, whom Laban gave to Rachel his daughter; and she bore these to Jacob: all the souls were seven.

46:26 And all the souls who entered into Egypt with Jacob, who came from his loins, apart from the wives of Jacob’s sons, were sixty-six souls in all.

46:27 And Joseph’s sons who were born to him in the land of Egypt were nine souls. All the souls of Jacob’s house who entered into Egypt were seventy-five.

46:28 And he sent Judah before him to Joseph, to meet him near Heroopolis in the land of Rameses.

46:29 And Joseph harnessed his chariots, and went up to meet Israel his father near Heroopolis; and he appeared to him, and fell upon his neck, and wept abundantly.

46:30 And Israel said to Joseph, “Now I may die, since I have seen your face, for you are still alive.”

46:31 And Joseph said to his brothers, “I will go up and tell Pharaoh, and say to him, ‘My brothers and my father’s house, who were in the land of Canaan, have come to me.

46:32 “‘And the men are shepherds, for they have been keepers of livestock; and they have brought their livestock and their oxen and all that they have.’

46:33 “If therefore Pharaoh calls you, and says to you, ‘What is your work?’

46:34 “you shall say, ‘Your servants have been keepers of livestock from youth until now, both we and our fathers,’ that you may live in the land of Goshen of Arabia; for every shepherd of sheep is an abomination to the Egyptians.”

Genesis 47

47:1 And Joseph came and told Pharaoh, saying, “My father and my brothers, and their livestock and their oxen and all that they have, have come from the land of Canaan; and behold, they are in the land of Goshen.”

47:2 And he took five men from among his brothers, and set them before Pharaoh.

47:3 And Pharaoh said to Joseph’s brothers, “What is your work?” And they said to Pharaoh, “Your servants are shepherds of sheep, both we and our fathers.”

47:4 And they said to Pharaoh, “We have come to live as strangers in the land; for there is no pasture for your servants’ livestock, because the famine has become severe in the land of Canaan. Now therefore your servants will live in the land of Goshen.”

47:5 And Pharaoh said to Joseph, “Let them live in the land of Goshen; and if you know that there are able men among them, set them over my livestock.” And Jacob and his sons came into Egypt to Joseph; and Pharaoh king of Egypt heard. And Pharaoh spoke to Joseph, saying, “Your father and your brothers have come to you.

Note 105: 105. Genesis 47:5–31 The repeated arrival and speech in verse 5 remain; repetition is not evidence of accidental duplication in this draft. The famine account explicitly says that Joseph enslaved the people in verse 21; moved them to cities is not substituted. The fifth and four remaining parts are retained without a modern economic judgment. The priests are priests, not princes. Verse 31 has staff; verse 48:2 separately has bed. The staff’s possessor remains the pronoun his, without deciding an uncertain referent.

47:6 “Behold, the land of Egypt is before you; settle your father and your brothers in the best of the land.”

47:7 And Joseph brought in Jacob his father, and set him before Pharaoh; and Jacob blessed Pharaoh.

47:8 And Pharaoh said to Jacob, “How many are the years of the days of your life?”

47:9 And Jacob said to Pharaoh, “The days of the years of my life in which I sojourn are a hundred and thirty years. Few and grievous have been the days of the years of my life, and they have not reached the days of the years of the life of my fathers, in the days when they sojourned.”

47:10 And Jacob blessed Pharaoh, and went out from him.

47:11 And Joseph settled his father and his brothers, and gave them a possession in the land of Egypt, in the best of the land, in the land of Rameses, as Pharaoh commanded.

47:12 And Joseph measured out grain to his father and to his brothers and to all his father’s house, according to each person.

47:13 And there was no grain in all the land, for the famine had become exceedingly severe; and the land of Egypt and the land of Canaan languished because of the famine.

47:14 And Joseph gathered all the silver found in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan for the grain which they bought, and he measured it out to them; and Joseph brought all the silver into Pharaoh’s house.

47:15 And all the silver in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan was spent. And all the Egyptians came to Joseph, saying, “Give us bread; why should we die before you? For our silver is spent.”

47:16 And Joseph said to them, “Bring your livestock, and I will give you bread in exchange for your livestock, if the silver is spent.”

47:17 And they brought their livestock to Joseph; and Joseph gave them bread in exchange for their horses and sheep and oxen and donkeys, and nourished them with bread in exchange for all their livestock that year.

47:18 And that year ended, and they came to him in the second year, and said to him, “Let us not be destroyed before our lord. For if our silver is spent, and our possessions and livestock have passed to you, our lord, there remains nothing to us before our lord except our own bodies and our land.

47:19 “Therefore, lest we die before you and the land become desolate, buy us and our land in exchange for bread, and we and our land shall be Pharaoh’s slaves. Give us seed, that we may sow and live and not die, and the land shall not be desolate.”

47:20 And Joseph bought all the land of the Egyptians for Pharaoh; for the Egyptians sold their land to Pharaoh, because the famine prevailed over them. And the land became Pharaoh’s.

47:21 And he enslaved the people to him as slaves, from one end of the borders of Egypt to the other.

47:22 The land of the priests was the only land Joseph did not buy; for Pharaoh gave an allowance to the priests, and they ate of the allowance which Pharaoh gave them. Therefore they did not sell their land.

47:23 And Joseph said to all the Egyptians, “Behold, I have bought you and your land today for Pharaoh. Take seed for yourselves, and sow the land.

47:24 “And of its produce you shall give a fifth part to Pharaoh; but the four parts shall be yours, for seed for the land, and for food for you and for all who are in your houses.”

47:25 And they said, “You have saved us; we have found grace before our lord, and we shall be Pharaoh’s slaves.”

47:26 And Joseph established this for them as an ordinance concerning the land of Egypt to this day, to give a fifth to Pharaoh, except only the land of the priests, which was not Pharaoh’s.

47:27 And Israel lived in the land of Egypt, in the land of Goshen; and they obtained possessions in it, and increased and multiplied exceedingly.

47:28 And Jacob lived in the land of Egypt seventeen years; and the days of Jacob, the years of his life, were a hundred and forty-seven years.

47:29 And the days drew near when Israel must die; and he called Joseph his son, and said to him, “If I have found grace in your sight, put your hand under my thigh, and show mercy and truth to me: do not bury me in Egypt.

47:30 “But I will sleep with my fathers, and you shall carry me out of Egypt, and bury me in their tomb.” And he said, “I will do according to your word.”

47:31 And he said, “Swear to me.” And he swore to him. And Israel bowed in worship upon the top of his staff.

Genesis 48

48:1 And after these things Joseph was told, “Your father is ailing.” And he took his two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim, and came to Jacob.

48:2 And it was told to Jacob, saying, “Behold, your son Joseph comes to you.” And Israel strengthened himself, and sat upon the bed.

48:3 And Jacob said to Joseph, “My God appeared to me at Luz in the land of Canaan, and blessed me.

Note 106: 106. Genesis 48:3–22 My God, assemblies of nations, and the plural they bowed in verse 12 are retained. Verse 7’s horse-course and Chabratha are difficult: the draft preserves them provisionally rather than silently replacing them with a modern distance; exact syntax and geography require specialist review. God who nourished and angel who delivereth preserve the blessing’s construction without adding a doctrinal identification. In you is plural in verse 20; thee in its quoted blessing is singular. Verse 21 addresses the family plurally, verse 22 Joseph singularly. Shechem is named as the special portion.

48:4 “And He said to me, ‘Behold, I will increase you and multiply you, and make you assemblies of nations; and I will give this land to you and to your seed after you for an everlasting possession.’

48:5 “Now therefore your two sons who were born to you in Egypt before I came to you into Egypt are mine; Ephraim and Manasseh shall be mine, as Reuben and Simeon.

48:6 “But the children whom you beget after them shall be yours; they shall be called by the names of their brothers within their allotments.

48:7 “And when I came from Mesopotamia of Syria, Rachel your mother died in the land of Canaan, as I drew near to the horse-course of Chabratha in the land, on the way to Ephrath; and I buried her on the road of the horse-course, which is Bethlehem.”

48:8 And Israel saw Joseph’s sons, and said, “Who are these with you?”

48:9 And Joseph said to his father, “They are my sons, whom God has given me here.” And Jacob said, “Bring them to me, that I may bless them.”

48:10 And Israel’s eyes were dim with age, and he could not see; and he brought them near to him, and he kissed and embraced them.

48:11 And Israel said to Joseph, “Behold, I have not been deprived of your face; and behold, God has shown me your seed also.”

48:12 And Joseph brought them out from his knees, and they bowed down before him, with their faces to the earth.

48:13 And Joseph took his two sons, Ephraim in his right hand toward Israel’s left, and Manasseh in his left hand toward Israel’s right, and brought them near to him.

48:14 And Israel stretched out his right hand, and laid it upon Ephraim’s head, though he was the younger, and his left hand upon Manasseh’s head, crossing his hands.

48:15 And he blessed them, and said, “The God before whom my fathers Abraham and Isaac were well pleasing, the God who has nourished me from my youth to this day,

48:16 “the angel who delivers me from all evils, bless these children; and my name shall be called upon them, and the name of my fathers Abraham and Isaac; and may they multiply into a great multitude upon the earth.”

48:17 And Joseph saw that his father had laid his right hand upon Ephraim’s head, and it displeased him; and Joseph took hold of his father’s hand, to remove it from Ephraim’s head to Manasseh’s head.

48:18 And Joseph said to his father, “Not so, father; for this is the firstborn. Lay your right hand upon his head.”

48:19 And he would not, but said, “I know, my child, I know. He also shall become a people, and he also shall be exalted; but his younger brother shall be greater than he, and his seed shall become a multitude of nations.”

48:20 And he blessed them that day, saying, “In you shall Israel be blessed, saying, ‘May God make you as Ephraim and as Manasseh.’” And he set Ephraim before Manasseh.

48:21 And Israel said to Joseph, “Behold, I am dying; and God shall be with you, and shall bring you back to the land of your fathers.

48:22 “And I give to you Shechem as a choice portion above your brothers, which I took from the hand of the Amorites with my sword and bow.”

Genesis 49

49:1 And Jacob called his sons, and said, “Gather yourselves, that I may tell you what shall befall you in the latter days.

49:2 “Assemble and hear, you sons of Jacob; listen to Israel your father.

49:3 “Reuben, you are my firstborn, my strength and the beginning of my children, hard to bear and stubbornly self-willed.

Note 107: 107. Genesis 49:3–10 The blessing follows the Greek’s rebuke of Reuben, chosen iniquity of Simeon and Levi, inward parts (literally liver), and hamstrung bull. It does not import another witness’s excellency, instruments, honour, or wall. From a shoot in verse 9 retains blastos and needs interpretive review. The things reserved for him in verse 10 is the consulted neuter-plural reading; neither Shiloh nor he to whom it belongs is substituted. Expectation of nations remains the text; later messianic interpretation belongs in attributed reception.

49:4 “You overflowed in insolence as water; do not boil over. For you went up to your father’s bed; then you defiled the couch where you went up.

49:5 “Simeon and Levi are brothers; they committed iniquity by their own choice.

49:6 “Do not let my soul enter their council, or my inward parts rest upon their conspiracy; for in their wrath they slew men, and in their desire they hamstrung a bull.

49:7 “Cursed be their wrath, for it is self-willed, and their anger, for it is hardened. I will divide them in Jacob, and scatter them in Israel.

49:8 “Judah, may your brothers praise you; your hands shall be upon the backs of your enemies, and your father’s sons shall bow down to you.

49:9 “Judah is a lion’s cub. From a shoot, my son, you have gone up. You reclined and slept as a lion, and as a cub; who shall rouse him?

49:10 “A ruler shall not fail from Judah, nor a leader from his thighs, until the things reserved for him come; and he shall be the expectation of nations.

49:11 “Binding his foal to the vine, and his donkey’s colt to the tendril, he shall wash his robe in wine, and his mantle in the blood of the grape.

Note 108: 108. Genesis 49:11–22 Blood of the grape is preserved as an image. Joyful eyes is a provisional choice for charopos; bright or gleaming is an alternative requiring lexical review. Issachar’s desire, allotments, and farming differ from the familiar donkey and tribute wording. Naphtali is a spreading tree here, not a hind. Joseph is a son grown great, not a fruitful bough. Envied is provisional for zelotos, which may also suggest admired; the context must decide. Do not add images from a literary model to make the blessing more familiar.

49:12 “His eyes are joyful from wine, and his teeth whiter than milk.

49:13 “Zebulun shall dwell by the sea, and beside a haven of ships, and shall extend to Sidon.

49:14 “Issachar desired that which is good, resting between the allotments.

49:15 “And he saw that rest was good, and the land rich; and he bent his shoulder to toil, and became a tiller of the earth.

49:16 “Dan shall judge his own people, as one tribe in Israel.

49:17 “And let Dan become a serpent by the way, lying in wait upon the path, biting the horse’s heel; and the rider shall fall backward.

49:18 “I wait for the salvation of the Lord.

49:19 “Gad, a raiding band shall raid him, but he shall raid at their heels.

49:20 “Asher, his bread shall be rich, and he shall give delicacies to rulers.

49:21 “Naphtali is a spreading tree, yielding beauty in its fruit.

49:22 “Joseph is a son grown great, a son grown great, envied; my youngest son, return to me.

49:23 “They plotted against him and reviled him; and the masters of arrows bore him a grudge.

Note 109: 109. Genesis 49:23–27 Their bows are shattered, not Joseph’s bow remaining firm. The hand of the Mighty One and the source’s compressed continuation are retained. Verses 24–26 are especially difficult: agency, the singular it, the earth holding all things, the blessing of both father and mother, enduring mountains, everlasting dunes, and the final crown clause all require specialist syntactic review. The crown of the brethren whom he led preserves one literal construal; an interpretation referring to Joseph as leader must be argued, not silently substituted. Benjamin distributes food, not an imported spoil. These verses are a provisional draft, not an approved resolution.

49:24 “And their bows were mightily shattered, and the sinews of their arms grew slack, by the hand of the Mighty One of Jacob; from there is He who strengthened Israel,

49:25 “from the God of your father; and my God helped you, and blessed you with the blessing of heaven above, and the blessing of the earth which holds all things, because of the blessing of breasts and womb,

49:26 “the blessing of your father and your mother. It prevailed over the blessings of enduring mountains and the blessings of everlasting dunes. They shall be upon Joseph’s head, and upon the crown of the brothers whom he led.

49:27 “Benjamin is a ravening wolf; in the morning he shall yet eat, and toward evening he shall distribute food.”

49:28 All these are Jacob’s twelve sons; and these things their father spoke to them, and blessed them. He blessed them, each according to his blessing.

49:29 And he said to them, “I am being added to my people. Bury me with my fathers in the cave which is in the field of Ephron the Hittite, 49:30 “in the double cave opposite Mamre in the land of Canaan, the cave which Abraham bought from Ephron the Hittite for a burial possession.

49:31 “There they buried Abraham and Sarah his wife; there they buried Isaac and Rebekah his wife; and there I buried Leah,

49:32 “in the possession of the field and the cave within it, acquired from the sons of Heth.”

49:33 And Jacob ceased charging his sons; and he drew up his feet upon the bed, and died, and was added to his people.

Genesis 50

50:1 And Joseph fell upon his father’s face, and wept over him, and kissed him.

50:2 And Joseph commanded his servants the embalmers to prepare his father for burial; and the embalmers prepared Israel for burial.

Note 110: 110. Genesis 50:2–26 Prepare for burial and burial rites distinguish the funeral actions without making the final coffin sentence an additional burial in the ground. The forty and seventy days remain separate stated periods; their overlap is not calculated. Verses 12–13 retain the repeated burial statements. Pardon in verse 17 is the contextual force of receive the iniquity. Verse 19 says I belong unto God, not Am I in the place of God? Verse 20 speaks of feeding many people. Born upon Joseph's thighs preserves the image without inventing a ceremony. Visit and visitation in verses 24–25 mean God's effective intervention, not merely a social call. Revision, 29 September 2026. Wording. At 50:15, "What if Joseph should" expresses the brothers' apprehension introduced by Greek mēpote. The question is English punctuation; it does not change their fear into a statement of Joseph's actual intention. Greek source.

50:3 And they fulfilled forty days for him, for this is how the days of burial preparation are reckoned; and Egypt mourned him seventy days.

50:4 And when the days of mourning had passed, Joseph spoke to Pharaoh's rulers, saying, "If I have found grace in your sight, speak concerning me in Pharaoh's ears, saying,

50:5 "'My father made me swear, saying, "In the tomb which I dug for myself in the land of Canaan, there you shall bury me." Now therefore I will go up and bury my father, and return.'"

50:6 And Pharaoh said, "Go up and bury your father, as he made you swear."

50:7 And Joseph went up to bury his father; and with him went up all Pharaoh's servants, and the elders of his house, and all the elders of the land of Egypt,

50:8 and all Joseph's household, and his brothers, and all his father's house; but they left their kindred and their sheep and their oxen in the land of Goshen.

50:9 And chariots and horsemen also went up with him, and the company was exceedingly great.

50:10 And they came to the threshing floor of Atad, which is beyond the Jordan; and they lamented him with a great and exceedingly grievous lamentation, and he mourned his father seven days.

50:11 And the inhabitants of the land of Canaan saw the mourning at the threshing floor of Atad, and said, "This is a great mourning for the Egyptians." Therefore its name was called Mourning of Egypt, which is beyond the Jordan.

50:12 And his sons did thus to him, and buried him there.

50:13 And his sons carried him up into the land of Canaan, and buried him in the double cave, the cave which Abraham bought for a burial possession from Ephron the Hittite, opposite Mamre.

50:14 And Joseph returned into Egypt, he and his brothers and those who had gone up to bury his father.

50:15 And Joseph's brothers saw that their father was dead, and said, "What if Joseph should bear a grudge against us, and fully repay us all the evils which we did to him?"

50:16 And they came to Joseph, saying, "Your father gave a charge by oath before he died, saying,

50:17 "'This is what you shall say to Joseph: "Forgive them their iniquity and their sin, for they did evil to you."' And now, pardon the iniquity of the servants of your father's God." And Joseph wept as they spoke to him.

50:18 And they came to him, and said, "Behold, we are your household slaves."

50:19 And Joseph said to them, "Do not fear, for I belong to God.

50:20 "You planned evil against me, but God planned good concerning me, that it might come to pass as it is today, that many people might be fed."

50:21 And he said to them, "Do not fear; I will nourish you and your households." And he comforted them, and spoke to their hearts.

50:22 And Joseph lived in Egypt, he and his brothers and all his father's household; and Joseph lived a hundred and ten years.

50:26 And Joseph died, being a hundred and ten years old; and they performed his burial rites, and laid him in a coffin in Egypt.

Exodus

Exodus 1

1:1 These are the names of the sons of Israel who entered Egypt with Jacob their father; each came with his whole household:

1:2 Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah;

1:3 Issachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin;

1:4 Dan and Naphtali, Gad and Asher.

1:5 Now Joseph was in Egypt; and all the souls descended from Jacob were seventy-five.

1:6 And Joseph died, and all his brothers, and all that generation.

1:7 And the sons of Israel increased and multiplied, and became numerous and exceedingly, exceedingly strong; and the land multiplied them.

1:8 And another king arose over Egypt, who did not know Joseph.

1:9 And he said to his nation, “Behold, the people of the sons of Israel are a great multitude, and are stronger than we are.

1:10 Come, therefore, let us deal craftily with them, lest they multiply; and when war befalls us, they also join our adversaries, wage war against us, and leave the land.”

1:11 He set overseers of labour over them to afflict them with their work. They built fortified cities for Pharaoh: Pithom, Rameses, and On, which is the City of the Sun.

1:12 But the more they humbled them, the more they multiplied and grew exceedingly, exceedingly strong; and the Egyptians loathed the sons of Israel.

1:13 The Egyptians oppressed the sons of Israel by force.

1:14 They made their lives painful with hard labour in clay and brickmaking, and with all the work in the plains, in every task in which they enslaved them by force.

1:15 The king of the Egyptians spoke to the midwives of the Hebrews, one named Sepphora and the other Puah.

1:16 And he said, “When you attend the Hebrew women in childbirth, and they are about to give birth, if the child is male, kill him; but if the child is female, preserve her.”

1:17 But the midwives feared God. They did not do as the king of Egypt had commanded them, and they kept the boys alive.

1:18 And the king of Egypt called the midwives and said to them, “Why have you done this thing, and kept the male children alive?”

1:19 The midwives said to Pharaoh, “The Hebrew women are not like the Egyptian women, for they give birth before the midwives come to them.” And they bore children.

1:20 God dealt well with the midwives, and the people multiplied and became very strong.

1:21 And because the midwives feared God, they made houses for themselves.

1:22 And Pharaoh commanded all his people, saying, “Cast every male child born to the Hebrews into the river, but keep every female child alive.”

Exodus 2

2:1 Now there was a man of the tribe of Levi, who took one of the daughters of Levi and had her as his wife.

2:2 She conceived and bore a male child. Seeing that he was beautiful, they hid him for three months.

2:3 When they could no longer hide him, his mother took a basket for him and coated it with bitumen-pitch. She put the child in it and placed it in the marsh beside the river.

2:4 His sister watched from a distance to learn what would happen to him.

2:5 Pharaoh’s daughter came down to bathe at the river while her attendants walked beside it. She saw the basket in the marsh, sent her attendant, and had it brought to her.

2:6 And she opened it, and saw a child weeping in the basket; and Pharaoh’s daughter had compassion on him, and said, “This is one of the Hebrew children.”

2:7 And his sister said to Pharaoh’s daughter, “Do you want me to call a nursing woman from among the Hebrews, that she may nurse the child for you?”

2:8 Pharaoh’s daughter said to her, “Go.” The young woman went and called the child’s mother.

2:9 And Pharaoh’s daughter said to her, “Keep this child for me, and nurse him for me, and I will give you your wages.” And the woman took the child and nursed him.

2:10 When the child grew, she brought him to Pharaoh’s daughter, and he became her son. She named him Moses, saying, “I took him up out of the water.”

2:11 During those many days, when Moses had grown, he went out to his brothers, the sons of Israel. Seeing their suffering, he saw an Egyptian man striking a Hebrew, one of his own brothers, the sons of Israel.

2:12 He looked this way and that, and, seeing no one, struck down the Egyptian and hid him in the sand.

2:13 And he went out on the second day, and saw two Hebrew men fighting; and he said to the one who did wrong, “Why do you strike your neighbour?”

2:14 But he said, “Who made you a ruler and judge over us? Do you want to kill me, as you killed the Egyptian yesterday?” And Moses was afraid, and said, “Has this matter become so plainly known?”

2:15 Pharaoh heard about this and sought to kill Moses. Moses withdrew from Pharaoh’s presence and settled in the land of Midian. Having come to the land of Midian, he sat down by the well.

2:16 The priest of Midian had seven daughters who tended the sheep of their father Jethro. They came and drew water until they filled the troughs to water the sheep of their father Jethro.

2:17 The shepherds came and drove them away, but Moses rose and rescued them, drew water for them, and watered their sheep.

2:18 And they came to Reuel their father, and he said to them, “Why have you returned so quickly today?”

2:19 They said, “An Egyptian man rescued us from the shepherds. He drew water for us and watered our sheep.”

2:20 And he said to his daughters, “And where is he? Why have you left the man behind? Call him, therefore, that he may eat bread.”

2:21 Moses settled with the man, who gave him his daughter Zipporah as his wife.

2:22 And the woman conceived and bore a son; and Moses called his name Gershom, saying, “I am a sojourner in a foreign land.”

2:23 After those many days the king of Egypt died. The sons of Israel groaned deeply because of their labour and cried out, and their cry because of their labour rose to God.

2:24 God heard their groaning, and God remembered His covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

2:25 God looked upon the sons of Israel, and He became known to them.

Exodus 3

3:1 Moses was tending the sheep of Jethro his father-in-law, the priest of Midian. He led the sheep toward the wilderness and came to Mount Horeb.

3:2 An angel of the Lord appeared to him in a flame of fire from the bush. He saw that the bush was burning with fire, yet it was not consumed.

3:3 And Moses said, “I will turn aside and see this great sight, why the bush is not consumed.”

3:4 When the Lord saw that he was approaching to look, the Lord called to him from the bush, “Moses, Moses!” He replied, “What is it?”

3:5 And He said, “Do not come near here. Untie the footwear from your feet; for the place where you stand is holy ground.”

3:6 And He said to him, “I am the God of your father, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.” And Moses turned his face away, for he feared to look before God.

3:7 And the Lord said to Moses, “I have surely seen the affliction of My people in Egypt, and have heard their cry because of their taskmasters; for I know their pain.

3:8 I have come down to rescue them from the hand of the Egyptians and bring them out of that land into a good and spacious land, a land flowing with milk and honey, to the place of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Girgashites, Hivites, and Jebusites.

3:9 And now, behold, the cry of the sons of Israel has come to Me; and I have seen the oppression with which the Egyptians oppress them.

3:10 Come now, and I will send you to Pharaoh king of Egypt; and you shall bring My people, the sons of Israel, out of the land of Egypt.”

3:11 Moses said to God, “Who am I, that I should go to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and bring the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt?”

3:12 And God said to Moses, “I will be with you; and this shall be the sign to you that I send you: when you have brought My people out of Egypt, you shall serve God upon this mountain.”

3:13 And Moses said to God, “Behold, I shall go to the sons of Israel and say to them, ‘The God of your fathers has sent me to you’; and they shall ask me, ‘What is His name?’ What shall I say to them?”

3:14 And God said to Moses, “I am the One Who Is.” And He said, “This is what you shall say to the sons of Israel: ‘The One Who Is has sent me to you.’”

3:15 And God said again to Moses, “This is what you shall say to the sons of Israel: ‘The Lord, the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, has sent me to you.’ This is My everlasting name, and My memorial from generation to generation.

3:16 Go, therefore, gather the council of elders of the sons of Israel, and say to them, ‘The Lord, the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, has appeared to me, saying, “I have surely visited you, and seen all that has befallen you in Egypt.

3:17 And I have said, I will bring you up out of the affliction of the Egyptians, into the land of the Canaanites, and Hittites, and Amorites, and Perizzites, and Girgashites, and Hivites, and Jebusites, into a land flowing with milk and honey.”’

3:18 And they shall listen to your voice; and you and the council of elders of Israel shall go in to Pharaoh king of Egypt, and you shall say to him, ‘The God of the Hebrews has called us. Let us therefore go a journey of three days into the wilderness, that we may sacrifice to our God.’

3:19 I know that Pharaoh, king of Egypt, will not let you go unless by a strong hand.

3:20 I will stretch out My hand and strike the Egyptians with all My wonders that I will perform among them. Afterward he will send you away.

3:21 And I will give this people favour before the Egyptians; and when you depart, you shall not go empty-handed.

3:22 Every woman shall ask of her neighbour and of her fellow lodger articles of silver and gold, and clothing; and you shall put them upon your sons and upon your daughters, and you shall plunder the Egyptians.”

Exodus 4

4:1 And Moses answered and said, “If they do not believe me or listen to my voice, for they will say, ‘God has not appeared to you,’ what shall I say to them?”

4:2 And the Lord said to him, “What is this in your hand?” And he said, “A staff.”

4:3 He said, “Throw it on the ground.” He threw it on the ground, and it became a serpent; Moses fled from it.

4:4 And the Lord said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand, and take it by the tail.” And he stretched out his hand, and took it by the tail; and it became a staff in his hand.

4:5 “That they may believe you, that the Lord, the God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, has appeared to you.”

4:6 And the Lord said again to him, “Put your hand into your bosom.” And he put his hand into his bosom, and brought his hand out of his bosom; and his hand became as snow.

4:7 And He said, “Put your hand again into your bosom.” And he put his hand into his bosom, and brought it out of his bosom; and it was restored again to the colour of his flesh.

4:8 “And if they do not believe you or listen to the voice of the first sign, they shall believe you through the voice of the latter sign.

4:9 And if they do not believe you through these two signs or listen to your voice, you shall take some water from the river and pour it upon the dry ground; and the water which you take from the river shall become blood upon the dry ground.”

4:10 And Moses said to the Lord, “I beseech Thee, Lord, I have not been capable—not yesterday, nor the day before, nor since Thou didst begin to speak to Thy servant; for I am weak of voice and slow of tongue.”

4:11 The Lord said to Moses, “Who gave a human being a mouth? Who made one hard of hearing or deaf, seeing or blind? Is it not I, God?

4:12 Now therefore go, and I will open your mouth, and teach you what you are to speak.”

4:13 And Moses said, “I beseech Thee, Lord, appoint another who is able, whom Thou wilt send.”

4:14 And the Lord was kindled with anger against Moses, and said, “Behold, is Aaron the Levite not your brother? I know that he will surely speak to you; and behold, he shall come forth to meet you, and when he sees you, he shall rejoice within himself.

4:15 And you shall speak to him, and put My words in his mouth; and I will open your mouth and his mouth, and teach you what you shall do.

4:16 And he shall speak for you to the people, and he shall be your mouth; but you shall be for him in matters pertaining to God.

4:17 And you shall take in your hand this staff which was turned into a serpent, with which you shall perform the signs.”

4:18 Moses went back to Jethro his father-in-law and said, “I will return to my brothers in Egypt to see whether they are still alive.” Jethro said to Moses, “Go in health.”

4:19 And after those many days the king of Egypt died. And the Lord said to Moses in Midian, “Go, depart into Egypt; for all who sought your life are dead.”

4:20 Moses took his wife and children, set them on the beasts of burden, and returned toward Egypt. Moses took the staff he had from God in his hand.

4:21 And the Lord said to Moses, “As you go and return to Egypt, see that you perform before Pharaoh all the wonders which I have put in your hands. But I will harden his heart, and he shall by no means let the people go.

4:22 And you shall say to Pharaoh, ‘Thus says the Lord: Israel is My firstborn son.

4:23 And I said to you, “Let My people go, that they may serve Me.” If therefore you will not let them go, behold, I will kill your firstborn son.’”

4:24 On the way, at the lodging place, an angel of the Lord met him and sought to kill him.

4:25 And Zipporah took a stone, and circumcised the foreskin of her son, and fell at the feet, and said, “The blood of my child’s circumcision has ceased.”

4:26 And he departed from him, because she said, “The blood of my child’s circumcision has ceased.”

4:27 The Lord said to Aaron, “Go into the wilderness to meet Moses.” He went and met him at the mountain of God, and they kissed each other.

4:28 Moses told Aaron all the words of the Lord with which He had sent him, and all the signs He had commanded him.

4:29 Moses and Aaron went and gathered the council of elders of the sons of Israel.

4:30 Aaron spoke all these words God had spoken to Moses and performed the signs before the people.

4:31 And the people believed and rejoiced, because God had visited the sons of Israel, and because He had seen their affliction; and the people bowed down and worshipped.

Exodus 5

5:1 Afterward Moses and Aaron went in to Pharaoh and said, “Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: ‘Let My people go so that they may hold a feast for Me in the wilderness.’”

5:2 Pharaoh said, “Who is He, that I should obey His voice and let the sons of Israel go? I do not know the Lord, and I will not let Israel go.”

5:3 They said to him, “The God of the Hebrews has called us. We will go a three days’ journey into the wilderness to sacrifice to our God, lest death or slaughter meet us.”

5:4 And the king of Egypt said to them, “Moses and Aaron, why do you turn my people from their works? Each of you, go back to your work.”

5:5 And Pharaoh said, “Behold, the people are now numerous; let us not therefore give them rest from their works.”

5:6 Pharaoh commanded the people’s taskmasters and scribes:

5:7 “The people shall no longer be given straw for making bricks as before. Let them go and gather straw for themselves.

5:8 And you shall lay upon them the appointed number of bricks which they make each day; you shall not reduce it at all. For they are idle; therefore they cry out, saying, ‘Let us go and sacrifice to our God.’

5:9 Let these men’s tasks be heavier. Let them attend to them and pay no attention to empty words.”

5:10 The taskmasters and scribes pressed them and said to the people, “Thus says Pharaoh: ‘I will no longer give you straw.

5:11 Go yourselves, and gather straw for yourselves wherever you may find it; for your appointed number shall not be reduced.’”

5:12 The people scattered throughout the land of Egypt to gather stubble for straw.

5:13 The taskmasters pressed them, saying, “Complete the work due each day, as when straw was provided for you.”

5:14 And the scribes of the people of the sons of Israel, whom Pharaoh’s overseers had set over them, were scourged, and asked, “Why have you not completed your appointed number of bricks, as before, including that of today?”

5:15 And the scribes of the sons of Israel came in and cried to Pharaoh, saying, “Why do you treat your household slaves this way?

5:16 Straw is not given to your household slaves, yet they tell us to make bricks; and behold, your servants have been scourged. In this way you will wrong your own people.”

5:17 And he said to them, “You are idle; you are idlers! Therefore you say, ‘Let us go and sacrifice to our God.’

5:18 Now therefore go and work; for straw shall not be given to you, yet you shall deliver the appointed number of bricks.”

5:19 And the scribes of the sons of Israel saw themselves in trouble, saying, “You shall not reduce the number of bricks due each day.”

5:20 As they came out from Pharaoh, they met Moses and Aaron, who were coming to meet them.

5:21 And they said to them, “May God look upon you and judge, for you have made our smell loathsome before Pharaoh and before his attendants, putting a sword into his hands to kill us.”

5:22 And Moses returned to the Lord and said, “Lord, why hast Thou afflicted this people? And why hast Thou sent me?

5:23 For since I went to Pharaoh to speak in Thy name, he has afflicted this people; and Thou hast not delivered Thy people.”

Exodus 6

6:1 And the Lord said to Moses, “Now you shall see what I will do to Pharaoh; for with a mighty hand he shall let them go, and with an uplifted arm he shall drive them out of his land.”

6:2 God spoke to Moses and said to him, “I am the Lord.

6:3 I appeared to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob as their God, but I did not reveal My name Lord to them.

6:4 I established My covenant with them, to give them the land of the Canaanites, the land where they sojourned and lived as foreigners.

6:5 I have heard the groaning of the sons of Israel, whom the Egyptians enslave, and I have remembered your covenant.

6:6 Go, say to the sons of Israel: ‘I am the Lord. I will bring you out from the Egyptians’ domination and deliver you from slavery. I will ransom you with an uplifted arm and with great judgment.

6:7 And I will take you to Myself for a people, and I will be your God; and you shall know that I am the Lord your God, who brought you out from the oppression of the Egyptians.

6:8 I will bring you into the land concerning which I stretched out My hand to give it to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. I will give it to you as an inheritance. I am the Lord.’”

6:9 Moses spoke thus to the sons of Israel, but they did not listen to him because of their discouragement and hard labour.

6:10 The Lord spoke to Moses, saying,

6:11 “Go in and speak to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, so that he will let the sons of Israel leave his land.”

6:12 And Moses spoke before the Lord, saying, “Behold, the sons of Israel have not listened to me; how then shall Pharaoh listen to me? And I am without eloquence.”

6:13 The Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron and charged them concerning Pharaoh, king of Egypt, so that the sons of Israel would be sent out of the land of Egypt.

6:14 These are the heads of their ancestral houses. The sons of Reuben, Israel’s firstborn: Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi. This is the kindred of Reuben.

6:15 The sons of Simeon: Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar, and Shaul, the son of a Phoenician woman. These are the families of the sons of Simeon.

6:16 These are the names of the sons of Levi according to their kindreds: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. Levi lived one hundred and thirty-seven years.

6:17 These are the sons of Gershon: Libni and Shimei, the houses of their family.

6:18 The sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. Kohath lived one hundred and thirty years.

6:19 The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi. These are the ancestral houses of Levi according to their kindreds.

6:20 Amram took Jochebed, the daughter of his father’s brother, as his wife, and she bore him Aaron, Moses, and their sister Miriam. Amram lived one hundred and thirty-two years.

6:21 The sons of Izhar: Korah, Nepheg, and Zichri.

6:22 The sons of Uzziel: Elzaphan and Sithri.

6:23 Aaron took Elisheba, daughter of Amminadab and sister of Nahshon, as his wife. She bore him Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

6:24 The sons of Korah: Assir, Elkanah, and Abiasaph. These are the generations of Korah.

6:25 Eleazar son of Aaron took one of Putiel’s daughters as his wife, and she bore him Phinehas. These are the heads of the Levites’ family according to their generations.

6:26 These are Aaron and Moses whom God told to bring the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt with their forces.

6:27 They were the ones who spoke to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and brought the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt: Aaron himself and Moses.

6:28 On the day when the Lord spoke to Moses in the land of Egypt,

6:29 the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, “I am the Lord. Speak to Pharaoh king of Egypt all that I say to you.”

6:30 And Moses said before the Lord, “Behold, I am weak of voice; how then shall Pharaoh listen to me?”

Exodus 7

7:1 And the Lord said to Moses, “Behold, I have made you a god to Pharaoh; and Aaron your brother shall be your prophet.

7:2 You shall speak to him all that I command you; and Aaron your brother shall speak to Pharaoh, that he may let the sons of Israel go out of his land.

7:3 I will harden Pharaoh’s heart and multiply My signs and My wonders in the land of Egypt.

7:4 Pharaoh will not listen to you. I will lay My hand on Egypt and bring out My people, the sons of Israel, from the land of Egypt with My power and great vengeance.

7:5 All the Egyptians shall know that I am the Lord when I stretch out My hand over Egypt and bring the sons of Israel out from among them.”

7:6 Moses and Aaron did as the Lord commanded them; so they did.

7:7 Moses was eighty years old and his brother Aaron eighty-three when he spoke to Pharaoh.

7:8 The Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying,

7:9 “If Pharaoh speaks to you, saying, ‘Give us a sign or a wonder,’ you shall say to Aaron your brother, ‘Take the staff, and cast it upon the ground before Pharaoh and before his attendants, and it shall become a dragon.’”

7:10 Moses and Aaron went before Pharaoh and his attendants and did as the Lord commanded. Aaron threw his staff before Pharaoh and his attendants, and it became a dragon.

7:11 Pharaoh summoned the wise men of Egypt and the sorcerers. The Egyptian enchanters did the same by their sorceries.

7:12 Each threw down his staff, and they became dragons. But Aaron’s staff swallowed their staffs.

7:13 Pharaoh’s heart grew strong, and he did not listen to them, as the Lord had said to them.

7:14 The Lord said to Moses, “Pharaoh’s heart has become heavy, so that he will not let the people go.

7:15 Go to Pharaoh in the morning; behold, he goes out to the water. And you shall stand to meet him upon the bank of the river, and take in your hand the staff which was turned into a serpent.

7:16 And you shall say to him, ‘The Lord, the God of the Hebrews, has sent me to you, saying, “Let My people go, that they may serve Me in the wilderness.” And behold, until now you have not listened.

7:17 Thus says the Lord: “By this you shall know that I am the Lord: behold, I strike with the staff in My hand upon the water in the river, and it shall be turned to blood.

7:18 The fish in the river will die, the river will stink, and the Egyptians will be unable to drink its water.”’”

7:19 And the Lord said to Moses, “Say to Aaron your brother, ‘Take your staff, and stretch out your hand over the waters of Egypt, over their rivers, and over their canals, and over their marshes, and over all their standing water, and it shall become blood.’” And there was blood throughout all the land of Egypt, both in wood and in stone.

7:20 Moses and Aaron did as the Lord commanded. He raised his staff and struck the river’s water before Pharaoh and his attendants, and all the water in the river turned to blood.

7:21 The fish in the river died, and the river stank. The Egyptians could not drink its water, and there was blood throughout the land of Egypt.

7:22 The Egyptian enchanters did the same by their sorceries. Pharaoh’s heart grew hard, and he did not listen to them, as the Lord had said.

7:23 Pharaoh turned and went into his house and did not set his mind even on this.

7:24 All the Egyptians dug around the river to drink water, and they could not drink water from the river.

7:25 Seven days passed after the Lord struck the river.

7:26 And the Lord said to Moses, “Go in to Pharaoh, and you shall say to him, ‘Thus says the Lord: Let My people go, that they may serve Me.

7:27 But if you will not let them go, behold, I will strike all your borders with frogs.

7:28 And the river shall pour forth frogs; and they shall come up into your houses, and into your bedchambers, and upon your beds, and into the houses of your attendants and your people, and into your dough and your ovens.

7:29 And the frogs shall come up upon you, and upon your attendants, and upon your people.’”

Exodus 8

8:1 And the Lord said to Moses, “Say to Aaron your brother, ‘Stretch out the staff in your hand over the rivers, and over the canals, and over the marshes, and bring up the frogs.’”

8:2 Aaron stretched out his hand over Egypt’s waters and brought up the frogs. The frogs were brought up and covered the land of Egypt.

8:3 The Egyptian enchanters did the same by their sorceries and brought frogs up over the land of Egypt.

8:4 Pharaoh called Moses and Aaron and said, “Pray to the Lord for me, and let Him remove the frogs from me and my people. I will let them go so that they may sacrifice to the Lord.”

8:5 And Moses said to Pharaoh, “Appoint a time for me to pray for you, and for your attendants, and for your people, to destroy the frogs from you and from your people and from your houses; only in the river shall they remain.”

8:6 And he said, “Tomorrow.” And he answered, “According to your word; that you may know that there is no other except the Lord.

8:7 And the frogs shall be removed from you, and from your houses, and from the farmsteads, and from your attendants, and from your people; only in the river shall they remain.”

8:8 Moses and Aaron went out from Pharaoh. Moses cried to the Lord concerning the appointed limit for the frogs, as Pharaoh had set it.

8:9 The Lord did as Moses said. The frogs died in the houses, farmsteads, and fields.

8:10 They gathered them in heaps upon heaps, and the land stank.

8:11 When Pharaoh saw that there was relief, his heart became heavy and he did not listen to them, as the Lord had said.

8:12 And the Lord said to Moses, “Say to Aaron, ‘Stretch out the staff in your hand, and strike the dust of the earth; and there shall be gnats upon men and upon four-footed animals, and throughout all the land of Egypt.’”

8:13 Aaron stretched out the staff in his hand and struck the earth’s dust, and gnats came upon people and four-footed animals. Gnats appeared in all the earth’s dust throughout the land of Egypt.

8:14 The enchanters tried by their sorceries to bring forth gnats, but they could not. The gnats were on people and four-footed animals.

8:15 The enchanters said to Pharaoh, “This is the finger of God.” But Pharaoh’s heart was hardened, and he did not listen to them, as the Lord had said.

8:16 And the Lord said to Moses, “Rise early in the morning, and stand before Pharaoh; and behold, he shall go out to the water. And you shall say to him, ‘Thus says the Lord: Let My people go, that they may serve Me in the wilderness.

8:17 But if you will not let My people go, behold, I will send dog-flies upon you, and upon your attendants, and upon your people, and upon your houses; and the houses of the Egyptians shall be filled with dog-flies, and also the ground on which they stand.

8:18 And in that day I will marvellously distinguish the land of Goshen, in which My people dwell, so that no dog-flies shall be there; that you may know that I am the Lord, the Lord of all the earth.

8:19 And I will put a distinction between My people and your people; tomorrow this sign shall be upon the land.’”

8:20 The Lord did so. A multitude of dog-flies came into Pharaoh’s houses, his attendants’ houses, and all the land of Egypt. The land was ruined by the dog-flies.

8:21 Pharaoh called Moses and Aaron and said, “Go, sacrifice to your God within the land.”

8:22 Moses said, “This cannot be done, for we would sacrifice to the Lord our God what the Egyptians regard as abominations. If we sacrifice these before their eyes, we shall be stoned.

8:23 We will go a three days’ journey into the wilderness and sacrifice to the Lord our God, as He told us.”

8:24 And Pharaoh said, “I will let you go, and you shall sacrifice to the Lord your God in the wilderness; only you shall not go far away. Pray therefore to the Lord for me.”

8:25 And Moses said, “Behold, I will go out from you and pray to God; and tomorrow the dog-flies shall depart from you, and from your attendants, and from your people. Only do not deceive again, Pharaoh, by refusing to let the people go to sacrifice to the Lord.”

8:26 Moses went out from Pharaoh and prayed to God.

8:27 The Lord did as Moses said and removed the dog-flies from Pharaoh, his attendants, and his people. Not one remained.

8:28 Pharaoh made his heart heavy this time also and was unwilling to let the people go.

Exodus 9

9:1 And the Lord said to Moses, “Go in to Pharaoh, and you shall say to him, ‘Thus says the Lord, the God of the Hebrews: Let My people go, that they may serve Me.

9:2 But if you will not let My people go, and still hold them,

9:3 behold, the hand of the Lord shall be upon your livestock in the plains, upon the horses, and upon the beasts of burden, and upon the camels, and upon the cattle, and upon the sheep: an exceedingly great death.

9:4 At that time I will make a marvellous distinction between the Egyptians’ livestock and the sons of Israel’s livestock. Nothing belonging to the sons of Israel shall die.’”

9:5 God appointed a time, saying, “Tomorrow the Lord will do this in the land.”

9:6 The Lord did this the next day. All the Egyptians’ livestock died, but none of the sons of Israel’s livestock died.

9:7 Pharaoh saw that none of the sons of Israel’s livestock had died. Yet Pharaoh’s heart became heavy, and he did not let the people go.

9:8 The Lord said to Moses and Aaron, “Take handfuls of soot from a furnace, and let Moses scatter it toward heaven before Pharaoh and his attendants.

9:9 Let it become fine dust over all the land of Egypt. Boils, with blisters breaking out, shall come upon people and four-footed animals, on people and four-footed animals throughout Egypt.”

9:10 He took soot from the furnace before Pharaoh. Moses scattered it toward heaven, and boils with blisters broke out on people and four-footed animals.

9:11 The sorcerers could not stand before Moses because of the boils, for the boils were on the sorcerers and throughout the land of Egypt.

9:12 The Lord hardened Pharaoh’s heart, and he did not listen to them, as the Lord had commanded.

9:13 And the Lord said to Moses, “Rise early in the morning, and stand before Pharaoh, and you shall say to him, ‘Thus says the Lord, the God of the Hebrews: Let My people go, that they may serve Me.

9:14 For at this time I will send all My blows upon your heart, and upon your attendants and your people, that you may know that there is none other like Me in all the earth.

9:15 For now I will stretch out My hand and strike you and your people with death, and you shall be blotted out from the earth.

9:16 And for this reason you were preserved, that I might show My strength in you, and that My name might be proclaimed throughout all the earth.

9:17 Do you still act against My people, refusing to let them go?

9:18 At this time tomorrow I will rain down very abundant hail, such as has never been in Egypt from the day it was created until today.

9:19 Now therefore hurry to gather your livestock, and all that you have in the plain; for all the men and livestock found in the plain, who have not entered a house, shall die when the hail falls upon them.’”

9:20 He among Pharaoh’s attendants who feared the word of the Lord gathered his livestock into the houses.

9:21 But he who gave no heed in his mind to the word of the Lord left the livestock in the plains.

9:22 And the Lord said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand toward heaven, and there shall be hail throughout all the land of Egypt, upon men, and upon livestock, and upon every plant upon the earth.”

9:23 Moses stretched out his hand toward heaven. The Lord sent thunder and hail, and fire ran over the earth. The Lord rained hail upon all the land of Egypt.

9:24 There was hail, with fire flaming amid the hail. The hail was very, very abundant, such as had never been in Egypt since a nation came to be there.

9:25 Throughout Egypt the hail struck people and livestock. It struck every plant in the plains and shattered all the trees there.

9:26 Only in the land of Goshen, where the sons of Israel were, was there no hail.

9:27 Pharaoh sent for Moses and Aaron and said to them, “This time I have sinned. The Lord is righteous, and I and my people are ungodly.

9:28 Pray therefore to the Lord for me, and let the thunder of God, and the hail, and the fire cease; and I will let you go, and you shall remain no longer.”

9:29 And Moses said to him, “When I go out of the city, I will spread out my hands to the Lord; and the thunder shall cease, and there shall be no more hail or rain, that you may know that the earth is the Lord’s.

9:30 But as for you and your attendants, I know that you have not yet feared the Lord.”

9:31 The flax and barley were struck down, for the barley was standing ready and the flax was setting seed.

9:32 The wheat and spelt were not struck down, for they were late crops.

9:33 Moses left Pharaoh and went out of the city. He spread out his hands to the Lord, and the thunder and hail ceased. Rain no longer fell upon the earth.

9:34 When Pharaoh saw that the rain, hail, and thunder had ceased, he sinned again and made his heart and his attendants’ hearts heavy.

9:35 Pharaoh’s heart was hardened, and he did not let the sons of Israel go, as the Lord had spoken to Moses.

Exodus 10

10:1 The Lord said to Moses, “Go to Pharaoh, for I have hardened his heart and his attendants’ hearts, so that these signs may come upon them in succession,

10:2 that you may tell in the ears of your children, and of your children’s children, how I have mocked the Egyptians, and My signs which I have performed among them; and you shall know that I am the Lord.”

10:3 And Moses and Aaron went in before Pharaoh, and said to him, “Thus says the Lord, the God of the Hebrews: How long will you refuse to reverence Me? Let My people go, that they may serve Me.

10:4 But if you will not let My people go, behold, at this hour tomorrow I will bring many locusts upon all your borders.

10:5 And they shall cover the face of the land, and you shall not be able to see the land; and they shall devour all that remains of the land which the hail left to you, and every tree growing for you upon the land.

10:6 And your houses shall be filled, and the houses of your attendants, and all the houses throughout the land of the Egyptians, as neither your fathers nor their forefathers have ever seen, from the day they came upon the earth to this day." And Moses turned and went out from Pharaoh.

10:7 And Pharaoh's attendants said to him, "How long shall this be a hindrance to us? Let the men go, that they may serve their God. Or do you want to know that Egypt is destroyed?"

10:8 Moses and Aaron were brought back to Pharaoh. He said to them, "Go, serve your God. But who are those who will go?"

10:9 Moses said, "We will go with our young men and our elders, with our sons and our daughters, and with our sheep and our cattle, for it is a feast of the Lord our God."

10:10 And he said to them, "So be it, the Lord be with you! When I let you go, shall I also let your households go? Behold, evil lies before you.

10:11 Not so; let the men go, and serve God, for this is what you seek." And they drove them out from Pharaoh's presence.

10:12 And the Lord said to Moses, "Stretch out your hand over the land of Egypt, and let locusts come up upon the land; and they shall devour every plant of the land, and all the fruit of the trees which the hail has left."

10:13 Moses raised his staff toward heaven, and the Lord brought a south wind upon the land all that day and all that night. When morning came, the south wind carried up the locusts.

10:14 It brought them up over all the land of Egypt, and they settled throughout Egypt's territory in immense numbers. There had never been such locusts before, nor would there be afterward.

10:15 They covered the surface of the land, and the land was ruined. They devoured all the vegetation of the land and all the fruit of the trees that the hail had left. Nothing green remained on the trees or among the vegetation of the field throughout the land of Egypt.

10:16 Pharaoh hurried to call Moses and Aaron and said, "I have sinned before the Lord your God and against you.

10:17 Forgive my sin this once more, and pray to the Lord your God to remove this death from me."

10:18 Moses went out from Pharaoh and prayed to God.

10:19 The Lord turned a very strong wind from the sea. It lifted the locusts and cast them into the Red Sea. Not one locust remained in all Egypt's territory.

10:20 The Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he did not let the sons of Israel go.

10:21 And the Lord said to Moses, "Stretch out your hand toward heaven, and let there be darkness upon the land of Egypt, darkness that may be felt."

10:22 Moses stretched out his hand toward heaven, and there was darkness, gloom, and a tempest throughout the land of Egypt for three days.

10:23 No one saw his brother for three days, and no one rose from his bed for three days. But all the sons of Israel had light everywhere they lived.

10:24 Pharaoh called Moses and Aaron and said, "Go, serve the Lord your God. Only leave your sheep and your cattle behind. Let your household go with you."

10:25 And Moses said, "You shall also give us whole burnt offerings and sacrifices, which we shall offer to the Lord our God.

10:26 Our livestock must also go with us. We will not leave a hoof behind, for we must take some of them to serve the Lord our God. We will not know with what we must serve the Lord our God until we arrive there."

10:27 The Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he was unwilling to let them go.

10:28 And Pharaoh said, "Depart from me! Take care not to see my face again; for on the day you appear before me, you shall die."

10:29 And Moses said, "You have spoken; I will appear before your face no more."

Exodus 11

11:1 The Lord said to Moses, "I will bring one more plague upon Pharaoh and Egypt. Afterward he will let you go from here. When he lets you go, he will drive you out altogether, with everything.

11:2 Therefore speak secretly in the people's hearing, and let each man ask his neighbour and each woman her neighbour for articles of silver and gold and for clothing."

11:3 The Lord gave His people favour in the Egyptians' sight, and they lent to them. The man Moses became very great in the sight of the Egyptians, Pharaoh, and all his attendants.

11:4 Moses said, "Thus says the Lord: About midnight I will enter the midst of Egypt.

11:5 And every firstborn in the land of Egypt shall die, from the firstborn of Pharaoh who sits upon the throne, to the firstborn of the female slave beside the mill, and to the firstborn of every beast.

11:6 There shall be a great cry throughout the land of Egypt, such as there has never been and never will be again.

11:7 But among all the sons of Israel, from man to beast, not a dog shall growl with its tongue; that you may know how marvellously the Lord distinguishes between the Egyptians and Israel.

11:8 And all these servants of yours shall come down to me, and bow before me, saying, ‘Go out, you and all your people whom you lead.’ And after this I will go out.” And Moses departed from Pharaoh in anger.

11:9 The Lord said to Moses, “Pharaoh will not listen to you, so that I may greatly multiply My signs and wonders in the land of Egypt.”

11:10 Moses and Aaron performed all these signs and wonders in the land of Egypt before Pharaoh. The Lord hardened Pharaoh’s heart, and he was unwilling to send the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

Exodus 12

12:1 The Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt, saying,

12:2 “This month shall be the beginning of months for you; it shall be the first month of the year for you.

12:3 Speak to the whole congregation of the sons of Israel, saying: On the tenth day of this month, each shall take a sheep for the ancestral households, one sheep for each household.

12:4 If those in the house are too few to be sufficient for a sheep, he shall join with his nearest neighbour. According to the number of persons, each person’s sufficient portion shall be reckoned for the sheep.

12:5 Your sheep shall be without blemish, a male a year old; you shall take it from the lambs and from the young goats.

12:6 And you shall keep it until the fourteenth day of this month; and the whole multitude of the congregation of the sons of Israel shall slaughter it toward evening.

12:7 They shall take some of the blood and put it on the two doorposts and the lintel of the houses in which they eat them.

12:8 They shall eat the meat that night, roasted over fire, and eat unleavened bread with bitter herbs.

12:9 You shall eat none of it raw, nor boiled in water, but roasted with fire, its head together with its feet and inward parts.

12:10 You shall leave none of it until morning, and you shall not break a bone of it. Whatever remains until morning you shall burn with fire.

12:11 And this is how you shall eat it: your loins girded, your sandals upon your feet, and your staffs in your hands; and you shall eat it in haste. It is a Passover to the Lord.

12:12 I will go through the land of Egypt that night and strike every firstborn in the land of Egypt, both human and animal. Against all the Egyptians’ gods I will execute vengeance. I am the Lord.

12:13 And the blood shall be a sign to you upon the houses in which you are; and I will see the blood, and shelter you; and no plague of destruction shall be among you when I strike the land of Egypt.

12:14 This day shall be a memorial for you. You shall celebrate it as a feast to the Lord throughout all your generations; you shall celebrate it as a perpetual statute.

12:15 For seven days you shall eat unleavened bread, and from the first day you shall remove leaven out of your houses; whoever eats leaven, from the first day to the seventh day, that soul shall be destroyed from Israel.

12:16 The first day shall be called holy, and the seventh day shall be a holy appointed day for you. You shall do no servile work on them, except what must be done for each person; that alone may be done for you.

12:17 You shall keep this commandment, for on this day I will bring your host out of the land of Egypt. You shall observe this day throughout your generations as a perpetual statute.

12:18 Beginning on the fourteenth day of the first month, from evening until the evening of the twenty-first day of the month, you shall eat unleavened bread.

12:19 For seven days no leaven shall be found in your houses; whoever eats anything leavened, that soul shall be destroyed from the congregation of Israel, whether a resident foreigner or a native of the land.

12:20 You shall eat nothing leavened. In all your dwellings you shall eat unleavened bread.”

12:21 Moses called the whole council of elders of the sons of Israel and said to them, “Go and take a sheep for your families, and slaughter the Passover.

12:22 Take a bunch of hyssop, dip it in the blood beside the door, and touch the lintel and both doorposts with the blood beside the door. None of you shall go out of the door of his house until morning.

12:23 The Lord will pass through to strike the Egyptians. He will see the blood on the lintel and both doorposts, and the Lord will pass by the doorway. He will not allow the destroyer to enter your houses to strike.

12:24 And you shall keep this word as a statute for yourself and for your sons for ever.

12:25 And when you enter into the land which the Lord shall give to you, as He has spoken, you shall keep this service.

12:26 When your sons say to you, ‘What is this service?’

12:27 you shall say to them, ‘This Passover is a sacrifice to the Lord, because He sheltered the houses of the sons of Israel in Egypt when He struck the Egyptians and delivered our houses.’” The people bowed down and worshipped.

12:28 The sons of Israel went and did so. As the Lord had commanded Moses and Aaron, so they did.

12:29 At midnight the Lord struck every firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of Pharaoh who sat on the throne to the firstborn of the captive woman in the pit, and the firstborn of every animal of the livestock.

12:30 Pharaoh rose during the night, with all his attendants and all the Egyptians. There was a great cry throughout the land of Egypt, for there was no house without someone dead.

12:31 And Pharaoh called Moses and Aaron by night, and said to them, “Rise and depart from among my people, both you and the sons of Israel; go, serve the Lord your God, as you say.

12:32 Take your sheep and your cattle, and go. Bless me also.”

12:33 The Egyptians pressed the people hard to drive them quickly out of the land, for they said, “We are all dying!”

12:34 The people took their dough before it was leavened, with their kneaded batches wrapped in their garments on their shoulders.

12:35 The sons of Israel did as Moses had instructed them. They asked the Egyptians for articles of silver and gold and for clothing.

12:36 The Lord gave His people favour in the Egyptians’ sight, and they lent to them. Thus they plundered the Egyptians.

12:37 The sons of Israel departed from Rameses for Succoth, about six hundred thousand men on foot, apart from the household company.

12:38 A great mixed multitude also went up with them, together with sheep and cattle and livestock in great abundance.

12:39 They baked the dough they had brought from Egypt into unleavened hearth-cakes, because it was not leavened. The Egyptians had driven them out, and they could not stay; nor had they prepared provisions for the journey.

12:40 The time the sons of Israel lived in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan was four hundred and thirty years.

12:41 After the four hundred and thirty years, all the Lord’s host went out from the land of Egypt.

12:42 It is a night vigil for the Lord, to bring them out of the land of Egypt. This same night is a vigil for the Lord for all the sons of Israel throughout their generations.

12:43 The Lord said to Moses and Aaron, “This is the law of the Passover: no foreigner shall eat of it.

12:44 And every man’s household slave, or one bought with silver, you shall circumcise; and then he shall eat of it.

12:45 A sojourner or a hired worker shall not eat of it.

12:46 It shall be eaten in one house. You shall not take any of the meat outside the house, and you shall not break a bone of it.

12:47 The whole congregation of the sons of Israel shall observe it.

12:48 But if a resident foreigner comes to you to keep the Passover to the Lord, you shall circumcise every male belonging to him; and then he shall draw near to keep it, and shall be as the native of the land. No uncircumcised person shall eat of it.

12:49 There shall be one law for the native, and for the resident foreigner who has come among you.”

12:50 The sons of Israel did so. As the Lord had commanded Moses and Aaron concerning them, so they did.

12:51 On that day the Lord brought the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt with their host.

Exodus 13

13:1 The Lord spoke to Moses, saying,

13:2 “Consecrate to Me every firstborn, the first offspring opening every womb among the sons of Israel, both human and animal. It is Mine.”

13:3 And Moses said to the people, “Remember this day, in which you came out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage; for with a mighty hand the Lord brought you out from here; and no leaven shall be eaten.

13:4 For today you go out, in the month of new grain.

13:5 And when the Lord your God brings you into the land of the Canaanites, and Hittites, and Hivites, and Girgashites, and Amorites, and Perizzites, and Jebusites, which He swore to your fathers to give you, a land flowing with milk and honey, you shall keep this service in this month.

13:6 You shall eat unleavened bread for six days, and on the seventh day there shall be a feast of the Lord.

13:7 For seven days you shall eat unleavened bread; no leavened thing shall be seen with you, neither shall there be leaven with you within all your borders.

13:8 And you shall declare to your son in that day, saying, ‘It is because of this that the Lord God acted for me when I came out of Egypt.’

13:9 And it shall be to you a sign upon your hand, and a memorial before your eyes, that the law of the Lord may be in your mouth; for with a mighty hand the Lord God brought you out of Egypt.

13:10 You shall keep this law at the appointed times of the seasons, from year to year.

13:11 And when the Lord your God brings you into the land of the Canaanites, as He swore to your fathers, and gives it to you,

13:12 you shall set apart to the Lord all that opens the womb, the males; every male that opens the womb among the herds or among your livestock, whatever shall be born to you, you shall consecrate to the Lord.

13:13 Every donkey that opens the womb you shall exchange for a sheep; and if you do not exchange it, you shall redeem it. Every firstborn of man among your sons you shall redeem.

13:14 And if your son asks you later, saying, ‘What is this?’ you shall say to him, ‘With a mighty hand the Lord brought us out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

13:15 When Pharaoh stubbornly refused to let us go, He killed every firstborn in the land of Egypt, both human firstborn and firstborn of the livestock. Therefore I sacrifice to the Lord every male that opens the womb, and every firstborn of my sons I will redeem.’

13:16 And it shall be a sign upon your hand, and a fixed reminder before your eyes; for with a mighty hand the Lord brought you out of Egypt.”

13:17 When Pharaoh let the people go, God did not guide them by the road through the land of the Philistines, because it was near. For God said, “The people may change their minds when they see war and return to Egypt.”

13:18 God led the people around by the road into the wilderness toward the Red Sea. The sons of Israel went up from the land of Egypt in the fifth generation.

13:19 Moses took Joseph’s bones with him, for Joseph had made the sons of Israel swear an oath, saying, “The Lord will surely visit you, and you shall carry my bones up from here with you.”

13:20 The sons of Israel departed from Succoth and camped at Etham, beside the wilderness.

13:21 God led them by day in a pillar of cloud to show them the way, and by night in a pillar of fire.

13:22 The pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night did not cease before all the people.

Exodus 14

14:1 The Lord spoke to Moses, saying,

14:2 “Speak to the sons of Israel, that they turn back and encamp opposite the settlement, between Migdol and the sea, opposite Baal-zephon; before them you shall encamp by the sea.

14:3 Pharaoh will say to his people, ‘These sons of Israel are wandering in the land, for the wilderness has shut them in.’

14:4 I will harden Pharaoh’s heart, and he will pursue them. I will be glorified through Pharaoh and all his army, and all the Egyptians will know that I am the Lord.” They did so.

14:5 The king of the Egyptians was told that the people had fled. Pharaoh and his attendants had a change of heart toward the people and said, “What have we done, sending the sons of Israel away so that they no longer serve us?”

14:6 Pharaoh harnessed his chariots and took all his people with him.

14:7 He took six hundred chosen chariots, all the Egyptians’ horse force, and officers over all.

14:8 The Lord hardened the heart of Pharaoh king of Egypt and of his attendants, and he pursued the sons of Israel. The sons of Israel were going out with a high hand.

14:9 The Egyptians pursued them and found them camped by the sea. All Pharaoh’s horse force and chariots, his horsemen, and his army were opposite the settlement, opposite Baal-zephon.

14:10 Pharaoh drew near. The sons of Israel looked up and saw the Egyptians camped behind them. They were very afraid, and the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord.

14:11 And they said to Moses, “Was it because there were no tombs in the land of Egypt that you brought us out to put us to death in the wilderness? What is this that you have done to us, bringing us out of Egypt?

14:12 Was this not the word which we spoke to you in Egypt, saying, ‘Leave us, that we may serve the Egyptians’? For it is better for us to serve the Egyptians than to die in this wilderness.”

14:13 And Moses said to the people, “Take courage; stand, and behold the salvation from God, which He shall accomplish for us today. For as you have seen the Egyptians today, you shall see them no more for ever.

14:14 The Lord shall fight for you, and you shall keep silence.”

14:15 And the Lord said to Moses, “Why do you cry to Me? Speak to the sons of Israel, that they set forth.

14:16 And lift up with your staff, and stretch out your hand over the sea, and divide it; and let the sons of Israel enter into the midst of the sea upon dry ground.

14:17 Behold, I will harden the heart of Pharaoh and of all the Egyptians, and they will enter after them. I will be glorified through Pharaoh and all his army, his chariots, and his horses.

14:18 All the Egyptians will know that I am the Lord when I am glorified through Pharaoh, his chariots, and his horses.”

14:19 The angel of God, who went before the camp of the sons of Israel, moved and went behind them. The pillar of cloud also moved from before them and stood behind them.

14:20 It came between the Egyptians’ camp and Israel’s camp and stood there. There were darkness and gloom, and the night passed. They did not mingle with one another all night.

14:21 Moses stretched out his hand over the sea. The Lord drove the sea back with a violent south wind all night and made the sea dry. The water was split.

14:22 The sons of Israel entered the midst of the sea on dry ground, and the water was a wall for them on the right and a wall on the left.

14:23 The Egyptians pursued them, and all Pharaoh’s horses, the chariots, and the riders entered after them into the midst of the sea.

14:24 During the morning watch, the Lord looked on the Egyptians’ camp in a pillar of fire and cloud and threw the Egyptians’ camp into confusion.

14:25 He bound the axles of their chariots and drove them with force. The Egyptians said, “Let us flee from Israel, for the Lord is fighting for them against the Egyptians.”

14:26 And the Lord said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand over the sea, and let the water return and cover the Egyptians, both their chariots and their riders.”

14:27 Moses stretched out his hand over the sea, and toward daybreak the water returned to its place. The Egyptians fled beneath the water, and the Lord shook the Egyptians into the midst of the sea.

14:28 The water returned and covered the chariots, the riders, and all Pharaoh’s force that had entered the sea after them. Not one of them remained.

14:29 But the sons of Israel walked on dry ground in the midst of the sea, and the water was a wall for them on the right and a wall on the left.

14:30 The Lord rescued Israel that day from the Egyptians’ hand, and Israel saw the Egyptians dead on the seashore.

14:31 Israel saw the great hand in what the Lord had done to the Egyptians. The people feared the Lord and trusted God and His attendant Moses.

Exodus 15

15:1 Then Moses and the sons of Israel sang this song to God, saying: “Let us sing to the Lord, for He has been gloriously glorified; horse and rider He has cast into the sea.

15:2 He has become a helper and a shelter to me for salvation; He is my God, and I will glorify Him; the God of my father, and I will exalt Him.

15:3 The Lord shatters wars; the Lord is His name.

15:4 Pharaoh’s chariots and his host He has cast into the sea; chosen riders, officers, He has drowned in the Red Sea.

15:5 With the sea He covered them; they sank into the deep as a stone.

15:6 Thy right hand, O Lord, has been glorified in strength; Thy right hand, O Lord, has shattered enemies.

15:7 And in the abundance of Thy glory Thou didst shatter Thine adversaries; Thou didst send forth Thy wrath, and it devoured them as stubble.

15:8 And by the breath of Thy wrath the water parted; the waters stood fast as a wall; the waves stood fast in the midst of the sea.

15:9 The enemy said, ‘I will pursue and overtake; I will divide the spoil; I will fill my soul; I will slay with my sword; my hand shall have dominion.’

15:10 Thou didst send forth Thy wind, and the sea covered them; they sank as lead in mighty waters.

15:11 Who is like Thee among the gods, O Lord? Who is like Thee, glorified among the holy ones, marvellous in glories, working wonders?

15:12 Thou didst stretch forth Thy right hand; the earth swallowed them.

15:13 In Thy righteousness Thou didst guide this people of Thine whom Thou didst redeem; in Thy strength Thou didst comfort them to Thy holy dwelling.

15:14 The nations heard and were angry; pangs took hold of the inhabitants of Philistia.

15:15 Then the leaders of Edom hastened; and trembling seized the rulers of Moab; all the inhabitants of Canaan melted away.

15:16 May fear and trembling fall upon them; by the greatness of Thine arm let them become as stone, until Thy people pass over, O Lord, until this people of Thine whom Thou hast purchased pass over.

15:17 Bring them in, and plant them in the mountain of Thine inheritance, in Thy prepared dwelling which Thou hast wrought, O Lord; the sanctuary, O Lord, which Thy hands have made ready.

15:18 The Lord reigns for ever and ever, and beyond."

15:19 For Pharaoh's horses entered the sea with chariots and riders, and the Lord brought the water of the sea over them. But the sons of Israel walked on dry ground in the midst of the sea.

15:20 Miriam the prophetess, Aaron's sister, took a timbrel in her hand, and all the women went out after her with timbrels and dances.

15:21 And Miriam led them in song, saying, "Let us sing to the Lord, for He has been gloriously glorified; horse and rider He has cast into the sea."

15:22 Moses led the sons of Israel onward from the Red Sea and brought them into the wilderness of Shur. They travelled three days in the wilderness without finding water to drink.

15:23 They came to Marah but could not drink its water because it was bitter. Therefore that place was named Bitterness.

15:24 The people murmured against Moses, saying, "What shall we drink?"

15:25 And Moses cried to the Lord; and the Lord showed him a piece of wood, and he cast it into the water, and the water was made sweet. There He appointed ordinances and judgments for him, and there He tested him,

15:26 and said, "If you diligently listen to the voice of the Lord your God, and do what is pleasing before Him, and give ear to His commandments, and keep all His ordinances, I will bring upon you none of the diseases which I brought upon the Egyptians; for I am the Lord who heals you."

15:27 They came to Elim, where there were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trunks, and they camped there beside the water.

Exodus 16

16:1 They journeyed from Elim, and the whole congregation of the sons of Israel came to the wilderness of Sin, between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the second month after leaving the land of Egypt.

16:2 The whole congregation of the sons of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron.

16:3 The sons of Israel said to them, "If only we had died, struck by the Lord in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the meat pots and ate our fill of bread! You have brought us into this wilderness to kill this whole congregation with hunger."

16:4 The Lord said to Moses, "Behold, I am raining bread from heaven for you. The people shall go out and gather each day's portion, so that I may test whether they will walk in My law or not.

16:5 On the sixth day they shall prepare what they bring in, and it shall be twice what they gather each day."

16:6 Moses and Aaron said to the whole congregation of the sons of Israel, "In the evening you shall know that the Lord brought you out of the land of Egypt,

16:7 and in the morning you shall see the glory of the Lord, when He hears your murmuring against God. And what are we, that you murmur against us?"

16:8 And Moses said, "When the Lord gives you meat to eat in the evening, and bread in the morning until you are full, it is because the Lord has heard your murmuring with which you murmur against us. And what are we? For your murmuring is not against us, but against God."

16:9 Moses said to Aaron, "Tell the whole congregation of the sons of Israel, 'Come near before God, for He has heard your murmuring.'"

16:10 As Aaron spoke to the whole congregation of the sons of Israel, they turned toward the wilderness, and the Lord's glory appeared in a cloud.

16:11 The Lord spoke to Moses, saying,

16:12 "I have heard the sons of Israel's murmuring. Tell them: Toward evening you shall eat meat, and in the morning you shall have your fill of bread. You shall know that I am the Lord your God."

16:13 Evening came, and quail came up and covered the camp. In the morning, as the dew around the camp was subsiding, 16:14 there on the surface of the wilderness was something fine, like white coriander, like frost on the ground.

16:15 When the sons of Israel saw it, they said to one another, “What is this?” For they did not know what it was. Moses said to them, “This is the bread the Lord has given you to eat.

16:16 This is what the Lord commanded: Gather from it, each for those belonging to him, an omer per person according to your number. Each of you shall gather with your tent companions.”

16:17 The sons of Israel did so and gathered, some much and some little.

16:18 They measured it by the omer. The one with much had no excess, and the one with little had no lack. Each gathered for those belonging to his household.

16:19 Moses said to them, “Let no one leave any of it until morning.”

16:20 They did not listen to Moses. Some left part of it until morning, and it swarmed with worms and stank. Moses was embittered against them.

16:21 They gathered it morning by morning, each what he needed. When the sun grew hot, it melted.

16:22 On the sixth day they gathered twice what was needed, two omers per person. All the congregation’s leaders came in and reported it to Moses.

16:23 And Moses said to them, “This is the word which the Lord has spoken: Tomorrow is a Sabbath, a holy rest to the Lord. What you would bake, bake; and what you would boil, boil; and all that remains, lay up to keep until morning.”

16:24 They left some of it until morning, as Moses instructed them. It did not stink, and no worm was in it.

16:25 Moses said, “Eat today, for today is a Sabbath to the Lord. It will not be found in the field.

16:26 You shall gather for six days, but the seventh day is a Sabbath; there will be none on it.”

16:27 On the seventh day some of the people went out to gather, but they found none.

16:28 And the Lord said to Moses, “How long will you refuse to listen to My commandments and My law?

16:29 Behold, the Lord has given you this day, the Sabbath. Therefore on the sixth day He gave you bread for two days. Each of you shall stay in your houses; no one shall go out from his place on the seventh day.”

16:30 The people kept Sabbath on the seventh day.

16:31 The sons of Israel called it Man. It was like coriander seed, white, and tasted like a cake with honey.

16:32 And Moses said, “This is the word which the Lord has commanded: Fill an omer with manna to keep throughout your generations, that they may see the bread which you ate in the wilderness, when the Lord brought you out of the land of Egypt.”

16:33 Moses said to Aaron, “Take one golden jar, put an omerful of manna in it, and set it before God to keep throughout your generations.”

16:34 As the Lord instructed Moses, Aaron set it before the Testimony to keep.

16:35 The sons of Israel ate manna for forty years, until they came to the inhabited land. They ate manna until they reached the region of Phoenicia.

16:36 An omer was one-tenth of the three measures.

Exodus 17

17:1 The whole congregation of the sons of Israel set out from the wilderness of Sin by their encampments, at the Lord’s word, and camped at Rephidim. There was no water for the people to drink.

17:2 And the people reviled Moses, saying, “Give us water, that we may drink.” And Moses said to them, “Why do you revile me? And why do you test the Lord?”

17:3 And the people thirsted there for water, and murmured against Moses, saying, “Why have you brought us up out of Egypt, to kill us and our children and our livestock with thirst?”

17:4 Moses cried out to the Lord, “What shall I do with this people? A little more, and they will stone me to death!”

17:5 And the Lord said to Moses, “Go before this people, and take with you some of the elders of the people; and take in your hand the staff with which you struck the river, and go.

17:6 Behold, I stand before you there upon the rock in Horeb; and you shall strike the rock, and water shall come forth from it, and My people shall drink.” And Moses did so before the sons of Israel.

17:7 He named that place Testing and Reviling because the sons of Israel reviled and tested the Lord, saying, “Is the Lord among us or not?”

17:8 Amalek came and fought with Israel at Rephidim.

17:9 And Moses said to Joshua, “Choose for yourself able men, and go out and draw up for battle against Amalek tomorrow; and behold, I shall stand upon the summit of the hill, with the staff of God in my hand.”

17:10 Joshua did as Moses had told him and went out to take his stand against Amalek. Moses, Aaron, and Hur went up to the top of the hill.

17:11 Whenever Moses raised his hands, Israel prevailed; whenever he lowered his hands, Amalek prevailed.

17:12 Moses' hands were heavy. They took a stone, put it beneath him, and he sat on it. Aaron and Hur steadied his hands, one on each side, so that Moses' hands remained supported until sunset.

17:13 Joshua routed Amalek and all his people with the slaughter of the sword.

17:14 The Lord said to Moses, "Write this as a memorial in a book and deliver it in Joshua's hearing: I will utterly blot out Amalek's remembrance from under heaven."

17:15 Moses built an altar to the Lord and named it The Lord Is My Refuge.

17:16 For with a hidden hand the Lord fights against Amalek from generation to generation.

Exodus 18

18:1 Jethro, the priest of Midian and Moses' father-in-law, heard all that the Lord had done for Israel His own people, for the Lord had brought Israel out of Egypt.

18:2 Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, took Zipporah, Moses' wife, after she had been sent away,

18:3 and his two sons. One of them was named Gershom, for Moses had said, "I was a sojourner in a foreign land."

18:4 The second was named Eliezer, for he had said, "My father's God was my helper and delivered me from Pharaoh's hand."

18:5 Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, went out with the sons and the wife to Moses in the wilderness, where he camped at God's mountain.

18:6 Moses was told, "Behold, your father-in-law Jethro comes to you, and your wife and your two sons with him."

18:7 Moses went out to meet his father-in-law, bowed before him, and kissed him. They greeted one another, and he brought him into the tent.

18:8 Moses told his father-in-law everything the Lord had done to Pharaoh and the Egyptians for Israel's sake, all the hardship they had met on the journey, and how the Lord had delivered them from Pharaoh's hand and the Egyptians' hand.

18:9 Jethro was amazed at all the good the Lord had done for them in delivering them from the Egyptians' hand and Pharaoh's hand.

18:10 Jethro said, "Blessed be the Lord, for He delivered His people from the Egyptians' hand and Pharaoh's hand.

18:11 Now I know that the Lord is greater than all gods, because of this, because they attacked them."

18:12 Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, took whole burnt offerings and sacrifices for God. Aaron and all Israel's elders came to eat bread with Moses' father-in-law before God.

18:13 After the next day Moses sat to judge the people, and all the people stood before Moses from morning until evening.

18:14 And when Jethro saw all that he did to the people, he said, "What is this that you do to the people? Why do you sit alone, while all the people stand before you from morning until evening?"

18:15 Moses said to his father-in-law, "The people come to me to seek judgment from God.

18:16 When they have a dispute and come to me, I judge each case and instruct them in God's ordinances and His law."

18:17 And Moses' father-in-law said to him, "You are not doing this rightly.

18:18 You shall be worn out with unbearable exhaustion, both you and all this people who are with you; this matter is heavy for you, and you cannot do it alone.

18:19 Now therefore listen to me, and I will counsel you, and God shall be with you. Represent the people in matters pertaining to God, and bring their words to God.

18:20 And you shall solemnly instruct them in the ordinances of God and His law, and show them the ways in which they shall walk, and the works which they shall do.

18:21 And choose for yourself from all the people able men who fear God, righteous men who hate arrogance; and you shall set them over the people as rulers of thousands, and rulers of hundreds, and rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens.

18:22 And they shall judge the people at all times; the weighty matter they shall bring to you, but the lesser judgments they shall judge themselves; and they shall lighten your burden, and bear it with you.

18:23 If you do this thing, God shall strengthen you, and you shall be able to stand; and all this people shall come to their own place in peace."

18:24 Moses listened to his father-in-law and did all that he said.

18:25 Moses chose capable men from all Israel and appointed them over the people as leaders of thousands, hundreds, fifties, and tens.

18:26 They judged the people at all times. They brought every weighty matter to Moses, but judged every light matter themselves.

18:27 Moses sent his father-in-law on his way, and he went to his own land.

Exodus 19

19:1 In the third month after the sons of Israel left the land of Egypt, on that day they came to the wilderness of Sinai.

19:2 They journeyed from Rephidim and came to the wilderness of Sinai. Israel camped there opposite the mountain.

19:3 And Moses went up to the mountain of God; and God called to him from the mountain, saying, “This is what you shall say to the house of Jacob, and declare to the sons of Israel:

19:4 ‘You yourselves have seen all that I have done to the Egyptians, and I bore you as upon eagles’ wings, and brought you to Myself.

19:5 Now therefore, if you diligently listen to My voice, and keep My covenant, you shall be to Me a treasured people from among all the nations; for all the earth is Mine.

19:6 And you shall be to Me a royal priesthood and a holy nation.’ These are the words which you shall speak to the sons of Israel.”

19:7 Moses came, called the people’s elders, and set before them all these words which God had commanded him.

19:8 All the people answered with one accord, “We will do everything God has said, and we will obey.” Moses brought the people’s words to God.

19:9 And the Lord said to Moses, “Behold, I come to you in a pillar of cloud, that the people may hear Me speaking to you, and believe you for ever.” And Moses declared the words of the people to the Lord.

19:10 The Lord said to Moses, “Go down, solemnly warn the people, and purify them today and tomorrow. Let them wash their garments

19:11 and be ready for the third day, for on the third day the Lord will come down on Mount Sinai in the sight of all the people.

19:12 And you shall set bounds for the people all around, saying, ‘Take care not to go up the mountain or touch any part of it; whoever touches the mountain shall surely die.

19:13 No hand shall touch him; for he shall surely be stoned, or shot through with a dart; whether beast or man, he shall not live. When the sounds and the trumpets and the cloud depart from the mountain, they shall go up upon the mountain.’”

19:14 Moses went down from the mountain to the people and consecrated them, and they washed their garments.

19:15 He said to the people, “Be ready for three days. Do not approach a woman.”

19:16 Toward dawn on the third day there were thunder and lightning and a dark cloud over Mount Sinai. The trumpet sounded loudly, and all the people in the camp were terrified.

19:17 Moses brought the people out of the camp to meet God, and they stood beneath the mountain.

19:18 Mount Sinai was entirely covered with smoke because God had descended on it in fire. The smoke rose like the smoke of a furnace, and all the people were greatly astonished.

19:19 The trumpet’s sounds grew much stronger. Moses spoke, and God answered him with a voice.

19:20 The Lord descended on Mount Sinai, to the top of the mountain. The Lord called Moses to the top of the mountain, and Moses went up.

19:21 God said to Moses, “Go down and solemnly warn the people, lest they come near God to gaze and a multitude of them fall.

19:22 Let the priests who approach the Lord God consecrate themselves, lest the Lord depart from them.”

19:23 And Moses said to God, “The people cannot come up to Mount Sinai; for Thou hast solemnly warned us, saying, ‘Set bounds about the mountain, and consecrate it.’”

19:24 And the Lord said to him, “Go, descend, and come up, you and Aaron with you; but do not let the priests and the people force their way up to God, lest the Lord destroy some of them.”

19:25 Moses went down to the people and spoke to them.

Exodus 20

20:1 The Lord spoke all these words, saying,

20:2 “I am the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

20:3 You shall have no other gods except Me.

20:4 You shall not make for yourself an idol, nor any likeness of things in heaven above, or in the earth beneath, or in the waters under the earth.

20:5 You shall not bow down to them, neither shall you serve them; for I am the Lord your God, a jealous God, repaying the sins of fathers upon children to the third and fourth generation of those who hate Me,

20:6 and showing mercy to thousands, to those who love Me and keep My ordinances.

20:7 You shall not take the name of the Lord your God in vain; for the Lord shall by no means hold him guiltless who takes His name in vain.

20:8 Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy.

20:9 For six days you shall labour and do all your works;

20:10 but the seventh day is a Sabbath to the Lord your God. You shall do no work on it: you, and your son, and your daughter, your male slave, and your female slave, your ox, and your beast of burden, and all your livestock, and the resident foreigner who dwells with you.

20:11 For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth and the sea and everything in them, and rested on the seventh day. Therefore the Lord blessed the seventh day and made it holy.

20:12 Honour your father and your mother, that it may be well with you, and that your days may be long upon the good land which the Lord your God gives you.

20:13 You shall not commit adultery.

20:14 You shall not steal.

20:15 You shall not murder.

20:16 You shall not bear false witness against your neighbour.

20:17 You shall not covet your neighbour's wife. You shall not covet your neighbour's house, nor his field, nor his male slave, nor his female slave, nor his ox, nor his beast of burden, nor any of his livestock, nor anything that is your neighbour's."

20:18 All the people saw the sound, the flashes, the trumpet's sound, and the smoking mountain. All the people were afraid and stood far away.

20:19 And they said to Moses, "Speak to us yourself, and do not let God speak to us, lest we die."

20:20 And Moses said to them, "Take courage; for God has come to you to test you, that His fear may be in you, so that you do not sin."

20:21 The people stood far away, while Moses entered the thick darkness where God was.

20:22 And the Lord said to Moses, "This is what you shall say to the house of Jacob, and declare to the sons of Israel: 'You have seen that I have spoken to you from heaven.

20:23 You shall not make gods of silver for yourselves, nor shall you make gods of gold for yourselves.

20:24 You shall make an altar of earth to Me and sacrifice on it your whole burnt offerings and your sacrifices of deliverance, your sheep and your calves, in every place where I name My name; and I will come to you and bless you.

20:25 But if you make Me an altar of stones, you shall not build with hewn stones; for you have laid your blade upon them, and they are defiled.

20:26 You shall not go up by steps to My altar, lest you uncover your nakedness on it.'"

Exodus 21

21:1 "And these are the ordinances which you shall set before them.

21:2 If you acquire a Hebrew slave, he shall serve you for six years; and in the seventh year he shall go out free, without payment.

21:3 If he comes in alone, he shall go out alone; but if a wife comes in with him, his wife shall also go out with him.

21:4 But if his master gives him a wife, and she bears him sons or daughters, the wife and the children shall be his master's, and he shall go out alone.

21:5 But if the slave answers and says, 'I love my master, and my wife, and my children; I will not go out free,'

21:6 his master shall bring him before God's tribunal, and then bring him to the door, to the doorpost. His master shall pierce his ear with an awl, and he shall serve him for ever.

21:7 And if a man sells his own daughter as a household slave, she shall not go out as the female slaves go out.

21:8 If she does not please her master, who pledged her to himself, he shall redeem her; he has no right to sell her to a foreign nation, because he has broken faith with her.

21:9 But if he pledges her to his son, he shall deal with her according to the ordinance for daughters.

21:10 And if he takes another wife to himself, he shall not deprive her of her necessities, her clothing, or her conjugal companionship.

21:11 But if he does not do these three things for her, she shall go out freely, without silver.

21:12 And if a man strikes another, and he dies, the one who struck him shall surely be put to death.

21:13 But if he did not act willingly, and God delivered him into his hands, I will give you a place where the slayer shall flee.

21:14 But if a man attacks his neighbour to kill him by deceit, and flees for refuge, you shall take him from My altar to put him to death.

21:15 He who strikes his father or his mother shall surely be put to death.

21:16 He who reviles his father or his mother shall surely die.

21:17 And if a man steals one of the sons of Israel, and overpowers him and sells him, and he is found with him, he shall surely die.

21:18 And if two men quarrel, and one strikes his neighbour with a stone or with his fist, and he does not die, but lies on his bed,

21:19 if the man rises and walks outside with a staff, the one who struck him shall be guiltless; only he shall pay for his lost labour and his healing.

21:20 And if a man strikes his male slave or his female slave with a rod, and the slave dies under his hands, he shall surely be avenged by judgment.

21:21 But if the slave survives a day or two, he shall not be avenged; for he is his silver.

21:22 And if two men fight and strike a woman with child, and her child comes out not fully formed, he shall surely be fined; as the woman's husband shall impose on him, he shall pay according to an assessment.

21:23 But if it was fully formed, he shall give life for life,

21:24 eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot,

21:25 burn for burn, wound for wound, bruise for bruise.

21:26 And if a man strikes the eye of his household slave or of his female slave, and blinds it, he shall set them free for their eye.

21:27 And if he knocks out the tooth of his household slave or of his female slave, he shall set them free for their tooth.

21:28 And if a bull gores a man or a woman, and the person dies, the bull shall surely be stoned, and its flesh shall not be eaten; but the owner of the bull shall be guiltless.

21:29 But if the bull was in the habit of goring before, and its owner has been warned, and he does not remove it, and it kills a man or a woman, the bull shall be stoned, and its owner also shall die.

21:30 But if a ransom is imposed on him, he shall give for the ransom of his life all that they impose on him.

21:31 Whether it gores a son or a daughter, they shall deal with him according to this ordinance.

21:32 And if the bull gores a male slave or a female slave, he shall give thirty didrachmas of silver to their master, and the bull shall be stoned.

21:33 And if a man opens a pit, or hews out a pit, and does not cover it, and a calf or donkey falls in it,

21:34 the owner of the pit shall make restitution. He shall give silver to the animal's owner, and the dead animal shall be his.

21:35 And if a man's bull gores his neighbour's bull, and it dies, they shall sell the living bull and divide its silver; and they shall also divide the dead bull.

21:36 But if the bull is known to have been in the habit of goring before, and its owner has been warned, and he does not remove it, he shall repay bull for bull; and the dead bull shall be his.

21:37 And if a man steals a calf or a sheep, and slaughters it or sells it, he shall repay five calves for the calf, and four sheep for the sheep."

Exodus 22

22:1 "And if the thief is found breaking in, and is struck and dies, there is no murder in his case.

22:2 But if the sun has risen upon him, he is guilty; he shall die in return. And if he has nothing, let him be sold for the theft.

22:3 But if he is caught, and the stolen thing is found alive in his hand, from donkey to sheep, he shall repay them double.

22:4 And if a man grazes a field or a vineyard, and lets his beast graze another field, he shall repay from his own field according to its yield; but if it grazes the whole field, he shall repay the best of his field and the best of his vineyard.

22:5 And if fire breaks out and catches thorns, and burns a threshing floor, or standing grain, or a plain, he who kindled the fire shall make restitution.

22:6 And if a man gives his neighbour silver or goods to keep, and they are stolen from the man's house, if the thief is found, he shall repay double.

22:7 But if the thief is not found, the master of the house shall come before God and swear that he has not dealt wickedly with any of his neighbour's deposit.

22:8 In every alleged wrong concerning a calf, beast of burden, sheep, garment, or any disputed loss, whatever it may be, the case of both parties shall come before God. Whoever is convicted through God shall repay his neighbour double.

22:9 And if a man gives his neighbour a beast of burden, or a calf, or a sheep, or any beast to keep, and it is injured, or dies, or is taken captive, and no one knows,

22:10 an oath by God shall be between them that he has not acted dishonestly concerning any of his neighbour's deposit. The owner shall accept it, and he shall not make restitution.

22:11 But if it was stolen from him, he shall make restitution to its owner.

22:12 If it was taken by a wild animal, he shall bring the owner to the prey, and he shall not make restitution.

22:13 And if a man borrows from his neighbour, and it is injured, or dies, or is taken captive, and its owner is not with it, he shall make restitution.

22:14 But if its owner is with it, he shall not make restitution; and if it is hired, it shall be reckoned against its hire.

22:15 And if a man deceives a virgin who is not betrothed, and lies with her, he shall surely give the marriage payment for her to be his wife.

22:16 But if her father firmly refuses, and is unwilling to give her to him as a wife, he shall pay silver to the father according to the marriage payment for virgins.

22:17 You shall not preserve sorcerers alive.

22:18 Everyone who lies with a beast, you shall surely put to death.

22:19 He who sacrifices to gods, except to the Lord alone, shall surely be destroyed.

22:20 And you shall not ill-treat a resident foreigner, neither shall you afflict him; for you were resident foreigners in the land of Egypt.

22:21 You shall not mistreat any widow or orphan.

22:22 But if you afflict them, and they cry aloud to Me, I will surely listen to their voice,

22:23 I will be angry with wrath and kill you with the sword. Your wives will become widows and your children orphans.

22:24 And if you lend silver to your poor brother beside you, you shall not press him hard, neither shall you lay interest upon him.

22:25 And if you take your neighbour's garment in pledge, you shall restore it to him before the setting of the sun;

22:26 for this is his covering, his only garment for his nakedness; What shall he sleep in? If therefore he cries to Me, I will listen to him; for I am merciful.

22:27 You shall not revile gods, neither shall you speak evil of the rulers of your people.

22:28 You shall not delay the firstfruits of your threshing floor and your winepress; you shall give Me the firstborn of your sons.

22:29 You shall do the same with your calf, and your sheep, and your beast of burden; it shall be under its mother for seven days, and on the eighth day you shall give it to Me.

22:30 You shall be holy people to Me. You shall not eat flesh taken by wild animals; throw it to the dog."

Exodus 23

23:1 "You shall not receive an empty report. You shall not agree with the unrighteous to become an unrighteous witness.

23:2 You shall not join the many in evil; neither shall you join a multitude in turning aside with the many, to turn aside judgment.

23:3 Neither shall you favour a poor man in judgment.

23:4 And if you meet your enemy's ox or his beast of burden wandering, you shall surely turn it back and restore it to him.

23:5 And if you see your enemy's beast of burden fallen beneath its load, you shall not pass it by; but you shall raise it up together with him.

23:6 You shall not pervert the judgment of a poor man in his cause.

23:7 You shall keep far away from every unrighteous charge; the innocent and the righteous you shall not kill, neither shall you justify the ungodly for gifts.

23:8 And you shall receive no gifts; for gifts blind the eyes of those who see, and corrupt righteous words.

23:9 And you shall not afflict a resident foreigner; for you know the soul of the resident foreigner, since you yourselves were resident foreigners in the land of Egypt.

23:10 For six years you shall sow your land, and gather its produce;

23:11 but in the seventh you shall grant it release, and leave it; and the poor of your nation shall eat, and what they leave the wild beasts shall eat. You shall do the same with your vineyard and your olive grove.

23:12 For six days you shall do your works, but on the seventh day there shall be rest, that your ox and your beast of burden may rest, and that the son of your female slave and the resident foreigner may be refreshed.

23:13 Keep everything I have said to you. Do not call to mind the name of other gods or let it be heard from your mouth.

23:14 Three times a year you shall keep a feast to Me.

23:15 Keep the feast of unleavened bread; for seven days you shall eat unleavened bread, as I commanded you, at the appointed time in the month of new grain; for in it you came out of Egypt. You shall not appear before Me empty-handed.

23:16 And you shall keep the feast of harvest, of the firstfruits of your labours which you sow in your field; and the feast of completion as the year goes out, when you gather your labours out of your field.

23:17 Every male of yours shall appear three times in the year before the Lord your God.

23:18 For when I cast out nations before you, and enlarge your borders, you shall not sacrifice the blood of My offering with leaven, neither shall the fat of My feast remain until morning.

23:19 You shall bring the firstfruits of the first produce of your land into the house of the Lord your God. You shall not boil a lamb in its mother's milk.

23:20 And behold, I send My angel before your face, to keep you in the way, that he may bring you into the land which I have prepared for you.

23:21 Take care, and listen to him, and do not disobey him; for he shall not yield before you, for My name is upon him.

23:22 If you diligently listen to My voice, and you do all that I command you, and you keep My covenant, you shall be to Me a treasured people from among all the nations; for all the earth is Mine, and you shall be to Me a royal priesthood and a holy nation. You shall say these words to the sons of Israel: 'If you diligently listen to My voice, and you do all that I say to you, I will be an enemy to your enemies, and oppose those who oppose you.'

23:23 For My angel shall go before you, and bring you to the Amorite, and Hittite, and Perizzite, and Canaanite, and Girgashite, and Hivite, and Jebusite; and I will destroy them.

23:24 You shall not bow down to their gods, neither shall you serve them, nor do according to their works; but you shall utterly overthrow them, and utterly shatter their pillars.

23:25 And you shall serve the Lord your God, and I will bless your bread, and your wine, and your water; and I will turn sickness away from you.

23:26 None shall be unfruitful or barren in your land; I will fulfil the number of your days.

23:27 And I will send fear before you, and confound all the nations among whom you come; and I will make all your adversaries fugitives.

23:28 And I will send hornets before you, and they shall drive out the Amorites, and Hivites, and Canaanites, and Hittites from before you.

23:29 I will not drive them out in one year, lest the land become desolate, and the beasts of the land multiply against you;

23:30 little by little I will drive them out from before you, until you increase and inherit the land.

23:31 And I will set your borders from the Red Sea to the sea of the Philistines, and from the wilderness to the great river Euphrates; and I will deliver the inhabitants of the land into your hands, and cast them out from before you.

23:32 You shall make no covenant with them, nor with their gods;

23:33 neither shall they dwell in your land, lest they cause you to sin against Me; for if you serve their gods, these shall be a stumbling block to you."

Exodus 24

24:1 And He said to Moses, "Come up to the Lord, you and Aaron, and Nadab and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel; and they shall bow down to the Lord from afar.

24:2 Moses alone shall approach God. They shall not approach, and the people shall not come up with them."

24:3 Moses came in and related to the people all God's words and ordinances. All the people answered with one voice, "We will do and obey everything the Lord has spoken."

24:4 Moses wrote down all the Lord's words. Moses rose early in the morning and built an altar at the foot of the mountain and twelve stones for Israel's twelve tribes.

24:5 And he sent the young men of the sons of Israel, and they offered whole burnt offerings, and sacrificed calves as a sacrifice of deliverance to God.

24:6 Moses took half the blood and poured it into bowls; the other half he poured against the altar.

24:7 He took the book of the covenant and read it in the hearing of the people. They said, "We will do and obey everything the Lord has spoken."

24:8 Moses took the blood and sprinkled it over the people, saying, "Behold, the blood of the covenant the Lord has made with you concerning all these words."

24:9 Moses, Aaron, Nadab, Abihu, and seventy of Israel's council of elders went up,

24:10 and they saw the place where the God of Israel stood. What was beneath His feet was like sapphire brickwork, like the appearance of the firmament of heaven in its clarity.

24:11 Not one of Israel's chosen men was missing. They appeared in the place of God, and ate and drank.

24:12 And the Lord said to Moses, “Come up to Me into the mountain, and remain there; and I will give you the tablets of stone, the law and the commandments which I have written to give them as law.”

24:13 Moses rose with Joshua, who attended him, and they went up the mountain of God.

24:14 They said to the elders, “Remain here until we return to you. Aaron and Hur are with you. If anyone has a dispute, let them approach them.”

24:15 Moses and Joshua went up the mountain, and the cloud covered the mountain.

24:16 God’s glory descended on Mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it for six days. On the seventh day the Lord called Moses from within the cloud.

24:17 The appearance of the Lord’s glory was like a blazing fire on the mountain’s summit before the sons of Israel.

24:18 Moses entered the cloud and went up the mountain. He remained there on the mountain forty days and forty nights.

Exodus 25

25:1 The Lord spoke to Moses, saying,

25:2 “Speak to the sons of Israel, and receive firstfruits for Me from everyone whose heart is willing. You shall receive My firstfruits.

25:3 This is the firstfruit offering you shall receive from them: gold, silver, and bronze;

25:4 blue, purple, double scarlet, spun fine linen, and goats’ hair;

25:5 rams’ skins dyed red, blue skins, and decay-resistant wood;

25:7 sardius stones and stones for engraving, for the shoulder-piece and full-length robe.

25:8 And you shall make Me a sanctuary, and I will appear among you.

25:9 And you shall make it for Me according to all that I show you upon the mountain, the pattern of the tabernacle, and the pattern of all its vessels; this is how you shall make it.

25:10 You shall make an ark of testimony of decay-resistant wood, two and a half cubits long, a cubit and a half wide, and a cubit and a half high.

25:11 You shall overlay it with pure gold, outside and inside, and make twisted gold mouldings around it.

25:12 You shall fashion four gold rings for it and place them on its four sides, two rings on one side and two on the other.

25:13 You shall make carrying poles of decay-resistant wood and overlay them with gold.

25:14 You shall put the poles through the rings on the ark’s sides to carry the ark with them.

25:15 The carrying poles shall remain fixed in the ark’s rings.

25:16 And you shall put into the ark the testimonies which I shall give you.

25:17 You shall make a propitiatory cover of pure gold, two and a half cubits long and a cubit and a half wide.

25:18 You shall make two cherubim of worked gold and place them at the two sides of the propitiatory cover.

25:19 One cherub shall be made at this side and one at the other side of the propitiatory cover. You shall make the two cherubim at its two sides.

25:20 The cherubim shall spread their wings above, overshadowing the propitiatory cover with their wings. Their faces shall be toward one another, facing the propitiatory cover.

25:21 You shall place the propitiatory cover on top of the ark, and put into the ark the testimonies I will give you.

25:22 And I will be made known to you from there, and speak to you from above the propitiatory cover, from between the two cherubim upon the ark of the testimony, concerning all that I command you for the sons of Israel.

25:23 You shall make a table of pure gold, two cubits long, a cubit wide, and a cubit and a half high.

25:24 You shall make twisted gold mouldings around it.

25:25 You shall make a rim a handbreadth wide around it, and a twisted moulding around the rim.

25:26 You shall make four gold rings and put them at the four parts of its legs

25:27 beneath the rim; and the rings shall be holders for the carrying poles, that the table may be borne with them.

25:28 You shall make the carrying poles of decay-resistant wood and overlay them with pure gold, and the table shall be carried with them.

25:29 You shall make its dishes, incense cups, libation vessels, and cups for pouring libations. You shall make them of pure gold.

25:30 You shall place the bread of the Presence on the table before Me continually.

25:31 You shall make a lampstand of pure gold, of worked metal. Its stem, branches, bowls, knobs, and lilies shall be made from it.

25:32 Six branches shall extend from its sides, three from one side of the lampstand and three from the other.

25:33 There shall be three bowls shaped like little nuts, with a knob and lily on one branch. So it shall be for the six branches extending from the lampstand.

25:34 On the lampstand there shall be four bowls shaped like little nuts; on one branch shall be its knobs and lilies.

25:35 There shall be a knob under the two branches extending from it, and a knob under the four branches extending from it; so it shall be for the six branches extending from the lampstand.

25:36 Its knobs and branches shall be made from it, the whole worked from one piece of pure gold.

25:37 You shall make its seven lamps and set them on it, and they shall shine from one face.

25:38 You shall make its snuffer and supports of pure gold.

25:39 All these utensils shall be a talent of pure gold.

25:40 See that you make them according to the pattern shown to you on the mountain.”

Exodus 26

26:1 “You shall make the tabernacle with ten curtains of spun fine linen, blue, purple, and spun scarlet yarn. You shall make them with cherubim, the work of a weaver.

26:2 Each curtain shall be twenty-eight cubits long and four cubits wide. All the curtains shall have the same measure.

26:3 Five curtains shall be joined to one another, and the other five joined to one another.

26:4 You shall make blue loops along the edge of one curtain at the joining side, and do the same along the edge of the outer curtain at the second joining.

26:5 You shall make fifty loops on the one curtain and fifty along the edge of the curtain in the second set, with the loops opposite one another.

26:6 You shall make fifty clasps of gold, and join the curtains one to another with the clasps; and the tabernacle shall be one.

26:10 You shall make fifty loops along the edge of the middle hair curtain at the joining, and fifty along the edge of the curtain joining the second set.

26:11 You shall make fifty clasps of bronze, and fasten the clasps into the loops, and join the hair curtains; and they shall be one.

26:12 You shall tuck under the surplus in the tabernacle’s hair curtains. You shall cover over the remaining half curtain; you shall cover over the surplus of the tabernacle’s hair curtains behind the tabernacle.

26:13 A cubit on this side and a cubit on that side, from the excess length of the tabernacle’s hair curtains, shall cover the tabernacle’s sides on either side.

26:14 You shall make a covering for the tabernacle of rams’ skins dyed red, with coverings of blue skins above it.

26:15 You shall make posts of decay-resistant wood for the tabernacle.

26:16 You shall make each post ten cubits long, and the breadth of each post shall be a cubit and a half.

26:17 Each post shall have two tenons fitted opposite each other. You shall make all the tabernacle’s posts this way.

26:18 You shall make twenty posts for the tabernacle’s north side.

26:19 You shall make forty silver bases for the twenty posts, two bases for one post at its two parts, and two bases for another post at its two parts.

26:22 For the rear of the tabernacle, toward the sea, you shall make six posts.

26:23 You shall make two posts for the corners at the rear of the tabernacle.

26:24 They shall be equal below, and likewise equal at their tops, at one joining. You shall make both this way for the two corners.

26:25 There shall be eight posts with sixteen silver bases, two for each post at its two parts, and two for each post.

26:26 You shall make bars of decay-resistant wood, five for the post on one side of the tabernacle, 26:27 five for the post on the second side, and five for the rear post on the side toward the sea.

26:28 The middle bar shall pass through the middle of the posts from one side to the other.

26:29 You shall overlay the posts with gold and make gold rings into which you shall insert the bars. You shall overlay the bars with gold.

26:30 You shall erect the tabernacle according to the plan shown to you on the mountain.

26:31 You shall make a veil of blue, purple, and spun scarlet yarn and spun fine linen, with cherubim, the work of a weaver.

26:32 You shall place it on four posts of decay-resistant wood overlaid with gold, with gold capitals and four silver bases.

26:33 And you shall set the veil upon the posts, and bring in there, within the veil, the ark of the testimony; and the veil shall divide for you between the Holy Place and the Holy of Holies.

26:34 You shall screen the ark of the testimony with the veil in the Holy of Holies.

26:35 You shall place the table outside the veil and the lampstand opposite it on the tabernacle's south side; the table shall be on the north side.

26:36 You shall make a screen of blue, purple, and spun scarlet yarn and spun fine linen, the work of an embroiderer.

26:37 You shall make five posts for the curtain and overlay them with gold, with gold capitals, and cast five bronze bases for them."

Exodus 27

27:1 "You shall make an altar of decay-resistant wood, five cubits long and five cubits wide. The altar shall be square and three cubits high.

27:2 You shall make horns on its four corners, of one piece with it, and cover them with bronze.

27:3 You shall make a rim for the altar, its cover, bowls, meat forks, and firepan. You shall make all its utensils of bronze.

27:4 You shall make a bronze grating of network for it, with four bronze rings on its four sides.

27:5 You shall place them beneath the altar's grating, and the grating shall reach halfway up the altar.

27:6 You shall make carrying poles of decay-resistant wood for the altar and overlay them with bronze.

27:7 You shall put the carrying poles through the rings, and they shall lie along the altar's sides when it is carried.

27:8 You shall make it hollow, of boards; as it was shown to you upon the mountain, so you shall make it.

27:9 You shall make a court for the tabernacle. On the side toward the southwest there shall be court hangings of spun fine linen a hundred cubits long on that side, 27:10 with twenty posts and twenty bronze bases, and silver rings and braces.

27:11 Likewise, on the side toward the east there shall be hangings a hundred cubits long, with twenty posts and twenty bronze bases; the rings, the posts' braces, and their bases shall be silver-plated.

27:12 On the side toward the sea, across the court's width, there shall be hangings fifty cubits long, with ten posts and ten bases.

27:13 Across the court's width on the south side there shall be hangings fifty cubits long, with ten posts and ten bases.

27:14 The hangings on one side shall be fifteen cubits high, with three posts and three bases.

27:15 On the second side the hangings shall be fifteen cubits high, with three posts and three bases.

27:16 For the court's gate there shall be a covering twenty cubits high, of blue, purple, and spun scarlet yarn and spun fine linen, embroidered needlework, with four posts and four bases.

27:17 All the posts around the court shall be silver-plated, with silver capitals and bronze bases.

27:18 The court's length shall be a hundred by a hundred, its width fifty by fifty, and its height five cubits, with spun fine linen and bronze bases.

27:19 All the equipment, all the tools, and the court's pegs shall be bronze.

27:20 You shall command the sons of Israel to bring you pure beaten olive oil, free of sediment, for the light, so that a lamp may burn continually

27:21 in the Tent of Testimony, outside the veil over the covenant. Aaron and his sons shall burn it from evening to morning before the Lord, a perpetual statute throughout your generations on behalf of the sons of Israel."

Exodus 28

28:1 "And bring to yourself Aaron your brother and his sons from among the sons of Israel, to serve Me as priests: Aaron, and Nadab, and Abihu, and Eleazar, and Ithamar, the sons of Aaron.

28:2 You shall make a holy robe for Aaron your brother, for honour and glory.

28:3 Speak to everyone skilled in understanding whom I have filled with a spirit of perception. They shall make Aaron's holy robe for the sanctuary, in which he shall serve Me as priest.

28:4 These are the robes they shall make: a breastpiece, a shoulder-piece, a full-length robe, a tasselled tunic, a turban, and a sash. They shall make holy robes for Aaron and his sons to serve Me as priests.

28:5 They shall take gold, blue, purple, scarlet yarn, and fine linen.

28:6 They shall make the shoulder-piece of spun fine linen, the work of a skilled weaving embroiderer.

28:7 It shall have two shoulder-pieces joined to one another, fitted at the two sides.

28:8 The woven work of the shoulder-pieces upon it shall be made as one piece with it, of the same workmanship: gold, blue, purple, spun scarlet yarn, and spun fine linen.

28:9 You shall take two emerald stones and engrave the names of the sons of Israel on them,

28:10 six names on one stone and the six remaining names on the other, according to their generations.

28:11 With a stoneworker’s craftsmanship, like a seal engraving, you shall engrave the two stones with the names of the sons of Israel.

28:12 You shall place the two stones on the shoulders of the shoulder-piece. They are memorial stones for the sons of Israel, and Aaron shall bear the names of the sons of Israel on his two shoulders before the Lord as a memorial concerning them.

28:13 You shall make small rosettes of pure gold,

28:14 you shall make two braided ornaments of pure gold, intertwined with flowers, and place the braided work on the rosettes along their shoulder-pieces in front.

28:15 You shall make an oracle-piece of judgments, embroidered work, according to the pattern of the shoulder-piece, of gold, blue, purple, spun scarlet yarn, and spun fine linen.

28:16 It shall be square and doubled, a span long and a span wide.

28:17 You shall weave into it a fabric set with four rows of stones. The first row shall be a sardius, topaz, and emerald;

28:18 the second row a carbuncle, sapphire, and jasper;

28:19 the third row a ligure, agate, and amethyst;

28:20 the fourth row a chrysolite, beryl, and onyx. They shall be enclosed in gold and bound in gold according to their rows.

28:21 The stones shall bear the names of the sons of Israel, twelve according to their names, each engraved like a seal with the name of one of the twelve tribes.

28:22 You shall make braided chains of pure gold for the oracle-piece.

28:29 And Aaron shall bear the names of the sons of Israel upon the oracle-piece of judgment, upon his breast, when he enters into the sanctuary, as a memorial before God.

28:29a And you shall set the braided ornaments upon the oracle-piece of judgment; you shall set the chains upon both sides of the oracle-piece, and the two rosettes upon both shoulders of the shoulder-piece in front.

28:30 And you shall set Manifestation and Truth upon the oracle-piece of judgment; and it shall be upon Aaron’s breast when he enters into the sanctuary before the Lord. And Aaron shall bear the judgments of the sons of Israel upon his breast before the Lord continually.

28:31 You shall make a full-length under-robe entirely blue.

28:32 And its neck opening shall be in the midst of it, with a border around the opening, the work of a weaver, its joining woven as one with it, so that it is not torn.

28:33 Around the under-robe’s lower hem you shall make little pomegranates like those of a flowering pomegranate tree, of blue, purple, spun scarlet yarn, and spun fine linen; likewise gold pomegranates, with bells between them all around.

28:34 Beside a gold pomegranate there shall be a bell and a floral ornament around the under-robe’s hem.

28:35 And Aaron’s sound shall be heard when he ministers, as he enters into the sanctuary before the Lord and as he goes out, so that he does not die.

28:36 You shall make a plate of pure gold and stamp on it like a seal: ‘The Lord’s consecrated thing.’

28:37 You shall fasten it to spun blue material so that it may rest on the headband, at the front of the headband.

28:38 It shall be on Aaron’s forehead, and Aaron shall remove the sins of the holy things the sons of Israel consecrate, of every holy gift. It shall be on Aaron’s forehead continually, acceptable for them before the Lord.

28:39 The tunics’ tassels shall be of fine linen. You shall make a fine-linen turban and an embroidered sash.

28:40 You shall make tunics, sashes, and turbans for Aaron’s sons, for honour and glory.

28:41 You shall clothe Aaron your brother and his sons with these garments, anoint them, fill their hands, and consecrate them to serve Me as priests.

28:42 You shall make linen undergarments for them to cover the nakedness of their flesh, reaching from the waist to the thighs.

28:43 And Aaron and his sons shall wear them when they enter into the Tent of Testimony, or draw near to minister at the altar of the sanctuary; and they shall not bring sin upon themselves, lest they die. It shall be an everlasting statute for him and for his seed after him.”

Exodus 29

29:1 “This is what you shall do for them: consecrate them to serve Me as priests. Take one calf from the herd and two rams without blemish, 29:2 unleavened loaves mixed with oil and unleavened wafers spread with oil. Make them from fine wheat flour.

29:3 Put them on one basket and present them on the basket, together with the calf and the two rams.

29:4 Bring Aaron and his sons to the doors of the Tent of Testimony and wash them with water.

29:5 Take the robes and clothe Aaron your brother with the full-length tunic, the shoulder-piece, and the oracle-piece. Fasten the oracle-piece to the shoulder-piece for him.

29:6 Put the headband on his head and the holy plate on the headband.

29:7 Take the anointing oil, pour it on his head, and anoint him.

29:8 Bring his sons and clothe them with tunics.

29:9 Gird them with sashes and put turbans on them. The priesthood shall be theirs for Me for ever. You shall consecrate Aaron’s hands and the hands of his sons.

29:10 Bring the calf to the doors of the Tent of Testimony. Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands on the calf’s head before the Lord, at the doors of the Tent of Testimony.

29:11 Slaughter the calf before the Lord at the doors of the Tent of Testimony.

29:12 Take some of the calf’s blood and put it on the altar’s horns with your finger. Pour all the remaining blood at the altar’s base.

29:13 Take all the fat on the belly, the liver’s lobe, the two kidneys, and the fat on them, and place them on the altar.

29:14 Burn the calf’s flesh, skin, and dung with fire outside the camp, for it is a sin offering.

29:15 Take one ram, and Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands on its head.

29:16 Slaughter it, take the blood, and pour it against the altar on every side.

29:17 Divide the ram limb by limb, wash the entrails and feet with water, and place them on the pieces with the head.

29:18 Offer the whole ram on the altar as a whole burnt offering to the Lord, a fragrant aroma; it is a sacrifice to the Lord.

29:19 Take the other ram, and Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands on its head.

29:20 And you shall slaughter it, and take of its blood, and put it upon the lobe of Aaron’s right ear, and upon the extremity of his right hand and of his right foot, and upon the lobes of his sons’ right ears, and upon the extremities of their right hands and of their right feet.

29:21 Take some blood from the altar and some anointing oil, and sprinkle it on Aaron and his robe, and on his sons and their robes. He and his robe, and his sons and their robes, shall be holy. Pour the ram’s blood against the altar on every side.

29:22 Take the ram’s fat, the fat covering its belly, the liver’s lobe, the two kidneys and their fat, and the right foreleg, for this is a consecration;

29:23 also take one loaf made with oil and one wafer from the basket of unleavened bread set before the Lord.

29:24 Put all these on the hands of Aaron and his sons and set them apart as a dedicated portion before the Lord.

29:25 Receive them from their hands and offer them on the altar of whole burnt offering as a fragrant aroma before the Lord, an offering to the Lord.

29:26 Take the breast from Aaron’s ram of consecration and set it apart as a dedicated portion before the Lord. It shall be your portion.

29:27 Consecrate the breast set apart and the foreleg of the contribution, which were set apart and taken from the ram of consecration for Aaron and his sons.

29:28 And it shall belong to Aaron and to his sons by an everlasting statute from the sons of Israel; for it is a contribution, and shall be a contribution from the sons of Israel, from their sacrifices of deliverance, a contribution to the Lord.

29:29 Aaron’s holy robe shall belong to his sons after him, to be anointed in the garments and have their hands consecrated.

29:30 The priest who succeeds him from among his sons shall wear them for seven days; he shall enter the Tent of Testimony to minister in the holy places.

29:31 Take the ram of consecration and boil its flesh in a holy place.

29:32 Aaron and his sons shall eat the ram's flesh and the bread in the basket at the doors of the Tent of Testimony.

29:33 They shall eat the things by which they were sanctified, to consecrate their hands and sanctify them. An outsider shall not eat them, because they are holy.

29:34 And if any of the flesh of the consecration sacrifice, or of the bread, remains until morning, you shall burn the remainder with fire; it shall not be eaten, for it is a holy thing.

29:35 Do this for Aaron and his sons according to everything I commanded you. Consecrate their hands for seven days.

29:36 And you shall offer the calf for sin on the day of purification, and purify the altar when you perform consecration upon it, and anoint it to consecrate it.

29:37 For seven days you shall purify the altar and consecrate it; and the altar shall be most holy; everyone who touches the altar shall be sanctified.

29:38 This is what you shall offer on the altar: two year-old lambs without blemish each day continually, a continual offering.

29:39 Offer one lamb in the morning and the second in the evening.

29:40 With one lamb offer a tenth measure of fine flour mixed with a quarter hin of beaten oil, and a quarter hin of wine as a libation.

29:41 Offer the second lamb in the evening, with the same sacrifice and libation as in the morning, as a fragrant aroma, an offering to the Lord,

29:42 as a continual sacrifice throughout your generations, at the doors of the Tent of Testimony before the Lord, where I will be made known to you, to speak to you.

29:43 There I will appoint Myself for the sons of Israel, and I will be sanctified in My glory.

29:44 I will consecrate the Tent of Testimony and the altar. I will also consecrate Aaron and his sons to serve Me as priests.

29:45 I will be called upon among the sons of Israel and be their God.

29:46 They shall know that I am the Lord their God, who brought them out of the land of Egypt to be called upon among them and to be their God."

Exodus 30

30:1 You shall make an incense altar of decay-resistant wood.

30:2 It shall be square, a cubit long and a cubit wide, and two cubits high, with horns of one piece with it.

30:3 You shall overlay its grating, all its walls, and its horns with pure gold, and make a twisted gold rim around it.

30:4 You shall make two rings of pure gold beneath its twisted rim, on its two flanks, on the two sides, as holders for the poles used to carry it.

30:5 You shall make the poles of decay-resistant wood and overlay them with gold.

30:6 You shall put it opposite the veil over the ark of the testimonies, where I will make Myself known to you.

30:7 Aaron shall burn finely ground compounded incense upon it morning by morning, when he tends the lamps.

30:8 When Aaron lights the lamps in the evening, he shall burn incense upon it, a continual incense before the Lord throughout their generations.

30:9 You shall not offer other incense, an offering, or a sacrifice on it; you shall not pour a libation on it.

30:10 Once a year Aaron shall make expiation for it on its horns. With the blood of purification for sins, for expiation, once a year he shall purify it throughout their generations. It is most holy to the Lord.

30:11 The Lord spoke to Moses, saying,

30:12 "When you number the sons of Israel in their visitation, each shall give the Lord a ransom for his soul, and no downfall shall come among them in their visitation.

30:13 This is what all who pass into the numbering shall give: half a didrachma, according to the holy didrachma. Twenty obols make the didrachma, and half a didrachma shall be the contribution to the Lord.

30:14 Everyone counted, from twenty years old and upward, shall give the contribution to the Lord.

30:15 The rich shall give no more and the poor no less than half a didrachma when giving the contribution to the Lord to make propitiation for your lives.

30:16 Receive the contribution silver from the sons of Israel and assign it to the work of the Tent of Testimony. It shall be a memorial for the sons of Israel before the Lord, to make propitiation for your lives."

30:17 The Lord spoke to Moses, saying,

30:18 "Make a bronze basin with a bronze base for washing. Put it between the Tent of Testimony and the altar, and pour water into it.

30:19 Aaron and his sons shall wash their hands and feet with water from it.

30:20 When they enter the Tent of Testimony, they shall wash with water so that they do not die. When they approach the altar to minister and offer whole burnt offerings to the Lord,

30:21 they shall wash their hands and feet with water. When they enter the Tent of Testimony, they shall wash with water so that they do not die. This shall be a perpetual statute for him and his generations after him.”

30:22 The Lord spoke to Moses, saying,

30:23 “Take spices: five hundred shekels of the choicest myrrh, half as much fragrant cinnamon, two hundred and fifty, and two hundred and fifty of fragrant cane, 30:24 five hundred sanctuary shekels of iris, and a hin of olive oil.

30:25 Make these into holy anointing oil, a compound prepared by a perfumer’s skill. It shall be holy anointing oil.

30:26 With it anoint the Tent of Testimony and the ark of the testimony,

30:27 the lampstand and all its utensils, and the incense altar,

30:28 the altar of whole burnt offerings and all its utensils, the table and all its utensils, and the basin and its base.

30:29 Consecrate them, and they shall be most holy. Everyone who touches them shall be sanctified.

30:30 Anoint Aaron and his sons and consecrate them to serve Me as priests.

30:31 Tell the sons of Israel: ‘This shall be holy anointing oil for you throughout your generations.

30:32 It shall not be applied to human flesh, and you shall not make anything like it for yourselves according to this composition. It is holy and shall be a holy thing to you.

30:33 Whoever makes anything like it, or gives any of it to an outsider, shall be destroyed from among his people.’”

30:34 The Lord said to Moses, “Take to yourself spices: stacte, onycha, fragrant galbanum, and clear frankincense, in equal portions.

30:35 They shall make them into incense, a perfumer’s compound, blended, a pure and holy work.

30:36 Grind some of it fine and place it before the testimonies in the Tent of Testimony, where I will make Myself known to you. It shall be most holy to you.

30:37 You shall not make incense for yourselves according to this composition. It shall be a holy thing to you for the Lord.

30:38 Whoever makes anything like it to enjoy its fragrance shall perish from among his people.”

Exodus 31

31:1 The Lord spoke to Moses, saying,

31:2 “Behold, I have called by name Bezalel son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah.

31:3 I have filled him with a divine Spirit of wisdom, understanding, and knowledge in every kind of work,

31:4 to plan and design, to work in gold, silver, bronze, blue, purple, spun scarlet yarn, and spun fine linen,

31:5 to work in stone and the woodworking crafts, and to perform every kind of work.

31:6 I have appointed him and Eliab son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan. I have given understanding to everyone discerning in heart, and they shall make everything I commanded you:

31:7 the Tent of Testimony, the ark of the covenant, the propitiatory cover upon it, and the tent’s furnishings,

31:8 the altars, the table and all its utensils, and the pure lampstand and all its utensils,

31:9 the basin and its base,

31:10 Aaron’s ministering robes and his sons’ robes for priestly service to Me,

31:11 the anointing oil and the compounded incense for the sanctuary. They shall make them according to everything I commanded you.”

31:12 The Lord spoke to Moses, saying,

31:13 “Command the sons of Israel, saying, ‘See that you keep My Sabbaths, for they are a sign with Me and among you throughout your generations, that you may know that I am the Lord who sanctifies you.

31:14 You shall keep the Sabbaths, for this is holy to the Lord for you. Whoever profanes it shall surely be put to death. Whoever does work on it, that soul shall be destroyed from among his people.

31:15 For six days you shall do your work, but the seventh day is a Sabbath, a holy rest to the Lord. Whoever does work on the seventh day shall surely be put to death.

31:16 The sons of Israel shall keep the Sabbaths, observing them throughout their generations: an everlasting covenant.

31:17 It is an everlasting sign between Me and the sons of Israel, for in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, and on the seventh day He ceased and rested.’”

31:18 When He finished speaking with Moses on Mount Sinai, He gave him the two tablets of the testimony, stone tablets written with the finger of God.

Exodus 32

32:1 When the people saw that Moses delayed coming down from the mountain, they gathered against Aaron and said, “Arise, and make us gods to go before us. As for this Moses, the man who led us out of Egypt, we do not know what has happened to him.”

32:2 Aaron said to them, “Take off the gold earrings from the ears of your wives and daughters, and bring them to me.”

32:3 All the people took off the gold earrings from their ears and brought them to Aaron.

32:4 He received them from their hands, fashioned them with an engraving tool, and made them into a cast calf. He said, “These are your gods, Israel, who brought you up from the land of Egypt.”

32:5 When Aaron saw it, he built an altar opposite it and proclaimed, “Tomorrow is a feast of the Lord.”

32:6 He rose early the next day, offered whole burnt offerings, and brought a sacrifice of deliverance. The people sat down to eat and drink and rose up to play.

32:7 The Lord spoke to Moses, saying, “Go quickly from here and come down, for your people, whom you led out of the land of Egypt, have acted lawlessly.

32:8 They have quickly transgressed the way you commanded them. They have made themselves a calf, bowed down to it, sacrificed to it, and said, ‘These are your gods, Israel, who brought you up from the land of Egypt.’

32:10 Now leave Me alone, and in the heat of My wrath against them I will destroy them. I will make you into a great nation.”

32:11 Moses entreated the Lord God and said, “Why, O Lord, art Thou angry with Thy people, whom Thou didst lead out of the land of Egypt with great strength and Thine uplifted arm?

32:12 Let not the Egyptians say, ‘He led them out with evil intent, to kill them in the mountains and consume them from the earth.’ Cease from Thy fierce anger and be merciful concerning Thy people’s evil,

32:13 remembering Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, Thy servants, to whom Thou didst swear by Thyself and speak, saying, ‘I will greatly multiply your seed as the stars of heaven in multitude’; and all this land which Thou didst say Thou wouldest give to their seed, they shall possess for ever.”

32:14 The Lord was appeased concerning the calamity He had said He would bring upon His people.

32:15 Moses turned and came down the mountain with the two tablets of the testimony in his hands, stone tablets written on both sides, on the one side and the other.

32:16 The tablets were God’s work, and the writing was God’s writing, engraved on the tablets.

32:17 When Joshua heard the people shouting, he said to Moses, “There is a sound of war in the camp!”

32:18 He said, “It is not the sound of those leading a song of victory or of defeat; it is the sound of those leading a wine-song that I hear.”

32:19 As he approached the camp, he saw the calf and the dancing. In his anger Moses threw the two tablets from his hands and shattered them at the mountain’s foot.

32:20 He took the calf they had made, burned it in the fire, ground it fine, scattered it on the water, and made the sons of Israel drink it.

32:21 Moses said to Aaron, “What did this people do to you, that you brought so great a sin upon them?”

32:22 Aaron said to Moses, “Do not be angry, my lord. You know this people’s impulse.

32:23 They said to me, ‘Make us gods to go before us. As for this Moses, the man who led us out of Egypt, we do not know what has happened to him.’

32:24 So I told them, ‘Whoever has gold ornaments, take them off.’ They gave them to me, I threw them into the fire, and this calf came out.”

32:25 Moses saw that the people were scattered, for Aaron had scattered them, to the delight of their enemies.

32:26 Moses stood at the camp’s gate and said, “Whoever is for the Lord, come to me!” All the sons of Levi gathered to him.

32:27 He said to them, “Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: ‘Each of you put his sword at his thigh. Go back and forth through the camp from gate to gate, and kill, each his brother, each his neighbour, and each the one nearest to him.’”

32:28 The sons of Levi did as Moses told them. As many as three thousand men of the people fell that day.

32:29 Moses said to them, “You have filled your hands today to the Lord, each at the cost of his son or brother, that a blessing may be given to you.”

32:30 After the next day Moses said to the people, “You have committed a great sin. Now I will go up to God, that I may make propitiation for your sin.”

32:31 Moses returned to the Lord and said, “I beseech Thee, O Lord: this people has committed a great sin and made themselves gods of gold.

32:32 Now, if Thou wilt forgive their sin, forgive it; but if not, blot me out of Thy book which Thou hast written.”

32:33 The Lord said to Moses, “If anyone has sinned before Me, I will blot him out of My book.

32:34 Now go down and lead this people to the place I told you. Behold, My angel goes before your face. On the day I visit, I will bring their sin upon them.”

32:35 The Lord struck the people because of the making of the calf Aaron made.

Exodus 33

33:1 The Lord said to Moses, “Go up from here, you and your people whom you led out of the land of Egypt, to the land I swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, saying, ‘I will give it to your seed.’

33:2 I will send My angel with you, before your face, and he shall drive out the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Girgashites, Hivites, and Jebusites.

33:3 I will bring you into a land flowing with milk and honey. But I will not go up with you, lest I consume you on the way, for you are a stiff-necked people.”

33:4 When the people heard this grievous word, they mourned in mourning clothes.

33:5 The Lord said to the sons of Israel, “You are a stiff-necked people. Beware lest I bring another blow upon you and consume you. Now remove your splendid robes and ornaments, and I will show you what I will do to you.”

33:6 The sons of Israel removed their ornaments and splendid clothing from Mount Horeb onward.

33:7 Moses took his tent and pitched it outside the camp, far from the camp, and it was called the Tent of Testimony. Everyone seeking the Lord would go out to the tent outside the camp.

33:8 Whenever Moses went to the tent outside the camp, all the people stood watching, each at his own tent’s doors. They watched Moses go until he entered the tent.

33:9 When Moses entered the tent, the pillar of cloud descended and stood at the tent’s door, and He spoke with Moses.

33:10 All the people saw the pillar of cloud standing at the tent’s entrance. They rose and bowed down, each at his own tent’s entrance.

33:11 The Lord spoke to Moses face to face, as a man speaks to his friend. Then Moses returned to the camp, but his young attendant Joshua son of Nun did not leave the tent.

33:12 Moses said to the Lord, “Behold, Thou sayest to me, ‘Bring up this people,’ but Thou hast not shown me whom Thou wilt send with me. Thou hast said, ‘I know you above all, and you have grace with Me.’

33:13 If then I have found grace before Thee, reveal Thyself to me, that I may see Thee with understanding and find grace before Thee, and know that this great nation is Thy people.”

33:14 He said, “I Myself will go before you, and I will give you rest.”

33:15 Moses said to Him, “If Thou Thyself dost not go, do not bring me up from here.

33:16 How shall it truly be known that I and Thy people have found grace with Thee, unless Thou goest with us? Then I and Thy people shall be glorified above all the nations upon the earth.”

33:17 The Lord said to Moses, “I will also do this thing which you have asked, for you have found grace before Me, and I know you above all.”

33:18 Moses said, “Show me Thy glory.”

33:19 He said, “I will pass before you in My glory and proclaim My name, Lord, before you. I will have mercy on whom I will have mercy, and compassion on whom I will have compassion.”

33:20 He said, “You cannot see My face, for no man shall see My face and live.”

33:21 The Lord said, “Behold, there is a place beside Me; you shall stand upon the rock.

33:22 When My glory passes by, I will put you in a cleft of the rock and cover you with My hand until I have passed.

33:23 Then I will remove My hand, and you shall see what is behind Me, but My face shall not appear to you.”

Exodus 34

34:1 The Lord said to Moses, “Hew for yourself two tablets of stone like the first, and come up to Me on the mountain. I will write upon the tablets the words that were upon the first tablets, which you shattered.

34:2 Be ready in the morning, come up to Mount Sinai, and stand before Me there on the mountain’s summit.

34:3 Let no one come up with you or be seen anywhere on the mountain. Neither sheep nor cattle shall graze near that mountain.”

34:4 Moses cut two stone tablets like the first. He rose early and went up Mount Sinai as the Lord commanded him, taking the two stone tablets.

34:5 The Lord descended in a cloud, stood beside him there, and called upon the name of the Lord.

34:6 The Lord passed before him and proclaimed, “The Lord God, compassionate and merciful, slow to anger, abundant in mercy and true,

34:7 preserving righteousness and showing mercy to thousands, taking away lawlessness, injustice, and sins, yet not cleansing the guilty, bringing the fathers’ lawlessness upon children and children’s children to the third and fourth generation.”

34:8 Moses quickly bowed to the ground and worshipped.

34:9 He said, “If I have found grace before Thee, let my Lord go with us, for this is a stiff-necked people. Thou shalt take away our sins and our lawlessness, and we shall be Thine.”

34:10 The Lord said to Moses, “Behold, I establish a covenant with you. Before all your people I will do glorious things never done in all the earth or among any nation. All the people among whom you are shall see the works of the Lord, for what I will do to you is marvellous.

34:11 Observe all that I command you. Behold, I am driving out before you the Amorites, Canaanites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, Girgashites, and Jebusites.

34:12 Take care, lest you make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land you are entering, lest it become a stumbling block to you among you.

34:13 Tear down their altars, break their pillars, cut down their sacred groves, and burn their gods’ carved images with fire.

34:14 You shall not bow down to another god, for the Lord God, whose name is Jealous, is a jealous God.

34:15 Make no covenant with the foreign inhabitants of the land, lest they prostitute themselves to their gods, sacrifice to their gods, invite you, and you eat of their sacrifices,

34:16 and take their daughters for your sons and give your daughters to their sons, and your daughters prostitute themselves to their gods and lead your sons to prostitute themselves to their gods.

34:17 You shall not make cast gods for yourself.

34:18 Keep the Feast of Unleavened Bread. For seven days you shall eat unleavened bread, as I commanded you, at the appointed time in the month of new grain, for in the month of new grain you came out of Egypt.

34:19 Every male that opens the womb is Mine, every firstborn calf and firstborn sheep.

34:20 You shall redeem a firstborn beast of burden with a sheep; if you do not redeem it, you shall give its value. You shall redeem every firstborn of your sons. You shall not appear before Me empty-handed.

34:21 For six days you shall work, but on the seventh you shall rest; at sowing time and harvest you shall rest.

34:22 Keep the Feast of Weeks for Me, at the beginning of the wheat harvest, and the Feast of Ingathering at the middle of the year.

34:23 Three times in the year all your males shall appear before the Lord, the God of Israel.

34:24 When I drive nations out before your face and enlarge your borders, no one shall desire your land when you go up to appear before the Lord your God three times in the year.

34:25 You shall not offer the blood of My offerings with leaven, nor shall the sacrifices of the Passover feast remain until morning.

34:26 Bring the first produce of your land into the house of the Lord your God. You shall not offer a lamb in its mother’s milk.”

34:27 The Lord said to Moses, “Write these words for yourself, for according to these words I have made a covenant with you and Israel.”

34:28 Moses was there before the Lord forty days and forty nights, eating no bread and drinking no water. He wrote these words on the covenant tablets, the Ten Words.

34:29 As Moses came down from the mountain with the two tablets in his hands, he did not know that the appearance of the skin of his face had been glorified through speaking with Him.

34:30 Aaron and all Israel’s elders saw that the appearance of the skin of Moses’ face had been glorified, and they were afraid to approach him.

34:31 Moses called to them, and Aaron and all the assembly’s leaders returned to him. Moses spoke with them.

34:32 Afterward all the sons of Israel approached him, and he commanded them everything the Lord had spoken to him on Mount Sinai.

34:33 When Moses finished speaking with them, he put a veil over his face.

34:34 Whenever Moses entered before the Lord to speak with Him, he removed the veil until he came out. Then he told all the sons of Israel what the Lord had commanded him.

34:35 The sons of Israel saw that Moses’ face had been glorified. Moses replaced the veil over his face until he entered to converse with Him.

Exodus 35

35:1 Moses assembled the whole congregation of the sons of Israel and said to them, “These are the things the Lord has said should be done.

35:2 For six days you shall do work, but on the seventh day there shall be rest, a holy Sabbath, a rest to the Lord. Everyone who does work on it shall die.

35:3 You shall not kindle a fire in any of your dwellings on the Sabbath day. I am the Lord.”

35:4 Moses said to the whole congregation of the sons of Israel, “This is what the Lord has appointed, saying,

35:5 ‘Take from among yourselves an offering to the Lord. Everyone who welcomes it in his heart shall bring the Lord’s firstfruits: gold, silver, and bronze;

35:6 blue, purple, double-spun scarlet, spun fine linen, and goats’ hair;

35:7 rams’ skins dyed red, skins dyed blue, and decay-resistant wood;

35:9 sardius stones and stones for engraving for the shoulder-piece and the full-length robe.

35:10 Let everyone wise in heart among you come and make everything the Lord has appointed:

35:11 the tent, its side curtains, its coverings and its stretching cords, its bars and its pillars;

35:12 the ark of the testimony and its carrying poles, the propitiatory cover, and the veil;

35:12a the hangings of the court and its pillars, the emerald stones, the incense, and the anointing oil;

35:13 the table and all its utensils;

35:14 the lampstand for the light and all its utensils;

35:16 the altar and all its utensils;

35:19 the holy robes of Aaron the priest and the robes in which they shall minister; the priestly tunics for Aaron’s sons, the anointing oil, and the compounded incense.’”

35:20 Then the whole congregation of the sons of Israel departed from Moses’ presence.

35:21 Everyone whose heart prompted him and whose soul was willing brought an offering to the Lord for all the work of the Tent of Testimony, for all its service, and for all the holy robes.

35:22 The men brought from the women, everyone whose heart approved: seals, earrings, rings, chains, bracelets, and every gold object—all who brought gold offerings to the Lord.

35:23 Everyone who had fine linen, skins dyed blue, or rams’ skins dyed red brought them.

35:24 Everyone contributing silver or bronze brought offerings to the Lord, and those who had decay-resistant wood for all the work of preparation brought it.

35:25 Every woman wise in heart spun with her hands and brought spun blue, purple, scarlet, and fine linen.

35:26 All the women whose hearts stirred them with skill spun the goats’ hair.

35:27 The leaders brought the emerald stones and the stones for setting in the shoulder-piece and the oracle-piece, 35:28 and the compounds, the anointing oil, and the compounded incense.

35:29 Every man and woman whose mind inclined them to come and do all the work the Lord had commanded through Moses—the sons of Israel brought an offering to the Lord.

35:30 Moses said to the sons of Israel, “Behold, God has called by name Bezalel son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah.

35:31 He has filled him with the divine Spirit of wisdom, understanding, and knowledge of all things,

35:32 to design in every craft, working gold, silver, and bronze,

35:33 to work stone and shape wood, and to carry out every work of skill.

35:34 He has put it in his mind to teach—both him and Eliab son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan.

35:35 He has filled them with wisdom and understanding of mind to comprehend and do all the work of the sanctuary: weaving and embroidering in scarlet and fine linen, carrying out every work of design and embroidery.”

Exodus 36

36:1 Bezalel, Eliab, and every person wise in understanding, who had been given wisdom and knowledge to understand how to do all the work for the holy service, worked according to all that the Lord had commanded.

36:2 Moses called Bezalel, Eliab, and all who possessed wisdom, to whom God had given knowledge in their hearts, and all who willingly came forward to the work to complete it.

36:3 They received from Moses all the contributions the sons of Israel had brought for all the work of the sanctuary, to carry it out. They continued receiving gifts from those who brought them, morning after morning.

36:4 All the skilled workers who were doing the work of the sanctuary came, each according to the work he was doing,

36:5 and they said to Moses, “The people are bringing more than is needed for the work the Lord commanded to be done.”

36:6 Moses gave a command and proclaimed in the camp, “Let neither man nor woman work any longer for the firstfruits of the sanctuary.” The people were restrained from bringing any more.

36:7 The work supplied was sufficient for the construction, with some left over.

36:8 Every skilled worker among the craftsmen made the holy robes for Aaron the priest, as the Lord commanded Moses.

36:9 They made the shoulder-piece of gold, blue, purple, spun scarlet, and spun fine linen.

36:10 The gold plates were cut into threads to be woven with the blue, purple, spun scarlet, and spun fine linen, a woven work.

36:11 They made joined shoulder sections for it on both sides,

36:12 a woven work intertwined together. They made it by itself from the same material, according to its workmanship: gold, blue, purple, spun scarlet, and spun fine linen, as the Lord commanded Moses.

36:13 They made the two emerald stones, clasped and set in gold, engraved like seals with the names of the sons of Israel.

36:14 He put them on the shoulders of the shoulder-piece as memorial stones for the sons of Israel, as the Lord commanded Moses.

36:15 They made the oracle-piece with woven embroidery, like the workmanship of the shoulder-piece, of gold, blue, purple, spun scarlet, and spun fine linen.

36:16 They made the oracle-piece square and doubled, a span long and a span wide when doubled.

36:17 A fabric set with four rows of stones was woven into it. The first row was a sardius, topaz, and emerald;

36:18 the second row a carbuncle, sapphire, and jasper;

36:19 the third row a ligure, agate, and amethyst;

36:20 the fourth row was a chrysolite, beryl, and onyx, enclosed in gold and bound in gold.

36:21 There were twelve stones bearing the names of the sons of Israel, each engraved like a seal with the name of one of the twelve tribes.

36:22 They made braided chains of pure gold for the oracle-piece.

36:23 They made two gold rosettes and two gold rings, and put the two gold rings at the two ends of the oracle-piece.

36:24 They put the gold braids into the rings on both sides of the oracle-piece,

36:25 and the two braids into the two joinings. They put them on the two rosettes and on the shoulders of the shoulder-piece, facing forward.

36:26 They made two gold rings and put them at the two ends of the oracle-piece, on its edge toward the rear, on the inner side of the shoulder-piece.

36:27 They made two gold rings and put them on both shoulders of the shoulder-piece, below it at the front, by the joining above the shoulder-piece’s interwoven fabric.

36:28 He fastened the oracle-piece by its rings to the rings of the shoulder-piece with blue cord, interwoven into the shoulder-piece’s fabric so that the oracle-piece would not come loose from it, as the Lord commanded Moses.

36:29 They made the robe beneath the shoulder-piece of woven work, entirely blue.

36:30 The opening of the robe was in its middle, woven and joined together, with a border around the opening so that it would not tear.

36:31 They made pomegranates at the lower hem of the robe, of blue, purple, spun scarlet, and spun fine linen, like a pomegranate tree in bloom.

36:32 They made gold bells and placed the bells at the hem of the robe, all around between the pomegranates,

36:33 a gold bell and a pomegranate at the hem of the robe all around, for ministry, as the Lord commanded Moses.

36:34 They made woven tunics of fine linen for Aaron and his sons, 36:35 the turbans of fine linen, the headband of fine linen, and the linen undergarments of spun fine linen.

36:36 They made their sashes of fine linen, blue, purple, and spun scarlet, the work of an embroiderer, as the Lord commanded Moses.

36:37 They made the gold plate, the holy consecration emblem, of pure gold. He wrote upon it letters engraved as on a seal: “A holy thing to the Lord.”

36:38 They put a blue band on it, to fasten it on the headband above, as the Lord commanded Moses.

Exodus 37

37:1 They made ten curtains for the tent.

37:2 Each curtain was twenty-eight cubits long; all were alike. Each curtain was four cubits wide.

37:3 They made the veil of blue, purple, spun scarlet, and spun fine linen, with woven cherubim.

37:4 They placed it on four pillars of decay-resistant wood overlaid with gold. Their capitals were gold, and their four bases were silver.

37:5 They made the entrance veil of the Tent of Testimony of blue, purple, spun scarlet, and spun fine linen, with woven cherubim.

37:6 They made its five pillars and their rings, overlaid their capitals and their bands with gold, and made their five bases of bronze.

37:7 They made the court, with its southwest hangings of spun fine linen, a hundred by a hundred.

37:8 There were twenty pillars and twenty bases.

37:9 The north side was a hundred by a hundred, with twenty pillars and twenty bases.

37:10 On the side toward the sea were curtains of fifty cubits, with ten pillars and ten bases.

37:11 On the east side were fifty cubits.

37:12 On the flank were hangings of fifteen cubits, with three pillars and three bases.

37:13 On the second flank, on either side by the gate of the court, were curtains of fifteen cubits, with three pillars and three bases.

37:14 All the curtains of the court were of spun fine linen.

37:15 Their pillars' bases were bronze, their hooks silver, their capitals overlaid with silver, and all the court's pillars overlaid with silver.

37:16 The veil for the court's gate was embroidered in blue, purple, spun scarlet, and spun fine linen. It was twenty cubits long, with its height and breadth five cubits, matching the court's hangings.

37:17 Its pillars were four, and its four bases were bronze; its hooks were silver, and its capitals were overlaid with silver;

37:18 and the pillars themselves were overlaid with silver. All the pegs around the court were bronze.

37:19 This is the arrangement of the Tent of Testimony, as appointed for Moses, with the service belonging to the Levites through Ithamar son of Aaron the priest.

37:20 Bezalel son of Uri, of the tribe of Judah, did as the Lord commanded Moses.

37:21 Eliab son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, directed the woven, needleworked, and embroidered work, weaving in scarlet and fine linen.

Exodus 38

38:1 Bezalel made the ark.

38:2 He overlaid it with pure gold inside and outside.

38:3 He cast four gold rings for it, two on one side and two on the other.

38:4 The rings were wide enough for the carrying poles, so that the ark could be carried with them.

38:5 He made the propitiatory cover above the ark of gold.

38:6 He made the two gold cherubim,

38:7 one cherub at one end of the propitiatory cover and one cherub at its other end,

38:8 sheltering the propitiatory cover with their wings.

38:9 He made the table of presentation of pure gold.

38:10 He cast four rings for it, two on one side and two on the other, wide enough for the poles with which it would be carried.

38:11 He made the carrying poles of the ark and of the table, and overlaid them with gold.

38:12 He made the table's utensils of gold: its dishes, incense vessels, ladles, and libation vessels with which to pour drink offerings.

38:13 He made the gold lampstand that gives light, with a solid shaft,

38:14 and its branches on both sides.

38:15 Shoots extended from its branches, three on this side and three on that side, corresponding to one another.

38:16 The lamp supports at their ends were nut-shaped and formed from them, as were the fittings on which the lamps would stand. The seventh fitting was at the end of the lamp support, at the top above; it was wholly solid gold.

38:17 He made seven gold lamps on it, its gold tongs, and its gold trays.

38:18 He overlaid the pillars with silver, cast gold rings for the pillar, and overlaid the bars with gold. He overlaid the pillars of the veil with gold and made gold hooks.

38:19 He also made the rings of the tent of gold, and the rings of the court and the rings for stretching the covering overhead of bronze.

38:20 He cast the silver capitals of the tent and the bronze capitals of the tent doorway and the gate of the court. He made silver hooks for the pillars; he silvered them.

38:21 He made the pegs of the tent and the pegs of the court of bronze.

38:22 He made the bronze altar from the bronze censers belonging to the men who had rebelled with the assembly of Korah.

38:23 He made all the altar's utensils: its firepan, its base, its bowls, and its bronze meat forks.

38:24 He made a grating for the altar, a work of network beneath its firepan, below it as far as its middle. He put four bronze rings on the four sides of the altar's grating, wide enough for the bars with which the altar would be carried.

38:25 He made the holy anointing oil and the compounded incense, the pure work of a perfumer.

38:26 He made the bronze basin and its bronze base from the mirrors of the women who fasted, who fasted at the doors of the Tent of Testimony on the day he set it up.

38:27 He made the basin so that Moses, Aaron, and his sons might wash their hands and feet from it. When they entered the Tent of Testimony, or approached the altar to minister, they washed from it, as the Lord commanded Moses.

Exodus 39

39:1 All the gold worked into the objects, for all the work of the holy things, was the gold of the firstfruits: twenty-nine talents and seven hundred and twenty shekels, by the holy shekel.

39:2 The silver contribution from the enrolled men of the congregation was a hundred talents and one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five shekels,

39:3 one drachma per head, half a shekel by the holy shekel, for everyone passing into the enrolment from twenty years old upward: six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty.

39:4 The hundred talents of silver were used to cast the hundred capitals of the tent and the capitals of the veil: a hundred capitals for the hundred talents, a talent per capital.

39:5 They used the one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five shekels for the pillars' hooks; he gilded their capitals and adorned them.

39:6 The bronze of the contribution was seventy talents and one thousand five hundred shekels.

39:7 From it he made the bases of the entrance of the Tent of Testimony,

39:8 the bases of the court all around, the bases of the court's gate, the pegs of the tent, and the pegs of the surrounding court,

39:9 and the bronze grating of the altar, all the altar's utensils, and all the equipment of the Tent of Testimony.

39:10 The sons of Israel did as the Lord commanded Moses; so they did.

39:11 From the gold remaining from the contribution they made utensils for ministering before the Lord.

39:12 From the remaining blue, purple, and scarlet they made Aaron's robes for ministry, to minister in the sanctuary.

39:13 They brought to Moses the robes, the tent and its utensils, its bases, its bars, and its pillars;

39:14 the ark of the covenant and its carrying poles;

39:15 the altar and all its utensils, the anointing oil, and the compounded incense;

39:16 the pure lampstand and its lamps, the lamps for burning, and the oil for the light;

39:17 the table of presentation and all its utensils, and the bread of the Presence;

39:18 Aaron's robes for the sanctuary and his sons' robes for priestly service;

39:19 the hangings of the court and the pillars, the veil for the entrance of the tent and for the gate of the court, all the utensils of the tent, and all its equipment;

39:20 the leather coverings of rams' skins dyed red, the coverings of blue skins, and the coverings for the remaining things;

39:21 the pegs, and all the equipment for the work of the Tent of Testimony.

39:22 The sons of Israel made all the equipment as the Lord commanded Moses.

39:23 Moses saw all the work, and they had done it in the way the Lord commanded Moses; so they had done it. Moses blessed them.

Exodus 40

40:1 The Lord spoke to Moses, saying,

40:2 "On the first day of the first month, at the new moon, you shall erect the Tent of Testimony.

40:3 You shall place the ark of the testimony and screen the ark with the veil.

40:4 Bring in the table and set out its presentation. Bring in the lampstand and put its lamps on it.

40:5 Place the gold altar for burning incense before the ark, and put a screening veil over the doorway of the Tent of Testimony.

40:6 Place the altar of offerings by the doors of the Tent of Testimony.

40:8 Set the tent about, and sanctify everything belonging to it all around.

40:9 Take the anointing oil and anoint the tent and everything in it. Sanctify it and all its utensils, and it shall be holy.

40:10 Anoint the altar of offerings and all its utensils. Sanctify the altar, and it shall be most holy.

40:12 Bring Aaron and his sons to the doors of the Tent of Testimony and wash them with water.

40:13 Clothe Aaron in the holy robes, anoint him, and sanctify him, and he shall serve Me as priest.

40:14 Bring his sons and clothe them in tunics.

40:15 Anoint them as you anointed their father, and they shall serve Me as priests. They shall have an anointing for priesthood for ever, throughout their generations.”

40:16 Moses did everything the Lord had commanded him; so he did.

40:17 In the first month of the second year after they came out of Egypt, at the new moon, the tent was erected.

40:18 Moses erected the tent, placed its capitals, inserted its bars, and erected its pillars.

40:19 He spread the curtains over the tent and placed the tent covering above it, as the Lord commanded Moses.

40:20 He took the testimonies and put them into the ark, and placed the carrying poles beneath the ark.

40:21 He brought the ark into the tent, put up the screening veil, and screened the ark of the testimony, as the Lord commanded Moses.

40:22 He placed the table in the Tent of Testimony, on its north side, outside the tent’s veil.

40:23 He set the bread of the Presence upon it before the Lord, as the Lord commanded Moses.

40:24 He placed the lampstand in the Tent of Testimony, on the south side of the tent.

40:25 He put its lamps in place before the Lord, as the Lord commanded Moses.

40:26 He placed the gold altar in the Tent of Testimony opposite the veil, 40:27 and burned the compounded incense on it, as the Lord commanded Moses.

40:29 He placed the altar of offerings by the doors of the tent.

40:33 He erected the court around the tent and the altar. Moses completed all the work.

40:34 The cloud covered the Tent of Testimony, and the tent was filled with the glory of the Lord.

40:35 Moses could not enter the Tent of Testimony because the cloud overshadowed it and the tent was filled with the glory of the Lord.

40:36 Whenever the cloud rose from the tent, the sons of Israel set out with their belongings.

40:37 If the cloud did not rise, they did not set out until the day it rose.

40:38 For a cloud was over the tent by day, and fire was over it by night, in the sight of all Israel throughout all their journeys.

Leviticus

Leviticus 1

1:1 And He called unto Moses, and the Lord spoke unto him from the Tent of Testimony, saying,

1:2 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: If a man among you brings gifts unto the Lord, you shall bring your gifts from the livestock, from the cattle and from the flock.

1:3 If his gift is a whole burnt offering from the cattle, he shall bring an unblemished male; he shall bring it unto the door of the Tent of Testimony, acceptable before the Lord.

1:4 And he shall lay his hand upon the head of the offering, acceptable for him, to make atonement for him.

1:5 And they shall slaughter the calf before the Lord; and the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall bring the blood, and pour the blood round about upon the altar which is at the doors of the Tent of Testimony.

1:6 And when they have skinned the whole burnt offering, they shall divide it limb by limb.

1:7 And the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall put fire upon the altar, and pile wood upon the fire.

1:8 And the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall pile the divided parts, and the head, and the fat upon the wood upon the fire which is upon the altar.

1:9 But they shall wash the entrails and the feet with water; and the priests shall place all upon the altar. It is an offering, a sacrifice, a sweet savour unto the Lord.

1:10 And if his gift unto the Lord is from the flock, from lambs and young goats, for a whole burnt offering, he shall bring an unblemished male, and lay his hand upon its head.

1:11 And they shall slaughter it at the north side of the altar before the Lord; and the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall pour its blood round about upon the altar.

1:12 And they shall divide it limb by limb, with the head and the fat; and the priests shall pile them upon the wood upon the fire which is upon the altar.

1:13 And they shall wash the entrails and the feet with water; and the priest shall bring all, and place it upon the altar. It is an offering, a sacrifice, a sweet savour unto the Lord.

1:14 And if you bring an offering of birds as a gift unto the Lord, he shall bring his gift from the turtledoves or the pigeons.

1:15 And the priest shall bring it unto the altar, and pinch off the head; and the priest shall place it upon the altar, and drain the blood at the base of the altar.

1:16 And he shall remove the crop with the feathers, and cast it beside the altar toward the east, into the place of the ashes.

1:17 And he shall break it open by its wings, but shall not divide it; and the priest shall place it upon the altar, upon the wood upon the fire. It is an offering, a sacrifice, a sweet savour unto the Lord.

Leviticus 2

2:1 And if a soul brings a gift as a sacrifice unto the Lord, his gift shall be fine flour; and he shall pour oil upon it, and put frankincense upon it. It is a sacrifice.

2:2 And he shall bring it unto the sons of Aaron, the priests; and when he has taken from it a full handful of the fine flour with the oil and all its frankincense, the priest shall place its memorial portion upon the altar: a sacrifice, a sweet savour unto the Lord.

2:3 And what remains of the sacrifice shall be Aaron’s and his sons’; it is most holy among the sacrifices of the Lord.

2:4 And if he brings a gift as a sacrifice baked in an oven, a gift unto the Lord from fine flour, it shall be unleavened loaves mixed with oil, and unleavened wafers spread with oil.

2:5 And if your gift is a sacrifice from a griddle, it shall be fine flour mixed with oil, unleavened.

2:6 And you shall break them into pieces, and pour oil upon them. It is a sacrifice unto the Lord.

2:7 And if your gift is a sacrifice from a hearth, it shall be made of fine flour with oil.

2:8 And he shall bring the sacrifice which he makes from these things unto the Lord; and he shall bring it unto the priest; and when he has drawn near unto the altar,

2:9 the priest shall take its memorial portion from the sacrifice, and the priest shall place it upon the altar: an offering, a sweet savour unto the Lord.

2:10 But what is left of the sacrifice shall be Aaron’s and his sons’; these are most holy things among the offerings of the Lord.

2:11 You shall not make with leaven any sacrifice which you bring unto the Lord; for you shall bring neither any leaven nor any honey from it as an offering unto the Lord.

2:12 As a gift of firstfruits you shall bring them unto the Lord; but it shall not be brought up upon the altar for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

2:13 And every gift of your sacrifice shall be seasoned with salt. You shall not let the salt of the covenant of the Lord cease from your sacrifices; with every gift of yours you shall bring salt unto the Lord your God.

2:14 And if you bring a sacrifice of first produce unto the Lord, new roasted and crushed groats unto the Lord, you shall bring the sacrifice of the first produce,

2:15 and pour oil upon it, and put frankincense upon it. It is a sacrifice.

2:16 And the priest shall offer up its memorial portion, some of the groats with the oil and all its frankincense. It is an offering unto the Lord.

Leviticus 3

3:1 And if his gift unto the Lord is a sacrifice of deliverance, if he brings it from his cattle, whether male or female, he shall bring it unblemished before the Lord.

3:2 And he shall lay his hands upon the head of the gift, and slaughter it beside the doors of the Tent of Testimony; and the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall pour the blood round about upon the altar of whole burnt offerings.

3:3 And from the sacrifice of deliverance they shall bring an offering unto the Lord: the fat which covers the belly, and all the fat upon the belly,

3:4 and the two kidneys, and the fat upon them which is by the thighs, and the lobe upon the liver, which he shall remove with the kidneys.

3:5 And the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall offer them up upon the altar, upon the whole burnt offerings, upon the wood upon the fire upon the altar: an offering, a sweet savour unto the Lord.

3:6 And if his gift is from the flock, as a sacrifice of deliverance unto the Lord, whether male or female, he shall bring it unblemished.

3:7 If he brings a lamb as his gift, he shall bring it before the Lord,

3:8 and lay his hands upon the head of his gift, and slaughter it beside the doors of the Tent of Testimony; and the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall pour the blood round about upon the altar.

3:9 And from the sacrifice of deliverance he shall bring an offering unto God: the fat and the unblemished loin, which he shall remove with the muscles of the lower back, and the fat of the belly,

3:10 and both kidneys, and the fat upon them which is by the thighs, and the lobe upon the liver, removing it with the kidneys;

3:11 the priest shall offer it up upon the altar: a sweet savour, an offering unto the Lord.

3:12 And if his gift is from the goats, he shall bring it before the Lord,

3:13 and lay his hands upon its head; and they shall slaughter it before the Lord beside the doors of the Tent of Testimony; and the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall pour the blood round about upon the altar.

3:14 And from it he shall offer up an offering unto the Lord: the fat which covers the belly, and all the fat upon the belly,

3:15 and both kidneys, and all the fat upon them which is by the thighs, and the lobe of the liver, which he shall remove with the kidneys.

3:16 And the priest shall offer it up upon the altar: an offering, a sweet savour unto the Lord. All the fat is the Lord’s.

3:17 It is an everlasting statute throughout your generations, in every dwelling place of yours: you shall eat neither any fat nor any blood.

Leviticus 4

4:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying,

4:2 Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying: If a soul sins unintentionally before the Lord against the ordinances of the Lord concerning things which must not be done, and does any one of them:

4:3 if the anointed high priest sins so that the people sin, he shall bring, for his sin which he has committed, an unblemished calf from the cattle unto the Lord, for his sin.

4:4 And he shall bring the calf beside the door of the Tent of Testimony before the Lord, and lay his hand upon the calf’s head before the Lord, and slaughter the calf in the presence of the Lord.

4:5 And the anointed priest whose hands have been consecrated shall take some of the calf’s blood, and bring it into the Tent of Testimony.

4:6 And the priest shall dip his finger in the blood, and sprinkle some of the blood seven times before the Lord, toward the holy veil.

4:7 And the priest shall put some of the calf’s blood upon the horns of the altar of compounded incense before the Lord, which is in the Tent of Testimony; and he shall pour out all the calf’s blood beside the base of the altar of whole burnt offerings, which is beside the doors of the Tent of Testimony.

4:8 And he shall remove all the fat from the calf of the sin offering: the fat which covers the inward parts, and all the fat upon the inward parts,

4:9 and the two kidneys, and the fat upon them which is by the thighs, and the lobe upon the liver, which he shall remove with the kidneys,

4:10 as it is taken from the calf of the sacrifice of deliverance; and the priest shall offer it up upon the altar of offering.

4:11 But the calf's hide, and all its flesh, with the head and the extremities, and the belly and the dung:

4:12 they shall carry the whole calf outside the camp unto a clean place, where they pour out the ashes, and burn it upon wood with fire; it shall be burned upon the place where the ashes are poured out.

4:13 And if the whole congregation of Israel is unintentionally ignorant, and a matter escapes the eyes of the congregation, and they do any of the things which the commandments of the Lord forbid, and commit an offence,

4:14 and the sin which they have committed becomes known unto them, the congregation shall bring an unblemished calf from the cattle for sin, and bring it beside the doors of the Tent of Testimony.

4:15 And the elders of the congregation shall lay their hands upon the calf's head before the Lord, and they shall slaughter the calf before the Lord.

4:16 And the anointed priest shall bring some of the calf's blood into the Tent of Testimony.

4:17 And the priest shall dip his finger in some of the calf's blood, and sprinkle it seven times before the Lord, in front of the holy veil.

4:18 And the priest shall put some of the blood upon the horns of the altar of compounded incense, which is before the Lord, which is in the Tent of Testimony; and he shall pour out all the blood at the base of the altar of offerings beside the door of the Tent of Testimony.

4:19 And he shall remove all the fat from it, and offer it up upon the altar.

4:20 And he shall do with the calf as he did with the calf of the sin offering; thus it shall be done. And the priest shall make atonement for them, and their sin shall be forgiven them.

4:21 And they shall carry the whole calf outside the camp, and burn the calf as they burned the former calf. It is the sin offering of the congregation.

4:22 And if the ruler sins, and unintentionally does any of the things which the commandments of the Lord their God forbid, and sins and commits an offence,

4:23 and the sin which he has committed becomes known unto him, he shall bring as his gift an unblemished male young goat from the goats.

4:24 And he shall lay his hand upon the young goat's head; and they shall slaughter it in the place where they slaughter the whole burnt offerings before the Lord. It is a sin offering.

4:25 And the priest shall put some of the blood of the sin offering with his finger upon the horns of the altar of whole burnt offerings; and he shall pour out all its blood beside the base of the altar of whole burnt offerings.

4:26 And he shall offer up all its fat upon the altar, as the fat of a sacrifice of deliverance. And the priest shall make atonement for him from his sin, and he shall be forgiven.

4:27 And if one soul from the people of the land sins unintentionally, by doing any of the things which the commandments of the Lord forbid, and commits an offence,

4:28 and the sin which he has committed becomes known unto him, he shall bring an unblemished female young goat from the goats; he shall bring it for the sin which he has committed.

4:29 And he shall lay his hand upon the head of his sin offering; and they shall slaughter the female young goat of the sin offering in the place where they slaughter the whole burnt offerings.

4:30 And the priest shall take some of its blood with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of whole burnt offerings; and he shall pour out all its blood beside the base of the altar.

4:31 And he shall remove all the fat, as fat is removed from a sacrifice of deliverance; and the priest shall offer it up upon the altar for a sweet savour unto the Lord. And the priest shall make atonement for him, and he shall be forgiven.

4:32 And if he brings a sheep as his gift for a sin offering, he shall bring an unblemished female.

4:33 And he shall lay his hand upon the head of the sin offering; and they shall slaughter it in the place where they slaughter the whole burnt offerings.

4:34 And the priest shall take some of the blood of the sin offering with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of whole burning; and he shall pour out all its blood beside the base of the altar of whole burning.

4:35 And he shall remove all its fat, as the fat of a sheep is removed from the sacrifice of deliverance; and the priest shall place it upon the altar, upon the whole burnt offering of the Lord. And the priest shall make atonement for him for the sin which he has committed, and he shall be forgiven.

Leviticus 5

5:1 And if a soul sins, and hears the voice of a solemn adjuration, and he is a witness, whether he has seen or has knowledge of the matter, if he does not declare it, he shall bear the sin.

5:2 Or if a soul touches any unclean thing, whether a dead thing, or an unclean thing torn by wild beasts, or one of the dead things, or one of the unclean abominations, or a carcass of unclean livestock,

5:3 or touches human uncleanness, any uncleanness of a man by touching which he is defiled, and it escapes his notice, but afterward he knows it and incurs guilt;

5:4 or if a soul swears, declaring with his lips to do evil or to do good, whatsoever a man declares with an oath, and it escapes his notice, and he knows it and sins in any one of these matters,

5:5 he shall confess the sin concerning that wherein he has sinned.

5:6 And he shall bring unto the Lord, for the offence and the sin which he has committed, a female from the flock, a ewe lamb or a female young goat from the goats, for sin. And the priest shall make atonement for him for the sin which he has committed, and his sin shall be forgiven him.

5:7 And if his hand cannot provide enough for a sheep, he shall bring unto the Lord for the sin which he has committed two turtledoves or two young pigeons, one for sin and one for a whole burnt offering.

5:8 And he shall bring them unto the priest, and the priest shall bring the one for sin first; and the priest shall pinch its head at the neck joint, but shall not divide it.

5:9 And he shall sprinkle some of the blood of the offering for sin upon the wall of the altar; but the remaining blood he shall drain at the base of the altar, for it is for sin.

5:10 And he shall prepare the second as a whole burnt offering, as is fitting. And the priest shall make atonement for the sin which he has committed, and he shall be forgiven.

5:11 And if his hand cannot obtain a pair of turtledoves or two young pigeons, he shall bring his gift for the sin which he has committed: a tenth of an oiphi of fine flour for sin. He shall pour no oil upon it, neither shall he put frankincense upon it, for it is for sin.

5:12 And he shall bring it unto the priest; and the priest shall take from it a full handful, and place its memorial portion upon the altar of whole burnt offerings unto the Lord. It is a sin offering.

5:13 And the priest shall make atonement for him for the sin which he has committed in any one of these matters, and he shall be forgiven. But what remains shall be the priest’s, as the sacrifice of fine flour.

5:14 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying,

5:15 If a soul is overtaken by forgetfulness, and sins unintentionally concerning the holy things of the Lord, he shall bring unto the Lord for his offence an unblemished ram from the flock, valued in silver shekels according to the sanctuary shekel, for the offence which he has committed.

5:16 And he shall repay that wherein he has sinned against the holy things, and add a fifth part unto it, and give it unto the priest; and the priest shall make atonement for him with the ram of the guilt offering, and he shall be forgiven.

5:17 And if a soul sins, and does any of the things which the commandments of the Lord forbid, though he did not know it, and incurs guilt and bears the sin,

5:18 he shall bring unto the priest an unblemished ram from the flock, valued in silver, for a guilt offering; and the priest shall make atonement for him for his ignorance, wherein he acted ignorantly and did not know it, and he shall be forgiven.

5:19 For he has indeed committed an offence before the Lord.

5:20 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying,

5:21 If a soul sins, and utterly disregards the commandments of the Lord, and deals falsely with his neighbour concerning a deposit, or a partnership, or robbery, or any wrong which he has done unto his neighbour,

5:22 or finds a lost thing and deals falsely concerning it, and swears unjustly concerning any of all the things which a man may do so as to sin therein,

5:23 then it shall be, when he has sinned and incurred guilt, that he shall return the plunder which he seized, or that which he obtained by wrong, or the deposit which was entrusted unto him, or the lost thing which he found,

5:24 concerning every matter about which he swore unjustly. And he shall repay the principal, and add a fifth part unto it; he shall repay it unto the one to whom it belongs, on the day when he is convicted.

5:25 And for his offence he shall bring unto the Lord an unblemished ram from the flock, of a value corresponding to the offence which he has committed against Him.

5:26 And the priest shall make atonement for him before the Lord, and he shall be forgiven concerning any of all the things which he has done and wherein he has offended Him.

Leviticus 6

6:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying,

6:2 Command Aaron and his sons, saying: This is the law of whole burning. The whole burnt offering shall remain upon its burning place upon the altar all night until morning; and the fire of the altar shall burn upon it, and shall not be quenched.

6:3 And the priest shall put on a linen tunic, and he shall put linen undergarments about his body; and he shall remove from the altar the burnt remains of the whole burning which the fire has consumed, and place them beside the altar.

6:4 And he shall take off his robe, and put on another robe, and carry the burnt remains outside the camp unto a clean place.

6:5 And the fire upon the altar shall burn from it, and shall not be quenched; and the priest shall burn wood upon it in the morning, and pile the whole burnt offering upon it, and place upon it the fat of the offering of deliverance.

6:6 And a fire shall burn continually upon the altar; it shall not be quenched.

6:7 This is the law of the sacrifice which the sons of Aaron shall bring before the Lord, opposite the altar.

6:8 And he shall take a handful from the fine flour of the sacrifice, with its oil and the frankincense upon the sacrifice, and offer it up upon the altar as an offering: a sweet savour, its memorial portion unto the Lord.

6:9 But Aaron and his sons shall eat what remains of it. It shall be eaten unleavened in a holy place; they shall eat it in the court of the Tent of Testimony.

6:10 It shall not be baked with leaven. I have given it unto them as a portion from the offerings of the Lord; it is most holy, as the offering for sin and the guilt offering.

6:11 Every male among the priests shall eat it; it is an everlasting statute throughout your generations, from the offerings of the Lord. Whosoever touches them shall be sanctified.

6:12 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying,

6:13 This is the gift of Aaron and his sons which they shall bring unto the Lord on the day when you anoint him: a tenth of an oiphi of fine flour as a continual sacrifice, half in the morning and half in the evening.

6:14 It shall be made upon a griddle with oil; he shall bring it mixed, in rolled pieces, a sacrifice of fragments, a sacrifice for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

6:15 The priest from among his sons who is anointed in his stead shall prepare it. It is an everlasting law; it shall all be fully performed.

6:16 And every sacrifice of a priest shall be wholly burned, and shall not be eaten.

6:17 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying,

6:18 Speak unto Aaron and his sons, saying: This is the law of the sin offering. In the place where they slaughter the whole burnt offering, they shall slaughter the offerings for sin before the Lord; they are most holy.

6:19 The priest who offers it up shall eat it. It shall be eaten in a holy place, in the court of the Tent of Testimony.

6:20 Whosoever touches its flesh shall be sanctified; and if any of its blood is sprinkled upon a garment, what it was sprinkled upon shall be washed in a holy place.

6:21 And the earthenware vessel in which it is boiled shall be broken; but if it is boiled in a bronze vessel, he shall scour it and rinse it with water.

6:22 Every male among the priests shall eat them; they are most holy unto the Lord.

6:23 And none of the offerings for sin whose blood is brought into the Tent of Testimony to make atonement in the holy place shall be eaten; they shall be burned with fire.

Leviticus 7

7:1 And this is the law of the ram for the guilt offering; it is most holy.

7:2 In the place where they slaughter the whole burnt offering, they shall slaughter the ram of the guilt offering before the Lord; and he shall pour the blood round about upon the base of the altar.

7:3 And he shall bring all its fat from it: the loin, and all the fat which covers the inward parts, and all the fat upon the inward parts,

7:4 and the two kidneys, and the fat upon them which is by the thighs, and the lobe upon the liver; these he shall remove with the kidneys.

7:5 And the priest shall offer them up upon the altar as an offering unto the Lord. It is for guilt.

7:6 Every male among the priests shall eat them; they shall eat them in a holy place. They are most holy.

7:7 As the offering for sin, so also the guilt offering: one law is theirs. It shall belong unto the priest who makes atonement with it.

7:8 And the priest who brings a man’s whole burnt offering shall have the hide of the whole burnt offering which he brings.

7:9 And every sacrifice made in an oven, and every sacrifice made upon a hearth or upon a griddle, shall belong unto the priest who brings it.

7:10 And every sacrifice prepared with oil, or not so prepared, shall belong unto all the sons of Aaron, unto each an equal share.

7:11 This is the law of the sacrifice of deliverance which they shall bring unto the Lord.

7:12 If he brings it for praise, he shall bring with the sacrifice of praise loaves of fine flour prepared with oil, unleavened wafers spread with oil, and fine flour mixed with oil.

7:13 He shall bring his gifts with leavened loaves, with a sacrifice of praise and deliverance.

7:14 And he shall bring one of all his gifts as a portion set apart unto the Lord; it shall belong unto the priest who pours the blood of the offering of deliverance.

7:15 And the flesh of the sacrifice of praise and deliverance shall be his, and shall be eaten on the day when it is given; they shall leave none of it until morning.

7:16 And if he sacrifices his gift as a vow or a freewill offering, it shall be eaten on the day when he brings his sacrifice, and on the morrow.

7:17 And what remains of the flesh of the sacrifice until the third day shall be burned with fire.

7:18 But if he eats any of the flesh on the third day, it shall not be accepted for him who brings it, neither shall it be reckoned unto him; it is a defilement. And the soul that eats of it shall bear the sin.

7:19 And flesh which touches any unclean thing shall not be eaten; it shall be burned with fire. Whosoever is clean shall eat flesh.

7:20 But the soul that eats of the flesh of the sacrifice of deliverance which is the Lord’s, while his uncleanness is upon him, that soul shall perish from among his people.

7:21 And if a soul touches any unclean thing, human uncleanness, or unclean four-footed beasts, or any unclean abomination, and eats of the flesh of the sacrifice of deliverance which is the Lord’s, that soul shall perish from among his people.

7:22 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying,

7:23 Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying: You shall eat no fat of cattle, or sheep, or goats.

7:24 And fat from animals that have died, or from those torn by wild beasts, may be used for any work; but it shall in no wise be eaten as food.

7:25 Whosoever eats fat from the livestock from which an offering is brought unto the Lord, that soul shall perish from among his people.

7:26 You shall eat no blood in any dwelling place of yours, whether of birds or of livestock.

7:27 Every soul that eats blood, that soul shall perish from among his people.

7:28 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying,

7:29 And you shall speak unto the sons of Israel, saying: He who brings a sacrifice of deliverance unto the Lord shall bring his gift unto the Lord from the sacrifice of deliverance.

7:30 His hands shall bring the offerings unto the Lord: the fat upon the breast and the lobe of the liver; he shall bring them to place them as a gift before the Lord.

7:31 And the priest shall offer up the fat upon the altar; and the breast shall be Aaron’s and his sons’.

7:32 And the right foreleg you shall give as a portion set apart unto the priest from your sacrifices of deliverance.

7:33 He among the sons of Aaron who brings the blood of the offering of deliverance and the fat shall have the right foreleg as his portion.

7:34 For the breast of the presentation and the foreleg of the portion set apart have I taken from the sons of Israel, from your sacrifices of deliverance; and I have given them unto Aaron the priest and unto his sons as an everlasting statute from the sons of Israel.

7:35 This is Aaron’s anointing and the anointing of his sons from the offerings of the Lord, on the day when he brought them forward to serve as priests unto the Lord,

7:36 as the Lord commanded to be given them from the sons of Israel on the day when he anointed them: an everlasting statute throughout their generations.

7:37 This is the law of the whole burnt offerings, and the sacrifice, and the offering for sin, and the guilt offering, and the consecration, and the sacrifice of deliverance,

7:38 as the Lord commanded Moses on Mount Sinai on the day when He commanded the sons of Israel to bring their gifts before the Lord in the wilderness of Sinai.

Leviticus 8

8:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

8:2 Take Aaron and his sons, his robes, the anointing oil, the calf for the sin offering, the two rams, and the basket of unleavened bread.

8:3 And assemble the whole congregation at the entrance of the Tent of Testimony.

8:4 And Moses did as the Lord directed him, and he assembled the congregation at the door of the Tent of Testimony.

8:5 And Moses said unto the congregation: This is the word which the Lord commanded to be done.

8:6 And Moses brought Aaron and his sons forward and washed them with water.

8:7 And he clothed him with the tunic, girded him with the belt, clothed him with the under-robe, and put the shoulder-piece on him. He girded him according to the shoulder-piece's workmanship and fastened him securely in it.

8:8 And he placed the oracle-piece on it and put Manifestation and Truth upon the oracle-piece.

8:9 And he put the turban on his head and placed on its front the gold plate, the consecrated holy object, as the Lord directed Moses.

8:10 And Moses took some of the anointing oil,

8:11 and sprinkled some of it on the altar seven times. He anointed the altar and consecrated it, and all its utensils, the basin and its stand, and consecrated them. He anointed the tent and everything in it and consecrated it.

8:12 And Moses poured some of the anointing oil on Aaron's head, anointed him, and consecrated him.

8:13 And Moses brought Aaron's sons forward, clothed them with tunics, girded them with belts, and put turbans on them, as the Lord directed Moses.

8:14 And Moses brought the calf for the sin offering forward, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the head of the calf of the sin offering.

8:15 And he slaughtered it, and Moses took some of the blood and put it with his finger all around on the altar's horns, cleansing the altar. He poured out the blood at the altar's base and consecrated it, to make atonement upon it.

8:16 And Moses took all the fat on the inward parts, the lobe on the liver, both kidneys and the fat on them, and Moses offered them up on the altar.

8:17 And he burned up the calf, its hide, its flesh, and its dung with fire outside the camp, as the Lord directed Moses.

8:18 And Moses brought the ram for the whole burnt offering forward, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the ram's head.

8:19 And Moses slaughtered the ram, and Moses poured the blood all around against the altar.

8:20 And he divided the ram limb by limb, and Moses offered up the head, the limbs, and the fat.

8:21 And he washed the belly and feet with water, and Moses offered up the whole ram on the altar: a whole burnt offering for a sweet savour, an offering unto the Lord, as the Lord commanded Moses.

8:22 And Moses brought the second ram forward, a ram of consecration, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the ram's head.

8:23 And he slaughtered it, and Moses took some of its blood and put it upon Aaron's right earlobe, the extremity of his right hand, and the extremity of his right foot.

8:24 And Moses brought Aaron's sons forward, and Moses put some of the blood on their right earlobes, the extremities of their right hands, and the extremities of their right feet. Moses poured the blood all around against the altar.

8:25 And he took the fat, the loin, the fat on the belly, the lobe of the liver, the two kidneys and the fat on them, and the right foreleg.

8:26 And from the basket of consecration before the Lord he took one unleavened loaf, one loaf with oil, and one wafer, and placed them on the fat and the right foreleg.

8:27 And he put everything on Aaron's hands and his sons' hands and offered them up as a portion set apart before the Lord.

8:28 And Moses took them from their hands, and Moses offered them up on the altar upon the whole burnt offering of consecration, which is a sweet savour, an offering unto the Lord.

8:29 And Moses took the breast and removed it as a presentation before the Lord from the ram of consecration. It became Moses' portion, as the Lord commanded Moses.

8:30 And Moses took some of the anointing oil and some of the blood on the altar and sprinkled Aaron and his garments, and his sons and their garments with him. He consecrated Aaron and his garments, and his sons and their garments with him.

8:31 And Moses said unto Aaron and his sons: Boil the flesh in the court of the Tent of Testimony, in a holy place, and there you shall eat it, and the loaves in the basket of consecration, as I have been directed, saying: Aaron and his sons shall eat them.

8:32 And what remains of the flesh and loaves shall be burned up with fire.

8:33 And you shall not go out from the door of the Tent of Testimony for seven days, until the day is fulfilled, the day of your consecration; for he shall consecrate your hands for seven days.

8:34 As he has done this day, the Lord commanded it to be done, to make atonement for you.

8:35 And you shall remain at the door of the Tent of Testimony seven days, day and night; you shall keep the charges of the Lord, so that you do not die, for thus the Lord God commanded me.

8:36 And Aaron and his sons did all the things the Lord directed Moses.

Leviticus 9

9:1 And it came to pass on the eighth day that Moses called Aaron and his sons and the council of elders of Israel.

9:2 And Moses said unto Aaron: Take unto yourself a calf from the cattle for sin, and a ram for a whole burnt offering, unblemished, and present them before the Lord.

9:3 And speak unto the council of elders of Israel, saying: Take one male young goat from the goats for sin, and a calf and a year-old lamb, unblemished, for a whole offering,

9:4 and a calf and a ram for a sacrifice of deliverance before the Lord, and fine flour mixed with oil, for today the Lord will appear among you.

9:5 And they brought what Moses commanded opposite the Tent of Testimony, and the whole congregation drew near and stood before the Lord.

9:6 And Moses said: Do this thing which the Lord said, and the glory of the Lord shall appear among you.

9:7 And Moses said unto Aaron: Draw near unto the altar, and prepare your offering for sin and your whole burnt offering, and make atonement for yourself and your house; and prepare the gifts of the people, and make atonement for them, as the Lord commanded Moses.

9:8 And Aaron drew near unto the altar and slaughtered the calf for the sin offering.

9:9 And Aaron’s sons brought the blood to him. He dipped his finger in the blood, put it on the altar’s horns, and poured the blood at the altar’s base.

9:10 And he offered up the fat, the kidneys, and the lobe of the liver of the sin offering on the altar, as the Lord commanded Moses.

9:11 And he burned up the flesh and hide with fire outside the camp.

9:12 And he slaughtered the whole burnt offering. Aaron’s sons brought him the blood, and he poured it all around against the altar.

9:13 And they brought him the whole burnt offering limb by limb, the parts and the head, and he placed them on the altar.

9:14 And he washed the belly and feet with water and placed them upon the whole burnt offering on the altar.

9:15 And they presented the gift of the people; and he took the male young goat for the sin offering of the people, and slaughtered it as the first.

9:16 And he presented the whole burnt offering and prepared it as was fitting.

9:17 And he presented the sacrifice, filled his hands with some of it, and placed it on the altar, apart from the morning whole burnt offering.

9:18 And he slaughtered the calf and ram of the people’s sacrifice of deliverance. Aaron’s sons brought him the blood, and he poured it all around against the altar.

9:19 And as for the fat from the calf and ram—the loin, the fat covering the belly, the two kidneys and the fat on them, and the lobe on the liver—

9:20 he placed the fat upon the breasts; and they offered up the fat upon the altar.

9:21 And Aaron removed the breast and the right foreleg as a portion set apart before the Lord, as the Lord directed Moses.

9:22 And Aaron lifted his hands over the people and blessed them. He came down after preparing the offering for sin, the whole burnt offerings, and the deliverance offerings.

9:23 And Moses and Aaron entered the Tent of Testimony. They came out and blessed all the people, and the Lord’s glory appeared to all the people.

9:24 And fire came out from the Lord and consumed what was on the altar, both the whole burnt offerings and the fat. All the people saw, were astonished, and fell on their faces.

Leviticus 10

10:1 And the two sons of Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, each took his firepan, and put fire upon it, and placed incense upon it, and presented strange fire before the Lord, which the Lord had not commanded them.

10:2 And fire came out from the Lord and consumed them, and they died before the Lord.

10:3 And Moses said unto Aaron: This is what the Lord said, saying: Among those who draw near unto Me I will be sanctified, and in the whole congregation I will be glorified. And Aaron was deeply stricken.

10:4 And Moses called Misadai and Elzaphan, sons of Uzziel, sons of the brother of Aaron’s father, and said unto them: Draw near, and carry your brethren away from before the holy things, outside the camp.

10:5 And they came near and carried them in their tunics outside the camp, as Moses had said.

10:6 And Moses said unto Aaron, and unto Eleazar and Ithamar his remaining sons: You shall not remove your turbans, neither shall you rend your garments, lest you die and wrath come upon the whole congregation. Your brethren, the whole house of Israel, shall weep over the burning by which they were burned by the Lord.

10:7 And you shall not go out from the door of the Tent of Testimony, lest you die; for the anointing oil from the Lord is upon you. And they did according to the word of Moses.

10:8 And the Lord spoke unto Aaron, saying:

10:9 You shall drink no wine or strong drink, you and your sons with you, when you enter the Tent of Testimony, or when you approach the altar, so that you do not die: an everlasting statute throughout your generations,

10:10 to distinguish between the holy and the profane, and between the unclean and the clean.

10:11 And you shall instruct the sons of Israel in all the statutes which the Lord spoke unto them by the hand of Moses.

10:12 And Moses said unto Aaron, and unto Eleazar and Ithamar, the remaining sons of Aaron: Take the sacrifice which remains from the offerings of the Lord, and eat it unleavened beside the altar; it is most holy.

10:13 And you shall eat it in a holy place; for this is your prescribed portion and the prescribed portion of your sons from the offerings of the Lord, for thus I have been commanded.

10:14 And you shall eat the breast of the separated portion and the foreleg of the portion set apart in a holy place, you and your sons and your house with you; for it was given as your prescribed portion and the prescribed portion of your sons from the sacrifices of deliverance of the sons of Israel.

10:15 They shall bring the foreleg of the portion set apart and the breast of the separated portion with the offerings of fat, to set apart a separated portion before the Lord; and it shall be an everlasting prescribed portion for you, and for your sons and your daughters with you, as the Lord directed Moses.

10:16 And Moses diligently sought the male young goat for the sin offering, and, behold, it had been burned. And Moses was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar, the remaining sons of Aaron, saying:

10:17 Why did you not eat the offering for sin in a holy place? For it is most holy; He gave it unto you to eat, that you might take away the sin of the congregation and make atonement for them before the Lord.

10:18 For none of its blood was brought into the holy place. You shall eat it in front, within, in a holy place, as the Lord directed me.

10:19 And Aaron spoke unto Moses, saying: If this day they have presented their offerings for sin and their whole burnt offerings before the Lord, and these things have befallen me, shall I eat the offerings for sin this day? Would it be acceptable unto the Lord?

10:20 And Moses heard, and it pleased him.

Leviticus 11

11:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses and Aaron, saying:

11:2 Speak to the sons of Israel, saying: These are the animals you may eat among all the animals on the earth.

11:3 Every animal among the livestock that divides the hoof, and cleaves its claws into two hoofs, and brings up the cud: these you may eat.

11:4 Nevertheless, of these you shall not eat: among those that bring up the cud and those that divide the hoof and cleave the claws, the camel, because it brings up the cud, but does not divide the hoof; it is unclean unto you;

11:5 and the hare, because it brings up the cud but does not divide the hoof; it is unclean for you;

11:6 and the choirogryllios, because it brings up the cud but does not divide the hoof; it is unclean for you;

11:7 and the pig, because it divides the hoof and has cleft hoof-claws but does not bring up the cud; it is unclean for you.

11:8 You shall not eat their flesh or touch their carcasses; they are unclean for you.

11:9 And these you may eat among all that are in the waters: whatever has fins and scales in the waters, in the seas and streams, you may eat.

11:10 And whatever has neither fins nor scales in the water, in the seas and streams, among all that the waters bring forth and every living creature in the water, is an abomination.

11:11 And they shall be abominations for you. You shall not eat their flesh, and you shall abhor their carcasses.

11:12 And whatever among the things in the water has no fins and scales is an abomination for you.

11:13 And these you shall abhor among the birds; they shall not be eaten, for they are an abomination: the eagle, the gryps, and the sea-eagle;

11:14 and the vulture, the kite, and those like it;

11:15 and the raven and those like it;

11:16 and the ostrich, the owl, the gull and those like it, and the hawk and those like it;

11:17 and the night-raven, the diving bird, and the ibis;

11:18 and the purple waterbird, the pelican, and the swan;

11:19 and the owl, the heron, the plover and those like it, the hoopoe, and the bat.

11:20 And every winged creeping thing that walks on four is an abomination for you.

11:21 But among the winged creeping things that walk on four, you may eat those that have legs above their feet for leaping on the earth.

11:22 And these among them you may eat: the brouchos and those like it, the attakes and those like it, the locust and those like it, and the snake-fighter and those like it.

11:23 Every winged creeping thing that has four feet is an abomination for you.

11:24 And by these you shall become defiled: everyone who touches their carcasses shall be unclean until evening, 11:25 and whosoever carries any of their carcasses shall wash his garments and be unclean until evening.

11:26 Every animal that divides the hoof and has cleft claws but does not chew the cud shall be unclean for you. Whosoever touches their carcasses shall be unclean until evening.

11:27 And among all wild animals that walk on four, whatever walks on its hands shall be unclean for you. Whosoever touches their carcasses shall be unclean until evening.

11:28 And whosoever carries their carcasses shall wash his garments and be unclean until evening. They are unclean for you.

11:29 And these are unclean for you among the creeping things that creep on the earth: the weasel, the mouse, and the land crocodile;

11:30 the shrew, the chameleon, the spotted lizard, the lizard, and the mole.

11:31 These are unclean for you among all the creeping things on the earth. Whosoever touches them when they are dead shall be unclean until evening.

11:32 And anything on which one of them falls when dead shall become unclean: any wooden utensil, garment, skin, or sack, any article used for work. It shall be dipped in water and remain unclean until evening; then it shall be clean.

11:33 And if one of them falls inside any earthenware vessel, everything in it shall become unclean, and the vessel shall be shattered.

11:34 And any food that may be eaten, on which water comes, shall become unclean, and any drink that may be drunk in any vessel shall become unclean.

11:35 And anything on which any of their carcasses falls shall become unclean. Ovens and pot-stands shall be demolished; these are unclean and shall be unclean for you.

11:36 But springs of water, a cistern, and a gathering of water shall remain clean; whosoever touches their carcasses shall be unclean.

11:37 If any of their carcasses falls on seed intended for sowing, it remains clean.

11:38 But if water is poured on any seed and any of their carcasses falls on it, it is unclean for you.

11:39 If an animal that you may eat dies, whosoever touches its carcass shall be unclean until evening.

11:40 And whosoever eats from these carcasses shall wash his garments and be unclean until evening. Whosoever carries any of their carcasses shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.

11:41 And every creeping thing that creeps upon the earth shall be an abomination for you; it shall not be eaten.

11:42 And whatever moves on its belly, whatever walks on four continually, whatever has many feet among all the creeping things that creep upon the earth, you shall not eat, for it is an abomination for you.

11:43 And you shall in no wise make your souls abominable through any creeping things that creep upon the earth; neither shall you be defiled through them, nor shall you be unclean through them;

11:44 for I am the Lord your God; and you shall be sanctified and you shall be holy, for I am holy, the Lord your God. And you shall not defile your souls through any creeping things that move upon the earth;

11:45 for I am the Lord who brought you up out of the land of Egypt to be your God; and you shall be holy, for I am holy, the Lord.

11:46 This is the law concerning animals, birds, every creature that moves in the water, and every creature that creeps upon the earth,

11:47 to distinguish between the unclean and the clean, and between the living creatures that are eaten and the living creatures that are not eaten.

Leviticus 12

12:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

12:2 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: If a woman receives seed and bears a male, she shall be unclean seven days; she shall be unclean as in the days of separation for her menstrual discharge.

12:3 And on the eighth day he shall circumcise the flesh of his foreskin.

12:4 And she shall remain thirty-three days in her unclean blood. She shall touch nothing holy and shall not enter the sanctuary until the days of her purification are completed.

12:5 But if she bears a female, she shall be unclean twice seven days according to her menstrual discharge; and she shall remain sixty-six days in her unclean blood.

12:6 And when the days of her purification for a son or daughter are completed, she shall bring unto the priest at the door of the Tent of Testimony an unblemished year-old lamb for a whole burnt offering and a young pigeon or turtledove for sin.

12:7 And the priest shall present it before the Lord, and make atonement for her, and cleanse her from the fountain of her blood. This is the law for her that bears a male or a female.

12:8 If her hand cannot provide enough for a lamb, she shall take two turtledoves or two young pigeons, one for a whole burnt offering and one for sin. The priest shall make atonement for her, and she shall be cleansed.

Leviticus 13

13:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses and Aaron, saying:

13:2 If anyone has on the skin of his body a bright scar-like mark, and it becomes a lesion of leprosy on his skin, he shall be brought unto Aaron the priest or to one of his sons, the priests.

13:3 And the priest shall examine the lesion on the skin of his body. If the hair in the lesion has turned white and the lesion appears lower than the skin of his body, it is a lesion of leprosy. The priest shall examine him and declare him unclean.

13:4 If the bright spot on his skin is white but does not appear lower than the skin, and its hair has not turned white, but it is faint, the priest shall isolate the lesion for seven days.

13:5 And the priest shall examine the lesion on the seventh day; and, behold, if the lesion remains before him, and the lesion has not shifted in the skin, the priest shall isolate him for a second seven days.

13:6 And the priest shall examine him on the seventh day a second time; and, behold, if the lesion is faint, and the lesion has not shifted in the skin, the priest shall declare him clean, for it is a mark; and having washed his garments, he shall be clean.

13:7 But if the mark changes and shifts in the skin after the priest has examined him for cleansing, he shall appear before the priest a second time,

13:8 and the priest shall examine him; and, behold, if the mark has shifted in the skin, the priest shall declare him unclean; it is leprosy.

13:9 And when a lesion of leprosy occurs in anyone, he shall come unto the priest.

13:10 And the priest shall examine him; and, behold, if there is a white scar in the skin, and it has turned the hair white, and there is some sound living flesh in the scar,

13:11 it is longstanding leprosy on the skin of his body. The priest shall declare him unclean and isolate him, for he is unclean.

13:12 But if the leprosy breaks out abundantly in the skin, and the leprosy covers all the skin of the lesion from head to foot, throughout the whole view of the priest,

13:13 the priest shall examine him; and, behold, if the leprosy has covered all the skin of his body, the priest shall declare him clean as to the lesion, because it has all turned white; it is clean.

13:14 And on whatever day living skin appears on him, he shall be defiled.

13:15 And the priest shall examine the sound skin, and the sound skin shall make him unclean, because it is unclean; it is leprosy.

13:16 But if the sound skin is restored and turns white, he shall come unto the priest,

13:17 and the priest shall examine him; and, behold, if the lesion has turned white, the priest shall declare the lesion clean; he is clean.

13:18 And if an ulcer occurs on the skin of the body and heals,

13:19 and a white scar or a whitish or fiery-red bright spot appears in the place of the ulcer, he shall appear before the priest.

13:20 And the priest shall examine it; and, behold, if its appearance is lower than the skin, and its hair has turned white, the priest shall declare him unclean; it is leprosy which has blossomed in the ulcer.

13:21 But if the priest examines it, and, behold, there is no white hair in it, and it is not lower than the skin of the body, but is faint, the priest shall isolate him seven days.

13:22 If it spreads in the skin, the priest shall declare him unclean; it is a lesion of leprosy that has blossomed in the ulcer.

13:23 But if the bright spot stays in its place and does not spread, it is the scar of the ulcer; the priest shall declare him clean.

13:24 And if the skin of the body has a burn from fire, and the healed area of the burn on his skin becomes a shining, bright, whitish-red or completely white spot,

13:25 the priest shall examine him; and, behold, if the hair in the shining spot has turned white, and its appearance is lower than the skin, it is leprosy which has blossomed in the burn; and the priest shall declare him unclean; it is a lesion of leprosy.

13:26 But if the priest examines it, and, behold, there is no white hair in the shining spot, and it is not lower than the skin, but is faint, the priest shall isolate him seven days.

13:27 And the priest shall examine him on the seventh day; but if it has indeed spread in the skin, the priest shall declare him unclean; it is a lesion of leprosy which has blossomed in the ulcer.

13:28 But if the shining spot stays in its place, has not spread in the skin, and is faint, it is the scar of the burn. The priest shall declare him clean, for it is the mark of the burn.

13:29 And if a man or woman has a lesion of leprosy on the head or beard,

13:30 the priest shall examine the lesion; and, behold, if its appearance is more hollow than the skin, and there is fine yellowish hair in it, the priest shall declare him unclean; it is a broken patch, leprosy of the head or leprosy of the beard.

13:31 And if the priest examines the lesion of the broken patch, and, behold, its appearance is not more hollow than the skin, and there is no yellowish hair in it, the priest shall isolate the lesion of the broken patch seven days.

13:32 And the priest shall examine the lesion on the seventh day; and, behold, if the broken patch has not spread, and there is no yellowish hair in it, and the appearance of the broken patch is not hollow below the skin,

13:33 then the skin shall be shaved, but the broken patch shall not be shaved. The priest shall isolate the broken patch for a second seven days.

13:34 And the priest shall examine the broken patch on the seventh day; and, behold, if the broken patch has not spread in the skin after he was shaved, and its appearance is not hollow below the skin, the priest shall declare him clean; and having washed his garments, he shall be clean.

13:35 But if the broken patch has indeed spread in the skin after he has been cleansed,

13:36 the priest shall examine him; and, behold, if the broken patch has spread in the skin, the priest shall not inspect for yellow hair, for he is unclean.

13:37 But if before him the broken patch has remained in place and black hair has grown in it, the broken patch has healed. He is clean, and the priest shall declare him clean.

13:38 And if a man or woman has shining, whitish patches on the skin of the body,

13:39 the priest shall examine him; and, behold, if there are shining, whitish patches on the skin of his body, it is a white eruption; he is clean. It blossoms in the skin of his body; he is clean.

13:40 If anyone loses the hair of his head, he is bald; he is clean.

13:41 If he loses the hair at the front of his head, he is bald at the forehead; he is clean.

13:42 But if there is a white or fiery-red lesion on his bald head or bald forehead, it is leprosy on his bald head or bald forehead.

13:43 And the priest shall examine him; and, behold, if the appearance of the lesion on his bald head or his bald forehead is white tinged with red, like the appearance of leprosy on the skin of his body,

13:44 he is a man with leprosy; the priest shall surely declare him unclean; his lesion is upon his head.

13:45 And he that has leprosy, in whom the lesion is, shall have his garments loosened and his head uncovered, and shall put a covering about his mouth, and shall be called unclean;

13:46 all the days in which the lesion is upon him, being unclean, he shall be unclean; he shall dwell apart; his dwelling shall be outside the camp.

13:47 And if a garment has a lesion of leprosy, whether a woollen garment or a garment of coarse flax,

13:48 or in warp or weft, or in linen or wool, or in leather or any worked leather,

13:49 and the lesion in the leather, garment, warp, weft, or any worked leather article is greenish or fiery red, it is a lesion of leprosy, and he shall show it unto the priest.

13:50 And the priest shall examine the lesion, and the priest shall isolate the lesion for seven days.

13:51 And on the seventh day the priest shall examine the lesion. If it has spread in the garment, warp, weft, or leather, in whatever use is made of leather, the lesion is persistent leprosy; it is unclean.

13:52 He shall burn up the garment, the warp or weft in wool or linen, or any leather article that has the lesion, for it is persistent leprosy; it shall be burned up with fire.

13:53 But if the priest examines it and the lesion has not spread in the garment, warp, weft, or any leather article,

13:54 then the priest shall give instructions, and he shall wash the article with the lesion; the priest shall isolate the lesion for a second seven days.

13:55 And after it has been washed, the priest shall examine the lesion. If it has not changed its appearance and has not spread, it is unclean; it shall be burned up with fire. It has become established in the garment, warp, or weft.

13:56 And if the priest examines it and the lesion is faint after washing, he shall tear it out of the garment, leather, warp, or weft.

13:57 If it appears again in the garment, warp, weft, or any leather article, it is blossoming leprosy; the affected article shall be burned up with fire.

13:58 And a garment, warp, weft, or any leather article that is washed, from which the lesion departs, shall be washed a second time and be clean.

13:59 This is the law of a lesion of leprosy in a garment of wool or coarse flax, or in warp or weft, or in any leather article, for declaring it clean or unclean.

Leviticus 14

14:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

14:2 This is the law of the person with leprosy on the day he is cleansed: he shall be brought unto the priest,

14:3 and the priest shall go outside the camp, and the priest shall examine him; and, behold, if the lesion of leprosy has healed in him that had leprosy,

14:4 then the priest shall give orders, and they shall take two living clean birds, cedarwood, spun scarlet thread, and hyssop for the person who has been cleansed.

14:5 And the priest shall give orders, and they shall slaughter one bird into an earthenware vessel over living water.

14:6 And he shall take the living bird, cedarwood, spun scarlet thread, and hyssop, and dip them and the living bird in the blood of the bird slaughtered over the living water.

14:7 And he shall sprinkle the person cleansed from leprosy seven times, and he shall be clean. He shall release the living bird into the plain.

14:8 And the person who has been cleansed shall wash his garments, shave off all his hair, bathe in water, and be clean. Afterward he shall enter the camp, but he shall remain outside his house for seven days.

14:9 And on the seventh day he shall shave off all his hair: his head, his beard, and his eyebrows; he shall shave off all his hair. He shall wash his garments, bathe his body in water, and be clean.

14:10 And on the eighth day he shall take two unblemished year-old lambs, one unblemished year-old sheep, three tenths of fine flour mixed with oil for a sacrifice, and one kotyle of oil,

14:11 and the priest who performs the cleansing shall present the person being cleansed and these things before the Lord at the entrance of the Tent of Testimony.

14:12 And the priest shall take one lamb and present it for the guilt offering, with the kotyle of oil, and separate it as a separated portion before the Lord.

14:13 And they shall slaughter the lamb in a holy place where they slaughter the whole burnt offerings and offerings for sin. The offering for sin is like the guilt offering: it belongs unto the priest; it is most holy.

14:14 And the priest shall take some of the guilt offering’s blood and put it on the right earlobe of the person being cleansed, the extremity of his right hand, and the extremity of his right foot.

14:15 And the priest shall take some of the kotyle of oil and pour it upon the priest’s left hand,

14:16 and dip his right finger into the oil on his left hand and sprinkle with his finger seven times before the Lord.

14:17 The priest shall put the oil remaining in his hand on the right earlobe of the person being cleansed, the extremity of his right hand, and the extremity of his right foot, upon the place of the blood of the guilt offering.

14:18 The priest shall put the remaining oil in his hand on the head of the person who has been cleansed. The priest shall make atonement for him before the Lord.

14:19 And the priest shall prepare the offering for sin and make atonement for the unclean person being cleansed from his sin. Afterward the priest shall slaughter the whole burnt offering.

14:20 And the priest shall offer up the whole burnt offering and sacrifice on the altar before the Lord. The priest shall make atonement for him, and he shall be cleansed.

14:21 If he is poor and his hand cannot provide, he shall take one lamb for his offence as a portion set apart, to make atonement for him, a tenth of fine flour mixed with oil for a sacrifice, and one kotyle of oil,

14:22 and two turtledoves or two young pigeons, whichever his hand can provide, one for sin and one for a whole burnt offering.

14:23 And on the eighth day he shall bring them for his cleansing unto the priest, at the entrance of the Tent of Testimony before the Lord.

14:24 And the priest shall take the lamb of the guilt offering and the kotyle of oil, and place them as a presentation before the Lord.

14:25 And he shall slaughter the lamb of the guilt offering. The priest shall take some of its blood and put it on the right earlobe of the person being cleansed, the extremity of his right hand, and the extremity of his right foot.

14:26 And the priest shall pour some of the oil upon the priest’s left hand,

14:27 and with his right finger the priest shall sprinkle some of the oil in his left hand seven times before the Lord.

14:28 And the priest shall put some of the oil on his hand on the right earlobe of the person being cleansed, the extremity of his right hand, and the extremity of his right foot, on the place of the guilt offering’s blood.

14:29 He shall put the remaining oil in the priest’s hand on the head of the person who has been cleansed, and the priest shall make atonement for him before the Lord.

14:30 And he shall prepare one of the turtledoves or young pigeons, as his hand can provide,

14:31 one for sin and one for a whole burnt offering, together with the sacrifice. The priest shall make atonement before the Lord for the person being cleansed.

14:32 This is the law for the one with a lesion of leprosy and for the one whose hand cannot provide for his cleansing.

14:33 And the Lord spoke unto Moses and Aaron, saying:

14:34 When you enter the land of the Canaanites, which I give unto you for a possession, and I put a lesion of leprosy in the houses of the land of your possession,

14:35 then the owner of the house shall come and tell the priest, saying: Something like a lesion has appeared to me in the house.

14:36 And the priest shall command that the house be emptied before he enters to examine the lesion, so that nothing in the house becomes unclean. Afterward the priest shall enter to examine the house.

14:37 And he shall examine the lesion in the walls of the house, greenish or fiery-red hollows whose appearance is lower than the walls,

14:38 and the priest shall leave the house, go to its door, and isolate the house for seven days.

14:39 And the priest shall return on the seventh day, and examine the house; and, behold, if the lesion has not spread in the walls of the house,

14:40 then the priest shall command them to remove the stones that have the lesion and throw them outside the city into an unclean place.

14:41 And they shall scrape the house all around inside and pour the dust outside the city into an unclean place.

14:42 And they shall take other scraped stones and put them in place of those stones. They shall take other earth and plaster the house.

14:43 If a lesion comes again and springs up in the house after the stones have been removed and the house scraped and plastered,

14:44 then the priest shall enter and examine it. If the lesion has spread in the house, it is persistent leprosy in the house; it is unclean.

14:45 And they shall demolish the house, and carry its timbers, its stones, and all its dust outside the city into an unclean place.

14:46 And whosoever enters the house during any of the days it is isolated shall be unclean until evening.

14:47 And whosoever sleeps in the house shall wash his garments and be unclean until evening, and whosoever eats in the house shall wash his garments and be unclean until evening.

14:48 But if the priest comes and enters and examines it, and, behold, the lesion has not spread at all in the house after the house was plastered, the priest shall declare the house clean, for the lesion has healed.

14:49 And to purify the house he shall take two living clean birds, cedarwood, spun scarlet thread, and hyssop.

14:50 And he shall slaughter one bird into an earthenware vessel over living water,

14:51 and take the cedarwood, spun scarlet thread, hyssop, and living bird, dip it in the blood of the bird slaughtered over living water, and sprinkle the house with them seven times,

14:52 and he shall purify the house with the bird’s blood, the living water, the living bird, the cedarwood, the hyssop, and the spun scarlet thread.

14:53 And he shall release the living bird outside the city into the plain, make atonement for the house, and it shall be clean.

14:54 This is the law concerning every lesion of leprosy and every broken patch,

14:55 and for leprosy of a garment or house,

14:56 and for a scar, a mark, or a shining spot,

14:57 and to explain on what day it is unclean and on what day it shall be cleansed. This is the law of leprosy.

Leviticus 15

15:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses and Aaron, saying:

15:2 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: If any man has a flow from his body, his flow is unclean.

15:3 And this is the law of his uncleanness: discharging seed from his body through the flow by which his body has become stopped up, this is his uncleanness in him; all the days of the flow of his body, in which his body has become stopped up through the flow, are his uncleanness.

15:4 Every bed on which the man with a seminal discharge lies is unclean, and every article on which the man with a seminal discharge sits shall be unclean.

15:5 And whosoever touches his bed shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.

15:6 And whosoever sits on an article on which the man with a seminal discharge has sat shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.

15:7 And whosoever touches the skin of the man with a seminal discharge shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.

15:8 If the man with a seminal discharge spits on someone clean, that person shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.

15:9 And any donkey saddle on which the man with a seminal discharge mounts shall be unclean until evening.

15:10 And whosoever touches anything that was under him shall be unclean until evening. Whosoever carries those things shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.

15:11 And anyone whom the man with a seminal discharge touches when he has not washed his hands shall wash his garments, bathe his body in water, and be unclean until evening.

15:12 And an earthenware vessel touched by the man with a seminal discharge shall be shattered, and a wooden vessel shall be washed with water and be clean.

15:13 When the man with a seminal discharge is cleansed from his flow, he shall count seven days for his cleansing, wash his garments, bathe his body in water, and be clean.

15:14 And on the eighth day he shall take two turtledoves or two young pigeons, bring them before the Lord to the doors of the Tent of Testimony, and give them unto the priest.

15:15 And the priest shall prepare them, one for sin and one for a whole burnt offering. The priest shall make atonement for him before the Lord for his flow.

15:16 And if a man has an emission of semen, he shall bathe his whole body in water and be unclean until evening.

15:17 And every garment and every skin on which there is semen shall be washed with water and be unclean until evening.

15:18 And if a man lies with a woman with an emission of semen, they shall bathe in water and be unclean until evening.

15:19 And if a woman has a flow of blood, her flow shall be in her body; she shall remain in her menstrual discharge for seven days. Whosoever touches her shall be unclean until evening,

15:20 and everything on which she lies during her menstrual discharge shall be unclean, and everything on which she sits shall be unclean.

15:21 And whosoever touches her bed shall wash his garments, bathe his body in water, and be unclean until evening.

15:22 And whosoever touches any article on which she sits shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.

15:23 If, while she is on her bed or on the article on which she sits, he touches her, he shall be unclean until evening.

15:24 If anyone lies with her and her uncleanness comes upon him, he shall be unclean for seven days, and every bed on which he lies shall be unclean.

15:25 And if a woman has a flow of blood for many days outside the time of her menstrual discharge, or if she also has a flow after her menstrual discharge, all the days of her unclean flow shall be like the days of her menstrual discharge; she shall be unclean.

15:26 And every bed on which she lies during all the days of her flow shall be like the bed of her menstrual discharge, and every article on which she sits shall be unclean, as in the uncleanness of her menstrual discharge.

15:27 Whosoever touches her shall be unclean. He shall wash his garments, bathe his body in water, and be unclean until evening.

15:28 When she is cleansed from her flow, she shall count seven days, and afterward she shall be cleansed.

15:29 And on the eighth day she shall take two turtledoves or two young pigeons and bring them unto the priest at the entrance of the Tent of Testimony.

15:30 And the priest shall prepare one for sin and one for a whole burnt offering. The priest shall make atonement for her before the Lord for her unclean flow.

15:31 And you shall make the sons of Israel wary of their uncleannesses, so that they do not die because of their uncleanness in defiling My tent which is among them.

15:32 This is the law for the man with a seminal discharge and for anyone who has an emission of semen and becomes defiled through it,

15:33 and for the woman bleeding in her menstrual discharge, for the one with a seminal discharge in his flow, male or female, and for the man who lies with a woman in menstrual separation.

Leviticus 16

16:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses after Aaron’s two sons died when they presented strange fire before the Lord and died.

16:2 And the Lord said unto Moses: Speak unto Aaron your brother, and let him not enter at all times into the holy place within the veil, before the propitiatory cover which is upon the ark of testimony, so that he does not die; for I will appear in a cloud above the propitiatory cover.

16:3 In this way Aaron shall enter the holy place: with a calf from the cattle for sin and a ram for a whole burnt offering.

16:4 And he shall put on a consecrated linen tunic, with linen undergarments against his skin, gird himself with a linen belt, and put on a linen turban. These are holy garments. He shall bathe his whole body in water and put them on.

16:5 And from the congregation of the sons of Israel he shall take two male young goats from the goats for sin and one ram for a whole burnt offering.

16:6 And Aaron shall present the calf for his sin offering and make atonement for himself and his house.

16:7 And he shall take the two male young goats and present them before the Lord beside the door of the Tent of Testimony.

16:8 And Aaron shall place upon the two male young goats one lot for the Lord and one lot for the one sent away.

16:9 And Aaron shall present the male young goat on which the lot for the Lord fell and offer it for sin.

16:10 And he shall present alive before the Lord the male young goat on which the lot of the one sent away fell, to make atonement over it, so as to send it away for removal. He shall release it into the wilderness.

16:11 And Aaron shall present the calf for the sin offering of himself and his house alone, make atonement for himself and his house, and slaughter the calf for his own sin offering.

16:12 And he shall take the firepan full of burning coals from the altar opposite the Lord, fill his hands with finely compounded incense, and bring them within the veil,

16:13 and put the incense on the fire before the Lord. The vapour of incense shall cover the propitiatory cover above the testimonies, and he shall not die.

16:14 And he shall take some of the calf’s blood and sprinkle it with his finger on the propitiatory cover toward the east; before the propitiatory cover he shall sprinkle some of the blood with his finger seven times.

16:15 And he shall slaughter the male young goat for the people’s sin offering before the Lord and bring some of its blood within the veil. He shall do with its blood as he did with the calf’s blood, sprinkling its blood on the propitiatory cover, before the propitiatory cover,

16:16 and make atonement for the holy place from the sons of Israel’s uncleannesses and their wrongdoings, concerning all their sins. He shall do the same for the Tent of Testimony established among them amid their uncleanness.

16:17 And no one shall be in the Tent of Testimony when he enters to make atonement in the holy place until he comes out. He shall make atonement for himself, his house, and the whole congregation of the sons of Israel.

16:18 And he shall go out unto the altar opposite the Lord and make atonement upon it. He shall take some of the calf's blood and some of the male young goat's blood and put it all around on the altar's horns,

16:19 and he shall sprinkle some of the blood on it with his finger seven times, cleanse it, and consecrate it from the sons of Israel's uncleannesses.

16:20 And he shall finish making atonement for the holy place, the Tent of Testimony, and the altar, and perform cleansing for the priests. He shall present the living male young goat.

16:21 And Aaron shall lay his hands on the living male young goat's head and confess over it all the sons of Israel's lawless deeds, all their injustices, and all their sins. He shall put them on the living male young goat's head and send it into the wilderness by the hand of a prepared man.

16:22 And the male young goat shall take upon itself their injustices to an inaccessible land, and he shall release the male young goat into the wilderness.

16:23 And Aaron shall enter the Tent of Testimony, take off the linen robe he wore when entering the holy place, and lay it aside there.

16:24 And he shall bathe his body in water in a holy place and put on his robe. He shall go out, prepare his whole offering and the people's whole offering, and make atonement for himself, his house, and the people, as for the priests.

16:25 And he shall offer up the fat of the offerings for sins on the altar.

16:26 And the one who sends away the male young goat designated for release shall wash his garments and bathe his body in water. Afterward he shall enter the camp.

16:27 And they shall carry outside the camp the calf and male young goat for the sin offering whose blood was brought in to make atonement in the holy place. They shall burn them up with fire, their hides, flesh, and dung.

16:28 The one who burns them shall wash his garments and bathe his body in water. Afterward he may enter the camp.

16:29 And this shall be an everlasting statute unto you: in the seventh month, on the tenth day of the month, humble your souls, and you shall do no work, neither the native nor the resident foreigner who is attached unto you.

16:30 For on this day he shall make atonement for you, to cleanse you from all your sins before the Lord; and you shall be cleansed.

16:31 It shall be a Sabbath of Sabbaths, a rest unto you; and you shall humble your souls: an everlasting statute.

16:32 The priest whom they anoint and whose hands they consecrate to serve as priest after his father shall make atonement. He shall put on the linen robe, a holy robe,

16:33 and he shall make atonement for the Holy of Holies, and for the Tent of Testimony and the altar shall he make atonement; and for the priests and for the whole congregation shall he make atonement.

16:34 And this shall be an everlasting statute unto you, to make atonement for the sons of Israel from all their sins; it shall be done once in the year, as the Lord directed Moses.

Leviticus 17

17:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

17:2 Speak unto Aaron and unto his sons and unto all the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: This is the word which the Lord commanded, saying:

17:3 Any person of the sons of Israel or of the resident foreigners attached to you who slaughters a calf, sheep, or goat in the camp, or slaughters it outside the camp,

17:4 and does not bring it unto the door of the Tent of Testimony, to prepare it as a whole burnt offering or an offering of deliverance acceptable unto the Lord for a sweet savour; and whosoever slaughters outside, and does not bring it unto the door of the Tent of Testimony, so as not to present a gift unto the Lord before the tent of the Lord: blood shall be reckoned unto that man; he has poured out blood; that soul shall be destroyed from among his people.

17:5 This is so that the sons of Israel may bring up their sacrifices, which they themselves slaughter in the plains; they shall bring them unto the Lord, to the doors of the Tent of Testimony, unto the priest, and sacrifice them as a sacrifice of deliverance unto the Lord.

17:6 And the priest shall pour the blood all around against the altar before the Lord beside the doors of the Tent of Testimony and offer up the fat for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

17:7 And they shall no longer sacrifice their sacrifices to the vain things after which they prostitute themselves. This shall be an everlasting ordinance for you throughout your generations.

17:8 And you shall say unto them: Any man of the sons of Israel, or of the sons of the resident foreigners attached unto you, who prepares a whole burnt offering or a sacrifice,

17:9 and does not bring it to the door of the Tent of Testimony to offer it unto the Lord, that person shall be destroyed from among his people.

17:10 And any man of the sons of Israel, or of the resident foreigners attached unto you, who eats any blood: I will set My face against the soul that eats the blood, and destroy him from among his people.

17:11 For the life of all flesh is its blood, and I have given it unto you upon the altar to make atonement for your lives; for its blood shall make atonement in place of the life.

17:12 Therefore I have said unto the sons of Israel: No soul among you shall eat blood; and the resident foreigner attached unto you shall not eat blood.

17:13 And any person of the sons of Israel or of the resident foreigners attached to you who hunts a wild animal or bird that may be eaten shall pour out the blood and cover it with earth.

17:14 For the life of all flesh is its blood; and I said unto the sons of Israel: You shall eat no blood of any flesh, for the life of all flesh is its blood; whosoever eats it shall be destroyed.

17:15 And every soul, whether among the natives or among the resident foreigners, that eats an animal which has died or has been taken by wild beasts, shall wash his garments and bathe in water, and be unclean until evening, and shall be clean.

17:16 But if he does not wash his garments and does not bathe his body in water, he shall bear his lawless deed.

Leviticus 18

18:1 And the Lord said unto Moses, saying,

18:2 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: I am the Lord your God.

18:3 You shall not follow the practices of the land of Egypt, where you dwelt; and you shall not follow the practices of the land of Canaan, where I am bringing you; neither shall you walk in their statutes.

18:4 You shall do My judgments, and keep My ordinances, to walk in them; I am the Lord your God.

18:5 And you shall keep all My ordinances and all My judgments, and do them; the man who does them shall live by them; I am the Lord your God.

18:6 No person shall approach any relative of his flesh to uncover nakedness. I am the Lord.

18:7 You shall not uncover your father's nakedness or your mother's nakedness. She is your mother; you shall not uncover her nakedness.

18:8 You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father's wife; it is your father's nakedness.

18:9 The nakedness of your sister, from your father or from your mother, born at home or born outside: you shall not uncover her nakedness.

18:10 The nakedness of your son's daughter or your daughter's daughter, you shall not uncover their nakedness, for it is your nakedness.

18:11 You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father's wife's daughter. She is your sister by the same father; you shall not uncover her nakedness.

18:12 You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father's sister; she is your father's close relative.

18:13 You shall not uncover the nakedness of your mother's sister; she is your mother's close relative.

18:14 You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father's brother, and you shall not go in to his wife. She is your relative.

18:15 You shall not uncover your daughter-in-law's nakedness. She is your son's wife; you shall not uncover her nakedness.

18:16 You shall not uncover the nakedness of your brother's wife; it is your brother's nakedness.

18:17 You shall not uncover the nakedness of a woman and her daughter. You shall not take her son's daughter or her daughter's daughter to uncover their nakedness; they are your relatives. It is an act of impiety.

18:18 You shall not take a woman in addition to her sister as a rival, to uncover her nakedness alongside her while she is alive.

18:19 And you shall not approach a woman in separation for her uncleanness to uncover her nakedness.

18:20 And you shall not lie with your neighbour's wife to emit semen and become defiled through her.

18:21 And you shall not give any of your seed to serve a ruler, neither shall you profane the holy name; I am the Lord.

18:22 And you shall not lie with a male as one lies with a woman; it is an abomination.

18:23 And you shall not lie with any four-footed animal for insemination and become defiled through it. A woman shall not stand before any four-footed animal to be mounted; it is detestable.

18:24 Do not defile yourselves in any of these things; for in all these things the nations whom I drive out before your face were defiled,

18:25 and the land became defiled, and I repaid them for wrongdoing because of it, and the land became indignant with those settled upon it.

18:26 And you shall keep all My statutes and all My commands, and do none of these abominations, neither the native nor the resident foreigner who has joined himself among you—

18:27 for the people of the land who were before you did all these abominations, and the land became defiled—

18:28 so that the land is not indignant with you when you defile it, as it was indignant with the nations before you.

18:29 For whosoever does any of all these abominations, the souls that do them shall be destroyed from among their people.

18:30 And you shall keep My ordinances, that you do none of all the abominable practices which were before you; and you shall not be defiled in them, for I am the Lord your God.

Leviticus 19

19:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

19:2 Speak unto the congregation of the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: You shall be holy, for I am holy, the Lord your God.

19:3 Each shall revere his father and his mother, and you shall keep My Sabbaths. I am the Lord your God.

19:4 You shall not follow idols, neither shall you make cast gods for yourselves; I am the Lord your God.

19:5 And if you sacrifice a sacrifice of deliverance unto the Lord, you shall sacrifice it so that it is acceptable for you.

19:6 It shall be eaten on the day when you sacrifice it and on the morrow; and if any remains until the third day, it shall be burned with fire.

19:7 If it is eaten at all on the third day, it is unfit for sacrifice; it shall not be accepted.

19:8 But he that eats it shall bear sin, for he has profaned the holy things of the Lord; and the souls that eat shall be destroyed from among their people.

19:9 And when you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not wholly reap the harvest of your field; and you shall not gather what falls from your harvest,

19:10 neither shall you glean your vineyard again, nor gather the grapes of your vineyard; you shall leave them for the poor and the resident foreigner; I am the Lord your God.

19:11 You shall not steal. You shall not lie. No one shall defraud his neighbour.

19:12 And you shall not swear by My name for an unjust cause, and you shall not profane the name of your God. I am the Lord your God.

19:13 You shall not wrong your neighbour, neither shall you rob; and the wages of the hired worker shall in no wise remain with you overnight until morning.

19:14 You shall not speak evil of the deaf, neither shall you put a stumbling block before the blind; and you shall fear the Lord your God; I am the Lord your God.

19:15 You shall do no injustice in judgment; you shall not favour the person of the poor, neither shall you admire the person of the mighty; you shall judge your neighbour in righteousness.

19:16 You shall not go about deceitfully among your nation; you shall not conspire against the blood of your neighbour; I am the Lord your God.

19:17 You shall not hate your brother in your mind; you shall surely reprove your neighbour, and you shall not bear sin because of him.

19:18 And your hand shall not take vengeance, neither shall you remain angry with the sons of your people; and you shall love your neighbour as yourself; I am the Lord.

19:19 You shall keep My law; you shall not mate your livestock with a different stock, neither shall you sow your vineyard with a different kind, nor put upon yourself a spurious garment woven of two materials.

19:20 And if anyone lies with a woman with an emission of semen, and she is a household slave reserved for a man but has not been ransomed or given freedom, there shall be an inquiry concerning them. They shall not die, because she has not been freed.

19:21 And he shall bring his guilt offering unto the Lord beside the door of the Tent of Testimony, a ram for a guilt offering.

19:22 And the priest shall make atonement for him with the ram of the guilt offering before the Lord for the sin he has committed, and the sin he has committed shall be forgiven him.

19:23 But when you enter the land which the Lord your God gives unto you, and plant any tree for food, you shall purge its uncleanness; its fruit shall be unpurged unto you three years; it shall not be eaten.

19:24 And in the fourth year all its fruit shall be holy, praiseworthy unto the Lord.

19:25 But in the fifth year you shall eat the fruit; its produce shall be an increase unto you; I am the Lord your God.

19:26 You shall not eat on the mountains. You shall not divine by omens or observe birds for divination.

19:27 You shall not make a sisoe from the hair of your head or spoil the appearance of your beards.

19:28 And you shall make no incisions in your body for a dead person, neither shall you put tattooed letters upon yourselves; I am the Lord your God.

19:29 You shall not profane your daughter by making her a prostitute, lest the land prostitute itself and the land be filled with lawlessness.

19:30 You shall keep My Sabbaths and revere My holy things. I am the Lord.

19:31 You shall not follow spirit mediums, neither shall you attach yourselves unto enchanters, to be defiled by them; I am the Lord your God.

19:32 You shall rise before the face of the grey-haired, and honour the person of an elder, and fear your God; I am the Lord your God.

19:33 If a resident foreigner comes to you in your land, you shall not oppress him.

19:34 The resident foreigner who approaches you shall be as the native among you; and you shall love him as yourself, for you were resident foreigners in the land of Egypt; I am the Lord your God.

19:35 You shall do no injustice in judgment, in measures, weights, or scales.

19:36 You shall have just scales, just weights, and a just chous. I am the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt.

19:37 And you shall keep all My law and all My ordinances, and do them; I am the Lord your God.

Leviticus 20

20:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

20:2 And you shall speak unto the sons of Israel: If any of the sons of Israel, or of the resident foreigners who have joined Israel, gives any of his seed unto a ruler, let him surely be put to death; the nation upon the land shall stone him with stones.

20:3 And I will set My face against that man and destroy him from among his people, because he gave some of his seed to a ruler, defiling My holy things and profaning the name of those consecrated to Me.

20:4 But if the natives of the land utterly overlook that man with their eyes, when he gives any of his seed unto a ruler, so as not to put him to death,

20:5 then I will set My face against that man and his kin. I will destroy him from among their people, together with all who agree with him so that he prostitutes himself after rulers.

20:6 And the soul that follows spirit mediums or enchanters, to prostitute himself after them: I will set My face against that soul and destroy him from among his people.

20:7 And you shall be holy, for I, the Lord your God, am holy.

20:8 And you shall keep My ordinances, and do them; I am the Lord who sanctifies you.

20:9 Any man who speaks evil of his father or his mother shall surely be put to death. He has spoken evil of his father or his mother; he shall be guilty.

20:10 If a man commits adultery with a man’s wife, or commits adultery with his neighbour’s wife, both the adulterer and the adulteress shall surely be put to death.

20:11 If anyone lies with his father’s wife, he has uncovered his father’s nakedness. Both shall surely be put to death; they are guilty.

20:12 And if anyone lies with his daughter-in-law, both shall surely be put to death, for they have acted impiously; they are guilty.

20:13 And if anyone lies with a male as one lies with a woman, both have committed an abomination. They shall be put to death; they are guilty.

20:14 If anyone takes a woman and her mother, it is a lawless deed. They shall burn him and them with fire, so that there may be no lawlessness among you.

20:15 And if anyone has intercourse with a four-footed animal, he shall surely be put to death, and you shall kill the animal.

20:16 And if a woman approaches any animal to be mounted by it, you shall kill the woman and the animal. They shall surely be put to death; they are guilty.

20:17 If anyone takes his sister, his father’s daughter or his mother’s daughter, and sees her nakedness, and she sees his nakedness, it is a reproach. They shall be destroyed before the sons of their people. He has uncovered his sister’s nakedness; they shall bear their sin.

20:18 And if a man lies with a woman during her menstrual separation and uncovers her nakedness, he has exposed her fountain, and she has uncovered the flow of her blood. Both shall be destroyed from among their kin.

20:19 And you shall not uncover the nakedness of your father’s sister or your mother’s sister; for he has uncovered his own kinship; they shall bear sin.

20:20 If anyone lies with his female relative, he has uncovered the nakedness of his kinship. They shall die childless.

20:21 If anyone takes his brother's wife, it is an uncleanness. He has uncovered his brother's nakedness; they shall die childless.

20:22 And keep all My ordinances and My judgments, and you shall do them; and the land into which I bring you to dwell therein shall in no wise be indignant with you.

20:23 And you shall not walk in the laws of the nations that I am driving away from you, for they did all these things, and I abhorred them.

20:24 And I said to you: Inherit their land, and I will give it to you as a possession, a land flowing with milk and honey. I am the Lord your God, who separated you from all the nations.

20:25 And you shall distinguish them, between the clean livestock and the unclean livestock, and between the clean birds and the unclean; and you shall not make your souls abominable through livestock, or birds, or any creeping things of the earth which I have set apart unto you as unclean.

20:26 And you shall be holy to Me, for I am holy, the Lord your God. I separated you from all the nations to be Mine.

20:27 And if a man or a woman becomes a spirit-medium or an enchanter, both shall surely be put to death. You shall stone them with stones; they are guilty.

Leviticus 21

21:1 And the Lord said unto Moses, saying: Speak unto the priests, the sons of Aaron, and you shall say unto them: They shall not be defiled for dead persons among their nation,

21:2 except for their nearest household kin: father, mother, sons, daughters, and brother;

21:3 and for a virgin sister near to him who has not been given to a man—for these he may defile himself.

21:4 He shall not suddenly defile himself among his people, so as to profane himself.

21:5 And you shall not shave a bald patch on your head for a dead person. They shall not shave the face of their beard or cut incisions in their flesh.

21:6 They shall be holy to their God and not profane the name of their God, for they present the Lord's sacrifices, the gifts of their God; therefore they shall be holy.

21:7 They shall not take a woman who is a prostitute or profaned, nor a woman expelled by her husband, for the priest is holy unto the Lord his God.

21:8 And he shall sanctify him; this man presents the gifts of the Lord your God. He shall be holy, for I am holy, the Lord who sanctifies them.

21:9 And if a priest's daughter is profaned by prostituting herself, she profanes her father's name. She shall be burned with fire.

21:10 And the high priest among his brethren, upon whose head the anointing oil has been poured, and who has been consecrated to put on the garments, shall not remove his turban, neither shall he rend his garments;

21:11 and he shall not enter where there is any dead person; he shall not make himself unclean even for his father or mother.

21:12 And he shall not leave the holy precincts or profane what is consecrated to his God, for the holy anointing oil of God is upon him. I am the Lord.

21:13 He shall take a virgin wife from his own kin.

21:14 A widow, an expelled woman, a profaned woman, or a prostitute—these he shall not take. He shall take as his wife only a virgin from his own kin.

21:15 And he shall not profane his seed among his people, for I am the Lord who sanctifies him.

21:16 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

21:17 Say unto Aaron: A man from your kin throughout your generations, in whom there is a blemish, shall not draw near to present the gifts of his God.

21:18 No man who has a blemish shall approach: a lame man, a blind man, one with a mutilated nose, or one with a cut-off ear;

21:19 or a man with a broken hand or a broken foot;

21:20 or a hunchback, one with a skin spot, one with diseased eyelids, a man with a severe scab or skin eruption, or one with a single testicle.

21:21 No one of the seed of Aaron the priest, in whom there is a blemish, shall draw near to present the sacrifices unto your God; because a blemish is in him, he shall not draw near to present the gifts of God.

21:22 He may eat the gifts of God, both the most holy things and portions of the holy things.

21:23 But he shall not approach the veil or come near the altar, because he has a blemish. He shall not profane the holy place of his God, for I am the Lord who sanctifies them.

21:24 And Moses spoke unto Aaron, to his sons, and to all the sons of Israel.

Leviticus 22

22:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

22:2 Tell Aaron and his sons to exercise care concerning the holy things of the sons of Israel, which they consecrate to Me, and not profane My holy name. I am the Lord.

22:3 Say unto them: Throughout your generations, any man of all your seed who draws near unto the holy things which the sons of Israel consecrate unto the Lord, while his uncleanness is upon him, that soul shall be destroyed from before Me; I am the Lord your God.

22:4 And any man among the seed of Aaron the priest who has leprosy or a seminal discharge shall not eat the holy things until he is cleansed. Nor shall one who touches any uncleanness of a person, or a man from whom an emission of semen goes out, 22:5 or anyone who touches any unclean creeping creature that defiles him, or a human being who defiles him through any uncleanness of his.

22:6 The soul that touches them shall be unclean until evening; he shall not eat of the holy things unless he has bathed his body in water;

22:7 and when the sun sets, he shall be clean; afterward he may eat the holy things, for they are his bread.

22:8 He shall not eat an animal found dead or torn by beasts, becoming unclean through them. I am the Lord.

22:9 And they shall keep My requirements, so that they do not incur sin through them and die through them if they profane them. I am the Lord God who sanctifies them.

22:10 And no outsider shall eat holy things. A priest’s lodger or hired worker shall not eat holy things.

22:11 But if a priest acquires a slave purchased with silver, he may eat of his bread; and those born in his house, they also may eat of his bread.

22:12 And if a priest’s daughter marries an outsider, she shall not eat the first portions of the holy things.

22:13 And if a priest’s daughter becomes a widow or is expelled, and has no seed, she shall return to her father’s house as in her youth and may eat her father’s bread. But no outsider shall eat of it.

22:14 And if a man eats holy things in ignorance, he shall add a fifth to it and give the holy thing unto the priest.

22:15 And they shall not profane the holy things of the sons of Israel that they set aside for the Lord,

22:16 and so bring upon themselves the lawlessness of an offence by eating their holy things, for I am the Lord who sanctifies them.

22:17 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

22:18 Speak unto Aaron and unto his sons and unto all the congregation of Israel, and you shall say unto them: Any man of the sons of Israel, or of the sons of the resident foreigners attached unto them in Israel, who presents his gifts according to any of their pledges or any of their freewill offerings, which they present unto God for a whole burnt offering,

22:19 to be acceptable for you, they shall be males without blemish, from the cattle, the sheep, or the goats.

22:20 They shall not bring anything with a blemish unto the Lord, for it will not be acceptable for you.

22:21 And if a man presents a sacrifice of deliverance unto the Lord, specifying a vow by voluntary choice or at your feasts, from the cattle or the sheep, it shall be unblemished to be accepted; there shall be no blemish in it.

22:22 They shall not bring unto the Lord an animal that is blind, crushed, has its tongue cut, has warts, a severe scab, or skin eruptions. You shall not place any of these on the altar as an offering unto the Lord.

22:23 And you may slaughter for yourself a calf or a sheep with a cut-off ear or a shortened tail; but for your vow it shall not be accepted.

22:24 You shall not bring unto the Lord an animal castrated by crushing, or by squeezing out, or by cutting out, or by tearing away; and in your land you shall not do this.

22:25 And you shall not present any of these as the gifts of your God from the hand of a foreigner, for there are corruptions in them; they have a blemish. These will not be accepted for you.

22:26 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

22:27 When a calf, sheep, or goat is born, it shall remain under its mother for seven days. On the eighth day and afterward it may be accepted among the gifts, as an offering unto the Lord.

22:28 And you shall not slaughter a cow or a sheep together with her young on one day.

22:29 But if you sacrifice a sacrifice, a vow of rejoicing, unto the Lord, you shall sacrifice it so that it is acceptable for you.

22:30 It shall be eaten that same day. You shall leave none of the flesh until morning. I am the Lord.

22:31 And you shall keep My commandments, and do them.

22:32 And you shall not profane the name of the Holy One, and I will be sanctified among the sons of Israel. I am the Lord who sanctifies you,

22:33 who brought you out of the land of Egypt to be your God. I am the Lord.

Leviticus 23

23:1 And the Lord said unto Moses, saying:

23:2 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: The feasts of the Lord, which you shall proclaim as holy convocations, these are My feasts.

23:3 You shall do work for six days; but on the seventh day is a Sabbath, a rest, a holy convocation unto the Lord; you shall do no work; it is a Sabbath unto the Lord in every dwelling of yours.

23:4 These are the feasts for the Lord, holy convocations, which you shall proclaim at their proper times.

23:5 In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, between the evenings, is the Lord’s Passover.

23:6 And on the fifteenth day of this month is the Feast of Unleavened Bread unto the Lord. You shall eat unleavened bread for seven days.

23:7 And on the first day you shall have a holy convocation. You shall do no laborious work.

23:8 And you shall bring whole burnt offerings unto the Lord for seven days. The seventh day shall be a holy convocation for you; you shall do no laborious work.

23:9 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

23:10 Say unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: When you enter the land which I give unto you, and reap its harvest, you shall bring a sheaf as the first portion of your harvest unto the priest;

23:11 and he shall offer up the sheaf before the Lord, acceptable for you; the priest shall offer it up on the morrow after the first day.

23:12 And on the day you bring the sheaf, you shall offer an unblemished year-old sheep as a whole burnt offering unto the Lord.

23:13 And its sacrifice shall be two tenths of fine flour kneaded with oil, a sacrifice unto the Lord, a sweet savour unto the Lord. Its drink offering shall be a quarter of a hin of wine.

23:14 And you shall eat neither bread nor roasted fresh grain until that very day, until you bring the gifts to your God. This is an everlasting ordinance throughout your generations in every dwelling of yours.

23:15 And you shall count from the day after the Sabbath, from the day you bring the sheaf of the presentation, seven complete weeks.

23:16 Until the day after the last week you shall count fifty days, and then present a new sacrifice unto the Lord.

23:17 From your dwelling you shall bring bread as a presentation, two loaves. They shall be made from two tenths of fine flour and baked leavened, as firstfruits unto the Lord.

23:18 And with the loaves you shall bring seven unblemished year-old lambs, one calf from the herd, and two unblemished rams. They shall be a whole burnt offering unto the Lord, with their sacrifices and drink offerings, a sacrifice, a sweet savour unto the Lord.

23:19 And they shall offer one male young goat from the goats for sin and two year-old lambs as a sacrifice of deliverance with the firstfruits loaves.

23:20 And the priest shall present them with the firstfruits loaves as a presentation before the Lord, with the two lambs. They shall be holy unto the Lord; they shall belong unto the priest who presents them.

23:21 And you shall proclaim this day a convocation; it shall be holy for you. You shall do no laborious work on it. This is an everlasting ordinance throughout your generations in every dwelling of yours.

23:22 And when you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not finish the remainder of the harvest of your field when you reap; neither shall you gather what falls from your harvest; you shall leave them for the poor and for the resident foreigner; I am the Lord your God.

23:23 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

23:24 Speak to the sons of Israel, saying: In the seventh month, on the first day of the month, you shall have a rest, a memorial of trumpets; it shall be a holy convocation for you.

23:25 You shall do no laborious work, and you shall bring a whole burnt offering unto the Lord.

23:26 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

23:27 And on the tenth day of this seventh month is the Day of Atonement; it shall be a holy convocation unto you, and you shall humble your souls and bring a whole burnt offering unto the Lord.

23:28 You shall do no work on that very day, for this is a Day of Atonement for you, to make atonement for you before the Lord your God.

23:29 Every soul that shall not be humbled on that very day shall be destroyed from among his people.

23:30 And every soul that does work on that very day, that soul shall perish from among his people.

23:31 You shall do no work. This is an everlasting ordinance throughout your generations in all your dwellings.

23:32 It shall be a Sabbath of Sabbaths unto you, and you shall humble your souls; from the ninth day of the month, from evening unto evening, you shall keep your Sabbath.

23:33 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

23:34 Speak to the sons of Israel, saying: On the fifteenth day of this seventh month is the Feast of Tents unto the Lord for seven days.

23:35 And on the first day there shall be a holy convocation. You shall do no laborious work.

23:36 For seven days you shall bring whole burnt offerings unto the Lord. The eighth day shall be a holy convocation for you, and you shall bring whole burnt offerings unto the Lord. It is a closing observance; you shall do no laborious work.

23:37 These are the feasts for the Lord, which you shall proclaim as holy convocations, to present offerings unto the Lord: whole burnt offerings and their sacrifices and their drink offerings, each day's requirement on its day,

23:38 besides the Lord's Sabbaths, besides your gifts, besides all your vows, and besides your freewill offerings that you give unto the Lord.

23:39 And on the fifteenth day of this seventh month, when you finish gathering the produce of the land, you shall celebrate unto the Lord for seven days. On the first day there shall be rest, and on the eighth day there shall be rest.

23:40 And on the first day you shall take beautiful fruit of a tree, and palm fronds, and dense branches of a tree, and willows, and branches of the chaste tree from a stream, to rejoice before the Lord your God seven days

23:41 of the year. This is an everlasting ordinance throughout your generations; you shall celebrate it in the seventh month.

23:42 You shall dwell in tents seven days; every native in Israel shall dwell in tents,

23:43 so that your generations may see that I made the sons of Israel dwell in tents when I brought them out of the land of Egypt. I am the Lord your God.

23:44 And Moses declared the Lord's feasts to the sons of Israel.

Leviticus 24

24:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

24:2 Command the sons of Israel to bring Me pure beaten olive oil for light, to burn a lamp continually.

24:3 Outside the veil, in the Tent of Testimony, Aaron and his sons shall burn it from evening to morning before the Lord continually. This is an everlasting ordinance throughout your generations.

24:4 You shall burn the lamps upon the pure lampstand before the Lord until morning.

24:5 And you shall take fine flour and make twelve loaves from it. Each loaf shall contain two tenths.

24:6 And you shall place them in two arrangements, six in each arrangement, on the pure table before the Lord.

24:7 And you shall put pure frankincense and salt upon the arrangement. They shall be set before the Lord as a memorial for the loaves.

24:8 On the Sabbath day he shall set it before the Lord continually, before the sons of Israel as an everlasting covenant.

24:9 And it shall belong unto Aaron and his sons, and they shall eat these things in a holy place, for this is most holy for him from the things sacrificed unto the Lord, an everlasting ordinance.

24:10 And the son of an Israelite woman, whose father was an Egyptian man, went out among the sons of Israel. The Israelite woman's son and an Israelite man fought in the camp.

24:11 And the Israelite woman's son pronounced the Name and cursed, and they brought him unto Moses. His mother's name was Shelomith daughter of Dibri, of the tribe of Dan.

24:12 And they placed him in custody, to judge him by the Lord's command.

24:13 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

24:14 Bring the one who cursed outside the camp. All who heard him shall lay their hands on his head, and the whole congregation shall stone him.

24:15 And speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: A man who curses God shall bear sin.

24:16 Let one who names the Lord's name surely be put to death. Let the whole congregation of Israel stone him with stones. Whether resident foreigner or native-born, when he names the Lord's name, let him die.

24:17 And if a man strikes a human being and the person dies, he shall surely be put to death.

24:18 And one who strikes an animal and it dies shall repay life for life.

24:19 And if anyone causes an injury unto his neighbour, as he has done unto him, so shall it be done unto him in return:

24:20 fracture for fracture, eye for eye, tooth for tooth; as he has caused an injury unto a man, so shall it be inflicted upon him.

24:21 One who strikes a human being and the person dies shall surely be put to death.

24:22 There shall be one judgment for the resident foreigner and the local inhabitant, for I am the Lord your God.

24:23 And Moses spoke to the sons of Israel. They brought the one who cursed outside the camp and stoned him with stones. The sons of Israel did as the Lord commanded Moses.

Leviticus 25

25:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses on Mount Sinai, saying:

25:2 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: When you enter the land which I give unto you, the land which I give unto you shall rest, a Sabbath unto the Lord.

25:3 For six years you shall sow your field, and for six years you shall prune your vine and gather its fruit.

25:4 But in the seventh year the land shall have a Sabbath, a rest, a Sabbath unto the Lord. You shall not sow your field or prune your vine.

25:5 And you shall not reap the things growing of themselves in your field or gather the grapes of your consecration. It shall be a year of rest for the land.

25:6 And the land's Sabbath produce shall be food for you, your male slave, your female slave, your hired worker, and the lodger attached to you.

25:7 And all its produce shall also be food for your livestock and the wild animals in your land.

25:8 And you shall count unto yourself seven rests of years, seven years seven times; and the seven weeks of years shall be unto you forty-nine years.

25:9 And you shall make proclamation with a trumpet sound throughout your land in the seventh month, on the tenth day of the month. On the Day of Atonement you shall make proclamation with a trumpet throughout your land.

25:10 And you shall consecrate the fiftieth year, and proclaim release throughout the land unto all who dwell therein; this shall be a year of release, a signal unto you; and each one shall depart unto his possession, and each of you shall depart unto his ancestral homeland.

25:11 This is a signal of release: the fiftieth year shall be a year for you. You shall not sow, reap what grows of itself, or gather its consecrated produce.

25:12 For it is a signal of release; it shall be holy to you. You shall eat its produce from the fields.

25:13 In the year of release, at its signal, each shall return to his possession.

25:14 But if one sells property unto your neighbour, or you acquire it from your neighbour, let no man oppress his neighbour.

25:15 According to the number of years after the signal you shall acquire from your neighbour; according to the number of harvest years he shall sell to you.

25:16 As the years increase, you shall increase its purchase price; as the years decrease, you shall decrease its purchase price, for he is selling you a number of harvests.

25:17 Let no man oppress his neighbour, and you shall fear the Lord your God; I am the Lord your God.

25:18 And you shall do all My statutes and all My judgments, keep them, and do them; then you shall dwell confidently on the land.

25:19 And the land shall yield its produce, and you shall eat to fullness and dwell confidently upon it.

25:20 But if you say, "What shall we eat in this seventh year, if we neither sow nor gather our produce?"

25:21 then I will send My blessing to you in the sixth year, and it shall produce its harvest for the three years.

25:22 And you shall sow in the eighth year and eat old produce. Until the ninth year, until its produce comes in, you shall eat old stores from the old.

25:23 And the land shall not be sold in perpetuity, for the land is Mine; for you are resident foreigners and lodgers before Me;

25:24 and throughout all the land of your possession, you shall provide redemption for the land.

25:25 But if your brother who is with you becomes poor, and sells some of his possession, and his nearest kinsman comes, he shall redeem that which his brother sold.

25:26 If someone has no kinsman but prospers by his hand and enough is found for his redemption,

25:27 then he shall calculate the years of his sale and repay the excess to the man to whom he sold himself; then he shall depart to his possession.

25:28 If his hand does not prosper enough to repay him, the sale shall remain with the one who acquired it until the sixth year of release. It shall go out at the release, and he shall depart to his possession.

25:29 But if anyone sells a dwelling house in a walled city, its redemption shall be possible until a year of days is fulfilled; that shall be its redemption period.

25:30 If it is not redeemed before its whole year is complete, the house in the city that has a wall shall be confirmed permanently to its buyer throughout his generations. It shall not go out at the release.

25:31 But houses in settlements that have no surrounding wall shall be reckoned with the field of the land. They shall always be redeemable and shall go out at the release.

25:32 And the cities of the Levites—the houses in their cities of possession—shall always be redeemable by the Levites.

25:33 And whosoever redeems from the Levites, the sale of their houses in the city of their possession shall go out at the release; for the houses in the cities of the Levites are their possession among the sons of Israel.

25:34 And the fields set apart for their cities shall not be sold, for this is their everlasting possession.

25:35 If your brother becomes poor and grows weak in his hands beside you, you shall support him as a resident foreigner and a lodger, and your brother shall live with you.

25:36 You shall take no interest or increase from him, and you shall fear your God; I am the Lord; and your brother shall live with you.

25:37 You shall not give him your silver at interest or give your food for an increase.

25:38 I am the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt to give you the land of Canaan and to be your God.

25:39 If your brother is brought low beside you and is sold to you, he shall not serve you with the service of a household slave.

25:40 He shall be with you as a hired worker or a lodger; he shall work beside you until the year of release.

25:41 And he shall go out at the release, and his children with him. He shall depart to his kin and return to his ancestral possession.

25:42 For these are My household slaves, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt; one shall not be sold with the sale of a household slave.

25:43 You shall not wear him down with toil, but you shall fear the Lord your God.

25:44 And your male slave and your female slave, as many as you have from the nations which are round about you: from them you may acquire a male slave and a female slave.

25:45 And you may also acquire from the sons of the lodgers among you and from their relatives who come to be in your land; they shall become your possession.

25:46 And you shall distribute them to your children after you, and they shall be held by you permanently. But among your brethren, the sons of Israel, no one shall wear down his brother with toils.

25:47 If the hand of the resident foreigner or lodger beside you gains means, and your brother becomes needy and is sold to the resident foreigner or lodger beside you, a foreigner by birth,

25:48 after he is sold to him, he shall have a right of redemption. One of his brethren may redeem him,

25:49 his father’s brother or the son of his father’s brother may redeem him, or one of his close kin from his tribe may redeem him; but if, having prospered by his hands, he redeems himself,

25:50 then he shall calculate with the one who acquired him from the year he sold himself to him until the year of release. His sale price shall be like a hired worker’s pay; he shall be with him year by year.

25:51 If many years remain for someone, he shall repay his redemption from his sale money in proportion to them.

25:52 If few years remain until the year of release, he shall calculate with him according to his years and repay his redemption.

25:53 He shall be with him as a hired worker year by year; you shall not wear him down with toil before you.

25:54 If he is not redeemed by these means, he shall go out in the year of release, he and his children with him.

25:55 For the sons of Israel are household slaves to Me; these are My servants, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt. I am the Lord your God.

Leviticus 26

26:1 You shall not make for yourselves images made by hand, neither carved images, nor shall you set up a pillar for yourselves, nor place a conspicuous stone in your land to bow down unto it; I am the Lord your God.

26:2 You shall keep My Sabbaths and revere My holy things. I am the Lord.

26:3 If you walk in My ordinances, keep My commandments, and do them,

26:4 then I will give you rain in its season. The land shall yield its produce, and the trees of the fields shall yield their fruit.

26:5 And your threshing shall reach the grape harvest, and the grape harvest shall reach the sowing. You shall eat your bread to satisfaction and dwell securely in your land.

26:6 And war shall not pass through your land. I will give peace in your land. You shall lie down, with no one to frighten you, and I will destroy harmful animals from your land.

26:7 And you shall pursue your enemies, and they shall fall before you in slaughter.

26:8 And five of you shall pursue a hundred, and a hundred of you shall pursue tens of thousands; and your enemies shall fall before you by the sword.

26:9 And I will look upon you, increase you, multiply you, and establish My covenant with you.

26:10 And you shall eat old stores and old stores of old stores, and clear out the old before the new.

26:11 And I will place My covenant among you, and My soul shall not abhor you;

26:12 and I will walk among you and be your God, and you shall be My people.

26:13 I am the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt while you were slaves. I shattered the bond of your yoke and led you with boldness.

26:14 But if you do not obey Me and do not do these ordinances of Mine,

26:15 but disobey them, and your soul is indignant at My judgments, so that you do not do all My commandments, so as to dissolve My covenant,

26:16 then I will do this to you: I will bring distress upon you, scab and jaundice that waste your eyes and melt away your life. You shall sow your seeds in vain, and your adversaries shall eat them.

26:17 And I will set My face against you, and you shall fall before your enemies. Those who hate you shall pursue you, and you shall flee when no one pursues you.

26:18 And if up to this point you do not obey Me, I will discipline you seven times more for your sins.

26:19 And I will shatter the arrogance of your pride, and make your heaven iron, and your land as bronze;

26:20 and your strength shall be in vain. Your land shall not yield its seed, and the tree of your field shall not yield its fruit.

26:21 And if after these things you walk crookedly and will not obey Me, I will add seven blows upon you according to your sins.

26:22 And I will send the wild animals of the land against you. They shall devour you, consume your livestock, and make you few, so that your roads become desolate.

26:23 And if by these things you are not disciplined, but walk crookedly toward Me,

26:24 then I too will walk with you in contrary anger, and I too will strike you seven times in return for your sins.

26:25 And I will bring upon you a sword exacting the penalty of the covenant. You shall flee into your cities, and I will send death among you; you shall be handed into enemies' hands.

26:26 When I afflict you with a scarcity of bread, ten women shall bake your bread in one oven and give back your bread by weight. You shall eat and in no wise be filled.

26:27 If after these things you do not obey Me, but walk crookedly toward Me,

26:28 then I Myself will walk with you in contrary anger, and I will discipline you seven times according to your sins.

26:29 And you shall eat the flesh of your sons, and the flesh of your daughters you shall eat.

26:30 And I will lay waste your pillars, and destroy your wooden images made by hand, and place your limbs upon the limbs of your idols; and My soul shall be indignant with you;

26:31 and I will make your cities desolate, and lay waste your holy places; and I will in no wise smell the savour of your sacrifices;

26:32 and I Myself will desolate your land, and your enemies who dwell in it shall marvel at it.

26:33 And I will scatter you among the nations, and the advancing sword shall consume you. Your land shall become desolate, and your cities shall be desolate.

26:34 Then the land shall welcome its Sabbaths and all the days of its desolation, and you shall be in your enemies' land. Then the land shall keep Sabbath and welcome its Sabbaths.

26:35 All the days of its desolation it shall keep Sabbath for the Sabbaths it did not keep during your Sabbaths when you inhabited it.

26:36 And upon those who remain of you I will bring cowardice into their heart in the land of their enemies; and the sound of a leaf borne along shall pursue them; and they shall flee as those fleeing from war, and fall when none pursues;

26:37 and brother shall disregard brother as in war, though no one runs after them. You shall not be able to withstand your enemies.

26:38 And you shall perish among the nations, and your enemies' land shall devour you.

26:39 And those who remain of you shall be ruined because of your sins; they shall waste away in the land of their enemies.

26:40 And they shall confess their sins and their fathers' sins, because they transgressed and disregarded Me, and because they walked crookedly before Me.

26:41 And I too walked with them in contrary anger, and I will destroy them in their enemies' land. Then their uncircumcised heart will feel shame, and then they will accept their sins.

26:42 And I will remember the covenant of Jacob and the covenant of Isaac, and the covenant of Abraham I will remember; and I will remember the land.

26:43 And the land shall be abandoned by them. Then the land shall receive its Sabbaths when it is desolated because of them, and they shall accept their lawless deeds, because they disregarded My judgments and were indignant at My ordinances in their soul.

26:44 And yet even so, while they were in their enemies' land, I did not disregard them or become indignant with them so as to consume them and dissolve My covenant with them, for I am the Lord their God.

26:45 And I will remember for them the former covenant, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of a house of slavery, before the nations to be their God. I am the Lord.

26:46 These are the judgments and the ordinances and the law which the Lord gave between Himself and the sons of Israel on Mount Sinai by the hand of Moses.

Leviticus 27

27:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

27:2 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: Whosoever vows a vow for the valuation of his soul unto the Lord,

27:3 the valuation of a male from twenty to sixty years old shall be fifty didrachmas of silver, by the sacred weight.

27:4 For a female the assessed value shall be thirty didrachmas.

27:5 From five to twenty years old, the valuation shall be twenty didrachmas for a male and ten didrachmas for a female.

27:6 From one month to five years old, the valuation shall be five didrachmas of silver for a male and three didrachmas for a female.

27:7 From sixty years old and upward, the valuation shall be fifteen didrachmas of silver for a male and ten didrachmas for a female.

27:8 But if he is too poor for the valuation, he shall stand before the priest, and the priest shall value him; the priest shall value him according to the strength of the hand of the one who vowed.

27:9 If it concerns livestock of a kind presented as a gift unto the Lord, whatever one gives from these unto the Lord shall be holy.

27:10 He shall not exchange it, good for bad or bad for good. If he does exchange it, animal for animal, both it and its substitute shall be holy.

27:11 If it concerns any unclean livestock of a kind not presented as a gift unto the Lord, he shall set the animal before the priest.

27:12 And the priest shall value it, between good and bad. As the priest values it, so it shall stand.

27:13 If he does redeem it, he shall add a fifth to its valuation.

27:14 And if a man consecrates his house as holy unto the Lord, the priest shall value it, between good and bad. As the priest values it, so it shall stand.

27:15 If the one who consecrated it redeems his house, he shall add a fifth of the silver of the valuation to it, and it shall be his.

27:16 If a man consecrates unto the Lord part of the field of his possession, the valuation shall be according to its seed: fifty didrachmas of silver for a kor of barley.

27:17 If he consecrates his field from the year of release, it shall stand according to its valuation.

27:18 If he consecrates his field later, after the release, the priest shall calculate the silver for him according to the years remaining until the year of release, and a deduction shall be made from its assessment.

27:19 If the one who consecrated the field redeems it, he shall add a fifth of the silver to its valuation, and it shall be his.

27:20 If he does not redeem the field and sells the field to another man, he shall no longer redeem it.

27:21 When the release has passed, the field shall be holy unto the Lord like land set apart. It shall become the priest's possession.

27:22 If he consecrates unto the Lord part of a field he acquired, which is not part of the field of his inherited possession,

27:23 the priest shall calculate for him the total valuation from the year of release, and he shall repay the valuation on that day as holy unto the Lord.

27:24 And in the year of release the field shall be returned to the man from whom he acquired it, whose possession the land was.

27:25 And every valuation shall be by sacred weights; the didrachma shall be twenty obols.

27:26 And every firstborn which is born among your livestock shall belong unto the Lord, and none shall consecrate it; whether calf or sheep, it is the Lord’s.

27:27 If it is one of the unclean four-footed animals, he shall exchange it according to its valuation and add a fifth to it, and it shall be his. If he does not redeem it, it shall be sold according to its assessed value.

27:28 But every devoted thing which a man dedicates unto the Lord, of all that he has, from man unto livestock, and from the field of his possession, he shall neither sell nor redeem; every devoted thing shall be most holy unto the Lord.

27:29 And whatsoever is devoted from among men shall not be redeemed, but shall surely be put to death.

27:30 Every tithe of the land, from the seed of the land and the fruit of trees, belongs unto the Lord; it is holy unto the Lord.

27:31 But if a man indeed redeems his tithe, he shall add a fifth part unto it, and it shall be his.

27:32 And every tithe of cattle and sheep, and everything that comes under the staff in the count—the tenth shall be holy unto the Lord.

27:33 You shall not exchange a good one for a bad one; but if you do indeed exchange it, its substitute also shall be holy; it shall not be redeemed.

27:34 These are the commandments that the Lord commanded Moses for the sons of Israel on Mount Sinai.

Numbers

1:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the Tent of Testimony, on the first day of the second month of the second year after they came out of the land of Egypt, saying:

1:2 Take the sum of the whole congregation of the sons of Israel, by their families, by their ancestral houses, according to the number of their names, head by head, every male

Note 1: 1. Numbers 1:2 • Wording. Retain “take the sum” for the census, but use “head by head” instead of “by their polls.” In this context polls are heads, not votes. The language still counts males, with the military age stated in the next verse.

1:3 from twenty years old and upward, every one who goes out in Israel’s army: register them with their army; you and Aaron shall register them.

1:4 And one of the rulers from each tribe shall be with you; they shall be according to their ancestral houses.

1:5 And these are the names of the men who shall stand with you. For Reuben: Elizur son of Shedeur.

1:6 For Simeon: Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai.

1:7 For Judah: Nahshon son of Amminadab.

1:8 For Issachar: Nethanel son of Zuar.

1:9 For Zebulun: Eliab son of Helon.

1:10 For the sons of Joseph: for Ephraim, Elishama son of Ammihud; for Manasseh, Gamaliel son of Pedahzur.

1:13 For Asher: Pagiel son of Ocran.

1:14 For Gad: Eliasaph son of Reuel.

1:15 For Naphtali: Ahira son of Enan.

1:16 These are the men called from the congregation, rulers of the tribes by ancestral houses; they are commanders of Israel’s thousands.

1:17 And Moses and Aaron took these men who had been called by name.

1:18 And they assembled the whole congregation on the first day of the month of the second year and registered them by their descent and ancestral houses, counting their names, from twenty years old and upward, every male, head by head.

1:19 As the Lord instructed Moses, they were registered in the wilderness of Sinai.

1:20 And the sons of Reuben, Israel’s firstborn, were reckoned by their families, by their divisions, by their ancestral houses, by the number of their names, head by head, every male from twenty years old and upward, every one who goes out in the army:

1:21 The enrolment from the tribe of Reuben was forty-six thousand five hundred.

1:22 For the sons of Simeon: by their families, divisions, and ancestral houses, by the number of their names, head by head, every male from twenty years old and upward, everyone who goes out in the army:

1:23 The enrolment from the tribe of Simeon was fifty-nine thousand three hundred.

1:24 For the sons of Judah: by their families, divisions, and ancestral houses, by the number of their names, head by head, every male from twenty years old and upward, everyone who goes out in the army:

1:25 The enrolment from the tribe of Judah was seventy-four thousand six hundred.

1:26 For the sons of Issachar: by their families, divisions, and ancestral houses, by the number of their names, head by head, every male from twenty years old and upward, everyone who goes out in the army:

1:27 The enrolment from the tribe of Issachar was fifty-four thousand four hundred.

1:28 For the sons of Zebulun: by their families, divisions, and ancestral houses, by the number of their names, head by head, every male from twenty years old and upward, everyone who goes out in the army:

1:29 The enrolment from the tribe of Zebulun was fifty-seven thousand four hundred.

1:30 For the sons of Joseph, the sons of Ephraim: by their families, divisions, and ancestral houses, by the number of their names, head by head, every male from twenty years old and upward, everyone who goes out in the army:

1:31 The enrolment from the tribe of Ephraim was forty thousand five hundred.

1:32 For the sons of Manasseh: by their families, divisions, and ancestral houses, by the number of their names, head by head, every male from twenty years old and upward, everyone who goes out in the army:

1:33 The enrolment from the tribe of Manasseh was thirty-two thousand two hundred.

1:34 For the sons of Benjamin: by their families, divisions, and ancestral houses, by the number of their names, head by head, every male from twenty years old and upward, everyone who goes out in the army:

1:35 The enrolment from the tribe of Benjamin was thirty-five thousand four hundred.

1:36 For the sons of Gad: by their families, divisions, and ancestral houses, by the number of their names, head by head, every male from twenty years old and upward, everyone who goes out in the army:

1:37 The enrolment from the tribe of Gad was forty-five thousand six hundred fifty.

1:38 For the sons of Dan: by their families, divisions, and ancestral houses, by the number of their names, head by head, every male from twenty years old and upward, everyone who goes out in the army:

1:39 The enrolment from the tribe of Dan was sixty-two thousand seven hundred.

1:40 For the sons of Asher: by their families, divisions, and ancestral houses, by the number of their names, head by head, every male from twenty years old and upward, everyone who goes out in the army:

1:41 The enrolment from the tribe of Asher was forty-one thousand five hundred.

1:42 For the sons of Naphtali: by their families, divisions, and ancestral houses, by the number of their names, head by head, every male from twenty years old and upward, everyone who goes out in the army:

1:43 The enrolment from the tribe of Naphtali was fifty-three thousand four hundred.

1:44 This was the enrolment made by Moses, Aaron, and the rulers of Israel, twelve men, one man for each tribe, according to the tribe of their ancestral houses.

1:45 And the whole enrolment of the sons of Israel with their army, from twenty years old and upward, every one who goes out to battle in Israel,

1:46 was six hundred three thousand five hundred fifty.

1:47 But the Levites, from their ancestral tribe, were not registered among the sons of Israel.

1:48 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

1:49 See that you do not register the tribe of Levi together with them, neither shall you take their number among the sons of Israel.

1:50 And you shall appoint the Levites over the Tent of Testimony, and over all its furnishings, and over all that is therein. They shall carry the Tent and all its furnishings, and they shall minister therein, and shall camp round about the Tent.

1:51 And when the Tent sets out, the Levites shall take it down; when it camps, they shall erect it. Let an outsider who approaches die.

1:52 And the sons of Israel shall camp, each in his own formation and each according to his own command, with their army.

1:53 But let the Levites camp before the Lord round about the Tent of Testimony, and there shall be no offence among the sons of Israel. And the Levites themselves shall keep the charge of the Tent of Testimony.

Note 2: 2. Numbers 1:53 • Text. The Greek speaks of an offence or sin, whereas KJV and Douay–Rheims speak of wrath or indignation. This is a source difference, not a reason to archaize wrath into the draft.

1:54 And the sons of Israel did everything that the Lord commanded Moses and Aaron; so they did.

Numbers 2

2:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses and Aaron, saying:

2:2 Let the sons of Israel camp, each beside his neighbour, by formation and by the signs of their ancestral houses. The sons of Israel shall camp opposite, around the Tent of Testimony.

2:3 And those camping first toward the east shall be the formation of Judah’s camp, with their army. The ruler of the sons of Judah is Nahshon son of Amminadab.

2:4 His army, those registered, numbered seventy-four thousand six hundred.

2:5 And those camping next shall be the tribe of Issachar; the ruler of the sons of Issachar is Nethanel son of Zuar.

2:6 His army, those registered, numbered fifty-four thousand four hundred.

2:7 And those camping next shall be the tribe of Zebulun; the ruler of the sons of Zebulun is Eliab son of Helon.

2:8 His army, those registered, numbered fifty-seven thousand four hundred.

2:9 All those registered in the camp of Judah, with their army, numbered one hundred eighty-six thousand four hundred. They shall set out first.

2:10 The formation of the camp of Reuben, with their army, shall be toward the southwest. The ruler of the sons of Reuben is Elizur son of Shedeur.

Note 3: 3. Numbers 2:10 • Meaning. Keep the Greek directional term “toward the southwest.” Traditional versions often use south. These camp directions describe an ancient arrangement; they are not modern survey bearings.

2:11 His army, those registered, numbered forty-six thousand five hundred.

2:12 And those camping next shall be the tribe of Simeon; the ruler of the sons of Simeon is Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai.

2:13 His army, those registered, numbered fifty-nine thousand three hundred.

2:14 And those camping next shall be the tribe of Gad; the ruler of the sons of Gad is Eliasaph son of Reuel.

2:15 His army, those registered, numbered forty-five thousand six hundred fifty.

2:16 All those registered in the camp of Reuben, with their army, numbered one hundred fifty-one thousand four hundred fifty. They shall set out second.

2:17 And the Tent of Testimony and the camp of the Levites shall be raised in the middle of the camps. As they camp, so they shall set out, each beside his neighbour according to command.

2:18 The formation of the camp of Ephraim, with their army, shall be toward the sea. The ruler of the sons of Ephraim is Elishama son of Ammihud.

2:19 His army, those registered, numbered forty thousand five hundred.

2:20 And those camping next shall be the tribe of Manasseh; the ruler of the sons of Manasseh is Gamaliel son of Pedahzur.

2:21 His army, those registered, numbered thirty-two thousand two hundred.

2:22 And those camping next shall be the tribe of Benjamin; the ruler of the sons of Benjamin is Abidan son of Gideoni.

2:23 His army, those registered, numbered thirty-five thousand four hundred.

2:24 All those registered in the camp of Ephraim, with their army, numbered one hundred eight thousand one hundred. They shall set out third.

2:25 The formation of the camp of Dan, with their army, shall be toward the north. The ruler of the sons of Dan is Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai.

2:26 His army, those registered, numbered sixty-two thousand seven hundred.

2:27 And those camping next shall be the tribe of Asher; the ruler of the sons of Asher is Pagiel son of Ocran.

2:28 His army, those registered, numbered forty-one thousand five hundred.

2:29 And those camping next shall be the tribe of Naphtali; the ruler of the sons of Naphtali is Ahira son of Enan.

2:30 His army, those registered, numbered fifty-three thousand four hundred.

2:31 All those registered in the camp of Dan numbered one hundred fifty-seven thousand six hundred. They shall set out last, by their formation.

2:32 This is the enrolment of the sons of Israel by their ancestral houses. The whole enrolment of the camps, with their armies, was six hundred three thousand five hundred fifty.

2:33 But the Levites were not registered together with them, as the Lord commanded Moses.

2:34 And the sons of Israel did everything that the Lord instructed Moses. So they camped by their formations, and so they set out, each beside his neighbour, by their divisions and ancestral houses.

Numbers 3

3:1 And these are the generations of Aaron and Moses on the day when the Lord spoke with Moses on Mount Sinai.

3:2 And these are the names of Aaron’s sons: Nadab the firstborn, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

3:3 These are the names of Aaron’s sons, the anointed priests whose hands were consecrated for priestly service.

3:4 And Nadab and Abihu died before the Lord when they offered strange fire before the Lord in the wilderness of Sinai, and they had no children. And Eleazar and Ithamar served as priests with Aaron their father.

3:5 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

3:6 Take the tribe of Levi, and you shall set them before Aaron the priest, and they shall minister unto him;

3:7 And they shall keep his charges and the charges of the sons of Israel before the Tent of Testimony, performing the work of the Tent.

3:8 And they shall keep all the furnishings of the Tent of Testimony and the charges of the sons of Israel, according to all the work of the Tent.

3:9 And you shall give the Levites unto Aaron and unto his sons, the priests. These are given unto Me as a gift from the sons of Israel.

Note 4: 4. Numbers 3:9 • Text. Retain the Greek “given unto Me.” KJV and Douay–Rheims refer to their being given to Aaron. Changing Me to him would harmonize the Greek with another textual tradition.

3:10 And you shall appoint Aaron and his sons over the Tent of Testimony, and they shall keep their priesthood, and all that concerns the altar and is within the veil. And the outsider who touches shall die.

3:11 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

3:12 And I, behold, I have taken the Levites from among the sons of Israel in place of every firstborn who opens the womb among the sons of Israel. They shall be their ransom, and the Levites shall be Mine.

3:13 For every firstborn is Mine. On the day when I struck every firstborn in the land of Egypt, I consecrated unto Myself every firstborn in Israel, from man unto livestock. They shall be Mine; I am the Lord.

3:14 And the Lord spoke unto Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, saying:

3:15 Register the sons of Levi by their ancestral houses, by their divisions, by their families. You shall register every male from one month old and upward.

3:16 And Moses and Aaron registered them by the voice of the Lord, as the Lord instructed them.

3:17 And these were the sons of Levi by their names: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

3:18 And these are the names of Gershon’s sons by their divisions: Libni and Shimei.

3:19 And the sons of Kohath by their divisions: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel.

3:20 And the sons of Merari by their divisions: Mahli and Mushi. These are the divisions of the Levites by their ancestral houses.

3:21 To Gershon belonged the division of Libni and the division of Shimei. These are the divisions of Gershon.

3:22 Those registered, counting every male from one month old and upward, numbered seven thousand five hundred.

3:23 And the sons of Gershon shall camp behind the Tent, toward the sea.

3:24 And the ruler of the ancestral house of the division of Gershon is Eliasaph son of Lael.

3:25 And the charge of the sons of Gershon in the Tent of Testimony is the Tent, the covering, and the covering at the door of the Tent of Testimony,

3:26 and the hangings of the court, the curtain at the gate of the court by the Tent, and the remaining things for all its work.

3:27 To Kohath belonged the Amramite, Izharite, Hebronite, and Uzzielite divisions. These are the divisions of Kohath.

3:28 Counting every male from one month old and upward, there were eight thousand six hundred, keeping charge of the holy things.

3:29 The divisions of the sons of Kohath shall camp beside the Tent toward the southwest.

3:30 And the ruler of the ancestral house of the divisions of Kohath is Elizaphan son of Uzziel.

3:31 And their charge is the ark, the table, the lampstand, the altars, the holy utensils with which they minister, the covering, and all their work.

3:32 And the ruler over the rulers of the Levites is Eleazar son of Aaron the priest, appointed to keep charge of the holy things.

3:33 To Merari belonged the division of Mahli and the division of Mushi. These are the divisions of Merari.

3:34 Those registered, counting every male from one month old and upward, numbered six thousand fifty.

Note 5: 5. Numbers 3:34 • Text. The selected Greek text and Brenton give six thousand fifty. KJV and Douay–Rheims give six thousand two hundred. Preserve the edition’s number and identify it openly; do not adjust it to improve arithmetic.

3:35 And the ruler of the ancestral house of the division of Merari is Zuriel son of Abihail. They shall camp beside the Tent toward the north.

3:36 The appointed charge of the sons of Merari is the capitals of the Tent, its bars, pillars, and bases, all their furnishings, and their work,

3:37 and the pillars around the court, their bases, pegs, and cords.

3:38 And those camping before the Tent of Testimony on the east are Moses and Aaron and his sons, keeping the charge of the sanctuary for the charges of the sons of Israel. And the outsider who touches shall die.

3:39 All those registered among the Levites, whom Moses and Aaron registered by the voice of the Lord by their divisions, every male from one month old and upward, were twenty-two thousand.

Note 6: 6. Numbers 3:39 • Text. The total remains twenty-two thousand. In the selected Greek text, 7,500 plus 8,600 plus 6,050 equals 22,150. The draft preserves both the stated subtotals and stated total rather than inventing a reconciliation.

3:40 And the Lord said unto Moses, saying: Register every firstborn male among the sons of Israel from one month old and upward, and take their number by name.

3:41 And you shall take the Levites for Me, I am the Lord, in place of all the firstborn of the sons of Israel, and the livestock of the Levites in place of all the firstborn among the livestock of the sons of Israel.

3:42 And Moses registered every firstborn among the sons of Israel, as the Lord commanded.

3:43 And all the firstborn males, counted by name from one month old and upward, numbered twenty-two thousand two hundred seventy-three.

3:44 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

3:45 Take the Levites in place of every firstborn among the sons of Israel, and the Levites' livestock in place of their livestock. The Levites shall be Mine. I am the Lord.

3:46 And for the ransom of the two hundred seventy-three firstborn sons of Israel who exceed the number of Levites,

3:47 you shall take five shekels head by head; you shall take them according to the sacred didrachma, twenty obols to the shekel.

Note 7: 7. Numbers 3:47 • Meaning. Preserve the Greek monetary terms and its stated relation of twenty obols to the shekel. Modern currency equivalents would obscure the source and suggest a precision the passage does not supply.

3:48 And you shall give the silver unto Aaron and unto his sons, as the ransom of those who exceed their number.

3:49 And Moses took the silver, the ransom of those in excess, for the redemption of the Levites.

3:50 From the firstborn of the sons of Israel he took the silver: one thousand three hundred sixty-five sanctuary shekels.

3:51 And Moses gave the ransom of those in excess unto Aaron and his sons by the voice of the Lord, as the Lord instructed Moses.

Numbers 4

4:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses and Aaron, saying:

4:2 Take the sum of the sons of Kohath from among the sons of Levi, by their divisions, by their ancestral houses,

4:3 from twenty-five years old and upward, up to fifty years old, everyone entering to minister and do all the work in the Tent of Testimony.

Note 8: 8. Numbers 4:3 • Text. The Greek starts service at twenty-five, while KJV and Douay–Rheims give thirty. The same Greek age recurs through this chapter. Do not harmonize either age with the other tradition.

4:4 And this is the work of the sons of Kohath in the Tent of Testimony: the most holy things.

4:5 And when the camp sets out, Aaron and his sons shall enter, and take down the overshadowing veil, and cover the ark of testimony with it.

4:6 And they shall put over it a covering of blue skin, lay a cloth entirely of blue above it, and insert the carrying poles.

Note 9: 9. Numbers 4:6 • Text. Use "blue skin covering" for the Greek. KJV's badgers and Douay–Rheims' violet skins reflect different choices. Neither a modern zoological identification nor an unstated animal belongs in the draft.

4:7 And over the table set forth they shall spread a cloth entirely of purple, and the dishes, and the incense vessels, and the cups, and the vessels wherein he pours the drink offerings; and the continual loaves shall be upon it.

4:8 And they shall spread a scarlet cloth over it, cover it with a covering of blue leather, and insert its carrying poles through it.

4:9 And they shall take a blue cloth and cover the illuminating lampstand, its lamps, tongs, snuffers, and all the oil vessels used in ministering with them.

4:10 And they shall put it and all its furnishings into a covering of blue leather and place it on carrying poles.

4:11 And over the golden altar they shall spread a blue cloth, cover it with a covering of blue leather, and insert its carrying poles.

4:12 And they shall take all the ministering utensils used in the holy place, put them in a blue cloth, cover them with a covering of blue leather, and place them on carrying poles.

4:13 And he shall put the cover upon the altar, and they shall spread a cloth entirely of purple over it.

Note 10: 10. Numbers 4:13 • Text. The Greek directs him to put a covering on the altar. The KJV's removal of ashes is not an archaic synonym for this action; it represents a different reading.

4:14 And they shall put on it all the utensils used in its ministry: the firepans, meat forks, bowls, the cover, and all the altar utensils. They shall spread a covering of blue leather over it and insert its carrying poles. They shall take a purple cloth, cover the basin and its stand together, put them into a covering of blue leather, and place them on carrying poles.

4:15 And when the camp sets out, Aaron and his sons shall finish covering the holy things and all the holy utensils. Afterward the sons of Kohath shall enter to carry them, and they shall not touch the holy things, so that they do not die. These are what the sons of Kohath shall carry in the Tent of Testimony.

4:16 Eleazar son of Aaron the priest is overseer of the oil for light, the compounded incense, the daily sacrifice, and the anointing oil: oversight of the whole Tent and everything in it, in the holy place, in all the work.

4:17 And the Lord spoke unto Moses and Aaron, saying:

4:18 Do not destroy the division of Kohath's tribe from among the Levites.

4:19 Do this for them, and they shall live and shall in no wise die when they approach the most holy things: let Aaron and his sons approach, and they shall appoint each man according to his burden.

4:20 And they shall in no wise enter to behold the holy things suddenly, lest they die.

4:21 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

4:22 Take the sum of the sons of Gershon also, by their ancestral houses, by their divisions.

4:23 Register them from twenty-five years old and upward, up to fifty years old, everyone entering to minister and perform his work in the Tent of Testimony.

4:24 This is the ministry of the division of Gershon, in ministering and carrying:

4:25 And it shall carry the skin curtains of the Tent, the Tent of Testimony, its covering, the blue covering above it, and the covering at the door of the Tent of Testimony,

4:26 And the court hangings by the Tent of Testimony, the remaining things, and all the ministering utensils used with them. They shall do the work.

4:27 The ministry of the sons of Gershon shall be at the mouth of Aaron and his sons, in all their ministries and all that they carry. And you shall register them by name, with all that they carry.

4:28 This is the ministry of the sons of Gershon in the Tent of Testimony. Their charge is under the hand of Ithamar son of Aaron the priest.

4:29 You shall register the sons of Merari by their divisions, by their ancestral houses.

4:30 You shall register them from twenty-five years old and upward unto fifty years old, every one who enters to minister in the work of the Tent of Testimony.

4:31 And these are the things entrusted to their carrying for all their work in the Tent of Testimony: the capitals of the Tent, its bars, pillars, and bases, the covering, their bases and pillars, and the covering at the door of the Tent,

4:32 And the pillars around the court and their bases, the pillars of the curtain at the court gate and their bases, their pegs and cords, all their utensils, and all their ministries. Register them by name, with all the utensils entrusted to their carrying.

4:33 This is the ministry of the division of the sons of Merari, all their work in the Tent of Testimony, under the hand of Ithamar son of Aaron the priest.

4:34 And Moses, Aaron, and the rulers of Israel registered the sons of Kohath by their divisions and ancestral houses,

4:35 From twenty-five years old and upward, up to fifty years old, everyone entering to minister and work in the Tent of Testimony.

4:36 And their enrolment by their divisions was two thousand seven hundred fifty.

Note 11: 11. Numbers 4:36 • Text. The Greek, like the Hebrew, gives 2,750 here (δισχίλιοι ἑπτακόσιοι πεντήκοντα). The three Levite subtotals (2,750 + 2,630 + 3,200) therefore add up to the 8,580 stated in 4:48.

4:37 This is the enrolment of the division of Kohath, everyone ministering in the Tent of Testimony, whom Moses and Aaron registered by the voice of the Lord through Moses.

4:38 And the sons of Gershon were registered by their divisions and ancestral houses,

4:39 From twenty-five years old and upward, up to fifty years old, everyone entering to minister and do the work in the Tent of Testimony.

4:40 And their enrolment by their divisions and ancestral houses was two thousand six hundred thirty.

4:41 This is the enrolment of the division of the sons of Gershon, everyone ministering in the Tent of Testimony, whom Moses and Aaron registered by the voice of the Lord through Moses.

4:42 The division of the sons of Merari was also registered by their divisions and ancestral houses,

4:43 From twenty-five years old and upward, up to fifty years old, everyone entering to minister in the work of the Tent of Testimony.

4:44 And their enrolment by their divisions and ancestral houses was three thousand two hundred.

4:45 This is the enrolment of the division of the sons of Merari, whom Moses and Aaron registered by the voice of the Lord through Moses.

4:46 All those registered among the Levites by Moses, Aaron, and the rulers of Israel, by their divisions and ancestral houses,

4:47 From twenty-five years old and upward, up to fifty years old, everyone entering for the work of service and the work of carrying in the Tent of Testimony,

4:48 And those registered numbered eight thousand five hundred eighty.

4:49 By the voice of the Lord, through Moses, each man was appointed to his work and what he carried. They were registered as the Lord instructed Moses.

Numbers 5

5:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

5:2 Command the sons of Israel to send out of the camp everyone with leprosy, everyone with a seminal discharge, and everyone unclean through a dead person.

5:3 From male unto female, send them outside the camp, and they shall in no wise defile their camps, wherein I dwell among them.

5:4 And the sons of Israel did so and sent them outside the camp. As the Lord spoke unto Moses, so the sons of Israel did.

5:5 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

5:6 Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying: If a man or woman commits any of the sins of men, and acts with utter disregard, and that soul incurs guilt,

5:7 that person shall confess the sin committed, and repay the principal of the offence, and add a fifth part thereto, and give it unto the one who was wronged.

5:8 But if the man has no next of kin to receive repayment for the offence, the repayment made unto the Lord shall be the priest’s, besides the ram of atonement, wherewith he shall make atonement for him.

5:9 And every first portion from all the things consecrated among the sons of Israel that they bring unto the Lord, unto the priest, shall belong to him.

5:10 And each man’s consecrated things shall be his; whatsoever a man gives unto the priest shall be his.

5:11 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

5:12 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: If any man’s wife transgresses and utterly disregards him,

5:13 and anyone lies with her with an emission of semen, and it escapes the eyes of her husband, and she conceals it, though she is defiled, and there is no witness concerning her, and she is not caught,

5:14 and a spirit of jealousy comes upon him, and he is jealous of his wife, and she is defiled; or a spirit of jealousy comes upon him, and he is jealous of his wife, and she is not defiled:

5:15 then the man shall bring his wife unto the priest, and shall present the gift on her behalf, a tenth of an oiphi of barley flour. He shall pour no oil upon it, neither shall he put frankincense upon it; for it is a sacrifice of jealousy, a memorial sacrifice bringing sin to remembrance.

Note 12: 12. Numbers 5:15 • Wording. “Barley flour” makes the material clear. Retain oiphi as the Greek measure, with its one-tenth fraction. Historical “meal” can mean flour, but present-day readers may hear a prepared meal.

5:16 And the priest shall bring her near and stand her before the Lord.

5:17 And the priest shall take clean, living water in an earthenware vessel. He shall take some earth from the floor of the Tent of Testimony and put it into the water.

5:18 And the priest shall stand the woman before the Lord, uncover her head, and put the memorial sacrifice—the sacrifice of jealousy—on her hands. In the priest’s hand shall be this curse-bringing water of testing.

Note 13: 13. Numbers 5:18 • Text. “Water of testing” follows the Greek’s scrutiny or conviction language. KJV and Douay–Rheims call it bitter water. Preserve the curse language without importing bitterness into this Greek phrase.

5:19 And the priest shall put her under oath, and say unto the woman: If no one has lain with you, and you have not transgressed into defilement while under your own husband, be unharmed by this curse-bringing water of testing.

5:20 But if you have transgressed while under a husband, or have become defiled, and someone other than your husband has lain with you:

5:21 then the priest shall put the woman under the oaths of this curse, and the priest shall say unto the woman: The Lord make you a curse and an oath among your people, when the Lord makes your thigh collapse and your belly swell;

Note 14: 14. Numbers 5:21 • Meaning. Keep the thigh and belly images. The bodily effect is difficult; the translation should not silently replace it with a diagnosis, a modern reproductive procedure, or a claim about miscarriage. This requires an explanatory note.

5:22 and this curse-bringing water shall enter your belly, to make your belly swell and your thigh collapse. And the woman shall say: So be it, so be it.

Note 15: 15. Numbers 5:22 • Wording. “So be it, so be it” preserves both the assent and its repetition. “Amen, amen” is also intelligible traditional English, but this Greek wording translates the assent rather than transliterating amen.

5:23 And the priest shall write these curses in a scroll and wipe them off into the curse-bringing water of testing.

5:24 And he shall make the woman drink the curse-bringing water of testing, and the curse-bringing water of testing shall enter her.

5:25 And the priest shall take the sacrifice of jealousy from the woman’s hand, place the sacrifice before the Lord, and bring it near the altar.

5:26 And the priest shall take a handful from the sacrifice as its memorial portion and offer it up on the altar. Afterward he shall make the woman drink the water.

5:27 And it shall be, if she is defiled and has concealed it from her husband, that the curse-bringing water of testing shall enter her, and her belly shall swell, and her thigh shall collapse, and the woman shall become a curse among her people.

5:28 But if the woman is not defiled, and is clean, she shall be unharmed, and shall bring forth seed.

5:29 This is the law of jealousy, when a wife transgresses while under a husband and becomes defiled,

5:30 or when a spirit of jealousy comes upon a man and he is jealous of his wife. He shall set his wife before the Lord, and the priest shall perform all this law for her.

5:31 And the man shall be free from sin, and that woman shall bear her sin.

Numbers 6

6:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

6:2 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: If a man or woman solemnly vows a vow of consecration unto the Lord, to be set apart

Note 16: 16. Numbers 6:2 • Meaning. Use consecration language for the vow. Nazirite is useful in a note identifying the institution; the Greek verse itself describes the vow without supplying that transliterated noun.

6:3 from wine and strong drink, he shall be purified from wine. He shall drink neither vinegar of wine, nor vinegar of strong drink, nor anything prepared from grapes; and he shall eat neither fresh grapes nor raisins.

6:4 All the days of his vow he shall consume nothing made from the vine: wine, from pressed grape skins unto the seed.

6:5 All the days of the vow of purification no razor shall come upon his head. Until the days which he vowed unto the Lord are fulfilled, he shall be holy, letting the hair of his head grow long.

6:6 All the days of his vow unto the Lord he shall not enter where any dead person is.

6:7 For his father, or his mother, or his brother, or his sister, he shall not defile himself when they die; for the vow of his God is upon him, upon his head.

6:8 All the days of his vow he shall be holy unto the Lord.

6:9 But if anyone dies suddenly beside him, the head of his vow shall be defiled forthwith. He shall shave his head on the day when he is cleansed; on the seventh day it shall be shaved.

6:10 And on the eighth day he shall bring two turtledoves or two young pigeons unto the priest, at the doors of the Tent of Testimony.

6:11 And the priest shall prepare one for sin and one for a whole burnt offering. And the priest shall make atonement for him concerning his sin in connection with the dead person, and shall consecrate his head on that day,

6:12 whereon he was consecrated unto the Lord for the days of the vow. And he shall bring a year-old lamb for a guilt offering; and the former days shall not be reckoned, for the head of his vow was defiled.

6:13 And this is the law of him who has vowed: on the day when he fulfils the days of his vow, he shall present his offering at the doors of the Tent of Testimony,

6:14 and he shall bring his gift unto the Lord: one unblemished year-old male lamb for whole burning, and one unblemished year-old ewe lamb for sin, and one unblemished ram for deliverance,

6:15 and a basket of unleavened bread of fine flour, loaves prepared with oil, and unleavened wafers spread with oil, and their sacrifice and their drink offering.

6:16 And the priest shall present them before the Lord, and prepare his offering for sin and his whole burnt offering.

6:17 And he shall prepare the ram as a sacrifice of deliverance unto the Lord, with the basket of unleavened bread; and the priest shall prepare its sacrifice and its drink offering.

6:18 And he who has vowed shall shave the head of his vow at the doors of the Tent of Testimony, and put the hair upon the fire which is under the sacrifice of deliverance.

6:19 And the priest shall take the boiled foreleg from the ram, and one unleavened loaf from the basket, and one unleavened wafer, and put them upon the hands of him who has vowed, after he has shaved the hair of his vow.

6:20 And the priest shall bring them as a presentation before the Lord. It shall be holy unto the priest, with the breast of presentation and the foreleg of the portion set apart; and afterward he who has vowed shall drink wine.

6:21 This is the law of him who vows unto the Lord, his gift unto the Lord concerning the vow, apart from whatever his hand may find, according to the extent of his vow which he vows under the law of consecration.

6:22 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

6:23 Speak unto Aaron and unto his sons, saying: Thus you shall bless the sons of Israel, saying unto them (and they shall put My name upon the sons of Israel, and I, the Lord, will bless them):

Note 17: 17. Numbers 6:23 • Text. Restore the naming clause missing from the earlier Saints reading draft. This Greek edition places it parenthetically before the threefold blessing. The comparison versions place the corresponding clause at 6:27; the draft therefore has 26 verse units in chapter 6.

6:24 The Lord bless you and keep you;

Note 18: 18. Numbers 6:24 • Wording. Retain “The Lord bless thee and keep thee.” These are wishes of blessing, not present indicatives; “blesseth” would alter the grammar. Singular thee addresses the recipient distributively within the blessing upon Israel.

6:25 the Lord make His face shine upon you, and have mercy upon you;

Note 19: 19. Numbers 6:25 • Meaning. “Have mercy upon thee” expresses the Greek verb directly and agrees closely with Brenton and Douay–Rheims. KJV’s “be gracious” is not wrong English, but it does not carry the same explicit mercy wording.

6:26 the Lord lift up His face upon you, and give you peace.

Note 20: 20. Numbers 6:26 • Wording. Retain the lifting of the face and the gift of peace. “Face” is clear modern English; “countenance” supplies traditional cadence but is not needed to recover the image.

Numbers 7

7:1 And it came to pass, on the day when Moses finished setting up the Tent, that he anointed it and sanctified it and all its vessels, and the altar and all its vessels; and he anointed them and sanctified them,

7:2 and the rulers of Israel presented offerings, twelve rulers of their ancestral houses; these are the rulers of the tribes, these are they who stood over the enrolment.

7:3 And they brought their gifts before the Lord: six covered wagons and twelve oxen, a wagon from every two rulers and a calf from each. They presented them before the Tent.

Note 21: 21. Numbers 7:3 • Wording. “Covered wagons” is an intelligible traditional expression. Keep six wagons and twelve oxen, and preserve the distribution of one wagon for two rulers and one calf from each.

7:4 And the Lord said unto Moses, saying:

7:5 Take them from them, and they shall be for the works of ministry of the Tent of Testimony; and you shall give them unto the Levites, unto each according to his ministry.

7:6 And Moses took the wagons and oxen and gave them to the Levites.

7:7 He gave two wagons and four oxen to the sons of Gershon, according to their ministries.

7:8 And he gave four wagons and eight oxen to the sons of Merari, according to their ministries, through Ithamar son of Aaron the priest.

7:9 And unto the sons of Kohath he gave none, for they have the ministries of the sanctuary; they shall bear them upon their shoulders.

7:10 And the rulers presented gifts for the dedication of the altar on the day he anointed it. The rulers presented their gifts before the altar.

7:11 And the Lord said unto Moses: One ruler each day, a ruler each day, shall present their gifts for the dedication of the altar.

7:12 And the one presenting his gift on the first day was Nahshon son of Amminadab, ruler of the tribe of Judah.

7:13 And he presented his gift: one silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels and one silver bowl of seventy sanctuary shekels, both full of fine flour prepared with oil for a sacrifice;

7:14 one incense vessel of ten gold units, full of incense;

7:15 one calf, one ram, and one year-old male lamb for a whole burnt offering;

7:16 and one male goat from the goats for sin;

7:17 and for a sacrifice of deliverance: two heifers, five rams, five male goats, and five year-old ewe lambs. This was the gift of Nahshon son of Amminadab.

Note 22: 22. Numbers 7:17 • Text. Retain the Greek heifers and ewe lambs. The sex distinctions differ from the more general oxen and lambs of the other traditions. Repeated offerings in this chapter remain fully written out.

7:18 On the second day Nethanel son of Zuar, ruler of the tribe of Issachar, presented his gift.

7:19 And he presented his gift: one silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels and one silver bowl of seventy sanctuary shekels, both full of fine flour prepared with oil for a sacrifice;

7:20 one incense vessel of ten gold units, full of incense;

7:21 one calf, one ram, and one year-old male lamb for a whole burnt offering;

7:22 and one male goat from the goats for sin;

7:23 and for a sacrifice of deliverance: two heifers, five rams, five male goats, and five year-old ewe lambs. This was the gift of Nethanel son of Zuar.

7:24 On the third day: Eliab son of Helon, ruler of the sons of Zebulun.

7:25 His gift was one silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels and one silver bowl of seventy sanctuary shekels, both full of fine flour prepared with oil for a sacrifice;

7:26 one incense vessel of ten gold units, full of incense;

7:27 one calf, one ram, and one year-old male lamb for a whole burnt offering;

7:28 and one male goat from the goats for sin;

7:29 and for a sacrifice of deliverance: two heifers, five rams, five male goats, and five year-old ewe lambs. This was the gift of Eliab son of Helon.

7:30 On the fourth day: Elizur son of Shedeur, ruler of the sons of Reuben.

7:31 His gift was one silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels and one silver bowl of seventy sanctuary shekels, both full of fine flour prepared with oil for a sacrifice;

7:32 one incense vessel of ten gold units, full of incense;

7:33 one calf, one ram, and one year-old male lamb for a whole burnt offering;

7:34 and one male goat from the goats for sin;

7:35 and for a sacrifice of deliverance: two heifers, five rams, five male goats, and five year-old ewe lambs. This was the gift of Elizur son of Shedeur.

7:36 On the fifth day: Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai, ruler of the sons of Simeon.

7:37 His gift was one silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels and one silver bowl of seventy sanctuary shekels, both full of fine flour prepared with oil for a sacrifice;

7:38 one incense vessel of ten gold units, full of incense;

7:39 one calf, one ram, and one year-old male lamb for a whole burnt offering;

7:40 and one male goat from the goats for sin;

7:41 and for a sacrifice of deliverance: two heifers, five rams, five male goats, and five year-old ewe lambs. This was the gift of Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai.

7:42 On the sixth day: Eliasaph son of Reuel, ruler of the sons of Gad.

7:43 His gift was one silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels and one silver bowl of seventy sanctuary shekels, both full of fine flour prepared with oil for a sacrifice;

7:44 one incense vessel of ten gold units, full of incense;

7:45 one calf, one ram, and one year-old male lamb for a whole burnt offering;

7:46 and one male goat from the goats for sin;

7:47 and for a sacrifice of deliverance: two heifers, five rams, five male goats, and five year-old ewe lambs. This was the gift of Eliasaph son of Reuel.

7:48 On the seventh day: Elishama son of Ammihud, ruler of the sons of Ephraim.

7:49 His gift was one silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels and one silver bowl of seventy sanctuary shekels, both full of fine flour prepared with oil for a sacrifice;

7:50 one incense vessel of ten gold units, full of incense;

7:51 one calf, one ram, and one year-old male lamb for a whole burnt offering;

7:52 and one male goat from the goats for sin;

7:53 and for a sacrifice of deliverance: two heifers, five rams, five male goats, and five year-old ewe lambs. This was the gift of Elishama son of Ammihud.

7:54 On the eighth day: Gamaliel son of Pedahzur, ruler of the sons of Manasseh.

7:55 His gift was one silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels and one silver bowl of seventy sanctuary shekels, both full of fine flour prepared with oil for a sacrifice;

7:56 one incense vessel of ten gold units, full of incense;

7:57 one calf, one ram, and one year-old male lamb for a whole burnt offering;

7:58 and one male goat from the goats for sin;

7:59 and for a sacrifice of deliverance: two heifers, five rams, five male goats, and five year-old ewe lambs. This was the gift of Gamaliel son of Pedahzur.

7:60 On the ninth day: Abidan son of Gideoni, ruler of the sons of Benjamin.

7:61 His gift was one silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels and one silver bowl of seventy sanctuary shekels, both full of fine flour prepared with oil for a sacrifice;

7:62 one incense vessel of ten gold units, full of incense;

7:63 one calf, one ram, and one year-old male lamb for a whole burnt offering;

7:64 and one male goat from the goats for sin;

7:65 and for a sacrifice of deliverance: two heifers, five rams, five male goats, and five year-old ewe lambs. This was the gift of Abidan son of Gideoni.

7:66 On the tenth day: Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai, ruler of the sons of Dan.

7:67 His gift was one silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels and one silver bowl of seventy sanctuary shekels, both full of fine flour prepared with oil for a sacrifice;

7:68 one incense vessel of ten gold units, full of incense;

7:69 one calf, one ram, and one year-old male lamb for a whole burnt offering;

7:70 and one male goat from the goats for sin;

7:71 and for a sacrifice of deliverance: two heifers, five rams, five male goats, and five year-old ewe lambs. This was the gift of Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai.

7:72 On the eleventh day: Pagiel son of Ocran, ruler of the sons of Asher.

7:73 His gift was one silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels and one silver bowl of seventy sanctuary shekels, both full of fine flour prepared with oil for a sacrifice;

7:74 one incense vessel of ten gold units, full of incense;

7:75 one calf, one ram, and one year-old male lamb for a whole burnt offering;

7:76 and one male goat from the goats for sin;

7:77 and for a sacrifice of deliverance: two heifers, five rams, five male goats, and five year-old ewe lambs. This was the gift of Pagiel son of Ocran.

7:78 On the twelfth day: Ahira son of Enan, ruler of the sons of Naphtali.

7:79 His gift was one silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels and one silver bowl of seventy sanctuary shekels, both full of fine flour prepared with oil for a sacrifice;

7:80 one incense vessel of ten gold units, full of incense;

7:81 one calf, one ram, and one year-old male lamb for a whole burnt offering;

7:82 and one male goat from the goats for sin;

7:83 and for a sacrifice of deliverance: two heifers, five rams, five male goats, and five year-old ewe lambs. This was the gift of Ahira son of Enan.

7:84 This was the dedication of the altar from the rulers of the sons of Israel on the day he anointed it: twelve silver dishes, twelve silver bowls, and twelve gold incense vessels.

7:85 Each dish weighed one hundred thirty shekels and each bowl seventy shekels. All the silver of the vessels was two thousand four hundred sanctuary shekels.

7:86 The twelve gold incense vessels were full of incense. All the gold of the incense vessels was one hundred twenty gold units.

7:87 All the cattle for whole burning were twelve calves, with twelve rams and twelve year-old male lambs, and their sacrifices and drink offerings; also twelve male goats from the goats for sin.

7:88 All the cattle for the sacrifice of deliverance were twenty-four heifers, with sixty rams, sixty male goats, and sixty unblemished year-old ewe lambs. This was the dedication of the altar after the filling of his hands and after anointing him.

Note 23: 23. Numbers 7:88 • Text. The Greek adds the filling of his hands, a consecration idiom, and then anointing him. The referent in this wording is awkward. Preserve it and explain the idiom rather than silently replacing it with the other versions' altar-only wording.

7:89 When Moses entered the Tent of Testimony to speak with Him, he heard the voice of the Lord speaking to him from above the propitiatory cover on the ark of Testimony, between the two cherubim. He spoke to him.

Note 24: 24. Numbers 7:89 • Meaning. Use "propitiatory cover" consistently for the ark's cover. Brenton and KJV use mercy seat, while Douay–Rheims has propitiatory. The note identifies the traditional term without suggesting that the object is an ordinary chair.

Numbers 8

8:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

8:2 Speak unto Aaron, and you shall say unto him: When you set the lamps in place, the seven lamps shall shine from one side toward the front of the lampstand.

8:3 And Aaron did so. He lit its lamps from the one side toward the front of the lampstand, as the Lord instructed Moses.

8:4 And this was the construction of the lampstand: solid gold, its stem and its lilies, entirely solid. According to the form the Lord showed Moses, so he made the lampstand.

8:5 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

8:6 Take the Levites from among the sons of Israel, and you shall purify them.

8:7 And you shall do thus unto them for their purification: you shall sprinkle them with water of purification, and a razor shall pass over their whole body, and they shall wash their garments and be clean.

Note 25: 25. Numbers 8:7 • Meaning. "Water of purification" describes ritual cleansing. KJV's "water of purifying" remains understandable, but the noun purification fits the Saints terminology and avoids a cumbersome gerund phrase.

8:8 And they shall take one calf from the cattle, and its sacrifice of fine flour prepared with oil; and you shall take a year-old calf from the cattle for sin.

8:9 And you shall bring the Levites before the Tent of Testimony, and shall gather the whole congregation of the sons of Israel.

8:10 And you shall bring the Levites before the Lord, and the sons of Israel shall lay their hands upon the Levites.

8:11 And Aaron shall set the Levites apart as a gift before the Lord from the sons of Israel, so that they may perform the works of the Lord.

8:12 But the Levites shall lay their hands upon the heads of the calves; and he shall offer the one for sin and the other for a whole burnt offering unto the Lord, to make atonement for them.

8:13 And you shall set the Levites before the Lord, and before Aaron, and before his sons, and shall give them as a gift before the Lord.

8:14 And you shall separate the Levites from among the sons of Israel, and they shall be Mine.

8:15 And after these things the Levites shall enter to perform the works of the Tent of Testimony; and you shall cleanse them, and shall give them before the Lord.

8:16 For they are given to Me as a gift from among the sons of Israel. In place of those opening every womb, all the firstborn among the sons of Israel, I have taken them for Myself.

8:17 For every firstborn among the sons of Israel is Mine, human and livestock alike. On the day I struck down every firstborn in the land of Egypt, I consecrated them to Myself.

8:18 And I took the Levites in place of every firstborn among the sons of Israel.

8:19 And I gave the Levites as a gift unto Aaron and his sons from among the sons of Israel, to perform the works of the sons of Israel in the Tent of Testimony and make atonement for the sons of Israel, and there shall be no one among the sons of Israel approaching the holy things.

Note 26: 26. Numbers 8:19 • Text. The Greek concludes that no one among the sons of Israel shall approach the holy things. The plague clause in KJV and Douay–Rheims should not be inserted as though it were merely smoother English.

8:20 And Moses, Aaron, and the whole congregation of the sons of Israel did for the Levites everything that the Lord commanded Moses concerning the Levites. So the sons of Israel did for them.

8:21 And the Levites purified themselves and washed their clothes. Aaron gave them as a gift before the Lord, and Aaron made atonement for them to purify them.

8:22 And afterward the Levites entered to minister their ministry in the Tent of Testimony before Aaron and his sons. As the Lord instructed Moses concerning the Levites, so they did for them.

8:23 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

8:24 This concerns the Levites: from twenty-five years old and upward, they shall enter to work in the Tent of Testimony.

8:25 And from fifty years old he shall withdraw from the ministry, and shall work no longer.

8:26 And his brother shall minister in the Tent of Testimony, to keep the charges; but he shall perform no work. Thus you shall deal with the Levites in their charges.

Note 27: 27. Numbers 8:26 • Text. The Greek says “his brother shall minister,” following a singular retiring Levite in 8:25. KJV and Douay–Rheims describe assisting brethren. Preserve the Greek shift and flag the unclear practical relationship.

Numbers 9

9:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the second year after they came out of the land of Egypt, in the first month, saying:

9:2 Tell the sons of Israel to observe the Passover at its appointed time.

9:3 On the fourteenth day of the first month, toward evening, you shall observe it at the appointed times; you shall observe it according to its law and according to its prescribed determination.

9:4 And Moses told the sons of Israel to observe the Passover.

9:5 At the beginning, on the fourteenth day of the month in the wilderness of Sinai, the sons of Israel did as the Lord instructed Moses.

9:6 And men arrived who were unclean through a dead person and could not observe the Passover that day. They approached Moses and Aaron that day.

9:7 And those men said to him: We are unclean through a dead person. Must we therefore fail to present the gift unto the Lord at its appointed time among the sons of Israel?

9:8 And Moses said unto them: Stand here, and I will hear what the Lord will command concerning you.

9:9 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

9:10 Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying: If any man among you, or among your generations, is unclean through a dead person, or is on a distant journey, he shall observe the Passover unto the Lord.

9:11 In the second month, on the fourteenth day, toward evening, they shall observe it. They shall eat it with unleavened bread and bitter herbs.

9:12 They shall leave none of it until morning and shall break no bone of it. They shall observe it according to the law of the Passover.

9:13 And if a man is clean, and is not on a distant journey, and fails to observe the Passover, that soul shall be destroyed from his people; because he did not present the gift unto the Lord at its appointed time, that man shall bear his sin.

9:14 But if a sojourner comes unto you in your land, and observes the Passover unto the Lord, he shall observe it according to the law of the Passover and according to its prescribed order. You shall have one law, both for the sojourner and for the native of the land.

Note 28: 28. Numbers 9:14 • Meaning. “One law” is direct and solemn. Sojourner means an outsider residing among the people; it should not be reduced to a tourist or equated without qualification with a modern citizenship category.

9:15 And on the day the Tent was erected, the cloud covered the Tent, the House of Testimony. In the evening there was over the Tent an appearance like fire until morning.

9:16 So it was continually: the cloud covered it by day, and an appearance of fire by night.

9:17 And whenever the cloud rose from the Tent, afterward the sons of Israel set out. Where the cloud stood, there the sons of Israel camped.

9:18 By the command of the Lord the sons of Israel shall camp, and by the command of the Lord they shall set out; all the days in which the cloud overshadows the Tent, the sons of Israel shall camp.

9:19 And when the cloud remains over the Tent for many days, the sons of Israel shall keep the charge of God, and shall in no wise set out.

9:20 And it shall be, when the cloud covers the Tent for a number of days, that by the voice of the Lord they shall camp, and by the command of the Lord they shall set out.

9:21 And it shall be, when the cloud remains from evening until morning, and the cloud rises in the morning, that they shall set out by day or by night.

9:22 For the days of a month, while the cloud continues overshadowing it, the sons of Israel shall camp, and shall in no wise set out.

Note 29: 29. Numbers 9:22 • Text. Retain the Greek reference to the days of a month. KJV and Douay–Rheims give a fuller range of durations. The web Brenton paragraph is numbered differently, so the parallel is matched by content.

9:23 For by the command of the Lord they shall set out. They kept the Lord’s charge, by the command of the Lord through Moses.

Numbers 10

10:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

10:2 Make two silver trumpets for yourself; you shall make them of hammered work; and they shall be for you to summon the congregation and to set the camps in motion.

10:3 And you shall blow them, and the whole congregation shall gather at the door of the Tent of Testimony.

10:4 But if they blow one, all the rulers, the leaders of Israel, shall come unto you.

10:5 And you shall blow a signal, and the camps encamped toward the east shall set out.

10:6 And you shall blow a second signal, and the camps encamped toward the southwest shall set out; and you shall blow a third signal, and the camps encamped toward the sea shall set out; and you shall blow a fourth signal, and the camps encamped toward the north shall set out. They shall blow a signal at their departure.

Note 30: 30. Numbers 10:6 • Text. The Greek includes third and fourth signals for the seaward and northern camps. KJV and Douay–Rheims do not give that full sequence here. Preserve the repeated instructions.

10:7 And when you gather the congregation, you shall blow, but not with a signal.

10:8 And Aaron’s sons, the priests, shall blow the trumpets. This shall be an everlasting statute for you throughout your generations.

10:9 But if you go out to war in your land against the adversaries who resist you, you shall give a signal with the trumpets; and you shall be remembered before the Lord, and shall be delivered from your enemies.

10:10 And in the days of your gladness, and at your feasts, and at your new moons, you shall blow the trumpets over your whole burnt offerings and over your sacrifices of deliverance; and it shall be a remembrance for you before your God. I am the Lord your God.

10:11 And in the second year, in the second month, on the twentieth day of the month, the cloud rose from the Tent of Testimony.

10:12 And the sons of Israel set out with their equipment in the wilderness of Sinai, and the cloud stood in the wilderness of Paran.

10:13 And they set out first by the voice of the Lord through Moses.

10:14 And the formation of the camp of the sons of Judah set out first, with their army. Nahshon son of Amminadab was over their army.

10:15 And Nethanel son of Zuar was over the army of the tribe of the sons of Issachar.

10:16 And Eliab son of Helon was over the army of the tribe of the sons of Zebulun.

10:17 And they shall take down the Tent, and the sons of Gershon and Merari shall set out carrying the Tent.

10:18 And the formation of Reuben’s camp set out, with their army. Elizur son of Shedeur was over their army.

10:19 And Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai was over the army of the tribe of the sons of Simeon.

10:20 And Eliasaph son of Reuel was over the army of the tribe of the sons of Gad.

10:21 And the sons of Kohath shall set out carrying the holy things; they shall erect the Tent before they arrive.

10:22 And the formation of Ephraim’s camp shall set out, with their army. Elishama son of Ammihud was over their army.

10:23 And Gamaliel son of Pedahzur was over the army of the tribe of the sons of Manasseh.

10:24 And Abidan son of Gideoni was over the army of the tribe of the sons of Benjamin.

10:25 And the formation of the camp of the sons of Dan shall set out last of all the camps, with their army. Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai was over their army.

10:26 And Pagiel son of Ocran was over the army of the tribe of the sons of Asher.

10:27 And Ahira son of Enan was over the army of the tribe of the sons of Naphtali.

10:28 These were the armies of the sons of Israel, and they set out with their force.

10:29 And Moses said unto Hobab son of Reuel the Midianite, Moses’ kinsman by marriage: We are setting out for the place of which the Lord said: I will give this unto you. Come with us, and we will do you good; for the Lord has spoken good concerning Israel.

10:30 And he said unto him: I will not go, but will go unto my own land and unto my kindred.

10:31 And he said: Do not leave us, for you were with us in the wilderness, and you shall be an elder among us.

Note 31: 31. Numbers 10:31 • Text. Use “an elder among us.” KJV’s “instead of eyes” and Douay–Rheims’ guide make sense in their texts, but they should not displace the Greek noun.

10:32 And it shall be, if you go with us, that whatever good things the Lord may do unto us, we will do you good.

10:33 And they set out from the mountain of the Lord for a journey of three days. The ark of the Lord’s covenant went ahead of them for a journey of three days, to scout a resting place for them.

10:34 And it came to pass, when the ark set out, that Moses said: Arise, O Lord; let Thine enemies be scattered; let all them that hate Thee flee.

Note 32: 32. Numbers 10:34 • Wording. “Arise, O Lord” preserves the force and cadence of the invocation. The Greek places this prayer at 10:34; its parallel is KJV and Douay–Rheims 10:35. The cloud verse follows the prayers in this Greek edition.

10:35 And when it rested, he said: Turn back, O Lord, the thousands and myriads in Israel.

10:36 And the cloud was overshadowing them by day when they set out from the camp.

Numbers 11

11:1 And the people were grumbling evil things before the Lord. The Lord heard and was stirred to anger; fire from the Lord blazed among them and consumed a part of the camp.

11:2 And the people cried out unto Moses. Moses prayed unto the Lord, and the fire died down.

11:3 And that place was named Burning, because fire from the Lord had blazed among them.

11:4 And the mixed company among them craved intensely, and the sons of Israel also sat down and wept, saying: Who will feed us meat?

Note 33: 33. Numbers 11:4 • Wording. “Craved intensely” conveys the emphatic repetition naturally. Historical lust here means intense desire for food, not specifically sexual desire. The title Graves of Craving makes the same distinction clear.

11:5 We remember the fish we ate in Egypt for nothing, the cucumbers, melons, leeks, onions, and garlic.

11:6 But now our life is parched; our eyes see nothing except the manna.

11:7 The manna is like coriander seed, and its appearance is like crystal.

Note 34: 34. Numbers 11:7 • Text. The Greek κρύσταλλος can evoke crystal or ice; Brenton chooses hoarfrost. KJV and Douay–Rheims have bdellium. The draft retains crystal as the visual comparison, with the icy sense noted as an alternative; it does not identify manna’s material.

11:8 And the people went about and gathered it, ground it in the mill, crushed it in the mortar, boiled it in the pot, and made cakes baked in ashes. Its pleasant taste was like a cake made with oil.

11:9 And when the dew fell on the camp at night, the manna fell upon it.

11:10 And Moses heard them weeping by their groups, each at his doorway. The Lord was stirred to great anger, and it was evil in Moses’ sight.

11:11 And Moses said unto the Lord: Why hast Thou afflicted Thy servant? And why have I not found favour before Thee, that Thou shouldest lay the onrush of this people upon me?

11:12 Did I conceive all this people, or did I give birth unto them, that Thou sayest unto me, Carry them in your bosom, as a nurse carries a nursing child, unto the land which Thou didst swear unto their fathers?

11:13 Where can I get meat to give all this people? For they weep before me, saying: Give us meat to eat!

11:14 I shall not be able to carry this people alone, because this matter is too heavy for me.

11:15 But if Thou do thus unto me, slay me outright, if I have found mercy with Thee, that I may not see my misery.

11:16 And the Lord said unto Moses: Gather unto Me seventy men from the elders of Israel, whom you yourself know to be elders of the people and their scribes; and you shall bring them unto the Tent of Testimony, and they shall stand there with you.

11:17 And I will come down and speak there with you, and will take of the Spirit that is upon you and put it upon them; and they shall help you bear the onrush of the people, and you shall not bear them alone.

11:18 And you shall say unto the people: Purify yourselves for tomorrow, and you shall eat meat; for you wept before the Lord, saying: Who will feed us meat? For it is well with us in Egypt. And the Lord will give you meat to eat, and you shall eat meat.

11:19 You shall eat not for one day, nor for two, nor for five days, nor for ten days, nor for twenty days;

11:20 for a whole month you shall eat, until it comes out of your nostrils, and it shall be unto you a bilious sickness; because you disobeyed the Lord, who is among you, and wept before Him, saying: Why did we come out of Egypt?

Note 35: 35. Numbers 11:20 • Meaning. “Bilious sickness” retains the ancient bodily sense without claiming a diagnosis of modern cholera. Brenton has nausea, while KJV and Douay–Rheims emphasize loathing. Nausea is a clearer possible alternative; bilious sickness preserves the more specific ancient idiom provisionally.

11:21 And Moses said: The people among whom I am are six hundred thousand on foot; and Thou hast said: I will give them meat to eat, and they shall eat for a whole month.

11:22 Could sheep and cattle be slaughtered for them and be enough? Could all the food of the sea be gathered for them and be enough?

11:23 And the Lord said unto Moses: Shall the hand of the Lord not suffice? Now you shall know whether My word shall overtake you or not.

11:24 And Moses went out and told the people the Lord’s words. He gathered seventy men from the elders of the people and stationed them around the tent.

11:25 And the Lord came down in a cloud and spoke to him. He took some of the Spirit that was upon him and put it upon the seventy men, the elders. When the Spirit rested upon them, they prophesied, and did not do so again.

Note 36: 36. Numbers 11:25 • Meaning. “Did not do so again” reflects the Greek’s cessation of further prophesying. KJV’s “did not cease” and Douay–Rheims’ continuation say something materially different. This is not a stylistic modernization.

11:26 And two men were left in the camp: one was named Eldad and the other Medad. The Spirit rested upon them. They were among those enrolled, but had not come to the tent; they prophesied in the camp.

11:27 And the young man ran up and reported unto Moses, saying: Eldad and Medad are prophesying in the camp!

11:28 And Joshua son of Nun, the chosen attendant of Moses, answered: My lord Moses, prevent them!

11:29 And Moses said unto him: Are you jealous for me? Would that all the people of the Lord were prophets, when the Lord gives His Spirit upon them!

Note 37: 37. Numbers 11:29 • Meaning. Render the idiom as a wish: “Would that all the people of the Lord were prophets.” A mechanical “Who would make” can sound like a request to identify someone. Keep the following Greek when-clause about the Spirit.

11:30 And Moses returned to the camp, he and the elders of Israel.

11:31 And a wind went out from the Lord and carried quail across from the sea. It cast them upon the camp, a day’s journey on this side and a day’s journey on that side, around the camp, about two cubits above the ground.

11:32 And the people rose all that day, all night, and all the following day and gathered quail. Whoever gathered least gathered ten kors, and they cooled them for themselves in cooling places around the camp.

11:33 The meat was still between their teeth, before it was gone, when the Lord grew angry against the people and struck the people with a very great plague.

11:34 And that place was named Graves of Craving, because there they buried the people who had craved.

11:35 From Graves of Craving the people set out for Hazeroth, and the people were at Hazeroth.

Numbers 12

12:1 And Miriam and Aaron spoke against Moses because of the Ethiopian woman Moses had married, for he had married an Ethiopian woman.

12:2 And they said: Has the Lord spoken only unto Moses? Has He not spoken unto us also? And the Lord heard.

12:3 And the man Moses was very meek, beyond all the men upon the earth.

Note 38: 38. Numbers 12:3 • Wording. Restore “very meek.” Here meek conveys gentleness and humility, not weakness or inability to lead. Both traditional cadence and the Greek sense support retaining it.

12:4 And immediately the Lord said unto Moses, Miriam, and Aaron: Come out, all three of you, to the Tent of Testimony. And the three came out to the Tent of Testimony.

12:5 And the Lord came down in a pillar of cloud and stood at the entrance of the Tent of Testimony. Aaron and Miriam were called, and both came forward.

12:6 And He said unto them: Hear My words: If there is a prophet among you unto the Lord, I will make Myself known unto him in a vision, and I will speak unto him in sleep.

12:7 Not so My servant Moses; he is faithful in all My house.

12:8 I will speak unto him mouth to mouth, in visible appearance, and not through riddles; and he saw the glory of the Lord. And why were you not afraid to speak against My servant Moses?

Note 39: 39. Numbers 12:8 • Text. Retain “he saw the glory of the Lord,” including its past tense. KJV’s similitude and Douay–Rheims’ seeing the Lord plainly should not be blended into the Greek. “Visible appearance” also avoids Brenton’s now misleading apparently.

12:9 And the Lord’s fierce anger was upon them, and He departed.

12:10 And the cloud withdrew from the tent, and behold, Miriam was leprous as snow. Aaron looked at Miriam, and behold, she was leprous.

12:11 And Aaron said unto Moses: I beseech you, my lord, do not lay sin upon us, for we acted ignorantly in that we sinned.

12:12 Let her not be as one equal to death, as a miscarried child coming out of a mother’s womb; and it consumes half her flesh.

Note 40: 40. Numbers 12:12 • Meaning. “Miscarried child” is clearer today than Brenton’s older use of abortion. The Greek’s final pronoun and the consuming clause are difficult; the draft preserves the difficulty without presenting a settled medical explanation.

12:13 And Moses cried unto the Lord, saying: O God, I beseech Thee, heal her.

12:14 And the Lord said unto Moses: If her father had spat in her face, would she not be ashamed for seven days? Let her be set apart outside the camp for seven days; afterward she shall enter.

12:15 And Miriam was set apart outside the camp for seven days, and the people did not set out until Miriam was cleansed.

12:16 And afterward the people set out from Hazeroth and camped in the wilderness of Paran.

Numbers 13

13:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

13:2 Send men for yourself, and let them search out the land of the Canaanites, which I give unto the sons of Israel for a possession. You shall send one man from each tribe, according to the groups of their ancestral families, each a leader among them.

13:3 And Moses sent them from the wilderness of Paran through the Lord’s voice. All these men were leaders of the sons of Israel.

13:4 And these were their names: from the tribe of Reuben, Salamiel son of Zaccur;

13:5 from the tribe of Simeon, Shaphat son of Souri;

13:6 from the tribe of Judah, Caleb son of Jephunneh;

13:7 from the tribe of Issachar, Igal son of Joseph;

13:8 from the tribe of Ephraim, Hoshea son of Nun;

13:9 from the tribe of Benjamin, Palti son of Raphu;

13:10 from the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddiel son of Sodi;

13:11 from the tribe of Joseph, of the sons of Manasseh, Gaddi son of Susi;

13:12 from the tribe of Dan, Ammiel son of Gemalli;

13:13 from the tribe of Asher, Sethur son of Michael;

13:14 from the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi son of Iabi;

13:15 from the tribe of Gad, Gaddiel son of Machi.

13:16 These were the names of the men Moses sent to explore the land. Moses named Hoshea son of Nun Joshua.

13:17 And Moses sent them to search out the land of Canaan, and said unto them: Go up by this wilderness, and you shall go up into the hill country;

13:18 and you shall see the land, what it is, and the people settled upon it, whether they are stronger or weak, whether they are few or many;

13:19 And is the land on which they are settled good or bad? What are the towns in which they live—walled or unwalled?

13:20 And what is the land like—rich or neglected? Are there trees therein or not? And persevere, and you shall take of the fruits of the land. And the days were days of spring, forerunners of the grape harvest.

Note 41: 41. Numbers 13:20 • Text. The Greek explicitly says days of spring, forerunners of the grape harvest. Preserve that wording even though KJV and Douay–Rheims emphasize the first ripe grapes. The apparent seasonal difficulty needs a note, not silent repair.

13:21 And they went up and inspected the land from the wilderness of Sin to Raab, as one enters Ephaath.

13:22 And they went up through the wilderness and came as far as Hebron, where Ahiman, Sheshai, and Talmai, families of Anak, were. Hebron had been built seven years before Tanis in Egypt.

13:23 And they came as far as the Ravine of the Cluster and inspected it. They cut from there a branch with one cluster of grapes upon it and carried it on carrying poles, with some pomegranates and figs.

13:24 They named that place Ravine of the Cluster because of the cluster the sons of Israel cut from there.

13:25 And they returned from there after inspecting the land for forty days.

13:26 And they came unto Moses, Aaron, and the whole congregation of the sons of Israel in the wilderness of Paran, Kadesh. They gave a report to them and the whole congregation and showed the land’s fruit.

13:27 And they told him, and said: We came unto the land to which you sent us, a land flowing with milk and honey; and this is its fruit.

13:28 But the nation living on it is bold, and the cities are strongly fortified with walls and very large. We saw the family of Anak there.

13:29 And Amalek dwells in the land toward the south; and the Hittite, and the Hivite, and the Jebusite, and the Amorite dwell in the hill country; and the Canaanite dwells beside the sea and beside the river Jordan.

13:30 And Caleb quieted the people before Moses and said to him: No! We shall certainly go up and inherit it, for we shall surely prevail against them.

13:31 And the men who had gone up with him said: We are not going up, for we shall certainly not be able to go up against the nation, because it is much stronger than we are.

13:32 And they brought dismay concerning the land which they had searched out unto the sons of Israel, saying: The land through which we passed to search it out is a land that devours its inhabitants; all the people whom we saw therein are men of exceeding height;

13:33 And there we saw the giants. We were like grasshoppers before them, and indeed so we were before them.

Note 42: 42. Numbers 13:33 • Text. The Greek repeats “before them.” KJV distinguishes our own sight from theirs. Keep the source’s repetition and the scouts’ reported comparison to grasshoppers without turning their report into a separate biological claim.

Numbers 14

14:1 And the whole congregation raised its voice, and the people wept all that night.

14:2 And all the sons of Israel grumbled against Moses and Aaron. The whole congregation said to them: If only we had died in the land of Egypt! Or if only we had died in this wilderness!

14:3 And why is the Lord bringing us into this land to fall in war? Our wives and children will become plunder. So now it is better for us to return to Egypt.

14:4 And they said to one another, Let us appoint a leader and return to Egypt.

14:5 And Moses and Aaron fell on their faces before the whole congregation of the sons of Israel.

14:6 Joshua son of Nun and Caleb son of Jephunneh, among those who had explored the land, tore their garments.

14:7 And they said to the whole congregation of the sons of Israel: The land we inspected is exceedingly, exceedingly good.

14:8 If the Lord chooses us, He will bring us into this land and give it to us, a land flowing with milk and honey.

14:9 Only do not become deserters from the Lord. Do not fear the people of the land, for they are food for us. Their season has passed away from them, but the Lord is among us. Do not fear them.

Note 43: 43. Numbers 14:9 • Text. “Their season hath passed away” follows the Greek. KJV’s defence and Douay–Rheims’ aid are different readings or interpretations. Food for us remains an image within the speakers’ speech.

14:10 And the whole congregation said to stone them with stones. Then the Lord’s glory appeared in a cloud over the Tent of Testimony among all the sons of Israel.

14:11 And the Lord said unto Moses: How long will this people provoke Me? How long will they refuse to believe Me, despite all the signs I have done among them?

14:12 I will strike them with death and destroy them, and I will make you and your father’s house into a nation greater and much more numerous than this one.

14:13 And Moses said unto the Lord: Egypt will hear that by Thy strength Thou didst bring this people up from among them.

14:14 Indeed, all those living in this land have heard that Thou, the Lord, art among this people, that Thou appearest eye to eye, O Lord, and that Thy cloud stands over them, and Thou goest before them in a pillar of cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night.

14:15 And if Thou wipe out this people as one man, the nations who have heard Thy name will say,

14:16 Because the Lord was unable to bring this people into the land He swore to them, He laid them low in the wilderness.

14:17 And now let Thy strength be exalted, O Lord, as Thou hast spoken, saying:

14:18 The Lord is long-suffering, and abundant in mercy, and true, taking away lawlessness and wrongdoing and sins; yet He will in no wise cleanse the guilty, repaying the sins of fathers upon children unto the third and fourth generations.

Note 44: 44. Numbers 14:18 • Wording. Retain “long-suffering” and gloss it as slow to anger. The Greek also includes true, lawlessness, wrongdoing, and sins. Preserve these terms and its refusal to cleanse the guilty rather than shortening the description.

14:19 Forgive this people’s sin according to Thy great mercy, as Thou hast been gracious to them from Egypt until now.

14:20 And the Lord said unto Moses: I am gracious to them according to your word.

14:21 But as I live, and as My name lives, the glory of the Lord shall fill all the earth;

14:22 all the men who have seen My glory and the signs I did in Egypt and this wilderness, and have tested Me this tenth time and have not listened to My voice,

14:23 shall certainly not see the land I swore to their fathers. But their children who are here with Me, who do not know good or evil, every inexperienced young person—to these I will give the land. None of those who provoke Me shall see it.

Note 45: 45. Numbers 14:23 • Text. The selected Greek text and Brenton include a substantial clause granting the land to the inexperienced children who do not know good or evil. KJV and Douay–Rheims lack this wording here. Keep the whole clause in the draft.

14:24 But My servant Caleb, because a different spirit was in him and he followed Me, I will bring into the land he entered, and his seed shall inherit it.

14:25 Amalek and the Canaanites live in the valley. Tomorrow turn and depart for the wilderness by the way of the Red Sea.

14:26 And the Lord spoke unto Moses and Aaron, saying:

14:27 How long with this evil congregation? They grumble before Me; I have heard the sons of Israel’s grumbling that they have directed against you.

14:28 Say to them, I live, says the Lord: I will certainly do to you just as you have spoken into My ears.

14:29 In this wilderness your bodies shall fall, with your entire registration and those of you counted from twenty years old and upward who grumbled against Me.

Note 46: 46. Numbers 14:29 • Meaning. Use “your bodies” in this context. Mechanical “your limbs” can imply dismemberment; historical “carcases” is needlessly unfamiliar. The same decision applies at 14:32–33.

14:30 You shall certainly not enter the land over which I stretched out My hand to settle you upon it, except Caleb son of Jephunneh and Joshua son of Nun.

14:31 And I will bring into the land the children whom you said would become plunder, and they shall inherit the land from which you turned away.

14:32 And your bodies shall fall in this wilderness.

14:33 But your sons shall live as herders in the wilderness for forty years and bear your whoredom, until your bodies are consumed in the wilderness.

14:34 According to the number of days you searched out the land—forty days, a day for a year—you shall bear your sins for forty years, and you shall know the fury of My anger.

Note 47: 47. Numbers 14:34 • Text. The Greek ends with knowing the fury of divine anger. KJV’s “breach of promise” and Douay–Rheims’ revenge represent different formulations. Do not treat breach as an old synonym for anger.

14:35 I, the Lord, have spoken. I will certainly do this to this evil congregation that has banded together against Me. In this wilderness they shall be consumed, and there they shall die.

14:36 And the men Moses had sent to inspect the land came back and grumbled against it before the congregation, bringing out evil words about the land.

14:37 And those men who spoke evil against the land died in the plague before the Lord.

14:38 And Joshua son of Nun and Caleb son of Jephunneh lived, out of those men who had gone to explore the land.

14:39 And Moses spoke these words to all the sons of Israel, and the people mourned greatly.

14:40 And they rose early in the morning and went up to the top of the mountain, saying: Here we are! We will go up to the place the Lord has spoken of, for we have sinned.

14:41 And Moses said: Why do you transgress the Lord’s word? Things will not go well for you.

14:42 Do not go up, for the Lord is not with you, and you shall fall before your enemies.

14:43 Amalek and the Canaanites are there before you, and you shall fall by the sword. Because you turned away in disobedience unto the Lord, the Lord will not be among you.

14:44 And they forced their way up to the top of the mountain. The ark of the Lord’s covenant and Moses did not move from the camp.

14:45 And Amalek and the Canaanites who lived on that mountain came down, routed them, and cut them down as far as Erman. Then they returned to the camp.

Numbers 15

15:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

15:2 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: When you enter the land of your dwelling, which I give unto you,

15:3 and you make whole burnt offerings unto the Lord, a whole offering or a sacrifice, to honour a vow, or willingly, or at your feasts, to make a sweet savour unto the Lord, whether from the cattle or from the sheep,

Note 48: 48. Numbers 15:3 • Meaning. Keep the two Greek offering terms distinct: whole burnt offerings and a whole offering. Use honour for the vow, and sweet savour for the ritual phrase; do not impose meat as the modern meaning of a flour offering.

15:4 And the one presenting a gift unto the Lord shall bring a sacrifice of one tenth of an oiphi of fine flour mixed with one quarter of a hin of oil.

15:5 And you shall prepare wine for a drink offering, a fourth of a hin, with the whole burning or with the sacrifice; you shall prepare this much for each lamb, an offering of sweet savour unto the Lord.

15:6 And for a ram, when you prepare it for a whole burnt offering or for a sacrifice, you shall prepare a sacrifice of two tenths of fine flour mixed with oil, a third of a hin.

15:7 And you shall present wine for a drink offering, a third of a hin, for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

15:8 But if you prepare an animal from the cattle for a whole burnt offering or for a sacrifice to honour a vow, or for a sacrifice of deliverance unto the Lord,

15:9 he shall present with the calf a sacrifice of three tenths of fine flour mixed with oil, half a hin,

15:10 and half a hin of wine as a drink offering, an offering of sweet savour unto the Lord.

15:11 Thus you shall do for each calf, or each ram, or each lamb from the sheep or from the goats.

15:12 According to the number that you prepare, thus you shall do for each one according to their number.

15:13 Every native-born person shall do such things in this way when presenting offerings of sweet savour unto the Lord.

15:14 But if a sojourner who joins you in your land, or whosoever is among you throughout your generations, makes an offering of sweet savour unto the Lord, as you do, so shall the congregation do unto the Lord.

15:15 You shall have one law, both you and the sojourners joined unto you, an everlasting law throughout your generations. As you are, so shall the sojourner be before the Lord.

15:16 One law and one ordinance shall apply to you and the sojourner attached to you.

15:17 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

15:18 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: When you enter the land whither I bring you,

15:19 then it shall be, when you eat of the loaves of the land, that you shall take a portion, a gift set apart unto the Lord.

15:20 As the firstfruits of your dough, you shall set apart a loaf for a portion set apart; as a portion from the threshing floor, so you shall take it,

15:21 the firstfruits of your dough; and you shall give unto the Lord a portion set apart throughout your generations.

15:22 But when you err, and do not carry out all these commandments which the Lord spoke unto Moses,

15:23 as the Lord commanded you through Moses, from the day the Lord gave command to you and onward throughout your generations,

15:24 And if it happened unintentionally, out of the congregation’s sight, the whole congregation shall prepare one unblemished calf from the cattle as a whole burnt offering of sweet savour unto the Lord, with its sacrifice and drink offering according to the ordinance, and one male goat for sin.

15:25 And the priest shall make atonement for the whole congregation of the sons of Israel, and they shall be forgiven, because it was unintentional. They have brought their gift, an offering unto the Lord for their sin, before the Lord for their unintentional acts.

15:26 And forgiveness shall extend throughout the whole congregation of the sons of Israel and to the sojourner attached to you, because it was unintentional for the whole people.

15:27 But if one soul sins unintentionally, he shall present one year-old female goat for sin.

15:28 And the priest shall make atonement before the Lord for the person who acted unintentionally and sinned unintentionally, making atonement for that person.

15:29 For the native among the sons of Israel, and for the sojourner joined unto them, they shall have one law for whosoever acts unintentionally.

15:30 And the soul that acts with a presumptuous hand, whether of the natives or of the sojourners, provokes God; that soul shall be destroyed from his people,

Note 49: 49. Numbers 15:30 • Wording. “With a presumptuous hand” keeps the hand image and the deliberate defiance. It contrasts with the preceding unintentional acts, so an ordinary mistake is not the offence described here.

15:31 because he treated the word of the Lord as worthless, and scattered His commandments. That soul shall surely be wiped out; his sin is upon him.

15:32 And while the sons of Israel were in the wilderness, they found a man gathering wood on the Sabbath day.

15:33 And those who found him gathering wood on the Sabbath day brought him unto Moses, Aaron, and the whole congregation of the sons of Israel.

15:34 And they placed him in custody, because they had not determined what they should do to him.

15:35 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying: The man must certainly be put to death. Stone him with stones, all the congregation.

15:36 And the whole congregation brought him outside the camp, and the whole congregation stoned him with stones outside the camp, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

15:37 And the Lord said unto Moses, saying:

15:38 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: Let them make for themselves fringes upon the corners of their garments throughout their generations; and you shall put a blue thread upon the fringes of the corners.

Note 50: 50. Numbers 15:38 • Wording. Use fringes and a blue thread. KJV's "ribband" and Douay–Rheims' older ribbon spelling are less useful today. Preserve the garment corners and the command's shift from Moses to the plural people.

15:39 And it shall be among your fringes; and you shall see them, and remember all the commandments of the Lord, and do them; and you shall not turn aside after your thoughts and after your eyes, after which you go a whoring,

15:40 that you may remember and do all My commandments, and be holy unto your God.

15:41 I am the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt to be your God. I am the Lord your God.

Numbers 16

16:1 And Korah son of Izhar, son of Kohath, son of Levi, spoke, with Dathan and Abiram, sons of Eliab, and On son of Peleth, son of Reuben.

16:2 And they rose up before Moses, with two hundred fifty men of the sons of Israel, leaders of the congregation, members summoned to the council, men of renown.

16:3 They banded together against Moses and Aaron and said: Enough for you! The whole congregation, all of them, is holy, and the Lord is among them. Why do you rise up against the Lord's congregation?

16:4 And when Moses heard, he fell on his face.

16:5 And he said to Korah and all his congregation, God has looked upon and known those who are His and those who are holy, and has brought them near to Himself. Those He chose for Himself He brought near to Himself.

Note 51: 51. Numbers 16:5 • Text. The Greek declares that God hath looked upon and known those who are His. KJV and Douay–Rheims put the disclosure in the morning. Preserve the tense and wording of the selected Greek text.

16:6 Do this: take fire pans for yourselves, Korah and all his congregation.

16:7 And put fire on them and place incense on them before the Lord tomorrow. The man the Lord chooses shall be holy. Let that suffice for you, sons of Levi!

16:8 And Moses said to Korah: Listen to me, sons of Levi.

16:9 Is this too little for you, that the God of Israel distinguished you from Israel's congregation and brought you near to Himself to perform the ministries of the Lord's tent and stand before the congregation to serve them?

16:10 And He brought you near, and all your brethren, the sons of Levi, with you. Do you seek to serve as priests?

16:11 Thus you and all your congregation have gathered against God. As for Aaron, who is he, that you grumble against him?

16:12 And Moses sent to summon Dathan and Abiram, sons of Eliab, but they said: We will not come up.

16:13 Is it too little that you brought us up from a land flowing with milk and honey to kill us in the wilderness, that you rule over us as a ruler?

16:14 Even if you had brought us into a land flowing with milk and honey and given us an allotment of land and vineyards, you would have gouged out those men's eyes. We will not come up!

Note 52: 52. Numbers 16:14 • Text. The Greek gives a counterfactual "even if" accusation about land and gouging out eyes. The other traditions frame this differently. Retain the difficult speech as an accusation by the rebels, with no invented explanation of its imagery.

16:15 And Moses was deeply distressed and said unto the Lord: Do not attend to their sacrifice. I have taken no desirable possession from any of them, nor have I harmed any of them.

Note 53: 53. Numbers 16:15 • Text. The Greek speaks of taking no desirable possession. KJV specifically says one ass, and Douay–Rheims a young ass. Do not add a donkey to the Greek sentence; Brenton's desire of anyone is less clear English for a valued possession.

16:16 And Moses said to Korah: Consecrate your congregation, and be ready before the Lord tomorrow, you, they, and Aaron.

16:17 And each of you shall take his fire pan and place incense on it; each shall present his fire pan before the Lord, two hundred fifty fire pans. You and Aaron shall each bring his fire pan.

16:18 And each took his fire pan, put fire on it, and placed incense on it. Moses and Aaron stood beside the entrances of the Tent of Testimony.

16:19 And Korah gathered all his congregation against them beside the entrance of the Tent of Testimony, and the Lord's glory appeared to the whole congregation.

16:20 And the Lord spoke unto Moses and Aaron, saying:

16:21 Separate yourselves from the midst of this congregation, and I will consume them all at once.

16:22 And they fell on their faces and said: O God, God of the spirits and of all flesh, if one man sinned, will the Lord's anger be against the whole congregation?

16:23 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

16:24 Speak to the congregation, saying: Withdraw all around from Korah's congregation.

16:25 And Moses rose and went to Dathan and Abiram, and all the elders of Israel went with him.

16:26 And he said to the congregation: Separate yourselves from the tents of these stubborn men. Touch none of their possessions, lest you perish with them in all their sin.

16:27 And they withdrew from around Korah's tent. Dathan and Abiram came out and stood beside the entrances of their tents, with their wives, their children, and their baggage.

16:28 And Moses said: By this you shall know that the Lord sent me to do all these deeds, and that they did not come from myself.

16:29 If these men die the death of all people, and a visitation comes upon them according to the visitation of all people, then the Lord has not sent me.

16:30 But if the Lord displays a portent, and the earth opens its mouth and swallows them, their households, their tents, and everything that belongs to them, and they go down alive to Hades, then you shall know that these men have provoked the Lord.

Note 54: 54. Numbers 16:30 • Meaning. Retain Hades as the Greek name for the realm of the dead. KJV's pit and Douay–Rheims' hell have different modern associations; neither should silently settle the meaning of the Greek term here.

16:31 As he finished speaking all these words, the ground beneath them split apart.

16:32 And the earth opened and swallowed them, their households, all the people who were with Korah, and their livestock.

16:33 And they and all that belonged to them went down alive to Hades; the earth covered them, and they perished from the midst of the congregation.

16:34 And all Israel around them fled at their cry, saying: Lest the earth swallow us!

16:35 And fire went out from the Lord and consumed the two hundred fifty men presenting the incense.

Numbers 17

17:1 And the Lord said unto Moses

17:2 and to Eleazar son of Aaron the priest: Take up the bronze fire pans from among those burned up, and scatter this strange fire there, for they have consecrated

Note 55: 55. Numbers 17:2 • Text. Retain "this strange fire" and the bronze fire pans. The Greek begins this section in chapter 17, corresponding to chapter 16 in the comparison versions. Strange describes unauthorized sacred fire in this context.

17:3 the fire pans of these sinners at the cost of their lives. Make them into hammered plates as a covering for the altar, because they were presented before the Lord and were made holy, and became a sign to the sons of Israel.

17:4 And Eleazar son of Aaron the priest took the bronze fire pans presented by those who had been burned, and they applied them as a covering for the altar,

17:5 as a reminder to the sons of Israel that no outsider who is not a descendant of Aaron should approach to place incense before the Lord, so that he will not become like Korah and his faction, as the Lord had spoken through Moses.

17:6 And the next day the sons of Israel grumbled against Moses and Aaron, saying: You have killed the Lord's people!

17:7 And when the congregation banded together against Moses and Aaron, they rushed toward the Tent of Testimony. The cloud covered it, and the Lord's glory appeared.

17:8 And Moses and Aaron came into the area before the Tent of Testimony.

17:9 And the Lord spoke unto Moses and Aaron, saying:

17:10 Withdraw from the midst of this congregation, and I will consume them all at once. They fell on their faces.

17:11 And Moses said unto Aaron: Take the fire pan, put fire from the altar on it, and place incense on it. Carry it quickly into the camp and make atonement for them, for wrath has gone out from before the Lord; it has begun to strike the people.

17:12 And Aaron took it just as Moses had told him and ran into the congregation. The outbreak had already begun among the people. He placed the incense and made atonement for the people, 17:13 and stood between the dead and the living, and the outbreak subsided.

Note 56: 56. Numbers 17:13 • Wording. Retain “between the dead and the living.” Its force needs no modernization. Outbreak provides a clear rendering of the destructive plague term, with the same event continued through the surrounding verses.

17:14 And those who died in the outbreak numbered fourteen thousand seven hundred, apart from those who died because of Korah.

17:15 And Aaron returned unto Moses at the entrance of the Tent of Testimony, and the outbreak subsided.

17:16 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

17:17 Speak to the sons of Israel and take from them one staff for each ancestral house, from all their leaders according to their ancestral houses—twelve staffs. Write each man’s name on his staff.

17:18 And write Aaron’s name on Levi’s staff, for they shall give one staff for each tribe of their ancestral houses.

17:19 And you shall place them in the Tent of Testimony, opposite the testimony, where I will make Myself known unto you.

17:20 And the staff of the man I choose shall sprout. I will remove from Myself the sons of Israel’s grumbling, which they direct against you.

17:21 And Moses spoke to the sons of Israel, and all their leaders gave him staffs, one staff for each leader according to their ancestral houses—twelve staffs. Aaron’s staff was among their staffs.

17:22 And Moses placed the staffs before the Lord in the Tent of Testimony.

17:23 And the next day Moses and Aaron entered the Tent of Testimony, and there Aaron’s staff for the house of Levi had sprouted: it brought forth a shoot, flowered with blossoms, and produced nuts.

Note 57: 57. Numbers 17:23 • Meaning. The Greek says nuts, whereas KJV and Douay–Rheims specify almonds. Preserve the general Greek noun and the repeated stages of sprouting and flowering. Almonds may be mentioned as the parallel tradition’s identification.

17:24 And Moses brought all the staffs out from before the Lord to all the sons of Israel. They looked, and each man took his staff.

17:25 And the Lord said unto Moses: Put Aaron’s staff before the testimonies, to be kept as a sign for the sons of the disobedient. Let their grumbling against Me cease, and they shall certainly not die.

17:26 And Moses and Aaron did so. Just as the Lord commanded Moses, so they did.

17:27 And the sons of Israel said unto Moses: Behold, we are consumed! We are lost! We are utterly spent!

17:28 Everyone who touches the Lord’s tent dies. Must we die to the very end?

Numbers 18

18:1 And the Lord said unto Aaron, saying: You and your sons and your father’s house shall bear the sins concerning the holy things; and you and your sons shall bear the sins concerning your priesthood.

18:2 And bring your brethren, the tribe of Levi, your father’s clan, near unto you; and let them join you and minister unto you; and you and your sons with you shall be before the Tent of Testimony.

18:3 And they shall keep your charges and the charges of the Tent; only they shall not approach the holy vessels and the altar, that neither they nor you may die.

18:4 And they shall join you, and shall keep the charges of the Tent of Testimony according to all the ministries of the Tent; and the outsider shall not approach you.

18:5 And you shall keep the charges of the holy things and the charges of the altar, and there shall be no wrath among the sons of Israel.

18:6 And I have taken your brothers the Levites from among the sons of Israel, a gift given unto the Lord, to perform the ministries of the Tent of Testimony.

18:7 And you and your sons with you shall keep your priesthood in every matter of the altar and within the veil; and you shall perform the ministries, a gift of your priesthood; and the outsider who approaches shall die.

18:8 And the Lord spoke unto Aaron: And I, behold, have given you charge of the firstfruits; from all things sanctified unto Me by the sons of Israel, I have given them unto you for a share of honour, and unto your sons after you, an everlasting ordinance.

18:9 And this shall be yours from the consecrated holy offerings: from all their gifts, and from all their sacrifices, and from every guilt offering of theirs, and from all their sin offerings which they render unto Me; from all the holy things it shall be yours and your sons’.

18:10 You shall eat them in the most holy place; every male shall eat them, you and your sons; they shall be holy unto you.

18:11 And this shall be yours, the firstfruits of their gifts: from all the presentations of the sons of Israel, I have given them unto you, and unto your sons and unto your daughters with you, an everlasting ordinance. Everyone clean in your house shall eat them.

18:12 Every firstfruit of oil, and every firstfruit of wine and grain, their firstfruits which they give unto the Lord, I have given them unto you.

Note 58: 58. Numbers 18:12 • Wording. Use grain rather than corn. In older British Bible English corn means cereal grain generally; many present readers understand maize. Firstfruits remains a useful sacred term.

18:13 All the first produce in their land, which they bring unto the Lord, shall be yours; everyone clean in your house shall eat it.

18:14 Everything devoted among the sons of Israel shall be yours.

18:15 And everything that opens the womb of all flesh, which they present unto the Lord, from man unto livestock, shall be yours; but the firstborn of men shall surely be redeemed, and you shall redeem the firstborn of unclean livestock.

18:16 And its redemption shall be from one month old; the valuation is five shekels by the holy shekel, which is twenty obols.

18:17 But you shall not redeem the firstborn of calves, and the firstborn of sheep, and the firstborn of goats; they are holy. And you shall pour their blood against the altar, and you shall offer up the fat as an offering of sweet savour unto the Lord.

18:18 And their flesh shall be yours; as the breast of the presentation and the right foreleg, it shall be yours.

18:19 Every portion of the holy things which the sons of Israel set apart unto the Lord I have given unto you, and unto your sons and unto your daughters with you, an everlasting ordinance; it is a covenant of everlasting salt before the Lord for you and for your seed after you.

Note 59: 59. Numbers 18:19 • Meaning. Keep “a covenant of everlasting salt.” Explain it as a covenant image, without substituting a modern contract formula or inserting a complete theory of the symbolism into the verse.

18:20 And the Lord spoke unto Aaron: You shall not inherit in their land, neither shall you have a portion among them; for I am your portion and your inheritance among the sons of Israel.

Note 60: 60. Numbers 18:20 • Wording. “I am thy portion and thine inheritance” is clear, memorable traditional English. Preserve the singular address to Aaron and the distinction between land inheritance and the Lord as his portion.

18:21 And to the sons of Levi, look, I have given every tithe in Israel as an allotment in return for their ministries, the service they perform in the Tent of Testimony.

18:22 And the sons of Israel shall no longer approach the Tent of Testimony, incurring a death-bringing sin.

18:23 And the Levite himself shall perform the ministry of the Tent of Testimony, and they shall bear their offences. It is an everlasting ordinance throughout their generations. Among the sons of Israel they shall receive no inheritance.

18:24 For the tithes of the sons of Israel that they set apart for the Lord as a portion set apart I have given to the Levites as an allotment. Therefore I have said to them: Among the sons of Israel they shall receive no allotment.

18:25 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

18:26 And you shall speak unto the Levites, and shall say unto them: When you receive from the sons of Israel the tithe which I have given you from them for an allotment, you shall take from it a portion set apart unto the Lord, a tithe of the tithe.

18:27 And your portions set apart shall be reckoned to you as grain from the threshing floor and as a portion set apart from the winepress.

18:28 Thus you shall also take of the portions set apart unto the Lord, from all your tithes which you receive from the sons of Israel; and from them you shall give a portion set apart unto the Lord unto Aaron the priest.

18:29 From all your gifts you shall take a portion set apart unto the Lord, or from all the firstfruits the consecrated portion thereof.

18:30 And you shall say unto them: When you take the firstfruits from it, it shall be reckoned unto the Levites as produce from the threshing floor and as produce from the winepress.

18:31 And you shall eat it in every place, you and your households, for it is your wage in return for your ministries in the Tent of Testimony.

18:32 And you shall incur no sin through it, when you take the firstfruits from it; and you shall not profane the holy things of the sons of Israel, lest you die.

Numbers 19

19:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses and Aaron, saying:

19:2 This is the provision of the law which the Lord commanded, saying: Speak unto the sons of Israel, and let them bring unto you a red heifer without blemish, wherein is no defect, and upon which no yoke has been laid.

Note 61: 61. Numbers 19:2 • Meaning. Retain red heifer, without blemish, with no yoke laid upon it. These are the stated qualifications; the verse does not identify a modern breed or supply a precise numerical age.

19:3 And you shall give it unto Eleazar the priest, and they shall bring it outside the camp unto a clean place, and shall slaughter it before him.

19:4 And Eleazar shall take some of its blood and sprinkle some of its blood seven times toward the front of the Tent of Testimony.

19:5 And they shall burn it before him; its skin, flesh, and blood, together with its dung, shall be burned.

19:6 And the priest shall take cedar wood, hyssop, and scarlet material, and they shall throw them into the burning heifer.

19:7 And the priest shall wash his clothes and bathe his body in water. Afterward he may enter the camp, but the priest shall be unclean until evening.

19:8 And the one who burns it shall wash his clothes and bathe his body, and he shall be unclean until evening.

19:9 And a clean person shall gather the heifer's ashes and deposit them outside the camp in a clean place. They shall be kept for the congregation of the sons of Israel as water of sprinkling; it is a means of purification.

Note 62: 62. Numbers 19:9 • Meaning. Retain "water of sprinkling." KJV's water of separation is less transparent today, and the Greek names sprinkling explicitly. Purification here concerns ritual status, not a modern claim about disinfection.

19:10 And the one who gathers the heifer's ashes shall wash his clothes and be unclean until evening. This shall be an everlasting ordinance for the sons of Israel and the attached sojourners.

19:11 Whosoever touches a dead person, any human being who has died, shall be unclean for seven days.

19:12 That person shall be purified on the third day and on the seventh day, and he shall be clean. If he is not purified on the third day and on the seventh day, he shall not be clean.

19:13 Whosoever touches the dead body of any human being who has died, and is not purified, has defiled the Tent of the Lord; that soul shall be wiped out from Israel. Because water of sprinkling was not sprinkled upon him, he is unclean; his uncleanness is still in him.

19:14 And this is the law: If a person dies in a house, everyone who enters the house and everything in the house shall be unclean for seven days.

19:15 And every open vessel without a fastening tied upon it is unclean.

19:16 And anyone who touches, on the open plain, one slain, a dead person, a human bone, or a tomb shall be unclean for seven days.

19:17 And for the unclean person they shall take some ashes from what was burned for purification, and they shall pour living water over them into a vessel.

Note 63: 63. Numbers 19:17 • Meaning. Keep "living water" as the source image, with a note explaining fresh or running water for this rite. KJV's running water explains the idiom directly; the Greek does not turn the phrase into a new spiritual teaching within this law.

19:18 And a clean man shall take hyssop, dip it in the water, and sprinkle it around the house, the vessels, and the people who were there, and on whoever touched the human bone, the slain person, the dead person, or the tomb.

19:19 And the clean person shall sprinkle the unclean person on the third day and on the seventh day. He shall be purified on the seventh day, wash his clothes, and bathe in water, and he shall be unclean until evening.

Note 64: 64. Numbers 19:19 • Text. The selected Greek text, Brenton, and Douay–Rheims say unclean until evening. KJV says clean at even. These describe closely related timing but use different wording; the draft retains the Greek formulation.

19:20 And if a man is defiled, and is not purified, that soul shall be destroyed from the midst of the congregation, because he has defiled the holy things of the Lord; because water of sprinkling was not sprinkled upon him, he is unclean.

19:21 And this shall be an everlasting ordinance for you. The one who sprinkles the water of sprinkling shall wash his clothes, and whosoever touches the water of sprinkling shall be unclean until evening.

19:22 And whatever the unclean person touches shall be unclean, and the person who touches it shall be unclean until evening.

Numbers 20

20:1 And the sons of Israel, the whole congregation, came into the wilderness of Zin in the first month, and the people remained at Kadesh. Miriam died there and was buried there.

20:2 And there was no water for the congregation, and they gathered against Moses and Aaron.

20:3 And the people reviled Moses, saying: If only we had died when our brothers were destroyed before the Lord!

20:4 And why have you brought the Lord's congregation into this wilderness to kill us and our livestock?

20:5 And why have you brought us up from Egypt to arrive at this wretched place—a place where nothing is sown, with no figs, vines, pomegranates, or water to drink?

20:6 And Moses and Aaron went away from the congregation to the entrance of the Tent of Testimony and fell on their faces. The Lord’s glory appeared to them.

20:7 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

20:8 Take the staff, and gather the congregation, you and Aaron your brother; and speak unto the rock before them, and it shall give its waters; and you shall bring water out of the rock for them, and shall give the congregation and their livestock to drink.

Note 65: 65. Numbers 20:8 • Meaning. Keep the command to speak to the rock, distinct from the later striking of it. The first commands address Moses in the singular; speak ye and ye shall bring address Moses and Aaron together.

20:9 And Moses took the staff that was before the Lord, as the Lord had commanded.

20:10 And Moses and Aaron assembled the congregation before the rock. He said to them: Listen to me, you disobedient people! Surely we are not to bring water out of this rock for you?

20:11 And Moses raised his hand and struck the rock twice with the staff. Abundant water came out, and the congregation and their livestock drank.

20:12 And the Lord said unto Moses and Aaron: Because you did not believe so as to show Me holy before the sons of Israel, you shall not bring this congregation into the land that I have given them.

Note 66: 66. Numbers 20:12 • Meaning. Retain the connection between unbelief and showing the Lord holy before Israel. Avoid adding a complete account of Moses’ motives or reducing the offence to an accidental technical error.

20:13 This is the Water of Dispute, because the sons of Israel reviled before the Lord, and He was shown holy among them.

20:14 And Moses sent messengers from Kadesh to the king of Edom, saying: Thus says your brother Israel: You know all the hardship that has overtaken us.

20:15 And our fathers went down to Egypt, and we lived as sojourners in Egypt many days. The Egyptians mistreated us and our fathers.

20:16 And we cried out unto the Lord, and the Lord heard our voice; He sent an angel and brought us out of Egypt. Now we are at Kadesh, a town at the edge of your territory.

20:17 We will pass through your land. We will not cross fields or vineyards or drink water from your cistern. We will travel the royal road and turn neither right nor left until we have passed through your territory.

20:18 And Edom said to him: You shall not pass through me; otherwise I will come out to meet you in war.

20:19 And the sons of Israel say unto him: We will pass alongside the mountain. If I and the livestock drink your water, I will pay you its price. The matter is nothing; we will pass alongside the mountain.

20:20 He said: You shall not pass through me. Edom came out to meet him with a large force and a strong hand.

20:21 And Edom was unwilling to allow Israel to pass through his territory, so Israel turned away from him.

20:22 And they set out from Kadesh, and the sons of Israel, the whole congregation, arrived at Mount Hor.

20:23 And the Lord said unto Moses and Aaron at Mount Hor, on the border of the land of Edom:

20:24 Let Aaron be gathered to his people, for you shall certainly not enter the land that I have given to the sons of Israel, because you provoked Me at the Water of Reviling.

20:25 Take Aaron and his son Eleazar and bring them up Mount Hor before the whole congregation.

20:26 And strip Aaron of his robe and clothe his son Eleazar. Let Aaron be gathered and die there.

20:27 And Moses did as the Lord commanded, and he brought him up Mount Hor before the whole congregation.

20:28 And he stripped Aaron of his garments and put them on his son Eleazar. Aaron died on the summit of the mountain, and Moses and Eleazar came down from the mountain.

20:29 And the whole congregation saw that Aaron had been released, and all the house of Israel wept for Aaron thirty days.

Note 67: 67. Numbers 20:29 • Wording. The Greek uses released as a euphemism for Aaron’s death. The parallel versions make death explicit. The draft keeps the image, and the immediately preceding verse and the note make its meaning clear.

Numbers 21

21:1 And the Canaanite king of Arad, who lived by the wilderness, heard—for Israel had come by the road of Atharim—and fought Israel, and they took captives from them.

21:2 And Israel vowed a vow unto the Lord: If Thou hand this people over into my power, I will devote them and their towns to destruction.

21:3 And the Lord heard Israel’s voice and handed the Canaanite over into his power. Israel devoted him and his towns to destruction, and they called that place Devotion to Destruction.

21:4 And they set out from Mount Hor by the road toward the Red Sea and went around the land of Edom. The people became fainthearted on the journey.

21:5 And the people spoke against God and against Moses: Why have you brought us out of Egypt to kill us in the wilderness? There is no bread or water, and our soul is disgusted with this empty bread.

21:6 And the Lord sent deadly serpents among the people. They bit the people, and many of the sons of Israel died.

Note 68: 68. Numbers 21:6 • Text. “Deadly serpents” follows the Greek. KJV and Douay–Rheims call them fiery serpents. The draft retains the Greek’s emphasis on their deadly effect rather than supplying fiery for familiarity.

21:7 And the people came unto Moses and said: We have sinned by speaking against the Lord and against you. Therefore pray unto the Lord, and let Him remove the serpents from us. Moses prayed unto the Lord for the people.

21:8 And the Lord said unto Moses: Make a serpent for yourself, and set it upon a standard; and it shall be, if a serpent bites a man, that everyone bitten, when he looks upon it, shall live.

Note 69: 69. Numbers 21:8 • Meaning. Keep “a serpent” and “a standard.” The material is not named until verse 9. Standard here means a raised signal staff, not an abstract benchmark; the note supplies that gloss.

21:9 And Moses made a bronze serpent and set it on a standard. Whenever a serpent bit a person, that person looked at the bronze serpent and lived.

Note 70: 70. Numbers 21:9 • Wording. Use “bronze serpent.” Older brass is familiar but often suggests a specific modern alloy. Preserve the act of looking and living without expanding the verse into later reception or typology.

21:10 And the sons of Israel set out and camped at Oboth.

21:11 And they set out from Oboth and camped at Achel-gai, on the farther side, in the wilderness opposite Moab toward the sunrise.

21:12 From there they set out and camped in the ravine of Zered.

21:13 And from there they set out and camped beyond the Arnon, in the wilderness extending from the Amorite borders. The Arnon is the border of Moab, between Moab and the Amorites.

21:14 Therefore it is said in a book: A war of the Lord set Zoob ablaze, and the torrents of the Arnon,

Note 71: 71. Numbers 21:14 • Text. The Greek’s quotation speaks of a war of the Lord setting Zoob ablaze. KJV and Douay–Rheims both mention the Red Sea instead. Retain the Greek name and syntax provisionally; this poem remains a difficult passage.

21:15 and he appointed the torrents for the settlement of Er, and it lies beside the borders of Moab.

21:16 And from there they went to the well. This is the well of which the Lord said unto Moses: Gather the people, and I will give them water to drink.

21:17 Then Israel sang this song over the well: Lead the singing for it!

21:18 A well: rulers dug it; kings of nations hewed it out in their kingdom, when they exercised dominion. From the well they went to Manthanain.

21:19 And from Manthanain they went to Nahaliel, and from Nahaliel to Bamoth.

21:20 And from Bamoth they went to a valley in the plain of Moab, from the summit of the Hewn Height overlooking the wilderness.

21:21 And Moses sent envoys to Sihon king of the Amorites with words of peace, saying:

21:22 We will pass through your land; we will travel by the road. We will not turn aside into fields or vineyards or drink water from your well. We will travel the royal road until we have passed through your territory.

21:23 And Sihon would not allow Israel to pass through his territory. He gathered all his people and went out into the wilderness to array himself against Israel. He came to Jahaz and arrayed himself against Israel.

21:24 And Israel struck him by slaughter with the sword, and they took control of his land from the Arnon to the Jabbok, as far as the sons of Ammon, because Jazer is the border of the sons of Ammon.

21:25 And Israel took all these towns and settled in all the Amorite towns, in Heshbon and all the towns adjoining it.

21:26 Heshbon was the city of Sihon king of the Amorites, who had previously fought the king of Moab, and they took all his land from Aroer as far as the Arnon.

21:27 Therefore those who speak in riddles will say: Come to Heshbon, so that Sihon’s city may be built and prepared.

21:28 For fire went out from Heshbon, a flame from Sihon’s city. It consumed as far as Moab and swallowed the pillars of the Arnon.

21:29 Woe unto you, Moab! You are ruined, people of Chemosh. Their sons were handed over to escape, and their daughters as captives to Sihon king of the Amorites.

21:30 And their seed shall perish, from Heshbon as far as Dibon; and the women kindled still more fire against Moab.

Note 72: 72. Numbers 21:30 • Text. The Greek includes women kindling further fire against Moab. The other traditions describe devastation of places. This substantial difference must be kept visible, not smoothed into a common narrative.

21:31 Israel settled in all the towns of the Amorites.

21:32 And Moses sent men to inspect Jazer. They captured it and its villages and drove out the Amorites who lived there.

21:33 And they turned and went up by the road to Bashan. Og king of Bashan came out to meet them with all his people, for battle at Edrei.

21:34 And the Lord said unto Moses: Do not fear him, for I have handed him, all his people, and all his land into your hands. You shall do to him as you did to Sihon king of the Amorites, who lived in Heshbon.

21:35 And he struck him, and his sons, and all his people, until he left none of his alive; and they inherited their land.

Numbers 22

22:1 And the sons of Israel set out and camped on the western side of Moab, beside the Jordan opposite Jericho.

22:2 And Balak son of Zippor saw all that Israel had done to the Amorites.

22:3 And Moab was very afraid of the people because they were numerous; Moab was distressed by the sons of Israel.

22:4 And Moab said to the council of elders of Midian: Now this congregation will lick up everyone around us as a calf licks up the green plants of the plain. Balak son of Zippor was king of Moab at that time.

22:5 And he sent envoys to Balaam son of Beor at Pethor, beside the river in the land of his people, to summon him: Behold, a people has come out of Egypt. They cover the face of the land and are encamped next to me.

22:6 And now come and curse this people for me, for they are stronger than we are. If we can strike some of them, I will drive them from the land. I know that those you bless are blessed, and those you curse are cursed.

22:7 And the council of elders of Moab and the council of elders of Midian went with the means of divination in their hands. They came to Balaam and told him Balak’s words.

Note 73: 73. Numbers 22:7 • Meaning. The Greek can designate things used for divination or its payments. The draft retains “means of divination”; KJV’s rewards and Douay–Rheims’ price specify payment. This lexical choice remains provisional.

22:8 And he said to them: Lodge here for the night, and I will answer you with whatever the Lord speaks to me. The officials of Moab remained with Balaam.

22:9 And God came to Balaam and said to him: Who are these men with you?

22:10 And Balaam said to God: Balak son of Zippor, king of Moab, has sent them to me, saying:

22:11 Behold, a people has come out of Egypt and covers the face of the land; they are encamped next to me. Now come and curse them for me. Perhaps I can strike them and drive them from the land.

22:12 And God said to Balaam: You shall not go with them or curse the people, for they are blessed.

22:13 And Balaam rose in the morning and said to Balak’s officials: Hurry back to your lord, for God does not permit me to go with you.

22:14 And the officials of Moab rose, came to Balak, and said: Balaam is unwilling to come with us.

22:15 And Balak again sent officials, more numerous and more honoured than these.

22:16 And they came to Balaam and say unto him: Thus says Balak son of Zippor: I ask you, do not hesitate to come to me.

22:17 I will honour you richly, and I will do for you whatever you say. Come and curse this people for me.

22:18 And Balaam answered Balak’s officials: Even if Balak gave me his house full of silver and gold, I could not transgress the word of the Lord God to do anything small or great according to my own intention.

22:19 And now you also remain here tonight, and I will learn what more the Lord will say to me.

22:20 And God came to Balaam at night and said to him: If these men are here to summon you, rise and follow them. But you shall do what I tell you.

22:21 And Balaam rose in the morning, saddled his donkey, and went with the officials of Moab.

22:22 And God grew angry because he went. God’s angel rose to obstruct him. Balaam was riding his donkey, with his two servants beside him.

22:23 And the donkey saw God’s angel opposing them in the road with his sword drawn in his hand. She turned off the road into the plain, and he struck her with the staff to direct her onto the road.

22:24 And God’s angel stood in the furrows of the vineyards, with a fence on either side.

22:25 And the donkey saw God’s angel and pressed herself against the wall, crushing Balaam’s foot. He whipped her again.

22:26 And God’s angel went farther and stood in a narrow place where there was no way to turn right or left.

22:27 And the donkey saw God’s angel and crouched beneath Balaam. Balaam became angry and beat the donkey with his staff.

22:28 And God opened the donkey’s mouth, and she says to Balaam: What have I done unto you that you have struck me this third time?

Note 74: 74. Numbers 22:28 • Wording. Use donkey rather than ass. Retain the feminine pronouns, the speech, and the third beating. Modernizing the animal’s name does not require weakening or rationalizing the narrated event.

22:29 And Balaam said to the donkey: Because you have mocked me! If I had a sword in my hand, I would have stabbed you already.

22:30 And the donkey says to Balaam: Am I not your donkey, which you have ridden from your youth until this day? Have I acted like this toward you out of deliberate disregard? He said: No.

22:31 God uncovered Balaam’s eyes, and he sees the Lord’s angel opposing him in the road with his sword drawn in his hand. He bent down and prostrated himself on his face.

22:32 And God’s angel said to him: Why have you struck your donkey this third time? Behold, I have come out to oppose you, because your way is not fitting before me.

Note 75: 75. Numbers 22:32 • Meaning. Use “to oppose thee” for the angel’s action. The word does not require inserting Satan as a personal name. Preserve the angel’s criticism that Balaam’s way is not fitting before him.

22:33 And the donkey saw me and turned away from me this third time. If she had not turned away, I would now have killed you and preserved her.

22:34 And Balaam said unto the Lord’s angel: I have sinned, for I did not know that you were opposing me in the road. Now, if this does not please you, I will turn back.

22:35 And God’s angel said to Balaam: Go with the men, but take care to speak the word that I tell you. Balaam went with Balak’s officials.

22:36 And Balak heard that Balaam had arrived and went out to meet him at a city of Moab on the Arnon border, at the edge of the territory.

22:37 And Balak said to Balaam: Did I not send to summon you? Why did you not come to me? Am I really unable to honour you?

22:38 And Balaam said to Balak: Behold, I have come unto you. Am I now able to say anything? I shall speak the word that God puts in my mouth.

22:39 And Balaam went with Balak, and they came to towns of farmsteads.

22:40 And Balak sacrificed sheep and calves and sent portions to Balaam and the officials with him.

22:41 And in the morning Balak took Balaam and brought him up to Baal’s pillar. From there he showed him a part of the people.

Numbers 23

23:1 And Balaam said to Balak: Build me seven altars here, and prepare seven calves and seven rams for me here.

23:2 And Balak did as Balaam told him, and he offered a calf and a ram on each altar.

23:3 And Balaam said to Balak: Stand beside your sacrifice, while I go to see whether God will appear to meet me. Whatever He shows me, I will tell you. Balak stood beside his sacrifice, and Balaam went to inquire of God; he went straight on.

23:4 And God appeared to Balaam, and Balaam said to Him: I have prepared the seven altars and offered a calf and a ram on each altar.

23:5 And God put a word in Balaam’s mouth and said: Return to Balak and thus you shall speak.

23:6 And he returned to him, and there he stood beside his whole burnt offerings, with all the officials of Moab.

23:7 And God’s Spirit came upon him, and he took up his parable and said: Balak summoned me from Mesopotamia, the king of Moab from the eastern mountains: Come, curse Jacob for me; come, call down a curse on Israel for me.

23:8 Why should I curse whom the Lord does not curse? Why should I call down a curse on whom God does not curse?

23:9 From the tops of mountains I shall see them, and from the hills I shall observe them. Behold, a people who will dwell alone, not counted among the nations.

23:10 Who has measured Jacob’s seed exactly, and who will count Israel’s clans? May my soul die among righteous souls, and may my seed be like their seed!

Note 76: 76. Numbers 23:10 • Text. The Greek wishes for the speaker’s seed to be like theirs, whereas KJV and Douay–Rheims speak of his end. Keep both the wish to die among the righteous and the separate wish about descendants.

23:11 And Balak said to Balaam: What have you done to me? I summoned you to curse my enemies, and look, you have pronounced a blessing!

23:12 And Balaam said to Balak: Must I not take care to speak what God puts in my mouth?

23:13 And Balak said to him: Come with me to another place, from which you shall not see them except for a part; you shall in no wise see them all. Curse them for me from there.

23:14 And he took him to a lookout in a field, to the summit of the Hewn Height, built seven altars there, and offered a calf and a ram on each altar.

23:15 And Balaam said to Balak: Stand beside your sacrifice, while I go to inquire of God.

23:16 And God met Balaam, put a word in his mouth, and said: Return to Balak and speak these words.

23:17 And he returned to him, and there he stood beside his whole burning, with all the officials of Moab. Balak said to him: What did the Lord say?

23:18 And he took up his parable and said: Rise, Balak, and hear! Listen as a witness, son of Zippor!

23:19 God is not as a man, to be led astray, nor as a son of man, to be threatened; having spoken, shall He not act? Shall He speak, and not abide by it?

Note 77: 77. Numbers 23:19 • Meaning. The Greek predicates being led astray and being threatened, rather than lying and repenting. “Led astray” is a provisional rendering of the uncommon first verb; Brenton has waver. Do not collapse this into the familiar KJV sentence.

23:20 Behold, I have been taken up to bless. I will bless and certainly will not reverse it.

23:21 There shall be no toil in Jacob, neither shall distress be seen in Israel; the Lord his God is with him; the glories of rulers are in him.

23:22 God brought them out of Egypt; his glory is as that of a one-horned beast.

Note 78: 78. Numbers 23:22 • Meaning. “One-horned beast” makes the Greek compound intelligible. KJV’s unicorn now evokes a fantasy horse; Douay–Rheims identifies a rhinoceros. The draft preserves the Greek description without claiming a settled species identification.

23:23 There is no omen-taking in Jacob and no divination in Israel. At the appointed time it shall be said to Jacob and Israel what God will accomplish.

23:24 Behold, a people will rise like a lion cub and exult like a lion. It will not sleep until it eats prey and drinks the blood of the slain.

23:25 And Balak said to Balaam: Neither curse them for me nor bless them at all!

23:26 And Balaam answered Balak: Did I not tell you that I must do the word that God speaks?

23:27 And Balak said to Balaam: Come; I will take you to another place. If it pleases God, curse them for me from there.

23:28 And Balak took Balaam to the summit of Peor, which extends toward the wilderness.

23:29 And Balaam said to Balak: Build me seven altars here, and prepare seven calves and seven rams for me here.

23:30 And Balak did as Balaam told him and offered a calf and a ram on each altar.

Numbers 24

24:1 And Balaam saw that it was good before the Lord to bless Israel, so he did not go as usual to seek omens. He turned his face toward the wilderness.

24:2 And Balaam raised his eyes and sees Israel encamped by tribes, and God’s Spirit came within him.

24:3 And he took up his parable and said: Balaam son of Beor declares; the man who sees truly declares,

24:4 one who hears God’s oracles declares, who saw a vision of God in sleep, with his eyes uncovered:

24:5 How beautiful are your houses, Jacob, your tents, Israel!

24:6 Like shaded wooded valleys, like gardens beside rivers, like tents pitched by the Lord, like cedars beside waters.

Note 79: 79. Numbers 24:6 • Text. The Greek has tents pitched by the Lord, as do Brenton and Douay–Rheims. KJV has aloes planted by Him. Retain tents and the adjacent garden and cedar images rather than harmonizing the images into plants alone.

24:7 A man shall come forth from his seed and rule over many nations. His kingdom shall rise higher than Gog, and his kingdom shall increase.

Note 80: 80. Numbers 24:7 • Text. Retain the man from his seed, rule over many nations, and a kingdom higher than Gog. KJV and Douay–Rheims speak of water and Agag. The Brenton quotation here follows eBible’s Gog; CCEL prints God, a transcription difference that must not govern the Greek translation.

24:8 God guided him out of Egypt; his glory is like a one-horned beast’s. He shall devour the nations of his enemies, suck the marrow from their fat parts, and shoot down an enemy with his missiles.

24:9 He lay down and rested like a lion, like a lion cub—who will rouse him? Those who bless you are blessed, and those who curse you are cursed.

24:10 And Balak became angry with Balaam and clapped his hands. He said to Balaam: I summoned you to curse my enemy, and look, you have thoroughly blessed them this third time!

24:11 Now flee to your own place! I said I would honour you, but now the Lord has deprived you of glory.

24:12 And Balaam said to Balak: Did I not tell the messengers whom you sent to me:

24:13 Even if Balak gave me his house full of silver and gold, I could not transgress the Lord’s word to do evil or good on my own. Whatever God says, I must say.

24:14 And now look, I am returning to my place. Come, I will advise you what this people will do to your people at the end of the days.

24:15 And he took up his parable and said: Balaam son of Beor declares; the man who sees truly declares,

24:16 one who hears God’s oracles, who knows knowledge from the Most High and has seen a vision of God in sleep, with his eyes uncovered:

24:17 I will show him, but not now; I pronounce him blessed, but he does not draw near. A star shall rise from Jacob, and a man shall arise from Israel. He shall crush Moab's leaders and plunder all the sons of Seth.

Note 81: 81. Numbers 24:17 • Text. Keep the star and "a man shall arise from Israel." KJV and Douay–Rheims have a sceptre. The opening "I will show him" is also difficult in Greek; the draft keeps it provisionally without supplying a Christian interpretation as part of the verse.

24:18 And Edom shall become an inheritance, and Esau, his enemy, shall become an inheritance; Israel acted with strength.

24:19 And one shall arise from Jacob and destroy whoever escapes from a city.

24:20 And he saw Amalek, took up his parable, and said: Amalek is the beginning of nations, and their seed shall perish.

24:21 And he saw the Kenite, took up his parable, and said: Your dwelling is strong; even if you set your nest in a rock,

24:22 And even if a nest of craftiness should belong to Beor, Assyrians shall take you captive.

Note 82: 82. Numbers 24:22 • Text. The Greek mentions Beor and a nest of craftiness. KJV and Douay–Rheims speak differently of the Kenite and captivity. Preserve the opaque Greek reading and mark it for further textual study.

24:23 And he saw Og, took up his parable, and said: Alas, alas! Who will live when God brings these things about?

24:24 And one shall come forth from the hand of the Kitians, and they shall afflict Asshur and the Hebrews; they themselves shall perish together.

24:25 And Balaam rose and departed, returning to his place, and Balak went home.

Numbers 25

25:1 And Israel lodged at Shittim, and the people profaned themselves by engaging in sexual immorality with the daughters of Moab.

25:2 And they invited them to the sacrifices of their idols. The people ate from their sacrifices and bowed down to their idols.

25:3 And Israel was initiated into the worship of Baal of Peor, and the Lord became angry with Israel.

25:4 And the Lord said unto Moses: Take all the leaders of the people and make a public example of them before the Lord in the sunlight, and the Lord's fierce anger will turn away from Israel.

Note 83: 83. Numbers 25:4 • Meaning. "Make a public example" follows the Greek verb. The context is punitive, with killing explicit in verse 5; the phrase should not be read as merely holding a public meeting. The Greek does not specify hanging in this verse.

25:5 And Moses said to Israel's tribes: Each of you shall kill his own kinsman who was initiated into the worship of Baal of Peor.

25:6 And an Israelite man came and brought his brother to the Midianite woman before Moses and the whole congregation of the sons of Israel, while they were weeping at the entrance of the Tent of Testimony.

Note 84: 84. Numbers 25:6 • Text. The Greek and Brenton say he brought his brother to the Midianite woman. KJV describes bringing the woman unto his brethren; Douay–Rheims describes going before his brethren to a harlot. Preserve the Greek's object and direction, despite the narrative difficulty.

25:7 And Phinehas son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, saw it, rose from among the congregation, and took a lance in his hand.

25:8 He went after the Israelite man into the chamber and stabbed both of them, the Israelite man and the woman, through her womb. The plague against the sons of Israel stopped.

Note 85: 85. Numbers 25:8 • Meaning. Use chamber, as Brenton does. Although κάμινος ordinarily means furnace or oven, LSJ specifically records alcove for this verse. This contextual sense improves the earlier Saints furnace without replacing the Greek with KJV's tent or adding Douay–Rheims' brothel identification.

25:9 And those who died in the plague numbered twenty-four thousand.

25:10 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

25:11 Phinehas son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, has stopped My wrath against the sons of Israel by being zealous with My zeal among them, and I did not consume the sons of Israel in My zeal.

25:12 Therefore say: Behold, I give him a covenant of peace.

25:13 And it shall be for him and his seed after him an everlasting covenant of priesthood, because he was zealous for his God and made atonement for the sons of Israel.

25:14 The name of the Israelite man struck down with the Midianite woman was Zimri son of Salu, a ruler of an ancestral house of Simeon.

25:15 And the name of the Midianite woman who was struck down was Cozbi daughter of Zur, a ruler of the nation of Ommoth, an ancestral house of Midian.

25:16 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying: Speak to the sons of Israel, saying:

25:17 Be hostile to the Midianites and strike them,

25:18 for they are hostile to you through the deceit by which they deceive you because of Peor and because of Cozbi, daughter of a Midianite ruler, their sister, who was struck down on the day of the plague because of Peor.

Numbers 26

26:1 And after the plague, the Lord spoke unto Moses and Eleazar the priest:

26:2 Take the sum of the whole congregation of the sons of Israel, from twenty years old and upward, by their ancestral houses, everyone who goes out to line up for battle in Israel.

26:3 And Moses and Eleazar the priest spoke in Araboth of Moab beside the Jordan opposite Jericho, saying:

26:4 From twenty years old and upward, as the Lord commanded Moses. These are the sons of Israel who came out of Egypt:

26:5 Reuben was Israel’s firstborn. The sons of Reuben: Hanoch and the clan of Hanoch; from Pallu, the clan of Pallu;

26:6 from Hezron, the clan of Hezron; from Carmi, the clan of Carmi.

26:7 These were Reuben’s clans. Their registration numbered forty-three thousand seven hundred thirty.

26:8 And the sons of Pallu: Eliab.

26:9 And the sons of Eliab were Nemuel, Dathan, and Abiram. These were summoned members of the congregation, those who rose against Moses and Aaron in Korah’s congregation in the uprising against the Lord.

26:10 And the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them and Korah when his congregation died, when the fire consumed the two hundred fifty; they became a sign.

26:11 But Korah’s sons did not die.

26:12 And the sons of Simeon, the clan of the sons of Simeon: from Nemuel, the clan of Nemuel; from Jamin, the clan of Jamin; from Jachin, the clan of Jachin;

26:13 from Zerah, the clan of Zerah; from Shaul, the clan of Shaul.

26:14 These were Simeon’s clans according to their registration: twenty-two thousand two hundred.

26:15 The sons of Judah were Er and Onan. Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan.

Note 86: 86. Numbers 26:15 • Text. The Greek census orders the tribes differently. Judah begins here, corresponding to 26:19 in KJV and Douay–Rheims. Keep the Greek sequence and align comparisons by the people named.

26:16 The sons of Judah by their clans: from Shelon, the clan of Shelon; from Perez, the clan of Perez; from Zerah, the clan of Zerah.

26:17 And the sons of Perez: from Hezron, the clan of Hezron; from Iamun, the clan of Iamun.

26:18 These were Judah’s clans according to their registration: seventy-six thousand five hundred.

26:20 from Jashub, the clan of Jashub; from Shimron, the clan of Shimron.

26:21 These were Issachar’s clans according to their registration: sixty-four thousand three hundred.

26:22 The sons of Zebulun by their clans: from Sered, the clan of Sered; from Allon, the clan of Allon; from Allel, the clan of Allel.

26:23 These were Zebulun’s clans according to their registration: sixty thousand five hundred.

26:27 These were the clans of the sons of Gad according to their registration: forty thousand five hundred.

26:28 The sons of Asher by their clans: from Jamin, the clan of Jamin; from Ishvi, the clan of Ishvi; from Beriah, the clan of Beriah;

26:29 from Heber, the clan of Heber; from Malchiel, the clan of Malchiel.

26:30 And the name of Asher’s daughter was Sarah.

26:31 These were Asher’s clans according to their registration: fifty-three thousand four hundred.

26:32 The sons of Joseph by their clans were Manasseh and Ephraim.

26:33 The sons of Manasseh: from Machir, the clan of Machir. Machir begat Gilead; from Gilead, the clan of Gilead.

26:34 And these were the sons of Gilead: from Ahiezer, the clan of Ahiezer; from Helek, the clan of Helek;

26:35 from Esriel, the clan of Esriel; from Shechem, the clan of Shechem;

26:36 from Symaer, the clan of Symaer; from Hepher, the clan of Hepher.

26:37 And Zelophehad son of Hepher had no sons, only daughters. These were the names of Zelophehad’s daughters: Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah.

26:38 These were Manasseh’s clans according to their registration: fifty-two thousand seven hundred.

26:39 And these were the sons of Ephraim: from Shuthelah, the clan of Shuthelah; from Tanach, the clan of Tanach.

26:40 These were the sons of Shuthelah: from Eden, the clan of Eden.

26:41 These were Ephraim’s clans according to their registration: thirty-two thousand five hundred. These were the clans of the sons of Joseph by their clans.

26:42 The sons of Benjamin by their clans: from Bela, the clan of Bela; from Asyber, the clan of Asyber; from Iachiran, the clan of Iachiran;

26:43 from Sophan, the clan of Sophan.

26:44 And the sons of Bela were Adar and Naaman: from Adar, the clan of Adar; from Naaman, the clan of Naaman.

26:45 These were the sons of Benjamin by their clans according to their registration: forty-five thousand six hundred.

26:46 And the sons of Dan by their clans: from Sami, the clan of Sami. These were Dan’s clans by their families.

26:47 All the clans of Sami according to their registration numbered sixty-four thousand four hundred.

26:48 The sons of Naphtali by their clans: from Asiel, the clan of Asiel; from Guni, the clan of Guni;

26:49 from Jezer, the clan of Jezer; from Shillem, the clan of Shillem.

26:50 These were Naphtali’s clans according to their registration: forty-five thousand four hundred.

26:51 The registration of the sons of Israel numbered six hundred one thousand seven hundred thirty.

26:52 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

26:53 The land shall be divided among these for inheritance according to the number of names.

26:54 To the more numerous you shall increase the inheritance, and to the fewer you shall reduce their inheritance. Each shall receive its inheritance according to their registration.

26:55 The land shall be divided by lots. They shall inherit according to the names of their ancestral tribes.

26:56 You shall divide their inheritance by the lot between the more numerous and the fewer.

26:57 And the sons of Levi by their clans: from Gershon, the clan of Gershon; from Kohath, the clan of Kohath; from Merari, the clan of Merari.

26:58 These were the clans of the sons of Levi: the clan of Libni, the clan of Hebron, the clan of Korah, and the clan of Mushi. Kohath begat Amram.

26:59 And his wife was named Jochebed, a daughter of Levi, who bore these to Levi in Egypt. She bore Aaron, Moses, and their sister Miriam to Amram.

Note 87: 87. Numbers 26:59 • Text. The Greek says Jochebed bore these to Levi, then names her children by Amram. This is difficult genealogical wording. KJV instead says she was born to Levi; the draft must not silently correct the selected Greek to that wording.

26:60 And to Aaron were born Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

26:61 And Nadab and Abihu died when they offered strange fire before the Lord in the wilderness of Sinai.

26:62 And those registered numbered twenty-three thousand, every male from one month old and upward. They were not registered together with the sons of Israel, because no allotment is given to them among the sons of Israel.

26:63 And this was the registration by Moses and Eleazar the priest, who registered the sons of Israel in Araboth of Moab beside the Jordan opposite Jericho.

26:64 And among these there was no man from those registered by Moses and Aaron, when they registered the sons of Israel in the wilderness of Sinai.

26:65 For the Lord had said of them: They shall certainly die in the wilderness. Not one of them remained except Caleb son of Jephunneh and Joshua son of Nun.

Numbers 27

27:1 And the daughters of Zelophehad son of Hepher, son of Gilead, son of Machir, of the clan of Manasseh among the sons of Joseph, came forward. Their names were Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah.

27:2 And they stood before Moses, Eleazar the priest, the rulers, and the whole congregation at the entrance of the Tent of Testimony, saying:

27:3 Our father died in the wilderness. He was not among the congregation that rose against the Lord in Korah’s congregation; he died because of his own sin, and he had no sons.

27:4 Let our father’s name not be erased from his clan because he has no son. Give us a possession among our father’s brothers.

27:5 And Moses brought their case before the Lord.

27:6 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

27:7 The daughters of Zelophehad have spoken rightly. You shall surely give them a possession of inheritance among their father’s brethren, and shall assign their father’s allotment unto them.

Note 88: 88. Numbers 27:7 • Meaning. Keep the affirmative judgment that the daughters have spoken rightly and the command to assign their father’s inheritance. Avoid antiquated legal wording that makes their claim less clear.

27:8 And you shall speak unto the sons of Israel, saying: If a man dies, and has no son, you shall assign his inheritance unto his daughter.

27:9 But if he has no daughter, you shall give the inheritance to his brother.

27:10 But if he has no brothers, you shall give the inheritance to his father’s brother.

27:11 But if his father has no brothers, you shall give the inheritance to his nearest relative from his tribe, and he shall inherit his property. This shall be a rule of judgment for the sons of Israel, as the Lord commanded Moses.

27:12 And the Lord said unto Moses: Go up the mountain on the farther side—this is Mount Nebo—and see the land of Canaan that I am giving to the sons of Israel as a possession.

Note 89: 89. Numbers 27:12 • Text. The Greek explicitly identifies the mountain as Nebo in parentheses and names Canaan. KJV and Douay–Rheims refer to Abarim here. Retain the identification supplied by this edition.

27:13 And you shall see it, and you also shall be gathered to your people, as your brother Aaron was gathered at Mount Hor,

27:14 because you transgressed My word in the wilderness of Zin during the congregation’s resistance, when you were to sanctify Me; you did not sanctify Me at the water before them. This is the Water of Dispute at Kadesh in the wilderness of Zin.

27:15 And Moses said unto the Lord:

27:16 Let the Lord, the God of spirits and of all flesh, appoint a man over this congregation,

27:17 who will go out before them and come in before them, who will lead them out and bring them in, so that the Lord’s congregation will not be like sheep without a shepherd.

27:18 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying: Take unto yourself Joshua son of Nun, a man who has spirit within him, and you shall lay your hands upon him,

27:19 and shall set him before Eleazar the priest, and shall instruct him before all the congregation, and shall give instructions concerning him before them,

27:20 and shall put of your glory upon him, that the sons of Israel may obey him.

27:21 And he shall stand before Eleazar the priest, and they shall ask him for the judgment of the manifestations before the Lord. At his word they shall go out, and at his word they shall come in: he, the sons of Israel together, and the whole congregation.

Note 90: 90. Numbers 27:21 • Meaning. “Judgment of the manifestations” preserves the Greek rendering of the priestly means of inquiry. KJV retains Urim, and Douay–Rheims explains consultation of the Lord. A note identifies the parallel term; the main text does not invent the procedure.

27:22 And Moses did as the Lord commanded him. He took Joshua and stood him before Eleazar the priest and the whole congregation.

27:23 And he laid his hands on him and presented him, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

Numbers 28

28:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

28:2 Command the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them, saying: You shall take care to present My gifts, My donations, My offerings of sweet savour unto Me at My feasts.

28:3 And you shall say unto them: These are the offerings which you shall bring unto the Lord: two unblemished year-old lambs each day for a continual whole burning;

28:4 you shall offer the one lamb in the morning, and you shall offer the second lamb toward evening.

28:5 And you shall prepare a tenth of an oiphi of fine flour for a sacrifice, mixed with oil, a fourth of a hin.

Note 91: 91. Numbers 28:5 • Meaning. Keep a tenth of an oiphi and a fourth of a hin. The following fractional flour measures are tenths of this measure in context; no modern volume is imposed, and fine flour remains explicit.

28:6 It is a continual whole burnt offering, instituted at Mount Sinai as a sweet savour unto the Lord.

28:7 And its drink offering shall be a fourth of a hin for each lamb; in the holy place you shall pour out a drink offering of strong drink unto the Lord.

Note 92: 92. Numbers 28:7 • Wording. “A drink offering of strong drink” is clearer than libation of liquor for many readers. Strong drink is fermented drink in this ancient setting, not necessarily a modern distilled spirit.

28:8 And you shall offer the second lamb toward evening; you shall prepare it according to its sacrifice and according to its drink offering for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

28:9 And on the Sabbath day you shall bring two unblemished year-old lambs, and two tenths of fine flour mixed with oil for a sacrifice, and a drink offering,

28:10 a Sabbath whole burnt offering on each Sabbath, besides the continual whole burning and its drink offering.

28:11 And at the new moons you shall bring whole burnt offerings unto the Lord: two calves from the cattle, and one ram, and seven unblemished year-old lambs;

28:12 For each calf, three tenths of fine flour mixed with oil; for each ram, two tenths of fine flour mixed with oil;

28:13 For each lamb, a tenth of fine flour mixed with oil: a sacrifice, a sweet savour, an offering unto the Lord.

28:14 Their drink offering shall be wine: half a hin for each calf, a third of a hin for each ram, and a quarter of a hin for each lamb. This is the whole burnt offering month by month throughout the year.

28:15 And one male goat from the goats for sin unto the Lord; besides the continual whole burning shall it be offered, and its drink offering.

28:16 And in the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, is the Lord’s Passover.

28:17 And on the fifteenth day of this month is a festival. You shall eat unleavened bread for seven days.

28:18 And the first day shall be a holy appointed assembly for you. You shall do no laborious work.

28:19 And you shall bring whole burnt offerings, offerings unto the Lord: two calves from the cattle, one ram, seven year-old lambs; they shall be unblemished for you.

28:20 And their sacrifice shall be fine flour mixed with oil: three tenths for each calf and two tenths for each ram.

28:21 You shall prepare a tenth for each lamb, for the seven lambs;

28:22 And offer one male goat for sin, to make atonement for you,

28:23 besides the continual morning whole burning, which is a continual whole burnt offering.

28:24 These you shall prepare in this manner each day for seven days, a gift, an offering of sweet savour unto the Lord; besides the continual whole burnt offering you shall prepare its drink offering.

28:25 And the seventh day shall be a holy summoned assembly for you. You shall do no laborious work on it.

28:26 And on the day of new produce, when you present a new sacrifice unto the Lord at the festival of weeks, you shall have a holy appointed assembly. You shall do no laborious work.

28:27 And you shall bring whole burnt offerings for a sweet savour unto the Lord: two calves from the cattle, one ram, seven unblemished year-old lambs.

28:28 Their sacrifice shall be fine flour mixed with oil: three tenths for each calf and two tenths for each ram;

28:29 a tenth for each of the seven lambs;

28:30 and one male goat for sin, to make atonement for you.

28:31 These are apart from the continual whole burnt offering. You shall prepare their sacrifice for Me—they shall be unblemished—and their drink offerings.

Numbers 29

29:1 And in the seventh month, on the first day of the month, you shall hold a holy appointed assembly. You shall do no laborious work. It shall be a day of signalling for you.

29:2 And you shall present whole burnt offerings as a sweet savour unto the Lord: one calf from the cattle, one ram, and seven unblemished year-old lambs.

29:3 Their sacrifice shall be fine flour mixed with oil: three tenths for the calf and two tenths for the ram,

29:4 and one tenth for each of the seven lambs.

29:5 And also offer one male goat for sin, to make atonement for you,

29:6 besides the whole burnt offerings of the new moon, their sacrifices and their drink offerings, and the continual whole burnt offerings, their sacrifices and their drink offerings, according to their prescription, as a sweet savour unto the Lord.

29:7 And on the tenth day of this month you shall have a holy appointed assembly; and you shall afflict your souls, and shall do no work.

Note 93: 93. Numbers 29:7 • Meaning. Keep “afflict your souls” as the ritual expression, with an explanatory gloss for self-denial or humbling oneself. Do not silently turn it into a specific list of practices which this verse does not state.

29:8 And you shall present whole burnt offerings as a sweet savour unto the Lord, offerings: one calf from the cattle, one ram, and seven year-old lambs; they shall be unblemished for you.

29:9 Their sacrifice shall be fine flour mixed with oil: three tenths for the calf and two tenths for the one ram,

29:10 and one tenth for each of the seven lambs.

29:11 And also offer one male goat for sin, to make atonement for you, besides the sin offering of atonement, the continual whole burning, its sacrifice and its drink offering, according to the prescription, as a sweet savour, an offering unto the Lord.

29:12 And on the fifteenth day of the seventh month you shall hold a holy appointed assembly. You shall do no laborious work and shall keep a festival unto the Lord for seven days.

29:13 And on the first day you shall present whole burnt offerings, offerings, as a sweet savour unto the Lord: thirteen calves from the cattle, two rams, and fourteen year-old lambs; they shall be unblemished.

29:14 Their sacrifices shall be fine flour mixed with oil: three tenths for each of the thirteen calves and two tenths for each of the two rams,

29:15 and one tenth for each of the fourteen lambs.

29:16 And also offer one male goat for sin, besides the continual whole burning, their sacrifices, and their drink offerings.

29:17 And on the second day offer twelve calves from the cattle, two rams, and fourteen unblemished year-old lambs.

29:18 Their sacrifice and their drink offering for the calves, the rams, and the lambs shall be according to their number, as prescribed.

29:19 And also offer one male goat for sin, besides the continual whole burning, their sacrifices, and their drink offerings.

29:20 On the third day offer eleven calves, two rams, and fourteen unblemished year-old lambs.

29:21 Their sacrifice and their drink offering for the calves, the rams, and the lambs shall be according to their number, as prescribed.

29:22 And also offer one male goat for sin, besides the continual whole burning, their sacrifices, and their drink offerings.

29:23 On the fourth day offer ten calves, two rams, and fourteen unblemished year-old lambs.

29:24 Their sacrifices and their drink offerings for the calves, the rams, and the lambs shall be according to their number, as prescribed.

29:25 And also offer one male goat for sin, besides the continual whole burning, their sacrifices, and their drink offerings.

29:26 On the fifth day offer nine calves, two rams, and fourteen unblemished year-old lambs.

29:27 Their sacrifices and their drink offerings for the calves, the rams, and the lambs shall be according to their number, as prescribed.

29:28 And also offer one male goat for sin, besides the continual whole burning, their sacrifices, and their drink offerings.

29:29 On the sixth day offer eight calves, two rams, and fourteen unblemished year-old lambs.

29:30 Their sacrifices and their drink offerings for the calves, the rams, and the lambs shall be according to their number, as prescribed.

29:31 And also offer one male goat for sin, besides the continual whole burning, their sacrifices, and their drink offerings.

29:32 On the seventh day offer seven calves, two rams, and fourteen unblemished year-old lambs.

29:33 Their sacrifices and their drink offerings for the calves, the rams, and the lambs shall be according to their number, according to their prescription.

29:34 And also offer one male goat for sin, besides the continual whole burning, their sacrifices, and their drink offerings.

29:35 And on the eighth day you shall hold a closing festival. You shall do no laborious work on it.

Note 94: 94. Numbers 29:35 • Meaning. “Closing festival” conveys the Greek’s conclusion or departure sense. KJV has solemn assembly; Douay–Rheims describes the solemn eighth day. The prohibition of laborious work remains explicit.

29:36 And you shall present whole burnt offerings as a sweet savour, offerings unto the Lord: one calf, one ram, and seven unblemished year-old lambs.

29:37 Their sacrifices and their drink offerings for the calf, the ram, and the lambs shall be according to their number, as prescribed.

29:38 And also offer one male goat for sin, besides the continual whole burning, their sacrifices, and their drink offerings.

29:39 You shall offer these unto the Lord at your festivals, apart from your vows, your freewill offerings, your whole burnt offerings, your sacrifices, your drink offerings, and your sacrifices of deliverance.

Numbers 30

30:1 And Moses told the sons of Israel everything that the Lord had commanded Moses.

30:2 And Moses spoke to the rulers of the tribes of Israel, saying: This is the word that the Lord has commanded:

30:3 Any person who vows a vow unto the Lord, or swears an oath, or imposes a restriction upon himself, shall not profane his word. He shall do everything that comes from his mouth.

Note 95: 95. Numbers 30:3 • Meaning. “Shall not profane his word” preserves the sacred force of the vow. The Greek lists a vow, an oath, and a self-imposed restriction. Their distinctions should not disappear in a generalized promise.

30:4 If a woman vows a vow unto the Lord or imposes a restriction while in her father’s house in her youth,

30:5 and her father hears her vows and her restrictions that she imposed upon herself, but her father remains silent toward her, then all her vows shall stand, and all her restrictions that she imposed upon herself shall remain.

30:6 But if her father refuses her on the day he hears, none of her vows or restrictions that she imposed upon herself shall stand. The Lord will cleanse her, because her father refused her.

30:7 If she becomes a man’s wife while her vows are upon her, according to the specific statement of her lips by which she imposed a restriction upon herself,

30:8 and her husband hears, and remains silent toward her on the day he hears, then all her vows shall stand, and her restrictions that she imposed upon herself shall remain.

30:9 But if her husband refuses her on the day he hears, none of her vows or restrictions that she imposed upon herself shall remain, because her husband refused her. The Lord will cleanse her.

30:10 And the vow of a widow or a divorced woman—whatever she vowed concerning herself—shall remain against her.

Note 96: 96. Numbers 30:10 • Wording. Use widow and divorced woman. These are clearer legal statuses than an unexplained “cast out.” Preserve that her vow remains binding rather than importing the preceding father or husband provision into her case.

30:11 If her vow was made in her husband’s house, or her restriction was imposed upon herself with an oath,

30:12 and her husband hears, and remains silent toward her, and does not refuse her, then all her vows shall stand, and all her restrictions which she imposed upon her soul shall stand against her.

30:13 But if her husband utterly annuls them on the day he hears, then whatever came from her lips concerning her vows and the restrictions upon herself shall not remain against her. Her husband has annulled them, and the Lord will cleanse her.

30:14 Every vow and every oath imposing a restriction to afflict her soul—her husband may establish it, or her husband may annul it.

30:15 But if he remains utterly silent toward her from day to day, he shall establish all her vows, and he shall establish the restrictions upon her, because he kept silence toward her on the day when he heard.

30:16 But if he annuls them after the day on which he heard, he shall bear his sin.

Note 97: 97. Numbers 30:16 • Text. The Greek says the husband shall bear his sin; KJV speaks of her iniquity, and Douay–Rheims of bearing her iniquity himself. Preserve the Greek pronoun. The parallel KJV reference is 30:15.

30:17 These are the ordinances that the Lord commanded Moses between a man and his wife, and between a father and his daughter in her youth in her father’s house.

Numbers 31

31:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

31:2 Exact vengeance for the sons of Israel from the Midianites. Finally you shall be gathered to your people.

31:3 And Moses spoke to the people, saying: Equip men from among you to draw up for battle before the Lord against Midian, to repay Midian with vengeance from the Lord.

31:4 Send a thousand from each tribe, from all the tribes of Israel, to draw up for battle.

31:5 And they counted out a thousand from each tribe from the thousands of Israel: twelve thousand equipped for battle.

31:6 And Moses sent them, a thousand from each tribe, with their force and Phinehas son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, with the sacred vessels and the signalling trumpets in their hands.

31:7 And they drew up for battle against Midian, as the Lord had commanded Moses, and killed every male.

31:8 And they killed the kings of Midian together with their slain: Evi, Zur, Rekem, Hur, and Robok, the five kings of Midian. They also killed Balaam son of Beor with the sword together with their slain.

31:9 And they took the women of Midian and their dependents as spoil, and plundered their livestock, all their possessions, and their resources.

31:10 And they burned all their towns in their settlements and their farmsteads with fire.

31:11 And they took all the plunder and all their spoils, from people to livestock,

31:12 and brought the captives, the spoils, and the plunder unto Moses, Eleazar the priest, and all the sons of Israel, at the camp at Araboth Moab, which is on the Jordan opposite Jericho.

31:13 And Moses, Eleazar the priest, and all the rulers of the congregation went out to meet them outside the camp.

31:14 And Moses was angry with the overseers of the force, the commanders of thousands and the commanders of hundreds who were returning from the battle formation,

31:15 and Moses said to them: Why have you taken every female alive?

31:16 For these women, according to Balaam’s word, caused the sons of Israel to turn away and disregard the Lord’s word because of Peor, and the plague came upon the Lord’s congregation.

31:17 And now kill every male among all the dependents, and kill every woman who has known a male’s bed.

Note 98: 98. Numbers 31:17 • Meaning. Dependents here includes boys, as the KJV’s little ones and Douay–Rheims’ children make explicit. Keep the killing command and the distinction concerning women’s sexual experience; do not soften the violence or invent a justification.

31:18 Take alive all the female dependents who have not known a male’s bed.

Note 99: 99. Numbers 31:18 • Meaning. “Have not known a male’s bed” retains the sexual idiom; a note explains it as no sexual intercourse with a male. The Greek commands keeping these female dependents alive but does not add the KJV’s “for yourselves.”

31:19 And you shall camp outside the camp for seven days. Everyone who killed someone or touches someone slain shall be purified on the third day and the seventh day, both you and your captives.

31:20 And you shall thoroughly purify every covering, every leather article, every object made from goats’ hair, and every wooden article.

31:21 And Eleazar the priest said to the men of the force who were returning from the battle formation, This is the ordinance of the law that the Lord prescribed unto Moses:

31:22 Only the gold, and the silver, and the bronze, and the iron, and the lead, and the tin,

31:23 everything that passes through fire shall also be cleansed, but it shall be purified with the water of purification. Everything that does not pass through fire shall pass through water.

Note 100: 100. Numbers 31:23 • Meaning. Preserve both fire treatment and water of purification. The passage describes ritual purification of captured materials; it should not be converted into a modern sterilization instruction.

31:24 And you shall wash your clothes on the seventh day and be cleansed; afterward you shall enter the camp.

31:25 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

31:26 Take a total of the spoils of captivity, from people to livestock, you, Eleazar the priest, and the rulers of the congregation’s ancestral houses.

31:27 And you shall divide the spoils between the warriors who go forth into battle and the whole congregation.

31:28 And you shall set apart a levy unto the Lord from the warriors who went forth into battle: one living being out of five hundred, from the men, and from the livestock, and from the cattle, and from the sheep, and from the goats.

31:29 And you shall take it from their half; and you shall give unto Eleazar the priest the firstfruits of the Lord.

31:30 And from the half belonging to the sons of Israel you shall take one out of fifty, from the men, and from the cattle, and from the sheep, and from the donkeys, and from all the livestock; and you shall give them unto the Levites who keep the charges in the Tent of the Lord.

31:31 And Moses and Eleazar the priest did as the Lord had prescribed unto Moses.

31:32 And the surplus of the plunder that the warriors had taken was six hundred seventy-five thousand sheep,

31:33 And seventy-two thousand cattle,

31:34 And sixty-one thousand donkeys,

31:35 and thirty-two thousand human beings in all, from the women who had not known a man’s bed.

31:36 And the half-share belonging to those who went out to war numbered three hundred thirty-seven thousand five hundred sheep,

31:37 and the levy for the Lord from the sheep was six hundred seventy-five.

31:38 And the cattle numbered thirty-six thousand, and the levy for the Lord was seventy-two.

31:39 And the donkeys numbered thirty thousand five hundred, and the levy for the Lord was sixty-one.

31:40 And the human beings numbered sixteen thousand, and their levy for the Lord was thirty-two persons.

31:41 And Moses gave the levy for the Lord, the portion set apart unto God, to Eleazar the priest, as the Lord had prescribed unto Moses.

31:42 From the half belonging to the sons of Israel, which Moses had separated from the warriors—

31:43 And the congregation’s half was three hundred thirty-seven thousand five hundred sheep,

31:44 And thirty-six thousand cattle,

31:45 thirty thousand five hundred donkeys,

31:46 and sixteen thousand human beings—

31:47 and Moses took from the half belonging to the sons of Israel one out of fifty, from the men and from the livestock, and gave them unto the Levites who kept the charges of the Tent of the Lord, as the Lord commanded Moses.

Note 101: 101. Numbers 31:47 • Meaning. Restore the full phrase “from the half belonging to the sons of Israel.” It was compressed out of the earlier reading draft, but it distinguishes the one-in-fifty levy from the warriors’ one-in-five-hundred levy.

31:48 And all those appointed over the army’s units of a thousand, the commanders of thousands and the commanders of hundreds, approached Moses.

31:49 And they said unto Moses: Your servants have counted the warriors in our company, and not even one of them is missing.

31:50 And we have brought the gift unto the Lord, each man whatever gold article he found—armlets, bracelets, rings, wrist ornaments, and hair ornaments—to make atonement for us before the Lord.

31:51 And Moses and Eleazar the priest received the gold from them, every article worked by hand.

31:52 And all the gold, the portion set apart that they set aside for the Lord from the commanders of thousands and the commanders of hundreds, was sixteen thousand seven hundred fifty shekels.

31:53 And the warriors had taken plunder, each for himself.

31:54 And Moses and Eleazar the priest received the gold from the commanders of thousands and of hundreds, and brought it into the Tent of Testimony as a memorial for the sons of Israel before the Lord.

Numbers 32

32:1 And the sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad had a multitude of livestock, a very great multitude; and they saw the country of Jazer and the country of Gilead, and the place was a place for livestock.

32:2 And the sons of Reuben and sons of Gad approached and said unto Moses, Eleazar the priest, and the rulers of the congregation:

32:3 Ataroth, Dibon, Jazer, Nimrah, Heshbon, Elealeh, Sibmah, Nebo, and Beon—

32:4 the land that the Lord handed over before the sons of Israel—is land that nourishes livestock, and your servants have livestock.

32:5 And they said: If we have found favour before you, let this land be given to your servants as a possession. Do not make us cross the Jordan.

32:6 And Moses said to the sons of Gad and sons of Reuben: Your brothers are going to war, and will you sit here?

32:7 And why do you turn aside the minds of the sons of Israel so that they do not cross into the land that the Lord is giving them?

32:8 Did not your fathers do this when I sent them from Kadesh-barnea to examine the land?

32:9 And they went up to the Ravine of the Cluster and examined the land, but turned away the hearts of the sons of Israel so that they would not enter the land that the Lord had given them.

32:10 And the Lord became fiercely angry on that day and swore, saying:

32:11 Surely these men who came up from Egypt, from twenty years old and upward, who know evil and good, shall not see the land that I swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, for they did not follow after Me,

32:12 except Caleb son of Jephunneh, the one set apart, and Joshua son of Nun, because he followed after the Lord.

Note 102: 102. Numbers 32:12 • Text. The Greek calls Caleb “the one set apart.” KJV and Douay–Rheims identify him as a Kenizzite or Cenezite. Preserve the Greek descriptive wording without presenting it as a different English spelling of that clan name.

32:13 And the Lord became fiercely angry with Israel and whirled them about in the wilderness for forty years, until the whole generation that did evil before the Lord had been consumed.

32:14 Behold, you have risen in your fathers’ place, a band of sinful men, to add still more to the fury of the Lord’s anger against Israel.

32:15 Because you will turn away from Him, He will again leave them in the wilderness, and you will act lawlessly against this whole congregation.

32:16 And they approached him and said: Let us build sheepfolds here for our livestock and towns for our dependents.

32:17 And we will equip ourselves as an advance guard ahead of the sons of Israel until we have brought them to their own place. Our dependents will live in walled towns because of the inhabitants of the land.

32:18 We will certainly not return to our homes until the sons of Israel have each been allotted his inheritance.

32:19 And we shall not inherit further among them across the Jordan and beyond, because we have received our allotments on the eastern side of the Jordan.

32:20 And Moses said to them: If you act according to this word, if you equip yourselves before the Lord for war,

32:21 and every armed man among you crosses the Jordan before the Lord until His enemy is wiped out from before Him,

32:22 and the land is brought under dominion before the Lord, then afterward you shall return. You shall be guiltless before the Lord and toward Israel, and this land shall be your possession before the Lord.

32:23 But if you do not do so, you shall sin before the Lord, and you shall recognize your sin when evils overtake you.

Note 103: 103. Numbers 32:23 • Text. The Greek says they will recognize their sin when evils overtake them. KJV’s familiar “your sin will find you out” personifies sin differently. Retain the Greek subject and timing, even at the cost of the familiar phrase.

32:24 And you shall build for yourselves towns for your dependents and folds for your livestock; and you shall do that which comes out of your mouth.

32:25 And the sons of Reuben and sons of Gad said unto Moses: Your servants will do as our lord commands.

32:26 Our dependents, our wives, and all our livestock will remain in the towns of Gilead.

32:27 But your servants will cross over, all armed and drawn up in formation before the Lord for war, as the lord says.

32:28 And Moses appointed over them Eleazar the priest, Joshua son of Nun, and the rulers of the ancestral houses of the tribes of Israel.

32:29 And Moses said to them: If the sons of Reuben and sons of Gad cross the Jordan with you, everyone equipped for war before the Lord, and you gain dominion over the land before you, you shall give them the land of Gilead as a possession.

32:30 But if they do not cross over equipped with you for war before the Lord, you shall bring their dependents, their wives, and their livestock across ahead of you into the land of Canaan, and they shall receive an inheritance among you in the land of Canaan.

Note 104: 104. Numbers 32:30 • Text. The Greek adds an instruction to bring their dependents, wives, and livestock across ahead of the others. Do not omit it to match the shorter KJV and Douay–Rheims forms.

32:31 And the sons of Reuben and sons of Gad answered: Everything our lord says unto his servants, we will do.

32:32 We will cross over equipped before the Lord into the land of Canaan, and you shall give us our possession on this side of the Jordan.

32:33 And Moses gave to the sons of Gad, the sons of Reuben, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, of the sons of Joseph, the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites and the kingdom of Og king of Bashan: the land and its towns with its boundaries, the towns of the surrounding land.

32:34 And the sons of Gad built Dibon, Ataroth, and Aroer,

32:35 And Shophar and Jazer, and raised them up,

32:36 And Nimrah and Beth-haran, fortified towns and sheepfolds.

32:37 And the sons of Reuben built Heshbon, Elealeh, and Kiriathaim,

32:38 and Baal-meon, surrounded with defenses, and Sibmah. They named the towns they built according to their names.

32:39 And a son of Machir son of Manasseh went to Gilead and took it, and destroyed the Amorite who lived there.

32:40 And Moses gave Gilead to Machir son of Manasseh, and he settled there.

32:41 And Jair of Manasseh went and took their settlements, and named them Settlements of Jair.

32:42 And Nabau went and took Kenath and its villages, and named them Naboth after his own name.

Numbers 33

33:1 And these are the stations of the sons of Israel when they came out of the land of Egypt with their force under the leadership of Moses and Aaron.

33:2 And Moses recorded their departures and their stations through the Lord’s word. These are the stations of their journey.

33:3 They set out from Rameses in the first month, on the fifteenth day of the first month. On the day after the Passover, the sons of Israel went out with a high hand before all the Egyptians,

Note 105: 105. Numbers 33:3 • Meaning. Retain “with a high hand,” here an image of open strength or boldness in departure. It is not the presumptuous-hand expression used for deliberate sin in 15:30, despite the related English image.

33:4 and the Egyptians were burying all their dead whom the Lord had struck down, every firstborn in the land of Egypt. The Lord also exacted vengeance upon their gods.

33:5 And the sons of Israel set out from Rameses and camped at Succoth.

33:6 And they set out from Succoth and camped at Bouthan, which is a part of the wilderness.

33:7 And they set out from Bouthan and camped at the mouth of Eiroth, which is opposite Baal-zephon, and camped opposite Migdol.

33:8 And they set out from opposite Eiroth and crossed through the midst of the sea into the wilderness. They themselves travelled three days through the wilderness and camped at Bitternesses.

33:9 And they set out from Bitternesses and came to Elim. At Elim were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trees, and they camped there beside the water.

33:10 And they set out from Elim and camped by the Red Sea.

33:11 And they set out from the Red Sea and camped in the wilderness of Sin.

33:12 And they set out from the wilderness of Sin and camped at Raphaka.

33:13 And they set out from Raphaka and camped at Alush.

33:14 And they set out from Alush and camped at Rephidim, and there was no water there for the people to drink.

33:15 And they set out from Rephidim and camped in the wilderness of Sinai.

33:16 And they set out from the wilderness of Sinai and camped at Graves of Craving.

33:17 And they set out from Graves of Craving and camped at Hazeroth.

33:18 And they set out from Hazeroth and camped at Rithmah.

33:19 And they set out from Rithmah and camped at Rimmon-perez.

33:20 And they set out from Rimmon-perez and camped at Lemonah.

33:21 And they set out from Lemonah and camped at Dessah.

33:22 And they set out from Dessah and camped at Makellath.

33:23 And they set out from Makellath and camped at Shaphar.

33:24 And they set out from Shaphar and camped at Haradah.

33:25 And they set out from Haradah and camped at Makheloth.

33:26 And they set out from Makheloth and camped at Kataath.

33:27 And they set out from Kataath and camped at Tarath.

33:28 And they set out from Tarath and camped at Mithkah.

33:29 And they set out from Mithkah and camped at Zalmonah.

33:30 And they set out from Zalmonah and camped at Moseroth.

33:31 And they set out from Moseroth and camped at Banaia.

33:32 And they set out from Banaia and camped at Mount Gadgad.

33:33 And they set out from Mount Gadgad and camped at Jotbathah.

33:34 And they set out from Jotbathah and camped at Abronah.

33:35 And they set out from Abronah and camped at Ezion-geber.

33:36 And they set out from Ezion-geber and camped in the wilderness of Sin. They set out from the wilderness of Sin and camped in the wilderness of Paran, that is, Kadesh.

Note 106: 106. Numbers 33:36 • Text. The Greek itinerary includes an additional departure from Sin to Paran, identified as Kadesh. KJV and Douay–Rheims identify Zin directly with Kadesh here. Preserve the Greek itinerary without claiming to resolve the geography.

33:37 And they set out from Kadesh and camped at Hor the mountain, near the land of Edom.

33:38 And Aaron the priest went up by the Lord’s command and died there in the fortieth year of the departure of the sons of Israel from the land of Egypt, in the fifth month, on the first day of the month.

33:39 And Aaron was one hundred twenty-three years old when he died on Hor the mountain.

33:40 And the Canaanite king of Arad, who lived in the land of Canaan, heard when the sons of Israel were entering.

33:41 And they set out from Hor the mountain and camped at Zalmonah.

33:42 And they set out from Zalmonah and camped at Phino.

33:43 And they set out from Phino and camped at Oboth.

33:44 And they set out from Oboth and camped at Gai on the other side, at the borders of Moab.

33:45 And they set out from Gai and camped at Dibon-Gad.

33:46 And they set out from Dibon-Gad and camped at Gelmon-diblathaim.

33:47 And they set out from Gelmon-diblathaim and camped at the mountains of Abarim, opposite Nebo.

33:48 And they set out from the mountains of Abarim and camped on the western side of Moab, by the Jordan opposite Jericho.

33:49 And they camped beside the Jordan from Aisimoth to Belshittim, on the western side of Moab.

33:50 And the Lord spoke unto Moses on the western side of Moab, beside the Jordan opposite Jericho, saying:

33:51 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: You are crossing the Jordan into the land of Canaan,

33:52 and you shall destroy all who inhabit the land before you, remove their lookout places, destroy all their cast idols, and remove all their pillars.

Note 107: 107. Numbers 33:52 • Text. The Greek names lookout places and pillars; KJV has pictures and high places, while Douay–Rheims refers to pillars and high places. These are material and textual distinctions, not simply modern synonyms.

33:53 And you shall destroy all who inhabit the land and settle in it, for I have given you their land as an allotment.

33:54 And you shall inherit their land by lot according to your tribes. Increase the possession of the larger groups and decrease that of the smaller groups. Wherever his name comes out shall be his. You shall inherit according to the tribes of your ancestral houses.

33:55 But if you do not destroy the inhabitants of the land from before you, those whom you leave will become splinters in your eyes and missiles in your sides, and they will act as enemies in the land where you shall settle.

33:56 And then I will do to you what I had determined to do to them.

Numbers 34

34:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

34:2 Command the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: You are entering the land of Canaan; this shall be your inheritance, the land of Canaan with its boundaries.

34:3 And your southwestern side shall run from the wilderness of Sin to the territory adjoining Edom. Your southwestern boundary shall begin from the part of the Salt Sea toward the east.

34:4 And the boundary shall turn around you from the southwest toward the Ascent of Akrabin and pass through Senna. Its endpoint shall be southwest of Kadesh-barnea; it shall extend to the settlement of Arad and pass through Azmon.

34:5 And the boundary shall turn from Azmon to the Wadi of Egypt, and its endpoint shall be the sea.

34:6 And for your sea boundary, the Great Sea shall mark the limit. This shall be your sea boundary.

34:7 And this shall be your boundary toward the north: from the Great Sea you shall measure out for yourselves beside the mountain, the mountain;

Note 108: 108. Numbers 34:7 • Text. The running Greek repeats “the mountain.” The draft retains the awkward repetition provisionally. KJV identifies Mount Hor; Brenton has the side of the mountain, and Douay–Rheims the most high mountain. A geographical reconstruction requires more evidence.

34:8 and from the mountain, the mountain, you shall measure out for them toward the entrance into Hamath; and its endpoint shall be the boundaries of Sarada.

34:9 And the boundary shall extend to Dephrona, and its endpoint shall be Hazar-enan. This shall be your northern boundary.

34:10 And you shall measure out for yourselves the eastern boundary from Hazar-enan unto Shepham.

34:11 And the boundary shall descend from Shepham to Arbela, from the east toward the springs. The boundary shall descend to Bela, along the eastern ridge of the Sea of Chennara.

Note 109: 109. Numbers 34:11 • Text. Retain Arbela, the springs, Bela, and the Sea of Chennara as the Greek presents them. KJV and Douay–Rheims use other names. Modern map coordinates would falsely imply that the difficult boundary has been resolved.

34:12 And the boundary shall descend to the Jordan, and its endpoint shall be the Salt Sea. This shall be your land and its surrounding boundaries.

34:13 And Moses commanded the sons of Israel, saying: This is the land that you shall inherit by lot, as the Lord prescribed unto Moses to give to the nine tribes and the half-tribe of Manasseh.

34:14 For the tribe of the sons of Reuben and the tribe of the sons of Gad according to their ancestral houses, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, have received their allotments.

34:15 The two tribes and the half-tribe have received their allotments across the Jordan opposite Jericho, from the south toward the east.

34:16 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

34:17 These are the names of the men who shall obtain the land as an inheritance for you: Eleazar the priest and Joshua son of Nun.

34:18 And you shall take one ruler from each tribe to allot the land unto you.

34:19 And these are the names of the men: from the tribe of Judah, Caleb son of Jephunneh;

34:20 from the tribe of Simeon, Salamiel son of Ammihud;

34:21 from the tribe of Benjamin, Eldad son of Chislon;

34:22 from the tribe of Dan, the ruler Bakchir son of Egli;

34:23 from the descendants of Joseph, from the tribe of the sons of Manasseh, the ruler Hanniel son of Ouphi;

34:24 from the tribe of the sons of Ephraim, the ruler Kemuel son of Sabatha;

34:25 from the tribe of Zebulun, the ruler Elizaphan son of Parnach;

34:26 from the tribe of the sons of Issachar, the ruler Paltiel son of Oza;

34:27 from the tribe of the sons of Asher, the ruler Achior son of Shelomi;

34:28 from the tribe of Naphtali, the ruler Pedahel son of Benammihud.

34:29 These are the men whom the Lord commanded to distribute portions to the sons of Israel in the land of Canaan.

Numbers 35

35:1 And the Lord spoke unto Moses on the western side of Moab, beside the Jordan opposite Jericho, saying:

35:2 Instruct the sons of Israel to give the Levites towns to live in from their allotted possessions. They shall also give the Levites the outlying lands around the towns.

35:3 And the towns shall be theirs to live in, and their designated lands shall be for their livestock and all their four-footed animals.

35:4 And the lands adjoining the towns that you shall give the Levites shall extend two thousand cubits outward from the town wall all around.

Note 110: 110. Numbers 35:4 • Text. The Greek and Brenton give two thousand cubits from the wall. KJV gives one thousand cubits; Douay–Rheims gives one thousand paces. Keep the Greek number and unit, and do not alter verse 5 to manufacture a common geometry.

35:5 And you shall measure outside the town two thousand cubits on the eastern side, and two thousand cubits on the southwestern side, and two thousand cubits on the seaward side, and two thousand cubits on the northern side; and the town shall be in the midst thereof for you, together with the adjoining lands of the towns.

35:6 And you shall give the Levites the six cities of refuge that you shall provide for the person who has killed someone to flee to, and in addition to these, forty-two towns.

35:7 All the towns you shall give the Levites shall be forty-eight towns, together with their outlying lands.

35:8 And for the towns that you shall give from the possession of the sons of Israel, take many from those with much and fewer from those with less. Each shall give towns to the Levites according to the inheritance he receives.

35:9 And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying:

35:10 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and you shall say unto them: You are crossing the Jordan into the land of Canaan,

35:11 and you shall set apart towns for yourselves. They shall be refuges for the killer to flee there, anyone who has struck a person unintentionally.

35:12 And the towns shall be refuges for you from the kinsman who avenges blood, so that the killer shall in no wise die before standing before the congregation for judgment.

Note 111: 111. Numbers 35:12 • Meaning. Use “the kinsman who avengeth blood.” Killer remains neutral until the law distinguishes intentional murder from unintentional killing. Calling every refugee a murderer prejudges the hearing the verse requires.

35:13 And the towns you shall provide, the six towns, shall be refuges for you.

35:14 You shall provide three towns across the Jordan, and you shall provide three towns in the land of Canaan.

35:15 There shall be a refuge for the sons of Israel; for the sojourner and the resident stranger among you, these towns shall also be refuges, so that anyone who strikes a person unintentionally may flee there.

35:16 But if he strikes someone with an iron object and that person dies, he is a murderer. Let the murderer surely be put to death.

35:17 If he strikes someone with a stone from his hand capable of causing death and that person dies, he is a murderer. Let the murderer surely be put to death.

35:18 If he strikes someone with a wooden object from his hand capable of causing death and that person dies, he is a murderer. Let the murderer surely be put to death.

35:19 The kinsman who avenges blood shall himself kill the murderer. When he encounters him, he shall kill him.

35:20 If he pushes someone out of enmity and throws an object at him from ambush and that person dies,

35:21 or strikes him with his hand out of wrath and he dies, let the one who struck him surely be put to death; he is a murderer. Let the murderer surely be put to death. The kinsman who avenges blood shall kill the murderer when he encounters him.

35:22 But if he suddenly pushes someone without enmity, or throws any object at him without ambush,

35:23 or, without his knowing, a stone capable of causing death falls upon him and he dies, though he was not his enemy and was not seeking to harm him,

35:24 And then the congregation shall judge between the one who struck him and the kinsman who avenges blood according to these judgments.

35:25 And the congregation shall rescue the killer from the kinsman who avenges blood and restore him to the city of refuge to which he fled. He shall live there until the high priest dies, whom they anointed with the holy oil.

Note 112: 112. Numbers 35:25 • Wording. Retain high priest rather than the opaque literal great priest. Keep the death of the high priest as the specified limit of residence, without importing a later theological explanation into the law.

35:26 But if the killer goes outside the boundaries of the city to which he fled,

35:27 and the kinsman who avenges blood finds him outside the boundaries of his city of refuge and kills the killer, the avenger is not liable.

35:28 For he must live in the city of refuge until the high priest dies. After the death of the high priest, the killer may return to the land of his possession.

35:29 And these shall be an ordinance of judgment for you throughout your generations in all your settlements.

35:30 In every case of a person being struck down, you shall put the killer to death through witnesses. A single witness shall not testify against a person so as to cause his death.

Note 113: 113. Numbers 35:30 • Meaning. Keep the restriction on a single witness and the plural witnesses in the preceding clause. Do not turn the phrase into a modern evidentiary rule beyond what the verse actually says.

35:31 And you shall not accept a ransom for a life from the killer who is guilty and liable to be killed; he shall surely be put to death.

35:32 You shall not accept a ransom concerning flight to a city of refuge, allowing him to live in the land again before the high priest dies.

35:33 And you shall in no wise stain with murder the land wherein you dwell; for this blood stains the land with murder, and atonement shall not be made for the land for the blood shed upon it, except by the blood of him who shed it.

Note 114: 114. Numbers 35:33 • Meaning. “Stain with murder” carries the unusual Greek violence against the land, and atonement keeps the ritual term consistent. Preserve the land image and the demand concerning shed blood without euphemism.

35:34 And you shall not defile the land in which you dwell, in which I will dwell among you, for I am the Lord, dwelling among the sons of Israel.

Numbers 36

36:1 And the rulers of the tribe of the descendants of Gilead son of Machir, son of Manasseh, from the tribe of Joseph’s descendants, approached and spoke before Moses, Eleazar the priest, and the rulers of the ancestral houses of the sons of Israel.

36:2 And they said: The Lord commanded our lord to distribute the inherited land by lot to the sons of Israel, and the Lord instructed the lord to give the inheritance of our brother Zelophehad to his daughters.

36:3 And if they become wives in one of the Israelite tribes, their allotment will be taken from our fathers’ possession and added to the inheritance of the tribe into which they marry. It will be taken from our inherited allotment.

36:4 If the release comes for the sons of Israel, their inheritance will be added to the inheritance of the tribe into which they marry, and their inheritance will be taken from the inheritance of our ancestral tribe.

Note 115: 115. Numbers 36:4 • Meaning. Retain release as the Greek term, with Jubilee in the explanatory note. KJV and Douay–Rheims supply that familiar name. This keeps the connection to the release terminology already used in Leviticus.

36:5 And Moses commanded the sons of Israel by the Lord’s instruction, saying: Thus speaks the tribe of Joseph’s descendants.

36:6 This is the word that the Lord prescribed concerning Zelophehad’s daughters: Let them marry whom they please, but they shall marry from their father’s clan.

Note 116: 116. Numbers 36:6 • Meaning. Keep both permissions and restriction: they may marry whom they please, within their father’s clan. Neither half of the sentence should be lost to make the law sound more permissive or more restrictive.

36:7 And no inheritance among the sons of Israel shall pass from tribe to tribe, for each Israelite shall hold fast to the inheritance of his ancestral tribe.

36:8 And every daughter who succeeds as next of kin to an inheritance among the Israelite tribes shall marry someone from her father’s clan, so that each Israelite may succeed as next of kin to his paternal inheritance.

36:9 And no allotment shall pass from one tribe to another; rather, the sons of Israel shall each hold fast to their own inheritance.

36:10 Zelophehad’s daughters did as the Lord had prescribed unto Moses.

36:11 And Tirzah, Hoglah, Milcah, Noah, and Mahlah, the daughters of Zelophehad, married their cousins.

Note 117: 117. Numbers 36:11 • Wording. Use cousins, the direct Greek kinship term. KJV’s father’s brothers’ sons spells out the relationship more narrowly; that precision should be attributed to the parallel rather than silently added to the Greek.

36:12 They married within the clan of Manasseh, of Joseph’s descendants, and their inheritance remained with the tribe of their father’s clan.

36:13 These are the commandments, ordinances, and judgments that the Lord commanded through Moses on the western side of Moab, by the Jordan opposite Jericho.

Deuteronomy

Deuteronomy 1

1:1 These are the words which Moses spoke unto all Israel beyond the Jordan, in the wilderness toward the west, near the Red Sea, between Paran, Tophel, Laban, Aulon, and Katachrysea.

1:2 It is a journey of eleven days from Horeb by the way of Mount Seir unto Kadesh-barnea.

1:3 And it came to pass in the fortieth year, in the eleventh month, on the first day of the month, that Moses spoke unto all the sons of Israel, according to all that the Lord had commanded him concerning them.

1:4 After he had smitten Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon, and Og king of Bashan, who dwelt in Ashtaroth and in Edrei,

1:5 beyond the Jordan, in the land of Moab, Moses began to make this law plain, saying:

1:6 The Lord our God spoke unto us in Horeb, saying: Let it suffice you to have dwelt in this mountain.

1:7 Turn and set forth, and enter the hill country of the Amorites and all the neighbouring places of Arabah, the hill country and the plain, the southwest and the seacoast, the land of the Canaanites and Anti-Lebanon, as far as the great river Euphrates.

1:8 Behold, I have delivered the land before you. Enter and inherit the land which I sware unto your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to give unto them and unto their seed after them.

1:9 And I spoke unto you at that time, saying: I shall not be able to bear you alone.

1:10 The Lord your God has multiplied you, and behold, you are this day as the stars of heaven in multitude.

1:11 The Lord, the God of your fathers, make you a thousand times as many as you are, and bless you, as He has spoken unto you.

1:12 How shall I alone be able to bear your trouble, and your resistance, and your disputes?

1:13 Choose for yourselves wise men, men of knowledge and understanding, for your tribes, and I will appoint them to rule over you.

1:14 And you answered me and said: The thing which you have spoken is good to do.

1:15 And I took from among you wise men, men of knowledge and understanding, and appointed them to rule over you, captains of thousands, and captains of hundreds, and captains of fifties, and captains of tens, and recording officers for your judges.

1:16 And I commanded your judges at that time, saying: Hear the matters between your brethren, and judge justly between a man and his brother and the sojourner with him.

1:17 You shall not show partiality in judgment; you shall judge the small and the great alike. You shall not shrink before the face of man, for judgment belongs unto God. And you shall bring unto me the matter which is too hard for you, and I will hear it.

Note 1: 1. Deuteronomy 1:17 • Wording. “Show partiality” states the judicial sense more clearly than “respect persons,” which can now suggest ordinary courtesy. The singular commands to the judge give way to plural address in the difficult-case clause; Saints preserves that shift. ↩ Verse 1:17

1:18 And I commanded you at that time all the things which you should do.

1:19 And we departed from Horeb, and went through all that great and fearful wilderness which you saw, by the way of the hill country of the Amorite, as the Lord our God commanded us; and we came unto Kadesh-barnea.

1:20 And I said unto you: You have come unto the hill country of the Amorite, which the Lord our God gives you.

1:21 Behold, the Lord your God has delivered the land before you. Go up and inherit it, as the Lord, the God of your fathers, has spoken unto you; fear not, neither be dismayed.

1:22 And you all came unto me, and said: Let us send men before us, and let them search out the land for us, and bring us word of the way by which we shall go up, and of the cities into which we shall enter.

1:23 And the saying pleased me; and I took twelve men from among you, one man from each tribe.

1:24 And they turned and went up into the hill country, and came unto the Valley of the Cluster, and searched it out.

1:25 And they took of the fruit of the land in their hands, and brought it down unto us, and said: The land which the Lord our God gives us is good.

1:26 And you would not go up, but disobeyed the word of the Lord your God.

1:27 And you murmured in your tents, and said: Because the Lord hates us, He brought us forth out of the land of Egypt, to deliver us into the hands of the Amorites, to destroy us.

1:28 Whither do we go up? Your brethren have made your heart fail, saying: The nation is great and numerous and mightier than we; and the cities are great and walled up to heaven. Moreover, we have seen sons of giants there.

1:29 And I said unto you: Neither cower nor fear them.

1:30 The Lord your God, who goes before you, shall Himself fight against them with you, according to all that He did for you in the land of Egypt,

1:31 and in this wilderness which you saw, how the Lord your God nurtured you as a man nurtures his son, in all the way which you went, until you came unto this place.

Note 2: 2. Deuteronomy 1:31 • Meaning. The Greek describes past care, rendered “nurtured thee.” Brenton’s future “will bear thee” is not adopted. The change from plural travellers to singular Israel belongs to the source, rather than to an inconsistent English voice. ↩ Verse 1:31

1:32 And in this matter you did not trust the Lord your God,

1:33 who goes before you in the way to choose a place for you, guiding you in fire by night, to show you the way wherein you should go, and in a cloud by day.

1:34 And the Lord heard the voice of your words, and, being provoked to anger, sware, saying:

1:35 Surely none of these men shall see this good land which I sware unto their fathers,

1:36 save Caleb son of Jephunneh. He shall see it, and I will give unto him and unto his sons the land whereon he trod, because he cleaved unto the things of the Lord.

1:37 And the Lord was angry with me also for your sakes, saying: You shall not enter there either.

1:38 Joshua son of Nun, who stands beside you, he shall enter there. Strengthen him, for he shall cause Israel to inherit it.

1:39 And every young child who this day knows neither good nor evil shall enter there; and I will give it unto them, and they shall inherit it.

1:40 But you, turn and encamp in the wilderness by the way of the Red Sea.

1:41 And you answered me and said: We have sinned before the Lord our God. We will go up and fight, according to all that the Lord our God commanded us. And you took up, every man, his weapons of war, and gathered yourselves together, and went up into the hill country.

1:42 And the Lord said unto me: Say unto them, You shall not go up, neither shall you fight, for I am not with you; and you shall not be crushed before your enemies.

1:43 And I spoke unto you, but you did not hearken unto me; and you transgressed the word of the Lord, and forced your way up into the hill country.

1:44 And the Amorites who dwelt in that hill country came out to meet you, and pursued you as bees do, and wounded you from Seir unto Hormah.

1:45 And you sat down and wept before the Lord; but the Lord did not hearken unto your voice, neither gave He heed unto you.

1:46 And you dwelt in Kadesh many days, as many days as you dwelt there.

Deuteronomy 2

2:1 And we turned and departed into the wilderness by the way of the Red Sea, as the Lord had spoken unto me; and we compassed Mount Seir many days.

2:2 And the Lord said unto me:

2:3 Let it suffice you to have compassed this mountain; turn therefore northward.

2:4 And command the people, saying: You are passing through the borders of your brethren, the sons of Esau, who dwell in Seir; and they shall fear you, and be exceedingly wary of you.

Note 3: 3. Deuteronomy 2:4 • Meaning. The sons of Esau are the ones who will fear Israel and be exceedingly wary. KJV instead closes by commanding Israel to take heed. DRC 2:4 ends with their fear of Israel. Saints keeps the Greek agency clear rather than borrowing a familiar imperative. ↩ Verse 2:4

2:5 Do not join battle with them, for I will give you none of their land, no, not so much as a footstep; for I have given Mount Seir unto the sons of Esau for a possession.

2:6 Buy food from them for silver, and eat; and you shall take water from them by measure for silver, and drink.

2:7 For the Lord our God has blessed you in all the work of your hands. Consider how you passed through that great and fearful wilderness. Behold, these forty years the Lord your God has been with you; you have lacked nothing.

2:8 And we passed by our brethren, the sons of Esau who dwell in Seir, along the way of Arabah, from Ailon and from Ezion-geber; and we turned and passed along the wilderness way of Moab.

2:9 And the Lord said unto me: Do not deal as enemies with the Moabites, neither join battle with them; for I will give you none of their land for a possession, for I have given Seir unto the sons of Lot to inherit.

Note 4: 4. Deuteronomy 2:9 • Text. The governing Greek names Seir where KJV and DRC name Ar. The same Greek name occurs in 2:18. Saints retains the running text; the note records the geographical difficulty without silently repairing it. ↩ Verse 2:9

2:10 The Emim dwelt there aforetime, a nation great and numerous and strong as the Anakim.

2:11 These also are reckoned as Rephaim, like the Anakim; and the Moabites call them Emim.

2:12 And the Horites dwelt in Seir aforetime; but the sons of Esau destroyed them, and blotted them out from before them, and dwelt in their stead, as Israel did in the land of its inheritance, which the Lord gave unto them.

2:13 Now therefore arise, and set forth, and pass through the Ravine Zered. And we passed through the Ravine Zered.

2:14 And the time wherein we journeyed from Kadesh-barnea until we passed through the Ravine Zered was thirty and eight years, until the whole generation of men of war had fallen, dying out of the camp, as God had sworn unto them.

2:15 And the hand of God was upon them, to consume them out of the camp, until they had fallen.

2:16 And it came to pass, when all the men of war had fallen, dying out from among the people,

2:17 that the Lord spoke unto me, saying:

2:18 You shall pass this day through the borders of Moab, even Seir,

2:19 and you shall draw near unto the sons of Ammon. Do not deal as enemies with them, neither join battle with them; for I will give you none of the land of the sons of Ammon for a possession, because I have given it unto the sons of Lot for a possession.

2:20 It is reckoned a land of Rephaim; for the Rephaim dwelt there aforetime, and the Ammonites call them Zamzummim,

2:21 a nation great and numerous and mightier than you, like the Anakim. And the Lord destroyed them from before the Ammonites, who inherited the land and dwelt in their stead unto this day,

2:22 even as they did for the sons of Esau who dwell in Seir, when they blotted out the Horites from before them, and inherited the land, and dwelt in their stead unto this day.

2:23 And the Hivites who dwelt in settlements as far as Gaza, the Cappadocians who came forth from Cappadocia blotted them out, and dwelt in their stead.

Note 5: 5. Deuteronomy 2:23 • Text. The Greek names Cappadocians and Cappadocia, as do Brenton and DRC. KJV preserves forms of Caphtor. This is a source difference, not a licence to identify the ancient populations with certainty. ↩ Verse 2:23

2:24 Now therefore arise, and set forth, and pass through the Ravine Arnon. Behold, I have delivered into your hands Sihon the Amorite, king of Heshbon, and his land. Begin to inherit it; join battle with him.

2:25 This day begin to put the dread of you and the fear of you before all the nations under heaven, who, when they hear your name, shall be troubled and shall suffer pangs before you.

2:26 And I sent messengers from the wilderness of Kedemoth unto Sihon king of Heshbon with words of peace, saying:

2:27 I will pass through your land. I will pass along the way; I will turn neither to the right nor to the left.

2:28 You shall sell me food for silver, and I will eat; and you shall sell me water for silver, and I will drink. Only let me pass through on foot,

2:29 as the sons of Esau who dwell in Seir, and the Moabites who dwell in Aroer, did for me, until I pass over the Jordan into the land which the Lord our God gives us.

2:30 And Sihon king of Heshbon would not let us pass through his land; for the Lord our God hardened his spirit and strengthened his heart, that he might be delivered into your hands, as at this day.

2:31 And the Lord said unto me: Behold, I have begun to deliver before you Sihon the Amorite, king of Heshbon, and his land; begin to inherit his land.

2:32 And Sihon king of Heshbon came out to meet us, he and all his people, unto battle at Jahaz.

2:33 And the Lord our God delivered him before us; and we smote him, and his sons, and all his people.

2:34 And we took all his cities at that time, and utterly destroyed every city in succession, with their women and their children; we left none alive as a captive.

2:35 Only the cattle we took as plunder, and the spoil of the cities we took.

2:36 From Aroer, which is upon the bank of the torrent Arnon, and the city which is in the ravine, even unto the hill country of Gilead, there was no city that escaped us; the Lord our God delivered them all into our hands.

2:37 Only unto the land of the sons of Ammon we did not draw near, all that borders upon the torrent Jabbok, and the cities in the hill country, as the Lord our God commanded us.

Deuteronomy 3

3:1 And we turned and went up by the way unto Bashan; and Og king of Bashan came out to meet us, he and all his people, unto battle at Edrei.

3:2 And the Lord said unto me: Do not fear him, for I have delivered him, and all his people, and all his land into your hands; and you shall do unto him as you did unto Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon.

3:3 And the Lord our God delivered him into our hands, even Og king of Bashan and all his people; and we smote him until none of his seed remained.

3:4 And we took all his cities at that time; there was no city which we did not take from them, sixty cities, all the region of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Bashan.

3:5 All these were fortified cities, with high walls, gates, and bars, besides very many cities of the Perizzites.

Note 6: 6. Deuteronomy 3:5 • Text. The Greek names the Perizzites where KJV speaks of unwalled towns and DRC of unwalled towns and villages. Saints keeps the named people and the surrounding fortified-city description. ↩ Verse 3:5

3:6 We utterly destroyed them, as we did unto Sihon king of Heshbon; and we utterly destroyed every city in succession, with the women and the children.

3:7 And all the cattle and the spoil of the cities we took as plunder for ourselves.

3:8 And at that time we took the land from the hands of the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan, from the torrent Arnon unto Hermon.

3:9 The Phoenicians call Hermon Sanior, and the Amorites call it Senir.

3:10 All the cities of Misor, and all Gilead, and all Bashan, as far as Salcah and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan.

3:11 For only Og king of Bashan remained of the Rephaim. Behold, his bed was a bed of iron; behold, it is in the citadel of the sons of Ammon, nine cubits in length and four cubits in breadth, by the cubit of a man.

Note 7: 7. Deuteronomy 3:11 • Meaning. Cubits remain cubits, with the source’s human measure specified; modern metric conversion would imply a precision the verse does not give. “Bed of iron” keeps the material and object clear. The Greek locates it in the Ammonites’ citadel rather than naming Rabbah here. ↩ Verse 3:11

3:12 And we inherited that land at that time. From Aroer, which is upon the bank of the torrent Arnon, and half the hill country of Gilead, with its cities, I gave unto Reuben and unto Gad.

3:13 And the rest of Gilead, and all Bashan, the kingdom of Og, I gave unto the half tribe of Manasseh, with all the region of Argob, all that Bashan; it is reckoned a land of Rephaim.

3:14 And Jair son of Manasseh took all the region of Argob, unto the borders of Gargasi and the Maacathites; and he called those places of Bashan after his own name, Havvoth-jair, unto this day.

3:15 And unto Machir I gave Gilead.

3:16 And unto Reuben and unto Gad I gave from Gilead unto the torrent Arnon, the midst of the torrent being the border, and unto Jabbok, the torrent which is the border of the sons of Ammon;

3:17 and the Arabah, and the Jordan as the border, Machanareth, and as far as the Sea of Arabah, the Salt Sea, below Asedoth-Pisgah toward the east.

3:18 And I commanded you at that time, saying: The Lord your God has given you this land for a possession. Go armed before your brethren, the sons of Israel, every able man.

3:19 Only let your wives, and your children, and your cattle, for I know that you have much cattle, dwell in your cities which I have given you,

3:20 until the Lord your God gives rest unto your brethren, as unto you, and they also inherit the land which the Lord our God gives them beyond the Jordan; then you shall return, every man unto his inheritance which I have given you.

3:21 And I commanded Joshua at that time, saying: Your eyes have seen all that the Lord our God has done unto these two kings; so shall the Lord our God do unto all the kingdoms whither you are passing over.

3:22 You shall not fear, for the Lord our God Himself shall fight for you.

3:23 And I besought the Lord at that time, saying:

3:24 O Lord, Lord, Thou hast begun to show Thy servant Thy strength, and Thy power, and Thy mighty hand, and Thine uplifted arm; for what god is there in heaven or upon earth who shall do as Thou hast done, and according to Thy strength?

3:25 Let me therefore pass over and see this good land beyond the Jordan, this good hill country and Anti-Lebanon.

3:26 And the Lord disregarded me for your sakes, and did not hearken unto me; and the Lord said unto me: Let it suffice you; speak no more of this matter.

3:27 Go up unto the summit of the Hewn Place, and lift up your eyes toward the sea, and northward, and toward the southwest, and eastward, and behold with your eyes; for you shall not pass over this Jordan.

Note 8: 8. Deuteronomy 3:27 • Meaning. “The Hewn Place” provisionally preserves the Greek descriptive designation; KJV names Pisgah. Greek 34:1 does use a form of Pisgah. The two passages are not made verbally identical by editorial harmonization. ↩ Verse 3:27

3:28 And command Joshua, and strengthen him, and encourage him; for he shall pass over before this people, and he shall cause them to inherit the land which you have seen.

3:29 And we dwelt in the valley near the house of Peor.

Deuteronomy 4

4:1 And now, O Israel, hear the ordinances and the judgments which I teach you this day to do, that you may live and be multiplied, and enter and inherit the land which the Lord, the God of your fathers, gives you.

4:2 You shall not add unto the word which I command you, neither shall you take away from it; you shall keep the commandments of the Lord your God, which I command you this day.

4:3 Your eyes have seen all that the Lord our God did unto Baal-peor; for every man who went after Baal-peor, the Lord your God blotted him out from among you.

4:4 But you who cleave unto the Lord your God are all alive this day.

4:5 Behold, I have shown you ordinances and judgments, as the Lord commanded me, that you should do so in the land whither you go to inherit it.

4:6 And you shall keep and do them; for this is your wisdom and understanding before all the nations, who shall hear all these ordinances and say: Behold, this great nation is a wise and understanding people.

4:7 For what great nation is there whose god draws near unto them, as the Lord our God in all things wherein we call upon Him?

4:8 And what great nation is there that has ordinances and judgments as righteous as all this law which I set before you this day?

4:9 Take heed unto yourself, and guard your soul diligently, lest you forget all the things which your eyes have seen, and lest they depart from your heart all the days of your life. And you shall teach your sons and your sons' sons

4:10 the day when you stood before the Lord your God in Horeb, in the day of the assembly, when the Lord said unto me: Assemble the people unto Me, and let them hear My words, that they may learn to fear Me all the days that they live upon the earth, and may teach their sons.

4:11 And you drew near and stood beneath the mountain; and the mountain burned with fire unto heaven, with darkness, gloom, tempest, and a great sound.

4:12 And the Lord spoke unto you out of the midst of the fire; you heard the sound of words, but saw no likeness, only a voice.

4:13 And He declared unto you His covenant, which He commanded you to do, even the ten words; and He wrote them upon two tablets of stone.

Note 9: 9. Deuteronomy 4:13 • Wording. "The ten words" retains the Greek noun and agrees with DRC here. "Ten commandments" is the familiar explanatory title in Brenton and KJV; it is appropriate in a note while the reading text preserves the source expression. ↩ Verse 4:13

4:14 And the Lord commanded me at that time to teach you ordinances and judgments, that you should do them in the land whither you go to inherit it.

4:15 And you shall guard your souls diligently; for you saw no likeness in the day when the Lord spoke unto you in Horeb, on the mountain, out of the midst of the fire,

4:16 lest you act lawlessly and make for yourselves a graven likeness, any image, the likeness of male or female,

4:17 a likeness of any animal on the earth, a likeness of any winged bird flying beneath heaven,

4:18 the likeness of any creeping thing that creeps upon the earth, the likeness of any fish that is in the waters beneath the earth.

4:19 And lest you lift up your eyes unto heaven, and see the sun, and the moon, and the stars, and all the adornment of heaven, and be led astray to bow down unto them and serve them, which the Lord your God has allotted unto all the nations under heaven.

4:20 But God took you, and brought you forth out of the iron furnace, out of Egypt, to be unto Him a people of inheritance, as at this day.

4:21 And the Lord was angry with me concerning the things spoken by you, and sware that I should not pass over this Jordan, neither enter the land which the Lord God gives you for a possession.

4:22 For I die in this land, and do not pass over this Jordan; but you pass over, and shall inherit this good land.

4:23 Take heed, lest you forget the covenant of the Lord your God, which He made with you, and make for yourselves a graven likeness of anything concerning which the Lord your God has given commandment.

4:24 For the Lord your God is a consuming fire, a jealous God.

Note 10: 10. Deuteronomy 4:24 • Wording. "A consuming fire" is both intelligible and forceful. This is a place to preserve traditional biblical diction rather than paraphrase its image into an abstract description of severity. ↩ Verse 4:24

4:25 And if you beget sons and sons' sons, and you have remained long upon the land, and act lawlessly, and make a graven likeness of anything, and do evil before the Lord your God, to provoke Him to anger,

4:26 I call heaven and earth to witness against you this day, that you shall surely perish from the land whither you pass over the Jordan to inherit it. You shall not prolong your days upon it, but shall be utterly blotted out.

4:27 And the Lord shall scatter you among all the nations, and you shall be left few in number among the nations whither the Lord shall bring you.

4:28 And there you shall serve other gods, the works of men's hands, wood and stone, which shall neither see, nor hear, nor eat, nor smell.

4:29 And there you shall seek the Lord your God, and shall find Him, when you seek Him with all your heart and with all your soul, in your distress.

Note 11: 11. Deuteronomy 4:29 • Meaning. The Greek begins with plural seeking and changes to singular heart and soul. Saints keeps “ye” followed by “thy.” Flattening both to modern “you” would hide the collective and individual forms of address. ↩ Verse 4:29

4:30 And all these things shall find you in the latter days, and you shall return unto the Lord your God, and hearken unto His voice.

4:31 For the Lord your God is a merciful God; He will not forsake you, neither will He destroy you, nor forget the covenant of your fathers which He sware unto them.

4:32 Ask now of the former days that were before you, from the day when God created man upon the earth, and from one end of heaven unto the other: has there been anything like this great matter, or has such a thing been heard?

4:33 Has a nation heard the voice of the living God speaking out of the midst of the fire, as you have heard, and lived?

4:34 Or has God attempted to go and take unto Himself a nation from the midst of a nation, by trial, and by signs, and by wonders, and by war, and by a mighty hand, and by an uplifted arm, and by great visions, according to all that the Lord our God did in Egypt before your eyes?

4:35 That you might know that the Lord your God, He is God, and there is none beside Him.

4:36 Out of heaven His voice was made heard, to instruct you; and upon earth He showed you His great fire, and you heard His words out of the midst of the fire.

4:37 Because He loved your fathers, He chose their seed after them, even you, and Himself brought you forth out of Egypt by His great strength,

4:38 to destroy nations great and mightier than you from before you, to bring you in, and to give you their land to inherit, as you have this day.

4:39 And you shall know this day, and lay it to mind, that the Lord your God, He is God in heaven above and upon earth beneath; there is none beside Him.

4:40 And you shall keep His ordinances and His commandments which I command you this day, that it may be well with you and with your sons after you, and that you may prolong your days upon the land which the Lord your God gives you for ever.

4:41 Then Moses set apart three cities beyond the Jordan toward the sunrise,

4:42 that the slayer might flee thither, who has slain his neighbour unintentionally, having borne him no hatred aforetime; and he shall flee unto one of these cities, and live:

4:43 Bezer in the wilderness, in the plain country, for Reuben; Ramoth in Gilead for Gad; and Golan in Bashan for Manasseh.

4:44 This is the law which Moses set before the sons of Israel.

4:45 These are the testimonies, and the ordinances, and the judgments which Moses spoke unto the sons of Israel in the wilderness, when they came forth out of the land of Egypt,

4:46 beyond the Jordan, in the ravine near the house of Peor, in the land of Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon, whom Moses and the sons of Israel smote when they came forth out of the land of Egypt.

4:47 And they inherited his land and the land of Og king of Bashan, the two Amorite kings beyond the Jordan toward the sunrise,

4:48 from Aroer on the edge of the Arnon torrent as far as Mount Sion, that is, Hermon,

4:49 all the Arabah beyond the Jordan toward the sunrise, below Asedoth, the hewn height.

Deuteronomy 5

5:1 And Moses called all Israel, and said unto them: Hear, O Israel, the ordinances and the judgments which I speak in your ears this day; and you shall learn them, and take heed to do them.

5:2 The Lord your God made a covenant with you in Horeb.

5:3 The Lord did not make this covenant with your fathers, but with you, even you who are all here alive this day.

5:4 The Lord spoke with you face to face on the mountain, from the midst of the fire.

5:5 And I stood between the Lord and you at that time, to declare unto you the words of the Lord; for you were afraid of the fire, and did not go up into the mountain. He said:

5:6 I am the Lord your God, who brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

5:7 You shall have no other gods before Me.

5:8 You shall not make unto yourself an idol, nor any likeness of anything in heaven above, or upon the earth beneath, or in the waters under the earth.

5:9 You shall not bow down unto them, neither shall you serve them; for I am the Lord your God, a jealous God, repaying the sins of fathers upon children, unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate Me,

5:10 and showing mercy unto thousands, unto them that love Me and keep My ordinances.

5:11 You shall not take the name of the Lord your God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless who takes His name in vain.

Note 12: 12. Deuteronomy 5:11 • Wording. “Hold guiltless” remains clear in this judicial context and carries a useful traditional cadence. It expresses the negative assurance without the possible modern misunderstanding of ritual cleansing as the only meaning. ↩ Verse 5:11

5:12 Keep the Sabbath day, to sanctify it, as the Lord your God commanded you.

5:13 You shall labour six days, and do all your works;

5:14 but the seventh day is a Sabbath unto the Lord your God. You shall do no work therein, you, nor your sons, nor your daughter, nor your male slave, nor your female slave, nor your ox, nor your beast of burden, nor any of your cattle, nor the sojourner dwelling with you; that your male slave and your female slave may rest as you do.

5:15 And you shall remember that you were a household slave in the land of Egypt, and that the Lord your God brought you forth thence with a mighty hand and with an uplifted arm; therefore the Lord your God commanded you to keep the Sabbath day, and to sanctify it.

5:16 Honour your father and your mother, as the Lord your God commanded you, that it may be well with you, and that your days may be long upon the land which the Lord your God gives you.

5:17 You shall not commit adultery.

Note 13: 13. Deuteronomy 5:17 • Text. The governing Greek puts adultery at 5:17 and murder at 5:18. The three comparison transcriptions place adultery at 5:18. Their own verse labels are preserved; the Saints sequence follows the Greek rather than familiar English numbering. ↩ Verse 5:17

5:18 You shall not murder.

5:19 You shall not steal.

5:20 You shall not bear false witness against your neighbour.

5:21 You shall not covet your neighbour’s wife. You shall not covet your neighbour’s house, nor his field, nor his male slave, nor his female slave, nor his ox, nor his beast of burden, nor any of his cattle, nor anything that is your neighbour’s.

5:22 These words the Lord spoke unto all your assembly on the mountain, out of the midst of the fire, with darkness, gloom, tempest, and a great voice; and He added no more. And He wrote them upon two tablets of stone, and gave them unto me.

5:23 And it came to pass, when you heard the voice out of the midst of the fire, and the mountain burned with fire, that you drew near unto me, all the heads of your tribes and your elders,

5:24 and said: Behold, the Lord our God has shown us His glory, and we have heard His voice out of the midst of the fire. This day we have seen that God speaks with man, and he lives.

5:25 And now let us not die, for this great fire will consume us; if we hear the voice of the Lord our God any more, we shall die.

5:26 For what flesh has heard the voice of the living God speaking out of the midst of the fire, as we have, and shall live?

5:27 Draw near, and hear all that the Lord our God shall say; and speak unto us all that the Lord our God shall speak unto you, and we will hear and do it.

5:28 And the Lord heard the voice of your words as you spoke unto me; and the Lord said unto me: I have heard the voice of the words of this people, which they have spoken unto you; all that they have spoken is right.

5:29 O that their heart were thus in them, to fear Me and to keep My commandments all their days, that it might be well with them and with their sons for ever!

5:30 Go, say unto them: Return unto your houses.

5:31 But you, stand here with Me, and I will speak unto you the commandments, and the ordinances, and the judgments which you shall teach them; and let them do them in the land which I give them for a possession.

5:32 And you shall take heed to do as the Lord your God commanded you; you shall turn neither to the right nor to the left,

5:33 but walk in all the way which the Lord your God commanded you, that He may give you rest, and that it may be well with you, and that you may prolong your days upon the land which you shall inherit.

Deuteronomy 6

6:1 And these are the commandments, and the ordinances, and the judgments which the Lord our God commanded me to teach you, that you should do them in the land whither you go to inherit it,

6:2 that you may fear the Lord your God, and keep all His ordinances and His commandments which I command you this day, you, and your sons, and your sons’ sons, all the days of your life, that you may prolong your days.

6:3 And hear, O Israel, and take heed to do them, that it may be well with you, and that you may multiply greatly, as the Lord, the God of your fathers, has spoken, to give you a land flowing with milk and honey.

6:4 And these are the ordinances and judgments which the Lord commanded the sons of Israel in the wilderness, when they came forth out of the land of Egypt: Hear, O Israel: the Lord our God, the Lord is one.

Note 14: 14. Deuteronomy 6:4 • Text. The Greek verse includes a prefatory statement about ordinances and judgments before “Hear, O Israel.” Brenton places that statement at the end of 6:3, so both Brenton verses are quoted. The KJV and DRC confession is shorter. Saints preserves the full Greek unit. ↩ Verse 6:4

6:5 And you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your strength.

Note 15: 15. Deuteronomy 6:5 • Wording. Retain the threefold “with all” and the familiar balance of heart, soul, and strength. The Greek here has heart, whereas Brenton prints mind. Familiar cadence is useful only when it carries the actual words of the governing source. ↩ Verse 6:5

6:6 And these words, which I command you this day, shall be in your heart and in your soul.

6:7 And you shall teach them to your sons, and speak of them when you sit in your house, and when you walk in the way, and when you lie down, and when you rise up.

6:8 And you shall bind them for a sign upon your hand, and it shall be immovable before your eyes.

6:9 And you shall write them upon the doorposts of your houses and of your gates.

6:10 And it shall be, when the Lord your God brings you into the land which He sware unto your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to give you, great and good cities which you did not build,

6:11 houses full of all good things which you did not fill, hewn cisterns which you did not hew, vineyards and olive groves which you did not plant, and you have eaten and are filled,

6:12 take heed unto yourself, lest you forget the Lord your God, who brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

6:13 You shall fear the Lord your God, and you shall serve Him, and you shall cleave unto Him, and you shall swear by His name.

6:14 You shall not go after other gods, of the gods of the nations round about you,

6:15 for the Lord your God in the midst of you is a jealous God; lest the Lord your God be kindled to wrath against you, and destroy you from the face of the earth.

6:16 You shall not put the Lord your God to the test, as you tested Him at Testing.

6:17 You shall diligently keep the commandments of the Lord your God, the testimonies and the ordinances which He commanded you.

6:18 And you shall do that which is pleasing and good before the Lord your God, that it may be well with you, and that you may enter and inherit the good land which the Lord sware unto your fathers,

6:19 to drive out all your enemies from before you, as He has spoken.

6:20 And it shall be, when your son asks you in time to come, saying: What are the testimonies, and the ordinances, and the judgments which the Lord our God commanded us?

6:21 that you shall say unto your son: We were household slaves unto Pharaoh in the land of Egypt; and the Lord brought us forth thence with a mighty hand and with an uplifted arm.

6:22 And the Lord gave signs and wonders, great and grievous, in Egypt, against Pharaoh and against his house, before our eyes.

6:23 And He brought us forth thence, that He might bring us in, to give us this land which He sware to give unto our fathers.

6:24 And the Lord commanded us to do all these ordinances, to fear the Lord our God, that it might be well with us all our days, and that we might live, as at this day.

6:25 And there shall be mercy for us, if we take heed to do all these commandments before the Lord our God, as the Lord commanded us.

Note 16: 16. Deuteronomy 6:25 • Text. Saints retains “mercy,” as does Brenton, where KJV has righteousness and DRC merciful. The Greek noun also appears at 24:13. Do not impose one English theological category on differently worded comparison traditions. ↩ Verse 6:25

7:1 And when the Lord your God brings you into the land whither you go to inherit it, and removes great nations from before you, the Hittites, and the Girgashites, and the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, seven nations numerous and mightier than you,

7:2 and the Lord your God delivers them into your hands, and you strike them, you shall utterly destroy them. You shall make no covenant with them, neither shall you show them mercy.

7:3 Neither shall you intermarry with them; you shall not give your daughter unto his son, nor take his daughter for your son.

7:4 For he will turn your son away from Me, and he will serve other gods; and the Lord shall be kindled to wrath against you, and shall destroy you speedily.

7:5 But you shall do thus unto them: you shall pull down their altars, and break their pillars, and cut down their sacred groves, and burn the graven images of their gods with fire.

7:6 For you are a holy people unto the Lord your God; and the Lord your God has chosen you to be unto Him a people for His own possession, above all the nations upon the face of the earth.

Note 17: 17. Deuteronomy 7:6 • Wording. “A people for His own possession” makes the relationship explicit. Brenton and DRC use “peculiar people,” with an older sense of peculiar that commonly suggests oddness today. KJV has “special people” in this verse. Saints makes possession explicit without importing oddness. ↩ Verse 7:6

7:7 The Lord preferred you and chose you, not because you were more numerous than all the nations, for you are the fewest of all the nations,

7:8 but because the Lord loved you, and kept the oath which He sware unto your fathers, the Lord brought you forth with a mighty hand and with an uplifted arm, and redeemed you out of the house of bondage, out of the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt.

7:9 And you shall know that the Lord your God, He is God, the faithful God, who keeps covenant and mercy with them that love Him and keep His commandments, unto a thousand generations,

7:10 and repays them that hate Him to their face, to destroy them. He shall not delay with them that hate Him; He shall repay them to their face.

7:11 And you shall keep these commandments, and ordinances, and judgments, which I command you this day to do.

7:12 And it shall be, when you hearken unto all these ordinances, and keep and do them, that the Lord your God shall keep with you the covenant and the mercy which He sware unto your fathers.

7:13 And He shall love you, and bless you, and multiply you; and He shall bless the offspring of your womb, and the fruit of your land, your grain, and your wine, and your oil, the herds of your cattle and the flocks of your sheep, upon the land which the Lord sware unto your fathers to give you.

7:14 You shall be blessed above all the nations; there shall be no barren male or female among you, nor among your cattle.

7:15 And the Lord shall take away from you every infirmity; and none of the grievous diseases of Egypt which you have seen and known shall He lay upon you, but He shall lay them upon all that hate you.

7:16 And you shall consume all the spoil of the nations which the Lord your God gives you; your eye shall not spare them, neither shall you serve their gods, for that is a snare unto you.

Note 18: 18. Deuteronomy 7:16 • Text. The object consumed in the Greek is the spoil of the nations; KJV speaks of consuming the people. The following prohibition on sparing and serving their gods remains. Saints must not replace the Greek object simply to resemble the English comparisons. ↩ Verse 7:16

7:17 And if you say in your mind: This nation is more numerous than I; how shall I be able to destroy them?

7:18 you shall not fear them. You shall surely remember all that the Lord your God did unto Pharaoh and unto all the Egyptians,

7:19 the great trials which your eyes saw, the signs and those great wonders, the mighty hand and the uplifted arm, wherewith the Lord your God brought you forth. So shall the Lord our God do unto all the nations before whom you are afraid.

7:20 And the Lord your God shall send hornets among them, until those who are left, and those who hide from you, are blotted out.

7:21 You shall not be wounded before them, for the Lord your God is in the midst of you, a great and mighty God.

Note 19: 19. Deuteronomy 7:21 • Text. The checked Greek has a verb of being wounded, rendered “be wounded,” as in Brenton. KJV and DRC speak of fear. Keep this distinctive verb visible, followed by the Greek description of God as great and mighty. ↩ Verse 7:21

7:22 And the Lord your God shall consume these nations from before you little by little; you shall not be able to consume them speedily, lest the land become desolate, and the wild beasts multiply against you.

7:23 And the Lord your God shall deliver them into your hands, and destroy them with a great destruction, until He has utterly destroyed them.

7:24 And He shall deliver their kings into your hands, and their name shall perish from that place. None shall stand before you, until you have destroyed them.

7:25 You shall burn the graven images of their gods with fire. You shall not covet the silver or gold upon them, nor take it unto yourself, lest you stumble thereby; for it is an abomination unto the Lord your God.

7:26 And you shall not bring an abomination into your house, lest you become a thing under the ban, like unto it. You shall utterly reject it, and utterly abhor it, for it is a thing under the ban.

Deuteronomy 8

8:1 All the commandments which I command you this day you shall take heed to do, that you may live and multiply, and enter and inherit the land which the Lord your God sware unto your fathers.

8:2 And you shall remember all the way wherein the Lord your God led you in the wilderness, to afflict you and to test you, that the things in your heart might be known, whether you would keep His commandments or not.

8:3 And He afflicted you, and made you hunger, and fed you with manna, which your fathers did not know, that He might declare unto you that man shall not live by bread alone, but man shall live by every word that proceeds through the mouth of God.

Note 20: 20. Deuteronomy 8:3 • Wording. “Man shall not live by bread alone” preserves an intelligible traditional cadence. Here man is generic humanity. The full clause about every word proceeding through God’s mouth belongs in the verse, rather than only the familiar opening quotation. ↩ Verse 8:3

8:4 Your garments did not wear out upon you, neither did your feet become calloused; behold, these forty years.

Note 21: 21. Deuteronomy 8:4 • Text. The Greek describes feet not becoming calloused; KJV speaks of swelling and DRC of being worn. Brenton’s “painfully hardened” is close to the Greek sense. “Calloused” provides a concise modern term while preserving the forty-year statement. ↩ Verse 8:4

8:5 And you shall know in your heart that, as a man chastens his son, so shall the Lord your God chasten you.

8:6 And you shall keep the commandments of the Lord your God, to walk in His ways and to fear Him.

8:7 For the Lord your God brings you into a good and spacious land, where are torrents of water and springs of the depths, flowing through the plains and through the hills;

8:8 a land of wheat and barley, vines, fig trees, and pomegranates, a land of olive oil and honey,

8:9 a land wherein you shall eat your bread without poverty, and shall lack nothing; a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills you shall mine copper.

Note 22: 22. Deuteronomy 8:9 • Wording. “Mine copper” fits the extraction of metal from the hills. “Brass” now ordinarily names an alloy and can mislead here. The new wording also keeps bread and lack of poverty distinct from the mineral description. ↩ Verse 8:9

8:10 And you shall eat and be filled, and bless the Lord your God upon the good land which He has given you.

8:11 Take heed unto yourself, lest you forget the Lord your God, and fail to keep His commandments, and His judgments, and His ordinances which I command you this day;

8:12 lest, when you have eaten and are filled, and have built good houses and dwelt in them,

8:13 and your herds and your flocks are multiplied, and your silver and your gold are multiplied, and all that you have is multiplied,

8:14 you become lifted up in heart, and forget the Lord your God, who brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage;

8:15 who led you through that great and fearful wilderness, wherein were biting serpents, and scorpions, and thirst, where there was no water; who brought forth for you a spring of water out of the sheer rock;

8:16 who fed you with manna in the wilderness, which your fathers did not know, to afflict you and to test you, and to do you good in your latter days.

8:17 Do not say in your heart: My strength and the might of my hand have gotten me this great wealth.

8:18 And you shall remember the Lord your God, for He gives you strength to gain wealth, that He may establish His covenant which the Lord sware unto your fathers, as at this day.

8:19 And it shall be, if you utterly forget the Lord your God, and go after other gods, and serve them, and bow down unto them, I call heaven and earth to witness against you this day, that you shall surely perish.

8:20 As the other nations which the Lord destroys from before you, so shall you perish, because you did not hearken unto the voice of the Lord your God.

Deuteronomy 9

9:1 Hear, O Israel: you pass over the Jordan this day, to enter and inherit nations great and mightier than you, cities great and walled up to heaven,

9:2 a people great and numerous and tall, the sons of Anak, whom you know, and of whom you have heard: Who shall stand before the sons of Anak?

9:3 And you shall know this day that the Lord your God, He goes before you; He is a consuming fire. He shall destroy them, and He shall turn them back from before you, and you shall destroy them, as the Lord has spoken unto you.

9:4 Do not say in your heart, when the Lord your God consumes these nations from before you: Because of my righteous deeds the Lord has brought me in to inherit this good land. Rather, because of the ungodliness of these nations the Lord shall destroy them from before you.

9:5 You do not enter to inherit their land for your righteousness, nor for the holiness of your heart; but because of the ungodliness of these nations the Lord shall destroy them from before you, and that He may establish His covenant which He sware unto your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

9:6 And you shall know this day that the Lord your God does not give you this good land to inherit for your righteous deeds; for you are a stiff-necked people.

9:7 Remember, and do not forget, how you provoked the Lord your God in the wilderness. From the day when you came forth out of Egypt until you came unto this place, you continued in disobedience toward the Lord.

9:8 And in Horeb you provoked the Lord, and the Lord was angry with you, to destroy you,

9:9 when I went up into the mountain to receive the tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant which the Lord made with you. And I abode in the mountain forty days and forty nights; I ate no bread, and drank no water.

9:10 And the Lord gave me the two tablets of stone, written with the finger of God; and upon them were written all the words which the Lord spoke unto you in the mountain, in the day of the assembly.

9:11 And after forty days and forty nights, the Lord gave me the two stone tablets, the tablets of the covenant.

9:12 And the Lord said unto me: Arise, go down speedily from hence; for your people, whom you brought forth out of the land of Egypt, have acted lawlessly. They have quickly turned aside from the way which you commanded them; they have made for themselves a molten image.

9:13 And the Lord said unto me: I have spoken unto you once and twice, saying: I have seen this people, and behold, it is a stiff-necked people.

Note 23: 23. Deuteronomy 9:13 • Text. The Greek includes “once and twice” in God’s observation of the people. The wording is retained even where a shorter English comparison seems smoother. Repetition in the source is not redundant material for the editor to remove. ↩ Verse 9:13

9:14 Let Me destroy them, and I will blot out their name from under heaven, and make you a nation great and strong and more numerous than this.

9:15 And I turned and came down from the mountain, and the mountain burned with fire, and the two tablets were in my two hands.

9:16 And I saw that you had sinned before the Lord your God, and made for yourselves a molten image, and turned aside from the way which the Lord commanded you.

9:17 And I took hold of the two tablets, and cast them out of my two hands, and broke them before your eyes.

9:18 And I besought the Lord a second time, as at the first, forty days and forty nights; I ate no bread, and drank no water, because of all your sins which you had sinned, in doing evil before the Lord your God, to provoke Him.

9:19 And I am afraid because of the wrath and the fury wherewith the Lord was provoked against you, to destroy you. And the Lord hearkened unto me at that time also.

9:20 And the Lord was very angry with Aaron, intending to destroy him; I prayed for Aaron also at that time.

9:21 And I took your sin, the calf which you had made, and burned it with fire, and broke it in pieces, grinding it thoroughly until it became fine; and it became as dust, and I cast the dust into the torrent that descended from the mountain.

9:22 And at Burning, and at Testing, and at the Graves of Desire, you provoked the Lord your God.

9:23 And when the Lord sent you forth from Kadesh-barnea, saying: Go up and inherit the land which I give you, you disobeyed the word of the Lord your God, and did not believe Him, and did not hearken unto His voice.

9:24 You were disobedient toward the Lord from the day when He became known unto you.

Note 24: 24. Deuteronomy 9:24 • Text. The Greek says “from the day He became known unto you”; KJV and DRC speak of the day Moses knew them. Saints preserves the passive verb and divine referent instead of importing Moses’ first-person wording. ↩ Verse 9:24

9:25 And I besought the Lord forty days and forty nights, during which I besought Him; for the Lord had said that He would destroy you.

9:26 And I prayed unto God, and said: O Lord, Lord, King of the gods, destroy not Thy people and Thy portion, whom Thou hast redeemed by Thy great strength, whom Thou hast brought forth out of the land of Egypt by Thy great strength, and by Thy mighty hand, and by Thine uplifted arm.

Note 25: 25. Deuteronomy 9:26 • Text. “King of the gods” and the fuller sequence of strength, hand, and arm belong to the Greek prayer. The repeated “O Lord, Lord” also remains. These are substantive features, not additional ornament supplied to make the English sound ancient. ↩ Verse 9:26

9:27 Remember Thy servants Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, unto whom Thou didst swear by Thyself. Look not upon the hardness of this people, nor upon their ungodliness, nor upon their sins,

9:28 lest the inhabitants of the land whence Thou hast brought us forth say: Because the Lord was not able to bring them into the land which He promised them, and because He hated them, He brought them forth to slay them in the wilderness.

9:29 And these are Thy people and Thine inheritance, whom Thou hast brought forth out of the land of Egypt by Thy great strength and by Thine uplifted arm.

Deuteronomy 10

10:1 At that time the Lord said unto me: Hew for yourself two tablets of stone like unto the first, and come up unto Me into the mountain; and you shall make for yourself an ark of wood.

10:2 And I will write upon the tablets the words which were upon the first tablets, which you broke; and you shall put them in the ark.

10:3 And I made an ark of decay-resistant wood, and hewed two tablets of stone like unto the first; and I went up into the mountain, with the two tablets in my hands.

Note 26: 26. Deuteronomy 10:3 • Meaning. “Decay-resistant wood” renders the stated property. KJV specifies shittim and DRC setim; identifying a modern tree species would go beyond this Greek phrase. The material is therefore described without an unmarked botanical identification. ↩ Verse 10:3

10:4 And He wrote upon the tablets, according to the first writing, the ten words which the Lord spoke unto you in the mountain out of the midst of the fire; and the Lord gave them unto me.

10:5 And I turned and came down from the mountain, and put the tablets into the ark which I had made; and they were there, as the Lord commanded me.

10:6 And the sons of Israel set out from Beeroth of the sons of Iakim to Misadai. Aaron died there and was buried there, and his son Eleazar served as priest in his place.

10:7 From there they set out to Gadgad, and from Gadgad to Jotbathah, a land of flowing torrents.

10:8 At that time the Lord set apart the tribe of Levi, to bear the ark of the covenant of the Lord, to stand before the Lord to minister, and to bless in His name, unto this day.

10:9 Therefore the Levites have no portion or inheritance among their brethren; the Lord Himself is his inheritance, as He spoke unto him.

10:10 And I abode in the mountain forty days and forty nights; and the Lord hearkened unto me at that time also, and the Lord would not destroy you.

10:11 And the Lord said unto me: Go, set forth before this people, and let them enter and inherit the land which I sware unto their fathers to give them.

10:12 And now, O Israel, what does the Lord your God require of you, but to fear the Lord your God, to walk in all His ways, and to love Him, and to serve the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul,

10:13 to keep the commandments of the Lord your God, and His ordinances which I command you this day, that it may be well with you?

10:14 Behold, unto the Lord your God belong heaven and the heaven of heaven, the earth and all that is therein.

10:15 Yet the Lord preferred your fathers, to love them, and chose their seed after them, even you, above all the nations, as at this day.

10:16 And you shall circumcise your hardness of heart, and shall stiffen your neck no more.

Note 27: 27. Deuteronomy 10:16 • Text. The Greek directly names hardness of heart as the object of circumcision. Saints preserves that striking combination rather than replacing it with KJV’s foreskin of the heart. The image and its ethical application both remain visible. ↩ Verse 10:16

10:17 For the Lord your God, He is God of gods and Lord of lords, the great and mighty and fearful God, who shows no partiality, neither takes a bribe;

Note 28: 28. Deuteronomy 10:17 • Wording. “Showeth no partiality” and “taketh no bribe” clarify the judicial language. KJV’s “regardeth not persons” and “taketh reward” need their older senses understood; Brenton and DRC already use bribe or bribes. The divine titles and balanced cadence need no modernization. ↩ Verse 10:17

10:18 who executes judgment for the sojourner, and the orphan, and the widow, and loves the sojourner, to give him bread and clothing.

10:19 And you shall love the sojourner, for you were sojourners in the land of Egypt.

10:20 You shall fear the Lord your God, and you shall serve Him, and you shall cleave unto Him, and you shall swear by His name.

10:21 He is your boast, and He is your God, who has done among you these great and glorious things which your eyes have seen.

10:22 Your fathers went down into Egypt with seventy souls; but now the Lord your God has made you as the stars of heaven in multitude.

Note 29: 29. Deuteronomy 10:22 • Text. The Greek here says seventy souls. Retain that number even though other passages or Greek traditions have different totals for Jacob’s household. This verse is not silently harmonized with Genesis or Acts. ↩ Verse 10:22

11:1 And you shall love the Lord your God, and keep His charge, and His ordinances, and His judgments, all your days.

11:2 And know this day that I speak unto you, not unto your children, who have neither known nor seen the chastening of the Lord your God, and His mighty deeds, and His mighty hand, and His uplifted arm,

Note 30: 30. Deuteronomy 11:2 • Meaning. The Greek has an elliptical opening, literally moving from “know this day” to “not your children.” Saints supplies “I speak unto you” to connect the contrast; these words are explanatory English, not an additional Greek clause. Verse 7 completes the contrast with those whose eyes saw. ↩ Verse 11:2

11:3 and His signs and His wonders which He did in the midst of Egypt unto Pharaoh king of Egypt and unto all his land,

11:4 and what He did unto the host of the Egyptians, unto their chariots and their horsemen, when He caused the water of the Red Sea to overflow them as they pursued you, and the Lord destroyed them unto this day,

11:5 and what He did unto you in the wilderness, until you came unto this place,

11:6 and what He did unto Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab son of Reuben, when the earth opened her mouth and swallowed them, and their houses, and their tents, and all their substance that was with them, in the midst of all Israel.

11:7 For your eyes have seen all the great works of the Lord, which He has done unto you this day.

11:8 And you shall keep all His commandments which I command you this day, that you may live and multiply, and enter and inherit the land whither you pass over the Jordan to inherit it,

11:9 that you may prolong your days upon the land which the Lord sware unto your fathers to give unto them and unto their seed after them, a land flowing with milk and honey.

11:10 For the land whither you go to inherit it is not as the land of Egypt, whence you came forth, where they sow seed and water it with their feet, as a garden of herbs.

11:11 But the land whither you go to inherit it is a land of hills and plains; it shall drink water of the rain of heaven,

11:12 a land which the Lord your God cares for; the eyes of the Lord your God are always upon it, from the beginning of the year even unto the end of the year.

11:13 And if you diligently hearken unto all His commandments which I command you this day, to love the Lord your God, and to serve Him with all your heart and with all your soul,

11:14 He shall give the rain unto your land in its season, the early and the latter rain; and you shall gather in your grain, and your wine, and your oil.

11:15 And He shall give grass in your fields for your cattle; and when you have eaten and are filled,

11:16 take heed unto yourself, lest your heart be enlarged, and you transgress, and serve other gods, and bow down unto them,

Note 31: 31. Deuteronomy 11:16 • Meaning. “Thy heart be enlarged” retains the Greek image and singular possessive inside plural address. In this warning the image suggests an inward expansion leading to transgression, rather than generosity. The note carries that contextual explanation instead of substituting it for the image. ↩ Verse 11:16

11:17 and the Lord be kindled to wrath against you, and shut up heaven, so that there is no rain, and the land does not yield her fruit, and you perish speedily from the good land which the Lord has given you.

11:18 And you shall lay these words in your heart and in your soul, and bind them for a sign upon your hand, and it shall be immovable before your eyes.

11:19 And you shall teach them unto your children, to speak of them when you sit in the house, and when you walk in the way, and when you lie down, and when you rise up.

11:20 And you shall write them upon the doorposts of your houses and of your gates,

11:21 that your days and the days of your sons may be prolonged upon the land which the Lord sware unto your fathers to give them, as the days of heaven upon the earth.

11:22 And it shall be, if you diligently hearken unto all these commandments which I command you this day to do, to love the Lord our God, and to walk in all His ways, and to cleave unto Him,

11:23 that the Lord shall cast out all these nations from before you, and you shall inherit nations great and mightier than you.

11:24 Every place whereon the sole of your foot shall tread shall be yours. From the wilderness and Anti-Lebanon, and from the great river, the river Euphrates, even unto the western sea, shall be your borders.

11:25 None shall stand before you; the Lord your God shall lay the dread of you and the fear of you upon all the land whereon you shall tread, as the Lord has spoken unto you.

11:26 Behold, I set before you this day a blessing and a curse:

11:27 the blessing, if you hearken unto the commandments of the Lord your God, which I command you this day;

11:28 and the curses, if you do not hearken unto the commandments of the Lord your God, which I command you this day, and wander from the way which I commanded you, going to serve other gods which you have not known.

11:29 And it shall be, when the Lord your God brings you into the land whither you pass over to inherit it, that you shall set the blessing upon Mount Gerizim, and the curse upon Mount Ebal.

11:30 Behold, are they not beyond the Jordan, behind the way of the setting sun, in the land of Canaan that lies toward the west, adjoining Gilgal, near the lofty oak?

11:31 For you pass over the Jordan, to enter and inherit the land which the Lord your God gives you for a possession for ever; and you shall inherit it, and dwell therein.

11:32 And you shall take heed to do all His ordinances and these judgments, which I set before you this day.

Deuteronomy 12

12:1 And these are the ordinances and judgments which you shall take heed to do in the land which the Lord, the God of your fathers, gives you for a possession, all the days that you live upon the earth.

12:2 You shall utterly destroy all the places wherein the nations whose possession you inherit served their gods, upon the high mountains, and upon the hills, and under the leafy tree.

12:3 And you shall pull down their altars, and break their pillars, and cut down their sacred groves, and burn the graven images of their gods with fire; and their name shall perish from that place.

12:4 You shall not do so unto the Lord your God,

12:5 but unto the place which the Lord your God shall choose in one of your tribes, to set His name there, that it may be called upon, you shall seek and come thither.

Note 32: 32. Deuteronomy 12:5 • Text. The Greek speaks of God’s name being called upon the chosen place. The KJV wording about putting His name there is related but not verbally identical. Saints preserves the naming expression, which recurs in this section. ↩ Verse 12:5

12:6 And you shall bring thither your whole burnt offerings, and your sacrifices, and your firstfruits, and your vowed offerings, and your freewill offerings, and the firstborn of your cattle and of your sheep.

12:7 And you shall eat there before the Lord your God, and rejoice in all that you put your hand unto, you and your houses, because the Lord your God has blessed you.

12:8 You shall not do all that we do here this day, every man that which is pleasing in his own sight;

12:9 for you have not yet come unto the rest and unto the inheritance which the Lord your God gives you.

12:10 And you shall pass over the Jordan, and dwell in the land which the Lord your God gives you to inherit; and He shall give you rest from all your enemies round about, and you shall dwell in safety.

12:11 And it shall be, at the place which the Lord your God shall choose for His name to be called upon there, you shall bring thither all that I command you this day: your whole burnt offerings, and your sacrifices, and your tithes, and the firstfruits of your hands, and your gifts, and all the choice gifts which you shall vow unto your God.

12:12 And you shall rejoice before the Lord your God, you, and your sons, and your daughters, and your male slaves, and your female slaves, and the Levite within your gates; for he has neither portion nor inheritance with you.

12:13 Take heed unto yourself, that you do not offer your whole burnt offerings in every place that you see,

12:14 but in the place which the Lord your God shall choose in one of your tribes, you shall offer there your whole burnt offerings, and you shall do there all that I command you this day.

12:15 Nevertheless, you may slaughter and eat flesh according to all your desire, according to the blessing of the Lord your God which He has given you in every city. The unclean among you and the clean may eat it together, as the gazelle or the deer.

12:16 Only you shall not eat the blood; you shall pour it upon the earth as water.

12:17 You may not eat within your cities the tithe of your grain, or of your wine, or of your oil, nor the firstborn of your cattle or of your sheep, nor any of the vows which you shall vow, nor your pledged offerings, nor the firstfruits of your hands;

12:18 but you shall eat them before the Lord your God, in the place which the Lord your God shall choose for Himself, you, and your son, and your daughter, and your male slave, and your female slave, and the sojourner within your cities. And you shall rejoice before the Lord your God in all that you put your hand unto.

Note 33: 33. Deuteronomy 12:18 • Text. The governing Greek includes the sojourner in the festival meal, and Brenton has stranger. KJV and DRC name the Levite. Preserve the Greek participant. Sojourner remains a useful biblical term for the resident outsider and is distinguished from other foreigner terms in the book. ↩ Verse 12:18

12:19 Take heed unto yourself, that you do not forsake the Levite all the time that you live upon the land.

12:20 And if the Lord your God enlarges your borders, as He has spoken unto you, and you say: I will eat flesh, because your soul desires to eat flesh, you may eat flesh according to all the desire of your soul.

12:21 And if the place which the Lord your God shall choose for His name to be called upon there is too far from you, you shall slaughter of your cattle and of your sheep which God has given you, as I commanded you, and eat within your cities according to the desire of your soul.

12:22 As the gazelle and the deer are eaten, so you shall eat it; the unclean among you and the clean shall eat it alike.

12:23 Take diligent heed that you do not eat blood; for its blood is life, and the life shall not be eaten with the flesh.

Note 34: 34. Deuteronomy 12:23 • Wording. “Its blood is life” preserves the Greek relation clearly. Life is the contextual sense of psyche in this food prohibition; DRC uses soul. The wording should not be expanded into a general philosophical definition of the soul. ↩ Verse 12:23

12:24 You shall not eat it; you shall pour it upon the earth as water.

12:25 You shall not eat it, that it may be well with you and with your sons after you, if you do that which is good and pleasing before the Lord your God.

12:26 Only your holy things which you have, and your vowed offerings, you shall take, and come unto the place which the Lord your God shall choose for His name to be called upon there.

12:27 And you shall prepare your whole burnt offerings; you shall offer the flesh upon the altar of the Lord your God, and you shall pour the blood of your sacrifices against the base of the altar of the Lord your God; and you shall eat the flesh.

12:28 Keep and hear and do all the words which I command you, that it may be well with you and with your sons for ever, if you do that which is good and pleasing before the Lord your God.

12:29 And if the Lord your God destroys from before you the nations whither you go to inherit their land, and you inherit their possession and dwell in their land,

12:30 take heed unto yourself, that you do not seek to follow them after they have been destroyed from before you. You shall not inquire after their gods, saying: How do these nations serve their gods? I also will do so.

12:31 You shall not do so unto the Lord your God; for the abominations which the Lord hated they did unto their gods, for they burn their sons and their daughters with fire unto their gods.

Deuteronomy 13

13:1 Every word which I command you this day, you shall take heed to do; you shall not add unto it, neither shall you take away from it.

Note 35: 35. Deuteronomy 13:1 • Text. This is Greek and Brenton 13:1, corresponding to KJV and DRC 12:32. Preserve the prohibition on adding and taking away. The shift of chapter boundary is a numbering difference, not missing content in the other Bibles. ↩ Verse 13:1

13:2 And if there arises among you a prophet, or a dreamer of dreams, and he gives you a sign or a wonder,

13:3 and the sign or the wonder comes to pass, whereof he spoke unto you, saying: Let us go and serve other gods, which you have not known,

13:4 you shall not hearken unto the words of that prophet, or unto that dreamer of dreams; for the Lord God tests you, to know whether you love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul.

13:5 You shall walk after the Lord your God, and fear Him, and keep His commandments, and hearken unto His voice, and be joined unto Him.

13:6 And that prophet, or that dreamer of dreams, shall die; for he spoke to lead you astray from the Lord your God, who brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed you from bondage, to thrust you out of the way wherein the Lord your God commanded you to walk. And you shall remove the evil one from among yourselves.

13:7 And if your brother, the son of your father or of your mother, or your son, or your daughter, or the wife of your bosom, or your friend who is as your own soul, entices you secretly, saying: Let us go and serve other gods, which you have not known, you nor your fathers,

13:8 of the gods of the nations round about you, whether near unto you or far from you, from one end of the earth unto the other,

13:9 you shall not consent unto him, neither shall you hearken unto him; neither shall your eye spare him, nor shall you yearn for him, nor conceal him.

13:10 You shall surely report him; your hands shall be first upon him to put him to death, and afterward the hands of all the people.

Note 36: 36. Deuteronomy 13:10 • Text. The Greek emphatically commands reporting before the hand is first against the offender. KJV and DRC begin the corresponding verse with killing. Saints keeps the report and the subsequent action distinct; no change of cadence can account for the difference. ↩ Verse 13:10

13:11 And they shall stone him with stones, and he shall die; for he sought to turn you away from the Lord your God, who brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

13:12 And all Israel shall hear and fear, and shall no more do such an evil thing among you.

13:13 And if you hear it said in one of your cities which the Lord your God gives you to dwell in,

13:14 Lawless men have gone forth from among you, and have turned aside all the inhabitants of their city, saying: Let us go and serve other gods, which you have not known,

13:15 then you shall inquire and search diligently; and behold, if the matter is clearly true, and this abomination has been done among you,

13:16 you shall surely slay all the inhabitants of that city with the sword; you shall utterly devote it to destruction, and all that is therein.

13:17 And you shall gather all its spoil into its streets, and burn the city with fire, and all its spoil, all together before the Lord your God; and it shall be uninhabited for ever, and shall not be built again.

13:18 And nothing of that which is devoted to destruction shall cleave to your hand, that the Lord may turn from the fierceness of His wrath, and grant you mercy, and have mercy upon you, and multiply you, as the Lord sware unto your fathers,

13:19 if you hearken unto the voice of the Lord your God, to keep all His commandments which I command you this day, to do that which is good and pleasing before the Lord your God.

Deuteronomy 14

14:1 You are sons of the Lord your God; you shall not perform purification rites, neither shall you make a bald place between your eyes for the dead.

Note 37: 37. Deuteronomy 14:1 • Meaning. “Perform purification rites” is a provisional rendering of the unusual Greek verb, read within the prohibition concerning the dead. KJV and DRC instead speak of cutting oneself, and the consulted Brenton verse omits this first prohibition. The precise ritual sense needs further lexical review. ↩ Verse 14:1

14:2 For you are a holy people unto the Lord your God; and the Lord your God has chosen you to be unto Him a people for His own possession, out of all the nations upon the face of the earth.

14:3 You shall eat no abominable thing.

14:4 These are the beasts which you may eat: a calf of the cattle, and a lamb of the sheep, and a young male goat of the goats,

14:5 deer, gazelle, bubalos, goat-stag, white-rumped antelope, oryx, and giraffe.

Note 38: 38. Deuteronomy 14:5 • Meaning. The seven Greek animal terms remain represented. Bubalos and goat-stag preserve difficult names; white-rumped antelope, oryx, and giraffe are provisional conventional identifications, not a claim to modern zoological certainty. Brenton’s shorter displayed list must not determine the extent of the Greek verse. ↩ Verse 14:5

14:6 Every beast that divides the hoof, and cleaves its hoof into two parts, and brings up the cud among the beasts, these you may eat.

14:7 And these you shall not eat of those that bring up the cud, and of those that divide the hoof and cleave its parts: the camel, and the hare, and the rock hyrax; for they bring up the cud, but do not divide the hoof; they are unclean unto you.

14:8 And the swine, for it divides the hoof and cleaves its parts, but does not chew the cud, is unclean unto you. Of their flesh you shall not eat, neither shall you touch their carcasses.

14:9 And these you may eat of all that are in the waters: whatsoever has fins and scales, you may eat.

14:10 And whatsoever does not have fins and scales, you shall not eat; they are unclean unto you.

14:11 Every clean bird you may eat.

14:12 And these you shall not eat of them: the eagle, and the griffon vulture, and the sea-eagle,

14:13 and the vulture, and the kite, and those like it,

14:14 and every raven, and those like it,

14:15 and the ostrich, and the owl, and the gull,

14:16 and the heron, and the swan, and the ibis,

Note 39: 39. Deuteronomy 14:16 • Meaning. “Ibis” follows the Greek animal name where Brenton prints stork. The surrounding bird list also contains uncertain identifications: griffon vulture at 14:12, night-raven at 14:17, and diving bird at 14:17 are provisional. Ancient animal categories should not be mistaken for an exact modern species list. ↩ Verse 14:16

14:17 and the diving bird, and the hawk, and those like it, and the hoopoe, and the night-raven,

14:18 and the pelican, and the plover, and those like it, and the purple swamphen, and the bat.

14:19 All creeping things among the flying creatures are unclean unto you; you shall not eat of them.

14:20 Every clean flying creature you may eat.

14:21 You shall not eat anything that dies of itself; it shall be given unto the resident alien within your cities, and he shall eat it, or you may sell it unto a foreigner; for you are a holy people unto the Lord your God. You shall not boil a lamb in its mother’s milk.

Note 40: 40. Deuteronomy 14:21 • Text. The Greek distinguishes the resident alien who receives the animal from the foreigner who buys it. It also says lamb, as Brenton does, rather than the kid of KJV and DRC. Saints keeps those distinctions and the intelligible traditional phrase “dieth of itself.” ↩ Verse 14:21

14:22 You shall surely tithe all the produce of your seed, the yield of your field, year by year.

14:23 And you shall eat it before the Lord your God, in the place which the Lord your God shall choose for His name to be called upon there. You shall bring the tithes of your grain, and of your wine, and of your oil, and the firstborn of your cattle and of your sheep, that you may learn to fear the Lord your God all your days.

14:24 And if the way is too long for you, so that you cannot carry them, because the place which the Lord your God shall choose for His name to be called upon there is far from you, when the Lord your God has blessed you,

14:25 then you shall sell them for silver, and take the silver in your hands, and go unto the place which the Lord your God shall choose.

14:26 And you shall spend the silver for whatsoever your soul desires, for cattle, or for sheep, or for wine, or for strong drink, or for whatsoever your soul desires; and you shall eat there before the Lord your God, and rejoice, you and your house,

14:27 and the Levite within your cities; for he has neither portion nor inheritance with you.

14:28 After three years you shall bring forth all the tithe of your produce; in that year you shall lay it up within your cities.

14:29 And the Levite, for he has neither portion nor inheritance with you, and the sojourner, and the orphan, and the widow within your cities shall come, and eat, and be filled; that the Lord your God may bless you in all the works which you do.

Deuteronomy 15

15:1 At the end of seven years you shall make a release.

15:2 And this is the ordinance of the release: you shall release every debt of yours which your neighbour owes you; and you shall not exact it of your brother, for a release unto the Lord your God has been proclaimed.

Note 41: 41. Deuteronomy 15:2 • Wording. “Release” is a clear recurring term for the debt provision. The ordinance itself explains what is released and from whom it may not be exacted. There is no need to import a modern lending system or turn this seventh-year release into the Jubilee. ↩ Verse 15:2

15:3 Of a foreigner you may exact whatsoever he owes you; but you shall release your brother’s debt unto you.

15:4 For there shall be none in need among you; for the Lord your God shall surely bless you in the land which the Lord your God gives you for a possession, to inherit it,

15:5 if you diligently hearken unto the voice of the Lord your God, to keep and do all these commandments which I command you this day.

15:6 For the Lord your God has blessed you, as He has spoken unto you; and you shall lend unto many nations, but you shall not borrow; and you shall rule over many nations, but they shall not rule over you.

15:7 And if there is among you one of your brethren in need, within any of your cities in the land which the Lord your God gives you, you shall not withhold the affection of your heart, neither shall you close your hand against your needy brother.

15:8 You shall freely open your hands unto him, and shall surely lend him as much as he needs, according to his want.

15:9 Take heed unto yourself, lest there be a hidden, lawless thought in your heart, saying: The seventh year, the year of release, draws near; and your eye be evil toward your needy brother, and you give him nothing, and he cry against you unto the Lord, and there be great sin upon you.

15:10 You shall freely give unto him, and shall surely lend him as much as he needs; and your heart shall not be grieved when you give unto him. For because of this the Lord your God shall bless you in all your works, and in all that you put your hand unto.

15:11 For the needy shall never cease out of the land; therefore I command you to do this thing, saying: You shall freely open your hands unto your poor brother and unto the needy in your land.

15:12 And if your brother, a Hebrew man or a Hebrew woman, is sold unto you, he shall serve you six years; and in the seventh year you shall send him forth free from you.

15:13 And when you send him forth free from you, you shall not send him away empty.

15:14 You shall furnish him generously out of your sheep, and out of your grain, and out of your winepress; as the Lord your God has blessed you, you shall give unto him.

15:15 And you shall remember that you were a household slave in the land of Egypt, and the Lord your God redeemed you thence; therefore I command you to do this thing.

15:16 And if he says unto you: I will not go forth from you, because he loves you and your house, and because it is well with him beside you,

15:17 then you shall take an awl, and pierce his ear against the door, and he shall be your household slave for ever; and unto your female slave you shall do likewise.

15:18 It shall not seem hard unto you when they are sent forth free from you, for he served you six years for the yearly wage of a hired worker; and the Lord your God shall bless you in all that you do.

Note 42: 42. Deuteronomy 15:18 • Text. The Greek describes a yearly wage in explaining the six years of service; Brenton likewise has annual hire. KJV speaks of twice a hired servant's value, while DRC has wages without double. Saints preserves the Greek wage term rather than importing KJV's calculation. ↩ Verse 15:18

15:19 Every firstborn male that is born among your cattle and among your sheep you shall sanctify unto the Lord your God. You shall do no work with your firstborn calf, neither shall you shear the firstborn of your sheep.

15:20 You shall eat it before the Lord, year by year, in the place which the Lord your God shall choose, you and your house.

15:21 And if there is a blemish in it, lameness or blindness or any grievous blemish, you shall not sacrifice it unto the Lord your God.

15:22 You shall eat it within your cities; the unclean among you and the clean shall eat it alike, as the gazelle or the deer.

15:23 Only you shall not eat the blood; you shall pour it upon the earth as water.

Deuteronomy 16

16:1 Keep the month of new produce, and observe the Passover unto the Lord your God; for in the month of new produce you came forth out of Egypt by night.

16:2 And you shall sacrifice the Passover unto the Lord your God, sheep and cattle, in the place which the Lord your God shall choose for His name to be called upon there.

16:3 You shall eat no leaven with it; you shall eat unleavened bread with it for seven days, the bread of affliction, for you came forth out of Egypt in haste; that you may remember the day of your departure out of the land of Egypt all the days of your life.

16:4 No leaven shall be seen with you in all your borders seven days; neither shall any of the flesh which you sacrifice in the evening of the first day remain overnight until the morning.

16:5 You may not sacrifice the Passover in any of your cities which the Lord your God gives you,

16:6 but in the place which the Lord your God shall choose for His name to be called upon there, you shall sacrifice the Passover in the evening, at the setting of the sun, at the time when you came forth out of Egypt.

16:7 And you shall boil it, and roast it, and eat it in the place which the Lord your God shall choose; and in the morning you shall turn and go unto your houses.

Note 43: 43. Deuteronomy 16:7 • Text. The Greek has both "boil" and "roast." Brenton also prints both, while KJV has roast and DRC dress, in the older sense of preparing food. Saints retains the two verbs even where comparison with another Passover prescription creates a question requiring a separate note. ↩ Verse 16:7

16:8 You shall eat unleavened bread for six days; and on the seventh day shall be a concluding feast, a feast unto the Lord your God. You shall do no work therein, save that which is done for a person's needs.

16:9 You shall count seven complete weeks unto yourself; when you begin to put the sickle to the harvest, you shall begin to count seven weeks.

16:10 And you shall keep the Feast of Weeks unto the Lord your God, according to the ability of your hand, of that which He gives you, as the Lord your God has blessed you.

16:11 And you shall rejoice before the Lord your God, you, and your son, and your daughter, and your male slave, and your female slave, and the Levite within your cities, and the sojourner, and the orphan, and the widow among you, in the place which the Lord your God shall choose for His name to be called upon there.

16:12 And you shall remember that you were a household slave in the land of Egypt; and you shall keep and do these commandments.

16:13 You shall keep the Feast of Tents seven days, when you have gathered in from your threshing floor and from your winepress.

16:14 And you shall rejoice in your feast, you, and your son, and your daughter, and your male slave, and your female slave, and the Levite, and the sojourner, and the orphan, and the widow within your cities.

16:15 You shall keep a feast for seven days unto the Lord your God, in the place which the Lord your God shall choose for Himself; and if the Lord your God blesses you in all your produce and in all the work of your hands, you shall rejoice.

16:16 Three times in the year shall every male among you appear before the Lord your God, in the place which the Lord shall choose: in the Feast of Unleavened Bread, and in the Feast of Weeks, and in the Feast of the Pitching of Tents. You shall not appear before the Lord your God empty,

16:17 but every man according to the ability of your hands, according to the blessing of the Lord your God which He has given you.

16:18 You shall appoint judges and recording officers for yourself in all your cities which the Lord your God gives you, according to your tribes; and they shall judge the people with righteous judgment.

16:19 They shall not pervert judgment, neither shall they show partiality, nor take a bribe; for bribes blind the eyes of the wise, and overthrow the words of the righteous.

16:20 You shall pursue justly that which is just, that you may live, and enter and inherit the land which the Lord your God gives you.

Note 44: 44. Deuteronomy 16:20 • Wording. “That which is just shalt thou pursue justly” preserves the adverb and its related object. “Justice, and only justice” would introduce an emphasis not expressed in this Greek construction. The balanced traditional phrasing suits the injunction. ↩ Verse 16:20

16:21 You shall not plant for yourself a sacred grove, any tree, beside the altar of the Lord your God which you shall make for yourself.

16:22 You shall not set up for yourself a pillar, which the Lord your God has hated.

Deuteronomy 17

17:1 You shall not sacrifice unto the Lord your God a calf or a sheep wherein is a blemish, any evil defect; for it is an abomination unto the Lord your God.

17:2 And if there is found among you, within any of your cities which the Lord your God gives you, a man or a woman who does evil before the Lord your God, transgressing His covenant,

17:3 and they go and serve other gods, and bow down unto them, unto the sun, or unto the moon, or unto any of the array of heaven, which He has not commanded,

17:4 and it is told you, you shall inquire diligently; and behold, if the matter is true, and this abomination has been done in Israel,

17:5 then you shall bring forth that man or that woman, and you shall stone them with stones, and they shall die.

17:6 Upon the testimony of two witnesses or three witnesses shall he who is condemned to death be put to death; he shall not die upon the testimony of one witness.

17:7 And the hand of the witnesses shall be first upon him to put him to death, and afterward the hand of all the people; and you shall remove the evil one from among yourselves.

17:8 And if a matter in judgment is too hard for you, between blood and blood, and between judgment and judgment, and between injury and injury, and between dispute and dispute, matters of judgment within your cities, you shall arise and go up unto the place which the Lord your God shall choose for His name to be called upon there.

17:9 And you shall come unto the Levitical priests, and unto the judge who shall be in those days; and they shall inquire, and declare unto you the judgment.

17:10 And you shall do according to the matter which they declare unto you from the place which the Lord your God shall choose for His name to be called upon there; and you shall take diligent heed to do according to all that is laid down for you as law.

17:11 You shall do according to the law and according to the judgment which they tell you; you shall not turn aside from the word which they declare unto you, to the right hand or to the left.

17:12 And the man who acts presumptuously, and will not hearken unto the priest who stands to minister in the name of the Lord your God, or unto the judge who shall be in those days, that man shall die; and you shall remove the evil one from Israel.

17:13 And all the people shall hear and fear, and shall act ungodly no more.

17:14 And if you enter the land which the Lord your God gives you for a possession, and inherit it, and dwell therein, and say: I will set a ruler over me, as do the other nations round about me,

Note 45: 45. Deuteronomy 17:14 • Meaning. The Greek uses ruler, while KJV and DRC use king. The surrounding laws describe royal power, but Saints retains the broader source noun here. The note may identify the institution without replacing the word in the translation. ↩ Verse 17:14

17:15 you shall surely set over yourself a ruler whom the Lord your God shall choose. You shall set a ruler over yourself from among your brethren; you may not set a foreign man over yourself, for he is not your brother.

17:16 For he shall not multiply horses unto himself, neither shall he cause the people to return unto Egypt, that he may multiply horses unto himself; for the Lord has said: You shall not return by this way again.

17:17 And he shall not multiply wives unto himself, neither shall his heart turn aside; and he shall not greatly multiply silver and gold unto himself.

17:18 And it shall be, when he sits in his rule, that he shall write for himself this second law in a scroll, from the Levitical priests.

Note 46: 46. Deuteronomy 17:18 • Meaning. “This second law” reflects the Greek expression from which the book’s conventional name derives. In context it may designate a copy or repetition of the law, rather than a new and conflicting law. Brenton uses repetition, KJV copy, and DRC Deuteronomy with copying language. The interpretive question remains visible. ↩ Verse 17:18

17:19 And it shall be with him, and he shall read therein all the days of his life, that he may learn to fear the Lord his God, to keep all these commandments and these ordinances, to do them,

17:20 that his heart may not be lifted up above his brethren, and that he may not turn aside from the commandments, to the right hand or to the left; that he may prolong his days in his rule, he and his sons, among the sons of Israel.

Deuteronomy 18

18:1 The Levitical priests, the whole tribe of Levi, shall have neither portion nor inheritance with Israel. The offerings of the Lord are their inheritance; they shall eat them.

18:2 And they shall have no inheritance among their brethren; the Lord Himself is his inheritance, as He spoke unto him.

18:3 And this shall be the priests' due from the people, from them that sacrifice a sacrifice, whether a calf or a sheep: they shall give unto the priest the foreleg, and the cheeks, and the stomach.

18:4 And you shall give unto him the firstfruits of your grain, and of your wine, and of your oil, and the first of the fleece of your sheep.

18:5 For the Lord your God has chosen him out of all your tribes, to stand before the Lord your God, to minister and to bless in His name, he and his sons among the sons of Israel.

18:6 And if a Levite comes from any of your cities, from among all the sons of Israel where he sojourns, according to the desire of his soul, unto the place which the Lord shall choose,

18:7 then he shall minister in the name of the Lord his God, as do all his brethren the Levites who stand there before the Lord.

18:8 He shall eat an allotted portion, apart from the sale according to his ancestral family.

Note 47: 47. Deuteronomy 18:8 • Meaning. "Apart from the sale according to his ancestral family" remains provisional because the compressed property clause is difficult. Brenton and KJV refer to sale of hereditary property; DRC describes what is due through succession from his fathers. Saints does not silently supply all the details of either interpretation. ↩ Verse 18:8

18:9 And when you enter the land which the Lord your God gives you, you shall not learn to do after the abominations of those nations.

18:10 There shall not be found among you one who purifies his son or his daughter by fire, or practises divination, or interprets spoken omens, or observes auguries, or works sorcery,

18:11 or chants spells, or is a medium, or observes portents, or inquires of the dead.

Note 48: 48. Deuteronomy 18:11 • Wording. "Medium" communicates the prohibited practice more clearly than the literal-sounding "ventriloquist," which now suggests an entertainer. The accompanying divination and inquiry of the dead remain distinct. This contextual term does not assert a modern explanation of the practice. ↩ Verse 18:11

18:12 For everyone who does these things is an abomination unto the Lord your God; for because of these abominations the Lord shall destroy them from before you.

18:13 You shall be perfect before the Lord your God.

18:14 For these nations whose possession you inherit hearken unto omens and divinations; but the Lord your God has not granted you so to do.

18:15 The Lord your God shall raise up unto you a prophet from among your brethren, like unto me; you shall hearken unto him,

18:16 according to all that you asked of the Lord your God in Horeb, in the day of the assembly, saying: We will no more hear the voice of the Lord our God, neither will we see this great fire any more, lest we die.

18:17 And the Lord said unto me: All that they have spoken is right.

18:18 I will raise up for them a prophet from among their brethren, like unto you, and will put My word in his mouth; and he shall speak unto them all that I command him.

Note 49: 49. Deuteronomy 18:18 • Text. The Greek has the singular "My word," while the comparisons use words. Preserve the singular and the promise to speak all that is commanded. Lower-case prophet and human pronouns leave later identification to a separate reception discussion. ↩ Verse 18:18

18:19 And the man who will not hearken unto whatsoever the prophet shall speak in My name, I will exact retribution from him.

18:20 But the prophet who shall act ungodly, speaking in My name a word which I commanded him not to speak, or who shall speak in the name of other gods, that prophet shall die.

18:21 And if you say in your heart: How shall we know the word which the Lord has not spoken?

18:22 Whatsoever the prophet speaks in the name of the Lord, if the word does not come to pass, nor is fulfilled, that is the word which the Lord has not spoken. That prophet has spoken in ungodliness; you shall not spare him.

Note 50: 50. Deuteronomy 18:22 • Meaning. Saints provisionally renders the Greek "ye shall not spare him," close to Brenton's spare, while KJV and DRC say not to fear him. "Hold back from him" is another way to expose the Greek expression. This disputed phrase warrants lexical review rather than an unmarked substitution. ↩ Verse 18:22

19:1 And when the Lord your God destroys the nations whose land your God gives you, and you inherit their possession, and dwell in their cities and in their houses,

19:2 you shall set apart three cities for yourself in the midst of your land which the Lord your God gives you.

19:3 Mark out the way for yourself, and divide into three parts the territory of your land which the Lord your God apportions unto you; and there shall be a refuge there for every slayer.

19:4 And this shall be the ordinance for the slayer who shall flee thither and live: whosoever strikes his neighbour unintentionally, having borne him no hatred aforetime,

Note 51: 51. Deuteronomy 19:4 • Wording. “Unintentionally” states the legal distinction plainly. Slayer is preferable to murderer before the case is judged, because the provision specifically concerns a killing without prior hatred. The refuge is not an indiscriminate exemption for every homicide. ↩ Verse 19:4

19:5 as when a man goes with his neighbour into the forest to gather wood, and his hand is jolted with the axe as he cuts the wood, and the iron slips from the wood and strikes his neighbour, so that he dies, he shall flee unto one of these cities and live;

19:6 lest the kinsman who avenges blood pursue the slayer while his heart is hot, and overtake him, if the way is long, and strike him mortally, so that he dies, though no sentence of death is due unto him, for he bore his neighbour no hatred aforetime.

19:7 Therefore I command you this thing, saying: You shall set apart three cities for yourself.

19:8 And if the Lord your God enlarges your borders, as He sware unto your fathers, and the Lord gives you all the land which He promised to give unto your fathers,

19:9 if you hearken to do all these commandments which I command you this day, to love the Lord your God, and to walk in all His ways all your days, then you shall add three cities more unto these three,

19:10 that innocent blood may not be shed in your land which the Lord your God gives you for a possession, and that there may be none guilty of blood among you.

19:11 But if a man hates his neighbour, and lies in wait for him, and rises up against him, and strikes him mortally, so that he dies, and flees unto one of these cities,

19:12 then the elders of his city shall send and take him thence, and deliver him into the hands of the kinsman who avenges blood, and he shall die.

19:13 Your eye shall not spare him; and you shall cleanse the guilt of innocent blood from Israel, and it shall be well with you.

19:14 You shall not remove your neighbour’s boundaries, which your fathers set in your inheritance, which was allotted unto you in the land which the Lord your God gives you for a possession.

19:15 One witness shall not suffice to testify against a man concerning any injustice, or any trespass, or any sin which he sins. At the mouth of two witnesses, and at the mouth of three witnesses, shall every matter be established.

19:16 And if an unrighteous witness rises up against a man, accusing him of ungodliness,

19:17 then the two men between whom is the dispute shall stand before the Lord, and before the priests, and before the judges who shall be in those days.

19:18 And the judges shall inquire diligently; and behold, if the unrighteous witness has testified falsely, and has stood against his brother,

19:19 then you shall do unto him as he wickedly purposed to do unto his brother; and you shall remove the evil one from among yourselves.

Note 52: 52. Deuteronomy 19:19 • Text. The earlier Saints verse omitted the final removal-of-evil clause. It is restored from the Greek. The shift from plural action against the false witness to singular “thou” and plural “yourselves” follows the source’s grammatical change. ↩ Verse 19:19

19:20 And those who remain shall hear and fear, and shall no more do such an evil thing among you.

19:21 Your eye shall not spare him: life for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.

Deuteronomy 20

20:1 And when you go forth unto war against your enemies, and see horse and rider and a people more numerous than you, you shall not fear them; for the Lord your God is with you, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt.

20:2 And it shall be, when you draw near unto battle, that the priest shall draw near and speak unto the people,

20:3 and shall say unto them: Hear, O Israel; you draw near this day unto battle against your enemies. Let not your heart faint; fear not, neither be broken, nor turn aside from before them.

20:4 For the Lord your God goes before you and with you, to fight with you against your enemies, to save you.

20:5 And the scribes shall speak unto the people, saying: What man has built a new house, and has not dedicated it? Let him go and return unto his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man dedicate it.

20:6 And what man has planted a vineyard, and has not enjoyed its fruit? Let him go and return unto his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man enjoy its fruit.

20:7 And what man has betrothed a wife, and has not taken her? Let him go and return unto his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man take her.

20:8 And the scribes shall speak further unto the people, and say: What man is fearful and faint of heart? Let him go and return unto his house, lest he make the heart of his brother faint, as his own.

20:9 And it shall be, when the scribes have finished speaking unto the people, that they shall appoint captains of the host to lead the people.

20:10 And when you draw near unto a city to fight against it, you shall call its people forth with an offer of peace.

20:11 And if they answer you peaceably, and open unto you, then all the people found therein shall pay you tribute, and be subject unto you.

20:12 But if they will not hearken unto you, and make war against you, you shall besiege it.

20:13 And the Lord your God shall deliver it into your hands, and you shall slay every male therein with the sword,

20:14 save the women and the dependent households. And you shall take as spoil unto yourself all the cattle, and all that is in the city, and all its goods; and you shall eat all the spoil of your enemies which the Lord your God gives you.

Note 53: 53. Deuteronomy 20:14 • Meaning. “Dependent households” provisionally conveys the human household group in this context. Rendering the word only as baggage would obscure persons; rendering it only as children narrows the category. The verse’s cattle and other spoil remain separately named. ↩ Verse 20:14

20:15 Thus you shall do unto all the cities which are very far from you, which are not of the cities of these nations.

20:16 But behold, of the cities of these nations, whose land the Lord your God gives you to inherit, you shall save alive nothing that breathes.

20:17 But you shall utterly devote them to destruction, the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, and the Girgashites, as the Lord your God commanded you,

20:18 lest they teach you to do all their abominations which they did unto their gods, and you sin before the Lord your God.

20:19 And if you besiege a city many days, to fight against it and take it, you shall not destroy its trees by laying iron against them; for you may eat of them, and shall not cut them down. Is the tree of the field a man, that it should enter the siege before you?

Note 54: 54. Deuteronomy 20:19 • Text. The Greek presents a question about whether the tree is a man to enter the siege. Saints preserves the question and its distinction between human combatants and fruit trees. KJV’s parenthetical assertion and DRC’s explanatory wording are different constructions. ↩ Verse 20:19 20:20 But the tree which you know bears no fruit for food, you may destroy and cut down, and build siegeworks against the city which makes war with you, until it is delivered up.

Deuteronomy 21

21:1 And if one is found slain in the land which the Lord your God gives you to inherit, lying in the field, and it is not known who smote him,

21:2 your elders and your judges shall go forth, and measure unto the cities round about the slain man.

21:3 And it shall be, that the elders of the city nearest unto the slain man shall take a heifer of the herd, which has not been worked, and which has not drawn in the yoke.

21:4 And the elders of that city shall bring down the heifer unto a rough ravine, which has not been tilled nor sown, and shall cut the sinews of the heifer in the ravine.

Note 55: 55. Deuteronomy 21:4 • Meaning. “Cut the sinews” is a provisional close rendering of the Greek verb; KJV has striking off the neck, DRC striking off the head, and Brenton slaying. The precise ritual action should receive further lexical review rather than be settled by familiar English wording alone. ↩ Verse 21:4

21:5 And the Levitical priests shall draw near, for the Lord your God has chosen them to stand before Him, and to bless in His name; and by their mouth shall every dispute and every injury be decided.

21:6 And all the elders of that city nearest unto the slain man shall wash their hands over the head of the heifer whose sinews were cut in the ravine,

21:7 and shall answer and say: Our hands have not shed this blood, neither have our eyes seen it.

21:8 Be merciful unto Thy people Israel, whom Thou hast redeemed, O Lord, out of the land of Egypt, that there be no guilt of innocent blood among Thy people Israel. And atonement shall be made for the blood on their behalf.

21:9 And you shall remove the guilt of innocent blood from among yourselves, if you do that which is good and pleasing before the Lord your God.

21:10 And when you go forth unto war against your enemies, and the Lord your God delivers them into your hands, and you take their spoil,

21:11 and see among the spoil a woman fair of countenance, and set your heart upon her, and would take her unto yourself for a wife,

21:12 then you shall bring her into your house, and shave her head, and pare her nails.

Note 56: 56. Deuteronomy 21:12 • Text. The Greek gives the shaving and nail-trimming verbs in the second person: the addressee performs them. KJV and DRC make the woman the acting subject. Saints preserves the Greek agency even though the legal setting is difficult. ↩ Verse 21:12

21:13 And you shall take from her the garments of her captivity; and she shall dwell in your house, and mourn her father and her mother a full month. And afterward you shall go in unto her, and dwell with her as husband, and she shall be your wife.

21:14 And it shall be, if you do not desire her, that you shall send her forth free; and she shall not be sold for silver. You shall not treat her with contempt, because you have humbled her.

21:15 And if a man has two wives, one loved and one hated, and both the loved and the hated bear him children, and the firstborn son is hers that is hated,

21:16 then it shall be, in the day when he gives his sons an inheritance of his possessions, that he may not make the son of the loved wife the firstborn, overlooking the firstborn son of the hated wife.

21:17 But he shall acknowledge the firstborn, the son of the hated wife, by giving him a double portion of all that he has; for he is the beginning of his children, and the right of the firstborn belongs unto him.

21:18 And if a man has a disobedient and rebellious son, who does not hearken unto the voice of his father or the voice of his mother, and they chasten him, but he does not hearken unto them,

21:19 then his father and his mother shall lay hold on him, and bring him forth unto the elders of his city, and unto the gate of his place.

21:20 And they shall say unto the men of their city: This our son is disobedient and rebellious; he does not hearken unto our voice; he carouses and is drunken.

21:21 And the men of his city shall stone him with stones, and he shall die; and you shall remove the evil one from among yourselves, and those who remain shall hear and fear.

21:22 And if there is in a man a sin deserving judgment of death, and he dies, and you hang him upon a tree,

21:23 his body shall not remain upon the tree overnight, but you shall surely bury him that day; for everyone who hangs upon a tree is cursed by God. And you shall not defile the land which the Lord your God gives you for a possession.

Note 57: 57. Deuteronomy 21:23 • Meaning. “Cursed by God” preserves the expressed agent. Read with verse 22, the hanging follows execution; the passage does not itself specify crucifixion. “Tree” keeps the traditional concrete term without narrowing the wooden support beyond the source. ↩ Verse 21:23

22:1 You shall not see your brother’s calf or his sheep wandering in the way, and disregard them; you shall surely bring them back unto your brother, and restore them unto him.

22:2 And if your brother is not near you, and you do not know him, you shall gather them into your house, and they shall be with you until your brother seeks them; and you shall restore them unto him.

22:3 So you shall do with his donkey, and so you shall do with his garment, and so you shall do with every lost thing of your brother, whatsoever he has lost and you have found; you may not disregard it.

22:4 You shall not see your brother’s donkey or his calf fallen in the way, and disregard them; you shall surely raise them up with him.

22:5 A woman shall not have a man’s equipment upon her, neither shall a man put on a woman’s robe; for everyone who does these things is an abomination unto the Lord your God.

22:6 And if you come upon a bird’s nest before you in the way, in any tree or upon the ground, with young birds or eggs, and the mother sitting upon the young or upon the eggs, you shall not take the mother with the young.

22:7 You shall surely let the mother go, but the young you may take unto yourself, that it may be well with you, and that your days may be long.

22:8 And when you build a new house, you shall make a parapet for your roof, that you do not cause bloodshed in your house, if anyone falls from it.

Note 58: 58. Deuteronomy 22:8 • Wording. “Parapet” accurately names the protective barrier around a roof. KJV’s battlement may suggest a fortified castle, while DRC’s battlement likewise needs explanation. The verse’s purpose is to prevent a fall and the resulting bloodguilt. ↩ Verse 22:8

22:9 You shall not sow your vineyard with a different crop, lest the produce and the seed which you sow, together with the produce of your vineyard, become consecrated.

Note 59: 59. Deuteronomy 22:9 • Text. The Greek says the produce becomes consecrated, where KJV speaks of defilement and DRC of sanctification together. Saints keeps the Greek holiness verb. The legal result of that status is an interpretive matter and should not be reversed by an English gloss. ↩ Verse 22:9

22:10 You shall not plough with a calf and a donkey together.

22:11 You shall not wear a mingled fabric, wool and linen together.

22:12 You shall make twisted tassels upon the four edges of your outer garments wherewith you cover yourself.

22:13 And if a man takes a wife, and dwells with her as husband, and hates her,

22:14 and brings charges against her as a pretext, and gives her an evil name, and says: I took this woman, and when I came unto her, I did not find the tokens of her virginity, 22:15 then the father of the young woman and her mother shall take and bring forth the tokens of her virginity unto the elders at the gate.

22:16 And the father of the young woman shall say unto the elders: I gave this my daughter unto this man for a wife, and he has hated her;

22:17 and behold, he brings charges against her as a pretext, saying: I did not find the tokens of your daughter’s virginity. Yet these are the tokens of my daughter’s virginity. And they shall spread the garment before the elders of the city.

22:18 And the elders of that city shall take that man and chasten him.

22:19 And they shall fine him a hundred shekels, and give them unto the father of the young woman, because he has brought an evil name upon a virgin of Israel; and she shall be his wife, and he may not put her away all his days.

22:20 But if this matter is true, and the tokens of the young woman’s virginity are not found,

22:21 then they shall bring forth the young woman unto the doors of her father’s house, and the men of her city shall stone her with stones, and she shall die; for she has wrought folly among the sons of Israel, bringing harlotry into her father’s house. And you shall remove the evil one from among yourselves.

Note 60: 60. Deuteronomy 22:21 • Text. The final command to remove the evil one was absent from the earlier Saints verse and is restored. The revision also retains the location, agents, and grounds stated in the ancient law. The language is neither abbreviated nor expanded into a contemporary rule. ↩ Verse 22:21

22:22 And if a man is found lying with a woman married unto a husband, you shall put both of them to death, the man who lay with the woman, and the woman; and you shall remove the evil one from Israel.

Note 61: 61. Deuteronomy 22:22 • Text. The closing removal-of-evil clause is restored here as well. The male and female subjects and the death provision remain explicit. Repeated legal conclusions are part of the source’s structure and are not editorial duplication. ↩ Verse 22:22

22:23 And if a young woman, a virgin, is betrothed unto a man, and a man finds her in the city and lies with her,

22:24 you shall bring both of them forth unto the gate of their city, and they shall be stoned with stones and shall die: the young woman, because she did not cry out in the city, and the man, because he violated his neighbour’s wife. And you shall remove the evil one from among yourselves.

22:25 But if a man finds the betrothed young woman in the field, and forces her and lies with her, you shall put to death only the man who lay with her.

22:26 And unto the young woman you shall do nothing; there is in her no sin deserving death. For as when a man rises against his neighbour and slays him, so is this matter.

22:27 For he found her in the field; the betrothed young woman cried out, and there was none to help her.

22:28 And if a man finds a young woman, a virgin who is not betrothed, and forces her and lies with her, and he is found out,

Note 62: 62. Deuteronomy 22:28 • Meaning. The Greek uses the same force verb here as at 22:25. “Force her and lie with her” preserves that agency; “seduce” would soften it into a different account of consent. The distinct legal settings in the two cases still require attention. ↩ Verse 22:28

22:29 the man who lay with her shall give unto the father of the young woman fifty silver didrachmas, and she shall be his wife, because he violated her; he may not put her away all his days.

Note 63: 63. Deuteronomy 22:29 • Text. The Greek specifies fifty silver didrachmas, as Brenton also does; KJV and DRC have shekels. Saints keeps the source’s unit without equating it with modern money. The ensuing marriage and prohibition of divorce remain part of the verse. ↩ Verse 22:29

Deuteronomy 23

23:1 A man shall not take his father’s wife or uncover his father’s covering.

23:2 He whose testicles are crushed, or whose organ is cut off, shall not enter the assembly of the Lord.

23:3 One born of a prostitute shall not enter the assembly of the Lord.

Note 64: 64. Deuteronomy 23:3 • Text. The Greek specifies one born of a prostitute and does not include a tenth-generation clause in this verse. KJV uses bastard and adds that clause; DRC explains mamzer and also includes it. The separate provision in the following verse must not be imported here. ↩ Verse 23:3

23:4 An Ammonite or a Moabite shall not enter the assembly of the Lord; even unto the tenth generation he shall not enter the assembly of the Lord, even for ever,

23:5 because they did not meet you with bread and water in the way, when you came forth out of Egypt, and because they hired against you Balaam son of Beor, from Mesopotamia, to curse you.

23:6 And the Lord your God would not hearken unto Balaam; and the Lord your God turned the curses into a blessing, because the Lord your God loved you.

23:7 You shall not speak peace unto them, nor seek their advantage, all your days for ever.

23:8 You shall not abhor an Edomite, for he is your brother; you shall not abhor an Egyptian, for you were a resident alien in his land.

23:9 The sons born unto them shall enter the assembly of the Lord in the third generation.

23:10 And when you go forth to encamp against your enemies, you shall keep yourself from every evil thing.

23:11 If there is among you a man who is not clean by reason of a discharge in the night, he shall go forth outside the camp, and shall not enter the camp.

23:12 And it shall be, toward evening, that he shall wash his body with water; and when the sun is set, he shall enter the camp.

23:13 And you shall have a place outside the camp, whither you shall go forth.

23:14 And you shall have a peg upon your belt; and when you squat outside, you shall dig therewith, and turn and cover your excrement with it.

Note 65: 65. Deuteronomy 23:14 • Wording. “Excrement” identifies what the implement covers in the camp-sanitation context. Greek uses a word for unseemliness; KJV has “that which cometh from thee.” The consulted DRC divides the sentence across 23:13–14, both compared. A precise modern noun improves comprehension without changing the action. ↩ Verse 23:14

23:15 For the Lord your God walks in the midst of your camp, to deliver you, and to give your enemy before you; therefore your camp shall be holy, that no indecent thing be seen among you, and He turn away from you.

23:16 You shall not deliver unto his master a slave who has come unto you from his master.

23:17 He shall dwell with you; he shall dwell among you in any place that pleases him. You shall not afflict him.

23:18 There shall be no prostitute among the daughters of Israel, neither shall there be one who practises prostitution among the sons of Israel. There shall be no woman who performs initiation rites among the daughters of Israel, neither shall there be an initiated man among the sons of Israel.

Note 66: 66. Deuteronomy 23:18 • Meaning. The earlier Saints text omitted the second pair of prohibitions. They are restored, provisionally rendered as a woman performing initiation rites and an initiated man. Brenton preserves both clauses as idolatress and initiated person; the KJV and DRC counterpart lacks them. The ritual vocabulary remains open to lexical review. ↩ Verse 23:18

23:19 You shall not bring the hire of a prostitute, nor the price of a dog, into the house of the Lord your God for any vow; for both are an abomination unto the Lord your God.

Note 67: 67. Deuteronomy 23:19 • Meaning. “Price of a dog” preserves the concrete Greek noun. Identifying dog here with a particular class of human ritual participant would be an interpretation, not a transparent translation. The note therefore leaves the image intact alongside the wages provision. ↩ Verse 23:19

23:20 You shall not charge your brother interest on silver, nor interest on food, nor interest on anything which you lend.

Note 68: 68. Deuteronomy 23:20 • Wording. “Interest” is clearer than usury, which in current English often means only an excessive or unlawful rate. The Greek prohibition concerns interest on the named loans to a brother. Its contrast with the foreigner in the following verse remains visible. ↩ Verse 23:20

23:21 Unto a foreigner you may lend at interest, but unto your brother you shall not lend at interest; that the Lord your God may bless you in all your works upon the land whither you go to inherit it.

23:22 And if you vow a vow unto the Lord your God, you shall not delay to pay it; for the Lord your God shall surely require it of you, and there shall be sin upon you.

23:23 But if you do not desire to vow, there is no sin upon you.

23:24 That which proceeds through your lips you shall keep and do, as you have vowed a gift unto the Lord your God, which you have spoken with your mouth.

23:25 And if you enter your neighbour’s harvest, you may gather heads of grain with your hands; but you shall not put a sickle unto your neighbour’s harvest.

Note 69: 69. Deuteronomy 23:25 • Wording. “Heads of grain” and “sickle” state the harvesting distinction clearly; corn can be read as maize today. Greek and Brenton put this before the vineyard rule in 23:26, while KJV and DRC put the vineyard rule at 23:24 and the grain rule at 23:25. ↩ Verse 23:25

23:26 And if you enter your neighbour’s vineyard, you may eat grapes until your soul is filled; but you shall put none in a vessel.

Deuteronomy 24

24:1 And if a man takes a wife and dwells with her as husband, and she finds no favour in his sight, because he has found some unseemly thing in her, and he writes her a certificate of divorce, and gives it into her hands, and sends her forth out of his house,

Note 70: 70. Deuteronomy 24:1 • Meaning. Verses 1–4 form a legal condition leading to the prohibition on the former husband taking the woman back. The opening is not an independent command to divorce. Saints keeps the conditional sequence and the document of separation distinct from its later consequences. ↩ Verse 24:1

24:2 and she departs and becomes another man’s wife,

24:3 and the latter husband hates her, and writes her a certificate of divorce, and gives it into her hands, and sends her forth out of his house, or if the latter husband who took her to be his wife dies,

24:4 her former husband, who sent her away, may not take her again to be his wife, after she has been defiled; for it is an abomination before the Lord your God. And you shall not defile the land which the Lord your God gives you for a possession.

24:5 And if a man has newly taken a wife, he shall not go forth unto war, neither shall any duty be laid upon him. He shall be free in his house one year, and shall gladden his wife whom he has taken.

24:6 You shall not take a mill or its upper stone in pledge, for he who does so takes a life in pledge.

24:7 And if a man is caught stealing one of his brethren, of the sons of Israel, and he subjugates him and sells him, that thief shall die; and you shall remove the evil one from among yourselves.

24:8 Take heed unto yourself concerning the affliction of leprosy. You shall take diligent heed to do according to all the law which the Levitical priests shall declare unto you; as I commanded you, take heed to do.

24:9 Remember what the Lord your God did unto Miriam in the way, when you came forth out of Egypt.

24:10 If your neighbour owes a debt, any debt whatsoever, you shall not enter his house to take his pledge.

24:11 You shall stand outside, and the man who owes you the loan shall bring forth the pledge unto you.

24:12 And if the man is poor, you shall not sleep with his pledge in your keeping.

24:13 You shall surely restore his pledge at the setting of the sun, that he may sleep in his garment and bless you; and it shall be mercy unto you before the Lord your God.

Note 71: 71. Deuteronomy 24:13 • Text. “Mercy” follows the Greek noun, also used in 6:25, where KJV again uses righteousness. Returning the pledged garment is the concrete action at issue. Saints preserves both the legal provision and its theological description. ↩ Verse 24:13

24:14 You shall not withhold the wages of the poor and needy, whether of your brethren or of the sojourners within your cities.

24:15 On the same day you shall pay his wages; the sun shall not go down upon them, for he is poor and sets his hope upon them; lest he cry against you unto the Lord, and there be sin upon you.

24:16 Fathers shall not die for children, and sons shall not die for fathers. Each shall die for his own sin.

24:17 You shall not pervert the judgment of the sojourner, or of the orphan, or of the widow; neither shall you take a widow’s garment in pledge.

24:18 And you shall remember that you were a household slave in the land of Egypt, and the Lord your God redeemed you thence; therefore I command you to do this thing.

24:19 And when you reap your harvest in your field, and forget a sheaf in your field, you shall not return to take it. It shall be for the poor, and for the sojourner, and for the orphan, and for the widow; that the Lord your God may bless you in all the works of your hands.

24:20 And when you gather your olives, you shall not return to glean what remains behind you. It shall be for the sojourner, and for the orphan, and for the widow. And you shall remember that you were a household slave in the land of Egypt; therefore I command you to do this thing.

Note 72: 72. Deuteronomy 24:20 • Text. The earlier Saints verse omitted the reminder of slavery in Egypt. The full clause is restored. A related reminder occurs again at 24:22; repetition is retained rather than treated as a reason to suppress the earlier occurrence. ↩ Verse 24:20 24:21 And when you gather the grapes of your vineyard, you shall not glean it afterward; it shall be for the sojourner, and for the orphan, and for the widow.

24:22 And you shall remember that you were a household slave in the land of Egypt; therefore I command you to do this thing.

Deuteronomy 25

25:1 And if there is a dispute between men, and they come unto judgment, and the judges judge them, and justify the righteous, and condemn the ungodly,

25:2 then it shall be, if the ungodly man is worthy of stripes, that you shall seat him before the judges, and they shall scourge him before them, by number according to his ungodliness.

Note 73: 73. Deuteronomy 25:2 • Text. The Greek says to seat the offender before the beating, whereas KJV and DRC have him laid down. Saints preserves the action in its governing text and the later limit on blows; familiar procedure is not a sufficient reason to change the verb. ↩ Verse 25:2

25:3 They shall give him forty stripes, and shall not add thereto; lest, if they add more stripes beyond these, your brother be dishonoured before you.

25:4 You shall not muzzle an ox when it treads out the grain.

Note 74: 74. Deuteronomy 25:4 • Wording. “Thou shalt not muzzle an ox when it treadeth out the grain” retains the clear traditional command and supplies grain as the threshing object. Corn is avoided because its ordinary regional meaning can obscure the ancient crop. ↩ Verse 25:4

25:5 And if brethren dwell together, and one of them dies, and has no seed, the wife of the dead shall not be married outside unto a man who is not near of kin. Her husband's brother shall go in unto her, and take her unto himself for a wife, and dwell with her as husband.

25:6 And it shall be, that the child whom she bears shall be established in the name of the dead, and his name shall not be blotted out of Israel.

Note 75: 75. Deuteronomy 25:6 • Text. The Greek says "the child," without an explicit firstborn in this verse. KJV and DRC specify firstborn. Saints retains the source's broader noun while preserving the succession to the dead brother's name. ↩ Verse 25:6

25:7 And if the man will not take his brother's wife, the woman shall go up unto the gate, unto the elders, and say: My husband's brother will not raise up his brother's name in Israel; my husband's brother has refused.

25:8 And the elders of his city shall call him, and speak unto him; and if he stands and says: I will not take her,

25:9 then his brother's wife shall draw near before the elders, and loose one sandal from his foot, and spit in his face, and answer and say: Thus shall they do unto the man who will not build up his brother's house.

25:10 And his name shall be called in Israel: The House of Him Whose Sandal Was Loosed.

25:11 And if men strive together, a man with his brother, and the wife of one draws near to deliver her husband out of the hand of him that strikes him, and puts forth her hand, and seizes his testicles, 25:12 you shall cut off her hand; your eye shall not spare her.

25:13 You shall not have in your pouch differing weights, a great and a small.

25:14 You shall not have in your house differing measures, a great and a small.

25:15 You shall have a true and just weight, and you shall have a true and just measure, that your days may be long upon the land which the Lord your God gives you for a possession.

25:16 For everyone who does these things, everyone who does injustice, is an abomination unto the Lord your God.

25:17 Remember what Amalek did unto you in the way, when you came forth out of Egypt,

25:18 how he withstood you in the way, and smote your rear, those who were weary behind you, when you were hungry and weary; and he did not fear God.

25:19 And it shall be, when the Lord your God gives you rest from all your enemies round about you, in the land which the Lord your God gives you for a possession to inherit, that you shall blot out the name of Amalek from under heaven. You shall not forget.

Deuteronomy 26

26:1 And it shall be, when you enter the land which the Lord your God gives you for a possession, and inherit it, and dwell therein,

26:2 that you shall take of the firstfruits of the produce of your land which the Lord your God gives you, and put it in a basket, and go unto the place which the Lord your God shall choose for His name to be called upon there.

26:3 And you shall come unto the priest who shall be in those days, and say unto him: I declare this day unto the Lord my God, that I have come into the land which the Lord sware unto our fathers to give us.

26:4 And the priest shall take the basket out of your hands, and set it before the altar of the Lord your God.

26:5 And you shall answer and say before the Lord your God: My father forsook Syria, and went down into Egypt, and sojourned there, few in number; and there he became a great nation, and a multitude numerous and great.

Note 76: 76. Deuteronomy 26:5 • Text. "My father forsook Syria" follows the Greek construction with Syria as object. KJV's Syrian ready to perish and DRC's Syrian pursuing the father reflect different construals. The note records the difference without merging the three narratives. ↩ Verse 26:5

26:6 And the Egyptians afflicted us, and humbled us, and laid hard labours upon us.

26:7 And we cried unto the Lord, the God of our fathers; and the Lord heard our voice, and saw our humiliation, and our toil, and our distress.

26:8 And the Lord Himself brought us forth out of Egypt with great strength, and with a mighty hand, and with His uplifted arm, and with great visions, and with signs, and with wonders.

26:9 And He brought us unto this place, and gave us this land, a land flowing with milk and honey.

26:10 And now, behold, I have brought the firstfruits of the produce of the land which Thou hast given me, O Lord, a land flowing with milk and honey. And you shall set them before the Lord your God, and bow down there before the Lord your God.

26:11 And you shall rejoice in all the good things which the Lord your God has given unto you and unto your house, you, and the Levite, and the sojourner among you.

26:12 And when you have finished tithing all the tithe of the produce of your land in the third year, you shall give the second tithe unto the Levite, and unto the sojourner, and unto the orphan, and unto the widow; and they shall eat within your cities and be filled.

Note 77: 77. Deuteronomy 26:12 • Text. The Greek expressly names the second tithe. KJV and DRC do not use that expression here. Saints keeps it without trying to solve the relation among all biblical tithe provisions inside the verse. ↩ Verse 26:12

26:13 And you shall say before the Lord your God: I have cleared the holy things out of my house, and have given them unto the Levite, and unto the sojourner, and unto the orphan, and unto the widow, according to all Thy commandments which Thou hast commanded me. I have not transgressed Thy commandment, neither have I forgotten it.

26:14 And I have not eaten thereof in my mourning, neither have I offered thereof for an unclean use, nor given thereof unto the dead. I have hearkened unto the voice of the Lord my God; I have done according to all that Thou hast commanded me.

Note 78: 78. Deuteronomy 26:14 • Meaning. “Offered thereof for an unclean use” is a provisional construal of the Greek offering verb and its complement. The comparisons express related but differing ideas of uncleanness. The following reference to the dead remains explicit, without an added theory about a particular funeral rite. ↩ Verse 26:14

26:15 Look down from Thy holy house, from heaven, and bless Thy people Israel, and the land which Thou hast given them, as Thou didst swear unto our fathers to give us a land flowing with milk and honey.

26:16 This day the Lord your God has commanded you to do all these ordinances and judgments; and you shall keep and do them with all your heart and with all your soul.

26:17 You have chosen God this day to be your God, and to walk in His ways, and to keep His ordinances and His judgments, and to hearken unto His voice.

26:18 And the Lord has chosen you this day to be unto Him a people for His own possession, as He has spoken unto you, to keep all His commandments,

26:19 and to be above all the nations, as He has made you renowned, and a boast, and glorious, that you should be a holy people unto the Lord your God, as He has spoken.

Deuteronomy 27

27:1 And Moses and the elders of Israel commanded, saying: Keep all these commandments which I command you this day.

27:2 And it shall be, in the day when you pass over the Jordan into the land which the Lord your God gives you, that you shall set up great stones for yourself, and plaster them with plaster.

27:3 And you shall write upon the stones all the words of this law, when you pass over the Jordan, when you enter the land which the Lord, the God of your fathers, gives you, a land flowing with milk and honey, as the Lord, the God of your fathers, has spoken unto you.

27:4 And it shall be, when you pass over the Jordan, that you shall set up these stones, which I command you this day, upon Mount Ebal; and you shall plaster them with plaster.

27:5 And you shall build there an altar unto the Lord your God, an altar of stones; you shall lay no iron upon them.

27:6 You shall build an altar of whole stones unto the Lord your God, and you shall offer thereon whole burnt offerings unto the Lord your God.

27:7 And you shall sacrifice there a sacrifice of deliverance unto the Lord your God, and eat, and be filled, and rejoice before the Lord your God.

27:8 And you shall write upon the stones all this law very plainly.

27:9 And Moses and the Levitical priests spoke unto all Israel, saying: Keep silence, and hear, O Israel; this day you have become a people unto the Lord your God.

27:10 And you shall hearken unto the voice of the Lord your God, and do all His commandments and His ordinances which I command you this day.

27:11 And Moses commanded the people in that day, saying:

27:12 These shall stand on Mount Gerizim to bless the people after crossing the Jordan: Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Joseph, and Benjamin.

27:13 And these shall stand on Mount Ebal for the curse: Reuben, Gad, Asher, Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali.

27:14 And the Levites shall answer and say unto all Israel with a loud voice:

27:15 Cursed is the man who makes a graven and molten image, an abomination unto the Lord, the work of the hands of a craftsman, and sets it in a secret place. And all the people shall answer and say: So be it.

Note 79: 79. Deuteronomy 27:15 • Wording. “So be it” renders the Greek response, as Brenton does, and preserves its repeated congregational force throughout the curses. KJV and DRC have Amen. Saints also keeps the Greek conjunction joining graven and molten, as DRC does, where Brenton and KJV have or. ↩ Verse 27:15

27:16 Cursed is he who dishonours his father or his mother. And all the people shall say: So be it.

27:17 Cursed is he who removes his neighbour’s boundaries. And all the people shall say: So be it.

27:18 Cursed is he who leads the blind astray in the way. And all the people shall say: So be it.

27:19 Cursed is he who perverts the judgment of the sojourner, and of the orphan, and of the widow. And all the people shall say: So be it.

27:20 Cursed is he who lies with his father’s wife, for he has uncovered his father’s covering. And all the people shall say: So be it.

27:21 Cursed is he who lies with any beast. And all the people shall say: So be it.

27:22 Cursed is he who lies with his sister, the daughter of his father or of his mother. And all the people shall say: So be it.

27:23 Cursed is he who lies with his mother-in-law. And all the people shall say: So be it. Cursed is he who lies with his wife’s sister. And all the people shall say: So be it.

Note 80: 80. Deuteronomy 27:23 • Text. The Greek contains two curses: intercourse with the mother-in-law and with the wife’s sister. Brenton preserves two clauses but prints daughter-in-law in the first. KJV and DRC have the mother-in-law clause only. Both Greek curses and both responses remain in Saints. ↩ Verse 27:23

27:24 Cursed is he who strikes his neighbour treacherously. And all the people shall say: So be it.

27:25 Cursed is he who takes a bribe to slay an innocent life. And all the people shall say: So be it.

27:26 Cursed is every man who does not continue in all the words of this law, to do them. And all the people shall say: So be it.

Deuteronomy 28

28:1 And it shall be, when you pass over the Jordan into the land which the Lord your God gives you, if you diligently hearken unto the voice of the Lord your God, to keep and do all His commandments which I command you this day, that the Lord your God shall set you above all the nations of the earth.

Note 81: 81. Deuteronomy 28:1 • Text. The Greek opens with crossing the Jordan into the land before the condition of obedience. This fuller opening is retained rather than shortened to the KJV or DRC form. The plural crossing followed by singular address also remains. ↩ Verse 28:1

28:2 And all these blessings shall come upon you, and find you, if you diligently hearken unto the voice of the Lord your God.

28:3 Blessed are you in the city, and blessed are you in the field.

28:4 Blessed are the offspring of your womb, and the produce of your land, the herds of your cattle, and the flocks of your sheep.

28:5 Blessed are your storehouses and your reserves.

28:6 Blessed are you when you come in, and blessed are you when you go out.

28:7 The Lord your God deliver your enemies who rise against you, crushed before your face. By one way shall they come out against you, and by seven ways shall they flee before you.

Note 82: 82. Deuteronomy 28:7 • Meaning. “The Lord thy God deliver” preserves the force of a wish, as does Brenton’s “The Lord deliver.” Related optatives recur in the chapter’s blessings and curses. “Delivereth” would make an assertion, while a uniform “shall deliver” would hide the form of invocation. ↩ Verse 28:7

28:8 The Lord send His blessing upon you in your storerooms, and in all that you put your hand unto, upon the land which the Lord your God gives you.

28:9 The Lord your God establish you unto Himself a holy people, as He sware unto your fathers, if you hearken unto the voice of the Lord your God, and walk in His ways.

28:10 And all the nations of the earth shall see that the name of the Lord is called upon you, and they shall fear you.

28:11 And the Lord your God shall multiply you in good things, in the offspring of your womb, and in the produce of your land, and in the offspring of your cattle, upon the land which the Lord sware unto your fathers to give you.

28:12 The Lord open unto you His good treasure, heaven, to give rain unto your land in its season, and to bless all the works of your hands. And you shall lend unto many nations, but you shall not borrow; and you shall rule over many nations, but they shall not rule over you.

28:13 The Lord your God make you the head, and not the tail; and you shall be above, and not beneath, if you hearken unto the commandments of the Lord your God which I command you this day to keep and do.

28:14 You shall not turn aside from any of the words which I command you this day, to the right hand or to the left, to go after other gods and serve them.

28:15 And it shall be, if you do not hearken unto the voice of the Lord your God, to keep and do all His commandments which I command you this day, that all these curses shall come upon you, and overtake you.

28:16 Cursed are you in the city, and cursed are you in the field.

28:17 Cursed are your storehouses and your reserves.

28:18 Cursed are the offspring of your womb, and the produce of your land, the herds of your cattle, and the flocks of your sheep.

28:19 Cursed are you when you go out, and cursed are you when you come in.

28:20 The Lord send upon you want, and famine, and wasting, in all that you put your hand unto, whatsoever you do, until He destroys you, and causes you to perish speedily, because of your evil practices, because you have forsaken Me.

28:21 The Lord make death cleave unto you, until He consumes you from the land whither you go to inherit it.

28:22 The Lord smite you with destitution, and fever, and chills, and inflammation, and slaughter, and wind blight, and pallor; and they shall pursue you until they destroy you.

Note 83: 83. Deuteronomy 28:22 • Meaning. The list of afflictions remains difficult. Destitution, fever, chills, inflammation, slaughter, windblight, and pallor are provisional contextual renderings; they do not certify modern diagnoses. The differences among the historical lists show why familiar disease names should not settle each Greek term. ↩ Verse 28:22

28:23 And the heaven above your head shall be bronze, and the earth beneath you iron.

28:24 The Lord give dust for the rain of your land; and earth shall descend upon you from heaven, until He wears you away, and until He destroys you.

28:25 The Lord give you over to slaughter before your enemies. You shall go forth by one way against them, and you shall flee by seven ways before them; and you shall be scattered among all the kingdoms of the earth.

28:26 And your dead shall be food for the birds of heaven, and for the beasts of the earth; and there shall be none to drive them away.

28:27 The Lord smite you with the Egyptian ulcer upon the buttocks, and with grievous scab, and with itching, so that you cannot be healed.

Note 84: 84. Deuteronomy 28:27 • Meaning. The Greek locates the Egyptian ulcer upon the buttocks and adds scab and itching. The concrete location is preserved instead of an obscure term such as emerods. These are ancient affliction terms, not retrospective clinical diagnoses. ↩ Verse 28:27

28:28 The Lord smite you with madness, and with blindness, and with bewilderment of mind.

28:29 And you shall grope at noonday, as the blind gropes in darkness, and He shall not prosper your ways; and you shall be wronged and plundered all your days, and there shall be none to help you.

28:30 You shall take a wife, and another man shall have her; you shall build a house, and shall not dwell therein; you shall plant a vineyard, and shall not gather its fruit.

28:31 Your calf shall be slaughtered before your eyes, and you shall not eat thereof; your donkey shall be seized from you, and shall not be restored unto you; your sheep shall be given unto your enemies, and there shall be none to help you.

28:32 Your sons and your daughters shall be given unto another nation, and your eyes shall look upon them and waste away; and your hand shall have no strength.

28:33 A nation which you do not know shall consume the yield of your land and all your labours; and you shall be wronged and crushed all your days.

28:34 And you shall be driven mad by the sights which your eyes shall see.

28:35 The Lord smite you upon the knees and upon the legs with a grievous ulcer, so that you cannot be healed, from the soles of your feet unto the crown of your head.

28:36 The Lord lead you, and your rulers whom you shall set over yourself, unto a nation which neither you nor your fathers have known; and there you shall serve other gods, wood and stone.

28:37 And there you shall become a riddle, and a parable, and a tale among all the nations whither the Lord shall lead you.

28:38 You shall carry much seed into the field, and gather little; for the locust shall devour it.

28:39 You shall plant a vineyard and dress it, but shall neither drink wine nor rejoice in it; for the worm shall devour it.

28:40 You shall have olive trees throughout all your borders, but shall not anoint yourself with oil; for your olives shall fall away.

28:41 You shall beget sons and daughters, but they shall not be yours; for they shall go into captivity.

28:42 Blight shall consume all your trees and the produce of your land.

28:43 The sojourner who is among you shall rise above you higher and higher; but you shall descend lower and lower.

28:44 He shall lend unto you, but you shall not lend unto him; he shall be the head, and you shall be the tail.

28:45 And all these curses shall come upon you, and pursue you, and overtake you, until He destroys you, and until He causes you to perish; for you did not hearken unto the voice of the Lord your God, to keep His commandments and His ordinances which He commanded you.

28:46 And they shall be signs and wonders upon you and upon your seed for ever,

28:47 because you did not serve the Lord your God with gladness and a good heart, for the abundance of all things.

28:48 And you shall serve your enemies whom the Lord shall send against you, in hunger, and in thirst, and in nakedness, and in want of all things; and He shall put an iron collar upon your neck, until He destroys you.

28:49 The Lord shall bring against you a nation from afar, from the end of the earth, as the swooping of an eagle, a nation whose speech you shall not understand,

28:50 a nation shameless of countenance, which shall not regard the face of the aged, nor have mercy upon the young.

28:51 And it shall consume the offspring of your cattle and the produce of your land, leaving you neither grain, nor wine, nor oil, nor the herds of your cattle, nor the flocks of your sheep, until it destroys you.

28:52 And it shall wear you down in all your cities, until your high and fortified walls wherein you trust are cast down throughout all your land; and it shall afflict you in all your cities which the Lord your God has given you.

28:53 And you shall eat the offspring of your womb, the flesh of your sons and of your daughters whom the Lord your God has given you, in your straitness and in your distress wherewith your enemy shall afflict you.

28:54 The tender and most delicate man among you shall look grudgingly upon his brother, and the wife of his bosom, and the children who remain unto him,

28:55 begrudging any of them the flesh of his children which he eats, because nothing is left unto him, in your straitness and in your distress wherewith your enemies shall afflict you in all your cities.

28:56 And the tender and most delicate woman among you, whose foot has never ventured to tread upon the earth because of her delicacy and tenderness, shall look grudgingly upon the husband of her bosom, and her son, and her daughter,

28:57 and upon her afterbirth which comes forth from between her thighs, and the child whom she bears; for she shall eat them secretly for want of all things, in your straitness and in your distress wherewith your enemy shall afflict you in all your cities.

Note 85: 85. Deuteronomy 28:57 • Meaning. “Afterbirth” makes the siege passage’s bodily reference clear. The severe content is retained, including secrecy and deprivation, because euphemism or omission would change what the curse describes. DRC’s afterbirth likewise offers a clear modern connection. ↩ Verse 28:57

28:58 If you do not hearken to do all the words of this law written in this book, to fear this honoured and wondrous name, the Lord your God,

28:59 then the Lord shall make your plagues and the plagues of your seed extraordinary, plagues great and astonishing, and diseases grievous and enduring.

28:60 And He shall bring back upon you all the grievous suffering of Egypt which you dreaded; and they shall cleave unto you.

28:61 And every infirmity, and every plague which is not written in the book of this law, shall the Lord bring upon you, until He destroys you.

28:62 And you shall be left few in number, whereas you were as the stars of heaven in multitude, because you did not hearken unto the voice of the Lord your God.

28:63 And it shall be, as the Lord rejoiced over you to do you good and to multiply you, so shall the Lord rejoice over you to destroy you; and you shall be removed from the land whither you go to inherit it.

28:64 And the Lord your God shall scatter you among all the nations, from one end of the earth unto the other; and there you shall serve other gods, wood and stone, which neither you nor your fathers have known.

28:65 And among those nations He shall give you no rest, neither shall there be a resting place for the sole of your foot; and the Lord shall give you there a faint heart, and failing eyes, and a wasting soul.

28:66 And your life shall hang before your eyes, and you shall fear day and night, and shall have no assurance of your life.

28:67 In the morning you shall say: Would that it were evening! And at evening you shall say: Would that it were morning! Because of the fear of your heart wherewith you shall fear, and the sights of your eyes which you shall see.

28:68 And the Lord shall bring you back into Egypt in ships, and by the way whereof I said: You shall see it no more. And there shall you be sold unto your enemies for male slaves and female slaves, and there shall be none to buy.

28:69 These are the words of the covenant which the Lord commanded Moses to establish with the sons of Israel in the land of Moab, besides the covenant which He made with them in Horeb.

Note 86: 86. Deuteronomy 28:69 • Text. The Greek places this covenant heading at 28:69. Brenton, KJV, and DRC place it at 29:1. Consequently Greek 29:1–28 corresponds to their 29:2–29; the reading text does not have a missing verse. ↩ Verse 28:69

Deuteronomy 29

29:1 And Moses called all the sons of Israel, and said unto them, You have seen all that the Lord did in the land of Egypt before you unto Pharaoh, and unto his servants, and unto all his land:

29:2 the great trials which your eyes have seen, the signs, and those great wonders.

29:3 And the Lord God has not given you a heart to know, and eyes to see, and ears to hear, unto this day.

29:4 And He led you forty years in the wilderness; your garments did not grow old, and your sandals did not wear away from your feet.

29:5 You ate no bread, and drank no wine or strong drink, that you might know that He is the Lord your God.

29:6 And you came unto this place; and Sihon king of Heshbon and Og king of Bashan came out to meet us in battle, and we smote them.

29:7 And we took their land, and I gave it as an inheritance unto Reuben, and unto Gad, and unto the half tribe of Manasseh.

29:8 And you shall take heed to do all the words of this covenant, that you may understand all that you shall do.

Note 87: 87. Deuteronomy 29:8 • Meaning. “Understand” preserves the Greek verb, also reflected in Brenton and DRC. KJV speaks of prospering in what is done. Saints does not turn understanding into a promise of material success merely because that English rendering is familiar. ↩ Verse 29:8

29:9 You stand all this day before the Lord your God: your tribal chiefs, and your elders, and your judges, and your recording officers, every man of Israel,

29:10 your wives, and your children, and the sojourner who is in the midst of your camp, from your woodcutter unto your water carrier,

29:11 that you may enter into the covenant of the Lord your God, and into His curses, which the Lord your God covenants with you this day;

29:12 that He may establish you unto Himself for a people, and He shall be your God, as He said unto you, and as He sware unto your fathers, Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob.

29:13 And not with you alone do I make this covenant and this curse,

29:14 but also with those who are here with us this day before the Lord your God, and with those who are not here with us this day.

29:15 For you know how we dwelt in the land of Egypt, and how we passed through the midst of the nations through which you passed.

29:16 And you saw their abominations and their idols, wood and stone, silver and gold, which are among them.

29:17 Is there among you a man, or woman, or family, or tribe, whose mind has turned aside from the Lord your God, to go and serve the gods of those nations? Is there among you a root springing up in gall and bitterness?

29:18 And it shall be, if he hears the words of this curse and pronounces a blessing in his heart, saying, May it be well with me, though I walk in the wandering of my heart—so that the sinner may not destroy the guiltless with him—

Note 88: 88. Deuteronomy 29:18 • Meaning. The final clause explicitly says that the sinner may not destroy the guiltless with him. Its connection to the self-blessing speech is difficult; the punctuation is editorial and the construction remains provisional. KJV’s drunkenness and thirst is not the wording of this Greek clause. ↩ Verse 29:18

29:19 God will in no wise be willing to be merciful unto him; but then the anger of the Lord and His jealousy shall blaze against that man, and all the curses of this covenant which are written in this book of the law shall cleave unto him, and the Lord shall blot out his name from under heaven.

29:20 And the Lord shall set him apart for evils from all the sons of Israel, according to all the curses of the covenant which are written in this book of the law.

29:21 And the generation to come, your sons who shall arise after you, and the foreigner who shall come from a far land, shall speak; and they shall see the plagues of that land and its diseases, which the Lord has sent upon it—

Note 89: 89. Deuteronomy 29:21 • Text. The earlier Saints verse was truncated to “The next.” The generation to come, the sons, the distant foreigner, and the observation of plagues and diseases are restored from the Greek. The sentence continues through the intervening description into the nations’ question at 29:23. ↩ Verse 29:21

29:22 sulfur and salt, burned over; all its land shall neither be sown nor sprout, neither shall any green thing grow upon it, as at the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah and Zeboiim, which the Lord overthrew in wrath and anger—

29:23 and all the nations shall say, Why has the Lord done thus unto this land? What does this great heat of anger mean?

29:24 And they shall say, Because they forsook the covenant of the Lord, the God of their fathers, which He made with their fathers when He brought them forth out of the land of Egypt;

29:25 and they went and served other gods, and bowed down unto them, whom they did not know, and whom He had not allotted unto them.

29:26 And the Lord was kindled in wrath against that land, to bring upon it all the curses which are written in this book of the law.

29:27 And the Lord removed them from their land in wrath, and anger, and exceeding great indignation, and cast them into another land, as it is now.

29:28 The hidden things belong unto the Lord our God; but the things revealed belong unto us and unto our children for ever, that we may do all the words of this law.

Note 90: 90. Deuteronomy 29:28 • Wording. “The hidden things … the things revealed” gives a clear antithesis with traditional cadence. The closing purpose, doing all the words of the law, is retained. The verse is Greek 29:28 but 29:29 in the three comparison texts. ↩ Verse 29:28

Deuteronomy 30

30:1 And it shall be, when all these things come upon you, the blessing and the curse which I have set before your face, and you receive them into your heart among all the nations whither the Lord has scattered you,

30:2 and you return unto the Lord your God, and obey His voice according to all that I command you this day, with all your heart and with all your soul,

30:3 then the Lord shall heal your sins, and have mercy upon you, and shall gather you again from all the nations whither the Lord has scattered you.

Note 91: 91. Deuteronomy 30:3 • Text. The Greek says the Lord will heal thy sins, where KJV and DRC speak of returning from captivity. Brenton has healing of iniquities. Saints keeps this verb and object as well as mercy and renewed gathering. ↩ Verse 30:3

30:4 If your dispersion is from one end of heaven unto the other end of heaven, from thence shall the Lord your God gather you, and from thence shall the Lord your God take you.

30:5 And the Lord your God shall bring you into the land which your fathers inherited, and you shall inherit it; and He shall do you good, and make you more numerous than your fathers.

30:6 And the Lord shall thoroughly cleanse your heart, and the heart of your seed, to love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul, that you may live.

Note 92: 92. Deuteronomy 30:6 • Text. The Greek says thoroughly cleanse, while KJV and DRC say circumcise. Keep the verb rather than harmonize it with 10:16. The purpose of loving God with the whole heart and soul remains fully expressed. ↩ Verse 30:6

30:7 And the Lord your God shall lay these curses upon your enemies, and upon them that hate you, who pursued you.

30:8 And you shall return, and obey the voice of the Lord your God, and do His commandments, all that I command you this day.

30:9 And the Lord your God shall care greatly for you in every work of your hands, in the offspring of your womb, and in the produce of your land, and in the offspring of your cattle; for the Lord your God shall again rejoice over you for good, as He rejoiced over your fathers,

30:10 if you obey the voice of the Lord your God, to keep and to do all His commandments, and His ordinances, and His judgments which are written in this book of the law; if you return unto the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul.

30:11 For this commandment which I command you this day is not excessively burdensome, neither is it far from you.

30:12 It is not in heaven above, that you should say, Who shall ascend for us into heaven, and fetch it for us, that we may hear it and do it?

30:13 Neither is it beyond the sea, that you should say, Who shall cross for us unto the other side of the sea, and fetch it for us, and make us hear it, that we may do it?

30:14 The word is very near you, in your mouth, and in your heart, and in your hands, that you may do it.

Note 93: 93. Deuteronomy 30:14 • Text. The Greek adds “in thy hands” after mouth and heart. Brenton includes the same clause; KJV and DRC do not. The final doing of the word is therefore represented through all three bodily images in Saints. ↩ Verse 30:14

30:15 Behold, I have set before your face this day life and death, good and evil.

30:16 If you obey the commandments of the Lord your God which I command you this day, to love the Lord your God, to walk in all His ways, and to keep His ordinances and His judgments, then you shall live and be many; and the Lord your God shall bless you in all the land into which you go to inherit it.

30:17 And if your heart turns aside, and you will not hearken, and you are led astray to bow down unto other gods and serve them,

30:18 I declare unto you this day that you shall surely perish, and you shall in no wise be long-lived upon the land which the Lord your God gives you, into which you are crossing the Jordan to inherit it.

30:19 I call heaven and earth to witness unto you this day: I have set before your face life and death, the blessing and the curse. Choose life, that you and your seed may live,

Note 94: 94. Deuteronomy 30:19 • Wording. “Choose thou life” retains the direct, memorable imperative. The preceding testimony is addressed to the plural you, while the choice addresses singular Israel. Saints makes the grammatical movement audible without adding an explanation to the verse. ↩ Verse 30:19

30:20 to love the Lord your God, to obey His voice, and to cleave unto Him; for this is your life and the length of your days, that you may dwell upon the land which the Lord sware unto your fathers, Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, to give unto them.

Note 95: 95. Deuteronomy 30:20 • Text. The Greek says “this is thy life”; KJV and DRC say He is thy life. Saints keeps the demonstrative, following the preceding loving, obeying, and cleaving. The difference should remain in a note rather than be resolved through devotional preference. ↩ Verse 30:20

31:1 And Moses finished speaking all these words unto all the sons of Israel.

Note 96: 96. Deuteronomy 31:1 • Text. The Greek says Moses finished speaking, while KJV and DRC say he went and spoke. Saints preserves the completion verb at this transition. Narrative sequence belongs to the source, not to the editor’s preferred introduction. ↩ Verse 31:1

31:2 And he said unto them, I am a hundred and twenty years old this day; I shall no longer be able to go in and come out. And the Lord said unto me, You shall not cross this Jordan.

31:3 The Lord your God, who goes before your face, shall Himself destroy these nations from before your face, and you shall take possession of them; and Joshua shall go before your face, as the Lord has spoken.

31:4 And the Lord shall do unto them as He did unto Sihon and Og, the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan, and unto their land, when He destroyed them.

31:5 And the Lord delivered them unto you, and you shall do unto them as I commanded you.

31:6 Be courageous and strong; fear not, neither be fainthearted, neither be terrified before their face; for the Lord your God, who goes before you, is with you and among you. He will in no wise fail you, neither will He forsake you.

Note 97: 97. Deuteronomy 31:6 • Wording. “Fail thee” and “forsake thee” remain clear, resonant expressions of the assurance. The exhortation uses singular forms, but the clause about God’s presence includes plural you. The pronouns preserve that distinction instead of making every form singular. ↩ Verse 31:6

31:7 And Moses called Joshua, and said unto him before all Israel, Be courageous and strong; for you shall go before the face of this people into the land which the Lord sware unto our fathers to give unto them, and you shall give it unto them for an inheritance.

31:8 And the Lord who goes with you will not fail you, neither will He forsake you; fear not, neither be fainthearted.

31:9 And Moses wrote the words of this law in a book, and gave it unto the priests, the sons of Levi, who bear the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and unto the elders of the sons of Israel.

31:10 And Moses commanded them in that day, saying, After seven years, at the appointed time of the year of release, at the Feast of the Pitching of Tents,

31:11 when all Israel comes together to appear before the Lord your God in the place which the Lord shall choose, you shall read this law before all Israel in their hearing.

31:12 Gather the people, the men, and the women, and the children, and the sojourner who is in your cities, that they may hear, and that they may learn to fear the Lord your God; and they shall hearken to do all the words of this law.

31:13 And their sons, who do not know, shall hear and learn to fear the Lord your God all the days that they live upon the land into which you are crossing the Jordan to inherit it.

31:14 And the Lord said unto Moses, Behold, the days of your death draw near; call Joshua, and stand beside the doors of the Tent of Testimony, and I will command him. And Moses and Joshua went unto the Tent of Testimony, and stood beside the doors of the Tent of Testimony.

31:15 And the Lord descended in a cloud, and stood beside the doors of the Tent of Testimony; and the pillar of the cloud stood beside the doors of the Tent.

31:16 And the Lord said unto Moses, Behold, you shall sleep with your fathers; and this people shall arise and go a-whoring after the foreign gods of the land into which it goes; and they shall forsake Me, and break My covenant which I made with them.

31:17 And I will be kindled in wrath against them in that day, and will forsake them, and turn My face from them; and the people shall be devoured, and many evils and afflictions shall find it. And it shall say in that day, Because the Lord my God is not within me, these evils have found me.

31:18 But I will surely turn My face from them in that day, because of all the wickedness which they have done, for they have turned unto foreign gods.

31:19 And now write the words of this song, and teach it unto the sons of Israel, and put it in their mouth, that this song may be a witness for Me among the sons of Israel.

31:20 For I will bring them into the good land which I sware unto their fathers to give unto them, a land flowing with milk and honey; and they shall eat, and be filled, and be sated; and they shall turn unto foreign gods, and serve them, and provoke Me, and break My covenant.

31:21 And this song shall stand against them, bearing witness before their face; for it shall in no wise be forgotten from their mouth, nor from the mouth of their seed. For I know their wickedness, all that they do here this day, before I bring them into the good land which I sware unto their fathers.

31:22 And Moses wrote this song in that day, and taught it unto the sons of Israel.

31:23 And Moses commanded Joshua, and said unto him, Be courageous and strong; for you shall bring the sons of Israel into the land which the Lord sware unto them, and He shall be with you.

Note 98: 98. Deuteronomy 31:23 • Text. The governing Greek expressly names Moses as the one commanding Joshua and says that the Lord will be with him. KJV has a first-person promise of presence in the speech. Saints keeps the named human speaker and third-person divine promise. ↩ Verse 31:23

31:24 And when Moses had finished writing all the words of this law in a book, even unto the end,

31:25 he commanded the Levites who bear the ark of the covenant of the Lord, saying,

31:26 Take this book of the law, and lay it beside the ark of the covenant of the Lord your God; and it shall be there for a witness against you.

31:27 For I know your provocation and your stiff neck; for while I yet live with you this day, you have been provoking God: how much more after my death!

31:28 Gather unto me your tribal chiefs, and your elders, and your judges, and your recording officers, that I may speak all these words in their hearing, and call heaven and earth to witness unto them.

31:29 For I know that after my death you shall deal utterly lawlessly, and turn aside from the way which I commanded you; and evils shall meet you in the latter days, because you shall do that which is evil before the Lord, to provoke Him to anger by the works of your hands.

Note 99: 99. Deuteronomy 31:29 • Text. The earlier Saints verse stopped after turning from the commanded way. The warning about evils in the latter days, doing evil before the Lord, and provoking Him by the works of their hands is restored. The complete sentence explains the announced consequence. ↩ Verse 31:29

31:30 And Moses spoke in the hearing of all the assembly of Israel the words of this song, even unto the end:

Deuteronomy 32

32:1 Give ear, O heaven, and I will speak; and let the earth hear the words of my mouth.

32:2 Let my utterance be awaited as the rain, and let my words descend as the dew, as a shower upon the grass, and as snow upon the herbage.

Note 100: 100. Deuteronomy 32:2 • Text. “Be awaited” and “snow” preserve the Greek’s distinctive weather language, also represented by Brenton. KJV uses dropping doctrine and showers; DRC uses gathering doctrine and drops. Traditional poetic balance is retained without replacing these particular source images. ↩ Verse 32:2

32:3 For I have called upon the name of the Lord; ascribe greatness unto our God.

32:4 God—true are His works, and all His ways are judgments; a faithful God, and there is no unrighteousness; righteous and holy is the Lord.

Note 101: 101. Deuteronomy 32:4 • Text. The Greek begins “God” and describes His works as true; KJV begins “He is the Rock” and calls the work perfect. Saints preserves God, true, faithful, righteous, and holy as distinct elements. Importing Rock here would change the governing wording. ↩ Verse 32:4

32:5 Blemished children, not His, have sinned—a crooked and perverse generation.

Note 102: 102. Deuteronomy 32:5 • Meaning. The short Greek clause is syntactically difficult. “Blemished children, not His” is a provisional construal of the dative and noun phrase; Brenton supplies “not pleasing him.” The note leaves the uncertainty explicit rather than presenting either English expansion as a settled literal equivalent. ↩ Verse 32:5

32:6 Do you thus repay the Lord, O foolish people and unwise? Is not He Himself your Father, who acquired you, and made you, and created you?

32:7 Remember the days of old; consider the years of generation upon generation. Ask your father, and he shall declare unto you; your elders, and they shall tell you.

32:8 When the Most High divided the nations, when He scattered the sons of Adam, He set the bounds of the nations according to the number of the angels of God.

Note 103: 103. Deuteronomy 32:8 • Text. The governing Greek and Brenton say angels of God; KJV and DRC say children of Israel. Saints follows the declared Greek running text. This comparison identifies the observed reading and does not claim to have collated the underlying manuscripts. ↩ Verse 32:8

32:9 And His people Jacob became the portion of the Lord; Israel, the measured lot of His inheritance.

32:10 He sustained him in a wilderness land, in the thirst of burning heat, in a waterless place; He compassed him about, and instructed him, and kept him as the pupil of an eye.

32:11 As an eagle would shelter its nest, it yearned over its young; spreading its wings, it received them, and took them up upon its back.

Note 104: 104. Deuteronomy 32:11 • Meaning. The Greek eagle receives its young upon its back; KJV has wings and DRC shoulders. Lower-case pronouns sustain the eagle simile here, while the Lord is explicitly named in the next verse. The connection of the initial “would shelter” with the following past verbs is a provisional English construal. ↩ Verse 32:11

32:12 The Lord alone led them, and there was no foreign god with them.

32:13 He brought them up upon the strength of the earth, and fed them the produce of the fields; they sucked honey out of the rock, and oil out of the solid rock, 32:14 butter of cattle and milk of sheep, with the fat of lambs and rams, young bulls and goats, with the fat of the kernels of wheat; and they drank wine, the blood of the grape.

Note 105: 105. Deuteronomy 32:14 • Text. The Greek speaks of young bulls where KJV and DRC name Bashan. The rich food images remain, including the fat of wheat kernels and the blood of the grape. Saints does not convert this poetry into a modern menu or import the place-name. ↩ Verse 32:14

32:15 And Jacob ate and was filled, and the beloved one kicked; he grew fat, he grew thick, he grew broad; and he forsook God who made him, and departed from God his Saviour.

32:16 They provoked Me with foreign gods; with their abominations they embittered Me.

32:17 They sacrificed unto demons, and not unto God, unto gods whom they did not know; new ones, lately come, whom their fathers did not know.

Note 106: 106. Deuteronomy 32:17 • Text. The earlier Saints verse lacked the description of new gods, lately come, whom the fathers did not know. That clause is restored. “Demons” communicates the Greek noun more directly than the historical devils while keeping the contrast with God. ↩ Verse 32:17

32:18 You forsook God who begat you, and forgot God who nourishes you.

32:19 And the Lord saw, and was jealous, and was provoked by the anger of His sons and daughters.

32:20 And He said, I will turn My face from them, and show what shall befall them at the last; for they are a perverse generation, sons in whom is no faithfulness.

32:21 They made Me jealous with that which is no god; they provoked Me to anger with their idols. And I will make them jealous with that which is no nation; with a nation without understanding will I provoke them to anger.

32:22 For a fire has been kindled out of My wrath; it shall burn unto Hades beneath, devour the earth and its produce, and set ablaze the foundations of the mountains.

32:23 I will gather evils against them, and spend My arrows upon them.

32:24 They shall waste away with hunger, and be devoured by birds, and suffer incurable backward-bending spasms; I will send against them the teeth of wild beasts, with the fury of things that crawl upon the ground.

Note 107: 107. Deuteronomy 32:24 • Meaning. The Greek describes an incurable backward-bending spasm; Saints gives an intelligible description instead of assigning a specific modern disease. The birds that devour and the teeth of wild beasts also remain. The list differs substantially from KJV’s burning heat and bitter destruction. ↩ Verse 32:24

32:25 Without, the sword shall bereave them; and from the inner chambers, terror: the young man together with the maiden, the nursing child with the aged elder.

32:26 I said, I will scatter them; I will make their remembrance cease from among men,

32:27 were it not for the wrath of enemies, lest they endure long, and lest the adversaries join in the attack; lest they say, Our hand is exalted, and the Lord has not done all these things.

32:28 For it is a nation that has lost counsel, and there is no knowledge in them.

32:29 They did not have the wisdom to understand these things; let them receive them for the time to come.

32:30 How shall one pursue a thousand, and two put tens of thousands to flight, unless God had sold them, and the Lord had delivered them up?

32:31 For their gods are not as our God; and our enemies are without understanding.

Note 108: 108. Deuteronomy 32:31 • Text. The Greek calls the enemies without understanding; KJV and DRC make them judges. Saints preserves that judgment and the plural “their gods.” The line should not be rewritten to match the familiar Rock imagery of the KJV. ↩ Verse 32:31

32:32 For their vine is of the vine of Sodom, and their tendril is of Gomorrah; their grape is a grape of gall, their cluster is bitterness.

32:33 Their wine is the venom of serpents, and the incurable venom of asps.

32:34 Behold, are not these things gathered with Me, and sealed in My treasuries?

32:35 In the day of vengeance I will repay, in the season when their foot shall slip; for the day of their destruction is near, and the things prepared for you are at hand.

Note 109: 109. Deuteronomy 32:35 • Text. The Greek promises repayment in the day of vengeance and ends with things prepared for “you,” plural. Saints preserves both the temporal construction and the unexpected address. KJV’s “To me belongeth vengeance” is a different formulation. ↩ Verse 32:35

32:36 For the Lord shall judge His people, and be moved concerning His servants; for He saw them weakened, and failing under assault, and exhausted.

32:37 And the Lord said, Where are their gods, in whom they trusted, 32:38 whose sacrifices’ fat you ate, and whose drink offerings’ wine you drank? Let them arise and help you, and become your protectors.

Note 110: 110. Deuteronomy 32:38 • Text. The Greek verbs address “ye” who ate and drank, as Brenton reflects. KJV’s relative clause is commonly read of the gods eating and drinking; DRC instead has “they” eating the fat of the gods’ victims. Saints preserves the explicit second-person verbs and the challenge that those gods should arise and help. ↩ Verse 32:38

32:39 See, see that I am, and there is no god beside Me. I will put to death, and make alive; I will smite, and I will heal; and there is none that shall deliver out of My hands.

32:40 For I will lift My hand unto heaven, and swear by My right hand, and say, I live for ever.

32:41 For I will sharpen My sword as lightning, and My hand shall lay hold of judgment; and I will repay a penalty unto the enemies, and unto them that hate Me will I repay.

32:42 I will make My arrows drunk with blood, and My sword shall devour flesh, from the blood of the slain and of captives, from the head of the rulers of the enemies.

32:43 Rejoice, O heavens, together with Him, and let all the sons of God worship Him; rejoice, O nations, with His people, and let all the angels of God give Him strength; for He avenges the blood of His sons, and shall avenge and repay a penalty unto the enemies, and unto them that hate Him shall He repay; and the Lord shall thoroughly cleanse the land of His people.

Note 111: 111. Deuteronomy 32:43 • Text. The governing Greek summons the sons of God to worship and the angels of God to give strength; Brenton reverses those groups and renders the latter action differently. KJV and DRC lack both summonses. Saints keeps the fuller Greek form, the blood of His sons, and the cleansing of His people’s land; the difficult “give Him strength” remains open to syntactic review. ↩ Verse 32:43

32:44 And Moses wrote this song in that day, and taught it unto the sons of Israel. And Moses came in and spoke all the words of this law in the hearing of the people, he and Joshua the son of Nun.

32:45 And Moses finished speaking unto all Israel,

32:46 and said unto them, Give heed in your heart unto all these words which I testify unto you this day, which you shall command your sons to keep and to do, even all the words of this law.

32:47 For this is no empty word unto you; for this is your life, and by this word you shall prolong your days upon the land into which you are crossing the Jordan to inherit it.

32:48 And the Lord spoke unto Moses in that day, saying,

32:49 Go up into this mountain of Abarim, Mount Nebo, which is in the land of Moab over against Jericho, and behold the land of Canaan, which I give unto the sons of Israel for a possession.

32:50 And die in the mountain whither you go up, and be gathered unto your people, as Aaron your brother died in Mount Hor, and was gathered unto his people;

32:51 because you disobeyed My word among the sons of Israel at the water of dispute at Kadesh in the wilderness of Zin, because you did not sanctify Me among the sons of Israel.

32:52 For you shall see the land from over against it, but you shall not go in thither.

Deuteronomy 33

33:1 And this is the blessing wherewith Moses, the man of God, blessed the sons of Israel before his death.

33:2 And he said, The Lord has come from Sinai, and appeared unto us from Seir, and hastened from Mount Paran with myriads of Kadesh; at His right hand were angels with Him.

Note 112: 112. Deuteronomy 33:2 • Text. The Greek has myriads of Kadesh and angels at the right hand, where KJV speaks of ten thousands of saints and a fiery law. Saints preserves Kadesh as displayed, without silently converting the name into holy ones. The poem’s changes of tense also remain. ↩ Verse 33:2

33:3 And He spared His people; and all the consecrated ones are under Thy hands; and these are under Thee; and the people received from His words

Note 113: 113. Deuteronomy 33:3 • Meaning. The last verb is singular, while the preceding consecrated ones are plural. Saints supplies “the people” as a contextual antecedent; that identification is editorial. The passage’s shift between His and Thy is retained rather than regularized from another version. ↩ Verse 33:3

33:4 the law which Moses commanded us, an inheritance for the assemblies of Jacob.

33:5 And there shall be a ruler in the beloved, when the rulers of the peoples are gathered together with the tribes of Israel.

33:6 Let Reuben live, and not die; and let him be many in number.

Note 114: 114. Deuteronomy 33:6 • Text. The Greek positively wishes that Reuben be many in number. KJV says let not his men be few; DRC says be he small in number. The scope and presence of negation must be taken from the declared source, not a blend of the comparisons. ↩ Verse 33:6

33:7 And this for Judah: Hear, O Lord, the voice of Judah, and let them enter unto his people; his hands shall contend for him, and Thou shalt be a helper against his enemies.

33:8 And unto Levi he said, Give unto Levi his manifestations, and his truth unto the holy man, whom they tested in a trial, and reviled at the water of dispute;

Note 115: 115. Deuteronomy 33:8 • Meaning. “Manifestations” and “truth” preserve the Greek expressions corresponding to the familiar Urim and Thummim terminology. The possessives are his, and the testing and reviling subjects are they. These details should not be converted into KJV’s direct address to God. ↩ Verse 33:8

33:9 who says unto his father and his mother, I have not seen you; and he did not acknowledge his brethren, and disowned his sons. He kept Thine oracles, and preserved Thy covenant.

33:10 They shall declare Thine ordinances unto Jacob, and Thy law unto Israel; they shall lay incense in Thy wrath, continually upon Thine altar.

Note 116: 116. Deuteronomy 33:10 • Text. The Greek places incense “in Thy wrath” and continues with continual action upon the altar. Brenton also retains this. KJV has incense before God and whole burnt sacrifice; DRC has wrath and holocaust. Saints keeps the Greek line without importing an additional offering noun. ↩ Verse 33:10

33:11 Bless, O Lord, his strength, and accept the works of his hands; break the loin of the enemies who rise against him, and let not them that hate him arise.

33:12 And unto Benjamin he said, He who is beloved of the Lord shall dwell in confidence; and God overshadows him all the days, and between his shoulders He rested.

Note 117: 117. Deuteronomy 33:12 • Meaning. “Between his shoulders He rested” takes God as the continuing subject and Benjamin as the possessor of the shoulders. This is a provisional syntactic reading; the referents are not beyond dispute. The note records the choice rather than deriving a particular sanctuary geography from it. ↩ Verse 33:12

33:13 And unto Joseph he said, From the blessing of the Lord is his land, from the seasons of heaven and the dew, and from the springs of the depths beneath,

33:14 and in the season of the produce of the sun’s turnings, and from the conjunctions of the months,

33:15 and from the summit of the ancient mountains, and from the summit of the everlasting hills,

33:16 and in the season of the fullness of the earth. And may the things acceptable unto Him who appeared in the bush come upon the head of Joseph, and upon the crown of him who was glorified among his brethren.

33:17 His beauty is that of a firstborn bull; his horns are the horns of a one-horned animal; with them shall he gore the nations together unto the end of the earth. These are the myriads of Ephraim, and these are the thousands of Manasseh.

Note 118: 118. Deuteronomy 33:17 • Meaning. “One-horned animal” renders the Greek designation without the modern fantasy associations of unicorn or a confident identification as rhinoceros. KJV and Brenton use unicorn; DRC uses rhinoceros. The plural horns of the blessing and the singular animal term remain as written. ↩ Verse 33:17

33:18 And unto Zebulun he said, Rejoice, Zebulun, in your going forth; and Issachar, in his dwellings.

33:19 They shall destroy nations; and you shall call upon God there, and sacrifice a sacrifice of righteousness; for the wealth of the sea shall nourish you, and the commerce of them that dwell by the coast.

Note 119: 119. Deuteronomy 33:19 • Text. The Greek says they shall destroy nations where KJV and DRC speak of calling peoples to the mountain. Saints preserves that marked difference. “God” is supplied as the contextual object of calling upon; commerce along the coast remains distinct from hidden treasures in sand. ↩ Verse 33:19

33:20 And unto Gad he said, Blessed is He that enlarges Gad; as a lion he rested, having crushed an arm and a ruler.

33:21 And he saw his first portion; for there was apportioned the land of rulers gathered together with the leaders of the peoples. The Lord wrought righteousness, and His judgment with Israel.

33:22 And unto Dan he said, Dan is a lion’s cub, and shall leap forth from Bashan.

33:23 And unto Naphtali he said, Naphtali, a fullness of acceptable things; and let him be filled with blessing from the Lord; he shall inherit the sea and the south.

33:24 And unto Asher he said, Asher is blessed with children, and shall be acceptable unto his brethren; he shall dip his foot in oil.

33:25 His sandal shall be iron and bronze; and as your days, so shall your strength be.

33:26 There is none like the God of the beloved, who rides upon heaven as your helper, the majestic One of the firmament.

33:27 And there is shelter from the God of old, and you are under the strength of everlasting arms; and He shall drive out the enemy from before your face, saying, May you perish.

Note 120: 120. Deuteronomy 33:27 • Meaning. “Shelter from the God of old” is a provisional construal of the compressed opening. The strength of everlasting arms preserves the familiar image, but the final “Mayest thou perish” addresses the enemy; KJV instead says “Destroy them.” The agency and wish are retained. ↩ Verse 33:27

33:28 And Israel shall dwell in confidence, alone upon the land of Jacob, with grain and wine; and the heaven for him shall be clouded with dew.

33:29 Blessed are you, O Israel! Who is like unto you, a people saved by the Lord? Your helper shall shield you, and the sword is your boast; and your enemies shall lie unto you, and you shall tread upon their neck.

Deuteronomy 34

34:1 And Moses went up from Araboth of Moab unto Mount Nebo, unto the summit of Pisgah, which is over against Jericho; and the Lord showed him all the land of Gilead unto Dan,

34:2 and all the land of Naphtali, and all the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, and all the land of Judah unto the farthest sea,

34:3 and the wilderness, and the country round about Jericho, the city of palms, unto Zoar.

34:4 And the Lord said unto Moses, This is the land which I sware unto Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, saying, I will give it unto your seed. And I have showed it unto your eyes, but you shall not go in thither.

34:5 And Moses, the household servant of the Lord, died in the land of Moab by the word of the Lord.

34:6 And they buried him in Gai, in the land of Moab, near the house of Peor; and no man knows his burial place unto this day.

Note 121: 121. Deuteronomy 34:6 • Text. The Greek burial verb is plural: “they buried him.” KJV and DRC have he. Saints leaves the unnamed plural agents unnamed and retains Gai and the land of Moab. The verse does not authorize identifying the buriers without further evidence. ↩ Verse 34:6

34:7 And Moses was a hundred and twenty years old when he died; his eyes were not dimmed, neither were his cheeks wasted away.

Note 122: 122. Deuteronomy 34:7 • Meaning. “Cheeks” is a provisional anatomical rendering of the unusual Greek term. Brenton and KJV describe natural powers or force, while DRC has teeth. The line concerns Moses’ condition at death; its difficult noun should receive further lexical review rather than be hidden by a general paraphrase. ↩ Verse 34:7

34:8 And the sons of Israel wept for Moses in Araboth of Moab, at the Jordan over against Jericho, thirty days; and the days of mourning and weeping for Moses were ended.

34:9 And Joshua the son of Nun was filled with a spirit of understanding; for Moses had laid his hands upon him; and the sons of Israel hearkened unto him, and did as the Lord commanded Moses.

Note 123: 123. Deuteronomy 34:9 • Wording. “A spirit of understanding” preserves the Greek noun; Brenton uses knowledge, while KJV and DRC use wisdom. Joshua’s reception, Moses’ laying on of hands, and Israel’s obedience remain separately expressed. The closing narrative needs clarity and restraint more than added archaic ornament. ↩ Verse 34:9

34:10 And there arose no more a prophet in Israel like unto Moses, whom the Lord knew face to face,

34:11 in all the signs and wonders which the Lord sent him to do in the land of Egypt unto Pharaoh, and unto his servants, and unto all his land,

34:12 the great wonders and the mighty hand which Moses wrought before all Israel.

Joshua

Joshua 1

1:1 After the death of Moses, the Lord spoke to Joshua the son of Nun, Moses' attendant, saying:

1:2 "Moses My servant has died. Now therefore arise and cross the Jordan, you and all this people, into the land that I am giving them.

1:3 Every place where you tread with the sole of your feet I will give you, as I have spoken to Moses.

1:4 The wilderness and Anti-Lebanon, as far as the great river, the River Euphrates, and as far as the furthest sea toward the setting sun shall be your borders.

1:5 No man shall withstand you all the days of your life. As I was with Moses, so I will be with you; I will not forsake you or disregard you.

1:6 Be strong and courageous, for you shall apportion to this people the land which I swore to your fathers to give them.

1:7 Be strong and courageous, then, to keep and do what Moses My servant commanded you. Do not turn aside from these commands to the right or to the left, so that you may have understanding in all that you do.

1:8 This book of the law shall not depart from your mouth. Meditate on it day and night, so that you may understand how to do all that is written. Then you shall prosper and make your ways prosper, and then you shall understand.

1:9 Behold, I have commanded you: be strong and courageous. Do not be fainthearted or afraid, for the Lord your God is with you wherever you go."

1:10 Joshua commanded the scribes of the people, saying:

1:11 "Go into the midst of the people's camp and command the people, saying, 'Prepare provisions; for in three days you are crossing this Jordan, to enter and possess the land that the Lord, the God of your fathers, is giving you.'"

1:12 Joshua said to Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh:

1:13 "Remember the word of the Lord that Moses, the servant of the Lord, commanded you: 'The Lord your God has given you rest and has given you this land.'

1:14 Let your wives and your children and your livestock dwell in the land he gave you; but you, every man of strength, shall cross equipped before your brothers and fight alongside them,

1:15 until the Lord your God gives your brothers rest as He has given you, and they also inherit the land that the Lord our God is giving them. Then each of you shall return to his inheritance, which Moses gave you beyond the Jordan toward the sunrise."

1:16 They answered Joshua, "We will do all that you command us, and we will go wherever you send us.

1:17 As we obeyed Moses in all things, so will we obey you. Only let the Lord our God be with you, as He was with Moses.

1:18 Whoever disobeys you or does not heed your words in all that you command him, let him die. Only be strong and courageous!"

Joshua 2

2:1 Joshua son of Nun sent two young men from Shittim to spy, saying, "Go up and look at the land and Jericho." The two young men went into Jericho, entered the house of a harlot named Rahab, and lodged there.

2:2 The king of Jericho was informed, "Men from the sons of Israel have entered here to spy out the land."

2:3 The king of Jericho sent to Rahab, saying, "Bring out the men who entered your house by night, for they have come to spy out the land."

2:4 The woman took the men and hid them, and said to the messengers, "The men came to me.

2:5 As the gate was closing in the darkness, the men went out. I do not know where they have gone. Pursue them, to see whether you can overtake them."

2:6 But she had brought them up to the roof and hidden them among the flax stalks she had piled on the roof.

2:7 The men pursued them along the road to the Jordan, toward the crossings, and the gate was shut. After the pursuers had gone out after them,

2:8 and before the young men went to sleep, she went up to them on the roof

2:9 and said, "I know that the Lord has given you the land, for fear of you has fallen upon us.

2:10 For we have heard that the Lord God dried up the Red Sea before you when you came out of the land of Egypt, and all that He did to the two kings of the Amorites beyond the Jordan, Sihon and Og, whom you destroyed.

2:11 When we heard, our hearts were astounded, and no spirit remained in any of us because of you. For the Lord your God is God in heaven above and on the earth below.

2:12 Now swear to me by the Lord God that, as I show you mercy, you also will show mercy to my father’s house,

2:13 and keep alive my father’s household, my mother, my brothers, my whole household, and all who belong to them, and rescue my life from death.”

2:14 The men said to her, “Our life in place of yours, even to death.” And she said, “When the Lord delivers the city to you, you shall show me mercy and faithfulness.”

2:15 She lowered them through the window

2:16 and said to them, “Go into the hill country, so the pursuers do not encounter you. Hide there three days until those pursuing you return; afterward go on your way.”

2:17 The men said to her, “We are free from this oath of yours.

2:18 Behold, we are coming into part of the city. You shall set up the sign: bind this scarlet cord in the window through which you lowered us, and gather your father and your mother and your brothers and all your father’s house to you in your house.

2:19 Whoever goes out beyond the door of your house shall bear his own guilt; we shall be free from this oath of yours. For all who are with you in your house, we shall be answerable.

2:20 But if anyone wrongs us or makes known these words of ours, we shall be free from this oath of yours.”

2:21 She said to them, “Let it be according to your word.” Then she sent them away.

2:22 They went into the hill country and remained there three days. The pursuers searched all the roads but did not find them.

2:23 The two young men returned, came down from the mountain, crossed over to Joshua son of Nun, and related everything that had happened to them.

2:24 They said to Joshua, “The Lord has given all the land into our hand, and everyone inhabiting that land is cowering before us.”

Joshua 3

3:1 Joshua rose early in the morning. They set out from Shittim, came to the Jordan, and lodged there before crossing.

3:2 After three days, the scribes passed through the camp

3:3 and commanded the people, “When you see the ark of the covenant of the Lord our God, and our priests and the Levites carrying it, leave your places and follow it.

3:4 Yet let there be a distance of about two thousand cubits between you and it. Keep your place, and do not draw near to it, so that you may know the way you are to go; for you have not passed this way before.”

3:5 Joshua said to the people, “Purify yourselves for tomorrow, for tomorrow the Lord will do wonders among you.”

3:6 Joshua said to the priests, “Lift up the ark of the covenant of the Lord and go ahead of the people.” The priests lifted up the ark of the covenant of the Lord and went before the people.

3:7 The Lord said to Joshua, “Today I begin to exalt you before all the sons of Israel, so that they may know that, as I was with Moses, so I will be with you.

3:8 Now command the priests carrying the ark of the covenant, saying, ‘When you enter the edge of the waters of the Jordan, stand in the Jordan.’”

3:9 Joshua said to the sons of Israel, “Come here and hear the word of the Lord our God.”

3:10 “By this you shall know that the living God is among you, and will surely destroy before us the Canaanites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, Amorites, Girgashites, and Jebusites.

3:11 Behold, the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth is crossing the Jordan.

3:12 Choose twelve men from the sons of Israel, one from each tribe.

3:13 When the feet of the priests carrying the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth rest in the Jordan’s water, the Jordan’s water shall fail, and the water coming down shall stand.”

3:14 The people set out from their tents to cross the Jordan, and the priests lifted up the ark of the covenant of the Lord ahead of the people.

3:15 As the priests carrying the ark of the covenant entered the Jordan and the feet of the priests carrying the ark of the covenant of the Lord dipped into the edge of the Jordan’s water—the Jordan was overflowing its whole bank, as in the days of wheat harvest—

3:16 the waters coming down from above stood. One mass stood very, very far away, as far as the region of Kiriath-jearim. The water flowing down descended into the Sea of Arabah, the Salt Sea, until it failed completely. The people stood opposite Jericho.

3:17 The priests carrying the ark of the covenant of the Lord stood on dry ground in the middle of the Jordan. All the sons of Israel crossed on dry ground until the whole people had finished crossing the Jordan.

Joshua 4

4:1 When the whole people had finished crossing the Jordan, the Lord said to Joshua:

4:2 “Take men from the people, one from each tribe,

4:3 and command them, ‘Take twelve ready stones from the midst of the Jordan, carry them over with you, and set them in your camp where you will camp tonight.’”

4:4 Joshua summoned twelve distinguished men from the sons of Israel, one from each tribe,

4:5 and said to them, “Come forward before me, before the Lord, into the midst of the Jordan. Each of you shall take a stone from there and lift it upon his shoulders, according to the number of the twelve tribes of Israel,

4:6 so that these may remain a sign to you for ever. When your son asks you in time to come, ‘What do these stones mean to you?’

4:7 you shall declare to your son, ‘The River Jordan failed before the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth as it crossed.’ And these stones shall be a memorial to you, the sons of Israel, for ever.”

4:8 The sons of Israel did as the Lord commanded Joshua. They took twelve stones from the middle of the Jordan, just as the Lord directed Joshua when the sons of Israel finished crossing. They carried them with them into the camp and set them there.

4:9 Joshua also set up another twelve stones in the Jordan itself, in the place beneath the feet of the priests carrying the ark of the covenant of the Lord. They are there to this day.

4:10 The priests carrying the ark of the covenant stood in the Jordan until Joshua completed everything the Lord had commanded him to announce to the people. The people hurried and crossed.

4:11 When all the people had finished crossing, the ark of the covenant of the Lord crossed, and the stones were before them.

4:12 The sons of Reuben, the sons of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh crossed equipped before the sons of Israel, just as Moses had commanded them.

4:13 Forty thousand equipped for battle crossed before the Lord for war, toward the city of Jericho.

4:14 On that day the Lord exalted Joshua before the whole race of Israel. They feared him as they had Moses, as long as he lived.

4:15 The Lord said to Joshua:

4:16 “Command the priests carrying the ark of the covenant of the testimony of the Lord to come out of the Jordan.”

4:17 Joshua commanded the priests, “Come out of the Jordan.”

4:18 When the priests carrying the ark of the covenant of the Lord came out of the Jordan and set their feet on the land, the Jordan’s water rushed into its place and flowed along its whole bank as before.

4:19 The people came up from the Jordan on the tenth day of the first month. The sons of Israel camped at Gilgal, in the region east of Jericho.

4:20 Joshua set up at Gilgal these twelve stones that he had taken from the Jordan,

4:21 saying, “When your sons ask you, ‘What are these stones?’

4:22 tell your sons, ‘Israel crossed the Jordan on dry ground,

4:23 when the Lord our God dried up the Jordan’s water before them until they crossed, just as the Lord our God did to the Red Sea, which the Lord our God dried up before us until we passed through,’

4:24 that all the nations of the earth may know that the power of the Lord is mighty, and that you may revere the Lord your God at all times.”

Joshua 5

5:1 When the kings of the Amorites beyond the Jordan and the kings of Phoenicia by the sea heard that the Lord God had dried up the River Jordan before the sons of Israel as they crossed, their minds melted; they were dismayed, and no understanding remained in them because of the sons of Israel.

5:2 At that time the Lord said to Joshua, “Make for yourself stone knives from sharp rock, and sit down and circumcise the sons of Israel.”

5:3 Joshua made sharp stone knives and circumcised the sons of Israel at the place called Hill of the Foreskins.

5:4 This is how Joshua purified the sons of Israel: those born along the way and those among the people who had left Egypt who were still uncircumcised—

5:5 Joshua circumcised all these.

5:6 For Israel had lived forty-two years in the wilderness of Madbaritis. Therefore most of the fighting men who had left the land of Egypt were uncircumcised, those who disobeyed God’s commands. He decreed that they should not see the land the Lord swore to their fathers to give us, a land flowing with milk and honey.

5:7 In their place He appointed their sons, whom Joshua circumcised because they had remained uncircumcised along the way.

5:8 After being circumcised, they rested there in the camp until they recovered.

5:9 The Lord said to Joshua son of Nun, “Today I have removed the reproach of Egypt from you.” He called that place Gilgal.

5:10 The sons of Israel kept the Passover on the fourteenth day of the month, from evening, west of Jericho, beyond the Jordan, in the plain.

5:11 They ate from the grain of the land: unleavened bread and new grain. On this day

5:12 the manna failed after they had eaten from the grain of the land. There was no longer manna for the sons of Israel; that year they harvested the country of the Phoenicians.

5:13 When Joshua was at Jericho, he lifted up his eyes and saw a man standing opposite him, with a drawn sword in his hand. Joshua drew near and said, “Are you on our side, or on the side of our adversaries?”

5:14 He said to him, “I have now come as chief captain of the host of the Lord.” Joshua fell on his face to the earth and said to him, “Master, what do you command your servant?”

5:15 The chief captain of the Lord said to Joshua, “Loosen your sandal from your feet, for the place where you stand is holy.”

Joshua 6

6:1 Jericho was shut up and fortified; no one went out of it or entered it.

6:2 And the Lord said to Joshua, “Behold, I am delivering Jericho, and its king within it, mighty in strength, into your power.

6:3 Station the fighting men all around it,

6:5 and when you sound the trumpet, let all the people cry out together. As they cry out, the walls of the city shall fall of themselves, and all the people shall rush into the city, each straight ahead of him.”

6:6 Joshua son of Nun went in to the priests

6:7 and said to them, “Instruct the people to go around and encircle the city. Let the fighting men pass armed before the Lord.

6:8 Let seven priests holding seven sacred trumpets likewise pass before the Lord and sound them vigorously, and let the ark of the covenant of the Lord follow.

6:9 Let the fighting men pass in front, and let the priests forming the rear guard go behind the ark of the covenant of the Lord, marching and blowing trumpets.”

6:10 Joshua commanded the people, “Do not cry out or let anyone hear your voice until the day he himself commands you to cry out. Then you shall cry out.”

6:11 After the ark of the covenant of God had gone around the city, it went straight back to the camp and rested there.

6:12 On the second day Joshua rose in the morning, and the priests lifted up the ark of the covenant of the Lord.

6:13 The seven priests carrying the seven trumpets went before the Lord. Afterward the fighting men and the rest of the crowd proceeded behind the ark of the covenant of the Lord. The priests sounded the trumpets, and all the rest of the crowd encircled the city close by 6:14 and returned to the camp. This was done for six days.

6:15 On the seventh day they rose at dawn and went around the city six times.

6:16 On the seventh circuit the priests sounded the trumpets, and Joshua said to the sons of Israel, “Cry out, for the Lord has handed the city over to you!

6:17 The city and everything in it shall be under the ban to the Lord Sabaoth. But preserve Rahab the harlot and everything in her house.

6:18 But guard yourselves carefully from what is under the ban, lest you covet it and take any of it, and bring the camp of the sons of Israel under the ban, and destroy us.

6:19 All silver, gold, bronze, and iron shall be holy to the Lord and shall be brought into the Lord’s treasury.”

6:20 The priests sounded the trumpets. When the people heard their sound, all the people together raised a great, mighty shout. The whole wall fell all around, and all the people went up into the city.

6:21 Joshua put the city and everything in it under the ban by the edge of the sword: man and woman, young and old, calf and beast of burden.

6:22 Joshua said to the two young men who had spied, “Enter the woman’s house and bring her out from there, with everything that belongs to her.”

6:23 The two young men who had spied out the city entered the woman’s house and brought out Rahab the harlot, her father, her mother, her brothers, everything belonging to her, and all her kin. They placed her outside Israel’s camp.

6:24 The city was burned with everything in it, except that the silver, gold, bronze, and iron were given to be brought into the Lord’s treasury.

6:25 Joshua kept alive Rahab the harlot and her entire paternal household. She has lived in Israel to this day, because she hid the spies Joshua sent to spy out Jericho.

6:26 On that day Joshua pronounced an oath before the Lord: “Cursed is the man who rebuilds that city! At the cost of his firstborn he shall lay its foundation, and at the cost of his youngest he shall set up its gates.” Ozan of Bethel did so: at the cost of Abiram his firstborn he laid its foundation, and at the cost of his youngest surviving son he set up its gates.

6:27 The Lord was with Joshua, and his name was known throughout the land.

Joshua 7

7:1 The sons of Israel committed a great offence and misappropriated what was under the ban. Achar son of Carmi, son of Zambri, son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, took some of it, and the Lord became angry with the sons of Israel.

7:2 Joshua sent men to Ai, which is near Bethel, saying, “Spy out Ai.” The men went up and spied out Ai.

7:3 They returned to Joshua and said, “Do not let all the people go up. Let about two or three thousand men go up and capture the city by siege. Do not bring all the people there, for they are few.”

7:4 About three thousand men went up, but they fled before the men of Ai.

7:5 The men of Ai killed about thirty-six of them, pursued them from the gate, and crushed them on the descent. The people’s heart was terrified and became like water.

7:6 Joshua tore his clothes and fell face down on the earth before the Lord until evening, he and the elders of Israel. They put dust on their heads.

7:7 And Joshua said, “I beseech Thee, Lord, why did Thy servant bring this people across the Jordan, to deliver them to the Amorites and destroy us? Would that we had remained and dwelt beside the Jordan!

7:8 What can I say, since Israel has turned its back before its enemy?

7:9 When the Canaanites and all the inhabitants of the land hear, they shall surround us and blot us out from the earth. And what wilt Thou do for Thy great name?”

7:10 The Lord said to Joshua, “Arise! Why have you fallen on your face like this?

7:11 The people have sinned and transgressed the covenant I made with them. They stole from what was under the ban and put it among their belongings.

7:12 The sons of Israel shall not be able to stand before their enemies. They shall turn their backs before their enemies, for they have become subject to the ban. I will no longer be with you, unless you remove that which is under the ban from among yourselves.

7:13 Arise, consecrate the people, and tell them to consecrate themselves for tomorrow. Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: ‘What is under the ban is among you. You cannot withstand your enemies until you remove it from among you.’

7:14 In the morning you shall all assemble by tribes. Bring forward by clans the tribe which the Lord indicates; bring forward by households the clan which the Lord indicates; and bring forward man by man the household which the Lord indicates.

7:15 Whoever is indicated shall be burned with fire, together with everything belonging to him, because he transgressed the Lord’s covenant and committed lawlessness in Israel.”

7:16 Joshua rose early and brought the people forward by tribes. The tribe of Judah was indicated.

7:17 They were brought forward by clans, and the Zerahite clan was indicated. They were brought forward man by man,

7:18 and Achar son of Zambri, son of Zerah, was indicated.

7:19 Joshua said to Achar, “Give glory today to the Lord, the God of Israel, and make confession. Tell me what you have done, and do not hide it from me.”

7:20 Achar answered Joshua, “Truly I have sinned before the Lord, the God of Israel. This is what I did:

7:21 I saw among the spoil a beautiful patterned carpet, two hundred didrachms of silver, and one tongue-shaped bar of gold weighing fifty didrachms. I coveted them and took them. They are hidden in the ground in my tent, and the silver is hidden underneath them.”

7:22 Joshua sent messengers, and they ran to the tent in the camp. The things were hidden in the tent, with the silver underneath them.

7:23 They brought the things out of the tent to Joshua and the elders of Israel and placed them before the Lord.

7:24 Joshua took Achar son of Zerah and brought him up to the ravine of Achor, with his sons, his daughters, his cattle, his beasts of burden, all his sheep, his tent, and everything belonging to him. All the people were with him, and he brought them up to Emek-achor.

7:25 Joshua said to Achar, “Why have you brought destruction upon us? May the Lord destroy you, as on this very day!” And all Israel stoned him with stones.

7:26 They set a great heap of stones over him. The Lord ceased from the heat of His anger. Therefore the place was named Emek-achor, as it is to this day.

Joshua 8

8:1 The Lord said to Joshua, “Do not be afraid or lose heart. Take all the men of war with you, arise, and go up to Ai. Behold, I have delivered the king of Ai and his land into your hands.

8:2 Do to Ai as you did to Jericho and its king, and take the livestock as spoil for yourself. Set an ambush behind the city.”

8:3 Joshua and all the fighting people arose to go up to Ai. Joshua selected thirty thousand mighty men and sent them away by night.

8:4 He commanded them, “Lie in ambush behind the city. Do not go far from the city, and all of you be ready.

8:5 I and everyone with me will approach the city. When Ai’s inhabitants come out to meet us as before, we shall flee before them.

8:6 When they come out after us, we shall draw them away from the city. They will say, ‘These men are fleeing before us as before.’

8:7 Then rise from the ambush and go into the city.

8:8 Do according to this word. Behold, I have commanded you.”

8:9 Joshua sent them away, and they went to the ambush and took their position between Bethel and Ai, west of Ai.

8:10 Joshua rose early in the morning and inspected the people. He and the elders went up before the people toward Ai.

8:11 All the fighting people with him went up and came opposite the city from the east,

8:12 while the ambush lay west of the city.

8:14 When the king of Ai saw, he hurried straight out to meet them in battle, he and all the people with him. He did not know there was an ambush behind the city.

8:15 Joshua saw and withdrew, and Israel withdrew before them.

8:16 They pursued the sons of Israel and moved away from the city.

8:17 No one remained in Ai who did not pursue Israel. They left the city open and pursued Israel.

8:18 The Lord said to Joshua, “Stretch out your hand with the javelin you hold toward the city, for I have delivered it into your hands. The ambush shall rise quickly from its place.” Joshua stretched out his hand, with the javelin, toward the city,

8:19 and the ambush rose quickly from its place. They came out when he stretched out his hand, went to the city, captured it, and hurried to burn it with fire.

8:20 Ai’s inhabitants looked behind them and saw smoke rising from the city toward heaven. They no longer had anywhere to flee, this way or that.

8:21 Joshua and all Israel saw that the ambush had taken the city and that its smoke rose toward heaven. They turned and struck Ai’s men.

8:22 The others came out of the city to meet them, and they were caught between the forces, some on this side and some on that. They struck them until no survivor or fugitive remained.

8:23 They captured the king of Ai alive and brought him to Joshua.

8:24 When the sons of Israel finished killing all Ai’s people in the plains and on the mountain, on the descent where they pursued them from it to the end, Joshua returned to Ai and struck it with the edge of the sword.

8:25 Those who fell that day, men and women, were twelve thousand, all Ai’s inhabitants,

8:27 except the livestock and the spoil in the city, all of which the sons of Israel took as plunder according to the Lord’s command, as the Lord had directed Joshua.

8:28 Joshua burned the city with fire and made it an uninhabited mound for ever, as it remains to this day.

8:29 He hanged the king of Ai on a forked tree, and he remained on the tree until evening. At sunset Joshua gave the command, and they took his body down from the tree. They threw him into the pit and set a heap of stones over him, which remains to this day.

Joshua 9

9:1 When the kings of the Amorites beyond the Jordan, in the hill country, the plain, along the whole coast of the Great Sea and near Anti-Lebanon, and the Hittites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites, Amorites, Girgashites, and Jebusites heard,

9:2 they all assembled together to make war on Joshua and Israel.

9:2a Then Joshua built an altar to the Lord, the God of Israel, on Mount Ebal,

9:2b as Moses, the servant of the Lord, commanded the sons of Israel, as written in Moses' law: an altar of whole stones on which no iron had been applied. He offered whole burnt offerings to the Lord there and a sacrifice of well-being.

9:2c Joshua wrote on the stones the second law, Moses' law, which he wrote before the sons of Israel.

9:2d All Israel, their elders, judges, and scribes passed on either side opposite the ark. The priests and Levites carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord. Resident alien and native alike were there, half near Mount Gerizim and half near Mount Ebal, as Moses, the servant of the Lord, had first commanded the blessing of the people.

9:2e After this Joshua read all the words of this law, the blessings and the curses, according to everything written in Moses' law.

9:2f There was not a word of everything Moses commanded Joshua that Joshua did not read in the hearing of the whole assembly of the sons of Israel: the men, women, children, and resident aliens travelling with Israel.

9:3 The inhabitants of Gibeon heard everything the Lord had done to Jericho and Ai.

9:4 They too acted craftily. They came, provisioned and prepared themselves, and took old sacks on their donkeys and old wineskins, torn and tied up,

9:5 with the soles of their footwear and their sandals old and patched on their feet, and worn clothing on them. Their bread for the journey was dry, mouldy, and eaten away.

9:6 They came to Joshua at Israel's camp in Gilgal and said to Joshua and Israel, "We have come from a distant land. Now make a covenant with us."

9:7 The sons of Israel said to the Horite, "Perhaps you live in my midst. How then could I make a covenant with you?"

9:8 They said to Joshua, "We are your servants." Joshua said to them, "Where are you from, and where have you come from?"

9:9 They said, "Your servants have come from a very distant land, in the name of the Lord your God; for we have heard His name and all that He did in Egypt,

9:10 and everything He did to the kings of the Amorites beyond the Jordan, Sihon king of Heshbon and Og king of Bashan, who lived in Ashtaroth and Edrei.

9:11 When our elders and all the inhabitants of our land heard, they told us, 'Take provisions for the journey, go to meet them, and say to them, "We are your servants; now make a covenant with us."'

9:12 These loaves were hot when we took them as provisions on the day we set out to come to you. Now they are dry and eaten away.

9:13 These wineskins were new when we filled them, and now they have torn. Our clothes and sandals have worn out because of the exceedingly long journey."

9:14 The leaders took some of their provisions, but did not inquire of the Lord.

9:15 Joshua made peace with them and made a covenant with them to preserve them. The leaders of the congregation swore to them.

9:16 Three days after making the covenant with them, they heard that the people were nearby and lived among them.

9:17 The sons of Israel set out and came to their cities. Their cities were Gibeon, Chephirah, Beeroth, and the city of Jearim.

9:18 The sons of Israel did not fight them, because all the leaders had sworn to them by the Lord, the God of Israel. The whole congregation grumbled against the leaders.

9:19 The leaders said to the whole congregation, "We have sworn to them by the Lord, the God of Israel, and now we cannot touch them.

9:20 This is what we shall do: keep them alive and preserve them, so that wrath does not come against us because of the oath we swore to them.

9:21 They shall live and become woodcutters and water-carriers for the whole congregation," as the leaders had told them.

9:22 And Joshua called them and said, "Why did you deceive me, saying, 'We are very far from you,' when you are inhabitants of the land, dwelling among us?

9:23 Now you are cursed: a slave and a woodcutter shall never be lacking among you, for me and for my God."

9:24 They answered Joshua, "We were told all that the Lord your God commanded His servant Moses: to give you this land, and to destroy us and all its inhabitants before you. We feared greatly for our lives because of you, and did this.

9:25 And now, behold, we are in your power. Do to us as pleases you and seems best to you."

9:26 They did so for them, and Joshua rescued them that day from the hands of the sons of Israel, and they did not kill them.

9:27 That day Joshua appointed them woodcutters and water-carriers for the whole congregation and God's altar. Therefore Gibeon's inhabitants became woodcutters and water-carriers for God's altar to this day, and for the place the Lord would choose.

Joshua 10

10:1 Adoni-bezek king of Jerusalem heard that Joshua had taken Ai and destroyed it. As they had done to Jericho and its king, so they had done to Ai and its king. He also heard that Gibeon's inhabitants had gone over to Joshua and Israel.

10:2 They were greatly afraid of them, for he knew that Gibeon was a great city, like one of the chief cities, and all its men were strong.

10:3 Adoni-bezek king of Jerusalem sent to Ailam king of Hebron, Pheidon king of Jarmuth, Jephtha king of Lachish, and Debir king of Adullam, saying:

10:4 "Come up to me and help me. Let us wage war on Gibeon, for they have gone over to Joshua and the sons of Israel."

10:5 The five kings of the Jebusites—of Jerusalem, Hebron, Jarmuth, Lachish, and Adullam—went up with all their people. They surrounded Gibeon and besieged it.

10:6 The inhabitants of Gibeon sent to Joshua at the camp of Israel in Gilgal, saying, "Do not withdraw your hands from your servants. Come up to us quickly, and save us and help us; for all the kings of the Amorites dwelling in the hill country are gathered against us."

10:7 Joshua went up from Gilgal with all the fighting people, every mighty man of strength.

10:8 The Lord said to Joshua, "Do not fear them, for I have delivered them into your hands. None of them shall remain before you."

10:9 Joshua arrived against them suddenly, having travelled from Gilgal the whole night.

10:10 The Lord threw them into confusion before the sons of Israel, and the Lord crushed them with a great defeat at Gibeon. They pursued them along the ascent of Horonin and cut them down as far as Azekah and Makkedah.

10:11 As they fled before the sons of Israel down the descent of Horonin, the Lord hurled hailstones from heaven upon them as far as Azekah. More died from the hailstones than the sons of Israel killed with the sword in battle.

10:12 Then Joshua spoke to the Lord on the day God handed the Amorites over to Israel, when He crushed them at Gibeon and they were crushed before the sons of Israel. Joshua said, "Let the sun stand over Gibeon, and the moon over the ravine of Aijalon."

10:13 The sun stood, and the moon remained still, until God repelled their enemies. The sun stood in the middle of heaven and did not advance toward sunset for a full day.

10:14 There was no such day before or afterward, when God listened to a human being, for the Lord fought alongside Israel.

10:16 These five kings fled and hid in the cave at Makkedah.

10:17 Joshua was informed, "The five kings have been found hiding in the cave at Makkedah."

10:18 Joshua said, "Roll stones against the mouth of the cave and station men over them to keep watch.

10:19 Do not stop pursuing your enemies. Overtake their rear guard, and do not let them enter their cities; for the Lord our God has delivered them into our hands."

10:20 When Joshua and every son of Israel had finished cutting them down in a very great slaughter to the end, those who escaped reached the fortified cities.

10:21 All the people returned safely to Joshua at Makkedah, and none of the sons of Israel muttered with his tongue.

10:22 Joshua said, "Open the cave and bring these five kings out of it."

10:23 They brought the five kings out of the cave: the kings of Jerusalem, Hebron, Jarmuth, Lachish, and Adullam.

10:24 When they brought them to Joshua, he summoned all Israel and the leaders in battle who had accompanied him, saying, "Come forward and put your feet on their necks." They came forward and put their feet on their necks.

10:25 Joshua said to them, "Do not fear them or lose heart. Be courageous and strong, for this is what the Lord shall do to all your enemies against whom you wage war."

10:26 Joshua killed them and hanged them on five trees. They remained hanging on the trees until evening.

10:27 At sunset Joshua gave the command, and they took the bodies down from the trees and threw them into the cave where they had fled. They rolled stones against the cave, which remain to this day.

10:28 That day they took Makkedah, slaughtered it with the edge of the sword, and destroyed everything breathing in it. No survivor or fugitive remained. They did to Makkedah's king as they had done to Jericho's king.

10:29 Joshua and all Israel with him went from Makkedah to Libnah and besieged it.

10:30 The Lord handed it into Israel's hands. They took it and its king, struck it and everything breathing in it with the edge of the sword, and left no survivor or fugitive. They did to its king as they had done to Jericho's king.

10:31 Joshua and all Israel with him went from Libnah to Lachish, surrounded it, and besieged it.

10:32 The Lord handed Lachish into Israel's hands. He took it on the second day, and they struck it with the edge of the sword and destroyed it, as they had done to Libnah.

10:33 Then Ailam king of Gezer came up to help Lachish. Joshua struck him and his people with the edge of the sword until no survivor or fugitive remained.

10:34 Joshua and all Israel with him went from Lachish to Adullam, surrounded it, and besieged it.

10:35 The Lord handed it into Israel's hand. He took it that day and slaughtered it with the edge of the sword, and they slaughtered everything breathing in it, as they had done to Lachish.

10:36 Joshua and all Israel with him went to Hebron and surrounded it.

10:37 He struck it and everything breathing in it with the edge of the sword. No survivor remained. As they had done to Adullam, they destroyed it and everything in it.

10:38 Joshua and all Israel turned toward Debir and surrounded it,

10:39 and took it, its king, and its villages. They struck it with the edge of the sword and destroyed it and everything breathing in it, leaving no survivor. As they had done to Hebron and its king, so they did to Debir and its king.

10:40 Joshua struck all the land of the hill country, the Negeb, the plain, and Asedoth, with its kings. They left no survivor, and he destroyed everything breathing with life, as the Lord, the God of Israel, commanded.

10:41 From Kadesh-barnea to Gaza, all Gosom as far as Gibeon.

10:42 Joshua struck all their kings and their land at one time, because the Lord, the God of Israel, fought alongside Israel.

Joshua 11

11:1 When Jabin king of Hazor heard, he sent to Jobab king of Marron, to the king of Symoon, and to the king of Aziph,

11:2 and to the kings near Sidon the Great, in the hill country, in the Raba opposite Chinneroth, in the plain, and in Napheddor,

11:3 and to the coastal Canaanites from the east, the coastal Amorites, the Hivites, Jebusites, and Perizzites in the hill country, and the Hittites beneath Hermon in the land of Mizpah.

11:4 They came out, with their kings—as numerous as the sand of the sea, with very many horses and chariots.

11:5 All these kings assembled, came together, and camped at the water of Marron to fight Israel.

11:6 The Lord said to Joshua, "Do not fear them, for tomorrow at this hour I am delivering them, routed, before Israel. You shall hamstring their horses and burn their chariots with fire."

11:7 Joshua and all the fighting people came upon them suddenly at the water of Marron and fell upon them in the hill country.

11:8 The Lord handed them over to Israel. Striking them, they pursued them as far as Sidon the Great, Maseron, and the plains of Massoch toward the east. They cut them down until none of them was left alive.

11:9 Joshua did to them as the Lord had commanded him: he hamstrung their horses and set their chariots on fire.

11:10 Joshua turned back at that time and captured Hazor and its king; Hazor had formerly ruled all these kingdoms.

11:11 They killed everything that breathed in it with the sword and destroyed them all. Nothing that breathed was left in it, and they set Hazor on fire.

11:12 Joshua took all the cities of the kings and their kings and killed them with the edge of the sword. They destroyed them, as Moses the servant of the Lord had ordered.

11:13 But Israel did not burn any of the cities enclosed with earthworks; Hazor alone Joshua burned.

11:14 The sons of Israel took all its spoil for themselves. But they destroyed all the people with the edge of the sword until he had destroyed them; they left not even one of them breathing.

11:15 As the Lord ordered Moses His servant, so Moses commanded Joshua, and so Joshua did. He transgressed none of all that Moses had ordered him.

11:16 Joshua took all the hill country, all the Negeb, all the land of Gosom, the plain, the western region, the mountain of Israel, and the low places,

11:17 those near the mountain, from Mount Achel and what rises toward Seir as far as Baal-gad and the plains of Lebanon beneath Mount Hermon. He took all their kings, did away with them, and killed them.

11:18 Joshua waged war against these kings for many days.

11:19 There was no city that Israel did not take; they took everything in war.

11:20 For through the Lord their hearts were strengthened to meet Israel in war, so that they might be destroyed, that no mercy might be given them, but that they might be destroyed, as the Lord had said to Moses.

11:21 At that time Joshua came and destroyed the Anakim from the hill country—from Hebron, Debir, Anaboth, all the stock of Israel, and all the hill country of Judah—with their cities. Joshua destroyed them.

11:22 None of the Anakim was left among the sons of Israel; only in Gaza, Gath, and Ashdod were they left.

11:23 Joshua took all the land, as the Lord had commanded Moses, and Joshua gave these as an inheritance to Israel, in a division according to their tribes. And the land ceased being at war.

Joshua 12

12:1 These are the kings of the land whom the sons of Israel killed, whose land they inherited beyond the Jordan toward the sunrise, from the Arnon ravine to Mount Hermon and all the land of Arabah eastward:

12:2 Sihon king of the Amorites, who lived in Heshbon, ruling from Aroer, which is in the ravine, along part of the ravine, and half of Gilead as far as Jabbok, the borders of the sons of Ammon,

12:3 and Arabah as far as the Sea of Chinnereth toward the east, and as far as the Sea of Arabah, the Salt Sea on the east, by the road toward Asimoth, from Thaiman beneath Asedoth Phasga;

12:4 and Og king of Bashan, one of the remaining giants, who lived in Ashtaroth and Edrei,

12:5 ruling from Mount Hermon and Salcah over all Bashan as far as the borders of Geshur and Maacah, and half of Gilead, the borders of Sihon king of Heshbon.

12:6 Moses the servant of the Lord and the sons of Israel struck them, and Moses gave it as an inheritance to Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh.

12:7 These are the kings of the Amorites whom Joshua and the sons of Israel killed beyond the Jordan toward the sea, at Baal-gad in the plain of Lebanon and as far as Mount Chelcha on the ascent to Seir. Joshua gave it to the tribes of Israel to inherit according to their lot,

12:8 in the mountain, the plain, Arabah, Asedoth, the wilderness, and the Negeb: the Hittite, Amorite, Canaanite, Perizzite, Hivite, and Jebusite:

12:9 the king of Jericho and the king of Ai, which is near Bethel;

12:10 the king of Jerusalem; the king of Hebron;

12:11 the king of Jarmuth; the king of Lachish;

12:12 the king of Ailam; the king of Gezer;

12:13 the king of Debir; the king of Geder;

12:14 the king of Hormah; the king of Arad;

12:15 the king of Libnah; the king of Adullam;

12:16 the king of Makkedah;

12:17 the king of Taphoug; the king of Hepher;

12:18 the king of Aphek of Sharon;

12:19 the king of Hazor;

12:20 the king of Symoon; the king of Marron; the king of Aziph;

12:21 the king of Kedesh; the king of Taanach;

12:22 the king of Megiddo; the king of Jokneam in Carmel;

12:23 the king of Dor in Napheddor; the king of Goiim in Galilee;

12:24 the king of Tirzah. All these kings: twenty-nine.

Joshua 13

13:1 Now Joshua was old and advanced in days. The Lord said to Joshua, “You are advanced in days, and much land remains for an inheritance.

13:2 This is the land left: the territories of the Philistines, the Geshurites, and the Canaanites,

13:3 from the uninhabited region facing Egypt as far as the borders of Ekron, on the left of the Canaanites; it is reckoned to the five satrapies of the Philistines: Gaza, Ashdod, Ashkelon, Gath, and Ekron; and to the Hivites,

13:4 from Thaiman, and to all the land of Canaan opposite Gaza; and the Sidonians as far as Aphek, as far as the borders of the Amorites;

13:5 and all the land of Gabli of the Philistines, and all Lebanon toward the sunrise, from Gilgal beneath Mount Hermon to the entrance of Hamath.

13:6 All who dwell in the hill country from Lebanon to Misrephoth-maim, all the Sidonians, I will destroy before Israel. Only distribute it by lot to Israel, as I commanded you.

13:7 Now divide this land as an inheritance for the nine tribes and the half-tribe of Manasseh. You shall give it from the Jordan to the Great Sea toward the sunset; the Great Sea shall be the boundary.”

13:8 To the two tribes and the half-tribe of Manasseh—to Reuben and Gad—Moses gave land beyond the Jordan toward the sunrise. Moses the servant of the Lord gave it,

13:9 from Aroer on the bank of the Arnon torrent, and the city in the middle of the ravine, and all the Misor from Medeba to Dibon;

13:10 all the cities of Sihon king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon, as far as the borders of the sons of Ammon;

13:11 Gilead, the territories of the Geshurites and Maacathites, all Mount Hermon, and all Bashan as far as Salcah;

13:12 all the kingdom of Og in Bashan, who reigned in Ashtaroth and Edrei. He was one of the remaining giants, and Moses struck him and destroyed him.

13:13 But the sons of Israel did not destroy the Geshurites, Maacathites, and Canaanites; the king of Geshur and the Maacathites lived among the sons of Israel to this very day.

13:14 Only the tribe of Levi was given no inheritance. The Lord, the God of Israel, is their inheritance, as the Lord said to them. This is the division that Moses apportioned to the sons of Israel in Araboth Moab beyond the Jordan opposite Jericho.

13:15 Moses gave an inheritance to the tribe of Reuben according to their divisions.

13:16 Their borders were from Aroer facing the Arnon ravine, and the city in the Arnon ravine, and all the Misor,

13:17 as far as Heshbon and all the cities in the Misor, Dibon, Bamoth-baal, and the house of Beelmon,

13:18 Jahaz, Kedemoth, and Mephaath,

13:19 Kiriathaim, Sibmah, Serada, and Sior on Mount Emak,

13:20 Beth-peor, Asedoth Phasga, and Beth-jeshimoth,

13:21 all the cities of the Misor and all the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, whom Moses struck, together with the leaders of Midian—Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur, and Reba—rulers under Sihon, and those who lived in the land.

13:22 They also killed Balaam son of Beor, the diviner, in the onslaught.

13:23 The borders of Reuben were: the Jordan as boundary. This was the inheritance of the sons of Reuben according to their divisions—their cities and their settlements.

13:24 Moses gave an inheritance to the sons of Gad according to their divisions.

13:25 Their borders were Jazer, all the cities of Gilead, and half the land of the sons of Ammon, as far as Aroer facing Rabbah,

13:26 and from Heshbon to Ramoth toward Mizpah, and Betonim and Mahanaim, as far as the borders of Debir;

13:27 and in Emek: Beth-haram, Bethanabra, Succoth, and Zaphon, and the rest of the kingdom of Sihon king of Heshbon. The Jordan shall form the boundary as far as a part of the Sea of Chinnereth beyond the Jordan on the east.

13:28 This was the inheritance of the sons of Gad according to their divisions—their cities and their settlements.

13:29 Moses gave an inheritance to the half-tribe of Manasseh according to their divisions.

13:30 Their borders were from Mahanaim: all the kingdom of Bashan, all the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, and all the villages of Jair in Bashan—sixty cities;

13:31 and half of Gilead, and the places in Ashtaroth and Edrei, cities of Og’s kingdom in Bashan, were given to the sons of Machir son of Manasseh and to half the sons of Machir son of Manasseh according to their divisions.

13:32 These are those whom Moses endowed with an inheritance beyond the Jordan, in Araboth Moab, beyond the Jordan opposite Jericho on the east.

Joshua 14

14:1 These are the sons of Israel who received an inheritance in the land of Canaan. Eleazar the priest, Joshua son of Nun, and the leaders of the ancestral houses of the tribes of the sons of Israel assigned it to them.

14:2 They inherited by lots, as the Lord commanded through Joshua for the nine tribes and the half-tribe,

14:3 from beyond the Jordan. And he gave the Levites no lot among them.

14:4 For the sons of Joseph were two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim. No portion in the land was given to the Levites, except cities to live in, their allotted lands for the livestock, and their livestock.

14:5 As the Lord had commanded Moses, so the sons of Israel did, and they divided the land.

14:6 The sons of Judah drew near to Joshua at Gilgal. Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite said to him, “You know the word that the Lord spoke to Moses the man of God concerning me and you at Kadesh-barnea.

14:7 For I was forty years old when Moses the servant of God sent me from Kadesh-barnea to spy out the land, and I answered him with a report according to his mind.

Note †: Joshua 14:7. His mind. The Greek says Caleb reported according to his mind, and Brenton preserves his. KJV reads mine heart and DRC as to me seemed true. Retain the Greek pronoun; identifying its antecedent is an interpretive question rather than a reason to replace it silently with the first person. ↩ 14:7

14:8 But my brothers who went up with me turned away the heart of the people; yet I gave myself to follow the Lord my God.

14:9 Moses swore on that day, saying, ‘The land on which you have trodden shall be a lot for you and your children for ever, for you gave yourself to follow the Lord our God.’

14:10 Now the Lord has sustained me, as He said. This is the forty-fifth year since the Lord spoke this word to Moses and Israel journeyed in the wilderness. And now, look: today I am eighty-five years old.

14:11 I am still strong today, as when Moses sent me; I am just as strong now to go out and come in for war.

14:12 Now I ask you for this mountain, as the Lord said on that day, for you heard this word on that day. The Anakim are now there, and great, fortified cities. If the Lord is with me, I shall destroy them, as the Lord said to me.”

14:13 Joshua blessed him and gave Hebron to Caleb son of Jephunneh son of Kenaz as a lot.

14:14 Therefore Hebron has belonged to Caleb son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite as a lot to this day, because he followed the command of the Lord, the God of Israel.

14:15 The former name of Hebron was the city of Arbok; it was the mother-city of the Anakim. And the land grew quiet from war.

Joshua 15

15:1 The borders of the tribe of Judah according to their divisions extended from the borders of Idumea, from the wilderness of Zin as far as Kadesh toward the southwest.

15:2 Their borders on the southwest extended to the edge of the Salt Sea, from the ridge stretching toward the southwest, 15:3 and it passes opposite the ascent of Akrabin, goes around Senna, goes up from the southwest to Kadesh-barnea, goes out to Hezron, ascends to Addara, and goes around the region west of Kadesh.

15:4 It goes toward Azmon and will pass through as far as the ravine of Egypt; the boundary will end at the sea. These are their borders on the southwest.

15:5 The borders on the east were the whole Salt Sea as far as the Jordan. Their borders on the north began at the ridge of the sea and at the edge of the Jordan.

15:6 The boundary rises to Beth-hoglah, passes on the north to Beth-arabah, and ascends to the stone of Baion son of Reuben.

15:7 The boundary ascends to the fourth part of the ravine of Achor and descends to Gilgal, opposite the ascent of Addamin, southwest of the ravine. It will pass through to the water of the Spring of the Sun and will end at the Spring of Rogel.

15:8 The boundary ascends into the ravine of Onom along the southwestern ridge of Jebus—that is Jerusalem. It passes through to the mountain summit facing the ravine of Onom toward the sea, at the northern part of the land of Raphain.

15:9 The boundary passes from the mountain’s summit to the spring of the water of Naphtho and passes to Mount Ephron. The boundary leads to Baal—that is the city of Jearim.

15:10 The boundary will go around from Baal toward the sea and pass to Mount Assares along the ridge, to the city of Jearim on the north—that is Chesalon. It will descend to the City of the Sun and pass toward the southwest.

15:11 The boundary will pass along the ridge of Ekron on the north, go out to Shikkeron, pass Mount Baalah, and go out to Jabneel. The boundary will end at the sea.

15:12 Their borders on the sea side were: the Great Sea shall form the boundary. These are the borders of the sons of Judah all around, according to their divisions.

15:13 To Caleb son of Jephunneh he gave a portion among the sons of Judah by God’s command, and Joshua gave him the city of Arbok, the mother-city of Anak—that is Hebron.

15:14 Caleb son of Jephunneh destroyed from there the three sons of Anak: Sousi, Talmai, and Achima.

15:15 Caleb went up from there against the inhabitants of Debir; Debir’s former name was City of Letters.

15:16 Caleb said, “Whoever takes and cuts down the City of Letters and gains mastery over it, I will give him my daughter Achsah as a wife.”

15:17 Othniel son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother, took it, and he gave him his daughter Achsah as his wife.

15:18 When she entered, she consulted with him, saying, "I will ask my father for a field." She cried out from the donkey, and Caleb said to her, "What is it?"

15:19 And she said to him, "Give me a blessing; for you have given me to the land of Negeb. Give me Golathmaim." And Caleb gave her Upper Golathmaim and Lower Golathmaim.

15:20 This was the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Judah.

15:21 Their cities were these: the first city of the tribe of the sons of Judah at the borders of Edom in the wilderness was Kaibaiseleel; also Ara and Hazor,

15:22 Ikam, Regma, and Arouel,

15:23 Kedesh and Asorionain,

15:24 Mainam, Balmainan, and their villages,

15:25 and the cities of Aseron—that is Hazor,

15:26 Sen, Salmaa, and Moladah,

15:27 Seri and Baiphalad,

15:28 Cholaseola and Beer-sheba, with their villages and their settlements,

15:29 Baalah, Bakok, and Asom,

15:30 Elboudad, Bethel, and Hormah,

15:31 Ziklag, Macharim, and Sethennak,

15:32 Labos, Sale, and Eromoth: twenty-nine cities, with their villages.

15:33 In the plain: Eshtaol, Raa, and Assa,

15:34 Ramen, Tano, Ilouthoth, and Maiani,

15:35 Jarmuth, Adullam, Membra, Socoh, and Azekah,

15:36 Sakarim and Gederah, with its settlements: fourteen cities, with their villages.

15:37 Senna, Adasan, and Magadagad,

15:38 Dalal, Mizpah, and Jakareel,

15:39 Lachish, Basedoth, and Ideadalea,

15:40 Chabra, Maches, and Maachos,

15:41 Geddor, Bagadiel, Naamah, and Makkedah: sixteen cities, with their villages.

15:42 Libnah and Ithak,

15:43 Anoch, Jana, and Nezib,

15:44 Keilam, Akiezi, Kezib, Bathesar, and Ailon: ten cities, with their villages.

15:45 Ekron, its villages, and their settlements;

15:46 from Ekron, Gemna, and all the places near Ashdod, with their villages;

15:47 Ashdod, its villages, and its settlements; Gaza, its villages, and its settlements, as far as the torrent of Egypt. The Great Sea marks the boundary.

15:48 In the hill country: Shamir, Jattir, and Socoh,

15:49 Renna and City of Letters—that is Debir,

15:50 Anon, Eskaiman, and Aisam,

15:51 Gosom, Chalou, and Channa: eleven cities, with their villages.

15:52 Airem, Remna, and Soma,

15:53 Jemain, Bethachou, and Phakoua,

15:54 Euma, the city of Arbok—that is Hebron—and Sorth: nine cities, with their settlements.

15:55 Maor, Carmel, Ozib, and Itan,

15:56 Jariel, Jarikam, and Zakanaiim,

15:57 Gibeah and Timnah: nine cities, with their villages.

15:58 Aloua, Beth-zur, and Geddon,

15:59 Magaroth, Bethanam, and Thekoum: six cities, with their villages.

15:59a Tekoa, Ephrathah—that is Bethlehem—Phagor, Aitan, Koulon, Tatam, Eobes, Karem, Galem, Thether, and Manocho: eleven cities, with their villages.

15:60 Kiriath-baal—that is the city of Jearim—and Sotheba: two cities, with their settlements.

15:61 Baddargis, Tharabaam, Ainon, and Aichioza,

15:62 Naphlazon, the cities of Sodom, and Ankades: seven cities, with their villages.

15:63 The Jebusites lived in Jerusalem, and the sons of Judah could not destroy them. The Jebusites lived in Jerusalem until that day.

Joshua 16

16:1 The borders of the sons of Joseph began at the Jordan opposite Jericho on the east and will ascend from Jericho into the wilderness hill country to Bethel-luza,

16:2 and will go out to Bethel and pass to the borders of the Chatarothites,

16:3 and will pass toward the sea to the borders of Aptalim as far as the borders of Lower Beth-horon; their endpoint will be at the sea.

16:4 The sons of Joseph, Ephraim and Manasseh, received their inheritance.

16:5 The borders of the sons of Ephraim according to their divisions were these: the borders of their inheritance on the east were Ataroth and Erok, as far as Upper Beth-horon and Gazara.

16:6 The boundary will pass toward the sea to Ikasmon, with Therma on the north; it will turn eastward to Thenasa and Sellesa and pass on the east to Janoka,

16:7 and to Macho and Ataroth and their villages; it will come to Jericho and pass through to the Jordan.

16:8 From Taphou the boundary will go toward the sea to Chelkana, and their endpoint will be at the sea. This is the inheritance of the tribe of Ephraim according to their divisions.

16:9 Also there were cities set apart for the sons of Ephraim amid the inheritance of the sons of Manasseh—all the cities and their villages.

16:10 Ephraim did not destroy the Canaanites who lived in Gezer. The Canaanites lived in Ephraim to this day, until Pharaoh king of Egypt went up, took it, and set it on fire. They pierced through the Canaanites, Perizzites, and inhabitants of Gezer, and Pharaoh gave it as a dowry to his daughter.

Joshua 17

17:1 The borders belonged to the tribe of the sons of Manasseh, for he was Joseph's firstborn: to Machir, Manasseh's firstborn, the father of Gilead—for he was a man of war—in Gilead and Bashan.

17:2 There was also an allotment for the remaining sons of Manasseh according to their divisions: the sons of Jezer, Kelez, Jeziel, Shechem, Symarim, and Hepher. These were the males according to their divisions.

17:3 Zelophehad son of Hepher had no sons, only daughters. These were the names of Zelophehad's daughters: Mahlah, Noah, Egla, Milcah, and Tirzah.

17:4 They stood before Eleazar the priest, Joshua, and the leaders, saying, "God commanded through Moses that an inheritance be given us among our brothers." A lot was given them by the Lord's command among their father's brothers.

17:5 Their measured allotment fell from Anassa, and the plain of Labek from Gilead, which is beyond the Jordan,

17:6 because daughters of the sons of Manasseh inherited a lot among their brothers. The land of Gilead belonged to the remaining sons of Manasseh.

17:7 The borders of the sons of Manasseh were Delanath, which faces the sons of Anath; the boundary goes to Jamin and Jassib, to the spring of Thaphthoth.

17:8 It shall belong to Manasseh, but Thapheth on the borders of Manasseh belongs to the sons of Ephraim.

17:9 The boundary will descend to the ravine of Karana toward the southwest, along the ravine of Jariel; a terebinth belongs to Ephraim amid a city of Manasseh. Manasseh's border is on the north toward the torrent, and its endpoint will be the sea.

17:10 On the southwest it belongs to Ephraim, and on the north to Manasseh; the sea shall be their boundary. They shall join Asher on the north and Issachar on the east.

17:11 Within Issachar and Asher, Manasseh shall have Beth-shean and their villages, the inhabitants of Dor and its villages, the inhabitants of Megiddo and its villages, and the third part of Napheta and its villages.

17:12 The sons of Manasseh could not destroy these cities, and the Canaanites began to live in this land.

17:13 When the sons of Israel grew strong, they made the Canaanites subject to them, but did not utterly destroy them.

17:14 The sons of Joseph answered Joshua, saying, "Why have you given us only one lot and one measured portion as an inheritance? I am a numerous people, and God has blessed me."

17:15 Joshua said to them, "If you are a numerous people, go up to the woodland and clear it for yourself, if the mountain of Ephraim is too cramped for you."

17:16 They said, "The mountain of Ephraim will not be enough for us, and the Canaanites dwelling in it have choice cavalry and iron, in Beth-shean and its villages in the Valley of Jezreel."

17:17 And Joshua said to the sons of Joseph, "If you are a numerous people and have great strength, you shall not have one lot only,

17:18 for the woodland shall be yours. Since it is woodland, you shall clear it, and it shall be yours, when you destroy the Canaanites, though they have choice cavalry; for you are stronger than they."

Joshua 18

18:1 The whole congregation of the sons of Israel assembled at Shiloh and pitched the Tabernacle of Testimony there. The land was held under their control.

18:2 Seven tribes of the sons of Israel remained who had not received an inheritance.

18:3 Joshua said to the sons of Israel, "How long will you delay taking possession of the land which the Lord our God has given?

18:4 Provide three men from each tribe, and let them rise, travel through the land, and describe it before me according to how it needs to be divided." (They came to him, 18:5 and he divided seven portions for them.) "Judah shall mark their boundary on the southwest, and the sons of Joseph shall mark it on the north.

18:6 Divide the land into seven portions and bring it here to me, and I will bring out a lot for you before the Lord our God.

18:7 For the sons of Levi have no portion among you, because the priesthood of the Lord is their portion. Gad, Reuben, and the half-tribe of Manasseh received their inheritance beyond the Jordan on the east, which Moses the servant of the Lord gave them."

18:8 The men rose and went. Joshua commanded the men going to survey the land, saying, "Go and survey the land and return to me. Here at Shiloh I will bring out a lot for you before the Lord."

18:9 They went, surveyed the land, saw it, and wrote it by its cities in seven portions in a scroll, which they brought to Joshua.

18:10 Joshua cast a lot for them at Shiloh before the Lord.

18:11 The lot of the tribe of Benjamin came out first according to their divisions. The borders of their lot extended between Judah and the sons of Joseph.

18:12 Their borders on the north began at the Jordan. The boundary will ascend along the northern ridge of Jericho, go up the mountain toward the sea, and end at the wilderness district of Bethon.

18:13 From there the boundary will pass to Luza along its southwestern ridge—that is Bethel—and descend to Maatarothorech, into the hill country southwest of Lower Beth-horon.

18:14 The boundary will pass and turn on the side facing the sea toward the southwest, from the mountain facing Beth-horon on the southwest, and end at Kiriath-baal—that is Kiriath-jearim, a city of the sons of Judah. This is the side toward the sea.

18:15 The southwestern side began at the edge of Kiriath-baal. The boundary will pass to Gasin, to the spring of the water of Naphtho.

18:16 The boundary will descend to the edge of the mountain facing the wooded valley of Onnam, at the northern part of Emekraphain. It will descend through Gaienna along the southwestern ridge of the Jebusites and descend to the Spring of Rogel,

18:17 and will pass to the spring of Bethsamys, pass to Galiloth opposite the ascent of Aithamin, and descend to the stone of Baion of the sons of Reuben.

18:18 It will pass along the northern ridge of Beth-arabah and descend

18:19 to the borders along the northern ridge of Beth-hoglah. The boundary will end at the northern ridge of the Salt Sea, at the edge of the Jordan on the southwest. These are the borders on the southwest.

18:20 The Jordan shall form the boundary on the eastern side. This is the inheritance of the sons of Benjamin, its borders all around, according to their divisions.

18:21 The cities of the sons of Benjamin according to their divisions were Jericho, Betheglio, and Amekasis,

18:22 Bethabara, Sara, and Besana,

18:23 Aiin, Phara, and Ephrathah,

18:24 Karapha, Kephira, Moni, and Gaba: twelve cities, with their villages.

18:25 Gibeon, Ramah, and Beeroth,

18:26 Massema, Miron, and Amoke,

18:27 Phira, Kaphan, Nakan, Selekan, and Thareela,

18:28 Jebus—that is Jerusalem—and cities, and Gabaothjarim: thirteen cities, with their villages. This is the inheritance of the sons of Benjamin according to their divisions.

Joshua 19

19:1 The second lot came out for the sons of Simeon, and their inheritance lay amid the lots of the sons of Judah.

19:2 Their lot was Beer-sheba, Samaa, and Koladam,

19:3 Arsola, Bola, and Asom,

19:4 Elthoula, Boula, and Hormah,

19:5 Ziklag, Bethmachereb, and Sarsousin,

19:6 Batharoth and their fields: thirteen cities, with their villages.

19:7 Eremmon, Thalcha, Ether, and Ashan: four cities, with their villages

19:8 around their cities as far as Barek, going toward Bameth on the southwest. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Simeon according to their divisions.

19:9 The inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Simeon came from Judah's lot, because the portion of the sons of Judah was larger than theirs. So the sons of Simeon inherited amid their lot.

19:10 The third lot came out for Zebulun according to their divisions. The borders of their inheritance shall be Esedek, 19:11 Gola; their borders are the sea and Maragella. It shall join Beth-arabah at the ravine facing Jekman.

19:12 It turned back from Seddouk opposite the east, to Bethsamys at the borders of Chaselothaith; it will pass to Daberoth and ascend to Phangai.

19:13 From there it will turn opposite the east toward Gebere, toward the city of Katasem, and pass to Remmona, Amathar, Aoza.

19:14 The boundary will turn on the north toward Amoth, and their endpoint shall be Gaiphael, 19:15 with Katanath, Nabaal, Symoon, Jericho, and Bethman.

19:16 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Zebulun according to their divisions—cities and their villages.

19:17 The fourth lot came out for Issachar.

19:18 Their borders included Jazel, Chasaloth, and Shunem,

19:19 Agin, Siona, Reeroth, and Anachereth,

19:20 Dabiron, Kison, and Rebes,

19:21 Remmas, Jeon, Tomman, Aimarek, and Bersaphes.

19:22 The boundary shall join Gaithbor and Salim toward the sea and Bethsamys, and its boundary shall end at the Jordan.

19:23 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Issachar according to their divisions—the cities and their villages.

19:24 The fifth lot came out for Asher.

19:25 Their borders extended from Eleketh, Aleph, Baithok, and Keaph,

19:26 and Elimelech, Amiel, and Maasa; it shall join Carmel toward the sea, and Sion and Labanath.

19:27 It shall turn from the sunrise to Bethegeneth and join Zebulun, and from Gai and Phtaiel on the north the boundary shall enter Saphthaibaithme and Inael and pass to Choba Masomel, 19:28 and Elbon, Raab, Ememaon, and Kanthan, as far as Sidon the Great.

19:29 The boundary shall turn to Ramah and as far as the spring of Masphassat and the Tyrians; the boundary shall turn to Jasiph, and its endpoint shall be the sea, and from Leb and Echozob, 19:30 with Archob, Aphek, and Raau.

19:31 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Asher according to their divisions—cities and their villages.

19:32 The sixth lot came out for Naphtali.

19:33 Their borders were Moolam, Mola, Besemiin, Arme, Nabok, and Jephthamai as far as Dodam, and their endpoints were the Jordan.

19:34 The boundary shall turn toward the sea to Enath Tabor, pass from there to Jakana, join Zebulun on the south and Asher toward the sea, with the Jordan toward the sunrise.

19:35 The walled cities of the Tyrians were Tyre and Omatha, Daketh and Chinnereth,

19:36 Armaith, Arael, and Hazor,

19:37 Kedesh, Assari, and the Spring of Hazor,

19:38 Keroe, Megala, Arim, Beththame, and Thessamys.

19:39 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Naphtali.

19:40 The seventh lot came out for Dan.

19:41 Their borders were Sarath and Asa, cities of Sammaus,

19:42 Salabin, Ammon, and Silatha,

19:43 Ailon, Timnah, and Ekron,

19:44 Alkatha, Begethon, and Gebeelan,

19:45 Azor, Banaibakat, and Gath-rimmon,

19:46 From the sea, Jerakon was a boundary near Joppa.

19:47 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Dan according to their divisions—their cities and their villages.

19:47a The sons of Dan did not drive out the Amorites who were pressing them in the hill country. The Amorites did not allow them to descend into the valley and pressed away from them the boundary of their allotted portion.

19:48 The sons of Judah went and fought against Lachish, captured it, struck it with the edge of the sword, and inhabited it. They called its name Lasendak.

Note †: Joshua 19:48. Judah and Lachish. The governing Greek names the sons of Judah, Lachish, and Lasendak. Brenton names Dan with Lachis and Lasendan; KJV and DRC put Dan’s taking of Leshem or Lesem at 19:47. This is a substantial divergence. Retain the declared Greek reading and show the comparison at the corresponding passage, not merely at the same verse number. ↩ 19:48

19:48a The Amorites persisted in dwelling in Elom and Salamin. The hand of Ephraim grew heavy upon them, and they became tributary to them.

19:49 They went to take possession of the land according to their boundary, and the sons of Israel gave Joshua son of Nun a lot among them,

19:50 by God’s command. They gave him the city he requested, Thamnasarach, which is in the mountain of Ephraim. He built the city and lived in it.

19:51 These are the divisions that Eleazar the priest, Joshua son of Nun, and the leaders of the ancestral houses among the tribes of Israel assigned as inheritances by lots at Shiloh before the Lord, beside the doors of the Tabernacle of Testimony. They went to take possession of the land.

Joshua 20

20:1 The Lord spoke to Joshua, saying,

20:2 “Speak to the sons of Israel, saying, ‘Appoint for yourselves the cities of refuge of which I spoke to you through Moses,

20:3 a refuge for the killer who strikes a person involuntarily. The cities shall be a refuge for you; and the killer shall not die by the hand of the next of kin avenging the blood, until he stands before the congregation for judgment.’”

20:7 He set apart Kedesh in Galilee in the mountain of Naphtali, Shechem in the mountain of Ephraim, and the city of Arbok—that is Hebron—in the mountain of Judah.

20:8 Beyond the Jordan he appointed Bosor in the wilderness in the plain from the tribe of Reuben, Aremoth in Gilead from the tribe of Gad, and Gaulon in Bashan from the tribe of Manasseh.

20:9 These were the designated cities for the sons of Israel and for the sojourner attached to them, for anyone who struck a person involuntarily to flee there, so that he might not die by the hand of the next of kin avenging the blood until he stood before the congregation for judgment.

Joshua 21

21:1 The ancestral heads of the sons of Levi approached Eleazar the priest, Joshua son of Nun, and the tribal heads of the ancestral houses from the tribes of Israel,

21:2 and said to them at Shiloh in the land of Canaan, “The Lord commanded through Moses that cities be given us to live in, with surrounding lands for our livestock.”

21:3 The sons of Israel gave the Levites, when assigning the inheritance by the Lord’s command, the cities and their surrounding lands.

21:4 The lot came out for the division of Kohath, and the sons of Aaron, the priests, the Levites, received by lot thirteen cities from the tribe of Judah, the tribe of Simeon, and the tribe of Benjamin;

21:5 the remaining sons of Kohath received by lot ten cities from the tribe of Ephraim, the tribe of Dan, and the half-tribe of Manasseh.

21:6 The sons of Gershon received thirteen cities from the tribe of Issachar, the tribe of Asher, the tribe of Naphtali, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in Bashan.

21:7 The sons of Merari, according to their divisions, received by lot twelve cities from the tribe of Reuben, the tribe of Gad, and the tribe of Zebulun.

21:8 The sons of Israel gave the Levites the cities and their surrounding lands by lot, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

21:9 The tribe of the sons of Judah and the tribe of the sons of Simeon, and some from the tribe of the sons of Benjamin, gave the cities, and they were assigned

21:10 to the sons of Aaron from the division of Kohath among the sons of Levi, because the lot belonged to them.

21:11 He gave them Kiriath-arbok, the mother-city of the Anakim—that is Hebron—in the mountain of Judah. But the surrounding lands around it,

21:12 and the fields of the city and its villages, Joshua gave as a possession to the sons of Caleb son of Jephunneh.

21:13 To the sons of Aaron he gave Hebron, the city of refuge for the one who killed, with its allotted lands, and Libnah with its allotted lands,

21:14 Ailom with its allotted lands, and Tema with its allotted lands,

21:15 Gella with its allotted lands, and Debir with its allotted lands,

21:16 Asa with its allotted lands, Tany with its allotted lands, and Bethsamys with its allotted lands: nine cities from these two tribes.

21:17 From the tribe of Benjamin: Gibeon with its allotted lands, and Gathet with its allotted lands, 21:18 Anathoth with its allotted lands, and Gamala with its allotted lands: four cities.

21:19 All the cities of the sons of Aaron, the priests, were thirteen.

21:20 For the divisions of the sons of Kohath, the Levites remaining from the sons of Kohath, a city of their territory came from the tribe of Ephraim,

21:21 and they gave them Shechem, the city of refuge for the one who killed, with its allotted lands, and Gazara with what belonged to it and its allotted lands,

21:22 Kabsaïm with its allotted lands, and Upper Beth-horon with its allotted lands: four cities.

21:23 From the tribe of Dan: Elkothaim with its allotted lands, and Gethedan with its allotted lands,

21:24 Aijalon with its allotted lands, and Gath-rimmon with its allotted lands: four cities.

21:25 From the half-tribe of Manasseh: Taanach with its allotted lands, and Jebatha with its allotted lands: two cities.

21:26 All the cities were ten, with their allotted lands, for the divisions of the remaining sons of Kohath.

21:27 To the sons of Gershon, the Levites, from the half-tribe of Manasseh: the cities set apart for those who killed, Gaulon in Bashan with its allotted lands, and Bosora with its allotted lands: two cities.

21:28 From the tribe of Issachar: Kison with its allotted lands, and Debba with its allotted lands,

21:29 Remmath with its allotted lands, and Spring of Letters with its allotted lands: four cities.

21:30 From the tribe of Asher: Basellan with its allotted lands, and Dabbon with its allotted lands,

21:31 Helkath with its allotted lands, and Rehob with its allotted lands: four cities.

21:32 From the tribe of Naphtali: Kedesh in Galilee, the city set apart for the one who killed, with its allotted lands, Emmath with its allotted lands, and Themmon with its allotted lands: three cities.

21:33 All the cities of Gershon according to their divisions were thirteen cities.

21:34 To the division of the sons of Merari, the remaining Levites, from the tribe of the sons of Zebulun: Maan with its surrounding lands, and Kedesh with its surrounding lands,

21:35 Dimnah with its surrounding lands, and Sella with its surrounding lands: four cities.

21:36 Beyond the Jordan opposite Jericho, from the tribe of Reuben: Bosor, the city of refuge for the one who killed, in the wilderness of Misor, with its surrounding lands, and Jazer with its surrounding lands, 21:37 Dekmon with its surrounding lands, and Mapha with its surrounding lands: four cities.

21:38 From the tribe of Gad: Ramoth in Gilead, the city of refuge for the one who killed, with its surrounding lands, and Kamin with its surrounding lands,

21:39 Heshbon with its surrounding lands, and Jazer with its surrounding lands: four cities in all.

21:40 These were all the cities for the sons of Merari according to their divisions, those remaining from the tribe of Levi. Their territory comprised twelve cities.

21:41 All the cities of the Levites amid the possession of the sons of Israel were forty-eight cities with their surrounding lands

21:42 around these cities—each city with its surrounding lands around the city; so for all these cities.

21:42a Joshua finished dividing the land within their borders.

21:42b The sons of Israel gave Joshua a portion according to the Lord’s command. They gave him the city he requested; they gave him Thamnasarach in the mountain of Ephraim.

21:42c Joshua built the city and lived in it.

21:42d Joshua took the stone knives with which he circumcised the sons of Israel born on the journey in the wilderness, and he placed them in Thamnasarach.

21:43 The Lord gave Israel all the land that He had sworn to give their fathers. They inherited it and lived in it.

21:44 The Lord gave them rest all around, as He had sworn to their fathers. No one from all their enemies rose before them; the Lord handed all their enemies into their hands.

21:45 Not one of all the good words that the Lord spoke to the sons of Israel failed; all came to pass.

Joshua 22

22:1 Then Joshua summoned the sons of Reuben, the sons of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh,

22:2 and said to them, “You have heeded all that Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you, and have obeyed my voice in all that I commanded you.

22:3 You have not forsaken your brothers these many days, even to this day; you have kept the command of the Lord your God.

22:4 And now the Lord our God has given our brothers rest, as He told them. Turn back therefore, and go to your homes and to the land of your possession, which Moses gave you beyond the Jordan.

22:5 Only take great care to do the commandments and the law which Moses the servant of the Lord commanded us to do: to love the Lord your God, to walk in all His ways, to keep His commandments, to cling to Him, and to serve Him with all your mind and all your soul.”

22:6 Joshua blessed them and sent them away, and they went to their homes.

22:7 Moses had given an inheritance in Bashan to half the tribe of Manasseh, and Joshua had given one to the other half with their brothers beyond the Jordan toward the sea. When Joshua sent them away to their homes and blessed them,

22:8 they went to their homes with much wealth, very much livestock, silver, gold, iron, and many garments, and divided the spoil of the enemies with their brothers.

22:9 The sons of Reuben, the sons of Gad, and the half-tribe of the sons of Manasseh went from the sons of Israel at Shiloh in the land of Canaan to the land of Gilead, the land of their possession, which they inherited by the Lord’s command through Moses.

22:10 They came to Galgala of the Jordan, which is in the land of Canaan, and the sons of Gad, the sons of Reuben, and the half-tribe of Manasseh built an altar there beside the Jordan, an altar great to behold.

22:11 The sons of Israel heard people saying, “Behold, the sons of Gad, the sons of Reuben, and the half-tribe of Manasseh have built an altar at the borders of the land of Canaan, on the Gilead of the Jordan, on the side of the sons of Israel.”

22:12 All the sons of Israel gathered at Shiloh to go up and wage war against them.

22:13 The sons of Israel sent Phinehas son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the high priest, to the sons of Reuben, the sons of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in the land of Gilead,

22:14 and ten leaders with him, one leader from an ancestral house from each of the tribes of Israel; they were leaders of ancestral houses, commanders of thousands in Israel.

22:15 They came to the sons of Gad, the sons of Reuben, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in the land of Gilead and spoke to them, saying,

22:16 “Thus says the whole congregation of the Lord: ‘What is this offence that you have committed before the God of Israel, turning away today from the Lord, in that you have built yourselves an altar and become apostates from the Lord?

22:17 Was the sin of Peor a small thing for us? We have not been cleansed of it to this day, and a plague came upon the congregation of the Lord.

22:18 And will you turn away today from the Lord? If you depart today from the Lord, tomorrow wrath shall come upon all Israel.

22:19 Now, if the land of your possession is too small for you, cross into the land of the Lord’s possession, where the tabernacle of the Lord dwells, and inherit among us. Do not become apostates from God or depart from the Lord by building yourselves an altar apart from the altar of the Lord our God.

22:20 Behold, did not Achar son of Zerah commit an offence concerning the devoted thing, and wrath came upon the whole congregation of Israel? He was only one man; was he alone the one who died for his own sin?’”

22:21 The sons of Reuben, the sons of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh answered the commanders of thousands in Israel, saying,

22:22 “God, God is Lord! And God, God the Lord, He knows, and Israel shall know. If in apostasy we offended before the Lord, may He not deliver us this day.

22:23 If we built ourselves an altar to depart from the Lord our God, to offer on it a sacrifice of whole burnt offerings or a sacrifice of well-being, the Lord will require an account.

22:24 We did this out of concern about this matter, saying, ‘Tomorrow your children might say to our children, “What do you have to do with the Lord, the God of Israel?

22:25 The Lord has made the Jordan a boundary between us and you, and you have no portion in the Lord.” Your sons would turn our sons away, so that they would not revere the Lord.’

22:26 We said that we should act in this way: build this altar, not for offerings and not for sacrifices,

22:27 but so that it may be a testimony between us and you, and between our generations after us, that we may perform service to the Lord before Him with our offerings and our sacrifices and our sacrifices of well-being. Then your children shall not say to our children tomorrow, ‘You have no portion in the Lord.’

22:28 We said, ‘If ever they speak to us and to our generations tomorrow, they shall say, “Behold the likeness of the Lord’s altar which our fathers made, not for offerings or sacrifices, but as a testimony between you and us and between our sons.”’

22:29 May it never be that we turn away from the Lord in these present days, departing from the Lord by building an altar for offerings, salamin sacrifices, and a sacrifice of well-being apart from the Lord’s altar before His tent.”

Note †: Joshua 22:29. Salamin sacrifices. The Greek retains salamin as a borrowed sacrificial term. The draft keeps it provisionally with a note. Brenton renders the category through peace language; KJV has burnt, meat, and other offerings, while DRC uses sacrifices and victims. A familiar English list must not conceal the unresolved form in the declared source. ↩ 22:29

22:30 When Phinehas the priest and all the leaders of the congregation of Israel with him heard the words spoken by the sons of Reuben, the sons of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, they were pleased.

22:31 And Phinehas the priest said to the sons of Reuben, the sons of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, “Today we know that the Lord is with us, for you have committed no offence before the Lord, and you have delivered the sons of Israel from the hand of the Lord.”

22:32 Phinehas the priest and the leaders returned from the sons of Reuben, the sons of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, from the land of Gilead to the land of Canaan, to the sons of Israel, and reported the words to them.

22:33 It pleased the sons of Israel. They spoke to the sons of Israel, blessed the God of the sons of Israel, and said they should no longer go up against them for war to destroy the land of the sons of Reuben, the sons of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh. They dwelt upon it.

22:34 Joshua named the altar of Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, and said, “It is a testimony between them that the Lord is their God.”

Joshua 23

23:1 After many days, after the Lord had given Israel rest from all their enemies all around, Joshua was old, advanced in days,

23:2 and Joshua summoned all the sons of Israel, their council of elders, leaders, scribes, and judges, and said to them, “I have grown old and advanced in days.

23:3 You have seen all that the Lord your God did to all these nations before you; for the Lord your God is He who fought for you.

23:4 Behold, I have assigned these nations that remain to you in the lots for your tribes, from the Jordan, all the nations that I destroyed; and the boundary shall extend from the Great Sea toward the sunset.

23:5 The Lord your God Himself shall destroy them before you until they perish. He shall send wild beasts against them until He destroys them and their kings before you. Inherit their land, as the Lord your God told you.

23:6 Be very strong, then, to keep and do all that is written in the book of the law of Moses, so that you do not turn aside to the right or to the left,

23:7 and do not enter among these nations that remain. Do not let the names of their gods be named among you, and do not bow down to them or serve them,

23:8 but cling to the Lord your God, as you have done to this day.

23:9 The Lord destroyed them before you, great and strong nations; no one has stood against you to this day.

23:10 One of you pursued a thousand, for the Lord your God was fighting for you, as He told you.

23:11 Take great care to love the Lord your God.

23:12 For if you turn back and cling to these nations that remain with you, and intermarry with them, and mingle with them and they with you,

23:13 know that the Lord shall surely no longer destroy these nations before you. They shall be traps and stumbling blocks to you, and nails in your heels and darts in your eyes, until you perish from this good land which the Lord your God has given you.

23:14 I am departing on the way of all who are upon the earth. You shall know in your heart and soul that not one word has failed of all the words which the Lord your God spoke concerning all that belongs to you; not one has proved untrue.

23:15 As all the good words which the Lord spoke to you have come upon you, so the Lord God shall bring upon you all the harmful words, until He destroys you from this good land which the Lord gave you,

23:16 when you transgress the covenant of the Lord your God which He commanded you, and go and serve other gods and bow down to them.”

Joshua 24

24:1 Joshua gathered all the tribes of Israel to Shiloh. He summoned their elders, scribes, and judges and made them stand before God.

24:2 Joshua said to all the people, “Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: ‘From the beginning your fathers lived beyond the River—Terah, the father of Abraham and the father of Nahor—and they served other gods.

24:3 I took your father Abraham from beyond the River, led him through all the land, multiplied his offspring, and gave him Isaac,

24:4 and to Isaac, Jacob and Esau. I gave Mount Seir to Esau as his inheritance, and Jacob and his sons went down to Egypt and there became a great, numerous, and mighty nation.’

24:5 The Egyptians afflicted them, and the Lord struck Egypt by what He did to them; afterward He brought you

24:6 out of Egypt, and you entered the Red Sea. And the Egyptians pursued your fathers with chariots and horses into the Red Sea,

24:7 and we cried to the Lord. And He set a cloud and thick darkness between us and the Egyptians, and brought the sea upon them and covered them. And your eyes saw all that the Lord did in the land of Egypt. And you were in the wilderness many days.

24:8 And He brought you into the land of the Amorites dwelling beyond the Jordan. And they arrayed themselves against you, and the Lord delivered them into your hands. And you inherited their land and destroyed them before you.

24:9 Balak son of Zippor, king of Moab, arose and arrayed himself against Israel. He sent and called Balaam to curse you.

24:10 But the Lord your God was unwilling to destroy you. He blessed you abundantly, rescued you from their hands, and handed them over.

24:11 And you crossed the Jordan and came to Jericho. And the inhabitants of Jericho fought against you, the Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites, Jebusites, Hittites, and Girgashites; and the Lord delivered them into your hands.

24:12 He sent the swarm of wasps before you, and it drove them out from before you, twelve kings of the Amorites, not by your sword or by your bow.

24:13 He gave you a land for which you did not labour, and cities which you did not build, and you were settled in them. You shall eat of vineyards and olive groves which you did not plant.

24:14 Now fear the Lord and serve Him with uprightness and righteousness. Remove the foreign gods your fathers served beyond the River and in Egypt, and serve the Lord.

24:15 But if it does not please you to serve the Lord, choose for yourselves today whom you will serve: the gods of your fathers beyond the River, or the gods of the Amorites in whose land you dwell. But I and my house will serve the Lord, for He is holy."

24:16 The people answered and said, "May it never be that we abandon the Lord to serve other gods.

24:17 The Lord our God—He is God. He brought us and our fathers up from Egypt and guarded us on all the way we travelled and among all the nations through whom we passed.

24:18 The Lord drove out before us the Amorites and all the nations living in the land. We too will serve the Lord, for He is our God."

24:19 Joshua said to the people, "You cannot serve the Lord, for He is a holy God; and being jealous, He will not forgive your sins and your lawless deeds.

24:20 Whenever you forsake the Lord and serve other gods, He shall come upon you and afflict you and consume you in return for the good He has done you."

24:21 The people said to Joshua, "No! We will serve the Lord."

24:22 And Joshua said to the people, "You are witnesses against yourselves that you have chosen the Lord to serve Him.

24:23 Now remove the foreign gods among you and direct your heart to the Lord, the God of Israel."

24:24 The people said to Joshua, "The Lord we will serve, and His voice we will obey."

24:25 Joshua made a covenant with the people on that day and gave them law and judgment at Shiloh before the tent of the God of Israel.

24:26 He wrote these words in a scroll, the law of God. Joshua took a great stone and set it beneath the terebinth before the Lord.

24:27 Joshua said to the people, "Behold, this stone shall be among you as a testimony, for it has heard all that was spoken to it by the Lord, what He spoke to us today. It shall be among you as a testimony at the last of the days, whenever you deal falsely with the Lord my God."

24:28 Joshua sent the people away, and each went to his own place.

24:29 Israel served the Lord all the days of Joshua and all the days of the elders who outlived Joshua and saw all the works the Lord had done for Israel.

24:30 After those things Joshua son of Nun, the servant of the Lord, died at the age of one hundred ten years.

24:31 They buried him by the borders of his lot at Thamnathasachara in the mountain of Ephraim, north of Mount Gaash.

24:31a There they placed with him in the tomb in which they buried him the stone knives with which he circumcised the sons of Israel at Gilgal, when he brought them out of Egypt, as the Lord commanded them. They are there to this very day.

24:32 The sons of Israel brought Joseph's bones up from Egypt and buried them at Shechem in the portion of the field that Jacob acquired from the Amorites living at Shechem for one hundred ewe lambs; he gave it to Joseph as a portion.

24:33 After these things Eleazar son of Aaron, the high priest, died and was buried at Gabaath of Phinehas his son, which he had given him in the mountain of Ephraim.

24:33a On that day the sons of Israel took the ark of God and carried it about among themselves. Phinehas served as priest in place of Eleazar his father until he died and was buried at his own Gabaath.

24:33b The sons of Israel went away, each to his own place and his own city. The sons of Israel revered Astarte and Ashtaroth and the gods of the nations around them. The Lord handed them into the hands of Eglom king of Moab, and he ruled over them for eighteen years.

Judges

Judges 1

1:1 After Joshua’s death, the sons of Israel inquired of the Lord, saying, “Who shall go up for us against the Canaanites, to lead the battle against them?”

1:2 The Lord said, “Judah shall go up. Behold, I have given the land into his hand.”

1:3 And Judah said to Simeon his brother, “Go up with me into my allotted territory, and let us fight against the Canaanites; and I also will go with you into your allotted territory.” And Simeon went with him.

1:4 Judah went up, and the Lord gave the Canaanites and the Perizzites into his hand. He struck them at Bezek: ten thousand men.

1:5 They found Adoni-bezek at Bezek, fought against him, and struck the Canaanites and the Perizzites.

1:6 Adoni-bezek fled, but they pursued him, seized him, and cut off the extremities of his hands and his feet.

1:7 Adoni-bezek said, “Seventy kings, with the extremities of their hands and feet cut off, used to gather what was beneath my table. As I have done, so God has repaid me.” They brought him to Jerusalem, and he died there.

1:8 The sons of Judah fought against Jerusalem and captured it. They struck it with the edge of the sword and burned the city with fire.

1:9 After these things the sons of Judah went down to fight against the Canaanites dwelling in the hill country, the south, and the plain.

1:10 Judah went against the Canaanites dwelling in Hebron, and Hebron came out against him. Hebron’s former name was Kariatharboksepher. He struck Sheshai, Ahiman, and Talmai, descendants of Anak.

1:11 From there they went against the inhabitants of Debir. Debir’s former name was City of Letters.

1:12 And Caleb said, “Whoever strikes the City of Letters and takes possession of it, I will give him Achsah my daughter as wife.”

1:13 Othniel son of Kenaz, Caleb’s younger brother, took possession of it, and Caleb gave him Achsah his daughter as wife.

1:14 And when she entered, he urged her to ask her father for the field. She murmured on the beast of burden and cried out from it, “You have given me away into a southern land.” And Caleb said to her, “What do you desire?”

1:15 And Achsah said to him, “Give me a blessing; for you have given me away into a southern land. Give me a redemption of water.” And Caleb gave her, according to her heart, the redemption of the heights and the redemption of the low places.

Note †: Judges 1:15. Redemption of water. The Greek’s redemption wording is retained provisionally. Brenton has ransom of water, while KJV gives springs and DRC land watered with springs. The phrase is difficult; no doctrine of redemption is inferred from it, and the smoother historical geography must not be silently substituted for this Greek form. ↩ 1:15

1:16 The descendants of Jobab the Kenite, Moses’ father-in-law, went up from the City of Palms to the sons of Judah, into the wilderness in the south, on the descent to Arad. He went and dwelt with the people.

1:17 Judah went with Simeon his brother. They struck the Canaanites dwelling in Sepheth, placed it under the ban, and destroyed it. They called the city’s name Destruction.

1:18 Judah did not possess Gaza and its territory, Ashkelon and its territory, Ekron and its territory, or Ashdod and its surrounding lands.

1:19 The Lord was with Judah, and he inherited the mountain, because he could not inherit the inhabitants of the valley, because Rechab had separated it.

Note †: Judges 1:19. Rechab. Retain the difficult Greek reference to Rechab provisionally. Brenton likewise treats Rechab as a name, though with a different predicate. KJV has iron chariots and DRC chariots armed with scythes. The current phrase requires independent review; a familiar chariot reading cannot be inserted without changing the declared text. ↩ 1:19

1:20 He gave Hebron to Caleb, as Moses had said, and Caleb inherited the three cities from there and removed from there the three sons of Anak.

1:21 The sons of Benjamin did not remove the Jebusites dwelling in Jerusalem. The Jebusites dwelt with the sons of Benjamin to this day.

1:22 The sons of Joseph also went up to Bethel, and Judah was with them.

1:23 The house of Israel camped against Bethel. The city’s former name was Luz.

1:24 The watchers saw a man coming out of the city, seized him, and said to him, “Show us the way into the city, and we will show you mercy.”

1:25 He showed them the way into the city. They struck the city with the edge of the sword, but let the man and his kin go.

1:26 The man went to the land of the Hittites, built a city there, and called its name Luz. That is its name to this day.

1:27 Manasseh did not possess Beth-shan, which is the City of the Scythians, or its dependent towns or surrounding lands; nor Ekthanaad and its dependent towns, the inhabitants of Dor and its dependent towns, the inhabitants of Balaam and its dependent towns, the inhabitants of Magedon and its dependent towns, or the inhabitants of Jeblaam and its dependent towns. The Canaanites began to dwell in this land.

1:28 When Israel became strong, it subjected the Canaanites to tribute, but did not completely remove them.

1:29 Ephraim did not remove the Canaanites dwelling in Gezer. The Canaanites dwelt among them in Gezer and became subject to tribute.

1:30 Zebulun did not remove the inhabitants of Kedron or the inhabitants of Enaala. The Canaanites dwelt among them and became subject to tribute.

1:31 Asher did not remove the inhabitants of Acco, and they became subject to his tribute; nor the inhabitants of Dor, the inhabitants of Sidon, the inhabitants of Aalaph, Achazib, Helba, Aphek, or Roob.

1:32 Asher dwelt among the Canaanites inhabiting the land, because he was unable to remove them.

1:33 Naphtali did not remove the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh or the inhabitants of Beth-anath. Israel dwelt among the Canaanites inhabiting the land, but the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh and Beth-anath became subject to their tribute.

1:34 The Amorites pressed the sons of Dan into the mountain, for they did not allow them to come down into the valley.

1:35 The Amorites began to dwell on the Mountain of the Myrtle Grove, where the bears and the foxes are. The hand of the house of Joseph became heavy upon the Amorites, and they became subject to tribute.

1:36 The Amorite boundary—the Idumean—was above Akrabin, at the Rock and above.

Judges 2

2:1 The messenger of the Lord went up from Gilgal to the Place of Weeping, to Bethel, and to the house of Israel. He said to them, “The Lord, the Lord brought you up from Egypt and brought you into the land that He swore to your fathers to give you. He said to you, ‘I will never scatter My covenant with you.

2:2 You shall make no covenant with those dwelling in this land, nor shall you bow down to their gods; but you shall shatter their graven images and pull down their altars.’ Yet you did not obey My voice when you did these things.

2:3 And I said, ‘I will no longer remove the people whom I said I would destroy before you. They shall become constraints upon you, and their gods shall become a stumbling block to you.’”

2:4 When the messenger of the Lord spoke these words to all Israel, the people raised their voice and wept.

2:5 For this reason that place was called the Place of Weeping, and there they sacrificed to the Lord.

2:6 Joshua sent the people away, and the sons of Israel went, each to his house and his inheritance, to inherit the land.

2:7 The people served the Lord all the days of Joshua and all the days of the elders who outlived Joshua, who knew all the great work the Lord had done for Israel.

2:8 Joshua son of Nun, the servant of the Lord, died at the age of one hundred ten years.

2:9 They buried him within the territory of his inheritance at Timnath-heres, in the mountain of Ephraim, north of Mount Gaash.

2:10 That whole generation too was added to its fathers. Another generation arose after them, who did not know the Lord or the work He had done for Israel.

2:11 The sons of Israel did evil before the Lord and served the Baalim.

2:12 They forsook the Lord, the God of their fathers, who had brought them out of the land of Egypt. They followed other gods from among the gods of the peoples around them, bowed down to them, and provoked the Lord.

2:13 They forsook the Lord and served Baal and the Astartes.

2:14 The Lord was greatly angered against Israel. He delivered them into the hand of plunderers, who plundered them; and He sold them into the hand of their enemies all around, so they could not stand before their enemies.

2:15 In everything in which they prostituted themselves, the Lord’s hand was against them for harm, as the Lord had spoken and as the Lord had sworn. He greatly afflicted them.

2:16 The Lord raised up judges for them and saved them from the hand of their plunderers.

2:17 Yet they did not listen even to their judges, for they prostituted themselves after other gods, bowed down to them, and provoked the Lord. They quickly turned aside from the way their fathers had walked in obeying the Lord’s commandments. They did not do as their fathers had done.

2:18 Whenever the Lord raised up judges for them, the Lord was with the judge and saved them from the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge. For the Lord was moved by their groaning before those who besieged and harmed them.

2:19 When the judge died, they turned back and again acted more corruptly than their fathers, following other gods to serve them and bow down to them. They did not cast away their practices or depart from their hard way.

2:20 And the Lord was greatly angered against Israel, and said, “Because this nation has forsaken My covenant which I commanded their fathers, and has not obeyed My voice,

2:21 I too will no longer remove before them anyone from the nations that Joshua left and let remain.”

2:22 This was to test Israel through them: would they keep the way of the Lord and walk in it as their fathers had kept it, or not?

2:23 The Lord left these nations, not removing them quickly, and did not give them into Joshua’s hand.

Judges 3

3:1 These are the nations Joshua left to test Israel through them—all those who had not known any of the wars of Canaan—

3:2 only for the sake of the generations of the sons of Israel, to teach them warfare; only those before them had not known these things:

3:3 the five satrapies of the foreigners, all the Canaanites, the Sidonians, and the Hivites dwelling in Lebanon, from Mount Balaermon to Loboemath.

3:4 This was to test Israel through them, to know whether they would obey the Lord’s commandments that He commanded their fathers through Moses.

3:5 The sons of Israel dwelt among the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites.

3:6 They took their daughters as wives for themselves, gave their own daughters to their sons, and served their gods.

3:7 The sons of Israel did evil before the Lord, forgot the Lord their God, and served the Baalim and the groves.

3:8 And the Lord was greatly angered against Israel, and sold them into the hands of Chousarsathom king of Syria of the Rivers; and they served him eight years.

3:9 The sons of Israel cried out to the Lord. The Lord raised up a saviour for Israel and saved them: Othniel son of Kenaz, Caleb’s younger brother. And he heard him.

3:10 The Spirit of the Lord came upon him. He judged Israel and went out to war. The Lord gave Chousarsathom king of Syria into his hand, and his hand became strong against Chousarsathom.

3:11 The land was quiet for fifty years. Then Othniel son of Kenaz died.

3:12 The sons of Israel again did evil before the Lord. The Lord strengthened Eglon king of Moab against Israel because they had done evil before the Lord.

3:13 He brought all the sons of Ammon and Amalek to himself, went and struck Israel, and took possession of the City of Palms.

3:14 The sons of Israel served Eglon king of Moab for eighteen years.

3:15 The sons of Israel cried out to the Lord. The Lord raised up a saviour for them: Ehud son of Gera, son of Jemeni, a man skilled with both hands. Through him the sons of Israel sent gifts to Eglon king of Moab.

3:16 Ehud made himself a double-edged dagger, a span long, and strapped it beneath his cloak upon his right thigh.

3:17 He presented the gifts to Eglon king of Moab. Eglon was a very handsome man.

3:18 When Ehud finished presenting the gifts, he sent away those who had carried them.

3:19 Eglon returned from the graven images near Gilgal. And Ehud said, “I have a secret word for you, O king.” And Eglon said to all, “Depart!” And all his attendants went out from him.

3:20 Ehud went in to him as he sat all alone in his summer upper room, and said, “I have a word from God for you, O king.” And Eglon rose from his throne near him.

3:21 As he rose, Ehud stretched out his left hand, took the dagger from his right thigh, and drove it into Eglon’s belly,

3:22 and drove even the handle in after the blade, and the fat closed over the blade, because he did not pull the dagger out of his belly.

3:23 Ehud went out into the vestibule, closed the upper-room doors upon him, and fastened them,

3:24 and he went out. The king’s attendants entered, saw that the upper-room doors were closed, and said, “Perhaps he is sitting on the privy in the bedroom’s retreat?”

3:25 They waited in embarrassment, but no one opened the upper-room doors. They took the key and opened them, and there was their lord, fallen dead on the ground.

3:26 Ehud escaped while they were in confusion, and no one was paying attention to him. He passed the carved images and escaped to Seirotha.

3:27 When he arrived, he sounded a horn in the mountain of Ephraim. The sons of Israel went down with him, and he went before them.

3:28 He said to them, “Come down after me, for the Lord God has given your enemies, Moab, into your hand.” They went down after him and seized Moab’s Jordan crossings. They allowed no one to cross.

3:29 At that time they struck about ten thousand men of Moab, all their fighters and every man of strength. Not one escaped.

3:30 Moab was put to shame that day under Israel’s hand, and the land was quiet for eighty years. Ehud judged them until he died.

3:31 After him Shamgar son of Anath arose and struck as many as six hundred foreign men, apart from the calves of the oxen. He too saved Israel.

Note †: Judges 3:31. The obscure calves phrase. Retain the difficult phrase apart from calves of oxen provisionally. Brenton has a ploughshare of oxen, KJV an ox goad, and DRC a ploughshare. Those tools make contextual sense but cannot be inserted into the selected wording without an explicit textual decision. This verse needs independent Greek review. ↩ 3:31

Judges 4

4:1 The sons of Israel again did evil before the Lord.

4:2 The Lord sold them into the hand of Jabin king of Canaan, who reigned in Hazor. His army commander was Sisera, who dwelt in Arisoth of the Nations.

4:3 The sons of Israel cried out to the Lord, because he had nine hundred iron chariots, and he oppressed Israel mightily for twenty years.

4:4 Now Deborah, a prophetess, the wife of Lappidoth, was judging Israel at that time.

4:5 She sat beneath Deborah’s palm between Ramah and Bethel in the hill country of Ephraim. The sons of Israel went up to her there to be judged.

4:6 Deborah sent and called Barak son of Abinoam from Kedesh in Naphtali, and said to him, “Has not the Lord, the God of Israel, commanded you, ‘Go to Mount Tabor and take with you ten thousand men of the sons of Naphtali and of the sons of Zebulun,

4:7 and I will draw Sisera, the commander of Jabin’s army, with his chariots and his multitude, to you at the Kishon torrent, and I will deliver him into your hand’?”

4:8 Barak said to her, “If you go with me, I will go; but if you do not go with me, I will not go, for I do not know the day on which the Lord gives success to the messenger with me.”

4:9 Deborah said to him, “I will surely go with you. Yet know that the advantage will not be yours on the way you go, for the Lord will sell Sisera into the hands of a woman.” And Deborah arose and went with Barak to Kedesh.

4:10 Barak summoned Zebulun and Naphtali to Kedesh. Ten thousand men went up at his feet, and Deborah went up with him.

4:11 The neighbours of the Kenite had separated from the sons of Jobab, Moses’ in-law. He pitched his tent near the Oak of the Resters, near Kedesh.

4:12 They told Sisera that Barak son of Abinoam had gone up Mount Tabor.

4:13 Sisera summoned all his chariots—nine hundred iron chariots—and all the people with him, from Arisoth of the Nations to the Kishon torrent.

4:14 And Deborah said to Barak, “Arise! For this is the day on which the Lord has delivered Sisera into your hand. Behold, shall not the Lord go before you?” And Barak went down from Mount Tabor, and ten thousand men followed him.

4:15 The Lord threw Sisera, all his chariots, and all his camp into confusion before Barak at the edge of the sword. Sisera descended from his chariot and fled on foot.

4:16 Barak pursued the chariots and the camp as far as the Woodland of the Nations. All Sisera’s camp fell by the edge of the sword; not even one remained.

4:17 Sisera fled on foot to the tent of Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite, for there was peace between Jabin king of Hazor and the house of Heber the Kenite.

4:18 Jael went out to meet Sisera and said to him, “Turn aside, my lord; turn aside to me. Do not be afraid.” He turned aside to her into the tent, and she covered him with her hide covering.

4:19 Sisera said to her, “Please give me a little water to drink, for I am thirsty.” She opened a skin of milk, gave him a drink, and covered his face.

4:20 And he said to her, “Stand at the entrance of the tent. And if anyone comes and asks you, ‘Is there a man here?’ say, ‘No.’” And she covered him with her hide covering.

4:21 Jael, Heber’s wife, took a tent peg and put the mallet in her hand. She came to him quietly and drove the peg into his jaw, and it passed through into the ground. He convulsed between her knees, breathed his last, and died.

4:22 And behold, Barak was pursuing Sisera. Jael went out to meet him and said, “Come, and I will show you the man you seek.” He entered with her, and there lay Sisera, dead, with the peg in his jaw.

4:23 On that day the Lord God subdued Jabin king of Canaan before the sons of Israel.

4:24 The hand of the sons of Israel grew stronger and stronger against Jabin king of Canaan, until they destroyed him.

Judges 5

5:1 On that day Deborah and Barak son of Abinoam sang and said:

5:2 “When leaders began to lead in Israel, when the people chose willingly, bless the Lord!

5:3 Hear, O kings; give ear, you mighty satraps! I will sing to the Lord; I will make music to the God of Israel.

5:4 O Lord, when Thou didst go forth from Seir, when Thou didst depart from the field of Edom, the earth shook; heaven was astonished, and the clouds dropped water.

5:5 Mountains were shaken before the Lord—this Sinai, before the Lord, the God of Israel.

5:6 In the days of Shamgar son of Anath, in the days of Jael, kings ceased, and they travelled paths; they travelled twisted roads.

5:7 Phrazōn ceased in Israel; it ceased until Deborah arose, because a mother arose in Israel.

Note †: Judges 5:7. Phrazōn. Phrazōn is an unresolved Greek form and remains transliterated. Brenton has mighty men, KJV inhabitants of the villages, and DRC the valiant. Retain the Greek third-person statement that Deborah arose, unlike KJV’s first-person I. The opaque term is a review item, not a settled English meaning. ↩ 5:7

5:8 They chose new gods like barley bread. Would I see a covering of lances among forty thousand?

Note †: Judges 5:8. Barley bread. Retain the difficult barley bread wording of the selected Greek text provisionally. The historical versions instead speak of new gods and war or gates. The draft must not be treated as approved at this point; importing a coherent familiar verse would conceal the textual problem rather than solve it. ↩ 5:8

5:9 My heart is with the things appointed for Israel. You mighty ones of the people, bless the Lord!

5:10 You who ride upon beasts of burden, you who sit in covered carriages—

5:11 utter the sound of musicians among those rejoicing. There they will ascribe righteousness to the Lord. Righteous people grew strong in Israel; then the Lord’s people went down to His cities.

5:12 Awake, awake, Deborah! Rouse myriads with the people! Awake, awake, speak with song! Arise in strength, Barak; and strengthen Barak, Deborah! Take your captives, son of Abinoam!

5:13 When was his strength magnified? Lord, humble for me those stronger than I am.

5:14 The people of Ephraim punished them in the valley of your brother Benjamin, among your peoples. From me, Machir, investigators came down; and from Zebulun the Lord fought for me among mighty ones from there, with a sceptre of one strengthening leadership.

Note †: Judges 5:14. God fought and the sceptre. The governing Greek includes God fought, investigators, and the sceptre. The historical versions speak differently of rulers, writers, or leading an army. Preserve the distinctive terms while leaving their syntactic relation open to review. The KJV pen of the writer is not supplied from memory. ↩ 5:14

5:15 In Issachar, with Deborah, he sent his foot soldiers into the valley. Why do you dwell between lips? He stretched out at his feet. Among the divisions of Reuben were great scrutinies of heart.

5:16 Why do you sit for me between the mosphathaim, to hear the whistling of those who rouse? To pass into the territory of Reuben were great searchings of heart.

5:17 Gilead camped beyond the Jordan; and Dan—why does he stay with ships? Asher stayed by the seashore and camped by its breaches.

5:18 Zebulun was a people that scorned its life to the point of death, and Naphtali on the heights of the field.

5:19 Kings came and drew up in battle; then Canaan’s kings fought at Taanach by Megiddo’s water. They took no greedy gain of silver.

5:20 From heaven the stars fought; from their appointed order they fought against Sisera.

5:21 The Kishon torrent cast them out—the torrent Kadēmim, the Kishon torrent. My mighty soul will trample them.

5:22 Then the horse’s heels were cut off—Amadarōth of his mighty ones.

Note †: Judges 5:22. Amadarōth. The draft preserves Amadarōth as an unresolved form and follows the Greek statement about horses’ heels being cut off. Brenton has entangled feet, KJV broken hoofs and pransings, and DRC broken hoofs as the strong ones fled. No definite meaning is assigned to the obscure form without further evidence. ↩ 5:22

5:23 ‘Curse Meroz,’ said the Lord’s messenger, ‘utterly curse its inhabitants, because they did not come to the Lord’s help. The Lord is our helper, mighty among warriors.’

5:24 Blessed among women be Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite; among women in a tent may she be blessed.

5:25 He asked her for water, and she gave him milk. In a bowl of mighty ones she brought butter.

5:26 She stretched her left hand toward a peg, her right toward the cuttings of the exhausted; she cut down Sisera, crushed his head, shattered and pierced his jaw.

Note †: Judges 5:26. The difficult right hand clause. The Greek distinguishes the left hand and then gives an obscure right-hand phrase involving cuttings and exhaustion. The historical versions provide a hammer. Judges 4:21 supplies a clear prose account, but this poem must not be silently rewritten from it. The present literal wording is provisional and requires review before publication. ↩ 5:26

5:27 Between her feet he bent down and fell; he lay between her feet. Where he bent down, there he fell, wretched.

5:28 Through the window Sisera's mother leaned out, looking through the lattice toward those returning with Sisera: 'Why is his chariot last to arrive? Why have the tracks of his chariots been delayed?'

5:29 The wise among her noble ladies answered her, and she herself answered in her own words:

5:30 'Will they not find him dividing spoils, befriending friends for the head of a mighty man? Spoils of dyed cloth for Sisera, spoils of dyed cloth, embroidery; a dyed embroidered piece around his neck as spoil.'

Note †: Judges 5:30. Friends and the division of spoil. The selected Greek uses a difficult expression about befriending friends. Brenton also differs from the captive women in KJV and DRC. Keep the unresolved phrase visible and do not import captives into its translation solely from those versions. The relation of the clauses and spoil imagery needs further Greek review. ↩ 5:30

5:31 So perish all Thine enemies, O Lord! And let those who love Him be as the sun going forth in its might." And the land was quiet for forty years.

Judges 6

6:1 The sons of Israel did evil before the Lord, and the Lord gave them into Midian's hand for seven years.

6:2 Midian's hand prevailed against Israel. Because of Midian, the sons of Israel made enclosures for themselves in the mountains, caves, and strongholds.

6:3 Whenever an Israelite man sowed, Midian, Amalek, and the sons of the east came up; they came up against him.

6:4 They camped against them and ruined the land's produce as far as Gaza. They left no means of life in Israel, neither flock nor calf nor donkey.

6:5 For they and their livestock came up, bringing their tents; they arrived like locusts in multitude. They and their camels were beyond numbering, and they entered Israel's land to ruin it.

6:6 Israel became very poor because of Midian, and the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord.

6:7 When the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord because of Midian,

6:8 the Lord sent a man who was a prophet to the sons of Israel. He said to them, "Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: 'I am the One who brought you up from Egypt, and I brought you out of the house of slavery.

6:9 I rescued you from Egypt's hand and from the hand of all who oppressed you. I cast them out before you and gave you their land.

6:10 And I said to you, "I am the Lord your God. You shall not fear the gods of the Amorites, in whose land you dwell." But you have not obeyed My voice.'"

6:11 The Lord's messenger came and sat beneath the oak in Ephrathah that belonged to Joash, father of Abiezri. His son Gideon was beating out wheat in a winepress to escape from Midian.

6:12 The Lord's messenger appeared to him and said, "The Lord is with you, mighty man of strength."

6:13 Gideon said to him, "Please, my lord, if the Lord is with us, why have all these evils found us? Where are all His wonders that our fathers recounted to us, saying, 'Did not the Lord bring us up from Egypt?' But now He has rejected us and given us into Midian's hand."

6:14 And the messenger of the Lord looked toward him and said, "Go in your strength, and you shall save Israel. Behold, I have sent you."

6:15 Gideon said to him, "Please, my lord, with what shall I save Israel? Behold, my thousand is the lowliest in Manasseh, and I am small in my father's house."

6:16 And the messenger of the Lord said to him, "The Lord shall be with you, and you shall strike Midian as one man."

6:17 Gideon said to him, "If I have found favour in your eyes, give me a sign that it is you speaking with me.

6:18 Do not leave here until I come to you, bring my sacrifice, and set it before you." And he said, "I am here; I will sit until you return."

6:19 Gideon went in and prepared a young goat and unleavened cakes from an oiphi of flour. He put the meat on the basket and poured the broth into a pot. He brought it out to him beneath the oak and bowed down.

6:20 The Lord's messenger said to him, "Take the meat and the unleavened loaves, set them by that rock, and pour out the broth." He did so.

6:21 The Lord’s messenger stretched out the end of the staff in his hand and touched the meat and the unleavened cakes. Fire was kindled from the rock and consumed the meat and the unleavened cakes. The Lord’s messenger went from his sight.

6:22 Gideon saw that he was the Lord’s messenger. Gideon said, “Ah, ah, Lord, Lord! For I have seen the Lord’s messenger face to face.”

6:23 The Lord said to him, “Peace be to you. Do not be afraid that you will die.”

6:24 Gideon built an altar there to the Lord and called it Peace of the Lord. To this day it is still there in Ephrathah of the father of Ezri.

6:25 And that night the Lord said to him, “Take your father’s fattened bull, the bull of seven years. Pull down your father’s altar of Baal, and cut down the grove beside it.

6:26 Build an altar to the Lord your God, who appeared to you, on the summit of this Mount Maoz, in battle array. Take the bull and offer it as a whole burnt offering with the wood of the grove you will cut down.”

6:27 Gideon took thirteen men from his servants and did as the Lord had told him. Because he feared his father’s household and the men of the city too much to do it by day, he did it by night.

6:28 The men of the city rose early in the morning. Behold, Baal’s altar had been demolished, the grove beside it had been cut down, and the fattened bull had been offered as a whole burnt offering on the newly built altar.

6:29 Each said to his neighbour, “Who did this thing?” They examined and searched, and said, “Gideon son of Joash did this thing.”

6:30 The men of the city said to Joash, “Bring out your son, and let him die, for he has demolished Baal’s altar and cut down the grove beside it.”

6:31 Joash said to the men who stood against him, “Do you now plead for Baal? Do you save him? Whoever disputed with him shall die by morning. If he is a god, he himself shall avenge him, for one has demolished his altar.”

Note †: Judges 6:31. Joash and the disputed pronouns. The governing text makes Joash the speaker; Brenton names Gedeon son of Joas. Preserve the Greek past dispute and future vindication language. The phrase he himself shall avenge him contains an uncertain pronoun relation and remains provisional; it must not be silently converted into an unambiguous reflexive assertion. ↩ 6:31

6:32 On that day he called it Tribunal of Baal, because he demolished his altar.

6:33 All Midian, Amalek, and the sons of the east gathered together, crossed over, and camped in the valley of Jezreel.

6:34 The Spirit of God clothed Gideon. He sounded a horn trumpet, and Abiezer cried out behind him.

6:35 He sent messengers throughout Manasseh, and it too cried out behind him. He sent messengers through Asher, Zebulun, and Naphtali, and they came up to meet him.

6:36 And Gideon said to God, “If Thou art saving Israel by my hand, as Thou hast spoken,

6:37 behold, I lay a fleece of wool on the threshing floor. If dew comes upon the fleece alone, while all the ground is dry, then I shall know that Thou art saving Israel by my hand, as Thou hast spoken.”

6:38 It was so. Gideon rose early the next day and squeezed the fleece. The dew flowed from the fleece, a basin full of water.

6:39 Gideon said to God, “Let not Thy wrath be kindled against me, and let me speak once more. Let me test once more with the fleece: let the fleece alone be dry, and let dew be upon all the ground.”

6:40 God did so that night. The fleece alone was dry, and dew was on all the ground.

Judges 7

7:1 Jerubbaal—that is, Gideon—and all the people with him rose early and camped in the land of Aroed. The camp of Midian and Amalek was north of him, by the hill of Abor in the valley.

7:2 The Lord said to Gideon, “The people with you are too many for Me to deliver Midian into their hand, lest Israel boast against Me, saying, ‘My own hand saved me.’”

7:3 The Lord said to him, “Speak now in the people’s hearing, saying, ‘Who is cowardly and afraid? Let him turn back.’” They departed from Mount Gilead, and twenty-two thousand of the people turned back; ten thousand remained.

7:4 The Lord said to Gideon, “The people are still too many. Bring them down to the water, and there I will test them for you. If I say to you of someone, ‘This one shall go with you,’ he shall go with you; and if I say he shall not go with you, he shall not go with you.”

7:5 He brought the people down to the water. And the Lord said to Gideon, “Everyone who laps water with his tongue, as a dog laps, set him apart; and everyone who bends down on his knees to drink, set him aside by himself.”

7:6 The whole number of those who lapped with their tongue was three hundred men. All the rest of the people bent upon their knees to drink water.

7:7 The Lord said to Gideon, “By the three hundred men who lapped I will save you all and deliver Midian into your hand. Let all the other people depart, each to his place.”

7:8 They took the people’s provisions and their horn trumpets into their hands. He sent every man of Israel to his dwelling, but retained the three hundred men. Midian’s camp was below him in the valley.

7:9 That night the Lord said to him, “Arise, go down quickly from here into the camp, for I have delivered it into your hand.

7:10 But if you fear to go down, go down to the camp with Purah your servant,

7:11 and hear what they say. Then your hands shall be strengthened, and you shall go down into the camp.” And he and Purah his servant went down to a section of the fifty in the camp.

7:12 Midian, Amalek, and all the sons of the east were encamped in the valley like locusts in multitude. Their camels were beyond numbering, like sand on the seashore in multitude.

7:13 Gideon entered, and look, a man was explaining his dream to his neighbour. He said, “Look at the dream I dreamed: a cake of barley bread was rolling through Midian’s camp. It came to Midian’s tent, struck it, and overturned it, and the tent fell.”

7:14 His neighbour answered, “This is nothing but the sword of Gideon son of Joash, a man of Israel. The Lord has given Midian and the whole camp into his hand.”

7:15 When Gideon heard the dream’s account and its interpretation, he worshiped the Lord. He returned to Israel’s camp and said, “Arise, for the Lord has given Midian’s camp into your hands.”

7:16 He divided the three hundred men into three companies and put horn trumpets into all their hands, and empty water jars with torches inside the jars.

7:17 He said to them, “Look at me and do likewise. Behold, I enter the midst of the camp; as I do, so shall you do.

7:18 When I and all who are with me sound the horn trumpet, you also shall sound the horn trumpets all around the camp and say, ‘For the Lord and for Gideon!’”

7:19 Gideon and the hundred men with him entered a section of the camp as the middle watch began. He thoroughly roused the guards, and they sounded the horn trumpets and dashed the jars in their hands.

7:20 The three companies sounded the horn trumpets and shattered the jars. They grasped the torches in their left hands, with the horn trumpets in their right hands to sound them, and cried, “A sword for the Lord and for Gideon!”

7:21 Each stood by himself around the camp. The whole camp ran; they sounded the alarm and fled.

7:22 The three hundred horn trumpets sounded, and the Lord set each man’s sword against his neighbour throughout the camp. The camp fled as far as Beth-shittah and, gathered together, as far as the edge of Abel-meholah and toward Tabbath.

7:23 The men of Israel cried out from Naphtali, Asher, and all Manasseh, and they pursued Midian.

7:24 Gideon sent messengers throughout Ephraim’s territory, saying, “Go down to meet Midian and seize for yourselves the water as far as Beth-barah, and the Jordan.” All the men of Ephraim cried out, and they seized the water beforehand as far as Beth-barah, and the Jordan.

7:25 They captured Midian’s two rulers, Oreb and Zeeb. They killed Oreb in Sourin and Zeeb in Jakephzeeb, and pursued Midian. They brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon from beyond the Jordan.

Judges 8

8:1 The men of Ephraim said to him, “What have you done to us by not calling us when you went out to fight Midian?” And they contended fiercely with him.

8:2 He said to them, “What have I now done compared with you? Are not Ephraim’s gleanings better than Abiezer’s vintage?

8:3 The Lord gave Midian’s rulers, Oreb and Zeeb, into your hand. What could I do compared with you?” And they stopped. Then their spirit relaxed toward him when he said this.

8:4 Gideon came to the Jordan and crossed over, he and the three hundred men with him, fainthearted and hungry.

8:5 He said to the men of Succoth, “Please give bread to the people with me, for they are hungry, and I am pursuing Zebah and Zalmunna, Midian’s kings.”

8:6 And the rulers of Succoth said, “Is the hand of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your hand, that we should give bread to your army?”

8:7 Gideon said, “Not so! When the Lord gives Zebah and Zalmunna into my hand, I will tear your flesh with the wilderness thorns and the barkonnim.”

Note †: Judges 8:7. Thorns and barkonnim. Tear gives the force of the Greek verb's tearing or carding image. Retain barkonnim provisionally for the uncertain implement or plant term; Brenton has Barkenim, while KJV and DRC render briers. The different Greek form barakēnim at 8:16 is also retained and requires review. ↩ 8:7

8:8 He went up from there to Penuel and spoke to them in the same way. The men of Penuel answered him as the men of Succoth had answered.

8:9 He said to the men of Penuel, "When I return in peace, I will demolish this tower."

8:10 Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkar, with their camp of about fifteen thousand—those left in the whole camp of the sons of the east. Those who had fallen were one hundred twenty thousand men who drew the sword.

8:11 Gideon went up by the route of the tent-dwellers, east of Nabeth, opposite Zebah. He struck the camp while the camp was confident.

8:12 Zebah and Zalmunna fled. He pursued them and seized Midian's two kings, Zebah and Zalmunna, and wiped out their whole camp.

8:13 Gideon son of Joash returned from the battle by the ascent of Ares.

8:14 They captured a young man from Succoth, and he questioned him. The young man recorded for them Succoth's rulers and elders, seventy-seven men.

8:15 And Gideon came to the rulers of Succoth and said, "Behold Zebah and Zalmunna, concerning whom you reproached me, saying, 'Is the hand of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your hand, that we should give bread to your weary men?'"

8:16 He took the city's rulers and elders and tore them with the wilderness thorns and the barakēnim; with these he tore the men of Succoth.

Note †: Judges 8:16. Barakēnim. This uncertain form differs from barkonnim in 8:7. Both are retained provisionally; see the comparison at 8:7. ↩ 8:16

8:17 He demolished Penuel's tower and killed the men of the city.

8:18 And he said to Zebah and Zalmunna, "Where are the men whom you killed at Tabor?" And they said, "Like you, resembling you, resembling them, in appearance as the form of the sons of kings."

8:19 And Gideon said, "They were my brothers, the sons of my mother." And he swore to them, "As the Lord lives, if you had kept them alive, I would not kill you."

8:20 He said to Jether his firstborn, "Arise, kill them." But his boy did not draw his sword, because he was afraid, for he was young.

8:21 Zebah and Zalmunna said, "You arise and fall upon us; for as the man is, so is his strength." Gideon arose and killed Zebah and Zalmunna, and took the crescents from their camels' necks.

8:22 And the men of Israel said to Gideon, "Rule among us, you and your sons; for you have saved us from the hand of Midian."

8:23 Gideon said to them, "I will not rule over you, and my son will not rule over you. The Lord will rule over you."

8:24 Gideon said to them, "Let me ask one thing of you: each of you give me an earring from his spoils." For they had many gold earrings, because they were Ishmaelites.

8:25 They said, "We will certainly give." He spread out his cloak, and each threw there a gold earring from his spoils.

8:26 The weight of the gold earrings he requested was one thousand seven hundred shekels of gold, apart from the sirōnes, the small necklaces called enphōth, and the purple cloaks worn by Midian's kings, and apart from the gold collars on their camels' necks.

Note †: Judges 8:26. Shekels and uncertain ornaments. Keep the Greek shekel unit rather than English money. KJV also has shekels, DRC sicles, and Brenton pieces of gold. Sirōnes and enphōth remain provisional forms for uncertain ornaments or dress items; familiar collars and raiment in the comparisons do not settle their exact Greek senses. ↩ 8:26

8:27 Gideon made it into an ephod and set it up in his city, Ephrathah. All Israel prostituted themselves after it there, and it became a stumbling block to Gideon and his household.

8:28 Midian was put to shame before the sons of Israel and no longer lifted its head. The land was quiet for forty years in Gideon's days.

8:29 Jerubbaal son of Joash went and dwelt in his house.

8:30 Gideon had seventy sons who came from his loins, for he had many wives.

8:31 His concubine in Shechem also bore him a son, and he gave him the name Abimelech.

8:32 Gideon son of Joash died at a good old age and was buried in his father Joash's tomb, in Ephrathah of the father of Abiezri.

8:33 When Gideon died, the sons of Israel turned back and prostituted themselves after the Baalim. They set Baal-berith in a covenant for themselves, to be their god.

8:34 The sons of Israel did not remember the Lord their God, who rescued them from the hand of all their surrounding enemies.

8:35 They did not show mercy to the household of Jerubbaal—Gideon—in return for all the goodness he had shown toward Israel.

Judges 9

9:1 Abimelech son of Jerubbaal went to Shechem, to his mother's brothers, and spoke to them and to all the kindred of his mother's household, saying,

9:2 "Speak now in the hearing of the men of Shechem: 'Which is better, that seventy men, all the sons of Jerubbaal, should rule over you, or that one man should be your lord?' And remember that I am your flesh and your bone."

9:3 His mother's brothers spoke all these words about him in the hearing of all Shechem's men. Their hearts inclined toward Abimelech, for they said, "He is our brother."

9:4 They gave him seventy pieces of silver from the house of Baal of the Covenant. With them Abimelech hired empty and startled men, who followed him.

9:5 He entered his father's house at Ephrathah and killed his brothers, Jerubbaal's sons, seventy men upon one stone. But Jotham, Jerubbaal's youngest son, remained, because he hid himself.

9:6 All Shechem's men and the whole house of Maallon gathered, went, and made Abimelech king beside the oak of the standing-place in Shechem.

9:7 They told Jotham. He went and stood on Mount Gerizim's summit, raised his voice, and called out, saying to them, "Listen to me, men of Shechem, and may God listen to you.

9:8 The trees went out to anoint a king for themselves. They said to the olive tree, 'Reign over us.'

9:9 The olive tree said to them, 'Should I leave my richness, which God and human beings have glorified in me, and go rule the trees?'

9:10 The trees said to the fig tree, 'Come, reign over us.'

9:11 The fig tree said to them, 'Should I leave my sweetness and my good produce and go rule the trees?'

9:12 The trees said to the vine, 'Come, reign over us.'

9:13 The vine said to them, 'Should I leave my wine, human beings' gladness from God, and go rule the trees?'

9:14 The trees said to the bramble, 'You come and reign over us.'

9:15 And the bramble said to the trees, 'If in truth you anoint me king over you, come and trust in my shelter. But if not, let fire come forth from the bramble and consume the cedars of Lebanon.'

9:16 And now, if you dealt in truth and integrity when you made Abimelech king, and if you dealt well with Jerubbaal and his house, and did to him according to the recompense of his hand—

9:17 for my father fought for you, cast his life into danger, and rescued you from Midian's hand,

9:18 yet you rose against my father's house today and killed his sons, seventy men upon one stone, and made Abimelech, the son of his slave girl, king over the men of Shechem, because he is your brother—

9:19 if then you have dealt in truth and integrity with Jerubbaal and his house this day, may you be blessed and rejoice in Abimelech, and may he also rejoice in you.

9:20 But if not, may fire come out from Abimelech and consume Shechem's men and the house of Maallon; and if not, may fire come out from Shechem's men and the house of Maallon and consume Abimelech."

9:21 Jotham ran away, went on the road, and fled to Rara. He dwelt there because of Abimelech his brother.

9:22 Abimelech ruled over Israel for three years.

9:23 God sent an evil spirit between Abimelech and Shechem's men, and Shechem's men acted faithlessly toward Abimelech's house,

9:24 so as to bring back the wrong against Jerubbaal's seventy sons and lay their blood upon Abimelech their brother, who killed them, and upon Shechem's men, who strengthened his hands to kill his brothers.

9:25 Shechem's men set an ambush against him on the mountaintops. They plundered everyone who passed them on the road, and Abimelech was told.

9:26 Gaal son of Abed and his brothers came to Shechem, and Shechem's men trusted him.

9:27 They went into the field, harvested their vineyards, trod the grapes, and held dances. They entered their god's house, ate and drank, and cursed Abimelech.

9:28 Gaal son of Abed said, "What is Abimelech, and who is the son of Shechem, that we should serve him? Is he not Jerubbaal's son, and is not Zebul his overseer, his slave together with the men of Hamor, Shechem's father? Why should we serve him?

9:29 Who would give this people into my hand? I will remove Abimelech and say to him, 'Increase your army and come out!'"

9:30 Zebul, the city's ruler, heard the words of Gaal son of Abed, and he grew furious.

9:31 He sent messengers to Abimelech with gifts, saying, "Behold, Gaal son of Abed and his brothers have come to Shechem, and these men besiege the city against you.

9:32 Now arise by night, you and the people with you, and lie in ambush in the field.

9:33 In the morning, as the sun rises, rise early and advance on the city. Behold, he and the people with him will come out against you; then do to him whatever your hand finds possible."

9:34 Abimelech and all the people with him arose by night and lay in ambush against Shechem in four companies.

9:35 Morning came, and Gaal son of Abed went out and stood at the entrance of the city gate. Abimelech and the people with him arose from the ambushes.

9:36 Gaal son of Abed saw the people and said to Zebul, "Behold, people are coming down from the mountaintops." And Zebul said to him, "You see the mountains' shadow as men."

9:37 Gaal spoke again, saying, "Behold, people are coming down toward the sea from beside the Navel of the Land, and one company is arriving by the way of the Watchers' Oak."

9:38 Zebul said to him, "Where now is your mouth that said, 'Who is Abimelech, that we should serve him?' Behold, are these not the people you counted as nothing? Go out now and fight them."

9:39 Gaal went out from before Shechem's men and fought Abimelech.

9:40 Abimelech pursued him, and he fled before him. Many fell slain as far as the city's entrances.

9:41 Abimelech stayed in Arima. Zebul drove Gaal and his brothers out so that they could not dwell in Shechem.

9:42 The next day the people went out into the plain, and Abimelech was told.

9:43 He took the people, divided them into three companies, and lay in ambush there. He saw the people coming out of the city, rose against them, and struck them.

9:44 Abimelech and the companies with him advanced and stood beside the city gate. The two companies poured out upon everyone in the field, and he struck them.

9:45 Abimelech fought in the city all that day. They captured the city, and he killed the people in it, demolished the city, and sowed it with salt.

9:46 All the men of Shechem's Tower heard and entered the stronghold of the house of Baal of the Covenant.

9:47 Abimelech was told that all the men of Shechem's Tower had gathered.

9:48 And Abimelech went up Mount Zalmon, he and all the people with him. And Abimelech took an axe in his hand, and cut a load of wood, and lifted it upon his shoulders. And he said to the people with him, "What you have seen me do, do quickly as I have done."

9:49 They too each cut a load, lifted it, and followed Abimelech. They put it against the stronghold and burned the stronghold with fire over those inside. All the people of Shechem's Tower died, about a thousand men and women.

9:50 Abimelech went to Thebez, besieged it, and captured it.

9:51 There was a fortified tower inside the city. All the men and women and all the city's leaders fled there, shut themselves in, and climbed onto the tower's roof.

9:52 Abimelech came to the tower, and they fought against him. Abimelech approached the tower entrance to burn it with fire.

9:53 A woman threw a fragment of a millstone upon Abimelech's head and crushed his skull.

9:54 And he called quickly to the young man who bore his armour, and said to him, "Draw your sword and kill me, lest they say, 'A woman killed him.'" And his young man pierced him, and he died.

9:55 The men of Israel saw that Abimelech was dead, and each went to his place.

9:56 God returned the wickedness Abimelech had done to his father by killing his seventy brothers.

9:57 God returned all the wickedness of Shechem's men upon their own heads, and the curse of Jotham son of Jerubbaal came upon them.

Judges 10

10:1 After Abimelech, Tola son of Puah, son of his father's brother, a man of Issachar, arose to save Israel. He dwelt in Samaria in Ephraim's hill country.

10:2 He judged Israel for twenty-three years. He died and was buried in Samaria.

10:3 After him Jair the Gileadite arose and judged Israel for twenty-two years.

10:4 He had thirty-two sons riding thirty-two young donkeys, and they had thirty-two cities. He called them Jair's Settlements to this day; they are in the land of Gilead.

10:5 Jair died and was buried in Rammo.

10:6 The sons of Israel again did evil before the Lord. They worshiped the Baalim, the Astaroth, the gods of Sidon, the gods of Moab, the gods of the sons of Ammon, and the gods of the foreigners. They abandoned the Lord and did not serve Him.

10:7 And the Lord was greatly angered against Israel, and He sold them into the hand of the foreigners and of the sons of Ammon.

10:8 They weakened and crushed the sons of Israel in that year—for eighteen years, all the sons of Israel beyond the Jordan in the Amorites' land in Gilead.

10:9 The sons of Ammon crossed the Jordan to fight also against Judah, Benjamin, and the house of Ephraim. The sons of Israel were greatly distressed.

10:10 And the sons of Israel cried to the Lord, saying, "We have sinned against Thee, for we have forsaken our God and served the Baalim."

10:11 The Lord said to the sons of Israel, "Did not the Egyptians, the Amorites, the sons of Ammon, Moab, and the foreigners,

10:12 and the Sidonians, Midian, and Amalek oppress you? And you cried to Me, and I saved you from their hand.

10:13 But you have forsaken Me and served other gods. Therefore I will save you no more.

10:14 Go and cry to the gods which you have chosen for yourselves; let them save you in the time of your affliction."

10:15 The sons of Israel said to the Lord, "We have sinned. Do to us whatever is pleasing before Thee; only deliver us this day, O Lord."

10:16 They removed the foreign gods from their midst and worshiped the Lord. He was not well pleased with the people, and He grew weary over Israel's distress.

Note †: Judges 10:16. The difficult response to distress. The selected Greek says the Lord was not well pleased with Israel and grew weary at their distress. The historical versions express grief or compassion without the first negative clause. Preserve both clauses while flagging the English relation for review; the familiar compassionate paraphrase cannot erase the selected wording. ↩ 10:16

10:17 The sons of Ammon went up and camped in Gilead. The sons of Israel went out and camped in Mizpah.

10:18 The rulers of Gilead's people said to one another, "Who is the man who will begin to fight the sons of Ammon? He shall become head over all Gilead's inhabitants."

Judges 11

11:1 Jephthah the Gileadite was mighty in strength. He was the son of a harlot, and she bore Jephthah to Gilead.

11:2 Gilead's wife bore him sons. When his wife's sons grew up, they drove Jephthah out, saying to him, "You shall not inherit in our father's house, for you are the son of a courtesan."

11:3 Jephthah ran away from his brothers and dwelt in the land of Tob. Men of little means gathered around Jephthah and went out together with him.

11:4 After some days, the sons of Ammon fought against Israel.

11:5 When the sons of Ammon were fighting against Israel, Gilead's elders went to take Jephthah from the land of Tob,

11:6 and said to Jephthah, "Come and be our leader, so that we may fight the sons of Ammon."

11:7 Jephthah said to Gilead's elders, "Did you not hate me, drive me from my father's house, and send me away from you? Why have you come to me now that you are in distress?"

11:8 Gilead's elders said to Jephthah, "Not so! Now we have come to you; you shall go with us, and we shall fight the sons of Ammon. And you shall be our head, over all Gilead's inhabitants."

11:9 Jephthah said to Gilead's elders, "If you bring me back to fight the sons of Ammon, and the Lord delivers them before me, I shall be your head."

11:10 Gilead's elders said to Jephthah, "May the Lord be the One who hears between us; surely we will do according to your word."

11:11 Jephthah went with Gilead's elders, and they appointed him over them as head and leader. Jephthah spoke all his words before the Lord at Mizpah.

11:12 Jephthah sent messengers to the king of the sons of Ammon, saying, "What is there between me and you, that you have come to fight me in my land?"

11:13 The king of the sons of Ammon said to Jephthah's messengers, "Because Israel took my land when it came up from Egypt, from the Arnon to the Jabbok and to the Jordan. Now restore them in peace."

11:14 The messengers returned to Jephthah. Jephthah sent messengers to the king of the sons of Ammon,

11:15 saying, "Thus says Jephthah: Israel did not take the land of Moab or the land of the sons of Ammon

11:16 when they came up from Egypt. Instead, Israel went through the wilderness as far as the Red Sea and came as far as Kadesh.

11:17 Israel sent messengers to the king of Edom, saying, ‘I will pass through your land.’ But the king of Edom did not listen. Israel also sent to the king of Moab, but he would not; and Israel remained in Kadesh.

11:18 Israel passed through the wilderness and around the land of Edom and the land of Moab, arriving east of the land of Moab. They camped beyond the Arnon and did not enter Moab’s territory, for the Arnon was Moab’s boundary.

11:19 And Israel sent messengers to Sihon king of Heshbon, the Amorite, and Israel said to him, ‘I will pass through your land to my place.’

11:20 Sihon was unwilling for Israel to pass through his territory. Sihon gathered all his people, camped at Jahaz, and fought Israel.

11:21 The Lord, the God of Israel, gave Sihon and all his people into Israel’s hand, and Israel struck them. Israel inherited all the land of the Amorites who dwelt in the land.

11:22 Israel inherited all the Amorites’ territory, from the Arnon to the Jabbok and from the wilderness to the Jordan.

11:23 And now the Lord, the God of Israel, has removed the Amorites before His people Israel. Will you inherit it for yourself?

11:24 Will you not inherit whatever Chemosh your god has allotted you? And all that the Lord our God has allotted before us, we will inherit.

11:25 And now, are you better than Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab? Did he ever contend with Israel, or fight against them?

11:26 With the house of Israel in Heshbon and its dependent towns, in Jazer and its dependent towns, and in all the cities beside the Jordan for three hundred years, why did they not rescue them during that time?

11:27 I have not sinned against you, but you do wickedly toward me by fighting me. May the Lord, who judges, judge this day between the sons of Israel and the sons of Ammon.”

11:28 The king of the sons of Ammon did not listen, and he did not listen to Jephthah’s words that he sent to him.

11:29 The Spirit of the Lord came upon Jephthah. He passed through the land of Gilead and Manasseh, passed through Gilead’s Watchpost, and from Gilead’s Watchpost crossed over toward the sons of Ammon.

11:30 And Jephthah vowed a vow to the Lord, and said, “If Thou wilt indeed deliver the sons of Ammon into my hand,

11:31 then whoever comes out from the doors of my house to meet me, when I return in peace from the sons of Ammon, shall be the Lord’s, and I will offer that one as a whole burnt offering.”

11:32 Jephthah crossed toward the sons of Ammon to fight them, and the Lord gave them into his hand.

11:33 He struck them from Aroer as far as Semoith—twenty cities—and as far as Abel of the Vineyards, with a very great blow. The sons of Ammon were put to shame before the sons of Israel.

11:34 Jephthah came to his house at Mizpah, and look, his daughter was coming out to meet him with tambourines and dances. She was his only, beloved child; apart from her he had neither son nor daughter.

11:35 When he saw her, he tore his garments and said, “Alas, my daughter! You have entangled my feet; you have become a thorn in my eyes. I have opened my mouth concerning you to the Lord, and I cannot turn back.”

11:36 She said to him, “My father, if you have opened your mouth concerning me to the Lord, do to me according to what has gone out from your mouth, in return for the vengeance the Lord has taken for you on your enemies, the sons of Ammon.”

11:37 She said to her father, “Do this thing for me: leave me for two months, so that I may go down upon the mountains and weep over my virginity, I and my companions.”

11:38 He said, “Go,” and sent her away for two months. She and her companions went, and she wept over her virginity upon the mountains.

11:39 At the end of two months she returned to her father, and Jephthah fulfilled the vow he had vowed. She had not known a man. It became an ordinance in Israel:

11:40 year by year, Israel’s daughters went together to lament the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite, four days in the year.

Judges 12

12:1 The sons of Ephraim gathered and came to Sephina, and said to Jephthah, “Why did you go to fight the sons of Ammon without calling us to go with you? We will burn your house with fire.”

12:2 Jephthah said to them, “I and my people were engaged in a dispute, and the sons of Ammon greatly humbled me. I cried to you, but you did not save me from their hand.

12:3 When I saw that there was no deliverer, I put my life in my hand and crossed over against the sons of Ammon; and the Lord delivered them into my hand. Why then have you come up to me today to fight me?”

12:4 And Jephthah gathered all the men of Gilead and fought against Ephraim. And the men of Gilead struck Ephraim, for they had said, “You are the escaped ones of Ephraim, you Gileadites, in the midst of Ephraim and in the midst of Manasseh.”

12:5 And the men of Gilead seized beforehand the crossings of the Jordan belonging to Ephraim. And when the escaped ones of Ephraim said, “Let us cross,” the men of Gilead asked them, “Are you of Ephraim?” And if they said, “We are not,”

12:6 they said to them, “Please say ‘Password.’” They could not manage to speak in that way. They seized them and slaughtered them at the Jordan’s crossings. Forty-two thousand of Ephraim fell at that time.

12:7 Jephthah judged Israel for six years. Jephthah the Gileadite died and was buried in his city, Gilead.

12:8 After him Esebon of Bethlehem judged Israel.

12:9 He had thirty sons and thirty daughters sent outside, and he brought thirty wives from outside for his sons. He judged Israel for seven years.

12:10 Esebon died and was buried in Bethlehem.

12:11 After him Elon the Zebulunite judged Israel. He judged Israel for ten years.

12:12 Elon the Zebulunite died in Ailim, and they buried him in the land of Zebulun.

12:13 After him Labdon son of Sellem the Pirathonite judged Israel.

12:14 He had forty sons and thirty sons of his sons riding seventy young donkeys. He judged Israel for eight years.

12:15 Labdon son of Sellem the Pirathonite died and was buried in Pirathon in the land of Ephraim, on Mount Lanak.

Judges 13

13:1 The sons of Israel again did evil before the Lord, and the Lord gave them into the foreigners’ hand for forty years.

13:2 There was a man from Zorah, from the tribe of Dan, whose name was Manoah. His wife was barren and had not borne a child.

13:3 And the messenger of the Lord appeared to the woman and said to her, “Behold, you are barren and have borne no child; but you shall conceive and bear a son.

13:4 Now take care: do not drink wine or sikera, and do not eat anything unclean.

13:5 For behold, you shall conceive and bear a son, and no iron shall come upon his head; for the child shall be a sanctified Nazirite to God from the womb, and he shall begin to save Israel from the hand of the foreigners.”

13:6 The woman came and told her husband, saying, “A man of God came to me. His appearance was like the appearance of God’s messenger, very glorious. I asked where he was from, and he did not tell me his name.

13:7 And he said to me, ‘Behold, you shall conceive and bear a son. Now drink no wine or sikera, and eat nothing unclean; for the child shall be a Nazirite of God from the womb until the day of his death.’”

13:8 And Manoah entreated the Lord, saying, “I beseech Thee, Lord, let the man of God whom Thou didst send to us come to us and enlighten us concerning what we should do for the child who shall be born.”

13:9 God listened to Manoah’s voice, and God’s messenger came again to the woman while she was sitting in the field. Her husband Manoah was not with her.

13:10 The woman hurried and ran out to tell her husband. She said to him, “Behold, the man who came to me that day has appeared to me.”

13:11 And Manoah arose and followed his wife to the man, and said to him, “Are you the man who spoke to the woman?” And the messenger said, “I am.”

13:12 Manoah said, “Now, when your word comes to pass, what shall the rule for the child be, and what shall his deeds be?”

13:13 The Lord’s messenger said to Manoah, “Let her guard against everything I told the woman.

13:14 She shall not eat anything that comes from the vine; she must not drink wine or sikera, nor eat anything unclean. She must observe everything I commanded her.”

13:15 Manoah said to the Lord’s messenger, “Please let us urge you to stay and prepare a young goat before you.”

13:16 The Lord’s messenger said to Manoah, “Though you urge me to stay, I will not eat your loaves. But if you prepare a whole burnt offering, offer it to the Lord.” For Manoah did not know that he was the Lord’s messenger.

13:17 And Manoah said to the messenger of the Lord, “What is your name, that when your word comes to pass we may glorify you?”

13:18 The Lord’s messenger said to him, “Why do you ask my name? It is wonderful.”

13:19 Manoah took the young goat and the sacrifice and offered them on the rock to the Lord, the Lord who does wonders. Manoah and his wife watched.

13:20 As the flame rose from above the altar into heaven, the Lord's messenger ascended in the flame. Manoah and his wife watched and fell on their faces to the ground.

13:21 The Lord's messenger did not appear again to Manoah and his wife. Then Manoah knew that he was the Lord's messenger.

13:22 Manoah said to his wife, "We will surely die, because we have seen God."

13:23 His wife said to him, "If the Lord wished to kill us, He would not have accepted a whole burnt offering and sacrifice from our hands, nor enlightened us about all these things, nor made these things known to our hearing."

13:24 The woman bore a son and named him Samson. The Lord blessed him, and the child grew.

13:25 The Spirit of the Lord began to accompany him in Dan's camp, between Zorah and Eshtaol.

Judges 14

14:1 Samson went down to Timnah and saw a woman in Timnah from among the foreigners' daughters, and she pleased him.

14:2 He went up and told his father and mother, "I have seen a woman in Timnah from among the foreigners' daughters. Now get her for me as a wife."

14:3 His father and mother said to him, "Is there no woman among your kindred's daughters, or among all my people, that you go to take a wife from the uncircumcised foreigners?" And Samson said to his father, "Take this one for me, for she pleases my eyes."

14:4 His father and mother did not know that this was from the Lord, for he was seeking recompense from the foreigners. At that time the foreigners ruled over the sons of Israel.

14:5 Samson went down with his father and mother to Timnah. He turned aside into Timnah's vineyard, and look, a young lion was roaring toward him.

14:6 The Spirit of the Lord came straight upon him, and he tore the lion apart as one tears apart a young goat, though he had nothing in his hand. But he did not tell his father or mother what he had done.

14:7 They went down and spoke to the woman, and she pleased Samson.

14:8 After some days he returned to take her. He turned aside to see the lion's carcass, and look, a swarm of bees and honey were in the lion's mouth.

14:9 He took it out into his mouth and went along eating. He went to his father and mother, gave them some, and they ate. He did not tell them that he had taken the honey from the lion's body.

14:10 His father went down to the woman, and Samson held a drinking feast there for seven days, for that was what the young men did.

14:11 Because they feared him, they appointed thirty companions for him, and they were with him.

14:12 Samson said to them, "I will set out a riddle to you. If you tell me the riddle within the seven days of the drinking feast, I will give you thirty linen garments and thirty robes.

14:13 But if you cannot tell it to me, you shall give me thirty linen garments and thirty robes of clothing." They said to him, "Set out your riddle, and we will hear it."

14:14 He said to them, "From the eater came food, and from the strong came sweetness." For three days they could not tell the riddle.

14:15 And on the fourth day they said to Samson's wife, "Deceive your husband, that he may tell you the riddle, lest we burn you and your father's house with fire. Did you invite us to impoverish us?"

14:16 Samson's wife wept before him and said, "You have hated me and have not loved me; for you have set out a riddle to the sons of my people and have not told it to me." Samson said to her, "Behold, I have not told my father or mother; and shall I tell you?"

14:17 She wept over him during the seven days of the drinking feast. On the seventh day he told her, because she troubled him; she told her people's sons.

14:18 And on the seventh day, before the sun went down, the men of the city said to him, "What is sweeter than honey, and what is stronger than a lion?" And Samson said to them, "If you had not tamed my heifer, you would not have found my riddle."

14:19 The Spirit of the Lord came straight upon him. He went down to Ashkelon, struck thirty men from there, took their robes, and gave them to those who told the riddle. Samson grew furious and went up to his father's house.

14:20 Samson's wife lived with his bridal attendant, who was his companion.

Judges 15

15:1 After some days, during the wheat harvest, Samson visited his wife, bringing a young goat. He said, "I will go in to my wife in the bedroom." But her father would not let him enter to her.

15:2 Her father said, “I was certain that you hated her, and I gave her to your companion. Behold, is not her younger sister better than she? Let her be yours in her place.”

15:3 And Samson said to him, “This time I am guiltless concerning the foreigners, for I do harm to you.”

15:4 Samson went and caught three hundred foxes. He took torches, tied tail to tail, and put one torch in the middle between each pair of tails.

15:5 He set fire to the torches and released them into the foreigners’ sheaves. He burned the grain ears and the harvested crop, from the heaps to the standing grain, and to the vineyard and olive trees.

15:6 The foreigners said, “Who did these things?” They said, “Samson, the Timnite’s son-in-law, because the man took his wife and gave her to his companion.” The foreigners went up and burned her father’s house, her, and her father with fire.

15:7 Samson said to them, “If you do this, I shall not be pleased; I will take my vengeance from each and every one of you.”

15:8 He struck them upon the thigh with a great blow. Then he went down and dwelt beside the torrent in Etam’s cave.

15:9 The foreigners went up, camped against Judah, and spread out at Lehi.

15:10 All the men of Judah said to them, “Why have you come up against us?” The foreigners said, “To bind Samson and do to him as he did to us.”

15:11 Three thousand men of Judah went down to the opening of the rock of Etam and said to Samson, “Do you not know that the foreigners rule over us? Why have you done these things to us?” Samson said to them, “As they did to us, so I did to them.”

15:12 They said to him, “We have come down to bind you and deliver you into the foreigners’ hands.” Samson said to them, “Swear to me that you yourselves will not kill me, and deliver me to them, lest you yourselves fall upon me.”

15:13 And they swore to him, saying, “No; we will only bind you and deliver you into their hands, and we will surely not kill you.” And they bound him with two new cords and brought him up from the rock.

15:14 He came as far as Jawbone, and the foreigners shouted and ran to meet him. The Spirit of the Lord came straight upon him, and the cords on his arms became like flax fibre when it smells fire; the bonds came loose from his arms.

15:15 He found a donkey’s jawbone thrown on the road, reached out his hand, took it, and struck a thousand men with it.

15:16 Samson said, “With a donkey’s jawbone I utterly wiped them out, for with a donkey’s jawbone I struck a thousand men.”

15:17 When he finished speaking, he threw the jawbone from his hand and called that place Lifting of the Jawbone.

15:18 And he thirsted greatly and cried to the Lord, saying, “Thou hast given this great salvation by the hand of Thy servant. And now shall I die of thirst, and fall into the hand of the uncircumcised?”

15:19 God opened the wound of the jawbone, and water came out of it. He drank; his spirit returned within him, and he was refreshed. Therefore its name was called Invoked Spring of the Jawbone, to this day.

Note †: Judges 15:19. The wound in the jawbone. The governing Greek speaks of a wound in the jawbone. Brenton and KJV have a hollow, and DRC a great tooth in the ass’s jaw. Keep the Greek wording provisionally; the physical referent and geographical interpretation need further review rather than an unmarked harmonization. ↩ 15:19 15:20 He judged Israel in the foreigners’ days for twenty years.

Judges 16

16:1 Samson went from there to Gaza. He saw a harlot there and went in to her.

16:2 The Gazites were told, “Samson has come here.” They surrounded the place and lay in ambush for him all night at the city gate. They kept silent all night, saying, “Let us wait until morning light and kill him.”

16:3 Samson slept until midnight. About midnight he arose, seized the city gate’s doors and its two posts, lifted them with the bar, and put them on his shoulder. He carried them up to the top of the mountain facing Hebron and set them there.

16:4 Afterward he loved a woman by the Sorek torrent whose name was Delilah.

16:5 The foreigners’ satraps came up to her and said, “Deceive him and learn where his great strength lies, and how we may prevail against him and bind him to humble him. Each of us will give you eleven hundred pieces of silver.”

16:6 Delilah said to Samson, “Tell me where your great strength lies, and how you may be bound to humble you.”

16:7 Samson said to her, “If they bind me with seven moist sinew-strings that have not dried, I will become weak and be like any other man.”

16:8 The foreigners’ satraps brought her seven moist sinew-strings that had not dried, and she bound him with them.

16:9 Now those lying in ambush for him waited in the inner room. She said to him, “The foreigners are upon you, Samson!” He broke the sinew-strings as a thread of flax waste breaks when it smells fire; and his strength was not known.

16:10 Delilah said to Samson, “Behold, you have deceived me and spoken falsehoods to me. Please tell me now how you may be bound.”

16:11 He said to her, “If they bind me tightly with seven new cords that have never been used for work, I will become weak and be like any other man.”

16:12 Delilah took new cords for him and bound him with them, and said to him, “The foreigners are upon you, Samson!” Those lying in ambush waited in the inner room. He tore the cords from his arms like a thread.

16:13 Delilah said to Samson, “Until now you have deceived me and spoken falsehoods to me. Please tell me how you may be bound.” He said to her, “If you weave the seven strands of my head into the warp and drive it with the peg into the wall, I shall be weak as any other man.”

16:14 And Delilah put him to sleep, and wove the seven curls of his head into the stretched fabric, and drove it with pegs into the wall. And she said to him, “The foreigners are upon you, Samson!” And he awoke from his sleep, and tore the pegs with the woven fabric from the wall, and the warp; and his strength was not known.

16:15 Delilah said to him, “How can you say, ‘I love you,’ when your heart is not with me? This is the third time you have deceived me and have not told me where your great strength lies.”

16:16 She wore him down with her words all night and troubled him until he grew weary to the point of death.

16:17 He told her everything from his heart and said to her, “No razor shall come upon my head, for I am a Nazirite of God from my mother’s womb. If I am shaved, my strength will depart from me; I will become weak and be like everyone else.”

16:18 Delilah saw that he had told her everything from his heart. She sent and called all the foreigners’ satraps, saying, “Come up this time, for he has told me all his heart.” All the foreigners’ satrapies came up to her, bringing the silver in their hands.

16:19 She put him to sleep between her knees, called the barber, and had the seven curls of his head shaved. He began to be humbled, and his strength departed from him.

16:20 Delilah said to him, “The foreigners are upon you, Samson!” He awoke from his sleep and said, “I will go out as at other times and shake myself free.” But he did not know that the Lord had departed from him.

16:21 The foreigners seized him and dug out his eyes. They brought him down to Gaza, bound him with bronze fetters, and he ground grain in the prison house.

16:22 The hair of his head began to grow again after he had been shaved.

16:23 The foreigners’ satraps gathered to offer a great sacrifice to Dagon their god and to rejoice. They said, “Our god has given Samson our enemy into our hand.”

16:24 The people saw him and praised their gods, saying, “Our god has given our enemy into our hand, the one who devastated our land and multiplied our slain.”

16:25 When their hearts were merry, they said, “Call Samson from the prison house, so that he may perform before us.” They called Samson from the prison house, mocked him, and placed him between the two pillars.

16:26 Samson said to the boy leading him by the hand, “Please let me rest and feel the pillars on which the house is supported, so that I may lean upon them.” The boy did so.

16:27 The house was full of men and women, and all the foreigners’ satraps were there. On the roof were about three thousand men and women watching Samson being mocked.

16:28 Samson cried out to the Lord and said, “Lord, Lord, remember me and strengthen me just this once more, so that I may take one vengeance on the foreigners for my two eyes.”

16:29 Samson embraced the two middle pillars on which the house was supported and leaned against them, one with his right hand and one with his left.

16:30 Samson said, “Let my soul die with the foreigners.” He bent with strength, and the house fell upon the satraps and all the people in it. Those Samson killed in his death were more than those he killed in his life.

16:31 His brothers and all his father’s household came down, took him, brought him up, and buried him between Zorah and Eshtaol, in the tomb of his father Manoah. He had judged Israel for twenty years.

Judges 17

17:1 There was a man from Ephraim’s hill country whose name was Micah.

17:2 He said to his mother, “The eleven hundred pieces of silver taken from you, about which you uttered an adjuration and spoke in my hearing—behold, the silver is with me; I took it.” His mother said, “Blessed be my son of the Lord.”

17:3 And he returned the eleven hundred pieces of silver to his mother. And his mother said, “I have solemnly consecrated the silver from my hand to the Lord, separately, to make a graven image and a cast image. And now I will return them to you, and give it back to you.”

17:4 He returned the silver to his mother. His mother took two hundred pieces of silver and gave it to the caster, who made it into a carved image and a cast image. It was in Micah’s house.

17:5 The man Micah had a house of God. He made an ephod and teraphim, filled the hand of one of his sons, and the son became his priest.

17:6 In those days there was no king in Israel. Each did what was good in his own eyes.

17:7 There was a young man from Bethlehem in Judah’s district, from Judah’s kindred. He was a Levite and was sojourning there.

17:8 The man left the city of Judah, Bethlehem, to sojourn wherever he could find a place. Traveling on his way, he reached Ephraim’s hill country, Micah’s house.

17:9 Micah said to him, “Where do you come from?” He said to him, “I am a Levite from Bethlehem in Judah, and I am going to sojourn wherever I find a place.”

17:10 Micah said to him, “Dwell with me and be a father and priest to me; I will give you ten pieces of silver for the year, a pair of garments, and provisions for your living.” And the Levite went 17:11 and began to sojourn with the man, and the young man became like one of his sons.

17:12 Micah filled the Levite’s hand. The young man became his priest and stayed in Micah’s house.

17:13 Micah said, “Now I know that the Lord has done good to me, because the Levite has become my priest.”

Judges 18

18:1 In those days there was no king in Israel. In those days the tribe of Dan was seeking an inheritance in which to dwell, because until those days no inheritance had fallen to it among Israel’s tribes.

18:2 The sons of Dan sent five men from their kindred, from among their number, men of strength from Zorah and Eshtaol, to inspect and explore the land. They said to them, “Go, search out the land.” They came to Ephraim’s hill country, to Micah’s house, and rested there.

18:3 While they were near Micah’s house, they recognised the voice of the young man, the younger Levite. They turned aside there and said to him, “Who brought you here? What are you doing here? And what do you have here?”

18:4 He said to them, “Micah has done such and such for me. He hired me, and I became his priest.”

18:5 They said to him, “Please inquire of God, so that we may know whether the journey we are making will succeed.”

18:6 And the priest said to them, “Go in peace. The way you go is before the Lord.”

18:7 The five men went and came to Laish. They saw the people dwelling there living in confidence, after the Sidonians’ pattern, resting in confidence and unable to speak a word, because they were far from Sidon and had no dealings with Syria.

18:8 The five men came to their brothers at Zorah and Eshtaol. Their brothers said to them, “Why are you sitting here?”

18:9 They said, “Arise, and let us go up against them; for we entered and walked through the land as far as Laish, and saw the people dwelling there in confidence, after the manner of the Sidonians, far from Sidon and without dealings with Syria. But arise, let us go up against them; for we have found the land, and behold, it is very good. Do you remain silent? Do not delay to go in and inherit the land.

18:10 When you enter, you shall come to a people dwelling in confidence, and the land is spacious. God has delivered it into your hands, a place lacking nothing that is upon the earth.”

18:11 Six hundred men from Dan’s kindred set out from Zorah and Eshtaol, girded with equipment for war.

18:12 They went up and camped at Kiriath-jearim in Judah. Therefore that place was called Dan’s Camp to this day; look, it is behind Kiriath-jearim.

18:13 They passed from there, came to Ephraim’s hill country, and reached Micah’s house.

18:14 The five men who had gone to inspect the land answered their brothers, saying, “Do you know that in these houses are an ephod and teraphim, a graven image and a cast image? Now consider what you shall do.”

18:15 They turned aside there and entered the young Levite’s house, Micah’s house, and greeted him.

18:16 The six hundred men from the sons of Dan, girded with equipment for war, stood firmly at the gateway entrance.

18:17 The five men who had gone to inspect the land went up, entered there, and took the carved image, the ephod, the teraphim, and the cast image. The priest stood firmly at the gateway entrance with the six hundred men girded with equipment for war.

18:18 These men entered Micah’s house and took the graven image, the ephod, the teraphim, and the cast image. The priest said to them, “What are you doing?”

18:19 They said to him, “Be silent, put your hand over your mouth, and come with us. Be a father and priest to us. Is it better for you to be priest to one man’s house, or to a tribe and kindred in Israel?”

18:20 The priest’s heart was glad. He took the ephod, the teraphim, the carved image, and the cast image, and went into the midst of the people.

18:21 They turned and left, placing the whole household and his valuable property ahead of them.

18:22 They had gone far from Micah’s house when Micah and the men with his household cried out behind the sons of Dan.

18:23 The sons of Dan turned their faces and said to Micah, “What is wrong, that you have cried out?”

18:24 Micah said, “You took my graven image, which I made for myself, and the priest, and went away. What do I have left? How then can you say to me, ‘Why do you cry out?’”

18:25 And the sons of Dan said to him, “Let not your voice be heard among us, lest men bitter in soul fall upon you, and you add your life and the lives of your household.”

18:26 The sons of Dan went their way. Micah saw that they were stronger than he, so he withdrew and returned to his house.

18:27 They took what Micah had made and the priest who had belonged to him, and came to Laish, against a quiet and confident people. They struck them with the edge of the sword and burned the city.

18:28 There was no rescuer, because it was far from the Sidonians and they had no dealings with people. It was in the valley belonging to the house of Rehob. They built the city and dwelt in it.

18:29 They called the city Dan, after the name of their father, who was born to Israel. Previously the city’s name was Laish.

18:30 The sons of Dan set up Micah’s carved image for themselves. Jonathan son of Gershom, son of Moses, and his sons were priests to the tribe of Dan until the day of the land’s deportation.

18:31 They established for themselves Micah’s carved image that he had made, throughout the days when God’s house was in Shiloh.

Judges 19

19:1 In those days, when there was no king in Israel, a Levite was sojourning in the remote parts of Ephraim’s hill country. The man took for himself a concubine from Bethlehem in Judah.

19:2 His concubine became angry with him and went away from him to her father’s house, to Bethlehem in Judah. She remained there four months.

19:3 Her husband arose and went after her, with his servant and a pair of pack animals, to speak to her heart, reconcile her to himself, and bring her back to him. He went to her father’s house. The young woman’s father saw him and came to meet him.

19:4 His father-in-law, the young woman’s father, brought him in, and he stayed with him for three days. They ate, drank, and slept there.

19:5 And on the fourth day they rose early in the morning, and he arose to depart. And the father of the young woman said to his son-in-law, “Strengthen your heart with a morsel of bread, and afterward go.”

19:6 And they sat down, and the two ate and drank together. And the father of the young woman said to the man, “Begin by lodging here this night, and let your heart be glad.”

19:7 The man arose to leave, but his father-in-law pressed him, and he lodged there again.

19:8 On the fifth day he rose early in the morning to depart. The young woman’s father said, “Strengthen your heart with bread, and remain until the day declines.” And the two ate and drank.

19:9 And the man arose to depart, he and his concubine and his servant. And his father-in-law, the father of the young woman, said to him, “Behold, the day has declined toward evening. Lodge here today also, and let your heart be glad. Tomorrow you may rise early for your journey, and go to your dwelling.”

19:10 The man was unwilling to lodge. He arose and left, and they came opposite Jebus—that is, Jerusalem—with a pair of saddled pack animals and his concubine.

19:11 They were still near Jebus, and it was late in the day. The servant said to his master, “Please come, let us turn aside into this Jebusite city and lodge in it.”

19:12 His master said to him, “I will certainly not turn aside into a foreigner’s city that does not belong to the sons of Israel. We will pass on to Gibeah.”

19:13 He said to his servant, “Come, let us enter one of the places and lodge in Gibeah or Ramah.”

19:14 They passed on and went their way, for the sun set near Gibeah, which belongs to Benjamin.

19:15 They turned aside there to enter and lodge in Gibeah. They entered and sat in the city square, but no one took them into a house to lodge.

19:16 Behold, an old man came in from his work in the field that evening. The man was from Ephraim’s hill country and was sojourning in Gibeah; the people of the place were sons of Benjamin.

19:17 He lifted his eyes and saw the traveller in the city square. The old man said, “Where are you going, and where do you come from?”

19:18 He said to him, “We are traveling from Bethlehem in Judah to the remote parts of Ephraim’s hill country. I am from there. I went to Bethlehem in Judah, and I am going back to my house. No one takes me into a house.

19:19 And we have straw and fodder for our donkeys, and bread and wine for me and your maidservant and the young man, your servants. We lack nothing.”

19:20 The old man said, “Peace be to you. Let all your need fall on me; only do not lodge in the square.”

19:21 He brought him into his house and set fodder before his pack animals. They washed their feet, ate, and drank.

19:22 While their hearts were glad, the men of the city, sons of lawless men, surrounded the house and struck the door. They said to the old man, the master of the house, “Bring out the man who entered your house, that we may know him.”

19:23 The master of the house went out to them and said, “No, my brothers, please do not act wickedly. Since this man has entered my house, do not commit this folly.

19:24 Behold, here are my virgin daughter and his concubine. I will bring them out; violate them and do to them what is good in your eyes. But do not do this deed of folly to this man.”

19:25 The men were unwilling to listen to him. The man seized his concubine and brought her outside to them. They raped her and mocked her all night until morning, and let her go as dawn rose.

19:26 The woman came toward morning and fell by the gateway entrance of the man’s house where her master was, until day broke.

19:27 Her master arose in the morning, opened the house’s doors, and went out to go on his way. Behold, the woman, his concubine, lay fallen by the door, her hands upon the threshold.

19:28 He said to her, “Get up, and let us go.” She did not answer him, for she had died. He lifted her onto the pack animal, and the man arose and went to his place.

19:29 He entered his house, took the knife, seized his concubine, and cut her according to her bones into twelve portions. He sent them to all Israel’s tribes.

19:30 Everyone who saw it said, “Nothing like this has happened or been seen since the day the sons of Israel came up from Egypt until this day.” He commanded the men he sent, saying, “Say this to every man of Israel: ‘Has anything like this happened since the day the sons of Israel came up from Egypt until this day? Take counsel about her among yourselves and speak.’”

Judges 20

20:1 All the sons of Israel came out, and the whole congregation assembled as one man, from Dan to Beersheba and the land of Gilead, before the Lord at Mizpah.

20:2 The division of all the people, all Israel’s tribes, stood in the assembly of God’s people: four hundred thousand foot soldiers who drew the sword.

20:3 The sons of Benjamin heard that the sons of Israel had gone up before the Lord at Mizpah. The sons of Israel said, “Tell us where this wickedness happened.”

20:4 The Levite, the husband of the murdered woman, answered, “I came with my concubine to Gibeah in Benjamin to lodge.

20:5 The men from Gibeah rose against me and surrounded the house against me by night. They wanted to kill me, and they violated my concubine and mocked her, and she died.

20:6 I seized my concubine, cut her into pieces, and sent her throughout Israel’s inherited territory, because they committed folly in Israel.

20:7 Behold, all you sons of Israel, give your word and counsel.”

20:8 All the people arose as one man, saying, “None of us will enter his dwelling, and none will turn aside to his house.

20:9 Now this is what we will do to Gibeah: we will go up against it by lot,

20:10 and take ten men out of a hundred, a hundred out of a thousand, and a thousand out of ten thousand, to obtain provisions for the people going in to deal with Gibeah in Benjamin according to all the folly they committed in Israel.”

20:11 All the men of Israel gathered from the cities, coming as one man.

20:12 Israel’s tribes sent men throughout the whole tribe of Benjamin, saying, “What is this wickedness that has happened among you?

20:13 Now hand over the impious men in Gibeah, the sons of Belial, so that we may put them to death and remove wickedness from Israel.” But the sons of Benjamin were unwilling to listen to their brothers, the sons of Israel.

20:14 The sons of Benjamin gathered from their cities to Gibeah to go out to battle against the sons of Israel.

20:15 That day the sons of Benjamin were mustered from the cities: twenty-five thousand men who drew the sword, apart from Gibeah’s inhabitants. These were mustered as seven hundred chosen young men, 20:16 skilled with both hands. All these were slingers who threw stones at a hair and did not miss.

20:17 All the men of Israel were mustered, apart from the sons of Benjamin: four hundred thousand men who drew the sword, all warriors.

20:18 They arose and went up to Bethel and inquired of God. The sons of Israel said, “Who shall go up leading us to fight Benjamin?” The Lord said, “Judah shall go up as leader.”

20:19 The sons of Israel arose and camped against Gibeah.

20:20 All the men of Israel went out to war against Benjamin. The men of Israel drew up against them for war at Gibeah.

20:21 The sons of Benjamin came out of the city and struck down twenty-two thousand men of Israel to the ground that day.

20:22 The men of Israel strengthened themselves and again drew up for battle in the place where they had drawn up on the first day.

20:23 The sons of Israel went up and wept before the Lord until evening. They inquired of the Lord, saying, “Shall I again approach for battle against Benjamin my brother?” The Lord said, “Go up against him.”

20:24 The sons of Israel approached Benjamin on the second day.

20:25 Benjamin came out from Gibeah to meet them on the second day and struck down eighteen thousand men of the people to the ground, all men who drew the sword.

20:26 All the sons of Israel and all the people went up and came to Bethel. They wept before the Lord, fasted that day, and offered whole burnt offerings of deliverance before the Lord.

Note †: Judges 20:26. Offerings of deliverance. The selected Greek has the difficult genitive burnt offerings of deliverance. Brenton has whole burnt offerings and perfect sacrifices, KJV burnt and peace offerings, and DRC holocausts and victims of peace. Retain the construction provisionally rather than automatically introducing two separate categories. ↩ 20:26

20:27 The sons of Israel inquired of the Lord. The ark of the Lord’s covenant was there in those days,

20:28 and Phinehas son of Eleazar, son of Aaron, stood before it in those days, saying, “Shall I go out again to battle against the sons of Benjamin, my brother, or shall I cease?” The Lord said, “Go up, for tomorrow I will deliver him into your hand.”

20:29 The sons of Israel set ambushes all around Gibeah.

20:30 Israel deployed against Benjamin on the third day and drew up against Gibeah as on the previous occasions.

20:31 The sons of Benjamin came out to meet the people and were drawn away from the city. As before, they began to strike some of the people on the roads—one going up to Bethel and one going up to Gibeah in the field—about thirty men of Israel.

20:32 The sons of Benjamin said, “They are stumbling before us as before.” But the sons of Israel said, “Let us flee and draw them out of the city to the roads.”

20:33 All the men of Israel arose from their place and drew up at Baal-tamar. Israel’s ambush struggled forward from its place, from west of Gibeah.

20:34 Ten thousand chosen men from all Israel came opposite Gibeah, and the battle grew heavy. They did not know that disaster had reached them.

20:35 The Lord routed Benjamin before Israel. That day the sons of Israel struck down twenty-five thousand one hundred men of Benjamin, all men who drew the sword.

20:36 Benjamin saw that it was routed. The men of Israel had given ground to Benjamin because they trusted the ambush they had set against Gibeah.

20:37 The ambush rushed forward and poured toward Gibeah. The ambush went on, and they struck the whole city with the edge of the sword.

20:38 The arrangement between Israel’s men and the ambush was for them to send up a smoke signal from the city.

20:39 The men of Israel turned in the battle, and Benjamin began to strike down men of Israel, killing about thirty, saying, “Surely they are being routed before us as in the earlier battle.”

20:40 The signal began to ascend from the city, a pillar of smoke. Benjamin looked behind them, and look, the city's destruction rose to heaven.

20:41 The men of Israel turned back, and the men of Benjamin hurried and saw that disaster had reached them.

20:42 They turned before Israel's men toward the wilderness road, but the battle overtook them. Those from the cities destroyed them in their midst.

20:43 They cut down Benjamin to put them to rest, and trampled them as far as opposite Gibeah on the east.

20:44 Eighteen thousand men of Benjamin fell; with all these were mighty men.

20:45 They turned and fled into the wilderness, to the rock of Rimmon. The Israelites gleaned five thousand men on the roads, pressed after them as far as Gadaam, and struck down two thousand of them.

20:46 All those of Benjamin who fell that day were twenty-five thousand men who drew the sword; with all these were mighty men.

20:47 Six hundred men turned and fled into the wilderness, to the rock of Rimmon. They stayed at the rock of Rimmon for four months.

20:48 The men of Israel hemmed in the sons of Benjamin and struck them with the edge of the sword, from one city to the next, down to the livestock and everything found in all the cities. They set fire to the cities they found.

Judges 21

21:1 The men of Israel had sworn at Mizpah, saying, "None of us shall give his daughter to Benjamin as a wife."

21:2 All the people came to Mizpah and Bethel and sat there before God until evening. They raised their voices and wept bitterly.

21:3 They said, "Why, Lord, God of Israel, has this happened in Israel, that one tribe should be visited today in Israel?"

Note †: Judges 21:3. The tribe that should be visited. The Greek visitation verb is difficult here and may relate to reckoning or mustering. The historical comparisons explicitly describe a missing or removed tribe. The draft's visited remains provisional and does not mean an ordinary social call. This wording requires independent review for intelligibility and context. ↩ 21:3

21:4 The next day the people rose early, built an altar there, and offered whole burnt offerings of deliverance.

21:5 The sons of Israel said, "Who among all the tribes of Israel did not come up in the assembly to the Lord?" For there was a great oath concerning anyone who did not come up to the Lord at Mizpah, saying, "He shall surely die."

21:6 The sons of Israel were comforted concerning Benjamin their brother and said, "Today one tribe has been removed from Israel.

21:7 What shall we do for wives for those who remain? We have sworn by the Lord not to give them any of our daughters as wives."

21:8 They said, "Which one of the tribes of Israel did not come up to the Lord at Mizpah?" And behold, no man from Jabesh-gilead had come to the camp, to the assembly.

21:9 When the people were inspected, behold, no man from the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead was there.

21:10 The congregation sent twelve thousand mighty men there and commanded them, saying, "Go and strike all the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead with the edge of the sword, including the women and the people.

21:11 This is what you shall do: put under the ban every male, and every woman who has known the bed of a male."

21:12 Among the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead they found four hundred young virgin women who had not known a man in the bed of a male. They brought them to the camp at Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.

21:13 The whole congregation sent word and spoke to Benjamin at the rock of Rimmon, and called them to peace.

21:14 Benjamin returned to the sons of Israel at that time, and they gave them the women who were from the women of Jabesh-gilead. And this pleased them.

21:15 The people were comforted concerning Benjamin, because the Lord had made a breach in the tribes of Israel.

21:16 The elders of the congregation said, "What shall we do for wives for those who remain, since the women have been made to disappear from Benjamin?"

21:17 They said, "An inheritance is preserved for Benjamin, and a tribe shall certainly not be blotted out from Israel.

21:18 But we cannot give them wives from our daughters, for we, the sons of Israel, have sworn, saying, 'Cursed is the one who gives a wife to Benjamin.'"

21:19 They said, “There is a feast for the Lord at Shiloh year after year. It is north of Bethel, toward the sunrise on the road that goes up from Bethel to Shechem, and south of Lebanon, of Lebona.”

21:20 They commanded the sons of Benjamin, saying, “Go over and lie in ambush in the vineyards.

21:21 Watch, and when the daughters of the inhabitants of Shiloh come out in Shiloh to dance in the dances, come out of the vineyards and seize, each man for himself, a wife from the daughters of Shiloh. Then go to the land of Benjamin.

21:22 When their fathers or brothers come to contend with you, we shall say to them, ‘Have mercy on them, for they did not each take a wife in the war. For you have not given the women to them; at that time you committed an offence.’”

Note †: Judges 21:22. The argument and the offence. The Greek shifts among you, they, and an affirmative statement about an offence. Brenton’s pronouns differ; KJV makes guilt conditional, while DRC assigns fault differently. Preserve the selected grammar provisionally. The argument remains difficult and must not be made clear by silently borrowing another version’s logic. ↩ 21:22

21:23 The sons of Benjamin did so and took wives according to their number from the dancers whom they snatched away. They went and returned to their inheritance, built cities for themselves, and lived in them.

21:24 The sons of Israel went away from there at that time, each to his tribe and his kindred. They departed from there, each to his inheritance.

21:25 In those days there was no king in Israel. Everyone did what was right in his own eyes.

Ruth

Ruth 1

1:1 When the judges were judging, there was a famine in the land. A man went from Bethlehem of Judah to live for a time in the field of Moab, with his wife and his sons.

1:2 The man’s name was Abimelech, and his wife’s name was Naomi. His two sons were named Mahlon and Chilion. They were Ephrathites from Bethlehem of Judah. They came into the field of Moab and stayed there.

1:3 And Abimelech, Naomi's husband, died, and she was left with her two sons.

1:4 They took Moabite wives for themselves: one was named Orpah, and the second Ruth. They lived there about ten years.

1:5 And both Mahlon and Chilion also died, and the woman was left bereft of her husband and her two sons.

1:6 She arose with her two daughters-in-law, and they returned from the field of Moab, for they had heard in the field of Moab that the Lord had visited His people to give them bread.

1:7 She left the place where she had been, with her two daughters-in-law, and they set out on the road to return to the land of Judah.

1:8 Naomi said to her daughters-in-law, “Go now, each of you return to her mother’s house. May the Lord show you mercy, as you have shown mercy to the dead and to me.

1:9 May the Lord grant this to you, and may each of you find rest in the house of her husband.” She kissed them tenderly, and they lifted up their voice and wept.

1:10 They said to her, “We are returning with you to your people.”

1:11 But Naomi said, “Return now, my daughters. Why are you going with me? Do I still have sons in my womb who could become your husbands?

1:12 Return now, my daughters, for I have grown too old to have a husband. Even if I said that I had hope of having a husband and would bear sons,

1:13 would you wait for them until they were grown? Would you hold yourselves back for them and remain without a husband? No, my daughters; it has become more bitter for me than for you, because the hand of the Lord has gone out against me.”

1:14 They lifted up their voice and wept again. Orpah kissed her mother-in-law tenderly and returned to her people, but Ruth followed her.

1:15 Naomi said to Ruth, “Behold, your sister-in-law has returned to her people and her gods. You too should return after your sister-in-law.”

1:16 But Ruth said, “Do not oppose me by making me leave you or turn back from following you, for wherever you go, I will go, and wherever you lodge, I will lodge. Your people are my people, and your God my God.

1:17 Where you die, I will die, and there I shall be buried. May the Lord do these things to me, and add these things, for death shall part me and you.”

1:18 When Naomi saw that Ruth was firmly resolved to go with her, she said no more to her.

1:19 The two journeyed until they came to Bethlehem. The whole city resounded because of them, and they said, “Is this Naomi?”

1:20 She said to them, “Do not call me Naomi; call me Bitter, for the Sufficient One has dealt very bitterly with me.

1:21 I went out full, and the Lord has brought me back empty. Why do you call me Naomi? The Lord has humbled me, and the Sufficient One has afflicted me.”

1:22 So Naomi returned, and Ruth the Moabite, her daughter-in-law, returned from the field of Moab. They came to Bethlehem at the beginning of the barley harvest.

Ruth 2

2:1 Naomi had an acquaintance of her husband, a man mighty in strength, of the kindred of Abimelech. His name was Boaz.

2:2 Ruth the Moabite said to Naomi, “Let me go now into a field and glean among the ears of grain after someone in whose eyes I find favour.” She said to her, “Go, daughter.”

2:3 And she went and gleaned in the field after the reapers; and by chance she came upon the portion of the field belonging to Boaz, who was of the kindred of Abimelech.

2:4 And behold, Boaz came from Bethlehem and said to the reapers, “The Lord be with you.” They said to him, “May the Lord bless you.”

2:5 Boaz said to his servant who was in charge of the reapers, “Whose young woman is this?”

2:6 The servant in charge of the reapers answered, “She is the Moabite girl who returned with Naomi from the field of Moab,

2:7 and she said, ‘Let me glean now, and gather among the sheaves after the reapers.’ She came and stood from morning until evening; she did not rest in the field, even a little.”

2:8 Boaz said to Ruth, “Have you not heard, daughter? Do not go to glean in another field, and do not leave this one. Stay close here to my maidens.

2:9 Keep your eyes on the field where they reap, and follow them. Behold, I have commanded the servants not to touch you. Whenever you are thirsty, go to the vessels and drink from where the servants draw water.”

2:10 She fell on her face and bowed to the ground, and said to him, “Why have I found favour in your eyes, that you take notice of me, a foreign woman?”

2:11 Boaz answered her, “I have been fully told all that you have done for your mother-in-law since your husband’s death: how you left your father and mother and the land of your birth, and came to a people you had not known before.

2:12 May the Lord repay your work, and may your reward be full from the Lord, the God of Israel, under whose wings you have come to trust.

2:13 She said, “May I find favour in your eyes, my lord, for you have comforted me and spoken to the heart of your handmaid. And behold, I shall be as one of your maidservants.”

2:14 Boaz said to her, “It is time to eat now. Come here, eat some bread, and dip your morsel in the vinegar.” Ruth sat beside the reapers, and Boaz heaped barley meal for her. She ate and was filled, and left some over.

2:15 She arose to glean, and Boaz commanded his servants, “Let her glean even among the sheaves, and do not put her to shame.

2:16 Be sure to carry some for her, and be sure to cast some for her from the heaped-up grain. Leave it, and she shall glean, and you shall not rebuke her.”

2:17 And she gleaned in the field until evening, and beat out what she had gleaned; and it was about an oiphi of barley.

2:18 She lifted it up and entered the city, and her mother-in-law saw what she had gleaned. Ruth brought out and gave her what she had left from the food that had filled her.

2:19 Her mother-in-law said to her, “Where have you gleaned today, and where have you worked? Blessed be the man who took notice of you.” Ruth told her mother-in-law where she had worked, and said, “The name of the man with whom I worked today is Boaz.”

2:20 Naomi said to her daughter-in-law, “Blessed is he of the Lord, for he has not forsaken his mercy toward the living and the dead.” And Naomi said to her, “The man is near to us; he is among those who act as our next of kin.”

Note †: Ruth 2:20. An unresolved kindness pronoun. The pronouns he and his may be read with reference to the Lord or Boaz. The historical comparisons also leave room for interpretation. Lowercase pronouns here avoid settling the antecedent through typography. The verse’s blessing and near-kin relation remain explicit. ↩ 2:20

2:21 Ruth said to her mother-in-law, “He also said to me, ‘Stay close to my servants until they have finished all my harvest.’”

2:22 Naomi said to Ruth her daughter-in-law, “It is good, daughter, that you went with his maidens, and they shall not meet you in another field.”

2:23 Ruth stayed close to the maidens of Boaz, gleaning until the barley and wheat harvest was over. And she lived with her mother-in-law.

Ruth 3

3:1 Naomi her mother-in-law said to her, “Daughter, shall I not seek rest for you, so that it may be well with you?

3:2 Now, is not Boaz our acquaintance, with whose maidens you were? Behold, he is winnowing the barley on the threshing floor tonight.

3:3 Wash and anoint yourself, put on your clothes, and go up to the threshing floor. Do not make yourself known to the man until he has finished drinking and eating.

3:4 When he lies down, note the place where he lies. Go in, uncover what is at his feet, and lie down. He will tell you what to do.”

3:5 Ruth said to her, “All that you say I will do.”

3:6 She went down to the threshing floor and did all that her mother-in-law had commanded her.

3:7 Boaz ate, and his heart was glad. He went to lie down at a part of the heap. She came secretly and uncovered what was at his feet.

3:8 At midnight the man was startled and troubled, and behold, a woman was lying at his feet.

3:9 He said, “Who are you?” She said, “I am Ruth, your handmaid. Spread the wing of your garment over your handmaid, for you are a near kinsman.”

3:10 Boaz said, “Blessed are you of the Lord God, daughter, for you have made your latter mercy greater than the first by not following young men, whether poor or rich.

3:11 And now, daughter, do not be afraid. I will do for you all that you say, for the whole tribe of my people knows that you are a woman of strength,

3:12 and that I truly am a near kinsman. Yet there is a near kinsman nearer than I.

3:13 Lodge tonight. In the morning, if he will act as your next of kin, good; let him do so. But if he is unwilling to act as your next of kin, I will act as your next of kin, as the Lord lives. Lie down until morning.”

3:14 She lay at his feet until morning, and arose before a man could recognise his neighbour. Boaz said, “Let it not be known that a woman came to the threshing floor.”

3:15 He said to her, “Bring the wrap you are wearing.” She held it, and he measured six measures of barley and laid it on her; and he entered the city.

Note †: Ruth 3:15. Who entered the city. The Greek verb does not express a pronoun naming the person who entered. This draft retains he from the earlier Saints reading; the three historical comparisons have she. This is an antecedent decision in English, not proof that the Greek explicitly states he. Keep the choice under review. ↩ 3:15

3:16 Ruth came in to her mother-in-law, who said, “Who are you, daughter?” She told her all that the man had done for her.

3:17 She said to her, “He gave me these six measures of barley, for he said to me, ‘Do not go to your mother-in-law empty-handed.’”

3:18 She said, “Sit, daughter, until you know how the matter shall not fall through, for the man will surely not rest until he has finished the matter today.”

Note †: Ruth 3:18. The matter shall not fall through. The governing Greek includes a negative with the falling expression. The draft keeps the matter shall not fall through. The historical versions describe how the matter will fall or turn out without that negative. Retain the Greek’s polarity while leaving the precise idiom open to further review. ↩ 3:18

4:1 Boaz went up to the gate and sat there, and behold, the near kinsman he had spoken of was passing by. Boaz said to him, “Turn aside and sit here, unnamed one.” He turned aside and sat down.

4:2 And he took ten men from the elders of the city, and said, “Sit here.” And they sat down.

4:3 Boaz said to the near kinsman, “The portion of the field that belongs to our brother Abimelech has been given to Naomi, who is returning from the field of Moab.

4:4 I said, ‘I will uncover your ear,’ saying, ‘Acquire it before those who sit here and before the elders of my people.’ If you will act as next of kin, do so; but if you will not act as next of kin, tell me, and I shall know. There is no one besides you to act as next of kin, and I come after you.” He said, “I am he; I will act as next of kin.”

4:5 Boaz said, “On the day you acquire the field from the hand of Naomi and from Ruth the Moabite, the wife of the dead man, you must also acquire her herself, to raise up the name of the dead upon his inheritance.”

4:6 The near kinsman said, “I shall not be able to act as next of kin for myself, lest I destroy my inheritance. Exercise my right as next of kin for yourself, for I shall not be able to do it.”

4:7 This was formerly the ordinance in Israel concerning the right of next of kin and exchange, to establish every matter: a man removed his sandal and gave it to his neighbour who was exercising his kinship right. This was testimony in Israel.

4:8 The near kinsman said to Boaz, “Acquire my kinship right for yourself.” He removed his sandal and gave it to him.

4:9 Boaz said to the elders and all the people, “You are witnesses today that I have acquired from the hand of Naomi all that belongs to Abimelech, and all that belongs to Chilion and Mahlon.

4:10 I have also acquired Ruth the Moabite, the wife of Mahlon, as my wife, to raise up the name of the dead upon his inheritance. The name of the dead shall not be destroyed from among his brothers and from the tribe of his people. You are witnesses today.”

4:11 All the people at the gate said, “We are witnesses.” And the elders said, “May the Lord make your wife, who is entering your house, like Rachel and Leah, who together built the house of Israel and established strength in Ephrathah; and there shall be a name in Bethlehem.

Note †: Ruth 4:11. The women and the strength clause. The Greek gives plural verbs of building and establishing strength in relation to Rachel and Leah. KJV turns to an exhortation that Boaz do worthily; DRC develops the wife’s virtue. Retain the selected grammatical relation while distinguishing it from those traditional interpretations. ↩ 4:11

4:12 May your house be like the house of Perez, whom Tamar bore to Judah, through the seed which the Lord shall give you from this young woman.”

4:13 Boaz took Ruth, and she became his wife. He went in to her, and the Lord gave her conception, and she bore a son.

4:14 The women said to Naomi, “Blessed be the Lord, who has not left you without the near kinsman today; and may he call your name in Israel.

Note †: Ruth 4:14. Near kinsman and thy name. Keep the kinship relation and the local redemption function. KJV also emphasizes kinship, Brenton redeemer, and DRC successor. The Greek has thy name where KJV has his name. The prayer-like verb and its subject require care; no later theological identification replaces the family relation in the text. ↩ 4:14

4:15 He shall be a restorer of life to you and a nourisher of your old age, for your daughter-in-law who loved you has borne him, and she is better to you than seven sons.”

4:16 And Naomi took the child and laid him in her bosom, and became his nurse.

4:17 The neighbouring women gave him a name, saying, “A son is born to Naomi.” They called his name Obed. He was the father of Jesse, the father of David.

4:18 Now these are the generations of Perez: Perez begot Hezron,

4:19 and Hezron begot Arran, and Arran begot Amminadab,

4:20 and Amminadab begot Nahshon, and Nahshon begot Salman,

4:21 and Salman begot Boaz, and Boaz begot Obed,

4:22 and Obed begot Jesse, and Jesse begot David.

1 Samuel

1 Samuel 1

1:1 There was a man from Armathaim Sipha in the hill country of Ephraim. His name was Elkanah, son of Jerahmeel, son of Elihu, son of Thoke, in Nasib Ephraim.

1:2 He had two wives. One was named Hannah, and the second was named Peninnah. Peninnah had children, but Hannah had no child.

1:3 The man went up year by year from his city, from Armathaim, to bow down and sacrifice to the Lord God Sabaoth at Shiloh. Eli and his two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, were there as priests of the Lord.

1:4 When the day came and Elkanah sacrificed, he gave portions to Peninnah his wife and to her sons and daughters.

1:5 To Hannah he gave one portion, because she had no child. Yet Elkanah loved Hannah more than this other woman, and the Lord had closed her womb.

1:6 For the Lord had not given her a child, in her affliction and in the despondency of her affliction. She was despondent because of this: the Lord had shut her womb so as not to give her a child.

1:7 He would do this year after year when she went up to the Lord's house, and she would be despondent and weep and not eat.

1:8 Elkanah her husband said to her, "Hannah." She said to him, "Here I am, my lord." He said to her, "What is the matter, that you are weeping? Why do you not eat? Why does your heart strike you? Am I not better to you than ten children?"

1:9 Hannah arose after they had eaten at Shiloh and stood before the Lord. Eli the priest was sitting on the seat by the doorposts of the Lord's sanctuary.

1:10 She was in anguish of soul and prayed to the Lord, weeping abundantly.

1:11 She vowed a vow to the Lord, saying, "Adonai, Lord, Eloai Sabaoth, if Thou wilt indeed look upon Thy handmaid's humiliation and remember me, and give Thy handmaid male offspring, then I will give him before Thee as a gift until the day of his death. He shall drink neither wine nor intoxicating drink, and no iron shall come upon his head."

1:12 As she continued praying before the Lord, Eli the priest watched her mouth.

1:13 She was speaking in her heart, and her lips moved, but her voice was not heard. Eli considered her drunk.

1:14 Eli's servant said to her, "How long will you be drunk? Put away your wine and leave the Lord's presence."

1:15 Hannah answered and said, "No, my lord. I am a woman whose day is hard. I have drunk neither wine nor intoxicating drink, and I am pouring out my soul before the Lord.

1:16 Do not regard your handmaid as a pestilent daughter, for I have continued until now out of the abundance of my murmuring."

1:17 Eli answered her, "Go in peace. May the God of Israel grant the whole request you have made of Him."

1:18 She said, "Your handmaid has found favour in your eyes." The woman went her way, entered her lodging, ate with her husband, and drank. Her face no longer fell.

1:19 They rose early in the morning, bowed down to the Lord, and went on their way. Elkanah entered his house at Armathaim and knew Hannah his wife, and the Lord remembered her,

1:20 and she conceived. When the time had come, she bore a son. She called his name Samuel and said, "For I asked him of the Lord God Sabaoth."

1:21 The man Elkanah went up with all his household to sacrifice at Shiloh the yearly sacrifice, his vow offerings, and all the tithes of his land.

1:22 Hannah did not go up with him, for she said to her husband, "Not until the child goes up, when I have weaned him. He will appear before the Lord and remain there for ever."

1:23 Elkanah her husband said to her, "Do what is good in your eyes. Stay until you have weaned him. But may the Lord establish what has come from your mouth." The woman stayed and nursed her son until she weaned him.

1:24 She went up with him to Shiloh, with a three-year-old calf, loaves, an oiphi of fine flour, and a nebel of wine. She entered the Lord's house at Shiloh, and the child was with them.

1:25 They brought him before the Lord, and his father slaughtered the sacrifice that he made year by year to the Lord. He brought the child forward and slaughtered the calf. Hannah, the child's mother, brought him to Eli

1:26 and said, "Please, my lord! As your soul lives, I am the woman who stood before you when praying to the Lord.

1:27 For this child I prayed, and the Lord gave me my request that I asked of Him.

1:28 I too lend him to the Lord for all the days that he lives, as a loan to the Lord."

1 Samuel 2

2:1 She said, “My heart is established in the Lord; my horn is exalted in my God. My mouth is opened wide against enemies; I rejoice in Thy salvation.

2:2 For there is none holy like the Lord, and there is none righteous like our God; there is none holy besides Thee.

2:3 Do not boast, and do not speak loftily; let no grandiose speech come from your mouth. For the Lord is a God of knowledge, and a God who prepares His undertakings.

2:4 The bow of the mighty has grown weak, but those who were weak have girded themselves with strength.

2:5 Those who were full of bread have been diminished, but the hungry have left the land. For the barren woman has borne seven, while she who had many children has grown weak.

2:6 The Lord puts to death and gives life; He brings down to Hades and brings up.

2:7 The Lord makes poor and makes rich; He humbles and raises high.

2:8 He raises the needy from the earth and lifts the poor from the dung heap, to seat them with rulers of peoples and grant them a throne of glory as their inheritance,

2:9 granting a prayer to the one who prays, and He has blessed the years of the righteous one; for a man is not mighty by strength.

2:10 The Lord will weaken His opponent; the Lord is holy. Let the wise person not boast in his wisdom, nor the mighty person in his might, nor the rich person in his riches. Rather, let the one who boasts boast in this: understanding and knowing the Lord, and doing judgment and righteousness in the midst of the earth. The Lord ascended into the heavens and thundered. He will judge the earth’s extremities, and He gives strength to our kings and will raise high the horn of His anointed.”

2:11 They left him there before the Lord and departed to Armathaim, while the child ministered in the Lord’s presence before Eli the priest.

2:12 The sons of Eli the priest were pestilent sons who did not know the Lord.

2:13 This was the priest’s claimed right from the people, from anyone sacrificing: the priest’s servant would come when the meat was boiling, with a three-pronged meat hook in his hand,

2:14 and thrust it into the large cauldron, bronze kettle, or pot. Whatever came up on the meat hook, the priest took for himself. This is what they did to all Israel who came to sacrifice to the Lord at Shiloh.

2:15 Before the fat was burned, the priest’s servant would come and say to the man sacrificing, “Give meat to roast for the priest. I will certainly not take from you meat boiled in the cauldron.”

2:16 The man sacrificing would say, “Let the fat first be burned, as is proper, and take for yourself from whatever your soul desires.” But he said, “No! You must give it now; otherwise I will take it by force.”

2:17 The servants’ sin was very great before the Lord, for they rejected the Lord’s sacrifice.

2:18 Samuel ministered before the Lord, a child girded with an ephoud bar.

2:19 His mother made him a little double cloak and would bring it up to him year by year, when she went up with her husband to sacrifice the yearly sacrifice.

2:20 Eli blessed Elkanah and his wife, saying, “May the Lord repay you with offspring from this woman in return for the loan you made to the Lord.” The man departed to his place,

2:21 and the Lord visited Hannah, and she bore three more sons and two daughters. The child Samuel grew up before the Lord.

2:22 Eli was very old, and he heard what his sons were doing to the sons of Israel.

2:23 He said to them, “Why do you act according to this report that I hear from the mouth of all the Lord’s people?

2:24 No, children! The report I hear is not good. Do not act this way, for the reports I hear are not good, so that the people do not serve God.

2:25 If a man indeed sins against a man, people will pray for him to the Lord; but if he sins against the Lord, who will pray for him?” They would not listen to their father’s voice, for the Lord was firmly resolved to destroy them.

2:26 The child Samuel continued to grow and was in favour both with the Lord and with people.

2:27 A man of God came to Eli and said, “Thus says the Lord: ‘I clearly revealed Myself to your father’s house when they were in the land of Egypt as slaves to Pharaoh’s house,

2:28 and I chose your father’s house from all Israel’s tribes to serve Me as priests, ascend My altar, burn incense, and bear an ephoud. I gave your father’s house all the Israelites’ fire offerings for food.

2:29 Why did you look upon My incense and My sacrifice with a shameless eye, and honour your sons more than Me, so that they bless themselves with the firstfruits of every sacrifice of Israel before Me?

2:30 Therefore thus said the Lord, the God of Israel: I said that your house and your father's house would pass before Me for ever. But now the Lord says: By no means! I will honour only those who honour Me, and the one who despises Me will be dishonoured.

2:31 Behold, days are coming when I will destroy your offspring and the offspring of your father's house,

2:32 and no old man of yours will be in My house all the days.

2:33 Yet I will not destroy every man of yours from My altar, so that his eyes fail and his soul ebbs away. Everyone remaining in your house will fall by the sword of men.

2:34 This will be the sign for you that will come upon these two sons of yours, Hophni and Phinehas: both will die in one day.

2:35 I will raise up for Myself a faithful priest who will do everything in My heart and in My soul. I will build him a faithful house, and he will pass before My anointed all the days.

2:36 The one remaining in your house will come to bow down to him for a silver obol, saying, "Place me in one of your priestly offices, so I may eat bread."'"

1 Samuel 3

3:1 The child Samuel ministered to the Lord before Eli the priest. The Lord's word was precious in those days; there was no distinct vision.

3:2 At that time Eli was sleeping in his place. His eyes had begun to grow heavy, and he could not see,

3:3 and it was before God's lamp was put in order. Samuel was sleeping in the sanctuary where God's ark was,

3:4 and the Lord called, "Samuel, Samuel!" He said, "Here I am."

3:5 He ran to Eli and said, "Here I am, for you have called me." He said, "I have not called you. Return and sleep." He went back and slept.

3:6 The Lord called again, "Samuel, Samuel!" He went to Eli a second time and said, "Here I am, for you have called me." He said, "I have not called you. Return and sleep."

3:7 This was before Samuel knew God and before the Lord's word had been revealed to him.

3:8 The Lord called Samuel a third time. He arose, went to Eli, and said, "Here I am, for you have called me." Eli realized that the Lord had called the child.

3:9 He said, "Return and sleep, child. If He calls you, say, 'Speak, Lord, for Thy servant hears.'" Samuel went and lay down in his place.

3:10 The Lord came and stood there. He called him as before, and Samuel said, "Speak, for Thy servant hears."

3:11 The Lord said to Samuel, "Behold, I am carrying out My words in Israel, so that both ears of everyone who hears them will resound.

3:12 On that day I will raise against Eli everything I have spoken concerning his house. I will begin and bring it to completion.

3:13 I have told him that I am taking vengeance on his house for ever for his sons' wrongdoings, because his sons were reviling God, and even so he did not admonish them.

3:14 I swore concerning Eli's house: the wrongdoing of Eli's house shall never be expiated by incense or sacrifices."

3:15 Samuel lay until morning, rose early in the morning, and opened the doors of the Lord's house. Samuel was afraid to report the vision to Eli.

3:16 Eli said to Samuel, "Samuel, child." He said, "Here I am."

3:17 He said, "What was the word spoken to you? Do not hide it from me. May God do these things to you, and add these things, if you hide from me a word of all the words spoken to you in your ears."

3:18 Samuel reported all the words and hid nothing from him. Eli said, "He is the Lord. He will do what is good before Him."

3:19 Samuel grew, and the Lord was with him, and none of his words fell to the ground.

3:20 All Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, knew that Samuel was faithful as a prophet to the Lord.

3:21 The Lord continued to make Himself known at Shiloh, for the Lord revealed Himself to Samuel. Samuel was recognized as a prophet of the Lord for all Israel, from the ends of the land to the ends. Eli was very old, and his sons continued on their way, and their way was evil before the Lord.

1 Samuel 4

4:1 In those days the foreigners gathered for war against Israel. Israel went out to meet them in battle and camped beside Ebenezer, and the foreigners camped at Aphek.

4:2 The foreigners drew up for war against Israel. The battle turned, and the men of Israel stumbled before the foreigners. Four thousand men were struck down in the battle line in the field.

4:3 The people came into the camp, and Israel's elders said, "Why has the Lord made us stumble today before the foreigners? Let us take our God's ark from Shiloh. Let it go out among us, and it will save us from our enemies' hand."

4:4 The people sent to Shiloh and carried from there the ark of the Lord, who is seated upon the cherubim. Both Eli's sons, Hophni and Phinehas, were with the ark.

4:5 When the Lord's ark came into the camp, all Israel cried out with a loud voice, and the earth resounded.

4:6 The foreigners heard the cry, and the foreigners said, "What is this great cry in the Hebrews' camp?" They learned that the Lord's ark had come into the camp.

4:7 The foreigners were afraid and said, "These gods have come to them in the camp. Woe to us! Rescue us today, Lord, for nothing like this has happened before.

4:8 Woe to us! Who will rescue us from the hand of these powerful gods? These are the gods who struck Egypt with every plague and in the wilderness.

4:9 Be strong and be men, foreigners, so that you do not serve the Hebrews as they served us. Be men and fight them!"

4:10 They fought them, and the men of Israel stumbled. Each fled to his dwelling. The slaughter was very great, and thirty thousand troops of Israel fell.

4:11 God's ark was captured, and both Eli's sons, Hophni and Phinehas, died.

4:12 A Benjaminite man ran from the battle line and came to Shiloh that day, with his garments torn and earth on his head.

4:13 He came, and behold, Eli was sitting on the seat by the gate, watching the road, for his heart was distraught over God's ark. The man entered the city to report, and the city cried out.

4:14 Eli heard the sound of the cry and said, "What is this crying sound?" The man hurried in and reported to Eli.

4:15 Eli was ninety years old. His eyes were fixed, and he could not see. Eli said to the men standing around him, "What is the sound of this uproar?"

4:16 The man hurried up to Eli and said to him, "I am the one who has come from the camp. I fled from the battle line today." He said, "What happened, child?"

4:17 The young man answered and said, "The men of Israel have fled before the foreigners. There has been a great slaughter among the people. Both your sons are dead, and God's ark has been captured."

4:18 When the man mentioned God's ark, Eli fell backward from the seat beside the gate. His back was crushed, and he died, for the man was old and heavy. He had judged Israel twenty years.

4:19 His daughter-in-law, Phinehas's wife, was pregnant and about to give birth. When she heard the report that God's ark had been captured and that her father-in-law and her husband were dead, she crouched and gave birth, for her labor pains turned upon her.

4:20 At that time she was dying. The women standing beside her said, "Do not fear, for you have borne a son." She did not answer, and her heart did not understand.

4:21 She called the child Woe-barchaboth, because of God's ark, her father-in-law, and her husband.

4:22 They said, "Israel's glory has been carried away with the capture of the Lord's ark."

1 Samuel 5

5:1 The foreigners took the ark of God and brought it from Ebenezer to Ashdod.

5:2 The foreigners took the ark of the Lord, brought it into Dagon's house, and placed it beside Dagon.

5:3 The Ashdodites rose early, entered Dagon's house, and looked: there was Dagon, fallen on his face before the ark of God. They raised Dagon and restored him to his place. The Lord's hand became heavy upon the Ashdodites. He tormented them and struck them on their buttocks—Ashdod and its territory.

5:4 When they rose early in the morning, there was Dagon, fallen on his face before the ark of the Lord's covenant. Dagon's head and both soles of his hands were severed, each upon the front parts of amapheth; both wrists of his hands had fallen at the doorway. Only Dagon's back remained.

5:5 That is why Dagon's priests and everyone entering Dagon's house do not step on the step of Dagon's house in Ashdod to this day: they always step over it.

5:6 The Lord's hand became heavy upon Ashdod. He brought affliction upon them, and it broke out upon them into the ships. Mice sprang up in the middle of its territory, and there was great deadly turmoil in the city.

5:7 When Ashdod's men saw that it was so, they said, "The ark of Israel's God must not stay with us, for His hand is harsh upon us and upon Dagon our god."

5:8 They sent and gathered the foreigners' satraps to them. They said, "What shall we do with the ark of Israel's God?" The Gathites said, "Let the ark of God come over to us." So the ark of God came over to Gath.

5:9 After it came over, the Lord's hand was in the city, with exceedingly great turmoil. He struck the city's men, small and great, and struck them on their buttocks. The Gathites made seats for themselves.

5:10 They sent the ark of God away to Ashkelon. When the ark of God entered Ashkelon, the Ashkelonites cried out, "Why have you sent the ark of Israel's God around to us to kill us and our people?"

5:11 They sent and gathered the foreigners' satraps. They said, "Send away the ark of Israel's God. Let it settle in its place, and it will certainly not kill us and our people!" For exceedingly heavy deadly turmoil was throughout the city when the ark of Israel's God entered there.

5:12 Those who were alive and had not died were struck on their buttocks, and the city's cry went up to heaven.

1 Samuel 6

6:1 The ark was in the foreigners' country for seven months, and their land teemed with mice.

6:2 The foreigners called for the priests, diviners, and their enchanters, saying, "What shall we do with the ark of the Lord? Tell us in what we should send it to its place."

6:3 They said, "If you send away the ark of the covenant of the Lord, Israel's God, do not send it empty. You must return to it something for the torment. Then you will be healed, and propitiation will be made for you, lest His hand fail to withdraw from you."

6:4 They said, "What shall we return to it for the torment?" They said, "Five gold seats, matching the number of the foreigners' satraps, for one affliction is upon you, your rulers, and the people;

6:5 and gold mice, in the likeness of your mice that are destroying the land. Give glory to the Lord, so that He may lighten His hand upon you, upon your gods, and upon your land.

6:6 Why make your hearts heavy, as Egypt and Pharaoh made their heart heavy? After He mocked them, did they not send them away, and they departed?

6:7 Now take and prepare a new cart and two cows that have calved for the first time, without their calves. Yoke the cows to the cart, and take their calves home away from them.

6:8 Take the ark and set it on the cart. Return the gold objects to it for the torment, and put them in a deposit, bersechthan, at its side. Send it away and drive it off, and it will go.

6:9 Watch: if it goes by the road to its own territory toward Beth-shemesh, He has done this great harm to us. If not, we will know that His hand has not touched us; this happened to us by chance."

6:10 The foreigners did so. They took two cows that had calved for the first time, yoked them to the cart, and kept their calves in the house.

6:11 They set the ark on the cart, together with the deposit, ergab, and the gold mice.

6:12 The cows went straight along the road toward Beth-shemesh. They followed one path, laboring as they went, and did not turn right or left. The foreigners' satraps followed it as far as the territory of Beth-shemesh.

6:13 Those in Beth-shemesh were reaping the wheat harvest in the valley. They lifted their eyes, saw the ark of the Lord, and rejoiced to meet it.

6:14 The cart came into Hosea's field in Beth-shemesh. They set up a large stone there beside it, split the cart's wood, and offered the cows as a whole burnt offering to the Lord.

6:15 The Levites brought up the ark of the Lord and the deposit, ergab, with it, and the gold objects upon it, and set them on the large stone. The men of Beth-shemesh offered whole burnt offerings and sacrifices to the Lord that day.

6:16 The foreigners' five satraps watched and returned to Ashkelon that day.

6:17 These are the gold seats that the foreigners returned to the Lord for the torment: one for Ashdod, one for Gaza, one for Ashkelon, one for Gath, and one for Ekron.

6:18 The gold mice matched the number of all the foreigners' cities belonging to the five satraps, from fortified city to the Perizzite's village and as far as the large stone on which they set the ark of the Lord's covenant, in the field of Hosea the Beth-shemite.

6:19 The sons of Jeconiah were not pleased among the men of Beth-shemesh because they saw the ark of the Lord. He struck among them seventy men and fifty thousand men. The people mourned because the Lord had struck the people with an exceedingly great blow.

6:20 The men from Beth-shemesh said, "Who can pass before this holy Lord? To whom shall the ark of the Lord go up away from us?"

6:21 They sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kiriath-jearim, saying, “The foreigners have returned the ark of the Lord. Come down and bring it up to yourselves.”

1 Samuel 7

7:1 The men of Kiriath-jearim came and brought up the ark of the Lord’s covenant. They brought it into Aminadab’s house on the hill and consecrated his son Eleazar to guard the ark of the Lord’s covenant.

7:2 From the day the ark was in Kiriath-jearim, the days multiplied until twenty years had passed. The whole house of Israel looked to the Lord.

7:3 Samuel said to all Israel’s house, “If you are returning to the Lord with all your heart, remove the foreign gods and the groves from among you. Prepare your hearts toward the Lord and serve Him alone, and He will rescue you from the foreigners’ hand.”

7:4 The sons of Israel removed the Baalim and the groves of Astaroth and served the Lord alone.

7:5 Samuel said, “Gather all Israel at Mizpah, and I will pray to the Lord for you.”

7:6 They gathered at Mizpah, drew water, and poured it onto the ground before the Lord. They fasted that day and said, “We have sinned before the Lord.” Samuel judged the sons of Israel at Mizpah.

7:7 The foreigners heard that all the sons of Israel had gathered at Mizpah, and the foreigners’ satraps went up against Israel. When the sons of Israel heard, they were afraid of the foreigners.

7:8 The sons of Israel said to Samuel, “Do not be silent on our behalf: keep crying to the Lord your God, and He will save us from the foreigners’ hand.”

7:9 Samuel took one nursing lamb and, with all the people, offered it as a whole burnt offering to the Lord. Samuel cried to the Lord for Israel, and the Lord heard him.

7:10 While Samuel was offering the whole burnt offering, the foreigners drew near for battle against Israel. The Lord thundered with a great voice against the foreigners that day. They were thrown into confusion and fell before Israel.

7:11 Israel’s men went out from Mizpah, pursued the foreigners, and struck them as far as below Beth-chor.

7:12 Samuel took one stone and set it between Mizpah and the old city. He named it Ebenezer, Stone of the Helper, and said, “Thus far the Lord has helped us.”

7:13 The Lord humbled the foreigners, and they did not enter Israel’s territory again. The Lord’s hand was against the foreigners throughout Samuel’s days.

7:14 The cities that the foreigners had taken from the sons of Israel were restored; they returned them to Israel, from Ashkelon to Azob. They recovered Israel’s territory from the foreigners’ hand. There was peace between Israel and the Amorites.

7:15 Samuel judged Israel throughout his life.

7:16 Year after year he traveled a circuit through Bethel, Gilgal, and Mizpah, judging Israel in all these consecrated places.

7:17 He would return to Armathaim, for his house was there. There he judged Israel, and there he built an altar to the Lord.

1 Samuel 8

8:1 When Samuel grew old, he appointed his sons as judges for Israel.

8:2 These were his sons’ names: the firstborn was Joel, and the second son’s name was Abijah. They were judges in Beersheba.

8:3 His sons did not walk in his way. They turned aside after completion, took bribes, and perverted ordinances.

8:4 Israel’s men gathered and came to Samuel at Armathaim.

8:5 They said to him, “Behold, you have grown old, and your sons do not walk in your way. Now appoint a king over us to judge us like the other nations.”

8:6 The word was evil in Samuel’s eyes when they said, “Give us a king to judge us.” Samuel prayed to the Lord.

8:7 The Lord said to Samuel, “Listen to the people’s voice in whatever they say to you. They have treated Me as nothing so that I should not reign over them; it is not you they have treated as nothing.

8:8 As in all the deeds they have done to Me from the day I brought them up from Egypt until this day, forsaking Me and serving other gods, so they are doing to you as well.

8:9 Now listen to their voice. But solemnly testify to them and report to them the claim of the king who will reign over them.”

8:10 Samuel told the whole word of the Lord to the people who were asking him for a king.

8:11 He said, “This will be the claim of the king who reigns over you: he will take your sons and appoint them to his chariots, his horsemen, and as runners before his chariots.

8:12 He will appoint them for himself as commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, and set them to reap his harvest, gather his vintage, and make his weapons of war and his chariot equipment.

8:13 He will take your daughters as perfumers, cooks, and bakers.

8:14 He will take your fields, your vineyards, and your good olive groves and give them to his servants.

8:15 He will take a tenth of your seed and your vineyards and give it to his eunuchs and his servants.

8:16 He will take your male slaves, your female slaves, your good cattle herds, and your donkeys, and take a tenth for his work.

8:17 He will take a tenth of your flocks, and you yourselves will become his slaves.

8:18 On that day you will cry out because of the king you chose for yourselves, but the Lord will not hear you in those days, because you chose a king for yourselves."

8:19 The people would not listen to Samuel. They said to him, "No! There must be a king over us,

8:20 so that we too may be like all the nations. Our king will judge us, go out before us, and fight our war."

8:21 Samuel heard all the people's words and spoke them in the Lord's ears.

8:22 The Lord said to Samuel, "Listen to their voice and make a king reign for them." Samuel said to Israel's men, "Let each go off to his city."

1 Samuel 9

9:1 There was a man from Benjamin's sons named Kish son of Abiel, son of Sared, son of Bachir, son of Aphek, son of a Benjaminite man—a mighty man.

9:2 He had a son named Saul, a tall, good man. No one among the sons of Israel was better than he; from his shoulders upward he was taller than all the land.

9:3 The donkeys belonging to Kish, Saul's father, were lost. Kish said to his son Saul, "Take one of the young servants with you. Arise, both of you, go, and look for the donkeys."

9:4 They passed through Ephraim's hill country and through the land of Selcha, but did not find them. They passed through the land of Easakem, but there was nothing. They passed through the land of Jakim, but did not find them.

9:5 When they came to Siph, Saul said to his young servant who was with him, "Come, let us return, lest my father leave the donkeys aside and worry about us."

9:6 The young servant said to him, "Behold, there is a man of God in this city, and the man is renowned. Everything he says will certainly come to pass. Let us go now so that he may tell us about the way we have traveled."

9:7 Saul said to his young servant who was with him, "If we go, what shall we bring the man of God? The loaves are gone from our containers, and we have nothing more of our possessions to bring the man of God."

9:8 The young servant answered Saul again: "Behold, I have a quarter-shekel of silver in my hand. You will give it to the man of God, and he will tell us our way."

9:9 Formerly in Israel, each person going to inquire of God would say, "Come, let us go to the seer," for the people formerly called the prophet "the seer."

9:10 Saul said to his young servant, "The word is good. Come, let us go." They went to the city where the man of God was.

9:11 As they climbed the ascent to the city, they met girls who had come out to draw water. They said to them, "Is the seer here?"

9:12 The girls answered them, "He is. Behold, he is ahead of you. He has come to the city now for the day, because the people have a sacrifice today at Bama.

9:13 As soon as you enter the city, you will find him in the city before he goes up to Bama to eat. The people will certainly not eat until he enters, because he blesses the sacrifice; afterward the guests eat. Go up now, for you will find him during the day."

9:14 They went up to the city. As they entered the city's interior, there was Samuel coming out to meet them on his way up to Bama.

9:15 The Lord had uncovered Samuel's ear one day before Saul came to him, saying,

9:16 "About this time tomorrow I will send you a man from Benjamin's land. Anoint him as ruler over My people Israel. He will save My people from the foreigners' hand, for I have looked upon My people's humiliation, because their cry has reached Me."

9:17 Samuel saw Saul, and the Lord answered him, "Here is the man of whom I spoke to you. This one will rule among My people."

9:18 Saul approached Samuel in the city's interior and said, "Please tell me which is the seer's house."

9:19 Samuel answered Saul, "I am he. Go up before me to Bama and eat with me today. I will send you away in the morning and tell you everything in your heart.

9:20 As for your donkeys lost three days ago, do not set your heart on them: they have been found. To whom belong Israel's beautiful things? Is it not to you and to your father's house?"

9:21 Saul answered, "Am I not the son of a Benjaminite man, from Israel's small tribal division and from the smallest clan of Benjamin's whole tribe? Why have you spoken such a word to me?"

9:22 Samuel took Saul and his young servant, brought them into the lodging room, and gave them a place among the first of the invited guests, about seventy men.

9:23 Samuel said to the cook, “Give me the portion I gave you, which I told you to set aside with you.”

9:24 The cook lifted the haunch and set it before Saul. Samuel said to Saul, “Here is what remains. Set it before you and eat, for it has been set aside for you as a testimony apart from the others. Gnaw it.” Saul ate with Samuel that day.

9:25 He came down from Bama into the city, and they spread bedding for Saul on the roof.

9:26 And he slept. As dawn came up, Samuel called to Saul on the roof, “Arise, and I will send you away.” Saul got up, and he and Samuel went outside.

9:27 As they went down toward the side of the city, Samuel said to Saul, “Tell the young man to go ahead of us. But you stand here a while and hear God’s word.”

1 Samuel 10

10:1 Samuel took the flask of oil, poured it on his head, kissed him, and said to him, “Has not the Lord anointed you as ruler over His people, over Israel? You will rule among the Lord’s people and save them from their enemies’ hand all around. This will be the sign to you that the Lord has anointed you as ruler over His inheritance:

10:2 When you leave me today, you will find two men near Rachel’s tombs in Benjamin’s territory, leaping greatly. They will say to you, ‘The donkeys you both went to seek have been found. Your father has cast aside the matter of the donkeys and has spent lavishly on your account, saying, “What shall I do for my son?”’

10:3 Go on farther from there until you reach Tabor’s oak. You will find three men there going up to God at Bethel: one carrying three young goats, one carrying three containers of loaves, and one carrying a skin of wine.

10:4 They will ask about your welfare and give you two first portions of loaves, and you shall accept them from their hand.

10:5 Afterward you will enter God’s hill, where the foreigners’ station is—there is Nasib the foreigner. When you both enter the city there, you will meet a chorus of prophets coming down from Bama, with a nabla, tambourine, pipe, and kinyra before them, and they will be prophesying.

10:6 The Lord’s Spirit will leap upon you. You will prophesy with them and be changed into another man.

10:7 When these signs come upon you, do everything your hand finds, for God is with you.

10:8 Go down before Gilgal. I will come down to you to offer a whole burnt offering and peace sacrifices. Wait seven days until I come to you; then I will make known to you what you must do.”

10:9 As he turned his shoulder to leave Samuel, God changed his heart to another heart, and all the signs came that day.

10:10 He came from there to the hill, and a chorus of prophets was facing him. God’s Spirit leaped upon him, and he prophesied among them.

10:11 All who had known him before saw him among the prophets. The people said to one another, “What has happened to Kish’s son? Is Saul also among the prophets?”

10:12 One of them answered, “And who is his father?” That is why it became a proverb: “Is Saul also among the prophets?”

10:13 He finished prophesying and came to the hill.

10:14 His relative said to him and his young servant, “Where did you go?” They said, “To look for the donkeys. When we saw they were not there, we came to Samuel.”

10:15 The relative said to Saul, “Please tell me what Samuel said to you.”

10:16 Saul said to his relative, “He plainly told me that the donkeys had been found.” But he did not tell him the word about the kingship.

10:17 Samuel summoned all the people to the Lord at Mizpah.

10:18 He said to the sons of Israel, “Thus says the Lord, Israel’s God: ‘I brought the sons of Israel up from Egypt and rescued you from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt and from all the kingdoms oppressing you.’

10:19 Yet today you have treated God as nothing, the One who is your Saviour from all your evils and distresses. You have said, ‘No! You must establish a king over us.’ Now stand before the Lord by your tribes and your clans.”

10:20 Samuel brought all Israel’s tribes near, and Benjamin’s tribe was selected by lot.

10:21 He brought Benjamin’s tribe near by clans. Mattari’s clan was selected by lot. They brought Mattari’s clan near man by man, and Saul son of Kish was selected by lot. He looked for him, but he could not be found.

10:22 Samuel inquired of the Lord again, “Is the man coming here?” The Lord said, “Behold, he has hidden among the baggage.”

10:23 He ran and brought him from there and stationed him among the people. He rose above all the people from his shoulders upward.

10:24 Samuel said to all the people, “Have you seen the one the Lord has chosen for Himself? There is no one like him among all of you.” All the people acknowledged it and said, “May the king live!”

10:25 Samuel spoke to the people about the king’s claim, wrote it in a scroll, and placed it before the Lord. Samuel sent all the people away, and each went to his place.

10:26 Saul went to his house in Gibeah. Sons of might whose hearts the Lord had touched went with Saul.

10:27 But pestilent men said, “How can this one save us?” They dishonoured him and brought him no gifts.

1 Samuel 11

11:1 About a month later, Nahash the Ammonite went up and camped against Jabesh-gilead. All Jabesh’s men said to Nahash the Ammonite, “Make a covenant with us, and we will serve you.”

11:2 Nahash the Ammonite said to them, “On this condition I will make a covenant with you: I will gouge out every right eye among you and place a disgrace upon Israel.”

11:3 Jabesh’s men said to him, “Give us seven days’ respite so that we may send messengers throughout Israel’s territory. If there is no one to save us, we will come out to you all.”

11:4 The messengers came to Gibeah, to Saul, and spoke the words in the people’s ears. All the people raised their voices and wept.

11:5 Saul was coming from the field after the morning. Saul said, “Why are the people weeping?” They recounted to him the words of Jabesh’s sons.

11:6 The Lord’s Spirit leaped upon Saul when he heard these words, and his anger burned fiercely against them.

11:7 He took two oxen, cut them in pieces, and sent them by messengers’ hand throughout Israel’s territory, saying, “Whoever does not come out after Saul and Samuel—they will do this to his oxen!” Terror from the Lord came upon Israel’s people, and they cried out as one man.

11:8 Abiezek mustered them in Bama: all Israel’s men numbered six hundred thousand, and Judah’s men seventy thousand.

11:9 He said to the messengers who had come, “Say this to Jabesh’s men: ‘Tomorrow, when the sun grows hot, you will have deliverance.’” The messengers came into the city and told Jabesh’s men, and they rejoiced.

11:10 Jabesh’s men said to Nahash the Ammonite, “Tomorrow we will come out to you, and you may do to us what is good before you.”

11:11 After the next day, Saul divided the people into three companies. They entered the middle of the camp during the morning watch and struck Ammon’s sons until the day grew hot. The survivors scattered, and no two of them were left together.

11:12 The people said to Samuel, “Who said, ‘Saul will not reign over us’? Hand over the men so that we may put them to death.”

11:13 Saul said, “No one shall die this day, for today the Lord has worked deliverance in Israel.”

11:14 Samuel said to the people, “Let us go to Gilgal and renew the kingship there.”

11:15 All the people went to Gilgal. There Samuel anointed Saul as king before the Lord at Gilgal and sacrificed sacrifices and peace offerings before the Lord. Samuel and all Israel rejoiced exceedingly.

1 Samuel 12

12:1 Samuel said to every man of Israel, “Behold, I have listened to your voice in everything you said to me, and I have made a king reign over you.

12:2 Now the king walks before you. I have grown old and will sit down, and my sons are here among you. I have walked before you from my youth to this day.

12:3 Here I am. Answer against me before the Lord and before His anointed: Whose calf have I taken? Whose donkey have I taken? Which of you have I tyrannized? Whom have I squeezed? From whose hand have I taken an appeasing payment and a sandal? Answer against me, and I will repay you.”

12:4 They said to Samuel, “You have not wronged us or tyrannized us or crushed us, and you have taken nothing from anyone’s hand.”

12:5 Samuel said to the people, “The Lord is witness among you, and His anointed is witness today, on this day, that you have found nothing in my hand.” They said, “Witness.”

12:6 Samuel said to the people, “The Lord is witness, He who made Moses and Aaron what they were and brought our fathers up from Egypt.

12:7 Now take your stand, and I will judge you before the Lord and report to you all the Lord’s righteousness that He worked among you and your fathers.

12:8 When Jacob and his sons entered Egypt, Egypt humbled them. Our fathers cried to the Lord, and the Lord sent Moses and Aaron. He brought our fathers out of Egypt and settled them in this place.

12:9 They forgot the Lord their God, and He sold them into the hands of Sisera, commander-in-chief of Jabin king of Hazor, into the foreigners' hands, and into the hands of Moab's king, who fought against them.

12:10 They cried to the Lord and said, 'We have sinned, for we have forsaken the Lord and served the Baalim and the groves. Now rescue us from our enemies' hand, and we will serve Thee.'

12:11 The Lord sent Jerubbaal, Barak, Jephthah, and Samuel. He rescued you from your enemies' hand all around, and you lived confidently.

12:12 When you saw Nahash, king of Ammon's sons, coming against you, you said, 'No! A king must reign over us,' although the Lord our God was our king.

12:13 Now here is the king you chose. Behold, the Lord has placed a king over you.

12:14 If you fear the Lord, serve Him, listen to His voice, and do not contend against the Lord's mouth, and if both you and the king who reigns over you go after the Lord—

12:15 But if you do not listen to the Lord's voice and contend against the Lord's mouth, the Lord's hand will be against you and your king.

12:16 Now stand and see this great thing that the Lord will do before your eyes.

12:17 Is it not wheat harvest today? I will call upon the Lord, and He will send thunder and rain. Know and see that the evil you have done before the Lord by asking a king for yourselves is great."

12:18 Samuel called upon the Lord, and the Lord sent thunder and rain that day. All the people greatly feared the Lord and Samuel.

12:19 All the people said to Samuel, "Pray to the Lord your God for your servants, and we will certainly not die. We have added to all our sins the evil of asking a king for ourselves."

12:20 Samuel said to the people, "Do not fear. You have done all this evil, but do not turn aside from following the Lord. Serve the Lord with all your heart.

12:21 Do not turn aside after things that are nothing, which accomplish nothing and cannot rescue, for they are nothing.

12:22 The Lord will not reject His people for His great name's sake, because the Lord graciously took you to Himself as a people.

12:23 As for me, may I never sin against the Lord by ceasing to pray for you. I will serve the Lord and show you the good and straight way.

12:24 Only fear the Lord and serve Him in truth and with all your heart, for you have seen how greatly He has acted for you.

12:25 But if you wickedly do evil, both you and your king will be added."

1 Samuel 13

13:2 Saul chose three thousand men from Israel's men for himself. Two thousand were with Saul at Michmash and on Bethel's hill, and one thousand were with Jonathan in Benjamin's Geba. He sent the rest of the people away, each to his tent.

13:3 Jonathan struck Nasib the foreigner on the hill, and the foreigners heard. Saul sounded a trumpet throughout the land, saying, "The slaves have rebelled!"

13:4 All Israel heard people saying, "Saul has struck Nasib the foreigner, and Israel has been put to shame among the foreigners." The people cried out after Saul at Gilgal.

13:5 The foreigners gathered for war against Israel. They went up against Israel with thirty thousand chariots, six thousand horsemen, and people as numerous as the sand by the sea. They went up and camped at Michmash, opposite Baithon toward the south.

13:6 The men of Israel saw that they were in straits and could not advance. The people hid in caves, enclosures, rocks, trenches, and pits.

13:7 Those crossing crossed the Jordan into Gad's land and Gilead. Saul was still at Gilgal, and all the people were terrified behind him.

13:8 He waited seven days for the testimony, as Samuel had said, but Samuel did not arrive at Gilgal, and his people scattered away from him.

13:9 Saul said, "Bring them forward so that I may make a whole burnt offering and peace offerings." He offered the whole burnt offering.

13:10 Just as he finished offering the whole burnt offering, Samuel arrived. Saul went out to meet him and bless him.

13:11 Samuel said, "What have you done?" Saul said, "I saw the people scattering away from me, you had not come as you had ordered at the testimony of the days, and the foreigners had gathered at Michmash.

13:12 I said, 'Now the foreigners will come down against me at Gilgal, and I have not entreated the Lord's face.' So I mastered myself and offered the whole burnt offering."

13:13 Samuel said to Saul, “It has come to nothing for you, because you have not kept my commandment that the Lord commanded you. For now the Lord had prepared your kingdom over Israel for ever.

13:14 But now your kingdom will not stand. The Lord will seek for Himself a man according to His heart, and the Lord will appoint him as ruler over His people, because you have not kept everything the Lord commanded you.”

13:15 Samuel rose and went away from Gilgal on his way. The rest of the people went up after Saul to meet, following the fighting people. When they came from Gilgal to Benjamin’s Gibeah, Saul mustered the people who were with him, about six hundred men.

13:16 Saul, his son Jonathan, and the people who were with them stayed in Benjamin’s Geba and wept, while the foreigners had camped at Michmash.

13:17 A destroying force went out from the foreigners’ country in three companies. One company faced the road to Gophera, toward the land of Sogal;

13:18 one company faced the road to Beth-horon; and one company faced the road to Geba overlooking Gai, the Sabin.

13:19 No ironworker could be found throughout Israel’s land, for the foreigners had said, “The Hebrews must not make sword and spear.”

13:20 All Israel went down into the foreigners’ land, each man to have his reaping tool, his implement, his axe, and his sickle worked at the forge.

13:21 The vintage was ready for reaping. The implements were three shekels per tooth, and for the axe and the sickle the rate was the same.

13:22 In the days of the war at Michmash, neither sword nor spear was found in the hand of any of the people with Saul and Jonathan; they were found with Saul and his son Jonathan.

13:23 He went out from the foreigners’ station, the one beyond Michmash.

1 Samuel 14

14:1 One day Jonathan son of Saul said to the young servant carrying his equipment, “Come, let us cross to the foreigners’ messab over on that side.” He did not tell his father.

14:2 Saul was sitting at the hill’s summit beneath the pomegranate tree in Magdon. About six hundred men were with him.

14:3 Ahijah son of Ahitub, Jochabed’s brother, son of Phinehas, son of Eli, was God’s priest in Shiloh, bearing an ephoud. The people did not know Jonathan had gone.

14:4 Within the crossing where Jonathan sought to cross to the foreigners’ station was a rocky promontory on one side and a rocky promontory on the other. One was named Bazes and the other Senna.

14:5 One road approached Michmash from the north, and the other road approached Geba from the south.

14:6 Jonathan said to the young servant carrying his equipment, “Come, let us cross to these uncircumcised men’s messab. Perhaps the Lord will do something for us, for the Lord is not constrained from saving by many or by few.”

14:7 The one carrying his equipment said to him, “Do everything to which your heart inclines. Here I am with you: my heart is as your heart.”

14:8 Jonathan said, “We will cross to the men and roll down toward them.

14:9 If they say to us, ‘Stay back there until we tell you,’ we will stand on our own and certainly not go up against them.

14:10 But if they say to us, ‘Come up to us,’ we will go up, for the Lord has handed them into our hands. This will be our sign.”

14:11 The two of them entered the foreigners’ messab. The foreigners said, “Behold, the Hebrews are coming out of their holes where they were hiding.”

14:12 The men of the messab called to Jonathan and the one carrying his equipment, “Come up to us, and we will let you know a word.” Jonathan said to the one carrying his equipment, “Come up after me, for the Lord has handed them into Israel’s hands.”

14:13 Jonathan climbed up on his hands and feet, with the one carrying his equipment beside him. They looked Jonathan in the face, and he struck them; the one carrying his equipment kept following behind him.

14:14 The first blow Jonathan and the one carrying his equipment struck was about twenty men, with darts, stone-throwers, and pebbles of the plain.

14:15 There was terror in the camp and in the field. All the people in the messab and the destroyers were terrified, and they were unwilling to act. The earth was astonished, and there was terror from the Lord.

14:16 Saul’s lookouts in Benjamin’s Geba saw the camp in turmoil this way and that.

14:17 Saul said to the people with him, “Please muster and see who has gone from you.” They mustered, and Jonathan and the one carrying his equipment could not be found.

14:18 Saul said to Ahijah, “Bring the ephoud near.” For he was bearing the ephoud before Israel that day.

14:19 While Saul spoke to the priest, the sound in the foreigners' camp kept growing louder. Saul said to the priest, "Withdraw your hands."

14:20 Saul and all the people with him cried out and came to the battle. Each man's sword was against his neighbour, with exceedingly great confusion.

14:21 The slaves who had previously been with the foreigners and had gone up into the camp also turned to join Israel with Saul and Jonathan.

14:22 All Israel hiding on Ephraim's hill heard that the foreigners had fled. They too joined in behind them for battle.

14:23 The Lord saved Israel that day. The battle passed beyond Baithon, and all the people with Saul numbered about ten thousand men. The battle spread through the whole city in Ephraim's hill country.

14:24 Saul acted with great ignorance that day and laid a curse upon the people: "Cursed is the man who eats bread before evening, until I take vengeance on my enemy." None of the people tasted bread.

14:25 All the land was eating a meal. There was an iaar, a wooded bee-place, facing the field.

14:26 The people entered the bee-place. There he was, going along and speaking; no one was bringing his hand back to his mouth, for the people feared the Lord's oath.

14:27 Jonathan had not heard when his father put the people under oath. He stretched out the tip of the staff in his hand, dipped it into the honeycomb, and brought his hand back to his mouth. His eyes looked up.

14:28 One of the people said, "Your father solemnly put the people under oath, saying, 'Cursed is the man who eats bread today.'" The people were exhausted.

14:29 Jonathan understood and said, "My father has dismissed the land. See how my eyes have seen because I tasted a little of this honey.

14:30 If the people had eaten freely today from their enemies' spoils that they found, the blow against the foreigners would now have been greater."

14:31 He struck some of the foreigners at Michmash that day, and the people were exceedingly weary.

14:32 The people turned to the spoils. They took flocks, cattle herds, and calves, slaughtered them on the ground, and ate with the blood.

14:33 Saul was told, "The people have sinned against the Lord by eating with the blood." Saul said at Geththem, "Roll a large stone here to me."

14:34 Saul said, "Scatter among the people and tell them to bring here each man his calf and each man his sheep. Let him slaughter it upon this, and you will certainly not sin against the Lord by eating with the blood." All the people brought what was in their hands and slaughtered there.

14:35 Saul built an altar there to the Lord. This was the altar Saul began to build to the Lord.

14:36 Saul said, "Let us go down after the foreigners by night and plunder them until daybreak. Let us leave none of their men." They said, "Do whatever is good before you." The priest said, "Let us draw near here to God."

14:37 Saul inquired of God, "Shall I go down after the foreigners? Wilt Thou hand them into Israel's hands?" But He did not answer him that day.

14:38 Saul said, "Bring here all Israel's chiefs. Find out and see in whom this sin has occurred today.

14:39 As the Lord lives, who saved Israel, if an answer is given against my son Jonathan, he must certainly die." But none of all the people answered.

14:40 He said to all Israel, "You will be in servitude, and my son Jonathan and I will be in servitude." The people said to Saul, "Do what is good before you."

14:41 Saul said, "Lord, Israel's God, why hast Thou not answered Thy servant today? If the wrongdoing is in me or my son Jonathan, Lord, Israel's God, give clear signs. But if Thou sayest it is in Thy people Israel, give holiness." Jonathan and Saul were selected by lot, and the people went free.

14:42 Saul said, "Cast between me and my son Jonathan. Let the one whom the Lord selects by lot die." The people said to Saul, "This must not be!" Saul prevailed over the people. They cast between him and his son Jonathan, and Jonathan was selected by lot.

14:43 Saul said to Jonathan, "Tell me what you have done." Jonathan told him, "I did taste a little honey with the tip of the staff in my hand. Here I am; I am dying."

14:44 Saul said to him, "May God do so to me and add still more, for you must certainly die today."

14:45 The people said to Saul, "Must the one who worked this great deliverance in Israel be put to death today? As the Lord lives, not one hair of his head shall fall to the ground, for God's people have worked this day." The people prayed for Jonathan that day, and he did not die.

14:46 Saul went up from pursuing the foreigners, and the foreigners went to their own place.

14:47 Saul was allotted a task over Israel and fought all his enemies around him: Moab, Ammon's sons, Edom's sons, Baitheor, Zobah's king, and the foreigners. Wherever he turned, he was delivered.

14:48 He acted mightily, struck Amalek, and rescued Israel from the hand of those trampling it.

14:49 Saul's sons were Jonathan, Jessiu, and Melchisa. His two daughters' names were Merab, the firstborn, and Michal, the second.

14:50 His wife's name was Ahinoam daughter of Ahimaaz. His commander-in-chief's name was Abner son of Ner, son of Saul's relative.

14:51 Kish was Saul's father, and Ner, Abner's father, was Jamin's son, Abiel's grandson.

14:52 War against the foreigners was fierce throughout Saul's days. Whenever Saul saw a mighty man or a son of might, he gathered them to himself.

1 Samuel 15

15:1 Samuel said to Saul, "The Lord sent me to anoint you king over Israel. Now listen to the Lord's voice.

15:2 Thus says the Lord Sabaoth: 'Now I will avenge what Amalek did to Israel, how he met him on the way when he came up from Egypt.

15:3 Now go and strike Amalek and Jerim and everything he has. Preserve nothing of his. Destroy him and place him and everything he has under the ban. Do not spare him. Kill man and woman, child and nursing infant, calf and sheep, camel and donkey.'"

15:4 Saul summoned the people and mustered them at Gilgal: four hundred thousand troops and thirty thousand troops of Judah.

15:5 Saul came to Amalek's cities and lay in ambush in the wadi.

15:6 Saul said to the Kenite, "Go away and turn aside from among the Amalekite, lest I add you with him. You showed mercy to Israel's sons when they came up from Egypt." The Kenite withdrew from among Amalek.

15:7 Saul struck Amalek from Havilah to Shur, facing Egypt.

15:8 He captured Agag, Amalek's king, alive and killed all the people of Jerim by the sword's edge.

15:9 Saul and all the people preserved Agag alive, the good things of the flocks, cattle herds, foods, vineyards, and everything good. He was unwilling to destroy them. But every despised and disregarded thing they destroyed.

15:10 The Lord's word came to Samuel, saying,

15:11 "I have been consoled that I made Saul king, for he has turned back from following Me and has not kept My words." Samuel lost heart and cried to the Lord all night.

15:12 Samuel rose early and went to meet Israel in the morning. Samuel was told, "Saul has come to Carmel, erected a hand for himself, and turned the chariot around." He went down to Saul at Gilgal, where he was offering the first of the spoils brought from Amalek as a whole burnt offering to the Lord.

15:13 Samuel arrived at Saul, and Saul said to him, "Blessed are you by the Lord! I have established everything the Lord spoke."

15:14 Samuel said, "What is this sound of the flock in my ears, and the sound of oxen that I hear?"

15:15 Saul said, "I brought them from Amalek—the best of the flock and the oxen that the people preserved—to be sacrificed to the Lord your God. I destroyed the rest."

15:16 Samuel said to Saul, "Stop, and I will tell you what the Lord spoke to me in the night." He said to him, "Speak."

15:17 Samuel said to Saul, "Are you not small before Him, a leader of a tribal division of Israel? The Lord anointed you king over Israel.

15:18 The Lord sent you on a mission and said to you, 'Go and destroy those sinning against Me, Amalek. Fight them until you finish them.'

15:19 Why did you not listen to the Lord's voice, but rush to lay hold of the spoils and do evil before the Lord?"

15:20 Saul said to Samuel, "Because I listened to the people's voice. I went on the mission the Lord sent me on, brought Agag, Amalek's king, and destroyed Amalek.

15:21 The people took flocks and cattle herds from the spoils, the first of what was marked for destruction, to sacrifice before the Lord our God at Gilgal."

15:22 Samuel said, "Are whole burnt offerings and sacrifices as desirable to the Lord as listening to the Lord's voice? Behold, obedience is better than sacrifice, and attentiveness than the fat of rams.

15:23 Divination is sin; teraphim bring sorrow and troubles. Because you treated the Lord's word as nothing, the Lord will treat you as nothing, so that you will not be king over Israel."

15:24 Saul said to Samuel, "I have sinned. I transgressed the Lord's word and your word, for I feared the people and listened to their voice.

15:25 Now please take away my sin and return with me so that I may bow down to the Lord your God."

15:26 Samuel said to Saul, “I will not return with you, for you treated the Lord’s word as nothing, and the Lord will treat you as nothing, so that you will not be king over Israel.”

15:27 Samuel turned his face to leave. Saul seized the edge of his double cloak and tore it.

15:28 Samuel said to him, “The Lord has torn Israel’s kingdom from your hand today and will give it to your neighbour, who is better than you.

15:29 Israel will be divided in two. He will not turn back or change His mind, for He is not like a human being who changes his mind.”

15:30 Saul said, “I have sinned. But please honour me before Israel’s elders and before my people. Return with me so that I may bow down to the Lord your God.”

15:31 Samuel returned after Saul, and he bowed down to the Lord.

15:32 Samuel said, “Bring Agag, Amalek’s king, to me.” Agag approached him trembling. Agag said, “Is death so bitter?”

15:33 Samuel said to Agag, “As your sword has made women childless, so your mother shall be made childless among women.” Samuel slaughtered Agag before the Lord at Gilgal.

15:34 Samuel went to Armathaim, and Saul went up to his house in Gibeah.

15:35 Samuel did not see Saul again until the day of his death, for Samuel mourned over Saul. The Lord regretted that He had made Saul king over Israel.

1 Samuel 16

16:1 The Lord said to Samuel, “How long will you mourn over Saul, when I have treated him as nothing so that he should not reign over Israel? Fill your horn with oil and come. I will send you to Jesse, to Bethlehem, for I have seen one among his sons to reign for Me.”

16:2 Samuel said, “How can I go? Saul will hear and kill me.” The Lord said, “Take a heifer in your hand and say, ‘I have come to sacrifice to the Lord.’

16:3 Invite Jesse to the sacrifice. I will make known to you what you must do, and you shall anoint the one I name to you.”

16:4 Samuel did everything the Lord had spoken to him and came to Bethlehem. The city’s elders were terrified at meeting him and said, “Do you enter in peace, seer?”

16:5 He said, “In peace. I have come to sacrifice to the Lord. Consecrate yourselves and rejoice with me today.” He consecrated Jesse and his sons and invited them to the sacrifice.

16:6 When they came in, he saw Eliab and said, “Surely His anointed is before the Lord.”

16:7 The Lord said to Samuel, “Do not look at his appearance or the bearing of his height, for I have treated him as nothing. God does not see as a human looks: a human looks at the face, but God looks at the heart.”

16:8 Jesse called Aminadab, and he passed before Samuel. He said, “The Lord has not chosen this one either.”

16:9 Jesse made Shammah pass by. He said, “The Lord has not chosen this one either.”

16:10 Jesse made his seven sons pass before Samuel. Samuel said, “The Lord has not chosen among these.”

16:11 Samuel said to Jesse, “Are these all the boys?” He said, “There is still the youngest; he is tending the flock.” Samuel said to Jesse, “Send and fetch him, for we will certainly not recline until he comes.”

16:12 He sent and brought him. He was ruddy, with beautiful eyes, and good to look upon before the Lord. The Lord said to Samuel, “Rise and anoint David, for this one is good.”

16:13 Samuel took the horn of oil and anointed him among his brothers. The Lord’s Spirit leaped upon David from that day onward. Samuel rose and went to Armathaim.

16:14 The Lord’s Spirit departed from Saul, and an evil spirit from the Lord choked him.

16:15 Saul’s servants said to him, “An evil spirit of the Lord is choking you.

16:16 Let your servants speak before you and seek for our lord a man skilled in playing a kinyra. When an evil spirit is upon you, he will play his kinyra, and it will be well with you; he will give you rest.”

16:17 Saul said to his servants, “Please find me a man who plays properly and bring him to me.”

16:18 One of his young servants answered, “I have seen a son of Jesse, a Beth-lehemite, skilled in playing. The man is discerning, a warrior, wise in speech, and good in appearance; the Lord is with him.”

16:19 Saul sent messengers to Jesse, saying, “Send me your son David, who is with your flock.”

16:20 Jesse took a gomor of loaves, a skin of wine, and one young goat, and sent them by the hand of his son David to Saul.

16:21 David came to Saul and stood before him. He loved him greatly, and he became the one carrying his equipment.

16:22 Saul sent to Jesse, saying, “Please let David stand before me, for he has found favour in my eyes.”

16:23 Whenever an evil spirit came upon Saul, David took the kinyra and played with his hand. Saul was refreshed, and it was well with him, and the evil spirit departed from him.

1 Samuel 17

17:1 The foreigners gathered their camps for war and assembled at Soccoth in Judea. They camped between Soccoth and Azekah at Epher-mem.

17:2 Saul and Israel’s men gathered and camped in the valley. They drew up for war opposite the foreigners.

17:3 The foreigners stood on the mountain on one side, and Israel stood on the mountain on the other, with the ravine between them.

17:4 A mighty man came out from the foreigners’ battle line, named Goliath, from Gath. His height was four cubits and a span.

17:5 A helmet was on his head, and he wore a coat of chain armour. His armour’s weight was five thousand shekels of bronze and iron.

17:6 Bronze greaves were on his legs, and a bronze shield was between his shoulders.

17:7 His spear’s shaft was like a weavers’ beam, and its iron head weighed six hundred shekels. The one carrying his weapons walked before him.

17:8 He stood and shouted to Israel’s battle line, “Why have you come out to draw up for war opposite us? Am I not a foreigner, and are you not Saul’s Hebrews? Choose a man for yourselves and let him come down to me.

17:9 If he can fight me and strike me down, we will become your slaves. But if I prevail and strike him down, you will become our slaves and serve us.”

17:10 The foreigner said, “Behold, I have defied Israel’s battle line today, on this day. Give me a man, and let the two of us fight in single combat.”

17:11 Saul and all Israel heard these words of the foreigner and were terrified and exceedingly afraid.

17:32 David said to Saul, “Let my lord’s heart not collapse because of him. Your servant will go and fight this foreigner.”

17:33 Saul said to David, “You certainly cannot go against the foreigner to fight him. You are a boy, and he has been a warrior from his youth.”

17:34 David said to Saul, “Your servant tended his father’s flock. Whenever a lion or a bear came and took a sheep from the herd,

17:35 I went after it, struck it, and pulled the sheep from its mouth. If it rose against me, I seized its throat, struck it, and killed it.

17:36 Your servant struck both bear and lion. The uncircumcised foreigner will be like one of them. Shall I not go and strike him and remove disgrace from Israel today? For who is this uncircumcised man who has defied the battle line of the living God?

17:37 The Lord, who rescued me from the lion’s paw and the bear’s paw, will rescue me from this uncircumcised foreigner’s hand.” Saul said to David, “Go, and the Lord will be with you.”

17:38 Saul clothed David in a cloak and set a bronze helmet around his head.

17:39 He strapped his sword on David over his cloak. David became weary after walking once or twice. David said to Saul, “I certainly cannot walk in these, for I am not practiced.” They took them off him.

17:40 He took his staff in his hand, chose five smooth stones from the wadi, and put them in the shepherd’s little vessel he had for collecting. His sling was in his hand, and he approached the foreign man.

17:42 Goliath saw David and dishonoured him, for he was a boy, ruddy, with beautiful eyes.

17:43 The foreigner said to David, “Am I like a dog, that you come against me with a staff and stones?” David said, “No, you are worse than a dog.” The foreigner cursed David by his gods.

17:44 The foreigner said to David, “Come to me, and I will give your flesh to the birds of heaven and the animals of the land.”

17:45 David said to the foreigner, “You come to me with sword, spear, and shield. I come to you in the name of the Lord Sabaoth, God of Israel’s battle line, which you have defied today.

17:46 This day the Lord will shut you into my hand. I will kill you and remove your head from you. This day I will give your limbs and the limbs of the foreigners’ camp to the birds of heaven and the beasts of the earth, and all the earth will know that there is a God in Israel.

17:47 All this assembly will know that the Lord does not save by sword and spear. The battle belongs to the Lord, and the Lord will hand you all into our hands.”

17:48 The foreigner rose and went to meet David.

17:49 David reached his hand into the little vessel, took one stone from it, slung it, and struck the foreigner on his forehead. The stone passed through the helmet into his forehead, and he fell face down to the ground.

17:51 David ran and stood over him, took his sword, killed him, and removed his head. When the foreigners saw that their mighty man was dead, they fled.

17:52 Israel's and Judah's men rose with a shout and pursued them as far as Gath's entrance and Ashkelon's gate. Wounded foreigners fell along the road of the gates, as far as Gath and Ekron.

17:53 Israel's men turned back from following the foreigners and trampled their camps.

17:54 David took the foreigner's head and brought it to Jerusalem. He placed his equipment in his tent.

1 Samuel 18

18:6 The dancing women came out from all Israel's cities to meet David, with tambourines, joy, and cymbals.

18:7 The women led the song and said, "Saul has struck his thousands, and David his tens of thousands."

18:8 The saying appeared evil in Saul's eyes concerning this matter, and he said, "They have given David the tens of thousands, but to me they have given the thousands."

18:9 Saul kept looking askance at David from that day onward.

18:12 Saul was afraid of David.

18:13 He removed him from his presence and appointed him a commander of a thousand for himself. He went out and came in before the people.

18:14 David showed understanding in all his ways, and the Lord was with him.

18:15 Saul saw that he showed great understanding, and he was wary of him.

18:16 All Israel and Judah loved David, because he went out and came in before the people.

18:20 Saul's daughter Michal loved David. It was reported to Saul, and it was right in his eyes.

18:21 Saul said, "I will give her to him, and she will be a snare to him." The foreigners' hand was against Saul.

18:22 Saul commanded his servants, saying, "Speak secretly to David, saying, 'Behold, the king delights in you, and all his servants love you. Become the king's son-in-law.'"

18:23 Saul's servants spoke these words in David's ears. David said, "Is it a light thing in your eyes to become a king's son-in-law? I am a lowly man, without renown."

18:24 Saul's servants reported to him according to these words that David had spoken.

18:25 Saul said, "This is what you shall say to David: 'The king desires no gift, only a hundred foreigners' foreskins, to take vengeance on the king's enemies.'" Saul planned to throw him into the foreigners' hands.

18:26 Saul's servants reported these words to David, and the matter of becoming the king's son-in-law was right in David's eyes.

18:27 David rose and went, he and his men, and struck a hundred men among the foreigners. He brought their foreskins to the king and became the king's son-in-law. He gave him Michal, his daughter, as a wife.

18:28 Saul saw that the Lord was with David, and all Israel loved him.

18:29 He grew still more wary of David.

1 Samuel 19

19:1 Saul spoke to his son Jonathan and to all his servants about putting David to death. But Saul's son Jonathan greatly favoured David.

19:2 Jonathan told David, saying, "Saul seeks to put you to death. So be on your guard tomorrow morning, hide, and remain concealed.

19:3 I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where you may be. I will speak about you to my father, see what happens, and report to you."

19:4 Jonathan spoke good things about David to his father Saul and said to him, "Let the king not sin against your servant David, for he has not sinned against you, and his deeds are very good.

19:5 He placed his soul in his hand and struck the foreigner, and the Lord brought about a great deliverance. All Israel saw and rejoiced. Why do you sin against innocent blood by putting David to death without cause?"

19:6 Saul listened to Jonathan's voice, and Saul swore, saying, "As the Lord lives, he shall not die."

19:7 Jonathan called David and told him all these words. Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he was before him as in former days.

19:8 War broke out again against Saul. David grew strong, fought the foreigners, and struck them with a very great blow, and they fled before him.

19:9 An evil spirit of God came upon Saul while he was sleeping in the house with a spear in his hand. David was playing with his hands.

19:10 Saul sought to drive the spear into David, but David moved away from Saul, and Saul drove the spear into the wall. David withdrew and escaped.

19:11 That night Saul sent messengers to David's house to watch him so as to put him to death in the morning. His wife Michal told David, saying, "If you do not save your own soul this night, tomorrow you will be put to death."

19:12 Michal lowered David through the window. He went away, fled, and was saved.

19:13 Michal took the funerary images and placed them on the bed. She put the goats' liver at its head and covered them with a garment.

19:14 Saul sent messengers to take David, and they said that he was ill.

19:15 He sent for David, saying, "Bring him to me on the bed, so that I may put him to death."

19:16 The messengers came, and there were the funerary images on the bed, with the goats' liver at its head.

19:17 Saul said to Michal, "Why have you deceived me this way and sent my enemy away, so that he escaped?" Michal said to Saul, "He said, 'Send me away; otherwise I will kill you.'"

19:18 David fled and escaped. He came to Samuel at Armathaim and told him all that Saul had done to him. David and Samuel went and stayed at Nauath in Ramah.

19:19 It was reported to Saul, saying, "Behold, David is at Nauath in Ramah."

19:20 Saul sent messengers to take David. They saw the assembly of prophets, with Samuel standing, appointed over them. The Spirit of God came upon Saul's messengers, and they prophesied.

19:21 It was reported to Saul, and he sent other messengers; they too prophesied. Saul sent messengers a third time, and they too prophesied.

19:22 Saul burned with anger and went himself to Armathaim. He came as far as the well of the threshing floor at Sephi and asked, "Where are Samuel and David?" They said, "Behold, at Nauath in Ramah."

19:23 He went from there to Nauath in Ramah. The Spirit of God came upon him too, and he went on prophesying until he came to Nauath in Ramah.

19:24 He stripped off his garments and prophesied before them. He fell naked all that day and all the night. Therefore they said, "Is Saul also among the prophets?"

1 Samuel 20

20:1 David escaped from Nauath in Ramah. He came before Jonathan and said, "What have I done? What is my wrong, and how have I sinned before your father, that he seeks my soul?"

20:2 Jonathan said to him, "By no means shall that happen to you! You certainly shall not die. Behold, my father will certainly do nothing great or small without uncovering my ear. Why would my father hide this matter? It is not so."

20:3 David answered Jonathan and said, "Your father knows well that I have found favour in your eyes. He says, 'Let Jonathan not know this, lest he refuse.' But as the Lord lives and as your soul lives, as I said, the space between me and death has been filled."

20:4 Jonathan said to David, "What does your soul desire, and what shall I do for you?"

20:5 David said to Jonathan, "Behold, tomorrow is the new moon, and I will certainly not sit with the king to eat. Let me go, so that I may hide in the plain until evening.

20:6 If your father inquires after me, say, 'David earnestly asked my leave to run to Bethlehem, his city, because the yearly sacrifice for the whole tribe is there.'

20:7 If he says, 'Good,' there is peace for your servant. But if he answers you harshly, know that evil has been determined by him.

20:8 Show mercy to your servant, for you have brought your servant into a covenant of the Lord with yourself. If there is wrong in your servant, put me to death yourself. Why do you bring me to your father in this way?"

20:9 Jonathan said, "By no means shall that happen to you! If I know that evil has been determined by my father to come upon you—and if not—I will report it to you in your cities."

20:10 David said to Jonathan, "Who will tell me if your father answers harshly?"

20:11 Jonathan said to David, "Go and remain in the field." Both of them went out to the field.

20:12 Jonathan said to David, "The Lord, the God of Israel, knows that I will question my father when the time comes a third time. If there is good concerning David, shall I not send to you in the field?

20:13 May God do so to Jonathan, and more besides, for I will bring the evils upon you, uncover your ear, and send you away, and you shall go in peace. The Lord will be with you as He was with my father.

20:14 While I am still alive, you shall show mercy to me; and if I indeed die,

20:15 you shall never remove your mercy from my house. And may it not be, when the Lord removes David's enemies, every one, from the face of the earth,

20:16 that Jonathan's name be removed from David's house. May the Lord seek out David's enemies."

20:17 Jonathan swore again to David, because he loved the soul of the one who loved him.

20:18 Jonathan said, "Tomorrow is the new moon. You will be sought, because your seat will be inspected.

20:19 You shall do so a third time and look about, and come to your place where you hid on the working day. Stay beside that ergab.

20:20 I will do so three times with the shafts, hurling them toward the amattari.

20:21 Then I will send the little boy, saying, 'Come, find the shaft for me.' If I say to the little boy, 'Here, the shaft is on this side of you; take it,' come, for there is peace for you and no danger, as the Lord lives.

20:22 If I say to the young man, 'Here, the shaft is beyond you,' go, for the Lord has sent you away.

20:23 As for the word we have spoken, you and I, behold, the Lord is a witness between me and you for ever."

20:24 David hid in the field. The month arrived, and the king came to the table to eat.

20:25 The king sat on his seat as usual, on the seat by the wall, and preceded Jonathan. Abner sat beside Saul, and David's place was inspected.

20:26 Saul said nothing that day, for he said, "It is an occurrence; he appears not to be clean, for he has not been purified."

20:27 The next day of the month, the second day, David's place was inspected. Saul said to his son Jonathan, "Why has Jesse's son not come to the table, either yesterday or today?"

20:28 Jonathan answered Saul and said to him, "David asked my leave to go to Bethlehem, his city.

20:29 He said, 'Please send me away, for we have a sacrifice of the tribe in the city, and my brothers have commanded me. Now, if I have found favour in your eyes, let me get away and see my brothers.' That is why he has not come to the king's table."

20:30 Saul burned with great anger against Jonathan and said to him, "Son of deserting girls! Do I not know that you are a companion of Jesse's son, to your shame and the shame of your mother's exposure?

20:31 As long as Jesse's son lives on the earth, your kingship will not be established. Now send and fetch the young man, for this one is a son of death."

20:32 Jonathan answered Saul, "Why should he die? What has he done?"

20:33 Saul raised the spear against Jonathan to put him to death. Jonathan knew that this evil had been determined by his father: to put David to death.

20:34 Jonathan sprang up from the table in furious anger and ate no bread on the second day of the month, for he was crushed over David, because his father had determined against him.

20:35 In the morning Jonathan went out to the field, as he had arranged, for the testimony of David, and a little boy was with him.

20:36 He said to the little boy, "Run, find for me the shafts I am hurling." The little boy ran, and he hurled the shaft and sent it past.

20:37 The little boy came to the place of the shaft Jonathan had hurled. Jonathan shouted after the young man and said, "There, the shaft is beyond you."

20:38 Jonathan shouted after his little boy, saying, "Quickly! Hurry! Do not stand still!" Jonathan's little boy gathered the shafts for his master.

20:39 The little boy knew nothing; only Jonathan and David knew the matter.

20:40 Jonathan gave his equipment to his little boy and said to his little boy, "Go, enter the city."

20:41 When the little boy had entered, David rose from the ergab, fell on his face, and bowed to him three times. Each kissed the other and wept with the other, until a great completion.

20:42 Jonathan said, "Go in peace, since the two of us have sworn in the Lord's name, saying, 'The Lord shall be a witness between me and you, and between my seed and your seed, for ever.'"

1 Samuel 21

21:1 David rose and went away, and Jonathan entered the city.

21:2 David came to Nomba, to Abimelech the priest. Abimelech was astonished at meeting him and said to him, "Why are you alone, with no one with you?"

21:3 David said to the priest, "The king commanded me a matter today and said to me, 'Let no one know the matter on which I am sending you and concerning which I commanded you.' I have solemnly instructed the young men at the place called God's Faithfulness, Phellani Allemoni.

21:4 Now, if five loaves are at hand, give me whatever is available."

21:5 The priest answered David and said, “There are no common loaves at hand, only holy loaves. If the young men have kept themselves from a woman, then he may eat.”

21:6 David answered the priest and said to him, “But we have abstained from a woman yesterday and the third day. When I went out on the road, all the young men had been purified. The road itself is common, for it will be sanctified today through my equipment.”

21:7 Abimelech the priest gave him the loaves of presentation, for there was no bread there except the loaves of the Presence, removed from before the Lord so that hot bread could be set out on the day he took them.

21:8 One of Saul’s young servants was there that day, detained, neessaran, before the Lord. His name was Doeg the Syrian, tending Saul’s mules.

21:9 David said to Abimelech, “See whether a spear or sword is here at hand. I have not brought my sword or the equipment, because the king’s matter was urgent.”

21:10 The priest said, “Behold, the sword of Goliath the foreigner, whom you struck in the Valley of Elah: it is wrapped in a garment. If you desire to take it, take it, for there is no other here.” David said, “Behold, there is none like it. Give it to me.”

21:11 He gave it to him. David rose and fled that day from Saul, and David came to Achish, king of Gath.

21:12 Achish’s servants said to him, “Is this not David, the king of the land? Is this not the one for whom the dancing women led the song, saying, ‘Saul has struck his thousands, and David his tens of thousands’?”

21:13 David placed the words in his heart and became very afraid of Achish, king of Gath.

21:14 He altered his face before him and pretended that day. He drummed on the city’s doors, was carried about in his hands, and fell against the gate’s doors. His saliva ran down onto his beard.

21:15 Achish said to his servants, “Behold, you see a man subject to fits. Why have you brought him to me?”

21:16 “Do I lack people subject to fits, that you have brought him to have fits before me? This one shall not enter a house.”

1 Samuel 22

22:1 David went from there and escaped, and he came to the cave of Adullam. His brothers and his father’s house heard, and they went down to him there.

22:2 Everyone in need, everyone in debt, and everyone pained in soul gathered to him. He became their leader, and about four hundred men were with him.

22:3 David went from there to Mizpeh of Moab and said to Moab’s king, “Please let my father and mother stay with you, until I know what God will do for me.”

22:4 He entreated Moab’s king, and they stayed with him all the days David was in the stronghold.

22:5 The prophet Gad said to David, “Do not remain in the stronghold. Go, and you will come to the land of Judah.” David went, came, and stayed in the city of Sarich.

22:6 Saul heard that David and the men with him had been discovered. Saul was sitting on the hill below the cultivated ground in Ramah, the spear in his hand, and all his servants stood beside him.

22:7 Saul said to his servants standing beside him, saying to them, “Listen, please, sons of Benjamin! Will Jesse’s son really give all of you fields and vineyards and appoint all of you commanders of hundreds and commanders of thousands?

22:8 For all of you have conspired against me. No one uncovers my ear when my son makes a covenant with Jesse’s son. None of you suffers for me or uncovers my ear that my son has raised my servant against me as an enemy, as on this day.”

22:9 Doeg the Syrian, who was appointed over Saul’s mules, answered and said, “I saw Jesse’s son arriving at Nomba, to Abimelech son of Ahitub the priest.

22:10 He inquired for him through God, gave him provisions, and gave him the sword of Goliath the foreigner.”

22:11 The king sent to summon Abimelech son of Ahitub and all the sons of his father, the priests at Nomba. All of them came to the king.

22:12 Saul said, “Listen, please, son of Ahitub.” He said, “Here I am. Speak, lord.”

22:13 Saul said to him, “Why have you conspired against me, you and Jesse’s son, by giving him bread and a sword and inquiring for him through God, to set him against me as an enemy, as on this day?”

22:14 He answered the king and said, “Who among all your servants is as faithful as David, the king’s son-in-law, commander of all your orders and renowned in your house?

22:15 Did I begin inquiring for him through God today? By no means! Let the king lay no charge against his servant or against all my father’s house, for your servant knew nothing of all these things, small or great.”

22:16 King Saul said, “You shall surely die, Abimelech, you and all your father’s house.”

22:17 The king said to the runners stationed around him, “Bring them forward and put the Lord’s priests to death, for their hand is with David. They knew that he was fleeing and did not uncover my ear.” But the king’s servants were unwilling to bring their hands against the Lord’s priests.

22:18 The king said to Doeg, “You turn and strike the priests.” Doeg the Syrian turned and put the Lord’s priests to death that day: three hundred and five men, all wearing an ephoud.

22:19 He struck Nomba, the priests’ city, with the sword’s edge: men and women, infants and nursing children, calves, donkeys, and sheep.

22:20 One son of Abimelech son of Ahitub was saved; his name was Abiathar. He fled after David.

22:21 Abiathar told David that Saul had put all the Lord’s priests to death.

22:22 David said to Abiathar, “I knew that day that Doeg the Syrian would surely tell Saul. I am responsible for the souls of your father’s house.

22:23 Stay with me; do not fear. Wherever I seek a place for my soul, I will seek one for your soul too, for you are protected with me.”

1 Samuel 23

23:1 It was reported to David, saying, “Behold, the foreigners are fighting at Keilah. They are plundering and trampling the threshing floors.”

23:2 David inquired through the Lord, saying, “Shall I go and strike these foreigners?” The Lord said, “Go, and you will strike these foreigners and save Keilah.”

23:3 David’s men said to him, “Behold, we are afraid here in Judea. How will it be if we go to Keilah? We will go into the foreigners’ spoils.”

23:4 David inquired again through the Lord. The Lord answered him and said to him, “Rise and go down to Keilah, for I am handing the foreigners into your hands.”

23:5 David and the men with him went to Keilah. He fought the foreigners, and they fled before him. He drove away their livestock and struck them with a great blow. David saved Keilah’s inhabitants.

23:6 When Abiathar son of Abimelech fled to David, he went down with David to Keilah, having an ephoud in his hand.

23:7 It was reported to Saul that David had come to Keilah. Saul said, “God has sold him into my hands, for he has been shut in by entering a city with doors and bars.”

23:8 Saul commanded all the people to go down to Keilah for war, to hem in David and his men.

23:9 David knew that Saul was not keeping silent about the evil concerning him. David said to Abiathar the priest, “Bring the Lord’s ephoud.”

23:10 David said, “Lord, God of Israel, Thy servant has heard that Saul seeks to come against Keilah and destroy the city because of me.

23:11 Will it be shut up? And now, will Saul come down, as Thy servant has heard? Lord, God of Israel, tell Thy servant.” The Lord said, “It will be shut up.”

23:13 David and the men with him, about four hundred, rose and went out from Keilah. They went wherever they went. It was reported to Saul that David had escaped from Keilah, and he gave up going out.

23:14 David stayed in the wilderness at Maserem, in the narrow places. He stayed in the wilderness on Mount Ziph, in the parched land. Saul sought him all the days, but the Lord did not hand him into his hands.

23:15 David saw that Saul was coming out to seek David. David was on the parched mountain at Kaine of Ziph.

23:16 Saul’s son Jonathan rose and went to David at Kaine and strengthened his hands in the Lord.

23:17 He said to him, “Do not fear. My father Saul’s hand certainly will not find you. You will reign over Israel, and I will be second to you. My father Saul knows this.”

23:18 The two of them made a covenant before the Lord. David stayed at Kaine, and Jonathan went to his house.

23:19 The Ziphites went up from the parched land to Saul on the hill, saying, “Behold, is David not hidden among us at Messara, in the narrow places at Kaine, on the hill of Echela, to the right of Jessaimoun?

23:20 Now let the king come down to us according to all his soul’s desire to descend. They have shut him into the king’s hands.”

23:21 Saul said to them, “Blessed are you by the Lord, for you have taken trouble for me.

23:22 Please go, prepare further, and find out his place where his foot will be, quickly, there where you said, lest he act cunningly.

23:23 See and find out, and we will go with you. If he is in the land, I will search him out among all Judah’s thousands.”

23:24 The Ziphites rose and went ahead of Saul. David and his men were in the wilderness of Maan, toward the west, to the right of Jessaimoun.

23:25 Saul and his men went to seek him. They reported to David, and he went down to the rock in the wilderness of Maan. Saul heard and pursued David into the wilderness of Maan.

23:26 Saul and his men went along a side of this mountain, and David and his men were along a side of this mountain. David was keeping under cover to get away from Saul, while Saul and his men camped against David and his men to seize them.

23:27 A messenger came to Saul, saying, “Hurry and come, for the foreigners have attacked the land.”

23:28 Saul turned back from pursuing David and went to meet the foreigners. Therefore that place was called the Divided Rock.

1 Samuel 24

24:1 David went up from there and stayed in the narrow places of En-gedi.

24:2 When Saul returned from following the foreigners, it was reported to him that David was in the wilderness of En-gedi.

24:3 He took with him three thousand chosen men from all Israel and went to seek David and his men in front of Sadaiem.

24:4 He came to the flocks’ herds beside the road, and there was a cave there. Saul entered to attend to himself. David and his men were sitting farther inside the cave.

24:5 David’s men said to him, “Behold, this is the day of which the Lord spoke to you, to hand your enemy into your hands, and you shall do to him as is good in your eyes.” David rose and secretly removed the flap of Saul’s double cloak.

24:6 After these things David’s heart struck him because he had removed the flap of his double cloak.

24:7 David said to his men, “May the Lord forbid that I should do this to my lord, the Lord’s anointed, by bringing my hand against him, for this one is the Lord’s anointed.”

24:8 David persuaded his men with words and did not let them rise and put Saul to death. Saul rose and went down to the road.

24:9 David rose behind him from the cave, and David called after Saul, saying, “Lord king!” Saul looked behind him, and David bent with his face to the ground and bowed to him.

24:10 David said to Saul, “Why do you listen to the people’s words, saying, ‘Behold, David seeks your soul’?

24:11 Behold, on this day your eyes have seen how the Lord handed you into my hand today in the cave. I was unwilling to kill you and spared you. I said, ‘I will not bring my hand against my lord, for this one is the Lord’s anointed.’

24:12 Behold, the flap of your double cloak is in my hand! I removed the flap and did not kill you. Know and see today that there is no evil in my hand, nor impiety or rejection. I have not sinned against you, yet you bind my soul to take it.

24:13 May the Lord judge between me and you, and may the Lord avenge me on you, but my hand shall not be against you.

24:14 As the ancient proverb says, ‘From the lawless comes wrongdoing,’ but my hand shall not be against you.

24:15 Now, after whom are you coming out, O king of Israel? Whom are you pursuing? After a dead dog and after a single flea!

24:16 May the Lord be judge and arbiter between me and you. May the Lord see, judge my case, and give judgment for me from your hand.”

24:17 When David finished speaking these words to Saul, Saul said, “Is this your voice, child David?” Saul raised his voice and wept.

24:18 Saul said to David, “You are more righteous than I, for you have repaid me with good things, but I have repaid you with evil things.

24:19 Today you have reported to me the good things you did to me, how the Lord shut me into your hands today and you did not kill me.

24:20 If someone finds his enemy in distress and sends him away on a good road, the Lord will repay him with good things, as you have done today.

24:21 Now behold, I know that you shall surely reign, and Israel’s kingdom shall be established in your hands.

24:22 Now swear to me by the Lord that you will not destroy my seed after me or make my name disappear from my father’s house.”

24:23 David swore to Saul. Saul went to his place, and David and his men went up to narrow Messara.

1 Samuel 25

25:1 Samuel died. All Israel gathered, mourned him, and buried him at his house in Armathaim. David rose and went down to the wilderness of Maan.

25:2 A man lived in Maan, with his flocks at Carmel. The man was very great: he had three thousand sheep and a thousand goats. He was shearing his flock at Carmel.

25:3 The man’s name was Nabal, and his wife’s name was Abigail. His wife had good understanding and was very beautiful in appearance, but the man was harsh and evil in his practices. The man was doglike.

25:4 David heard in the wilderness that Nabal the Carmelite was shearing his flock.

25:5 David sent ten young men and said to the young men, “Go up to Carmel, go to Nabal, and ask about his welfare in my name.

25:6 Say this: ‘To the seasons! May it be well with you, and may your house and all that is yours be well.

25:7 Now behold, I have heard that they are shearing for you. Your shepherds were with us in the wilderness; we did not hinder them or impose any order on them all the days they were at Carmel.

25:8 Ask your young men, and they will tell you. Let the young men find favour in your eyes, for we have come on a good day. Please give whatever your hand finds to your son David.’”

25:9 The young men came and spoke these words to Nabal, according to all these sayings, in David’s name. Then he sprang up,

25:10 and Nabal answered David’s servants and said, “Who is David, and who is Jesse’s son? Today many slaves withdraw, each from his master.

25:11 Shall I take my loaves, my wine, and my slaughtered offerings—the sheep I slaughtered for my shearers—and give them to men whose origin I do not know?”

25:12 David’s young men turned onto their way, returned, came, and reported to David according to these words.

25:13 David said to his men, “Each of you strap on his sword.” About four hundred men went up after David, while the two hundred stayed with the equipment.

25:14 One of the young men reported to Abigail, Nabal’s wife, saying, “Behold, David sent messengers from the wilderness to bless our master, and he turned away from them.

25:15 The men were very good to us. They did not hinder us or impose orders on us all the days we were with them. While we were in the field,

25:16 they were like a wall around us by night and by day, all the days we were with them tending the flock.

25:17 Now know and see what you will do, for evil has been determined against our master and his house. He is a pestilent son, and one cannot speak to him.”

25:18 Abigail hurried and took two hundred loaves, two vessels of wine, five prepared sheep, five oiphi of barley meal, one gomor of raisins, and two hundred fig cakes. She placed them on the donkeys.

25:19 She said to her young men, “Go on before me. Behold, I am coming after you.” She did not tell her husband.

25:20 As she rode on the donkey and came down under cover of the mountain, there were David and his men coming down to meet her. She met them.

25:21 David said, “Perhaps it was for an unjust man that I guarded all his possessions in the wilderness. We imposed no order to take anything of all he had, yet he has repaid me evil for good.

25:22 May God do so to David, and more besides, if I leave by morning anyone of all Nabal has who urinates against a wall.”

25:23 Abigail saw David, hurried, and jumped down from the donkey. She fell before David on her face and bowed to him on the ground,

25:24 at his feet, and said, “On me, my lord, be the wrong. Please let your handmaid speak in your ears, and hear your handmaid’s word.

25:25 Please let my lord not set his heart on this pestilent man, for as his name is, so is he: Nabal is his name, and folly is with him. But I, your handmaid, did not see your young men whom you sent.

25:26 Now, lord, as the Lord lives and as your soul lives, the Lord has restrained you from coming into innocent blood and from saving your hand for yourself. Now may your enemies and those seeking evil for my lord become like Nabal.

25:27 Now take this blessing, which your handmaid has brought to my lord, and give it to the young men who stand beside my lord.

25:28 Please take away your handmaid’s lawless deed. The Lord will surely make my lord a faithful house, for my lord fights the Lord’s war, and evil shall never be found in you.

25:29 A person will rise to pursue you and seek your soul, but my lord’s soul shall be bound in the bond of life beside the Lord God. You shall sling the soul of your enemies in the midst of the sling.

25:30 When the Lord does for my lord all the good things He has spoken concerning you, and the Lord appoints you leader over Israel,

25:31 this shall not be an abomination or a stumbling block for my lord: pouring out innocent blood without cause and saving my lord’s hand for himself. The Lord will do good to my lord, and you shall remember your handmaid to do good to her.”

25:32 David said to Abigail, “Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, who sent you today, on this day, to meet me.

25:33 Blessed be your manner, and blessed are you, who kept me today, on this day, from coming into bloodguilt and from saving my hand for myself.

25:34 But as the Lord the God of Israel lives, who restrained me today from harming you, if you had not hurried and come to meet me—then I said: ‘No one belonging to Nabal who urinates against a wall shall remain by morning light.’”

25:35 David took from her hand all that she had brought him and said to her, “Go up in peace to your house. See, I have listened to your voice and favoured your face.”

25:36 Abigail came to Nabal, and there he was holding a drinking feast in his house like a king’s drinking feast. Nabal’s heart was merry within him, and he was very drunk. She told him nothing, small or great, until morning light.

25:37 In the morning, when Nabal had sobered from the wine, his wife told him these things. His heart died within him, and he became like stone.

25:38 About ten days later the Lord struck Nabal, and he died.

25:39 David heard and said, “Blessed be the Lord, who has judged the case of my reproach from Nabal’s hand and preserved His servant from the hand of evil things. The Lord has returned Nabal’s evil on his own head.” David sent and spoke concerning Abigail, to take her as his wife.

25:40 David’s servants came to Abigail at Carmel and spoke to her, saying, “David has sent us to you to take you as his wife.”

25:41 She rose, bowed to the ground on her face, and said, “Here is your handmaid, a maid to wash the feet of your servants.”

25:42 Abigail rose and mounted the donkey, and five girls followed her. She went after David’s servants and became his wife.

25:43 David took Ahinoam from Jezreel, and both were his wives.

25:44 Saul gave his daughter Michal, David’s wife, to Palti son of Laish, who was from Romma.

1 Samuel 26

26:1 The Ziphites came from the parched land to Saul on the hill, saying, “Behold, David is sheltering among us on the hill of Echela, opposite Jessaimoun.”

26:2 Saul rose and went down to the wilderness of Ziph, with three thousand chosen men from Israel, to seek David in the wilderness of Ziph.

26:3 Saul camped on the hill of Echela, opposite Jessaimoun, beside the road. David stayed in the wilderness. David saw that Saul had come after him into the wilderness.

26:4 David sent spies and knew that Saul had come prepared from Keilah.

26:5 David rose secretly and entered the place where Saul slept, with Abner son of Ner, his chief commander, there. Saul slept in a covered carriage, and the people camped around him.

26:6 David answered and said to Ahimelech the Hittite and Abishai son of Zeruiah, Joab’s brother, “Who will enter with me to Saul in the camp?” Abishai said, “I will enter with you.”

26:7 David and Abishai entered among the people by night. There was Saul, lying asleep in the covered carriage, the spear fixed in the ground at his head. Abner and his people slept around him.

26:8 Abishai said to David, “The Lord has shut your enemy into your hands today. Now I will strike him with the spear to the ground once; I will not strike him a second time.”

26:9 David said to Abishai, “Do not humble him. Who will bring his hand against the Lord’s anointed and be acquitted?”

26:10 David said, “As the Lord lives, surely the Lord will strike him, or his day will come and he will die, or he will go down into war and be added.

26:11 May the Lord forbid that I should bring my hand against the Lord’s anointed. Now please take the spear from beside his head and the water flask, and let us go by ourselves.”

26:12 David took the spear and water flask from beside his head, and they went away by themselves. No one saw, no one knew, and no one awoke; all were sleeping, because a stupor from the Lord had fallen upon them.

26:13 David crossed to the other side and stood far away on the mountain’s summit, with a long way between them.

26:14 David called the people and spoke to Abner, saying, “Will you not answer, Abner?” Abner answered, “Who are you, calling me?”

26:15 David said to Abner, “Are you not a man? Who is like you in Israel? Why do you not guard your lord the king? One of the people entered to destroy the king, your lord.

26:16 This thing you have done is not good. As the Lord lives, you are sons of execution, you who guard the king, your lord, the Lord’s anointed. Now look: the king’s spear and the water flask—where are the things that were at his head?”

26:17 Saul recognized David's voice and said, "Is this your voice, child David?" David said, "Your servant, lord king."

26:18 He said, "Why does my lord pursue his servant in this way? How have I sinned, and what wrong has been found in me?

26:19 Now please let my lord the king hear his servant's word. If God is stirring you up against me, may He smell your sacrifice. But if human beings have done so, cursed are they before the Lord, for they have expelled me today from being established in the Lord's inheritance, saying, 'Go, serve other gods.'

26:20 Now let my blood not fall to the ground opposite the Lord's presence. Israel's king has come out to seek my soul, as the night-raven pursues in the mountains."

26:21 Saul said, "I have sinned. Return, child David, for I will not harm you, because my soul was honoured in your eyes today. I have acted vainly and been very ignorant."

26:22 David answered, "Here is the king's spear. Let one of the young men come across and take it.

26:23 The Lord will repay each his righteous deeds and faithfulness, for the Lord handed you into my hands today, but I was unwilling to bring my hand against the Lord's anointed.

26:24 Behold, as your soul was magnified in my eyes today, on this day, so may my soul be magnified before the Lord. May He shelter me, and He will rescue me from every affliction."

26:25 Saul said to David, "Blessed are you, child. You shall surely accomplish, and you shall surely be able." David went on his way, and Saul returned to his place.

1 Samuel 27

27:1 David said in his heart, "Now I shall be added one day into Saul's hands. There is no good for me unless I escape to the foreigners' land and Saul gives up seeking me throughout Israel's territory. I shall escape from his hand."

27:2 David and the four hundred men with him rose and went to Achish son of Ammach, king of Gath.

27:3 David stayed with Achish at Gath, he and his men, each with his household; David with both his wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelite and Abigail, the wife of Nabal the Carmelite.

27:4 It was reported to Saul that David had fled to Gath, and he no longer sought him.

27:5 David said to Achish, "If your servant has found favour in your eyes, please let them give me a place in one of the country towns, and I will stay there. Why should your servant stay with you in a royal city?"

27:6 He gave him Ziklag that day. Therefore Ziklag has belonged to the king of Judea to this day.

27:7 The number of days David stayed in the foreigners' country was four months.

27:8 David and his men went up and attacked all the Gesiri and the Amalekite. Behold, the land—from Gelampsour as far as the land of Egypt—was inhabited with suitable fortified settlements.

27:9 He struck the land and left neither man nor woman alive. He took flocks, herds, donkeys, camels, and clothing, and they returned and came to Achish.

27:10 Achish said to David, "Whom have you attacked today?" David said to Achish, "The south of Judea, the south of Jesmega, and the south of Kenezi."

27:11 He left neither man nor woman alive to bring to Gath, saying, "Let them not report to Gath against us, saying, 'This is what David does.'" This was his established practice all the days David stayed in the foreigners' country.

27:12 David was greatly trusted by Achish, who said, "He has made himself utterly shamed among his people Israel, and he will be my slave for ever."

1 Samuel 28

28:1 In those days the foreigners gathered in their camps to go out and fight with Israel. Achish said to David, "Know for certain that you will go out with me to war, you and your men."

28:2 David said to Achish, "So now you will know what your servant will do." Achish said to David, "So I will make you chief bodyguard all the days."

28:3 Samuel had died, and all Israel had mourned him and buried him at Armathaim, in his city. Saul had removed the mediums and the knowers from the land.

28:4 The foreigners gathered, came, and camped at Soman. Saul gathered every man of Israel, and they camped at Gilboa.

28:5 Saul saw the foreigners' camp and was afraid, and his heart was greatly astounded.

28:6 Saul inquired through the Lord, but the Lord did not answer him by dreams, by clear signs, or by prophets.

28:7 Saul said to his servants, "Find me a woman who is a medium, so that I may go to her and inquire through her." His servants said to him, "There is a woman who is a medium at Endor."

28:8 Saul concealed himself, put on other garments, and went, with two men beside him. They came to the woman by night. He said to her, “Please divine for me through the medium and bring up for me the one I name to you.”

28:9 The woman said to him, “Behold, you know what Saul has done, how he destroyed the mediums and the knowers from the land. Why are you laying a snare for my soul, to put it to death?”

28:10 Saul swore to her, saying, “As the Lord lives, no wrong shall come upon you in this matter.”

28:11 The woman said, “Whom shall I bring up for you?” He said, “Bring up Samuel for me.”

28:12 The woman saw Samuel and cried out with a loud voice. The woman said to Saul, “Why have you deceived me? You are Saul!”

28:13 The king said to her, “Do not fear. Tell me whom you have seen.” She said to him, “I have seen gods coming up from the earth.”

28:14 He said to her, “What did you perceive?” She said to him, “A man standing upright is coming up from the earth, wrapped in a double cloak.” Saul knew that this was Samuel, and he bent with his face to the ground and bowed to him.

28:15 Samuel said, “Why have you troubled me, that I should come up?” Saul said, “I am greatly afflicted. The foreigners are fighting against me, and God has departed from me and no longer listens to me, either through the prophets or by dreams. Now I have called you to make known to me what I should do.”

28:16 Samuel said, “Why do you inquire of me, when the Lord has departed from you and has come to be with your neighbour?

28:17 The Lord has done to you as He spoke by my hand. The Lord will tear your kingdom from your hand and give it to your neighbour David.

28:18 Because you did not listen to the Lord’s voice and did not carry out His furious anger against Amalek, the Lord has done this thing to you this day.

28:19 The Lord will hand Israel with you into the foreigners’ hands. Tomorrow you and your sons with you will fall. The Lord will give Israel’s camp into the foreigners’ hands.”

28:20 Saul hurried and fell from his standing position to the ground. He was greatly afraid because of Samuel’s words. No strength remained in him, for he had eaten no bread all the day and all that night.

28:21 The woman came in to Saul and saw that he had hurried greatly. She said to him, “Behold, your handmaid listened to your voice. I put my soul in my hand and listened to the words you spoke to me.

28:22 Now please listen to your handmaid’s voice. I will set a morsel of bread before you. Eat, and you will have strength, for you will go on your way.”

28:23 He was unwilling to eat. His servants and the woman urged him, and he listened to their voice. He rose from the ground and sat on the seat.

28:24 The woman had a grazing heifer in the house. She hurried and slaughtered it, took flour, kneaded it, and baked unleavened cakes.

28:25 She brought the food before Saul and his servants, and they ate. They rose and went away that night.

1 Samuel 29

29:1 The foreigners gathered all their camps at Aphek, and Israel camped at Aendor in Jezreel.

29:2 The foreigners’ satraps were passing by in hundreds and thousands, and David and his men were passing by at the rear with Achish.

29:3 The foreigners’ satraps said, “Who are these men passing through?” Achish said to the foreigners’ generals, “Is this not David, the servant of Saul king of Israel? He has been with us for days, this being the second year, and I have found nothing against him from the day he came over to me until this day.”

29:4 The foreigners’ generals were distressed with him and said to him, “Send the man back to his place, where you stationed him. He must not come with us into the war or become a plotter against the camp. With what could this man be reconciled to his master? Would it not be with the heads of those men?

29:5 Is this not David, for whom they led the song in the dances, saying: ‘Saul has struck down his thousands, and David his tens of thousands’?”

29:6 Achish called David and said to him, “As the Lord lives, you are upright and good in my eyes, as are your going out and coming in with me in the camp. I have found no evil against you from the day you came to me until today. But in the satraps’ eyes you are not good.

29:7 Now return and go in peace, and you shall certainly do no evil in the eyes of the foreigners’ satraps.”

29:8 David said to Achish, “What have I done to you? What have you found in your servant, from the day I was before you until this day, that I should certainly not come to fight the enemies of my lord the king?”

29:9 Achish answered David, “I know that you are good in my eyes, but the foreigners’ satraps say, ‘He will not come with us into war.’

29:10 Now rise early in the morning, you and your master's servants who came with you. Go to the place where I stationed you. Put no pestilent thought in your heart, for you are good before me. Rise early for the journey; let there be light for you, and go."

29:11 David rose early, he and his men, to leave and guard the land of the foreigners. The foreigners went up to wage war against Israel.

1 Samuel 30

30:1 When David and his men entered Ziklag on the third day, Amalek had attacked the south and Ziklag, struck Ziklag, and burned it with fire.

30:2 The women and everything in it, from small to great—they killed neither man nor woman, but took them captive and went on their way.

30:3 David and his men came to the city, and there it was, burned with fire. Their wives, sons and daughters had been taken captive.

30:4 David and his men raised their voices and wept until they no longer had strength to weep.

30:5 Both David's wives had been taken captive: Ahinoam the Jezreelite and Abigail, the wife of Nabal the Carmelite.

30:6 David was greatly afflicted, for the people spoke of stoning him. The soul of all the people was in anguish, each over his sons and daughters. But David was strengthened in the Lord his God.

30:7 David said to Abiathar the priest, son of Ahimelech, "Bring the ephoud."

30:8 David inquired through the Lord, "Shall I pursue this geddour? Will I overtake them?" He said to him, "Pursue, for you will certainly overtake and certainly rescue."

30:9 David went, he and the six hundred men with him. They came to the Bosor torrent, and those remaining stood still.

30:10 He pursued with four hundred men. Two hundred men stayed behind, who sat beyond the Bosor torrent.

30:11 They found an Egyptian man in a field, took him, and brought him to David in a field. They gave him bread, and he ate; they gave him water to drink.

30:12 They gave him a piece of fruit cake, and he ate. His spirit settled within him, for he had eaten no bread and drunk no water for three days and three nights.

30:13 David said to him, "To whom do you belong, and where are you from?" The Egyptian youth said, "I am a slave of an Amalekite man. My master left me because I fell ill; today is the third day.

30:14 We attacked the south of Cholthi, the regions of Judea, and the south of Cheloub. We burned Ziklag with fire."

30:15 David said to him, "Will you take me down to this geddour?" He said, "Please swear to me by God that you will neither put me to death nor hand me over into my master's hands, and I will take you down to this geddour."

30:16 He took him down there, and there they were, scattered over the whole land, eating, drinking and celebrating with all the great spoils they had taken from the land of the foreigners and the land of Judah.

30:17 David came upon them and struck them from daybreak until evening, and on the following day. No man among them was saved except four hundred youths who had mounted camels and fled.

30:18 David recovered everything the Amalekites had taken, and he rescued both his wives.

30:19 Nothing belonging to them was missing, from small to great, from the spoils to sons and daughters and everything they had taken from them. David brought it all back.

30:20 David took all the flocks and herds and led them ahead of the spoils. Concerning those spoils it was said, "These are David's spoils."

30:21 David came to the two hundred men who had grown too weak to follow David and whom he had seated at the Bosor torrent. They came out to meet David and the people with him. David approached the people, and they asked him about his welfare.

30:22 Every pestilent and evil man among the warriors who had gone with David answered. They said, "Because they did not pursue with us, we will give them none of the spoils we rescued. Let each take only his wife and children and return."

30:23 David said, "You must not do this, after the Lord has given to us and guarded us. The Lord delivered into our hands the geddour that came against us.

30:24 Who would listen to these words of yours? For they are no less than you. As is the share of the one who goes down into war, so shall be the share of the one who stays with the equipment. They shall share equally."

30:25 From that day onward, it became a command and a rule for Israel, until today.

30:26 David came to Ziklag and sent some of the spoils to the elders of Judah and to his neighbors, saying, "Behold, from the spoils of the Lord's enemies."

30:27 He sent it to those in Beth-zur, Ramah of the south and Jeththor;

30:28 to those in Aroer, to the Ammadi, and to those in Saphi and Esthie;

30:28a to those in Gath, Kinan, Saphek and Thimath;

30:29 to those in Carmel, the cities of the Ierameli, and the cities of the Kenezi;

30:30 to those in Ierimouth, Beer-sheba and Noo;

30:31 to those in Hebron, and to all the places through which David and his men had passed.

1 Samuel 31

31:1 The foreigners were fighting against Israel. The men of Israel fled before the foreigners and fell wounded on Mount Gelboue.

31:2 The foreigners closed in on Saul and his sons. The foreigners struck down Jonathan, Aminadab and Melchisa, Saul’s sons.

31:3 The war grew heavy against Saul. The missile-throwers, men who were archers, found him, and he was wounded beneath the ribs.

31:4 Saul said to his armour-bearer, “Draw your sword and pierce me with it, lest these uncircumcised men come, pierce me, and mock me.” His armour-bearer was unwilling, for he was greatly afraid. Saul took the sword and fell on it.

31:5 His armour-bearer saw that Saul was dead. He too fell on his sword and died with him.

31:6 Saul died, and his three sons and his armour-bearer, together on that day.

31:7 The men of Israel beyond the valley and beyond the Jordan saw that the men of Israel had fled and that Saul and his sons had died. They abandoned their cities and fled. The foreigners came and lived in them.

31:8 On the following day, the foreigners came to strip the dead. They found Saul and his three sons fallen on the mountains of Gelboue.

31:9 They turned him over and stripped off his equipment. They sent it throughout the surrounding land of the foreigners, announcing the news to their idols and their people.

31:10 They dedicated his equipment in the temple of Astarte and fastened his body to the wall of Beth-shan.

31:11 The inhabitants of Jabesh in Gilead heard what the foreigners had done to Saul.

31:12 All the mighty men rose and traveled the whole night. They took Saul’s body and the body of Jonathan his son from the wall of Beth-shan, brought them to Jabesh, and burned them there.

31:13 They took their bones and buried them beneath the cultivated ground at Jabesh. They fasted seven days.

2 Samuel

2 Samuel 1

1:1 After Saul died, David returned from striking Amalek. David stayed in Ziklag for two days.

1:2 On the third day, behold, a man came from the camp, from Saul's people, with his garments torn and earth on his head. When he came in to David, he fell to the ground and bowed down to him.

1:3 David said to him, "Where have you come from?" He said to him, "I have come safely away from Israel's camp."

1:4 David said to him, "What is this report? Tell me." He said, "The people fled from the war, and many of the people have fallen and died. Saul also died, and Jonathan his son died."

1:5 David said to the young man reporting to him, "How do you know that Saul and Jonathan his son have died?"

1:6 The young man reporting to him said, "By chance I happened to be on Mount Gilboa. Behold, Saul was leaning on his spear, and behold, the chariots and cavalry commanders had closed in on him.

1:7 He looked behind him and saw me. He called me, and I said, 'Here I am.'

1:8 He said to me, 'Who are you?' I said, 'I am an Amalekite.'

1:9 He said to me, 'Stand over me now and put me to death, for terrible darkness has seized me, for my whole soul is in me.'

1:10 I stood over him and put him to death, for I knew he would not live after he had fallen. I took the royal crown on his head and the armlet on his arm, and have brought them here to my lord."

1:11 David took hold of his garments and tore them, and all the men with him tore their garments.

1:12 They mourned, wept, and fasted until evening for Saul, for Jonathan his son, for Judah's people, and for the house of Israel, because they had been struck by the sword.

1:13 David said to the young man reporting to him, "Where are you from?" He said, "I am the son of an Amalekite resident alien."

1:14 David said to him, "How were you not afraid to bring your hand against the Lord's anointed to destroy him?"

1:15 David called one of his young men and said, "Come near and strike him." He struck him, and he died.

1:16 David said to him, "Your blood is on your own head, for your mouth answered against you, saying, 'I put the Lord's anointed to death.'"

1:17 David lamented this lament over Saul and over Jonathan his son,

1:18 and he gave orders to teach the sons of Judah—behold, it is written in the Book of the Upright—

1:19 "Set up a memorial, Israel, for the dead, slain upon your heights! How the mighty have fallen!

1:20 Do not report it in Gath, and do not proclaim good news in Ashkelon's exits, lest the daughters of the foreigners rejoice, lest the daughters of the uncircumcised exult.

1:21 Mountains in Gilboa, let no dew descend and no rain upon you, nor fields of firstfruits! For there the shield of the mighty was treated with contempt; Saul's shield was not anointed with oil.

1:22 From the blood of the slain, from the fat of the mighty, Jonathan's bow did not turn back empty, and Saul's sword did not return empty.

1:23 Saul and Jonathan, loved and beautiful, not separated, splendid in their life and not separated in their death: swifter than eagles, they proved stronger than lions.

1:24 Daughters of Israel, weep for Saul, who clothed you in scarlet with your adornment, who put gold adornment upon your clothing.

1:25 How the mighty have fallen in the midst of war! Jonathan lies slain upon your heights.

1:26 I grieve for you, my brother Jonathan. You were very beautiful to me; your love for me was wonderful, beyond the love of women.

1:27 How the mighty have fallen, and the equipment of war has perished!"

2 Samuel 2

2:1 After this, David inquired of the Lord, saying, "Shall I go up into one of Judah's cities?" The Lord said to him, "Go up." David said, "Where shall I go up?" He said, "To Hebron."

2:2 David went up there to Hebron, and both his wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelite and Abigail, the wife of Nabal the Carmelite,

2:3 and the men with him, each man and his household; and they settled in Hebron's cities.

2:4 Men of Judea came and anointed David there to reign over the house of Judah. They reported to David, "The men of Jabesh in Gilead buried Saul."

2:5 David sent messengers to the leaders of Jabesh in Gilead and said to them, “Blessed are you by the Lord, because you have shown this mercy to your lord, to Saul, the Lord’s anointed, and buried him and Jonathan his son.

2:6 Now may the Lord show you mercy and truth. Indeed, I too will do these good things for you, because you have done this thing.

2:7 Now let your hands be strong, and become men of valour, for your lord Saul has died. Indeed, the house of Judah has anointed me king over themselves.”

2:8 Abner son of Ner, Saul’s commander in chief, took Ish-bosheth son of Saul and brought him up from the camp to Mahanaim.

2:9 He made him king over the land of Gilead, over Thasiri, over Jezreel, over Ephraim, over Benjamin, and over all Israel.

2:10 Ish-bosheth son of Saul was forty years old when he became king over Israel, and he reigned two years, except over the house of Judah, who followed David.

2:11 The time David reigned in Hebron over the house of Judah was seven years and six months.

2:12 Abner son of Ner and the servants of Ish-bosheth son of Saul went out from Mahanaim to Gibeon.

2:13 Joab son of Zeruiah and David’s servants went out from Hebron and met them together at Gibeon’s spring. They sat down, one group on this side of Gibeon’s spring and the other on that side of the spring.

2:14 Abner said to Joab, “Let the young men rise now and play before us.” Joab said, “Let them rise.”

2:15 They rose and passed over by number: twelve of Benjamin’s young men belonging to Ish-bosheth son of Saul, and twelve of David’s servants.

2:16 Each seized his opponent’s head with his hand and thrust his sword into his opponent’s side, and they fell together. That place was named Portion of the Plotters, which is in Gibeon.

2:17 The battle was very severe that day, and Abner and Israel’s men were defeated before David’s servants.

2:18 The three sons of Zeruiah were there: Joab, Abishai, and Asahel. Asahel was light on his feet, like a gazelle in the field.

2:19 Asahel pursued Abner and did not turn to the right or to the left from following Abner.

2:20 Abner looked behind him and said, “Are you Asahel?” He said, “It is I.”

2:21 Abner said to him, “Turn to the right or to the left. Seize one of the young men and take his full armour for yourself.” But Asahel was unwilling to turn aside from following him.

2:22 Abner again said to Asahel, “Withdraw from me, lest I strike you to the ground. How could I lift my face to Joab? And where do these things lead? Return to your brother Joab.”

2:23 He was unwilling to withdraw. Abner struck him in the loins with the butt of the spear, and the spear passed out through his back. He fell there and died beneath him. Everyone who came to the place where Asahel had fallen and died stopped.

2:24 Joab and Abishai pursued Abner. The sun was setting when they reached the hill of Amman, facing Gai, on Gibeon’s desert road.

2:25 The sons of Benjamin gathered behind Abner and formed one company. They stood on the top of a hill.

2:26 Abner called to Joab and said, “Will the sword devour for ever? Do you not know it will be bitter in the end? How long will you fail to tell the people to turn back from pursuing our brothers?”

2:27 Joab said, “As the Lord lives, if you had not spoken, then from early morning the people would have gone up, each after his brother.”

2:28 Joab sounded the trumpet, and all the people withdrew. They did not pursue Israel and did not continue fighting.

2:29 Abner and his men went westward all that night. They crossed the Jordan, traveled the entire stretch, and came to the camp.

2:30 Joab returned from following Abner and gathered all the people. Nineteen men of David’s servants, and Asahel, were counted.

2:31 David’s servants struck down three hundred sixty men from the sons of Benjamin, Abner’s men, belonging to him.

2:32 They carried Asahel away and buried him in his father’s tomb at Bethlehem. Joab and the men with him traveled all night, and day dawned for them in Hebron.

2 Samuel 3

3:1 The war between Saul’s house and David’s house lasted a long time. David’s house grew stronger and stronger, while Saul’s house grew weaker and weaker.

3:2 Sons were born to David in Hebron. His firstborn was Amnon, by Ahinoam the Jezreelite;

3:3 his second was Daluia, by Abigail the Carmelite; and the third was Absalom son of Maacah, daughter of Talmai king of Geshur;

3:4 the fourth was Ornia son of Phengith; and the fifth was Sabatia, by Abital;

3:5 and the sixth was Ithream, by Eglah, David's wife. These were born to David in Hebron.

3:6 While there was war between Saul's house and David's house, Abner was holding power over Saul's house.

3:7 Saul had a concubine, Rizpah daughter of Ial. Mephibosheth son of Saul said to Abner, "Why have you gone in to my father's concubine?"

3:8 Abner became very angry over Mephibosheth's statement. Abner said to him, "Am I a dog's head? Today I have shown mercy to the house of Saul your father, and toward brothers and acquaintances, and I have not deserted to David's house. Yet today you call me to account for wrongdoing concerning a woman!

3:9 May God do these things to Abner, and add these things to him, for just as the Lord swore to David, so I will do for him this very day:

3:10 to remove the kingdom from Saul's house and raise up David's throne over Israel and over Judah, from Dan to Beersheba."

3:11 Mephibosheth could no longer answer Abner a word, because he feared him.

3:12 Abner sent messengers to David at Thailam, where he was at the time, saying, "Make your covenant with me, and behold, my hand will be with you to turn all the house of Israel to you."

3:13 David said, "I will gladly make a covenant with you. But I ask one thing of you: you will not see my face unless you bring Michal daughter of Saul when you come to see my face."

3:14 David sent messengers to Mephibosheth son of Saul, saying, "Give me back my wife Michal, whom I obtained for a hundred foreskins of foreigners."

3:15 Mephibosheth sent and took her from her husband, from Paltiel son of Selles.

3:16 Her husband went with her, weeping behind her as far as Barakim. Abner said to him, "Return." He went back.

3:17 Abner said to Israel's elders, "In days past you were seeking David to reign over you.

3:18 Now act, for the Lord spoke concerning David, saying, 'By the hand of My servant David I will save Israel from the hand of foreigners and from the hand of all their enemies.'"

3:19 Abner spoke in Benjamin's hearing. Abner went to speak in David's hearing at Hebron about everything that pleased Israel and the whole house of Benjamin.

3:20 Abner came to David at Hebron with twenty men. David made a drinking feast for Abner and the men with him.

3:21 Abner said to David, "I will rise now and go and gather all Israel to my lord the king. I will make a covenant with you, and you will reign over all that your soul desires." David sent Abner away, and he went in peace.

3:22 Behold, David's servants and Joab were arriving from an expedition, bringing much spoil with them. Abner was not with David in Hebron, for David had sent him away and he had departed in peace.

3:23 Joab and all his army were brought in. Joab was told, "Abner son of Ner has come to David, and he has sent him away, and he departed in peace."

3:24 Joab came in to the king and said, "What is this you have done? Behold, Abner came to you! Why have you sent him away, and he has departed in peace?

3:25 Do you not know the wickedness of Abner son of Ner? He came to deceive you, to learn your going out and your coming in, and to learn everything you are doing."

3:26 Joab returned from David and sent messengers after Abner. They brought him back from the well of Seiram, but David did not know.

3:27 Abner returned to Hebron. Joab took him aside beside the gate to speak with him while lying in wait, and struck him there in the loins. He died for the blood of Asahel, Joab's brother.

3:28 Afterward David heard and said, "I and my kingdom are for ever guiltless before the Lord of the blood of Abner son of Ner.

3:29 Let it fall upon Joab's head and upon his father's whole house. May Joab's house never lack someone with a seminal discharge, someone who is leprous, someone holding a staff, someone falling by the sword, or someone lacking bread."

3:30 Joab and Abishai his brother kept watch for Abner because he had put their brother Asahel to death in the battle at Gibeon.

3:31 David said to Joab and all the people with him, "Tear your garments, put on sackcloth, and beat yourselves in mourning before Abner." King David walked behind the bier.

3:32 They buried Abner in Hebron. The king lifted his voice and wept at his grave, and all the people wept over Abner.

3:33 The king lamented over Abner and said, “Should Abner die according to Nabal’s death?

3:34 Your hands were not bound; your feet were not in fetters. He did not bring near, as Nabal; before men of injustice you fell.” All the people gathered to weep over him.

3:35 All the people came to have David eat a funeral meal with bread while it was still day. David swore, “May God do these things to me, and add these things: unless the sun sets, I will certainly not taste bread or anything at all.”

3:36 All the people understood, and everything the king did before the people pleased them.

3:37 All the people and all Israel knew that day that putting Abner son of Ner to death had not come from the king.

3:38 The king said to his servants, “Do you not know that a great leader has fallen this day in Israel,

3:39 and that today I am a kinsman and one appointed by a king? But these men, the sons of Zeruiah, are harder than I. May the Lord repay the evildoer according to his wickedness.”

2 Samuel 4

4:1 When Mephibosheth son of Saul heard that Abner had died in Hebron, his hands grew weak, and all Israel’s men lost heart.

4:2 Mephibosheth son of Saul had two men who led bands. One was named Baanah, and the second Rechab, sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, from the sons of Benjamin, for Beeroth was counted as belonging to Benjamin’s sons.

4:3 The Beerothites had escaped to Gittaim and remained there as resident aliens to this day.

4:4 Jonathan son of Saul had a son whose feet had been injured. He was five years old when news of Saul and Jonathan his son came from Jezreel. His nurse picked him up and fled. As she hurried and withdrew, he fell and became lame. His name was Mephibosheth.

4:5 The sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baanah, went and entered Mephibosheth’s house in the heat of the day. He was sleeping in bed at midday.

4:6 Behold, the woman keeping the house’s door was cleaning wheat. She became drowsy and fell asleep, and the brothers Rechab and Baanah slipped past unnoticed.

4:7 They entered the house while Mephibosheth was sleeping on his bed in his bedchamber. They struck him, killed him, and removed his head. They took his head and went by the westward road all night.

4:8 They brought Mephibosheth’s head to David at Hebron and said to the king, “Behold, the head of Mephibosheth son of Saul your enemy, who sought your life! The Lord has given the lord king vengeance upon his enemies, as on this day, upon Saul your enemy and his offspring.”

4:9 David answered Rechab and his brother Baanah, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, and said to them, “As the Lord lives, who redeemed my life from every distress,

4:10 the one who reported to me that Saul had died was like a bearer of good news before me, and I seized him and killed him in Ziklag—the one to whom I was supposed to give a reward for good news!

4:11 And now wicked men have killed a righteous man in his own house, on his bed! Now I will require his blood from your hands and destroy you from the earth.”

4:12 David commanded his young men, and they killed them, cut off their hands and feet, and hung them beside the spring in Hebron. They buried Mephibosheth’s head in the tomb of Abner son of Ner.

2 Samuel 5

5:1 All Israel’s tribes came to David at Hebron and said to him, “Behold, we are your bones and your flesh.

5:2 In days past, when Saul was king over us, you were the one who led Israel out and brought them in. The Lord said to you, ‘You will shepherd My people Israel, and you will be ruler over Israel.’”

5:3 All Israel’s elders came to the king at Hebron. King David made a covenant with them in Hebron before the Lord, and they anointed David king over all Israel.

5:4 David was thirty years old when he became king, and he reigned forty years,

5:5 seven years and six months he reigned in Hebron over Judah, and thirty-three years he reigned over all Israel and Judah in Jerusalem.

5:6 David and his men went to Jerusalem against the Jebusites inhabiting the land. David was told, “You will not come in here,” for the blind and the lame resisted, saying, “David will not come in here.”

5:7 David captured the stronghold of Zion, which is the city of David.

5:8 David said that day, “Everyone striking a Jebusite, let him attack with a dagger both the lame and the blind and those who hate David’s soul.” Therefore they will say, “The blind and the lame shall not enter the Lord’s house.”

5:9 David settled in the stronghold, and it was called the city of David. He built the city around from the citadel, and his own house.

5:10 David grew greater and greater, and the Lord Almighty was with him.

5:11 Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, cedar wood, woodworkers, and stoneworkers. They built a house for David.

5:12 David knew that the Lord had prepared him as king over Israel and that his kingdom had been exalted for the sake of his people Israel.

5:13 David took more wives and concubines from Jerusalem after coming from Hebron, and David had more sons and daughters.

5:14 These are the names of those born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, and Solomon;

5:15 Ibhar, Elishua, Nepheg, and Japhia;

5:16 Elishama, Eliada, and Eliphelet;

5:16a Samae, Iessibath, Nathan, Galamaan, Iebaar, Theesous, Elphalat, Naged, Naphek, Ianatha, Leasamys, Baalimath, Eliphalath.

5:17 The foreigners heard that David had been anointed king over Israel, and all the foreigners went up to seek David. David heard and went down to the stronghold.

5:18 The foreigners arrived and gathered in the Valley of the Titans.

5:19 David inquired through the Lord, saying, “Shall I go up against the foreigners? Wilt Thou deliver them into my hands?” The Lord said to David, “Go up, for I will certainly deliver the foreigners into your hands.”

5:20 David came from the Upper Breaches and struck the foreigners there. David said, “The Lord has broken through my enemies, the foreigners, before me as waters break through.” Therefore that place was named Upper Breaches.

5:21 They abandoned their gods there, and David and the men with him took them.

5:22 The foreigners came up again and gathered in the Valley of the Titans.

5:23 David inquired through the Lord, and the Lord said, “Do not go up to meet them. Turn away from them, and you will come upon them near the place of weeping.

5:24 When you hear the sound of the closing together of the grove of weeping, then go down against them, for then the Lord will go out before you to strike in the battle with the foreigners.”

5:25 David did as the Lord commanded him and struck the foreigners from Gibeon as far as the land of Gezer.

2 Samuel 6

6:1 David again gathered all the young men from Israel, about seventy thousand.

6:2 David and all the people with him rose and went from Judah’s rulers on an ascent to bring up from there the ark of God, over which is called the name of the Lord of hosts, enthroned upon the cherubim above it.

6:3 He placed the ark of the Lord on a new cart and brought it from Abinadab’s house on the hill. Uzzah and his brothers, Abinadab’s sons, were driving the cart

6:4 with the ark, and his brothers were walking before the ark.

6:5 David and the sons of Israel were celebrating before the Lord on tuned instruments, with strength and songs, with lyres, harps, tambourines, cymbals, and pipes.

6:6 They came to Nodab’s threshing floor. Uzzah stretched out his hand toward the ark of God to hold it fast, and gripped it because the bull calf had pulled it aside, so as to hold it fast.

6:7 The Lord became angry with Uzzah, and God struck him there. He died there beside the ark of the Lord, before God.

6:8 David became disheartened because the Lord had made a breach against Uzzah. That place was called Breach of Uzzah to this day.

6:9 David feared the Lord that day, saying, “How can the ark of the Lord come to me?”

6:10 David was unwilling to turn the ark of the Lord’s covenant aside to himself in the city of David. David turned it aside to the house of Obed-edom the Gittite.

6:11 The ark of the Lord remained in the house of Obed-edom the Gittite for three months. The Lord blessed Obed-edom’s whole household and all that was his.

6:12 King David was told, “The Lord has blessed Obed-edom’s household and all that is his because of the ark of God.” David went and brought the ark of the Lord up from Obed-edom’s house to the city of David with gladness.

6:13 With them were seven dancing companies carrying the ark, and a calf and a lamb as a sacrifice.

6:14 David was playing on tuned instruments before the Lord, and David was clothed in a distinctive robe.

6:15 David and the whole house of Israel brought up the ark of the Lord with shouting and the sound of a trumpet.

6:16 As the ark reached the city of David, Michal daughter of Saul looked through the window. She saw King David dancing and playing before the Lord, and despised him in her heart.

6:17 They brought the ark of the Lord in and set it in its place, inside the tent David had pitched for it. David offered whole burnt offerings and peace offerings before the Lord.

6:18 When David finished offering the whole burnt offerings and peace offerings together, he blessed the people in the name of the Lord of hosts.

6:19 He distributed to all the people, the whole force of Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, both men and women, to each a loaf of bread, a hearth cake, and a flat cake from a frying pan. Then all the people went away, each to his own house.

6:20 David returned to bless his household. Michal daughter of Saul came out to meet David, blessed him, and said, “How glorious Israel’s king has been today, uncovering himself today before the eyes of his servants’ servant women, as one of the dancers openly uncovers himself!”

6:21 David said to Michal, “I will dance before the Lord. Blessed is the Lord, who chose me above your father and above his whole house to appoint me ruler over His people, over Israel. I will celebrate and dance before the Lord,

6:22 and I will uncover myself still in this way and be worthless in your eyes, and with the servant women among whom you said I was to be honoured.”

6:23 Michal daughter of Saul had no child until the day of her death.

2 Samuel 7

7:1 When the king was settled in his house and the Lord had given him possession on every side, away from all his surrounding enemies,

7:2 the king said to Nathan the prophet, “Look now, I dwell in a cedar house, while the ark of God remains inside the tent.”

7:3 Nathan said to the king, “Go and do all that is in your heart, for the Lord is with you.”

7:4 That night a word of the Lord came to Nathan, saying,

7:5 “Go and say to My servant David, ‘Thus says the Lord: You will not build Me a house for Me to dwell in,

7:6 for I have not dwelt in a house from the day I brought the sons of Israel up from Egypt until this day. I have been moving about in a lodging and a tent.

7:7 Wherever I passed through among all Israel, did I ever speak to one of Israel’s tribes whom I commanded to shepherd My people Israel, saying, “Why have you not built Me a cedar house?”

7:8 Now say this to My servant David: Thus says the Lord Almighty: I took you from the sheepfold to be ruler over My people, over Israel,

7:9 and I was with you wherever you went and destroyed all your enemies before you, and I made you renowned, according to the name of the great ones on the earth.

7:10 I will appoint a place for My people Israel and plant them there. They will dwell on their own and worry no more. No unjust man will again humble them as at the beginning,

7:11 from the days when I appointed judges over My people Israel. I will give you rest from all your enemies, and the Lord will announce to you that you will build Him a house.

7:12 When your days are fulfilled and you sleep with your fathers, I will raise up your seed after you, who will be from your own body, and prepare his kingdom.

7:13 He will build Me a house for My name, and I will set his throne upright for ever.

7:14 I will be a father to him, and he will be a son to Me. If his wrongdoing comes, I will correct him with the rod of men and the afflictions of human beings.

7:15 But I will not withdraw My mercy from him as I withdrew it from those whom I removed from before Me.

7:16 His house and his kingdom will be made sure for ever before Me, and his throne will be set upright for ever.’”

7:17 Nathan spoke to David according to all these words and all this vision.

7:18 King David went in and sat before the Lord. He said, “Who am I, my Lord, Lord, and what is my house, that Thou hast loved me to this extent?

7:19 Yet it was reckoned a small thing before Thee, my Lord, Lord, and Thou hast spoken of Thy servant’s house far into the future. This is the law of the human being, my Lord, Lord.

7:20 What more can David say to Thee? Now Thou knowest Thy servant, my Lord, Lord.

7:21 Because of Thy word Thou hast acted, and according to Thy heart Thou hast done all this greatness, to make it known to Thy servant,

7:22 so that Thou mayest be magnified, my Lord, Lord, for there is none like Thee and no God besides Thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears.

7:23 What other nation on earth is like Thy people Israel? God led them to redeem a people for Himself, for Thee to make Thyself a name, to bring about greatness and a manifestation, for Thee to drive out nations and dwellings from before Thy people, whom Thou didst redeem for Thyself from Egypt.

7:24 Thou didst prepare Thy people Israel for Thyself as a people for ever, and Thou, Lord, becamest their God.

7:25 Now, my Lord, Lord, confirm for ever the word Thou hast spoken concerning Thy servant and his house, Lord Almighty, God of Israel. And now, as Thou hast spoken,

7:26 may Thy name be magnified for ever.

7:27 Lord Almighty, God of Israel, Thou hast revealed to Thy servant's ear, saying, 'I will build you a house.' Therefore Thy servant has found the heart to pray this prayer to Thee.

7:28 Now, my Lord, Lord, Thou art God, and Thy words will be true. Thou hast spoken these good things concerning Thy servant.

7:29 Now begin and bless Thy servant's house, that it may remain before Thee for ever. For it is Thou, my Lord, Lord, who hast spoken, and through Thy blessing Thy servant's house will be blessed for ever."

2 Samuel 8

8:1 After this, David struck the foreigners and routed them. David took the separated territory from the foreigners' hand.

8:2 David struck Moab and measured them with cords, making them lie on the ground. Two measured lengths were for putting to death, and two measured lengths he kept alive. Moab became David's servants, bringing gifts.

8:3 David struck Hadadezer son of Raab, king of Zobah, as he went to establish his control at the River Euphrates.

8:4 David captured one thousand of his chariots, seven thousand horsemen, and twenty thousand foot soldiers. David disabled all the chariots, but left a hundred chariots from them.

8:5 Syria of Damascus came to help Hadadezer king of Zobah, and David struck down twenty-two thousand Syrian men.

8:6 David placed a garrison in Syria around Damascus, and Syria became David's servants, bringing gifts. The Lord gave David victory wherever he went.

8:7 David took the gold armlets that were on the servants of Hadadezer king of Zobah and brought them to Jerusalem. Shishak king of Egypt took them when he went up to Jerusalem in the days of Rehoboam son of Solomon.

8:8 From Masbak, from Hadadezer's selected cities, King David took a great quantity of bronze. With it Solomon made the bronze sea, the pillars, the basins, and all the vessels.

8:9 Toi king of Hamath heard that David had struck all Hadadezer's force,

8:10 and Toi sent his son Ieddouran to King David to inquire about peace and bless him because he had fought Hadadezer and struck him, for he had been opposed to Hadadezer. In his hands were silver vessels, gold vessels, and bronze vessels.

8:11 King David dedicated these to the Lord, with the silver and gold he had dedicated from all the cities he had dominated:

8:12 from Idumea, Moab, the sons of Ammon, the foreigners, Amalek, and the spoil of Hadadezer son of Raab, king of Zobah.

8:13 David made a name for himself. When he returned, he struck eighteen thousand in Idumea at Gaimale.

8:14 He placed a garrison in Idumea, throughout all Idumea, and all the Idumeans became the king's servants. The Lord gave David victory wherever he went.

8:15 David reigned over Israel, and David administered judgment and righteousness for all his people.

8:16 Joab son of Zeruiah was over the army, and Jehoshaphat son of Ahia was over the records;

8:17 Zadok son of Ahitub and Ahimelech son of Abiathar were priests, and Asa was the scribe;

8:18 and Benaiah son of Jehoiada was counselor, and the Cherethites and the Pelethites; and David's sons were palace officials.

2 Samuel 9

9:1 David said, "Is anyone still left of Saul's house, that I may show him mercy for Jonathan's sake?"

9:2 There was a servant from Saul's house named Ziba, and they called him to David. The king said to him, "Are you Ziba?" He said, "I am your servant."

9:3 The king said, "Is there still a man left of Saul's house, that I may show him God's mercy?" Ziba said to the king, "Jonathan still has a son whose feet have been injured."

9:4 The king said, “Where is he?” Ziba said to the king, “Behold, in the house of Machir son of Ammiel, of Lo-debar.”

9:5 King David sent and brought him from the house of Machir son of Ammiel, from Lo-debar.

9:6 Mephibosheth son of Jonathan, son of Saul, came to King David, fell on his face, and bowed down to him. David said to him, “Mephibosheth!” He said, “Here is your servant.”

9:7 David said to him, “Do not fear. I will certainly show you mercy because of Jonathan your father. I will restore to you all the land of Saul your father’s father, and you will eat bread at my table continually.”

9:8 Mephibosheth bowed down and said, “Who am I, your servant, that you have looked toward a dead dog like me?”

9:9 The king called Ziba, Saul’s attendant, and said to him, “Everything that belongs to Saul and his whole house I have given to your master’s son.

9:10 You, your sons, and your servants shall work the land for him. You shall bring loaves to your master’s son, and he will eat them. But Mephibosheth, your master’s son, shall eat bread continually at my table.” Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty servants.

9:11 Ziba said to the king, “Your servant will do according to everything my lord the king has commanded his servant.” Mephibosheth ate at David’s table like one of the king’s sons.

9:12 Mephibosheth had a young son named Mica. The whole household of Ziba were Mephibosheth’s servants.

9:13 Mephibosheth lived in Jerusalem, for he ate continually at the king’s table. He was lame in both his feet.

2 Samuel 10

10:1 After this, the king of the sons of Ammon died, and Hanun his son became king in his place.

10:2 David said, “I will show mercy to Hanun son of Nahash, as his father showed mercy to me.” David sent his servants to comfort him concerning his father. David’s servants entered the land of the sons of Ammon.

10:3 The leaders of the sons of Ammon said to Hanun their lord, “Do you think David is glorifying your father by sending comforters to you? Has David not sent his servants to you so that they may search the city, spy it out, and inspect it?”

10:4 Hanun took David’s servants, shaved their beards, cut their cloaks in half at their hips, and sent them away.

10:5 David was told about the men, and he sent to meet them, for the men had been greatly dishonoured. The king said, “Stay in Jericho until your beards grow, and then you shall return.”

10:6 The sons of Ammon saw that David’s people had been put to shame. They sent and hired Syria of Beth-rehob, twenty thousand foot soldiers, the king of Maacah, a thousand men, and Istob, twelve thousand men.

10:7 David heard and sent Joab and the whole force, the mighty men.

10:8 The sons of Ammon came out and drew up for battle at the gate’s entrance. Syria of Zobah and Rehob, Istob, and Maacah were by themselves in the field.

10:9 Joab saw that the battle faced him from the front and from behind. He selected some of all Israel’s young men, and they drew up against Syria.

10:10 He placed the rest of the people in the hand of Abishai his brother, and they drew up against the sons of Ammon.

10:11 He said, “If Syria is too strong for me, you all shall come to my rescue. If the sons of Ammon are too strong for you, we will be there to rescue you.

10:12 Be courageous, and let us show strength for our people and for the cities of our God. The Lord will do what is good in His eyes.”

10:13 Joab and his people with him advanced to battle against Syria, and they fled before him.

10:14 The sons of Ammon saw that Syria had fled, and they fled before Abishai and entered the city. Joab returned from the sons of Ammon, and they came to Jerusalem.

10:15 Syria saw that it had been defeated before Israel, and they gathered together.

10:16 Hadadezer sent and gathered Syria from beyond the River Chalamak. They came to Ailam, with Shobach, leader of Hadadezer’s force, at their head.

10:17 David was told. He gathered all Israel and crossed the Jordan, and they came to Ailam. Syria drew up opposite David and fought with him.

10:18 Syria fled before Israel. David destroyed seven hundred Syrian chariots and killed forty thousand horsemen. He struck Shobach, the leader of his force, and he died there.

10:19 All the kings serving Hadadezer saw that they had been defeated before Israel. They deserted to Israel and served them, and Syria feared to help the sons of Ammon again.

2 Samuel 11

11:1 At the return of the year, at the time of the kings' expedition, David sent Joab, his servants with him, and all Israel. They devastated the sons of Ammon and laid siege to Rabbah, while David remained in Jerusalem.

11:2 Toward evening David rose from his bed and walked on the roof of the king's house. From the roof he saw a woman bathing, and the woman was very beautiful in appearance.

11:3 David sent and sought the woman. It was said, "Is this not Bathsheba daughter of Eliab, the wife of Uriah the Hittite?"

11:4 David sent messengers and took her. She came to him, and he lay with her. She was purifying herself from her impurity, and she returned to her house.

11:5 The woman conceived. She sent word and reported to David, saying, "I am pregnant."

11:6 David sent to Joab, saying, "Send me Uriah the Hittite." Joab sent Uriah to David.

11:7 Uriah arrived and came in to him, and David asked about Joab's welfare, the people's welfare, and the welfare of the war.

11:8 David said to Uriah, "Go down to your house and wash your feet." Uriah left the king's house, and a portion from the king went out after him.

11:9 Uriah lay down by the king's door with his lord's servants, and did not go down to his house.

11:10 David was told, "Uriah did not go down to his house." David said to Uriah, "Have you not come from a journey? Why did you not go down to your house?"

11:11 Uriah said to David, "The ark, Israel, and Judah are staying in tents. My lord Joab and my lord's servants are camping in the open field. Shall I go to my house to eat, drink, and lie with my wife? How could I? As your soul lives, I will not do this thing."

11:12 David said to Uriah, "Stay here today also, and tomorrow I will send you away." Uriah stayed in Jerusalem that day and the next.

11:13 David called him, and he ate and drank before him, and David made him drunk. In the evening he went out to lie on his bed with his lord's servants, but he did not go down to his house.

11:14 In the morning David wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by Uriah's hand.

11:15 He wrote in the letter, "Bring Uriah to face the fiercest battle, and you shall withdraw from behind him, and he will be struck and die."

11:16 As Joab kept watch over the city, he placed Uriah where he knew there were powerful men.

11:17 The city's men came out and fought Joab. Some of the people, David's servants, fell, and Uriah the Hittite also died.

11:18 Joab sent and reported to the king all the matters of the battle,

11:19 and instructed the messenger, "When you have finished telling the king all the matters of the battle,

11:20 if the king's anger rises and he says to you, 'Why did you go so near the city to fight? Did you not know they would shoot arrows from above the wall?

11:21 Who struck Abimelech son of Jerubbaal? Did not a woman throw a fragment of a millstone on him from above the wall, so that he died at Thamasi? Why did you go so near the wall?' Then say, 'Your servant Uriah the Hittite also died.'"

11:22 Joab's messenger went to the king in Jerusalem, arrived, and reported to David everything Joab had told him, all the matters of the battle. David became angry with Joab and said to the messenger, "Why did you go so near the city to fight? Did you not know you would be struck from the wall? Who struck Abimelech son of Jerubbaal? Did not a woman throw a fragment of a millstone on him from the wall, so that he died at Thamasi? Why did you go so near the wall?"

11:23 The messenger said to David, "The men grew strong against us and came out against us in the field. We pressed them as far as the gate's entrance,

11:24 and the archers shot at your servants from above the wall. Some of the king's servants died, and your servant Uriah the Hittite also died."

11:25 David said to the messenger, "Tell Joab this: 'Do not regard this matter as evil, for the sword devours sometimes this way and sometimes that way. Strengthen your battle against the city and pull it down.' And encourage him."

11:26 Uriah's wife heard that Uriah her husband had died, and she beat herself in mourning for her husband.

11:27 When the mourning passed, David sent and brought her into his house. She became his wife and bore him a son. But what David had done appeared evil in the Lord's eyes.

2 Samuel 12

12:1 The Lord sent Nathan the prophet to David. He came in to him and said, "There were two men in one city, one rich and the other poor.

12:2 The rich man had very many flocks and herds.

12:3 The poor man had nothing except one little ewe lamb that he had acquired, preserved, and reared. It grew up with him and his sons together. It ate from his bread, drank from his cup, and slept in his bosom. It was like a daughter to him.

12:4 A passerby came to the rich man. He was unwilling to take from his own flocks or herds to prepare a meal for the traveling stranger who had come to him. He took the poor man's ewe lamb and prepared it for the man who had come to him."

12:5 David became intensely angry with the man. David said to Nathan, "As the Lord lives, the man who did this deserves death!

12:6 He must repay the ewe lamb sevenfold, because he did this thing and had no pity."

12:7 Nathan said to David, "You are the man who did this! Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: 'I am the One who anointed you king over Israel, and I am the One who rescued you from Saul's hand.

12:8 I gave you your lord's house and your lord's wives into your bosom. I gave you the house of Israel and Judah. If this is little, I will add more like these things.

12:9 Why have you treated the Lord's word as worthless by doing evil in His eyes? You struck Uriah the Hittite with the sword and took his wife to be your wife; him you killed with the sword of the sons of Ammon.

12:10 Now the sword will never depart from your house, because you held Me in contempt and took the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be your wife.'

12:11 Thus says the Lord: 'Behold, I am raising up calamities against you from your own house. I will take your wives before your eyes and give them to your neighbour, and he will lie with your wives before this sun.

12:12 You acted in secret, but I will do this thing before all Israel and before this sun.'"

12:13 David said to Nathan, "I have sinned against the Lord." Nathan said to David, "The Lord also has put away your sin; you will certainly not die.

12:14 Nevertheless, because by this deed you have thoroughly provoked the Lord's enemies, your son who was born to you will certainly die."

12:15 Nathan went to his house. The Lord struck down the child whom Uriah's wife had borne to David, and he became ill.

12:16 David sought God concerning the child. David fasted, went in, and spent the night in sackcloth on the ground.

12:17 The elders of his house stood beside him to raise him from the ground, but he refused and would not eat bread with them.

12:18 On the seventh day the child died. David's servants were afraid to tell him that the child had died, for they said, "While the child was still alive, we spoke to him and he did not listen to us. How can we tell him that the child has died? He may do harmful things."

12:19 David understood that his servants were whispering and perceived that the child had died. David said to his servants, "Has the child died?" They said, "He has died."

12:20 David rose from the ground, washed, anointed himself, and changed his clothes. He entered God's house and bowed down to Him. Then he entered his own house and asked for bread to eat; they set bread before him, and he ate.

12:21 His servants said to him, "What is this that you have done? While the child was still alive, you fasted and wept and kept vigil, but when the child died, you rose and ate bread and drank."

12:22 David said, "While the child was still alive, I fasted and wept, because I said, 'Who knows whether the Lord will have mercy on me and the child will live?'

12:23 But now he has died. Why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I will go to him, but he will not return to me."

12:24 David comforted Bathsheba his wife. He went in to her and lay with her. She conceived, bore a son, and named him Solomon. The Lord loved him.

12:25 He sent word through Nathan the prophet, and he called the child Idedi because of the Lord.

12:26 Joab fought at Rabbah of the sons of Ammon and captured the royal city.

12:27 Joab sent messengers to David and said, "I have fought at Rabbah and captured the city of waters.

12:28 Now gather the rest of the people, encamp against the city, and take it first, lest I take the city first and my name be called over it."

12:29 David gathered all the people, went to Rabbah, fought there, and captured it.

12:30 He took the crown of Melchol their king from his head. Its weight was a talent of gold and precious stone, and it was placed on David's head. He brought out a very great quantity of spoil from the city.

12:31 He brought out the people who were in it and put them to the saw and the iron threshing implements, and led them through the brickworks. He did this to all the cities of the sons of Ammon. David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

2 Samuel 13

13:1 After this, Absalom son of David had a sister very beautiful in appearance, named Tamar, and Amnon son of David loved her.

13:2 Amnon was so distressed over Tamar his sister that he became ill. She was a virgin, and it seemed exceedingly difficult to Amnon to do anything to her.

13:3 Amnon had a companion named Jonadab son of Shimeah, David's brother. Jonadab was a very shrewd man.

13:4 He said to him, "Why are you so weak morning after morning, king's son? Will you not tell me?" Amnon said to him, "I love Tamar, the sister of Absalom my brother."

13:5 Jonadab said to him, "Lie down on your bed and act ill. Your father will come in to see you. Say to him, 'Please let Tamar my sister come and feed me. Let her prepare food before my eyes so that I can watch and eat from her hands.'"

13:6 Amnon lay down and became ill. The king came in to see him. Amnon said to the king, "Please let Tamar my sister come to me and make two little loaves before my eyes, and I will eat from her hand."

13:7 David sent word to Tamar at the house: "Please go to the house of Amnon your brother and prepare food for him."

13:8 Tamar went to the house of Amnon her brother, who was lying down. She took the dough, mixed it, made little loaves before his eyes, and cooked the little loaves.

13:9 She took the frying pan and emptied it before him, but he refused to eat. Amnon said, "Take every man away from me." They took every man away from him.

13:10 Amnon said to Tamar, "Bring the food into the inner room, and I will eat from your hand." Tamar took the little loaves she had made and brought them to Amnon her brother in the bedroom,

13:11 and brought the food near for him to eat. He seized her and said to her, "Come, lie with me, my sister."

13:12 She said to him, "No, my brother! Do not violate me! Such a thing must not be done in Israel. Do not commit this folly!

13:13 Where could I carry my disgrace? And you would become like one of the foolish men in Israel. Please speak to the king now, for he certainly will not withhold me from you."

13:14 Amnon refused to listen to her. He overpowered her, violated her, and lay with her.

13:15 Then Amnon hated her with very great hatred. The hatred with which he hated her was greater than the love with which he had loved her. Amnon said to her, "Arise and go!"

13:16 Tamar said to him, "No, brother! This last evil, sending me away, is greater than the first thing you have done to me." But Amnon refused to listen to her.

13:17 He called his young servant who was in charge of his house and said to him, "Send this one away from me, outside, and lock the door behind her."

13:18 She was wearing a tunic with sleeves reaching the wrists, for this was how the king's virgin daughters wore their outer garments. His attendant brought her outside and locked the door behind her.

13:19 Tamar took ashes and put them on her head and tore the tunic with sleeves reaching the wrists that she was wearing. She put her hands on her head and went away, crying out as she went.

13:20 Absalom her brother said to her, "Has Amnon your brother been with you? Now, my sister, be silent, for he is your brother. Do not set your heart on speaking about this matter." Tamar lived as a widow in the house of Absalom her brother.

13:21 King David heard all these things and became very angry. But he did not grieve the spirit of Amnon his son, because he loved him, since he was his firstborn.

13:22 Absalom spoke to Amnon neither evil nor good, for Absalom hated Amnon because he had violated Tamar his sister.

13:23 After two full years, Absalom had sheep shearers at Baal-hazor, adjoining Ephraim. Absalom invited all the king's sons.

13:24 Absalom came to the king and said, "They are shearing sheep for your servant. Please let the king and his servants go with your servant."

13:25 The king said to Absalom, "No, my son. Please do not let us all go, so that we do not burden you." Absalom pressed him, but he refused to go and blessed him.

13:26 Absalom said, "If not, please let Amnon my brother go with us." The king said to him, "Why should he go with you?"

13:27 Absalom pressed him, and he sent Amnon and all the king's sons with him. Absalom prepared a drinking feast like the king's drinking feast.

13:28 Absalom instructed his young men, “Watch when Amnon’s heart is merry with wine. When I say to you, ‘Strike Amnon,’ kill him. Do not be afraid. Am I not the one commanding you? Be courageous and be powerful men.”

13:29 Absalom’s young men did to Amnon as Absalom had commanded them. All the king’s sons rose, each mounted his mule, and they fled.

13:30 While they were on the way, a report came to David: “Absalom has struck all the king’s sons; not even one of them is left.”

13:31 The king rose, tore his clothes, and lay on the ground. All his servants standing around him tore their clothes.

13:32 Jonadab son of Shimeah, David’s brother, answered, “Let my lord the king not say that he has killed all the young men, the king’s sons. Amnon alone has died. He had been marked out by Absalom from the day he violated Tamar his sister.

13:33 Now let my lord the king not take to heart the report that all the king’s sons have died. Only Amnon has died.”

13:34 Absalom escaped. The young watchman raised his eyes and saw a large crowd coming along the road behind him, from the side of the mountain, on the descent. The watchman came and reported to the king, “I have seen men coming from the road of Horonen, from the side of the mountain.”

13:35 Jonadab said to the king, “Behold, the king’s sons are here. It has happened just as your servant said.”

13:36 As he finished speaking, the king’s sons arrived, raised their voices, and wept. The king and all his servants also wept very bitterly.

13:37 Absalom fled and went to Talmai son of Ammihud, king of Geshur, in the land of Machad. King David mourned for his son all those days.

13:38 Absalom escaped and went to Geshur, and he was there three years.

13:39 The king’s spirit ceased going out after Absalom, for he had been comforted concerning Amnon, since he was dead.

2 Samuel 14

14:1 Joab son of Zeruiah knew that the king’s heart was on Absalom.

14:2 Joab sent to Tekoa and brought from there a wise woman. He said to her, “Please mourn. Put on mourning clothes and do not anoint yourself with oil. Be like a woman who has mourned someone dead for many days.

14:3 Go to the king and speak to him in this manner.” Joab put the words into her mouth.

14:4 The woman of Tekoa came in to the king, fell facedown to the ground, bowed down to him, and said, “Help, O king, help!”

14:5 The king said to her, “What troubles you?” She said, “Indeed, I am a widow; my husband has died.

14:6 Your servant had two sons. Both fought in the field, with no one between them to intervene. One struck his brother and killed him.

14:7 Now the whole paternal family has risen against your servant. They say, ‘Hand over the one who struck his brother, and we will put him to death for the life of the brother he killed. We will remove your heir as well.’ They would extinguish my last remaining ember, leaving my husband neither remnant nor name on the face of the earth.”

14:8 The king said, “Go to your house in good health, and I will give orders concerning you.”

14:9 The woman of Tekoa said to the king, “Let the lawlessness fall on me, my lord the king, and on my father’s house; let the king and his throne be innocent.”

14:10 The king said, “Who is speaking to you? Bring him to me, and he will not touch him again.”

14:11 She said, “Please let the king remember the Lord his God, for a blood avenger to become great in destruction; and they will certainly not remove my son.” He said, “As the Lord lives, not a hair of your son will fall to the ground.”

14:12 The woman said, “Please let your servant speak a word to my lord the king.” He said, “Speak.”

14:13 The woman said, “Why have you planned such a thing against God’s people? Is this word from the king’s mouth not an offence, since the king does not bring back his own banished one?

14:14 We must certainly die and are like water poured onto the ground that will not be gathered again. God will take a life, while planning to banish a banished one from Him.

14:15 What I have come to say to my lord the king is this, because the people will see me. Your servant will say, ‘Let someone speak to the king; perhaps the king will grant his servant’s request,

14:16 for the king will listen and deliver his servant from the hand of the man seeking to remove me and my son from God’s inheritance.’”

14:17 The woman said, “May my lord the king’s word be an offering, for my lord the king is like God’s angel in hearing good and evil. The Lord your God will be with you.”

14:18 The king answered the woman, “Please do not hide from me anything I ask you.” The woman said, “Please let my lord the king speak.”

14:19 The king said, “Is Joab’s hand with you in all this?” The woman said to the king, “As your soul lives, my lord the king, there is no turning right or left from anything my lord the king has said. Your servant Joab commanded me; he put all these words into your servant’s mouth.

14:20 Your servant Joab did this to turn the matter around. My lord is wise, with the wisdom of God’s angel, to know everything in the land.”

14:21 The king said to Joab, “I have now acted for you according to this request of yours. Go and bring back the young man Absalom.”

14:22 Joab fell facedown to the ground, bowed down, and blessed the king. Joab said, “Today your servant knows that I have found favour in your eyes, my lord the king, because my lord the king has granted his servant’s request.”

14:23 Joab rose, went to Geshur, and brought Absalom to Jerusalem.

14:24 The king said, “Let him turn aside to his own house; he must not see my face.” Absalom turned aside to his own house and did not see the king’s face.

14:25 In all Israel no man was so highly praised as Absalom. From the sole of his foot to the crown of his head there was no blemish in him.

14:26 When he cut the hair of his head—from one period of days to another he cut it because it grew heavy on him—he weighed the hair of his head at two hundred shekels by the royal shekel.

14:27 Three sons and one daughter were born to Absalom. Her name was Tamar, and she was a very beautiful woman. She became the wife of Rehoboam son of Solomon and bore him Abijah.

14:28 Absalom lived in Jerusalem two full years without seeing the king’s face.

14:29 Absalom sent for Joab to send him to the king, but Joab refused to come to him. He sent to him a second time, but Joab refused to appear.

14:30 Absalom said to his servants, “Behold, Joab’s plot in the field is beside mine, and he has barley there. Go and set it on fire.” Absalom’s servants burned the barley. Joab’s servants came to him with their clothes torn and said, “Absalom’s servants have set the plot on fire.”

14:31 Joab rose, came to Absalom at his house, and said to him, “Why have your servants set my plot on fire?”

14:32 Absalom said to Joab, “I sent to you, saying, ‘Come here, and I will send you to the king to say, “Why did I come from Geshur? It would be better for me still to be there.”’ Now behold, I have not seen the king’s face. If there is wrongdoing in me, put me to death.”

14:33 Joab went in to the king and told him. The king summoned Absalom, who came to the king, bowed down to him, and fell facedown to the ground before him. The king kissed Absalom warmly.

2 Samuel 15

15:1 After this, Absalom provided himself with chariots, horses, and fifty men to run ahead of him.

15:2 Absalom would rise early and stand beside the road to the gate. Whenever a man with a case came before the king for judgment, Absalom called to him, “What city are you from?” The man would answer, “Your servant is from one of Israel’s tribes.”

15:3 Absalom would say to him, “Your claims are good and straightforward, but no one from the king is here to hear you.”

15:4 Absalom would say, “Who will appoint me judge in the land, so that every man with a dispute or case will come to me and I will give him justice?”

15:5 Whenever a man approached to bow down to him, Absalom would stretch out his hand, take hold of him, and kiss him warmly.

15:6 Absalom did this to all Israel who came to the king for judgment. Absalom made the hearts of the men of Israel his own.

15:7 At the end of forty years, Absalom said to his father, “Please let me go to Hebron and fulfill the vows I made to the Lord.

15:8 Your servant made a vow while I was living at Geshur in Syria: ‘If the Lord indeed brings me back to Jerusalem, I will worship the Lord.’”

15:9 The king said to him, “Go in peace.” He rose and went to Hebron.

15:10 Absalom sent spies throughout all Israel’s tribes, saying, “When you hear the horn’s sound, say, ‘King Absalom has begun to reign in Hebron!’”

15:11 Two hundred invited men went with Absalom from Jerusalem. They went in their simplicity and knew nothing of the matter.

15:12 While sacrificing, Absalom sent and summoned Ahithophel the Gelmonite, David’s counselor, from his city Gola. The conspiracy grew strong, and the people with Absalom kept increasing.

15:13 A messenger came to David, saying, “The hearts of the men of Israel have gone after Absalom.”

15:14 David said to all his servants with him in Jerusalem, “Rise, let us flee, for we have no deliverance from Absalom. Hurry to leave, lest he hurry and overtake us, thrust calamity upon us, and strike the city with the sword’s edge.”

15:15 The king’s servants said to the king, “Whatever our lord the king chooses—here are your servants.”

15:16 The king went out, with all his household on foot. The king left ten of his concubines to guard the house.

15:17 The king went out, with all his servants on foot, and they stopped at the house far away.

15:18 All his servants passed beside him, with all the Chetti and all the Pelethites, and they stood at the olive tree in the wilderness. All the people passed close beside him, all those around him, all the strong men and all the warriors—six hundred men—and they were at his side. All the Cherethites, all the Pelethites, and all the Gittites—six hundred men who had come on foot from Gath—passed before the king.

15:19 The king said to Ittai the Gittite, “Why should you also go with us? Return and stay with the king, for you are a stranger and have migrated from your own place.

15:20 If you arrived yesterday, shall I move you with us today, and must you also change your place? Yesterday was your departure; shall I move you with us today to go along? I myself will go wherever I may go. Return, and take your brothers back with you, and the Lord will show you mercy and truth.”

15:21 Ittai answered the king, “As the Lord lives, and as my lord the king lives, wherever my lord may be, whether in death or in life, there your servant will be.”

15:22 The king said to Ittai, “Come and cross over with me.” Ittai the Gittite passed on with all his servants and the whole crowd with him.

15:23 All the land wept aloud. All the people passed through the Kidron torrent, and the king crossed the Kidron torrent. All the people and the king passed toward the road to the wilderness.

15:24 Zadok was also there, with all the Levites carrying the ark of the Lord’s covenant from Baithar. They set down God’s ark, and Abiathar went up until all the people had finished passing out of the city.

15:25 The king said to Zadok, “Take God’s ark back to the city. If I find favour in the Lord’s eyes, He will bring me back and show me the ark and its beauty.

15:26 But if He says, ‘I have not taken pleasure in you,’ here I am. Let Him do to me what is good in His eyes.”

15:27 The king said to Zadok the priest, “Behold, you are returning to the city in peace, with your two sons—Ahimaaz your son and Jonathan son of Abiathar—with you.

15:28 Behold, I am encamped at Araboth in the wilderness until word comes from you to inform me.”

15:29 Zadok and Abiathar took the ark back to Jerusalem, and it stayed there.

15:30 David went up the ascent of the Olives, weeping as he went. His head was covered, and he walked barefoot. All the people with him covered their heads, each one, and went up weeping as they went.

15:31 David was told, “Ahithophel too is among the conspirators with Absalom.” David said, “Lord my God, please scatter Ahithophel’s counsel.”

15:32 As David came to Roos, where he bowed down to God, Hushai the Archite, David’s companion, came to meet him, his tunic torn and earth on his head.

15:33 David said to him, “If you cross over with me, you will be a burden to me.

15:34 But if you return to the city and say to Absalom, ‘Your brothers have passed on, and the king, your father, has passed on behind me. Now I am your servant, O king; let me live. I was your father’s servant then and just now, and now I am your servant,’ you can scatter Ahithophel’s counsel for me.

15:35 Behold, Zadok and Abiathar the priests are there with you. Whatever you hear from the king’s house, tell Zadok and Abiathar the priests.

15:36 Their two sons are there with them: Ahimaaz, Zadok’s son, and Jonathan, Abiathar’s son. Send me through them everything you hear.”

15:37 Hushai, David’s companion, entered the city, while Absalom was coming into Jerusalem.

2 Samuel 16

16:1 David had passed a little beyond Roos when Ziba, Mephibosheth’s servant, met him with a pair of loaded donkeys. On them were two hundred loaves, a hundred raisins, a hundred dates, and a vessel of wine.

16:2 The king said to Ziba, “What are these for?” Ziba said, “The pack animals are for the king’s household to ride; the bread and dates are for the young men to eat; the wine is for those who grow faint in the wilderness to drink.”

16:3 The king said, “Where is your lord’s son?” Ziba said to the king, “He is staying in Jerusalem, for he said, ‘Today the house of Israel will restore my father’s kingdom to me.’”

16:4 The king said to Ziba, “Everything belonging to Mephibosheth is now yours.” Ziba bowed down and said, “May I find favour in your eyes, my lord the king.”

16:5 King David came to Bahurim. A man from the kin of Saul’s house was coming out from there, named Shimei son of Gera. He came out, continually cursing, 16:6 throwing stones at David and all King David’s servants, while all the people and all the powerful men were at the king’s right and left.

16:7 Shimei said as he cursed, “Get out, get out, man of bloodshed, lawless man!

16:8 The Lord has brought back upon you all the blood of Saul’s house, because you became king in his place. The Lord has given the kingdom into the hand of Absalom your son. Now you are in calamity, because you are a man of bloodshed.”

16:9 Abishai son of Zeruiah said to the king, “Why should this dead dog curse my lord the king? I will cross over and take off his head.”

16:10 The king said, “What have I to do with you, sons of Zeruiah? Leave him alone, and let him curse this way, because the Lord has told him to curse David. Who can say, ‘Why have you done this?’”

16:11 David said to Abishai and all his servants, “My own son, who came from my belly, seeks my life. And now this son of the Benjaminite as well! Leave him alone to curse, for the Lord has told him.

16:12 Perhaps the Lord will look upon my humiliation and repay me with good things in place of his curse this day.”

16:13 David and his men went along the road. Shimei went along the mountainside beside him, walking and cursing, throwing stones from his flank and showering dust.

16:14 The king and all his people arrived exhausted, and they refreshed themselves there.

16:15 Absalom and every man of Israel entered Jerusalem, with Ahithophel beside him.

16:16 When Hushai the Archite, David’s companion, came to Absalom, Hushai said to Absalom, “Long live the king!”

16:17 Absalom said to Hushai, “Is this your mercy toward your companion? Why did you not depart with your companion?”

16:18 Hushai said to Absalom, “No. From now on I will belong to the one whom the Lord, this people, and every man of Israel have chosen, and I will stay with him.

16:19 And secondly, whom should I serve? Should I not serve in the presence of his son? As I served before your father, so I will be before you.”

16:20 Absalom said to Ahithophel, “All of you, bring forward your counsel about what we should do.”

16:21 Ahithophel said to Absalom, “Go in to your father’s concubines, whom he left to guard his house. All Israel will hear that you have disgraced your father, and the hands of everyone with you will be strengthened.”

16:22 They pitched a tent for Absalom on the roof, and Absalom went in to his father’s concubines before the eyes of all Israel.

16:23 The counsel Ahithophel gave in former days was regarded as though one had inquired of God’s word. So was all Ahithophel’s counsel, both to David and to Absalom.

2 Samuel 17

17:1 Ahithophel said to Absalom, “I will choose twelve thousand men for myself. I will rise and pursue David by night.

17:2 I will come upon him while he is weary and his hands are weak. I will throw him into confusion, and all the people with him will flee. I will strike down the king alone.

17:3 I will bring all the people back to you, as a bride returns to her husband. You seek only one man’s life, and all the people will have peace.”

17:4 The proposal was right in the eyes of Absalom and all the elders of Israel.

17:5 Absalom said, “Call Hushai the Archite as well, so that we may hear what he too has to say.”

17:6 Hushai entered before Absalom. Absalom said to him, “Ahithophel has spoken in this way. Should we act on his proposal? If not, you speak.”

17:7 Hushai said to Absalom, “This counsel Ahithophel has given is not good this time.”

17:8 Hushai continued, “You know your father and his men: they are very powerful, bitter in their souls, like a bear bereaved of her cubs in the field and like a fierce sow on the plain. Your father is a man of war; he will certainly not give the people lodging.

17:9 Even now he is hiding in one of the hills or in some other place. When he falls upon them at the outset, whoever hears will say, ‘There has been a crushing defeat among the people following Absalom.’

17:10 Even a valiant man whose heart is like a lion’s heart—his heart will utterly melt, for all Israel knows that your father is powerful and those with him are men of strength.

17:11 This is the counsel I have given: all Israel will gather to you, from Dan to Beersheba, as numerous as the sand beside the sea, with you yourself going in their midst.

17:12 We will come upon him in whatever place we find him, and encamp against him as dew falls on the ground. We will leave neither him nor even one of the men with him.

17:13 If he withdraws into a city, all Israel will take ropes to that city. We will drag it down to the torrent so that not even a stone is left there."

17:14 Absalom and every man of Israel said, "Hushai the Archite's counsel is better than Ahithophel's." The Lord had commanded that Ahithophel's good counsel be scattered, so that the Lord might bring all these calamities upon Absalom.

17:15 Hushai the Archite said to Zadok and Abiathar the priests, "Ahithophel advised Absalom and the elders of Israel in such and such a way, and I advised them in such and such a way.

17:16 Now send quickly and tell David, 'Do not spend the night in Araboth of the wilderness. Hurry across, lest it swallow up the king and all the people with him.'"

17:17 Jonathan and Ahimaaz had been waiting at the spring of Rogel. The handmaid went and informed them, and they went and reported to King David, for they could not be seen entering the city.

17:18 A young man saw them and told Absalom. The two hurried away and entered a man's house in Bahurim. He had a pit in his courtyard, and they went down into it.

17:19 The woman took a covering and spread it over the mouth of the pit. She cooled grain on it, and nothing was discovered.

17:20 Absalom's servants came to the woman at the house and asked, "Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan?" The woman said to them, "They have gone a little beyond the water." They searched but did not find them, and returned to Jerusalem.

17:21 After they left, the two came up from the pit, went to King David, and reported to him. They said to David, "Rise and cross the water quickly, for this is what Ahithophel advised concerning you."

17:22 David and all the people with him rose and crossed the Jordan. By morning light not one who had not crossed the Jordan had escaped notice.

17:23 Ahithophel saw that his counsel had not been carried out. He saddled his donkey, rose, and went home to his city. He gave instructions to his household, hanged himself, and died. He was buried in his father's tomb.

17:24 David passed on to Mahanaim. Absalom crossed the Jordan, he and every man of Israel with him.

17:25 Absalom appointed Amasa over the army in Joab's place. Amasa was the son of a man named Jethro the Israelite, who had gone in to Abigail daughter of Nahash, sister of Zeruiah, Joab's mother.

17:26 All Israel and Absalom camped in the land of Gilead.

17:27 When David came to Mahanaim, Ouesbi son of Nahash from Rabbah of the Ammonites, Machir son of Ammiel from Lo-debar, and Barzillai the Gileadite from Rogelim

17:28 brought ten beds, rugs with pile on both sides, ten cauldrons, pottery vessels, wheat, barley, flour, barley meal, beans, and lentils,

17:29 also honey, butter, sheep, and cheese from cattle. They brought these for David and the people with him to eat, for they said, "The people are hungry, exhausted, and thirsty in the wilderness."

2 Samuel 18

18:1 David mustered the people with him and appointed commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds over them.

18:2 David sent out the people: one third under Joab, one third under Abishai son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, and one third under Ittai the Gittite. David said to the people, "I too will certainly go out with you."

18:3 They said, "You must not go out. If we flee, they will pay no attention to us; if half of us die, they will pay no attention to us. You are worth ten thousand of us. It is better now for you to be a help to us in the city."

18:4 The king said to them, "I will do whatever pleases you." The king stood beside the gate, and all the people went out by hundreds and thousands.

18:5 The king commanded Joab, Abishai, and Ittai, "For my sake, spare the young man Absalom." All the people heard the king command all the officers concerning Absalom.

18:6 All the people went out into the forest to face Israel, and the battle took place in the forest of Ephraim.

18:7 The people of Israel fell there before David's servants. The crushing defeat that day was great: twenty thousand men.

18:8 The battle spread there across the whole land, and the forest devoured more of the people that day than the sword devoured among them.

18:9 Absalom encountered David's servants. Absalom was riding his mule, and the mule went under the thick growth of the great oak. His head hung in the oak, and he hung between heaven and earth, while the mule beneath him went on.

18:10 A man saw it and told Joab, "I have just seen Absalom hanging in the oak."

18:11 Joab said to the man reporting to him, "You saw him! Why did you not strike him to the ground? I would have given you ten pieces of silver and a belt."

18:12 The man said to Joab, "Even if I weigh a thousand silver shekels in my hands, I will certainly not put out my hand against the king's son. In our hearing the king commanded you, Abishai, and Ittai, 'Guard the young man Absalom for me,

18:13 so as to do no wrong against his life.' Nothing will escape the king's notice, and you yourself would stand opposite me."

18:14 Joab said, "I will begin this myself; I will not wait before you like this." Joab took three darts in his hand and drove them into Absalom's heart. While he was still alive in the heart of the oak,

18:15 ten young men who carried Joab's armour surrounded Absalom, struck him, and killed him.

18:16 Joab sounded the horn, and the people turned back from pursuing Israel, for Joab spared the people.

18:17 He took Absalom and threw him into a great chasm in the forest, into the great pit, and raised a very large heap of stones over him. All Israel fled, each to his tent.

18:18 While still alive, Absalom set up for himself the pillar in which he was taken, and erected it to take—the pillar in the King's Valley—for he said that he had no son to keep his name in remembrance. He called the pillar Absalom's Hand, to this day.

18:19 Ahimaaz son of Zadok said, "Let me run and bring the king good news: the Lord has vindicated him against the hand of his enemies."

18:20 Joab said to him, "You are not the man to bring good news today. You may bring good news another day, but today you must not bring good news, because the king's son is dead."

18:21 Joab said to Cushi, "Go, report to the king everything you have seen." Cushi bowed to Joab and went out.

18:22 Ahimaaz son of Zadok spoke again to Joab: "Let me too run after Cushi." Joab said, "Why are you running, my son? Come here. There is no news that will benefit you by going."

18:23 He said, "What if I do run?" Joab told him, "Run." Ahimaaz ran by the road of Kechar and overtook Cushi.

18:24 David was sitting between the two gates. The watchman went up to the gate roof by the wall, raised his eyes, and saw a man running alone before him.

18:25 The watchman called out and told the king. The king said, "If he is alone, there is good news in his mouth." The man kept coming nearer.

18:26 The watchman saw another man running. He called out by the gate, "There is another man running alone." The king said, "He too brings good news."

18:27 The watchman said, "I recognize the first man's running: it is like Ahimaaz son of Zadok's." The king said, "He is a good man; he comes with good news."

18:28 Ahimaaz called to the king, "Peace!" He bowed to the king with his face to the ground and said, "Blessed is the Lord your God, who has shut out the men who hated their hand against my lord the king."

18:29 The king asked, "Is the young man Absalom well?" Ahimaaz said, "I saw a great crowd when Joab sent the king's servant and your servant, but I did not know what was there."

18:30 The king said, "Turn aside and stand here." He turned aside and stood.

18:31 Then Cushi arrived and said to the king, "Let my lord the king receive good news: the Lord has vindicated you today against the hand of all who rose against you."

18:32 The king asked Cushi, "Is the young man Absalom well?" Cushi said, "May the enemies of my lord the king, and all who rose against him to do harm, be like that young man."

2 Samuel 19

19:1 The king was shaken and went up to the upper chamber over the gate and wept. As he went, he said, "My son Absalom! My son, my son Absalom! If only my death had been granted instead of yours—I instead of you! Absalom, my son, my son!"

19:2 Joab was told, "The king is weeping and mourning over Absalom."

19:3 That day's deliverance turned to mourning for all the people, because the people heard that day, "The king is grieving over his son."

19:4 That day the people slipped into the city as people slip away in shame when they flee in battle.

19:5 The king hid his face and cried aloud, "My son Absalom! Absalom, my son!"

19:6 Joab came to the king in the house and said, "Today you have shamed all your servants, who rescued you today and the lives of your sons, daughters, wives, and concubines,

19:7 by loving those who hate you and hating those who love you. Today you have declared that your officers and servants do not exist. I know today that if Absalom were alive and all of us dead today, that would be right in your eyes.

19:8 Now rise, go out, and speak to your servants' hearts. I swear by the Lord: if you do not go out today, not one man will stay with you tonight. Understand this for yourself: this will be worse for you than all the calamity that has come upon you from your youth until now."

19:9 The king rose and sat in the gate. All the people announced, "The king is sitting in the gate," and all the people came before the king. Israel had fled, each to his tents.

19:10 All the people were disputing throughout all the tribes of Israel: "King David delivered us from all our enemies and rescued us from the hand of the foreigners. Now he has fled from the land and from his kingdom because of Absalom.

19:11 Absalom, whom we anointed over us, has died in battle. Why are you silent now about bringing the king back?" The word of all Israel reached the king.

19:12 King David sent word to Zadok and Abiathar the priests: "Speak to the elders of Judah: 'Why should you be the last to bring the king back to his house? The word of all Israel has reached the king.

19:13 You are my brothers, my bones and my flesh. Why should you be the last to bring the king back to his house?'

19:14 Say to Amasa, 'Are you not my bone and my flesh? Now may God do so to me, and more besides, if you are not commander of the army before me always in Joab's place.'"

19:15 He turned the heart of every man of Judah as one man, and they sent word to the king: "Return, you and all your servants."

19:16 The king returned and came as far as the Jordan. The men of Judah came to Gilgal to meet the king and bring the king across the Jordan.

19:17 Shimei son of Gera, son of the Benjaminite, from Bahurim, hurried down with the men of Judah to meet King David,

19:18 with a thousand men from Benjamin beside him. Ziba, the servant of Saul's house, was there, with his fifteen sons beside him and his twenty servants beside him. They made the Jordan ready before the king,

19:19 and performed the service of bringing the king across. The ferry crossed to rouse the king's household and do what was right in his eyes. Shimei son of Gera fell on his face before the king as he was crossing the Jordan.

19:20 He said to the king, "Let my lord not reckon lawlessness. Do not remember your servant's wrongs on the day my lord the king was leaving Jerusalem, so that the king takes them to heart.

19:21 Your servant knows that I have sinned. See, I have come today ahead of all the house of Joseph, to come down and meet my lord the king."

19:22 Abishai son of Zeruiah answered, "Should Shimei not be put to death for this, since he cursed the Lord's anointed?"

19:23 David said, "What have I to do with you, sons of Zeruiah, that you should become a plotter against me today? No man of Israel will be put to death today, for I do not know whether I reign over Israel today."

19:24 The king said to Shimei, "You will certainly not die." The king swore to him.

19:25 Mephibosheth son of Jonathan son of Saul came down to meet the king. He had not tended his feet, cut his nails, trimmed his mustache, or washed his clothes from the day the king departed until the day he returned in peace.

19:26 When he entered Jerusalem to meet the king, the king said to him, "Why did you not go with me, Mephibosheth?"

19:27 Mephibosheth said to him, "My lord the king, my servant deceived me. Your servant had said to him, 'Saddle the donkey for me, so that I may ride it and go with the king,' for your servant is lame.

19:28 He schemed against your servant before my lord the king. But my lord the king is like an angel of God; do what is good in your eyes.

19:29 All my father's house were nothing but men liable to death before my lord the king, yet you placed your servant among those who eat at your table. What further right have I to cry out again to the king?"

19:30 The king said to him, "Why speak any further about your affairs? I have said: you and Ziba shall divide the land."

19:31 Mephibosheth said to the king, "Let him take it all, now that my lord the king has returned to his house in peace."

19:32 Barzillai the Gileadite came down from Rogelim and crossed the Jordan with the king to escort him over the Jordan.

19:33 Barzillai was a very old man, eighty years of age. He had supported the king during his stay at Mahanaim, for he was a very wealthy man.

19:34 The king said to Barzillai, “Cross over with me, and I will support your old age beside me in Jerusalem.”

19:35 Barzillai said to the king, “How many days remain in the years of my life, that I should go up with the king to Jerusalem?

19:36 I am eighty years old today. Can I discern good from bad? Can your servant still taste what I eat or drink? Can I still hear the voices of male and female singers? Why should your servant be a further burden to my lord the king?

19:37 Your servant will cross the Jordan with the king only a little way. Why should the king repay me with this repayment?

19:38 Please let your servant remain, so that I may die in my own city beside my father’s and mother’s grave. Here is your servant Chimham; he will cross with my lord the king. Do for him what is good in your eyes.”

19:39 The king said, “Let Chimham cross with me, and I will do for him what is good in your eyes. Whatever you choose to ask of me, I will do for you.”

19:40 All the people crossed the Jordan, and the king crossed. The king warmly kissed Barzillai and blessed him, and Barzillai returned to his own place.

19:41 The king crossed on to Gilgal, and Chimham crossed with him. All the people of Judah crossed with the king, and also half the people of Israel.

19:42 All the men of Israel came to the king and said, “Why have our brothers, the men of Judah, stolen you away and brought the king and his household across the Jordan, with all David’s men beside him?”

19:43 All the men of Judah answered the men of Israel, “The king is close to us. Why are you so angry about this? Have we eaten at the king’s expense? Has he given us a gift, or carried a contribution to us?”

19:44 The men of Israel answered the men of Judah, “We have ten shares in the king, and we are firstborn compared with you. We also have a greater claim on David than you. Why have you insulted us? Was our proposal not considered first for bringing the king back to us?” But the words of the men of Judah were harsher than the words of the men of Israel.

2 Samuel 20

20:1 There was one called a lawless son, named Sheba son of Bichri, a Benjaminite. He sounded the horn and said, “We have no share in David, no inheritance in Jesse’s son. Each of you to your tents, Israel!”

20:2 All the men of Israel left off following David and followed Sheba son of Bichri. But the men of Judah held fast to their king from the Jordan to Jerusalem.

20:3 David came to his house in Jerusalem. The king took his ten concubines, whom he had left to guard the house, and placed them in a guarded house. He supported them but did not go in to them. They remained confined until the day of their death, living as widows.

20:4 The king said to Amasa, “Summon the men of Judah for me within three days, and be there yourself.”

20:5 Amasa went to summon Judah, but delayed beyond the time David appointed for him.

20:6 David said to Abishai, “Now Sheba son of Bichri will do us more harm than Absalom. Now take your lord’s servants with you and pursue him, lest he find fortified cities and cast a shadow over our eyes.”

20:7 Joab’s men went out after him, together with the Cherethites, the Pelethites, and all the powerful men. They left Jerusalem to pursue Sheba son of Bichri.

20:8 They were beside the great stone at Gibeon when Amasa came before them. Joab was wearing his belted cloak, with a sword strapped at his waist in its sheath. The sword came out and fell.

20:9 Joab said to Amasa, “Are you in good health, brother?” Joab’s right hand took hold of Amasa’s beard to kiss him warmly.

20:10 Amasa did not guard against the sword in Joab’s hand. Joab struck him with it in the loin, and his entrails spilled to the ground. He did not strike him a second time, and Amasa died. Joab and his brother Abishai pursued Sheba son of Bichri.

20:11 One of Joab’s young men stood over Amasa and said, “Whoever favors Joab, whoever is for David—follow Joab!”

20:12 Amasa lay covered in blood in the middle of the path. The man saw that all the people were stopping, so he moved Amasa off the path into a field and threw a garment over him, because he saw everyone who came upon him stop.

20:13 When he was clear of the path, every man of Israel passed on after Joab to pursue Sheba son of Bichri.

20:14 He passed through all the tribes of Israel to Abel and Beth-maacah, and all those in Charri gathered and came after him.

20:15 They came and besieged him at Abel and Beth-maacah. They heaped up a siege mound against the city, and it stood at the outer defence. All the people with Joab were planning to bring down the wall.

20:16 A wise woman called from the wall, “Listen, listen! Please tell Joab to come near here, and I will speak to him.”

20:17 He came near her. The woman asked, “Are you Joab?” He said, “I am.” She said to him, “Hear your handmaid’s words.” Joab said, “I am listening.”

20:18 She said, “Formerly they spoke a saying: ‘Inquiry was made at Abel and Dan whether the things Israel’s faithful had established had come to an end. They will certainly inquire at Abel, and thus whether they had come to an end.’

20:19 I am the peaceable part of Israel’s strongholds. You seek to kill a city and a mother city in Israel. Why drown the Lord’s inheritance?”

20:20 Joab answered, “Far be it from me, far be it from me to drown or destroy!

20:21 That is not the matter. A man from the hill country of Ephraim, named Sheba son of Bichri, has raised his hand against King David. Give him alone to me, and I will withdraw from the city.” The woman said to Joab, “Behold, his head will be thrown to you through the wall.”

20:22 The woman went to all the people and spoke to the whole city in her wisdom. She cut off Sheba son of Bichri’s head and threw it to Joab. He sounded the horn, and they dispersed from the city, each to his tents. Joab returned to the king in Jerusalem.

20:23 Joab was over all Israel’s army, and Benaiah son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and Pelethites,

20:24 Adoniram was over tribute, and Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud was recorder,

20:25 Sousa was scribe, and Zadok and Abiathar were priests.

20:26 Ira the Jairite was also priest to David.

2 Samuel 21

21:1 There was a famine in David’s days for three years, year after year. David sought the Lord’s face. The Lord said, “Injustice rests upon Saul and his house because of his bloody killing, in that he put the Gibeonites to death.”

21:2 King David called the Gibeonites and spoke to them. The Gibeonites were not Israelites but a remnant of the Amorites. The Israelites had sworn an oath to them, yet Saul sought to strike them down in his zeal for Israel and Judah.

21:3 David said to the Gibeonites, “What shall I do for you? With what shall I make atonement, so that you bless the Lord’s inheritance?”

21:4 The Gibeonites said to him, “We have no claim for silver or gold against Saul or his house, nor have we anyone in Israel to put to death.” He said, “What do you say I should do for you?”

21:5 They said to the king, “The man brought destruction upon us and pursued us, scheming to destroy us. Let us wipe him out, so that he does not remain anywhere within Israel’s borders.

21:6 Let him give us seven men from his descendants. We will expose them to the sun before the Lord at Gibeon of Saul, chosen ones of the Lord.” The king said, “I will give them.”

21:7 The king spared Mephibosheth son of Jonathan son of Saul because of the oath by the Lord between them, between David and Jonathan son of Saul.

21:8 The king took Rizpah daughter of Aiah’s two sons whom she bore to Saul, Ermoni and Mephibosheth, and Michal daughter of Saul’s five sons whom she bore to Esriel son of Barzillai the Meholathite.

21:9 He gave them into the Gibeonites’ hand. They exposed them to the sun on the hill before the Lord, and all seven fell together. They were put to death in the first days of harvest, at the beginning of the barley harvest.

21:10 Rizpah daughter of Aiah took sackcloth and fixed it for herself against the rock at the beginning of the barley harvest, until water dripped on them from heaven. She did not let the birds of heaven settle on them by day or the beasts of the field by night.

21:11 David was told what Rizpah daughter of Aiah, Saul’s concubine, had done. They grew weak, and Dan son of Ioa, one of the descendants of the giants, overtook them.

21:12 David went and took Saul’s bones and the bones of his son Jonathan from the men of Jabesh-gilead. They had stolen them from the square of Beth-shan, where the foreigners had set them up on the day the foreigners struck Saul down at Gilboa.

21:13 He brought Saul’s bones and the bones of his son Jonathan up from there. He gathered the bones of those who had been exposed to the sun.

21:14 They buried Saul’s bones, the bones of his son Jonathan, and the bones of those exposed to the sun in Benjamin’s land, on the slope, in the tomb of Saul’s father Kish. They did everything the king commanded. Afterward God listened to the land.

21:15 War arose again between the foreigners and Israel. David went down with his servants, and they fought the foreigners. David grew weak.

21:16 Jesbi, one of Rapha's descendants, had a spear weighing three hundred shekels of bronze and was belted with a club. He intended to strike David down.

21:17 Abishai son of Zeruiah came to his aid, struck the foreigner, and killed him. Then David's men swore, "You must no longer go out with us to battle, and you must certainly not extinguish Israel's lamp."

21:18 Afterward war arose again at Gath with the foreigners. Then Sebocha the Astatothite struck down Seph, one of Rapha's descendants.

21:19 War arose at Gob with the foreigners. Elhanan son of Ariorgim the Bethlehemite struck down Goliath the Gittite, whose spear-shaft was like a weaver's beam.

21:20 War arose again at Gath. There was a man named Madon with six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot, twenty-four in number. He too was born to Rapha.

21:21 He taunted Israel, and Jonathan son of Shimei, David's brother, struck him down.

21:22 These four were born as descendants of the giants at Gath, a house belonging to Rapha, and they fell by David's hand and by his servants' hand.

2 Samuel 22

22:1 David spoke the words of this song to the Lord on the day the Lord rescued him from the hand of all his enemies and from Saul's hand,

22:2 and said: "Lord, my rock, my fortress, the One who delivers me for my sake!

22:3 My God will be my Guard; in Him I will trust. My Defender, the horn of my salvation, my Helper, my refuge of salvation—Thou wilt save me from injustice.

22:4 I will call upon the Lord, who is worthy of praise, and I will be saved from my enemies.

22:5 The crushings of death surrounded me; torrents of lawlessness stunned me.

22:6 The birth pangs of death encircled me; the harsh assaults of death confronted me.

22:7 In my distress I will call upon the Lord; I will cry to my God. From His temple He will hear my voice; my cry will be in His ears.

22:8 The earth was shaken and quaked; the foundations of heaven were shaken together and torn apart because the Lord was angry with them.

22:9 Smoke rose in His anger; fire from His mouth will devour. Coals were kindled from Him.

22:10 He bent the heavens and came down, with thick darkness beneath His feet.

22:11 He sat upon cherubim and flew; He appeared upon the wind's wings.

22:12 He made darkness His hiding place around Him; His tent was darkness of waters. He made it thick with clouds of air.

22:13 From the brightness before Him, coals of fire were kindled.

22:14 The Lord thundered from heaven; the Most High gave His voice, 22:15 and sent arrows and scattered them, lightning and threw them into confusion.

22:16 The outlets of the sea appeared; the foundations of the inhabited world were uncovered at the Lord's rebuke, at the blast of the breath of His anger.

22:17 He reached from on high and took me; He drew me out of many waters.

22:18 He rescued me from my powerful enemies, from those who hated me, for they had grown stronger than I.

22:19 They confronted me on the day of my distress, but the Lord became my support,

22:20 and brought me into a spacious place; He rescued me because He delighted in me.

22:21 The Lord repaid me according to my righteousness; according to the cleanness of my hands He repaid me,

22:22 for I kept the Lord's ways and did not act impiously by departing from my God,

22:23 for all His judgments were before me, and I did not turn away from His statutes.

22:24 I will be blameless toward Him and guard myself beforehand against my lawlessness.

22:25 The Lord will repay me according to my righteousness and according to the cleanness of my hands before His eyes.

22:26 With the holy Thou wilt show Thyself holy; with the complete man Thou wilt show Thyself complete,

22:27 and with the chosen Thou wilt be chosen; with the crooked Thou wilt show Thyself crooked.

22:28 Thou wilt save the poor people, and Thou wilt bring low the eyes of the haughty.

22:29 Thou art my lamp, Lord; the Lord will light my darkness for me.

22:30 By Thee I will run lightly armed; by my God I will pass over a wall.

22:31 The Mighty One—His way is blameless. The Lord's word is strong, refined by fire; He is a Defender to all who trust in Him.

22:32 Who is mighty apart from the Lord? Who will be a Creator apart from our God?

22:33 The Mighty One strengthens me with power; He shook my way free, blameless.

22:34 He makes my feet like deer's feet and sets me upon the heights.

22:35 He trains my hands for war and broke a bronze bow with my arm.

22:36 Thou gavest me the defence of my salvation; Thy heeding made me great,

22:37 making room for my steps beneath me, and my legs did not shake.

22:38 I will pursue my enemies and wipe them out; I will not turn back until I finish them.

22:39 I will crush them, and they will not rise; they will fall beneath my feet.

22:40 Thou wilt strengthen me with power for war; Thou wilt bend my attackers beneath me.

22:41 Thou gavest me my enemies' backs, those who hated me, and Thou didst put them to death.

22:42 They will cry out, but there is no helper; they will cry to the Lord, but He did not listen to them.

22:43 I ground them like the dust of the earth; like the mud of the streets I crushed them fine.

22:44 Thou wilt rescue me from the battle of peoples; Thou wilt preserve me as head of nations. A people I did not know served me.

22:45 Foreigners lied to me; as soon as their ears heard, they obeyed me.

22:46 Foreigners will be cast away and stumble out of their enclosures.

22:47 The Lord lives! Blessed be my Guard! My God, the Guard of my salvation, will be exalted!

22:48 The mighty Lord gives me vengeance and disciplines peoples beneath me,

22:49 and brings me out from my enemies. Thou wilt lift me above my attackers; Thou wilt rescue me from the man of wrongs.

22:50 Therefore I will acknowledge Thee among the nations, Lord, and sing praise to Thy name.

22:51 He grants great deliverances to His king, showing mercy to His anointed, to David and his descendants for ever."

2 Samuel 23

23:1 These are David's last words: "Faithful is David son of Jesse, and faithful the man whom the Lord raised up as the anointed of the God of Jacob; beautiful are Israel's psalms.

23:2 The Spirit of the Lord spoke in me; His word was upon my tongue.

23:3 The God of Israel says; the Guard of Israel spoke to me: 'Speak a parable: How will you all strengthen the fear of God in a human being?

23:4 May the sun rise in God's morning light; the morning did not pass away from brightness, and like grass from rain out of the earth.'

23:5 For is not my house so with the Mighty One? He established an everlasting covenant with me, ready at every time, guarded; for all my salvation and every desire—surely the lawless one will not sprout.

23:6 All of them are like a thorn cast out, for they will not be taken in the hand,

23:7 and a man will not toil among them—and full of iron and a spear's shaft; they will be utterly burned with fire in their shame."

23:8 These are the names of David's mighty men: Jebosthe the Canaanite is chief of the third, Adinon the Asonite. He drew his sword against eight hundred who were slain at one time.

23:9 After him was Eleazar, son of his paternal uncle, son of a Sousite, among the three mighty men. He was with David in Serran, and when he defied the foreigners, they gathered there for battle. The men of Israel went up,

23:10 but he stood and struck the foreigners until his hand grew weary and clung to the sword. The Lord brought about a great deliverance that day; the people sat behind him, except to strip the slain.

23:11 After him was Shammah son of Asa the Arouchite. The foreigners gathered at Theria, where there was a plot of ground full of lentils, and the people fled before the foreigners.

23:12 He stood firm in the middle of the plot, rescued it, and struck the foreigners. The Lord brought about a great deliverance.

23:13 Three of the thirty went down and came to Kason, to David at the cave of Adullam, while a company of foreigners camped in the Valley of Rephaim.

23:14 David was then in the enclosed place, and the foreigners' outpost was then in Bethlehem.

23:15 David longed and said, "Who will give me water to drink from the cistern in Bethlehem by the gate?" The foreigners' company was then in Bethlehem.

23:16 The three mighty men broke through the foreigners' camp, drew water from the cistern in Bethlehem by the gate, and took it and came to David. He refused to drink it and poured it out to the Lord,

23:17 and said, “Far be it from me, Lord, to do this! Shall I drink the blood of the men who went at the risk of their lives?” He refused to drink it. These things the three mighty men did.

23:18 Abishai, Joab’s brother, son of Zeruiah, was chief among the three. He raised his spear against three hundred who were slain, and he had a name among the three.

23:19 He was renowned among those three and became their commander, but he did not attain to the Three.

23:20 Benaiah son of Jehoiada was a man of many deeds, from Kabzeel. He struck the two sons of Ariel of Moab; he also went down and struck the lion inside the cistern on a snowy day.

23:21 He struck the Egyptian, a conspicuous man. In the Egyptian’s hand was a spear like the timber of a gangway. Benaiah went down against him with a staff, snatched the spear from the Egyptian’s hand, and killed him with his own spear.

23:22 These things Benaiah son of Jehoiada did, and he had a name among the three mighty men.

23:23 He was renowned among the three, but he did not attain to the Three. David appointed him to receive his instructions.

23:24 These are the names of King David’s mighty men: Asahel, Joab’s brother—he was among the thirty; Elhanan son of Dodi, his paternal uncle, in Bethlehem;

23:25 Shammah the Aroudite; Elika the Arodite;

23:26 Elles the Phelothite; Ira son of Ikkesh the Tekoite;

23:27 Abiezer the Anathothite, from the sons of the Asothite;

23:28 Zalmon the Aoite; Moore the Netophathite;

23:29 Ela son of Baanah the Netophathite; Ittai son of Riba, from Gabaeth, a son of Benjamin;

23:30 Benaiah the Pirathonite; Ouri from Nachaligaia;

23:31 Abiel son of the Arabothite; Azmaveth the Barsamite;

23:32 Eliasou the Salabonite; the sons of Jashen; Jonathan;

23:33 Shammah the Arodite; Achian son of Sarad the Araourite;

23:34 Eliphelet son of the Asbite, son of the Maacathite; Eliab son of Ahithophel the Gilonite;

23:35 Asarai the Carmelite; Paarai the Erchite;

23:36 Igal son of Nathan, from the force, son of Gaddi;

23:37 Elie the Ammonite; Gelorai the Beerothite, bearing the equipment of Joab son of Zeruiah;

23:38 Ira the Ithrite; Gareb the Ithrite;

23:39 Uriah the Hittite—thirty-seven in all.

2 Samuel 24

24:1 The Lord’s anger again blazed against Israel, and He incited David against them, saying, “Go, count Israel and Judah.”

24:2 The king said to Joab, the commander of the force who was with him, “Please go through all Israel’s tribes, from Dan to Beersheba, and muster the people, so that I may know the people’s number.”

24:3 Joab said to the king, “May the Lord your God add to the people as many as they are, and as many again, a hundredfold, while my lord the king’s eyes see it! But why does my lord the king desire this thing?”

24:4 The king’s word prevailed over Joab and the army officers. Joab and the commanders of the force went out from the king’s presence to muster the people Israel.

24:5 They crossed the Jordan and camped at Aroer, to the right of the city in the middle of the ravine of Gad and Eliezer,

24:6 and came to Gilead and the land of Thabason, which is Adasai; they arrived at Danidan and Oudan and went around to Sidon,

24:7 and came to Mapsar of Tyre and all the Hivite and Canaanite cities, and came southward through Judah to Beersheba.

24:8 They traveled throughout the whole land and arrived at Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days.

24:9 Joab gave the king the number of the people’s muster: Israel had eight hundred thousand men of strength who drew the sword, and Judah had five hundred thousand fighting men.

24:10 After David had counted the people, his heart struck him. David said to the Lord, “I have sinned greatly in what I have done. Now, Lord, please take away Thy servant’s lawlessness, for I have acted very foolishly.”

24:11 David rose in the morning. The Lord’s word came to Gad the prophet, David’s seer, saying,

24:12 “Go and speak to David, saying, ‘Thus says the Lord: Three things—I Myself lay them upon you. Choose one of them for yourself, and I will do it to you.’”

24:13 Gad entered David’s presence and told him, saying, “Choose for yourself what shall happen: whether three years of famine come upon you in your land, or you flee three months before your enemies and they pursue you, or there are three days of death in your land. Now therefore consider and see what answer I should give the One who sent me.”

24:14 David said to Gad, “I am greatly hemmed in on every side. I will fall into the Lord’s hand, for His compassions are very many; I certainly will not fall into human hands.” David chose death for himself.

24:15 It was the time of the wheat harvest. The Lord sent death upon Israel from morning until the time of the morning meal; the devastation began among the people, and seventy thousand men of the people died from Dan to Beersheba.

24:16 God’s angel stretched his hand toward Jerusalem to destroy it, but the Lord relented concerning the calamity and said to the angel destroying the people, “Enough! Now withdraw your hand.” The Lord’s angel was beside the threshing floor of Orna the Jebusite.

24:17 When David saw the angel striking the people, he spoke to the Lord and said, “Behold, I myself have done wrong; I, the shepherd, have done evil. But these sheep—what have they done? Please let Thy hand be against me and my father’s house.”

24:18 Gad came to David that day and said to him, “Go up and establish an altar to the Lord on the threshing floor of Orna the Jebusite.”

24:19 David went up according to Gad’s word, as the Lord had commanded him.

24:20 Orna bent forward and saw the king and his servants passing toward him. Orna went out and bowed to the king with his face to the ground.

24:21 Orna said, “Why has my lord the king come to his servant?” David said, “To acquire the threshing floor from you, to build an altar to the Lord, so that the devastation may be restrained from the people.”

24:22 Orna said to David, “Let my lord the king take and offer to the Lord what is good in his eyes. Look: the oxen for the whole burnt offering, and the wheels and oxen’s equipment for wood.”

24:23 Orna gave everything to the king. Orna said to the king, “May the Lord your God bless you.”

24:24 The king said to Orna, “No! I will certainly acquire it from you in exchange; I will not offer the Lord my God a whole burnt offering that costs me nothing.” David acquired the threshing floor and the oxen for fifty shekels of silver.

24:25 David built an altar to the Lord there and offered whole burnt offerings and peace offerings. Solomon enlarged the altar afterward, because it had been small at first. The Lord listened to the land, and the devastation was restrained from Israel.

1 Kings

1 Kings 1

1:1 King David was old and advanced in days; and they wrapped him in garments, but he did not grow warm.

1:2 His attendants said, “Let them seek a young virgin for our lord the king. She shall attend the king and keep him warm; she shall lie with him, and our lord the king will become warm.”

1:3 And they sought a fair young woman throughout all the territory of Israel, and found Abishag the Shunammite, and brought her to the king.

1:4 The young woman was very fair; she kept the king warm and served him, but the king did not know her.

1:5 Adonijah son of Haggith exalted himself, saying, “I will reign!” He prepared chariots and horsemen for himself, and fifty men to run ahead of him.

1:6 His father had never restrained him by saying, “Why have you done this?” He too was very handsome in appearance, and his mother bore him after Absalom.

1:7 He conferred with Joab son of Zeruiah and Abiathar the priest, and they helped by following Adonijah.

1:8 But Zadok the priest, Benaiah son of Jehoiada, Nathan the prophet, Shimei, Rei, and David’s mighty men were not following Adonijah.

1:9 Adonijah sacrificed sheep, calves, and lambs beside the stone of Zoheleth, near the spring of Rogel. He invited all his brothers and all the prominent men of Judah, the king’s attendants.

1:10 But he did not invite Nathan the prophet, Benaiah, the mighty men, or his brother Solomon.

1:11 Nathan said to Bathsheba, Solomon’s mother, “Have you not heard that Adonijah son of Haggith has become king, while our lord David does not know it?

1:12 Now come, let me give you counsel, and rescue your life and the life of your son Solomon.

1:13 Come, enter King David’s presence and say to him, ‘Did you not, my lord the king, swear to your servant, saying, “Your son Solomon shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne”? Why, then, has Adonijah become king?’

1:14 Behold, while you are still speaking there with the king, I will come in after you and complete your words.”

1:15 Bathsheba entered the king’s chamber. The king was very old, and Abishag the Shunammite was ministering to the king.

1:16 Bathsheba bowed and prostrated herself before the king. The king said, “What is your concern?”

1:17 She said, “My lord the king, you swore by the Lord your God to your servant, saying, ‘Your son Solomon shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne.’

1:18 Now behold, Adonijah has become king, and you, my lord the king, do not know it.

1:19 He has sacrificed calves, lambs, and sheep in abundance. He has invited all the king’s sons, Abiathar the priest, and Joab the commander of the force, but he has not invited your servant Solomon.

1:20 As for you, my lord the king, the eyes of all Israel are directed toward you, for you to tell them who will sit on the throne of my lord the king after him.

1:21 When my lord the king lies down with his fathers, my son Solomon and I will be sinners.”

1:22 While she was still speaking with the king, Nathan the prophet arrived.

1:23 The king was told, “Behold, Nathan the prophet!” He came before the king and prostrated himself before the king, face to the ground.

1:24 Nathan said, “My lord the king, you said, ‘Adonijah shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne.’

1:25 For he went down this day and sacrificed calves, lambs, and sheep in abundance. He invited all the king’s sons, the commanders of the force, and Abiathar the priest. Behold, they are eating and drinking before him and have said, ‘Long live King Adonijah!’

1:26 But me—me, your servant—and Zadok the priest, Benaiah son of Jehoiada, and your servant Solomon, he did not invite.

1:27 Has this matter come about through my lord the king without your informing your servant who will sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?”

1:28 David answered, “Call Bathsheba to me.” She came before the king and stood before him.

1:29 The king swore, saying, “As the Lord lives, who redeemed my life from every affliction,

1:30 just as I swore to you by the Lord, the God of Israel, saying, ‘Your son Solomon shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne in my place,’ so I will indeed do this very day.”

1:31 Bathsheba bowed with her face to the ground and prostrated herself before the king. She said, “May my lord King David live for ever!”

1:32 King David said, “Call Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah son of Jehoiada to me.” They came before the king.

1:33 The king said to them, “Take your lord’s servants with you. Mount my son Solomon on my own mule, and bring him down to Gihon.

1:34 There let Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet anoint him king over Israel. Sound the horn and say, ‘Long live King Solomon!’

1:35 He shall sit on my throne and reign in my place; I have commanded that he be leader over Israel and Judah.”

1:36 Benaiah son of Jehoiada answered the king, “So be it! May the Lord, the God of my lord the king, confirm it so.

1:37 As the Lord has been with my lord the king, so may He be with Solomon, and make his throne greater than the throne of my lord King David.”

1:38 Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah son of Jehoiada, the Cherethites, and the Pelethites went down. They seated Solomon on King David’s mule and led him away to Gihon.

1:39 Zadok the priest took the horn of oil from the tent and anointed Solomon. He sounded the horn, and all the people said, “Long live King Solomon!”

1:40 All the people went up after him. They danced in choruses and rejoiced with great joy, and the earth burst at their sound.

1:41 Adonijah and all his guests heard it, and they finished eating. Joab heard the sound of the horn and said, “What is this sound of the echoing city?”

1:42 While he was still speaking, Jonathan son of Abiathar the priest arrived. Adonijah said, “Come in, for you are a man of ability; bring good news!”

1:43 Jonathan answered, “Indeed, our lord King David has made Solomon king!

1:44 The king sent with him Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah son of Jehoiada, the Cherethites, and the Pelethites. They seated him on the king’s mule.

1:45 Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet anointed him king at Gihon. They came up from there rejoicing, and the city echoed. That is the sound you heard.

1:46 Solomon has sat on the royal throne.

1:47 The king’s servants came to bless our lord King David, saying, ‘May God make the name of your son Solomon better than your name and make his throne greater than your throne.’ The king prostrated himself on his bed.

1:48 The king also said this: ‘Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, who this day has given one from my offspring to sit on my throne while my eyes see it!’”

1:49 All Adonijah’s guests were astonished and rose. Each went his own way.

1:50 Adonijah was afraid of Solomon. He rose, went away, and took hold of the horns of the altar.

1:51 Solomon was told, “Behold, Adonijah is afraid of King Solomon. He is holding fast to the altar’s horns, saying, ‘Let King Solomon swear to me this day whether he will not put his servant to death with the sword.’”

1:52 Solomon said, “If he becomes a man of ability, not one of his hairs shall fall to the ground! But if wickedness is found in him, he shall be put to death.”

1:53 King Solomon sent and brought him down from the altar. He came and prostrated himself before King Solomon. Solomon said to him, “Come now, go to your house.”

1 Kings 2

2:1 When David’s days drew near for him to die, he commanded his son Solomon, saying,

2:2 “I myself am going the way of all the earth. Be strong, and be a man,

2:3 and keep the charge of the Lord your God: walk in His ways, keeping His commandments, statutes, and judgments written in Moses’ law, so that you may understand what you will do in everything that I command you,

2:4 so that the Lord may establish His word which He spoke, saying, ‘If your sons guard their way, walking before Me in truth with all their heart and all their soul,’ saying, ‘A man shall not be cut off for you from Israel’s throne.’

2:5 You also know what Joab son of Zeruiah did to me, what he did to the two commanders of Israel’s forces, Abner son of Ner and Amasa son of Jether. He killed them, setting the blood of war in peace, and put innocent blood on the belt around his waist and the sandal on his foot.

2:6 Act according to your wisdom, and do not bring his gray hair down to Hades in peace.

2:7 Show mercy to the sons of Barzillai the Gileadite, and let them be among those who eat at your table, for they came near to me in this way when I fled from your brother Absalom.

2:8 Behold, with you is Shimei son of Gera, a son of the Benjaminite from Bahurim. He cursed me with a painful curse on the day I went to Camps. He came down to meet me at the Jordan, and I swore to him by the Lord, ‘I will not put you to death with the sword.’

2:9 You must certainly not hold him guiltless, for you are a wise man. You will know what to do to him, and you shall bring his gray hair down to Hades with blood.”

2:10 David lay down with his fathers and was buried in the City of David.

2:11 David's reign over Israel lasted forty years. He reigned seven years in Hebron and thirty-three years in Jerusalem.

2:12 Solomon sat on the throne of his father David when he was twelve years old, and his kingdom was firmly prepared.

2:13 Adonijah son of Haggith came to Bathsheba, Solomon's mother, and prostrated himself before her. She said, "Is your coming peaceful?" He said, "Peaceful.

2:14 I have a word for you." She said to him, "Speak."

2:15 He said to her, "You know that the kingdom was mine, and all Israel set its face toward me to reign. But the kingdom turned and became my brother's, for it became his from the Lord.

2:16 Now I have one request to ask of you; do not turn away your face." Bathsheba said to him, "Speak."

2:17 He said to her, "Please speak to King Solomon—for he will not turn his face away from you—and he will give me Abishag the Shunammite as a wife."

2:18 Bathsheba said, "Very well. I will speak to the king about you."

2:19 Bathsheba came to King Solomon to speak to him about Adonijah. The king rose to meet her and kissed her, then sat on his throne. A throne was placed for the king's mother, and she sat at his right.

2:20 She said to him, "I have one small request to ask of you; do not turn away your face." The king said to her, "Ask, my mother, for I will not turn you away."

2:21 She said, "Let Abishag the Shunammite be given to your brother Adonijah as a wife."

2:22 King Solomon answered his mother, "Why do you ask for Abishag for Adonijah? Ask for the kingdom for him too, for he is my elder brother! Abiathar the priest is his, and Joab son of Zeruiah, the commander-in-chief, is his companion!"

2:23 King Solomon swore by the Lord, "May God do thus to me and add more, for Adonijah has spoken this word against his own life!

2:24 Now, as the Lord lives, who prepared me and placed me on the throne of my father David—He made a house for me, as the Lord spoke—Adonijah shall be put to death this day."

2:25 King Solomon sent through Benaiah son of Jehoiada and had Adonijah killed. Adonijah died that day.

2:26 The king said to Abiathar the priest, "Go quickly to Anathoth, to your field. You are a man deserving death this day, but I will not put you to death, because you did carry the ark of the Lord's covenant before my father and did suffer all the hardships my father suffered."

2:27 Solomon expelled Abiathar from being priest to the Lord, fulfilling the Lord's word which He had spoken concerning Eli's house at Shiloh.

2:28 The report reached Joab son of Zeruiah, for Joab had followed Adonijah but had not followed Solomon. Joab fled to the Lord's dwelling and held fast to the horns of the altar.

2:29 Solomon was told, "Joab has fled to the Lord's tent and is holding fast to the altar's horns." Solomon sent to Joab, asking, "What has happened to you, that you have fled to the altar?" Joab said, "I was afraid of you, and I fled to the Lord." King Solomon sent Benaiah son of Jehoiada, saying, "Go, kill him and bury him."

2:30 Benaiah son of Jehoiada came to Joab in the Lord's tent and said to him, "Thus says the king: Come out." Joab said, "I am not coming out, for I will die here." Benaiah son of Jehoiada returned and said to the king, "This is what Joab has said, and this is how he has answered me."

2:31 The king said to him, "Go and do to him as he has said. Kill him and bury him, and this day remove from me and my father's house the blood Joab shed without cause.

2:32 The Lord returned the blood of his injustice upon his own head, because he struck two men more righteous and better than himself and killed them with the sword, while my father David did not know of their blood: Abner son of Ner, commander-in-chief of Israel, and Amasa son of Jether, commander-in-chief of Judah.

2:33 Their blood was returned upon his head and the head of his offspring for ever. But for David, his offspring, his house, and his throne may there be peace from the Lord for ever."

2:34 Benaiah son of Jehoiada came upon Joab, put him to death, and buried him at his house in the wilderness.

2:35 The king put Benaiah son of Jehoiada in the military command in Joab's place. The kingdom was being established in Jerusalem, and the king appointed Zadok the priest as first priest in Abiathar's place.

2:35a The Lord gave Solomon discernment, exceedingly great wisdom, and breadth of heart like the sand beside the sea.

2:35b Solomon's discernment greatly surpassed the discernment of all the sons of old and all the discerning men of Egypt.

2:35c He took Pharaoh's daughter and brought her into the City of David until he had first finished his own house, the Lord's house, and Jerusalem's surrounding wall. He built and completed them in seven years.

2:35d Solomon had seventy thousand burden-bearers and eighty thousand stonecutters in the hill country.

2:35e Solomon made the sea, the supports, the great washbasins, the pillars, the courtyard's fountain, and the bronze sea.

2:35f He built the citadel and its battlements and cut through the City of David. Thus Pharaoh's daughter would go up from the City of David to her house, which he built for her. Then he built the citadel.

2:35g Solomon offered three whole burnt offerings and peace offerings in the year on the altar he built for the Lord, and burned incense before the Lord. He completed the house.

2:35h These were the officials appointed over Solomon's works: three thousand six hundred overseers of the people doing the works.

2:35i He built Assour, Megiddo, Gezer, Upper Beth-horon, and Baalath.

2:35k Only after he had built the Lord's house and Jerusalem's surrounding wall—after these things—did he build these cities.

2:35l While David was still alive, he commanded Solomon: "Behold, with you is Shimei son of Gera, a descendant of the Benjaminite, from Hebron.

2:35m He cursed me with a painful curse on the day I was going to Camps.

2:35n He was coming down to meet me at the Jordan, and I swore to him by the Lord, 'He shall not be put to death with the sword.'

2:35o Now do not hold him guiltless, for you are a discerning man. You will know what to do to him, and you shall bring his gray hair down to Hades with blood."

2:36 The king summoned Shimei and said to him, "Build yourself a house in Jerusalem and stay there. You shall not go out from there anywhere.

2:37 On the day you go out and cross the Wadi Kidron, know for certain that you shall surely die. Your blood shall be upon your own head." The king made him swear that day.

2:38 Shimei said to the king, "The word you have spoken is good, my lord the king. Your servant will do so." Shimei stayed in Jerusalem three years.

2:39 After three years, two of Shimei's slaves fled to Achish son of Maacah, king of Gath. Shimei was told, "Behold, your slaves are in Gath."

2:40 Shimei rose, saddled his donkey, and went to Achish at Gath to seek out his slaves. Shimei went and brought his slaves back from Gath.

2:41 Solomon was told, "Shimei went from Jerusalem to Gath and brought back his slaves."

2:42 The king sent for Shimei and said to him, "Did I not make you swear by the Lord and solemnly warn you, 'On the day you leave Jerusalem and go to the right or left, know for certain that you shall surely die'?

2:43 Why have you not kept the Lord's oath and the command I laid upon you?"

2:44 The king said to Shimei, "You know all your wickedness which your heart knew, the things you did to my father David. The Lord has repaid your wickedness upon your head.

2:45 But King Solomon is blessed, and David's throne shall be prepared before the Lord for ever."

2:46 King Solomon commanded Benaiah son of Jehoiada. He went out and killed Shimei, and Shimei died.

2:46a King Solomon was exceedingly discerning and wise. Judah and Israel were exceedingly numerous, like the sand beside the sea in multitude, eating, drinking, and rejoicing.

2:46b Solomon ruled among all the kingdoms. They brought gifts and served Solomon all the days of his life.

2:46c Solomon began to open up the resources of Lebanon,

2:46d and he built Thermai in the wilderness.

2:46e This was Solomon's midday meal: thirty kors of fine flour, sixty kors of pounded meal, ten choice calves, twenty pasture-fed cattle, and one hundred sheep, besides deer, gazelles, and choice pasture-fed birds.

2:46f For he ruled throughout the region beyond the River, from Raphi to Gaza, among all the kings beyond the River.

2:46g He had peace on every side around him. Judah and Israel lived securely, each beneath his vine and beneath his fig tree, eating and drinking, from Dan to Beersheba, all Solomon's days.

2:46h These were Solomon’s officials: Azariah son of Zadok the priest; Ornia son of Nathan, chief of the supervisors; Edram over his house; Souba the scribe; Basa son of Achithalam, the recorder; Abi son of Joab, commander-in-chief; Achire son of Edrai over the burdens; Benaiah son of Jehoiada over the court administration and the brickworks; and Zachour son of Nathan, the counselor.

2:46i Solomon had forty thousand broodmares for chariots and twelve thousand horsemen.

2:46k He ruled among all the kings from the River to the land of foreigners and to Egypt’s borders.

2:46l Solomon son of David reigned over Israel and Judah in Jerusalem.

1 Kings 3

3:2 The people, however, were burning incense at the high places, because no house had yet been built for the Lord’s name.

3:3 Solomon loved the Lord, walking in the ordinances of his father David; however, he sacrificed and burned incense at the high places.

3:4 He rose and went to Gibeon to sacrifice there, for it was the highest place and a great one. Solomon offered a thousand whole burnt offerings on the altar at Gibeon.

3:5 The Lord appeared to Solomon in sleep at night. The Lord said to Solomon, “Ask a request for yourself.”

3:6 Solomon said, “Thou showedst great mercy to Thy servant David my father, as he walked before Thee in truth, righteousness, and uprightness of heart with Thee. Thou keptest this great mercy for him, placing his son on his throne, as it is this day.

3:7 Now, Lord my God, Thou hast placed Thy servant in place of my father David. I am a little child and do not know my going out or my coming in.

3:8 Thy servant is among Thy people whom Thou didst choose, a numerous people who cannot be numbered.

3:9 Give Thy servant a heart to hear and to judge Thy people in righteousness, discerning between good and evil; for who can judge this weighty people of Thine?”

3:10 It pleased the Lord that Solomon had asked this.

3:11 The Lord said to him, “Because you have asked this of Me and have not asked for many days for yourself, or wealth, or the lives of your enemies, but have asked for understanding to hear judgment,

3:12 behold, I have done according to your word. Behold, I have given you a discerning and wise heart, so that no one like you has been before you, and no one like you shall arise after you.

3:13 I have also given you what you did not ask: both wealth and glory, so that no man like you has been among the kings.

3:14 If you walk in My way, keeping My commandments and ordinances as your father David walked, I will multiply your days.”

3:15 Solomon awoke: it was a dream. He rose and came to Jerusalem, and stood before the altar that was before the ark of the Lord’s covenant in Zion. He offered whole burnt offerings and peace offerings, and made a great feast for himself and all his attendants.

3:16 Then two women who were prostitutes appeared before the king and stood before him.

3:17 One woman said, “Please, my lord, this woman and I live in one house, and we gave birth in the house.

3:18 On the third day after I gave birth, this woman also gave birth. We were together, with no one in the house except the two of us.

3:19 This woman’s son died during the night when she lay on him.

3:20 She rose in the middle of the night and took my son from my arms. She laid him in her bosom, and laid her dead son in my bosom.

3:21 I rose in the morning to nurse my son, and that child was dead. I looked carefully at him in the morning, and he was not my son whom I had borne.”

3:22 The other woman said, “No! My son is the living one, and your son is the dead one.” Thus they spoke before the king.

3:23 The king said to them, “You say, ‘This is my son, the living one, and her son is the dead one.’ And you say, ‘No! My son is the living one, and your son is the dead one.’”

3:24 The king said, “Bring me a sword.” They brought the sword before the king.

3:25 The king said, “Divide the living nursing child in two. Give half of it to this woman and half of it to this woman.”

3:26 The woman whose son was alive answered the king, for her womb was stirred for her son. She said, “Please, my lord, give her the child! You must not put him to death!” But the other said, “He shall belong to neither me nor her. Divide him.”

3:27 The king answered, “Give the child to the woman who said, ‘Give it to her,’ and you must not put him to death. She is his mother.”

3:28 All Israel heard this judgment the king had given, and they feared the king, for they saw that God’s discernment was within him to carry out justice.

1 Kings 4

4:1 King Solomon reigned over Israel.

4:2 These were his officials: Azariah son of Zadok;

4:3 Elihoreph and Ahijah son of Saba were scribes; Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud was recorder;

4:4 Zadok and Abiathar were priests;

4:5 Ornia son of Nathan was over the appointed officers; Zabud son of Nathan was the king’s companion;

4:6 Achiel was household steward; Eliab son of Saph was over the clan; Adoniram son of Ephra was over the tributes.

4:7 Solomon had twelve appointed officers over all Israel to provide for the king and his household. Each was responsible for providing one month in the year.

4:8 These were their names: Benor, in Ephraim’s hill country—one;

4:9 the son of Rechab, in Machemas, Bethalamin, Beth-shemesh, and Ailon as far as Beth-hanan—one;

4:10 the son of Esoth, in Berbethnema, Lousamencha, and Rhesphara;

4:11 Chinanadab and Anaphathi, husband of Tableth; a daughter of Solomon was his wife—one;

4:12 Baccha son of Ahilud, over Taanach, Megiddo, and all the house of San beside Sesathan below Esrae, and from Baisaphoud, Abel-meholah, as far as Maeber Loukam—one;

4:13 the son of Geber, in Remath-gilead; Eregaba’s district in Bashan belonged to his charge, sixty great walled cities with bronze bars—one;

4:14 Ahinadab son of Achel, in Mahanaim—one;

4:15 Ahimaaz, in Naphtali; he too took Solomon’s daughter Basemath as a wife—one;

4:16 Baana son of Hushai, in Maalath—one;

4:17 Shammah son of Elah, in Benjamin;

4:18 Geber son of Adai, in Gad’s land, the land of Sihon king of Heshbon and Og king of Bashan; and one officer in Judah’s land;

4:19 Jehoshaphat son of Phouasoud, in Issachar.

1 Kings 5

5:1 The appointed officers thus provided for King Solomon and all the orders for the king’s table, each in his month; they did not depart from an instruction. They brought barley and straw for the horses and chariots to the place where the king would be, each according to his assignment.

5:2 These were Solomon’s requirements for one day: thirty kors of fine flour and sixty kors of pounded meal,

5:3 ten choice calves, twenty pasture-fed cattle, and a hundred sheep, besides deer, gazelles, and choice birds—fattened provisions.

5:4 For he was ruler beyond the River, and he had peace on every side around him.

5:9 The Lord gave Solomon discernment, very great wisdom, and abundance of heart like the sand beside the sea.

5:10 Solomon increased greatly beyond the discernment of all ancient people and beyond all the discerning people of Egypt.

5:11 He became wiser than all people; he became wiser than Gaithan the Ezraite, Heman, Calcol, and Darda, the sons of Mal.

5:12 Solomon spoke three thousand parables, and his songs numbered five thousand.

5:13 He spoke about trees, from the cedar in Lebanon to the hyssop growing through the wall. He spoke about livestock, birds, creeping things, and fish.

5:14 All the peoples came to hear Solomon’s wisdom, and he received gifts from all the kings of the earth who had heard of his wisdom.

5:14a Solomon took Pharaoh’s daughter as his wife and brought her into the City of David until he finished the Lord’s house, his own house, and Jerusalem’s wall.

5:14b Then Pharaoh king of Egypt went up, captured Gezer beforehand, and burned it and the Canaanite who lived in Mergab. Pharaoh gave them as parting gifts to his daughter, Solomon’s wife; and Solomon built Gezer.

5:15 Hiram king of Tyre sent his attendants to anoint Solomon in place of David his father, for Hiram had always loved David.

5:16 Solomon sent to Hiram, saying,

5:17 “You know that my father David could not build a house for the name of the Lord my God because of the wars that surrounded him, until the Lord put them beneath the footsteps of his feet.

5:18 But now the Lord my God has given me rest on every side; there is no plotter and no evil encounter.

5:19 Behold, I intend to build a house for the name of the Lord my God, as the Lord God told my father David: ‘Your son, whom I shall place on your throne in your place, shall build the house for My name.’

5:20 Now command that they cut timber from Lebanon for me. Behold, my servants are with your servants, and I will pay you the wages of your service according to whatever you say; for you know that no one among us knows how to cut timber like the Sidonians.”

5:21 When Hiram heard Solomon’s words, he rejoiced greatly and said, “Blessed be God this day, who has given David a discerning son over this great people!”

5:22 He sent to Solomon, saying, “I have heard about everything you did send to me. I will fulfill all your wishes: cedar and pine timber.

5:23 My servants will bring them down from Lebanon to the sea. I will make them into rafts as far as the place you send me word about, and shake them apart there; you shall take them away. You shall fulfill my wish by providing loaves for my household.”

5:24 Hiram supplied Solomon with cedars and all that he desired.

5:25 Solomon gave Hiram twenty thousand kors of wheat and machir for his household, and twenty thousand beth of beaten oil. Solomon gave this to Hiram each year.

5:26 The Lord gave Solomon wisdom, as He had promised him. There was peace between Hiram and Solomon, and they made a covenant between themselves.

5:27 The king raised a levy from all Israel; the levy was thirty thousand men.

5:28 He sent them to Lebanon, ten thousand a month in shifts: one month they were in Lebanon and two months at their home. Adoniram was over the levy.

5:29 Solomon had seventy thousand burden-bearers and eighty thousand stonecutters in the hill country,

5:30 besides the chiefs appointed over Solomon’s works, three thousand six hundred overseers who performed the works.

5:32 They prepared the stones and timber for three years.

1 Kings 6

6:1 In the four hundred fortieth year of the exodus of the sons of Israel from Egypt, in the fourth year, in the second month, when King Solomon reigned over Israel,

6:1a the king commanded, and they carried great, costly stones for the house’s foundation, and unhewn stones.

6:1b Solomon’s sons and Hiram’s sons hewed them and laid them down.

6:1c In the fourth year he laid the foundation of the Lord’s house in the month of Niso, the second month.

6:1d In the eleventh year, in the month of Baal, which is the eighth month, the house was completed in every detail and according to its entire arrangement.

6:2 The house that King Solomon built for the Lord was forty cubits long, twenty cubits wide, and twenty-five cubits high.

6:3 The porch in front of the temple was twenty cubits long across the house’s width, and ten cubits wide in front of the house. He built the house and completed it.

6:4 He made recessed, concealed windows for the house.

6:5 He placed beams all around against the house’s wall, for the temple and the inner sanctuary; he made side chambers all around.

6:6 The lowest side chamber was five cubits wide, the middle six, and the third seven cubits wide; for he left a space all around the house, outside the house, so that they would not take hold of the house’s walls.

6:7 While the house was being built, it was built of sharply cut, unworked stones. No hammer, axe, or any iron implement was heard in the house while it was being built.

6:8 The entrance of the lowest side chamber was beneath the house’s right shoulder. A winding ascent led to the middle tier, and from the middle to the third story.

6:9 He built the house and completed it, and furnished the house with a coffered cedar ceiling.

6:10 He built the connecting structures throughout the whole house, five cubits high, and held the connecting structure together with cedar timbers.

6:15 He built the house’s walls with cedar timbers, from the floor of the house up to the beams and up to the walls. He fitted the interior continuously with wooden panels and covered the inside of the house with pine boards.

6:16 He built the twenty cubits at the end of the house, the one side from the floor to the beams, and made the inner sanctuary into the Holy of Holies.

6:17 The temple was forty cubits long in front

6:19 of the inner sanctuary, inside the house, to place the ark of the Lord’s covenant there.

6:20 It was twenty cubits long, twenty cubits wide, and twenty cubits high. He covered it with refined gold, and he made an altar

6:21 in front of the inner sanctuary, and he covered it with gold.

6:22 He covered the whole house with gold until the entire house was finished.

6:23 In the inner sanctuary he made two cherubim, their measured size ten cubits.

6:24 One wing of the cherub was five cubits, and its other wing was five cubits: ten cubits from one wingtip to the other.

6:25 So it was with the second cherub; both had one measure and one finished form.

6:26 The height of one cherub was ten cubits, and so was that of the second cherub.

6:27 Both cherubim were within the innermost house. He spread their wings: one wing touched one wall, and a wing touched the other wall; their wings toward the middle of the house touched wing to wing.

6:28 He covered the cherubim with gold.

6:29 On all the house's walls around he engraved cherubim with a carving tool; palm trees were in the inner and outer rooms.

6:30 He covered the floor of the house with gold, in the innermost and outermost rooms.

6:31 For the entrance of the inner sanctuary he made juniper-wood doors and fivefold doorposts,

6:32 and two pine-wood doors with carvings engraved on them: cherubim, palm trees, and spreading petals. He covered them with gold, and the gold came down over the cherubim and palm trees.

6:33 Likewise he made the temple entrance: juniper-wood doorposts, porticoes fourfold,

6:34 and both doors were of pine wood: one door had two leaves and their pivots, and the other door had two leaves that turned.

6:35 There were engraved cherubim, palm trees, and spreading petals, covered with gold brought down over the relief.

6:36 He built the innermost court with three courses of unhewn stones and a course of worked cedar all around.

6:36a He built a curtain for the court of the house's porch in front of the temple.

1 Kings 7

7:1 King Solomon sent and brought Hiram from Tyre,

7:2 a widow's son, and he was from the tribe of Naphtali. His father was a Tyrian man, a bronze craftsman, filled with skill, understanding, and knowledge for doing every work in bronze. He was brought to King Solomon and did all the works.

7:3 He cast the two pillars for the house's porch. The pillar was eighteen cubits high, and a circumference of fourteen cubits encircled it. The pillar's thickness was four fingerbreadths, with hollow spaces; and the second pillar was the same.

7:4 He made two capitals to place on top of the pillars, of cast bronze. One capital was five cubits high, and the second capital was five cubits high.

7:5 He made two nets to cover the pillars' capital: one net for one capital and one net for the second capital.

7:6 There was hanging work: two rows of bronze pomegranates interwoven as a net, hanging work, row upon row. He did likewise for the second capital.

7:7 He set up the pillars of the temple's porch. He set up one pillar and called it Iachoum; he set up the second pillar and called it Boaz.

7:8 On top of the pillars was lily-work corresponding to the porch, four cubits.

7:9 There was a beam over both pillars, and above the sides the beam formed a capital in its thickness.

7:10 He made the Sea, ten cubits from brim to brim, round all around and five cubits high; thirty-three cubits in all encircled it.

7:11 Supports encircled it beneath its brim all around, ten to a cubit, holding up the Sea all around.

7:12 Its brim was made like the brim of a cup, like a lily shoot, and its thickness was a palm.

7:13 Twelve cattle were beneath the Sea: three facing north, three facing the sea, three facing south, and three facing east. All their hindquarters faced the house, and the Sea was above them.

7:14 He made ten bronze stands. Each stand was five cubits long, four cubits wide, and six cubits high.

7:15 This was the construction of the stands: they had enclosed panels, and enclosed panels between the projecting parts.

7:16 On their enclosed panels between the projecting parts were lions, cattle, and cherubim, and likewise on the projecting parts. Above and below the lions and cattle were spaces, in descending work.

7:17 Each stand had four bronze wheels and bronze attachments; their four parts had shoulders beneath the basins.

7:18 The wheels' arms were in the stand, and the height of each wheel was a cubit and a half.

7:19 The wheels were made like chariot wheels; their arms, backs, and assembled work were all cast.

7:20 Each stand had four shoulders at its four corners; its shoulders were of one piece with the stand.

7:21 At the top of the stand was a round part half a cubit in size, all around at its top, with the beginnings of its arms and its enclosed panels; it opened onto the beginnings of its arms.

7:22 Its enclosed panels had cherubim, lions, and palm trees standing, each adjoining the next toward its front, inside and all around.

7:23 According to this pattern he made all ten stands, with one arrangement and one measure for all.

7:24 He made ten bronze basin vessels; each basin vessel held forty choes by measure. There was one basin vessel on each of the ten stands.

7:25 He placed the ten stands, five on the right side of the house and five on the left. The Sea was on the right side of the house, eastward toward the southern slope.

7:26 Hiram made the cauldrons, braziers, and bowls. Hiram finished all the works that he did for King Solomon in the Lord’s house:

7:27 two pillars, the two twisted ornaments of the pillars on top of the pillars, and the two nets covering both twisted ornaments of the carvings on the pillars;

7:28 four hundred pomegranates for both nets, two rows of pomegranates for each net, covering both twisted ornaments on both pillars;

7:29 the ten stands and the ten basin vessels on the stands;

7:30 the one Sea and the twelve cattle beneath the Sea;

7:31 the cauldrons, braziers, bowls, and all the utensils that Hiram made for King Solomon for the Lord’s house, and the forty-eight pillars of the king’s house and the Lord’s house. All the king’s works that Hiram made were entirely of bronze.

7:32 There was no measured weight of the bronze from which he made all these works, because of its great abundance; there was no limit to the weight of the bronze.

7:33 In the region around the Jordan the king cast them in the thick earth, between Succoth and Sira.

7:34 King Solomon placed the utensils he had made in the Lord’s house: the gold altar and the gold table on which were the loaves of the offering;

7:35 the lampstands of refined gold, five on the right and five on the left before the inner sanctuary; and the lamp holders, lamps, and ladles of gold;

7:36 the entranceways, nails, bowls, dishes, and censers of refined gold; and the doorframes of the innermost house, the Holy of Holies, and the gold doors of the temple house.

7:37 All the work that Solomon did for the Lord’s house was completed. Solomon brought in the things his father David had consecrated and all Solomon’s consecrated things, the silver, gold, and utensils, and placed them in the treasuries of the Lord’s house.

7:38 Solomon built his own house in thirteen years.

7:39 He built the house with timber from Lebanon’s forest: a hundred cubits long, fifty cubits wide, and thirty cubits high, with three rows of cedar pillars and cedar supports for the pillars.

7:40 He paneled the house above, over the sides of the pillars. The number of the pillars was forty-five, fifteen to a row.

7:41 There were three beams, and space above space in three tiers.

7:42 All the doorways and spaces were square and fitted with beams, with doorway facing door in three tiers.

7:43 The porch of the pillars was fifty cubits long and thirty wide, joined together, with a porch in front of them, and pillars and a thick structure in front of it for the porches.

7:44 There was the porch of the thrones, where he would judge, the porch of the judgment hall.

7:45 He had a house where he would live, with one court opening around these, according to this workmanship; and a house for Pharaoh’s daughter, whom Solomon had married, corresponding to this porch.

7:46 All these were of costly stones, carved at intervals inside, from the foundation to the cornices, and outside as far as the great court,

7:47 which was founded on costly, great stones, stones of ten cubits and stones of eight cubits,

7:48 and above, costly stones according to the measure of unhewn stones, and cedars.

7:49 Around the great court were three courses of unhewn stones and a course of carved cedar.

7:50 Solomon completed his entire house.

1 Kings 8

8:1 When Solomon had finished building the Lord’s house and his own house after twenty years, King Solomon assembled all Israel’s elders in Zion to bring up the ark of the Lord’s covenant from the City of David, which is Zion,

8:2 in the month of Athanin.

8:3 The priests carried the ark

8:4 and the tent of testimony and all the holy utensils in the tent of testimony,

8:5 while the king and all Israel were before the ark, sacrificing innumerable sheep and cattle.

8:6 The priests brought the ark to its place, into the house's inner sanctuary, the Holy of Holies, beneath the cherubim's wings.

8:7 For the cherubim had their wings spread over the ark's place; the cherubim covered the ark and its holy things from above.

8:8 The consecrated things projected, and the ends of the consecrated things could be seen from the holy places in front of the inner sanctuary, but they could not be seen outside.

8:9 There was nothing in the ark except two stone tablets, the tablets of the covenant, which Moses had placed there at Horeb, when the Lord made a covenant with the sons of Israel as they came out of the land of Egypt.

8:10 When the priests came out of the Holy Place, the cloud filled the house.

8:11 The priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud, for the Lord's glory filled the house.

8:14 The king turned his face, and the king blessed all Israel, while the whole assembly of Israel stood.

8:15 He said, "Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, this day, who spoke with His mouth concerning my father David and fulfilled it with His hands, saying,

8:16 'Since the day I brought My people Israel out of Egypt, I chose no city in any tribe of Israel in which to build a house for My name to be there; but I chose Jerusalem for My name to be there, and I chose David to be over My people Israel.'

8:17 It came into the heart of my father David to build a house for the name of the Lord, the God of Israel.

8:18 But the Lord said to my father David, 'Because it came into your heart to build a house for My name, you did well that it came into your heart.

8:19 Nevertheless, you shall not build the house; your son who comes from your sides shall build the house for My name.'

8:20 The Lord has established the word He spoke. I have risen in place of my father David and sat on Israel's throne, as the Lord promised, and I have built the house for the name of the Lord, the God of Israel.

8:21 There I made a place for the ark, in which is the Lord's covenant that the Lord made with our fathers when He brought them out of the land of Egypt."

8:22 Solomon stood before the Lord's altar in the presence of the whole assembly of Israel and spread his hands toward heaven.

8:23 He said, "Lord, the God of Israel, there is no God like Thee in heaven above or on earth beneath, keeping covenant and mercy with Thy servant who walks before Thee with all his heart,

8:24 which Thou keptest for Thy servant David my father; Thou spakest with Thy mouth and didst fulfill it with Thy hands, as it is this day.

8:25 Now, Lord, the God of Israel, keep for Thy servant David my father what Thou didst promise him: 'A man of yours shall not be removed from before Me sitting on Israel's throne, if only your children guard their ways, walking before Me as you have walked before Me.'

8:26 Now, Lord, the God of Israel, let Thy word to David my father indeed be confirmed.

8:27 But will God truly dwell with people on earth? If heaven and the heaven of heaven are not sufficient for Thee, how much less this house that I have built for Thy name!

8:28 Look upon my supplication, Lord, the God of Israel, to hear the rejoicing that Thy servant offers in prayer before Thee, to Thee, this day,

8:29 so that Thine eyes may be open toward this house day and night, toward the place of which Thou saidst, 'My name shall be there,' to hear the prayer Thy servant prays toward this place day and night.

8:30 Hear the supplication of Thy servant and Thy people Israel when they pray toward this place. Hear in Thy dwelling place, in heaven; act and be merciful.

8:31 "Whatever each person's sin against his neighbor, if he takes an oath-curse upon himself to swear it, and comes and makes his declaration before Thine altar in this house,

8:32 then hear from heaven, act, and judge Thy people Israel: condemn the lawless by bringing his way upon his own head, and vindicate the righteous by giving him according to his righteousness.

8:33 "When Thy people Israel stumble before enemies because they have sinned against Thee, and they return, acknowledge Thy name, and pray and plead in this house,

8:34 then hear from heaven, be merciful concerning the sins of Thy people Israel, and bring them back to the land Thou gavest their fathers.

8:35 "When heaven is shut and there is no rain because they have sinned against Thee, and they pray toward this place, acknowledge Thy name, and turn from their sins when Thou humblest them,

8:36 then hear from heaven and be merciful concerning the sins of Thy servant and Thy people Israel, for Thou wilt show them the good way in which to walk. Give rain on the land, which Thou gavest Thy people as an inheritance.

8:37 “If there is famine, if there is death, if there is scorching, locust, or mildew; if their enemy afflicts them in one of their cities; whatever calamity or pain there is,

8:38 whatever prayer or supplication is made by any person, each knowing the affliction of his own heart and spreading his hands toward this house,

8:39 then hear from heaven, from Thy prepared dwelling place; be merciful, act, and give to each person according to his ways, as Thou knowest his heart, for Thou alone knowest the hearts of all the sons of humankind,

8:40 so that they may fear Thee all the days they live on the land Thou gavest our fathers.

8:41 “Also concerning the foreigner who is not of Thy people,

8:42 when they come and pray toward this place,

8:43 hear from heaven, from Thy prepared dwelling place, and do all that the foreigner calls upon Thee for, so that all the peoples may know Thy name and fear Thee as Thy people Israel do, and may know that Thy name is called over this house I have built.

8:44 “When Thy people go out to war against their enemies by the way Thou turnest them, and pray in the Lord’s name toward the city Thou didst choose and the house I built for Thy name, 8:45 then hear their supplication and prayer from heaven and uphold their cause.

8:46 “When they sin against Thee—for there is no person who will not sin—and Thou bringest trouble upon them and givest them over before enemies, and their captors carry them away to a land far and near,

8:47 and they turn their hearts in the land where they were deported, return, and plead with Thee in the land of their exile, saying, ‘We have sinned, acted lawlessly, and done wrong,’

8:48 and they return to Thee with all their heart and all their soul in the land of their enemies, where Thou didst deport them, and pray to Thee toward their land, which Thou gavest their fathers, the city Thou didst choose, and the house I have built for Thy name,

8:49 then hear from heaven, from Thy prepared dwelling place,

8:50 and be merciful concerning their wrongs by which they sinned against Thee, and all their acts of faithlessness by which they were faithless to Thee. Grant them compassion before those who took them captive, so that their captors may have compassion on them,

8:51 for they are Thy people and Thine inheritance, whom Thou broughtest out of the land of Egypt, out of the iron-smelting furnace.

8:52 May Thine eyes and ears be open to Thy servant’s supplication and the supplication of Thy people Israel, to hear them in everything for which they call upon Thee,

8:53 for Thou didst set them apart for Thyself as an inheritance from all the peoples of the earth, as Thou spakest through Thy servant Moses when Thou broughtest our fathers out of the land of Egypt, Lord, Lord.”

8:53a Then Solomon spoke concerning the house when he had finished building it: “The Lord made the sun known in heaven;

8:54 When Solomon finished praying all this prayer and supplication to the Lord, he rose from before the Lord’s altar, having knelt on his knees with his hands spread toward heaven.

8:55 He stood and blessed the whole assembly of Israel with a loud voice, saying,

8:56 “Blessed be the Lord this day, who has given rest to His people Israel according to all He promised. Not one word has failed among all His good words which He spoke through His servant Moses.

8:57 May the Lord our God be with us as He was with our fathers. May He not abandon us or turn us away,

8:58 so that He may incline our hearts to Himself, to walk in all His ways and keep all His commandments and ordinances which He commanded our fathers.

8:59 May these words, with which I have pleaded before the Lord our God, remain near the Lord our God day and night, to uphold Thy servant’s cause and Thy people Israel’s cause, each day’s matter in its day,

8:60 so that all the peoples of the earth may know that the Lord God, He is God, and there is no other.

8:61 Let our hearts be complete toward the Lord our God, walking devoutly in His ordinances and keeping His commandments, as it is this day.”

8:62 The king and all the sons of Israel offered a sacrifice before the Lord.

8:63 King Solomon offered the peace offerings that he sacrificed to the Lord: twenty-two thousand cattle and a hundred twenty thousand sheep. Thus the king and all the sons of Israel dedicated the Lord’s house.

8:64 That day the king consecrated the middle of the court in front of the Lord’s house, for there he offered the whole burnt offering, sacrifices, and fat of the peace offerings; the bronze altar before the Lord was too small to bear the whole burnt offering and the sacrifices of peace offerings.

8:65 That day Solomon kept the feast, and all Israel with him, a great assembly from the entrance of Hamath to the River of Egypt, before the Lord our God in the house he had built, eating, drinking, and rejoicing before the Lord our God for seven days.

8:66 On the eighth day he dismissed the people and blessed them. They went, each to his tent, joyful and glad of heart for the good that the Lord had done for His servant David and His people Israel.

1 Kings 9

9:1 When Solomon had finished building the Lord’s house, the king’s house, and every undertaking Solomon wished to carry out,

9:2 the Lord appeared to Solomon a second time, as He had appeared at Gibeon.

9:3 The Lord said to him, “I have heard the voice of your prayer and supplication which you made before Me. I have done for you according to your whole prayer. I have consecrated this house you did build, to put My name there for ever; My eyes shall be there and My heart always.

9:4 As for you, if you walk before Me as your father David walked, with holiness of heart and uprightness, doing all I commanded him, and keep My ordinances and commandments,

9:5 then I will establish your royal throne over Israel for ever, as I told your father David, saying, ‘A man ruling in Israel shall not be removed from you.’

9:6 But if you and your children indeed turn away from Me and do not keep My commandments and ordinances which Moses set before you, and go and serve other gods and bow down to them,

9:7 then I will remove Israel from the land I gave them and cast away from My presence this house I consecrated for My name. Israel shall become a disappearance and a subject of talk among all the peoples.

9:8 As for this lofty house, everyone passing through it will be astonished and hiss, saying, ‘Why has the Lord done this to this land and this house?’

9:9 They will say, ‘Because they abandoned the Lord their God, who brought their fathers out of Egypt, out of the house of slavery, took hold of foreign gods, bowed down to them, and served them; therefore the Lord brought this calamity upon them.’”

9:9a Then Solomon brought Pharaoh’s daughter up from the City of David to his house, which he had built for himself in those days.

9:10 During the twenty years in which Solomon built the two houses, the Lord’s house and the king’s house,

9:11 Hiram king of Tyre assisted Solomon with cedar timber, pine timber, gold, and everything he desired. Then the king gave Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee.

9:12 Hiram came out from Tyre and went to Galilee to see the cities Solomon had given him, and they did not please him.

9:13 He said, “What are these cities you have given me, my brother?” He called them Boundary, as they are called to this day.

9:14 Hiram brought Solomon a hundred twenty talents of gold

9:26 and a ship, concerning which King Solomon carried out work at Ezion-geber, near Elath, on the shore of the farthest sea in the land of Edom.

9:27 Hiram sent in the ship men from his attendants, sailors who knew how to ply the sea, along with Solomon’s attendants.

9:28 They went to Sophira, took a hundred twenty talents of gold from there, and brought it to King Solomon.

1 Kings 10

10:1 The queen of Sheba heard Solomon’s name and the Lord’s name, and came to test him with riddles.

10:2 She came to Jerusalem with a very great retinue, with camels carrying spices, very much gold, and precious stones. She came in to Solomon and spoke to him about everything in her heart.

10:3 Solomon explained all her matters to her. No matter was overlooked by the king that he did not explain to her.

10:4 When the queen of Sheba saw all Solomon’s discernment and the house he had built,

10:5 Solomon’s food, the seating of his attendants, the station of his ministers, his clothing, his wine-pourers, and his whole burnt offering which he offered in the Lord’s house, she was beside herself.

10:6 She said to King Solomon, “The report I heard in my land about your word and your discernment is true.

10:7 I did not believe those speaking to me until I arrived and my eyes saw. Behold, it is not half as they reported to me! You have added good things beyond them, beyond every report I heard in my land.

10:8 Blessed are your women! Blessed are these attendants of yours who stand before you continually, hearing all your discernment!

10:9 Blessed be the Lord your God, who delighted in you, setting you on Israel's throne! Because the Lord loves Israel, to establish them for ever, He made you king over them to carry out judgment in righteousness and in their judgments."

10:10 She gave Solomon a hundred twenty talents of gold, very many spices, and precious stones. Never again came such an abundance of spices as the queen of Sheba gave King Solomon.

10:11 Hiram's ship, which carried gold from Souphir, also brought a very great quantity of unhewn wood and precious stones.

10:12 The king made the unhewn wood into supports for the Lord's house and the king's house, and into harps and lyres for the singers. No such unhewn wood has come upon the earth or been seen anywhere to this day.

10:13 King Solomon gave the queen of Sheba everything she desired and asked for, besides everything he had given her through King Solomon's hand. Then she returned and went to her land, she and all her attendants.

10:14 The weight of gold coming to Solomon in one year was six hundred sixty-six talents of gold,

10:15 besides the tribute of the subject peoples, the merchants, all the kings of the region beyond, and the satraps of the land.

10:16 Solomon made three hundred spears of hammered gold; three hundred gold pieces went onto each spear.

10:17 He also made three hundred shields of hammered gold; three minas of gold were in each shield. He placed them in the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

10:18 The king made a great ivory throne and overlaid it with tested gold.

10:19 The throne had six steps, foreparts of calves behind it, and arms on each side of the seat, with two lions standing beside the arms.

10:20 Twelve lions stood on the six steps, on either side. Nothing like it had been made for any kingdom.

10:21 All Solomon's drinking vessels were gold, and the basins were gold. All the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon were encased in gold. None were silver, because silver was not valued in Solomon's days.

10:22 For the king had a Tarshish ship at sea with Hiram's ships. Once every three years a ship came to the king from Tarshish with gold, silver, and engraved and hewn stones.

10:22a This was the undertaking for the spoil which King Solomon brought up: to build the Lord's house, the king's house, Jerusalem's wall, and the citadel, to enclose the enclosure of the City of David; also Assour, Magdan, Gezer, Upper Beth-horon, Iethermath, all the chariot cities, all the horsemen's cities, and Solomon's undertaking which he undertook to build in Jerusalem and throughout the land, so that there might not rule over him

10:22b any of the people remaining from the Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Canaanites, Hivites, Jebusites, and Girgashites, who were not of the sons of Israel—their children remaining after them in the land, whom the sons of Israel had been unable to destroy. Solomon subjected them to tribute, as it remains to this day.

10:22c But Solomon put none of the sons of Israel into labor, because they were his warriors and attendants, his chariot commanders and his horsemen.

10:23 Solomon surpassed all the kings of the earth in wealth and discernment.

10:24 All the kings of the earth sought Solomon's presence to hear the discernment the Lord had put in his heart.

10:25 Each brought his gifts: gold vessels, clothing, stacte, spices, horses, and mules, year after year.

10:26 Solomon had four thousand mares for chariots and twelve thousand horsemen. He placed the mares in the chariot cities and with the king in Jerusalem.

10:26a He ruled over all the kings from the River to the land of the foreigners and to Egypt's borders.

10:27 The king made gold and silver in Jerusalem as common as stones, and cedars as plentiful as the sycamores in the plain.

10:28 Solomon's horses came from Egypt and from Thekoue; the king's merchants obtained them from Thekoue in exchange.

10:29 The export from Egypt came up: a chariot for a hundred pieces of silver, and a horse for fifty pieces of silver. In this way they went out by sea for all the Hittite kings and the kings of Syria.

1 Kings 11

11:1 King Solomon was a lover of women. He had seven hundred princesses and three hundred concubines. He took foreign wives, as well as Pharaoh’s daughter: Moabite, Ammonite, Syrian, Edomite, Hittite, and Amorite women, 11:2 from the nations about which the Lord had forbidden the sons of Israel, “You shall not go in among them, and they shall not come in among you, lest they turn your hearts after their idols.” Solomon clung to these in love.

11:4 When Solomon was old, his heart was not whole with the Lord his God, as was the heart of David his father; the foreign wives turned his heart after their gods.

11:5–8 [5] Then Solomon built a high place for Chemosh, Moab’s idol, and for their king, the idol of the sons of Ammon, [6] and for Astarte, the abomination of the Sidonians. [7] He did the same for all his foreign wives; they burned incense and offered sacrifices to their idols. [8] Solomon did evil before the Lord; he did not walk after the Lord as David his father did.

11:9 The Lord became angry with Solomon because he had turned his heart away from the Lord, the God of Israel, who had appeared to him twice

11:10 and had commanded him about this matter, absolutely not to follow other gods, and to take care to do what the Lord God had commanded him.

11:11 The Lord said to Solomon, “Because these things have been your conduct, and you have not kept My commandments and My ordinances which I commanded you, I will surely tear your kingdom from your hand and give it to your servant.

11:12 Yet I will not do these things in your days, because of David your father. I will take it from your son’s hand.

11:13 But I will certainly not take the whole kingdom. I will give your son one scepter, because of David My servant and because of Jerusalem, the city I have chosen.”

11:14 The Lord raised up an adversary against Solomon: Ader the Idumean, and Esrom son of Eliada, who was in Rhaemmath with Hadadezer king of Zobah, his lord. Men gathered to him, and he became leader of a band and seized Damascus. They were adversaries to Israel all Solomon’s days. Ader the Idumean was of the royal line in Idumea.

11:15 When David was destroying Edom, and Joab the army commander went to bury those struck down, they killed every male in Idumea—

11:16 for Joab and all Israel remained there in Idumea six months, until he had destroyed every male from Idumea—

11:17 Ader escaped, with all the Idumean men from his father’s attendants accompanying him, and they entered Egypt. Ader was a little boy.

11:18 Men set out from the city of Midian, came to Paran, took men with them, and came to Pharaoh king of Egypt. Ader went in to Pharaoh, and he gave him a house and assigned him bread.

11:19 Ader found great favor before Pharaoh, and Pharaoh gave him as wife the sister of his own wife, the older sister of Thekemina.

11:20 Thekemina’s sister bore Ader Genubath her son. Thekemina brought him up among Pharaoh’s sons, and Genubath was among Pharaoh’s sons.

11:21 Ader heard in Egypt that David had slept with his fathers and that Joab the army commander was dead. Ader said to Pharaoh, “Send me away, so I may return to my land.”

11:22 Pharaoh said to Ader, “What do you lack with me? Behold, you are seeking to go to your land.” Ader said to him, “Indeed, you must send me away.” Then Ader returned to his land.

11:25 This was the harm Ader did. He became resentful in Israel and reigned in the land of Edom.

11:26 Jeroboam son of Nebat, an Ephraimite from Sarira, the son of a widow, was Solomon’s servant.

11:27 This was the matter concerning how he raised his hands against King Solomon: he built the citadel and closed the enclosure of the City of David his father.

11:28 The man Jeroboam was strong in ability. Solomon saw that the young man was a hard worker and appointed him over the burdens of the house of Joseph.

11:29 At that time Jeroboam went out from Jerusalem, and the prophet Ahijah the Shilonite found him on the road and took him aside from the road. Ahijah was clothed in a new garment, and both were in the plain.

11:30 Ahijah took hold of his new garment which he was wearing and tore it into twelve pieces.

11:31 He said to Jeroboam, “Take ten pieces for yourself, because thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: ‘Behold, I am tearing the kingdom from Solomon’s hand and will give you ten scepters.

11:32 But two scepters shall remain his, because of My servant David and because of Jerusalem, the city I chose from all Israel’s tribes,

11:33 because he abandoned Me and made provision for Astarte, the abomination of the Sidonians, for Chemosh and Moab's idols, and for their king, the offense of the sons of Ammon. He did not walk in My ways to do what is right before Me as David his father did.

11:34 Yet I will certainly not take the whole kingdom from his hand, because I will surely oppose him all the days of his life, because of David My servant, whom I chose.

11:35 I will take the kingdom from his son's hand and give you the ten scepters.

11:36 I will give his son the two scepters, so that My servant David may have a place before Me always in Jerusalem, the city I chose for Myself to place My name there.

11:37 I will take you, and you shall reign over what your soul desires; you shall be king over Israel.

11:38 If you keep all I command you, walk in My ways, and do what is right before Me, keeping My commandments and ordinances as David My servant did, then I will be with you and build you a faithful house as I built for David.'"

11:40 Solomon sought to put Jeroboam to death. He arose and escaped to Egypt, to Shishak king of Egypt, and remained in Egypt until Solomon died.

11:41 The rest of Solomon's acts, all he did, and all his discernment—behold, are these not written in the Book of Solomon's Acts?

11:42 Solomon's reign in Jerusalem lasted forty years.

11:43 Solomon slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the City of David his father. When Jeroboam son of Nebat heard—he was still in Egypt, having fled from Solomon's presence and remained in Egypt—he made his way and came to his city, to the land of Sarira in the hill country of Ephraim. King Solomon slept with his fathers, and Rehoboam his son reigned in his place.

1 Kings 12

12:1 King Rehoboam went to Shechem, because all Israel were coming to Shechem to make him king.

12:3 The people spoke to King Rehoboam, saying,

12:4 "Your father made our collar heavy. Now lighten your father's harsh servitude and his heavy collar, which he placed on us, and we will serve you."

12:5 He said to them, "Go away until three days have passed, and return to me." They went away.

12:6 The king instructed the elders who had stood before Solomon his father while he was still alive, saying, "How do you advise me, so that I may answer this people?"

12:7 They said to him, "If this day you become this people's servant, serve them, and speak good words to them, they will be your servants always."

12:8 He abandoned the elders' counsel which they had given him and consulted the young men who had been brought up with him and stood before him.

12:9 He said to them, "What do you advise, and what shall I answer this people who said to me, 'Lighten the collar your father placed on us'?"

12:10 The young men who had been brought up with him and stood before him said, "Thus speak to this people who told you, 'Your father made our collar heavy; now lighten it for us.' Thus speak to them: 'My little part is thicker than my father's loins.

12:11 Now my father burdened you with a heavy collar, but I will add to your collar. My father disciplined you with whips, but I will discipline you with scorpions.'"

12:12 All Israel came to King Rehoboam on the third day, as the king had told them, "Return to me on the third day."

12:13 The king answered the people harshly, and Rehoboam abandoned the elders' counsel which they had given him.

12:14 He spoke to them according to the young men's counsel: "My father made your collar heavy, but I will add to your collar. My father disciplined you with whips, but I will discipline you with scorpions."

12:15 The king did not listen to the people, for the turn of events came from the Lord, to establish His word which He had spoken through Ahijah the Shilonite concerning Jeroboam son of Nebat.

12:16 All Israel saw that the king had not listened to them. The people answered the king, "What share have we in David? We have no inheritance in Jesse's son. Run away to your tents, Israel! Now shepherd your own house, David!" Israel went to their tents.

12:18 The king sent Adoniram, who supervised the tribute. All Israel stoned him with stones, and he died. King Rehoboam managed to go up and flee to Jerusalem.

12:19 Israel rejected David's house, as it remains to this day.

12:20 When all Israel heard that Jeroboam had returned from Egypt, they sent and called him to the assembly and made him king over Israel. None followed David's house except Judah's scepter and Benjamin alone.

12:21 Rehoboam entered Jerusalem and summoned Judah’s assembly and Benjamin’s scepter: a hundred twenty thousand young warriors, to fight Israel’s house and restore the kingdom to Rehoboam son of Solomon.

12:22 The word of the Lord came to Shemaiah, the man of God, saying,

12:23 “Say to Rehoboam son of Solomon, king of Judah, to all Judah’s house and Benjamin, and to the rest of the people:

12:24 ‘Thus says the Lord: You shall not go up or fight your brothers, the sons of Israel. Let each return to his own house, because this matter has come from Me.’” They listened to the Lord’s word and stopped going, according to the Lord’s word.

12:24a King Solomon slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. Rehoboam his son reigned in his place in Jerusalem. He was sixteen years old when he became king, and reigned twelve years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Naanan, daughter of Anan son of Nahash, king of the sons of Ammon. He did evil before the Lord and did not walk in the way of David his father.

12:24b There was a man from Ephraim’s hill country, Solomon’s servant, whose name was Jeroboam. His mother’s name was Sarira, a prostitute. Solomon made him a ruler of the staff over the burdens of Joseph’s house. He built Sarira in Ephraim’s hill country for Solomon, and he had three hundred horse-drawn chariots. He built the citadel through the burdens of Ephraim’s house; he enclosed the City of David and was rising up against the kingdom.

12:24c Solomon sought to put him to death. He became afraid and fled to Shishak king of Egypt, and remained with him until Solomon died.

12:24d Jeroboam heard in Egypt that Solomon was dead. He spoke in the ears of Shishak king of Egypt, saying, “Send me away, so I may go to my land.” Shishak said to him, “Ask for something, and I will give it to you.”

12:24e Shishak gave Jeroboam Ano as wife, the older sister of Thekemina his wife. She was prominent among the king’s daughters, and she bore Jeroboam his son Abijah.

12:24f Jeroboam said to Shishak, “Do send me away, so I may go.” Jeroboam left Egypt and came to the land of Sarira in Ephraim’s hill country. All Ephraim’s scepter gathered there, and Jeroboam built a stockade there.

12:24g His child fell very seriously ill. Jeroboam went to inquire about the child, and said to Ano his wife, “Rise and go; inquire of God about the child, whether he will live through his illness.”

12:24h There was a man in Shiloh named Ahijah. He was sixty years old, and the Lord’s word was with him. Jeroboam said to his wife, “Rise and take in your hand for the man of God loaves, little cakes for his children, grapes, and a jar of honey.”

12:24i The woman rose and took in her hand loaves, two little cakes, grapes, and a jar of honey for Ahijah. The man was old, and his eyes were dim for seeing.

12:24k She set out from Sarira and went. When she entered the city to see Ahijah the Shilonite, Ahijah said to his young attendant, “Go out now to meet Ano, Jeroboam’s wife, and say to her, ‘Come in, and do not stand there, because thus says the Lord: I will send harsh things upon you.’”

12:24l Ano entered to the man of God, and Ahijah said to her, “Why have you brought me loaves, grapes, little cakes, and a jar of honey? Thus says the Lord: Behold, you will leave me, and when you enter the gate into Sarira, your young women will come out to meet you and say, ‘The child is dead.’

12:24m For thus says the Lord: Behold, I will destroy from Jeroboam’s house every male who urinates against a wall. Dogs will eat Jeroboam’s dead in the city, and the birds of heaven will eat whoever dies in the field. They will mourn the child, saying, ‘Alas, lord!’ because a good word concerning the Lord was found in him.”

12:24n The woman departed when she heard. When she entered Sarira, the child died, and the outcry came out to meet her.

12:24o Jeroboam went to Shechem in Ephraim’s hill country and gathered Israel’s tribes there. Rehoboam son of Solomon went up there. The Lord’s word came to Shemaiah the Elamite, saying, “Take a new garment which has not entered water, tear it into twelve pieces, give it to Jeroboam, and say to him, ‘Thus says the Lord: Take ten pieces for yourself, to clothe yourself.’” Jeroboam took them. Shemaiah said, “Thus says the Lord concerning Israel’s ten tribes.”

12:24p The people said to Rehoboam son of Solomon, “Your father made his collar heavy upon us and made the food of his table a heavy burden. Now, if you lighten it upon us, we will serve you.” Rehoboam said to the people, “Three more days, and I will give you an answer.”

12:24q Rehoboam said, “Bring the elders in to me, and I will consult them about what answer to give the people on the third day.” Rehoboam spoke in their ears according to what the people had sent to him, and the elders of the people said, “So the people have spoken to you.”

12:24r Rehoboam dismissed their counsel, and it did not please him. He sent and brought in his companions and told them the same things: “These are the things the people sent to say to me.” His companions said, “Thus speak to the people: ‘My little part is thicker than my father’s loins. My father whipped you with whips, but I will rule you with scorpions.’”

12:24s The saying pleased Rehoboam, and he answered the people as his companions, the young men, had advised him.

12:24t All the people spoke as one man, each to his neighbor, and all cried out, “We have no share in David, nor inheritance in Jesse’s son. To your tents, Israel, because this man is fit neither for ruler nor for leader!”

12:24u All the people dispersed from Shechem, and each went to his tent. Rehoboam took hold of himself, departed, mounted his chariot, and entered Jerusalem. All Judah’s scepter and all Benjamin’s scepter followed him.

12:24x At the beginning of the year, Rehoboam gathered every man of Judah and Benjamin and went up to fight Jeroboam at Shechem.

12:24y The Lord’s word came to Shemaiah, the man of God, saying, “Say to Rehoboam king of Judah, to all Judah’s house and Benjamin, and to the remainder of the people: ‘Thus says the Lord: You shall not go up or fight your brothers, the sons of Israel. Return, each to his house, because this matter has come from Me.’”

12:24z They listened to the Lord’s word and refrained from going, according to the Lord’s word.

12:25 Jeroboam built Shechem in Ephraim’s hill country and lived there. He went out from there and built Penuel.

12:26 Jeroboam said in his heart, “Behold, now the kingdom will return to David’s house.

12:27 If this people goes up to offer sacrifices in the Lord’s house in Jerusalem, the people’s heart will return to the Lord and their lord, Rehoboam king of Judah, and they will kill me.”

12:28 The king took counsel, went, and made two golden heifers. He said to the people, “Let your going up to Jerusalem be enough. Behold, your gods, Israel, who brought you up from Egypt!”

12:29 He placed one in Bethel and put the other in Dan.

12:30 This matter became a sin. The people went before the one as far as Dan.

12:31 He made houses on high places and appointed some of the people as priests who were not from the sons of Levi.

12:32 Jeroboam held a feast in the eighth month, on the fifteenth day of the month, like the feast in the land of Judah, and went up onto the altar he had made in Bethel to sacrifice to the heifers he had made. He stationed in Bethel the priests of the high places he had made.

12:33 He went up onto the altar he had made, on the fifteenth day in the eighth month, at the feast he had fashioned from his heart. He held a feast for the sons of Israel and went up onto the altar to offer sacrifice.

1 Kings 13

13:1 Behold, a man of God came from Judah to Bethel by the Lord’s word, while Jeroboam stood at the altar to offer sacrifice.

13:2 He called to the altar by the Lord’s word: “Altar, altar! Thus says the Lord: Behold, a son shall be born to David’s house, Josiah by name. He will sacrifice upon you the priests of the high places who offer sacrifice upon you, and he will burn human bones upon you.”

13:3 He gave a portent that day, saying, “This is the word the Lord has spoken: Behold, the altar will split, and the fat upon it will pour out.”

13:4 When King Jeroboam heard the words of the man of God who had called against the altar in Bethel, the king stretched out his hand from the altar, saying, “Seize him!” Behold, the hand he stretched out against him withered, and he could not draw it back.

13:5 The altar split, and the fat poured from the altar, according to the portent the man of God had given by the Lord’s word.

13:6 King Jeroboam said to the man of God, “Entreat the favor of the Lord your God, and let my hand be restored to me.” The man of God entreated the Lord’s favor, and he restored the king’s hand to him, so it became as it had been before.

13:7 The king said to the man of God, “Come into the house with me and eat a meal, and I will give you a gift.”

13:8 The man of God said to the king, “Even if you give me half your house, I will not go in with you, nor will I eat bread or drink water in this place.

13:9 For the Lord commanded me by a word: ‘Do not eat bread, drink water, or return by the road you did travel.’”

13:10 He went by another road and did not return by the road on which he had come to Bethel.

13:11 An old prophet lived in Bethel. His sons came and told him all the deeds the man of God had done that day in Bethel and the words he had spoken to the king; they turned their father’s attention toward it.

13:12 Their father said to them, “Which road has he taken?” His sons showed him the road by which the man of God who came from Judah had gone up.

13:13 He said to his sons, “Saddle the donkey for me.” They saddled the donkey for him, and he mounted it.

13:14 He went after the man of God and found him sitting under an oak. He said to him, “Are you the man of God who has come from Judah?” He answered, “I am.”

13:15 He said to him, “Come with me and eat bread.”

13:16 He said, “I cannot return with you, nor will I eat bread or drink water in this place,

13:17 because the Lord commanded me by a word, ‘Do not eat bread there or drink water there, nor return by the road you did travel.’”

13:18 He said to him, “I too am a prophet like you. An angel has spoken to me by the Lord’s word, saying, ‘Bring him back to yourself, to your house, and let him eat bread and drink water.’” He lied to him.

13:19 He brought him back, and he ate bread and drank water in his house.

13:20 While they were sitting at the table, the Lord’s word came to the prophet who had brought him back.

13:21 He said to the man of God who had come from Judah, “Thus says the Lord: Because you did defy the Lord’s word and did not keep the commandment the Lord your God gave you,

13:22 and did return, eat bread, and drink water in this place where He told you, ‘Do not eat bread or drink water,’ your body shall certainly not enter your fathers’ tomb.”

13:23 After eating bread and drinking water, he saddled the donkey for him, and he returned.

13:24 He went away, and a lion met him on the road and killed him. His body lay thrown on the road, with the donkey standing beside it and the lion standing beside the body.

13:25 Behold, men passed by and saw the dead body thrown on the road, with the lion standing beside the dead body. They came and reported it in the city where the old prophet lived.

13:26 The one who had brought him back from the road heard and said, “This is the man of God who defied the Lord’s word.”

13:28 He went and found his body thrown on the road, with the donkey and lion standing beside the body. The lion had not eaten the man of God’s body or crushed the donkey.

13:29 The prophet lifted the man of God’s body and laid it on the donkey. The prophet brought him back into the city to bury him

13:30 in his own tomb; and they mourned him, “Alas, brother!”

13:31 After mourning him, he said to his sons, “If I die, bury me in this tomb where the man of God is buried. Place me beside his bones, so that my bones may be preserved with his bones,

13:32 because the word he spoke by the Lord’s word against the altar in Bethel and against the high houses in Samaria will surely come to pass.”

13:33 After this matter, Jeroboam did not turn from his evil. He again appointed priests of high places from some of the people. Whoever wished, he consecrated, and that person became a priest for the high places.

13:34 This matter became a sin for Jeroboam’s house, bringing destruction and disappearance from the face of the earth.

1 Kings 14

14:21 Rehoboam son of Solomon reigned over Judah. Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city the Lord chose from all Israel’s tribes to place His name there. His mother’s name was Naamah the Ammonite.

14:22 Rehoboam did evil before the Lord and provoked Him to jealousy with all his fathers had done and with their sins which they committed,

14:23 and they built for themselves high places, standing stones, and groves on every high hill and under every shady tree.

14:24 There was also a conspiracy in the land. They practiced things from all the abominations of the nations the Lord had removed before the sons of Israel.

14:25 In the fifth year of Rehoboam’s reign, Shishak king of Egypt went up against Jerusalem.

14:26 He took all the treasures of the Lord’s house and the king’s house, and the golden spears David had taken from the hands of the servants of Hadadezer king of Zobah and brought to Jerusalem. He took everything—the golden shields.

14:27 King Rehoboam made bronze shields in their place. The leaders of the runners who guarded the gateway of the king’s house placed them on him.

14:28 Whenever the king entered the Lord’s house, the runners took the shields up and deposited them in the runners’ chamber.

14:29 The rest of Rehoboam’s acts and all he did—behold, are these not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah?

14:30 There was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam continually.

14:31 Rehoboam slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. Abiou his son reigned in his place.

1 Kings 15

15:1 In the eighteenth year of Jeroboam son of Nebat's reign, Abiou son of Rehoboam became king over Judah.

15:2 He reigned six years. His mother's name was Maacah daughter of Absalom.

15:3 He walked in his father's sins which he had committed before him. His heart was not whole with the Lord his God, like the heart of David his father.

15:4 For David's sake the Lord gave him a remnant, establishing his children after him and preserving Jerusalem,

15:5 because David did what was right before the Lord and did not turn aside from anything He commanded him all the days of his life.

15:7 The rest of Abiou's acts and all he did—behold, are these not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? There was war between Abiou and Jeroboam.

15:8 Abiou slept with his fathers in Jeroboam's twenty-fourth year and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. Asa his son reigned in his place.

15:9 In the twenty-fourth year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Asa became king over Judah.

15:10 He reigned forty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Ana daughter of Absalom.

15:11 Asa did what was right before the Lord, like David his father.

15:12 He removed the initiatory rites from the land and expelled all the practices his fathers had carried out.

15:13 He also removed Ana his mother from being a leader, because she had held a gathering in her grove. Asa cut down her hiding places and burned them with fire at the Kidron wadi.

15:14 He did not remove the high places; nevertheless Asa's heart was whole with the Lord all his days.

15:15 He brought in his father's pillars, and he brought his own pillars into the Lord's house—silver and gold pillars, and vessels.

15:16 There was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel continually.

15:17 Baasha king of Israel went up against Judah and built Ramah, so there would be no one going out or coming in to Asa king of Judah.

15:18 Asa took the silver and gold found in the treasuries of the king's house and gave them into his attendants' hands. King Asa sent them to the son of Ader, son of Tabrimmon, son of Azin, king of Syria, who lived in Damascus, saying,

15:19 "Make a covenant between me and you, and between my father and your father. Behold, I have sent you gifts of silver and gold. Come, break your covenant with Baasha king of Israel, so he will withdraw from me."

15:20 The son of Ader listened to King Asa and sent his commanders of forces against Israel's cities. He struck Ain, Dan, Abelmaa, and all Chezrath, as far as all the land of Naphtali.

15:21 When Baasha heard, he stopped building Ramah and returned to Tirzah.

15:22 King Asa issued orders to all Judah as far as Ainakim. They carried away Ramah's stones and timber with which Baasha had built. With them King Asa built the whole hill of Benjamin and the watchtower.

15:23 The rest of Asa's acts and all the power he exercised—behold, are these not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? Yet in his old age he suffered in his feet.

15:24 Asa slept and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his place.

15:25 Nadab son of Jeroboam became king over Israel in the second year of Asa king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel two years.

15:26 He did evil before the Lord and walked in his father's way and in his sins by which he caused Israel to sin.

15:27 Baasha son of Ahijah, over the house of Belaan, besieged him and struck him at Gibbethon, which belonged to the foreigners, while Nadab and all Israel were besieging Gibbethon.

15:28 Baasha put him to death in the third year of Asa son of Abiou, king of Judah, and reigned.

15:29 When he became king, he struck down Jeroboam's house. He left Jeroboam no breath, until he had destroyed him, according to the Lord's word which He spoke through His servant Ahijah the Shilonite,

15:30 concerning Jeroboam's sins, how he caused Israel to sin, and his provocation by which he provoked the Lord, the God of Israel, to anger.

15:31 The rest of Nadab's acts and all he did—behold, are these not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel?

15:33 In the third year of Asa king of Judah, Baasha son of Ahijah became king over Israel in Tirzah, reigning twenty-four years.

15:34 He did evil before the Lord and walked in the way of Jeroboam son of Nebat and in his sins, as he caused Israel to sin.

1 Kings 16

16:1 The Lord's word came through Jehu son of Hanani to Baasha:

16:2 "Because I raised you from the ground and made you leader over My people Israel, but you did walk in Jeroboam's way and did cause My people Israel to sin, provoking Me with their worthless things,

16:3 behold, I am rousing up against Baasha and against his house. I will make your house like the house of Jeroboam son of Nebat.

16:4 Anyone belonging to Baasha who dies in the city, the dogs will devour; anyone belonging to him who dies in the plain, the birds of the heavens will devour."

16:5 The rest of Baasha's acts, all he did, and his mighty deeds—behold, are these not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel?

16:6 Baasha slept with his fathers and was buried in Tirzah. Elah his son reigned in his place in the twentieth year of King Asa.

16:7 Through Jehu son of Hanani, the Lord spoke against Baasha and against his house concerning all the evil he had done before the Lord, provoking Him with the works of his hands and becoming like Jeroboam's house, and because he struck it down.

16:8 Elah son of Baasha reigned over Israel two years in Tirzah.

16:9 Zimri, commander of half the cavalry, conspired against him. He was in Tirzah, drinking himself drunk in the house of Osa, the steward in Tirzah.

16:10 Zimri came in, struck him, put him to death, and reigned in his place.

16:11 When he became king, as soon as he sat on his throne, he struck down all Baasha's house,

16:12 according to the word which the Lord spoke against Baasha's house to Jehu the prophet,

16:13 concerning all the sins of Baasha and Elah his son, how he caused Israel to sin, provoking the Lord, the God of Israel, with their worthless things.

16:14 The rest of Elah's acts and all he did—behold, are these not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel?

16:15 Zimri reigned seven days in Tirzah. Israel's camp was against Gibbethon, which belonged to the foreigners.

16:16 The people in the camp heard it said, "Zimri has conspired and struck the king!" They made Omri, the army commander, king in Israel, over Israel, that day in the camp.

16:17 Omri and all Israel with him went up from Gibbethon and besieged Tirzah.

16:18 When Zimri saw that his city had been taken, he went into a cave of the king's house. He burned the king's house over himself with fire and died,

16:19 because of the sins he committed, doing evil before the Lord, walking in the way of Jeroboam son of Nebat and in his sins, as he caused Israel to sin.

16:20 The rest of Zimri's acts and the conspiracies he formed—behold, are these not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel?

16:21 Then the people of Israel divided. Half the people followed Thamni son of Gonath to make him king, and half the people followed Omri.

16:22 The people following Omri overpowered the people following Thamni son of Gonath. Thamni and Joram his brother died at that time, and Omri became king after Thamni.

16:23 In the thirty-first year of King Asa, Omri became king over Israel, reigning twelve years. He reigned six years in Tirzah.

16:24 Omri acquired the hill of Semeron from Shemer, the hill's owner, for two talents of silver and built on the hill. He named the hill he built on Saemeron, after the name of Shemer, the hill's owner.

16:25 Omri did evil before the Lord and acted more wickedly than all who had been before him.

16:26 He walked in all the way of Jeroboam son of Nebat and in his sins by which he caused Israel to sin, provoking the Lord, the God of Israel, with their worthless things.

16:27 The rest of Omri's acts, all he did, and his might—behold, are these not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel?

16:28 Omri slept with his fathers and was buried in Samaria. Ahab his son reigned in his place.

16:28a In Omri's eleventh year, Jehoshaphat son of Asa became king, thirty-five years old at his accession, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Gazouba daughter of Selei.

16:28b He walked in the way of Asa his father and did not turn aside from it, doing what was right before the Lord. But they did not remove the high places; they sacrificed and burned incense at the high places.

16:28c The agreements Jehoshaphat made, all the might he displayed, and those against whom he fought—behold, are these not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah?

16:28d He removed from the land the remaining unions which they had undertaken in the days of Asa his father.

16:28e There was no king in Syria—nasib.

16:28f King Jehoshaphat made a ship for Tarshish to go to Sophir for gold. It did not go, because the ship was wrecked at Ezion-geber.

16:28g Then the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “I will send your attendants and my young men in the ship.” But Jehoshaphat was unwilling.

16:28h Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. Joram his son reigned in his place.

16:29 In Jehoshaphat’s second year, Ahab son of Omri became king. He reigned over Israel in Samaria twenty-two years.

16:30 Ahab did evil before the Lord; he acted more wickedly than all who were before him.

16:31 It was not enough for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat: he took as wife Jezebel daughter of Ethbaal king of the Sidonians, and went and served Baal and bowed down to him.

16:32 He set up an altar for Baal in the house of his offenses which he had built in Samaria,

16:33 and Ahab made a grove. Ahab went on committing provocations, to provoke his soul to destruction; he did evil more than all the kings of Israel who had been before him.

16:34 In his days Hiel the Bethelite built Jericho. At the cost of Abiram his firstborn he laid its foundation, and at the cost of Segub his younger son he set up its gates, according to the Lord’s word which He spoke through Joshua son of Nun.

1 Kings 17

17:1 Elijah the prophet, the Tishbite from Thesbon in Gilead, said to Ahab, “As the Lord, the God of hosts, the God of Israel, lives, before whom I stand, there will be neither dew nor rain these years except through the utterance of my word.”

17:2 The Lord’s word came to Elijah:

17:3 “Go from here eastward and hide yourself at the Chorrath wadi, which faces the Jordan.

17:4 You will drink water from the wadi, and I will command the ravens to sustain you there.”

17:5 Elijah acted according to the Lord’s word and stayed at the Chorrath wadi facing the Jordan.

17:6 The ravens brought him bread in the morning and meat in the evening, and he drank water from the wadi.

17:7 After some days the wadi dried up, because there had been no rain on the land.

17:8 The Lord’s word came to Elijah:

17:9 “Rise and go to Zarephath in Sidonian territory. Behold, I have commanded a widow there to sustain you.”

17:10 He rose and went to Zarephath, to the city gateway. Behold, a widow was there gathering wood. Elijah called after her and said to her, “Please bring me a little water in a vessel, so I may drink.”

17:11 As she went to fetch it, Elijah called after her and said, “Please bring me a morsel of bread in your hand.”

17:12 The woman said, “As the Lord your God lives, I have no hearth cake, only a handful of flour in the water jar and a little oil in the flask. Behold, I am gathering two little sticks; I will go in and prepare it for myself and my children. We will eat and die.”

17:13 Elijah said to her, “Take courage. Go in and do as you have said. But first make me a little hearth cake from it and bring it out to me. Afterward prepare some for yourself and your children.

17:14 For thus says the Lord: ‘The water jar of flour will not be exhausted, and the flask of oil will not diminish, until the day the Lord gives rain on the land.’”

17:15 The woman went and acted. She and he and her children ate.

17:16 The water jar of flour was not exhausted, and the flask of oil did not diminish, according to the Lord’s word which He spoke through Elijah.

17:17 After these things, the son of the woman, the mistress of the house, became ill. His illness was very severe, until no breath remained in him.

17:18 She said to Elijah, “What have I to do with you, man of God? You have come to me to bring my wrongdoings to remembrance and to put my son to death!”

17:19 Elijah said to the woman, “Give me your son.” He took him from her bosom, carried him up to the upper room where he was staying, and laid him on his bed.

17:20 Elijah cried out and said, “Alas, Lord, Witness of the widow with whom I am staying—Thou hast brought harm by putting her son to death!”

17:21 He breathed into the child three times, called upon the Lord, and said, “Lord my God, I pray Thee, let this child’s soul return into him!”

17:22 It happened so, and the child cried out.

17:23 He brought him down from the upper room into the house and gave him to his mother. Elijah said, “Behold, your son lives!”

17:24 The woman said to Elijah, “Behold, I know that you are a man of God, and the Lord’s word in your mouth is true.”

1 Kings 18

18:1 After many days, the Lord’s word came to Elijah in the third year, saying, “Go and show yourself to Ahab, and I will give rain on the face of the land.”

18:2 Elijah went to show himself to Ahab. The famine was severe in Samaria.

18:3 Ahab called Obadiah the steward. Obadiah feared the Lord greatly.

18:4 When Jezebel was striking the Lord’s prophets, Obadiah took a hundred men who were prophets, hid them fifty to a cave, and sustained them with bread and water.

18:5 Ahab said to Obadiah, “Come, let us pass through the land to water springs and wadis. Perhaps we will find grass and preserve horses and mules, so they are not destroyed from among the livestock.”

18:6 They divided the route between them to pass through it. Ahab went one way alone, and Obadiah went another way alone.

18:7 Obadiah was on the way alone, and Elijah came to meet him alone. Obadiah hurried, fell on his face, and said, “Is it you yourself, my lord Elijah?”

18:8 Elijah said to him, “It is I. Go, tell your lord, ‘Behold, Elijah is here.’”

18:9 Obadiah said, “How have I sinned, that you are giving your servant into Ahab’s hand to put me to death?

18:10 As the Lord your God lives, there is no nation or kingdom where my lord has not sent to search for you. When they said, ‘He is not here,’ he burned the kingdom and its territories, because he had not found you.

18:11 Now you say, ‘Go, report to your lord, “Behold, Elijah is here.”’

18:12 If I leave you, the Lord’s Spirit will carry you to a land I do not know. I will come to report to Ahab, and he will kill me. Yet your servant has feared the Lord from his youth.

18:13 Have you, my lord, not been told what I did when Jezebel was killing the Lord’s prophets—how I hid a hundred men from the Lord’s prophets, fifty to a cave, and fed them with bread and water?

18:14 Now you say to me, ‘Go, tell your lord, “Behold, Elijah is here.”’ He will kill me!”

18:15 Elijah said, “As the Lord of hosts lives, before whom I stand, I will surely show myself to him this day.”

18:16 Obadiah went to meet Ahab and reported to him. Ahab ran out and went to meet Elijah.

18:17 When Ahab saw Elijah, Ahab said to Elijah, “Is it you yourself, the one perverting Israel?”

18:18 Elijah said, “I am not perverting Israel, but you and your father’s house are, by abandoning the Lord your God; you have followed the Baalim.

18:19 Now send and gather all Israel to me at Mount Carmel, along with the four hundred fifty prophets of shame and the four hundred prophets of the groves who eat at Jezebel’s table.”

18:20 Ahab sent throughout all Israel and gathered all the prophets at Mount Carmel.

18:21 Elijah came near them all and said to them, “How long will you limp on both your knees? If the Lord is God, follow Him; if Baal is, follow him.” The people did not answer a word.

18:22 Elijah said to the people, “I remain as the Lord’s prophet utterly alone, but Baal’s prophets are four hundred fifty men, and the grove’s prophets are four hundred.

18:23 Let them give us two oxen. Let them choose one for themselves, cut it in pieces, and place it on the wood, but put no fire under it. I will prepare the other ox, but I will certainly put no fire under it.

18:24 Cry out in the name of your gods, and I will call on the name of the Lord my God. The God who answers by fire—He is God.” All the people answered, “The proposal you have spoken is good.”

18:25 Elijah said to the prophets of shame, “Choose one young bull for yourselves and prepare it first, for you are many. Call on the name of your god, but put no fire under it.”

18:26 They took the young bull and prepared it. They called on Baal’s name from morning until noon, saying, “Hear us, Baal, hear us!” But there was no voice and no hearing. They ran about on the altar they had made.

18:27 At noon Elijah the Tishbite mocked them and said, “Call with a loud voice, for he is a god! He has chattering to do; perhaps he is also conducting business, or perhaps he is asleep and will get up!”

18:28 They called with a loud voice and cut themselves according to their custom with knives and lances, until blood poured over them.

18:29 They prophesied until the late afternoon had passed. When it was time for the sacrifice to go up and there was no voice, Elijah the Tishbite spoke to the prophets of offenses: “Move away now, and I will prepare my burnt offering.” They moved away and departed.

18:30 Elijah said to the people, “Come near me.” All the people came near him.

18:31 Elijah took twelve stones, according to the number of Israel’s tribes, as the Lord had spoken to him, saying, “Israel will be your name.”

18:32 He built the stones in the Lord’s name and repaired the altar that had been demolished. He made a trench around the altar, holding two metretes of seed.

18:33 He piled the split wood on the altar he had made, cut the burnt offering in pieces, placed it on the split wood, and piled it on the altar.

18:34 He said, “Bring me four water jars of water and pour it on the burnt offering and the split wood.” They did so. He said, “Do it a second time,” and they did it a second time. He said, “Do it a third time,” and they did it a third time.

18:35 The water ran around the altar, and they filled the trench with water.

18:36 Elijah cried out to heaven and said, “Lord, God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, hear me, Lord! Hear me this day with fire, and let all this people know that Thou art the Lord, the God of Israel, and I am Thy servant, and that I have done these works because of Thee.

18:37 Hear me, Lord! Hear me with fire, and let this people know that Thou art the Lord God, and that Thou hast turned this people’s heart backward.”

18:38 Fire from the Lord fell from heaven and consumed the burnt offering, the split wood, and the water in the trench; the fire licked up the stones and the dust.

18:39 All the people fell on their faces and said, “Truly the Lord is God! He is God!”

18:40 Elijah said to the people, “Seize Baal’s prophets! Let none of them be spared.” They seized them, and Elijah brought them down to the Kishon wadi and slaughtered them there.

18:41 Elijah said to Ahab, “Go up, eat and drink, for there is the sound of the rain’s footsteps.”

18:42 Ahab went up to eat and drink. Elijah went up onto Carmel, bent down to the ground, and put his face between his knees.

18:43 He said to his young attendant, “Go up and look toward the sea.” The young attendant looked and said, “There is nothing.” Elijah said, “Go back seven times.” The young attendant went back seven times.

18:44 At the seventh time, behold, a little cloud like a man’s footprint was bringing up water. He said, “Go up, tell Ahab, ‘Harness your chariot and go down, so the rain does not overtake you.’”

18:45 Meanwhile the sky grew dark with clouds and wind, and there was a heavy rain. Ahab wept and went to Jezreel.

18:46 The Lord’s hand was upon Elijah. He bound up his waist and ran before Ahab as far as Jezreel.

1 Kings 19

19:1 Ahab reported to Jezebel his wife all that Elijah had done, and how he had killed the prophets with the sword.

19:2 Jezebel sent to Elijah and said, “If you are Elijah, I am Jezebel! May the god do thus to me and add more, for at this time tomorrow I will make your life like the life of one of them!”

19:3 Elijah was afraid, rose, and went for his life. He came to Beer-sheba in Judah and left his young attendant there.

19:4 He himself went a day’s journey into the wilderness, came, and sat under a single broom bush. He asked that his life might end and said, “Let it be enough now! I pray Thee, take my life from me, Lord, for I am no better than my fathers.”

19:5 He lay down and slept there under a plant. Behold, someone touched him and said to him, “Rise and eat.”

19:6 Elijah looked, and there at his head were a hearth cake of spelt and a flask of water. He rose, ate, and drank, then lay down again.

19:7 The Lord’s angel returned a second time, touched him, and said to him, “Rise, eat, for the journey is too much for you.”

19:8 He rose, ate, and drank, and went in the strength of that food forty days and forty nights to Mount Horeb.

19:9 He entered the cave there and lodged there. Behold, the Lord’s word came to him, and He said, “What are you doing here, Elijah?”

19:10 Elijah said, “I have been most zealous for the Lord Almighty, because the children of Israel have abandoned Thee. They have demolished Thine altars and killed Thy prophets with the sword. I remain utterly alone, and they seek my life to take it.”

19:11 He said, “You shall go out tomorrow and stand before the Lord on the mountain. Behold, the Lord will pass by.” A great, strong wind was breaking mountains apart and crushing rocks before the Lord, but the Lord was not in the wind. After the wind came an earthquake, but the Lord was not in the earthquake.

19:12 After the earthquake came a fire, but the Lord was not in the fire. After the fire came the sound of a gentle breeze, and there was the Lord.

19:13 When Elijah heard, he covered his face with his sheepskin cloak, went out, and stood beneath the cave. Behold, a voice came to him and said, “What are you doing here, Elijah?”

19:14 Elijah said, “I have been most zealous for the Lord Almighty, because the children of Israel have forsaken Thy covenant. They have pulled down Thine altars and killed Thy prophets with the sword. I remain utterly alone, and they seek my life to take it.”

19:15 The Lord said to him, “Go, return on your way, and you will come to the wilderness road of Damascus. Anoint Hazael as king of Syria.

19:16 Anoint Jehu son of Nimshi as king over Israel, and anoint Elisha son of Shaphat, from Abel-meholah, as prophet in your place.

19:17 Whoever is spared from Hazael’s sword, Jehu will put to death; whoever is spared from Jehu’s sword, Elisha will put to death.

19:18 You will leave seven thousand men in Israel: every knee that has not bent the knee to Baal, and every mouth that has not bowed down to him.”

19:19 He went from there and found Elisha son of Shaphat, who was plowing with oxen. Twelve pairs of oxen were before him, and he was among the twelve. He came upon him and threw his sheepskin cloak over him.

19:20 Elisha left the oxen, ran after Elijah, and said, “I will kiss my father and follow you.” Elijah said, “Return, for I have acted for you.”

19:21 He turned back from following him, took the pairs of oxen, and sacrificed them. With the oxen’s equipment he boiled them, gave them to the people, and they ate. Then he rose, followed Elijah, and ministered to him.

1 Kings 20

20:1 Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard beside the threshing floor of Ahab king of Samaria.

20:2 Ahab said to Naboth, “Give me your vineyard, so it may be a vegetable garden for me, because it is nearer my house. I will give you another vineyard better than it; or, if it pleases you, I will give you silver in exchange for this vineyard of yours, and it will be a vegetable garden for me.”

20:3 Naboth said to Ahab, “May my God forbid that I should give you my fathers’ inheritance!”

20:4 Ahab’s spirit became troubled. He lay on his bed, covered his face, and ate no bread.

20:5 Jezebel his wife came to him and said, “Why is your spirit troubled, and why are you not eating bread?”

20:6 He said to her, “I spoke to Naboth the Jezreelite, saying, ‘Give me your vineyard for silver; or, if you wish, I will give you another vineyard in its place.’ But he said, ‘I will not give you my fathers’ inheritance.’”

20:7 Jezebel his wife said to him, “Is this how you now act as king over Israel? Rise, eat bread, and be yourself again. I will give you Naboth the Jezreelite’s vineyard.”

20:8 She wrote a letter in Ahab’s name, sealed it with his seal, and sent the letter to the elders and free men who lived with Naboth.

20:9 It was written in the documents: “Observe a fast and seat Naboth at the head of the people.

20:10 Seat two men, sons of lawbreakers, opposite him, and let them testify against him, saying, ‘He has “blessed” God and the king.’ Let them take him out and stone him, and let him die.”

20:11 The men of his city—the elders and free men who lived in his city—did as Jezebel had sent to them, as written in the documents she had sent them.

20:12 They proclaimed a fast and seated Naboth at the head of the people,

20:13 Two men, sons of lawbreakers, came and sat opposite him. They testified against him, saying, “You have ‘blessed’ God and the king.” They took him outside the city and stoned him with stones, and he died.

20:14 They sent to Jezebel, saying, “Naboth has been stoned and is dead.”

20:15 When Jezebel heard, she said to Ahab, “Rise, take possession of Naboth the Jezreelite’s vineyard, which he did not give you for silver. Naboth is no longer alive; he is dead.”

20:16 When Ahab heard that Naboth the Jezreelite was dead, he tore his garments and put on sackcloth. After this, Ahab rose and went down to Naboth the Jezreelite’s vineyard to take possession of it.

20:17 The Lord spoke to Elijah the Tishbite, saying,

20:18 “Rise and go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, who is in Samaria. Behold, he is in Naboth’s vineyard, because he has gone down there to take possession of it.

20:19 Say to him, ‘Thus says the Lord: Because you did murder and did take possession, therefore thus says the Lord: In every place where swine and dogs licked Naboth’s blood, dogs will lick your blood there, and prostitutes will bathe in your blood.’”

20:20 Ahab said to Elijah, “Have you found me, my enemy?” He said, “I have found you, because you have been sold in vain to do evil before the Lord, provoking Him.

20:21 Thus says the Lord: ‘Behold, I am bringing calamities upon you. I will burn out what remains after you and destroy from Ahab every male who urinates against a wall, both confined and abandoned in Israel.

20:22 I will make your house like the house of Jeroboam son of Nebat and like the house of Baasha son of Ahijah, because of the provocations you have provoked and because you did cause Israel to sin.’”

20:23 To Jezebel the Lord spoke, saying, “The dogs will devour her at Jezreel’s outer wall.”

20:24 Anyone belonging to Ahab who dies in the city, the dogs will eat; anyone belonging to him who dies in the plain, the birds of the heavens will eat.

20:25 Yet Ahab acted in vain, as he was sold to do evil before the Lord, as Jezebel his wife turned him aside.

20:26 He acted most abominably by following the abominations, according to all that the Amorites had done, whom the Lord destroyed before the children of Israel.

20:27 Because of the word, Ahab was stricken before the Lord: he went about weeping, tore his tunic, tied sackcloth around his body, fasted, and put on sackcloth on the day he struck Naboth the Jezreelite.

20:28 The Lord’s word came through His servant Elijah concerning Ahab, and the Lord said,

20:29 “Have you seen how Ahab has been stricken before Me? I will not bring the harm in his days, but in his son’s days I will bring the harm.”

1 Kings 21

21:1 The son of Ader gathered all his force, went up, and besieged Samaria, with thirty-two kings accompanying him and all the cavalry and chariots. They went up, besieged Samaria, and fought against it.

21:2 He sent to Ahab king of Israel in the city,

21:3 and said to him, “Thus says the son of Ader: ‘Your silver and gold are mine; your wives and children are mine.’”

21:4 The king of Israel answered, “As you have said, lord king, I am yours, and so is everything of mine.”

21:5 The messengers returned and said, “Thus says the son of Ader: ‘I sent to you, saying, “You shall give me your silver, gold, wives, and children.”

21:6 For at this time tomorrow I will send my attendants to you. They will search your house and your attendants’ houses; the things desired by their eyes, whatever they lay their hands on, they will take.’”

21:7 The king of Israel called all the elders and said, “Please understand and see that this man seeks harm. He has sent to me concerning my wives, my sons, and my daughters. I did not withhold my silver and gold from him.”

21:8 The elders and all the people said to him, “Do not listen, and do not consent.”

21:9 He said to the son of Ader’s messengers, “Tell your lord, ‘Everything you first sent to your servant about, I will do; but this thing I cannot do.’” The men departed and brought him back the answer.

21:10 The son of Ader sent back to him, saying, “May the god do thus to me and add more, if Samaria’s dust will suffice for the foxes—for all the people, my foot soldiers!”

21:11 The king of Israel answered, “Enough! Let the bent man not boast like the upright man.”

21:12 When this message was answered to him, he and all the kings with him were drinking in tents. He said to his attendants, “Build a siegework!” They set a siegework against the city.

21:13 Behold, a prophet approached the king of Israel and said, “Thus says the Lord: ‘Have you seen this whole great crowd? Behold, I am giving it into your hands this day, and you will know that I am the Lord.’”

21:14 Ahab said, “Through whom?” He said, “Thus says the Lord: ‘Through the young attendants of the district rulers.’” Ahab said, “Who will engage in battle?” He said, “You.”

21:15 Ahab mustered the young attendants of the district rulers, and there were two hundred thirty. After this he mustered the people, every man of valor: sixty thousand.

21:16 He went out at noon, while the son of Ader was drinking himself drunk in Socchoth, he and the kings—thirty-two kings allied with him.

21:17 The young attendants of the district rulers went out first. They sent out and reported to the king of Syria, “Men have come out of Samaria.”

21:18 He said to them, “If these men are coming out for peace, take them alive; if for war, take them alive.

21:19 And do not let the young attendants of the district rulers come out of the city.” The force behind them

21:20 struck, each man the one beside him, and each repeated the blow against the one beside him. Syria fled, and Israel pursued them. The son of Ader, king of Syria, escaped on a cavalryman’s horse.

21:21 The king of Israel went out, captured all the horses and chariots, and inflicted a great defeat on Syria.

21:22 The prophet approached the king of Israel and said, “Strengthen yourself. Understand and consider what you must do, for at the return of the year the son of Ader, king of Syria, is coming up against you.”

21:23 The attendants of the king of Syria said, “Israel’s God is a God of mountains and not a God of valleys; that is why He was stronger than we. But if we fight them on level ground, surely we will be stronger than they.

21:24 Do this: dismiss the kings, each to his own place, and appoint satraps in their place.

21:25 We will replace for you a force like the force you did lose, cavalry for cavalry and chariots for chariots. We will fight them on level ground and be stronger than they.” He listened to them and did so.

21:26 At the return of the year, the son of Ader mustered Syria and went up to Aphek for battle against Israel.

21:27 The children of Israel were mustered and came to meet them. Israel camped opposite them like two flocks of goats, while Syria filled the land.

21:28 The man of God approached and said to the king of Israel, “Thus says the Lord: ‘Because Syria has said, “The Lord, Israel’s God, is a God of mountains and not a God of valleys,” I will give this great force into your hand, and you will know that I am the Lord.’”

21:29 They camped opposite one another for seven days. On the seventh day battle began, and Israel struck down a hundred thousand Syrian foot soldiers in one day.

21:30 The survivors fled into the city of Aphek, and the wall fell on the twenty-seven thousand men remaining. The son of Ader fled and entered the house of the bedchamber, into the inner chamber.

21:31 He said to his attendants, “I know that Israel’s kings are merciful kings. Let us put sackcloth on our waists and ropes on our heads, and go out to the king of Israel. Perhaps he will preserve our lives.”

21:32 They tied sackcloth around their waists, put ropes on their heads, and said to the king of Israel, “Your servant the son of Ader says, ‘Please let me live.’” He said, “Is he still alive? He is my brother.”

21:33 The men took this as an omen, hurried, and picked up the word from his mouth: “Your brother, the son of Ader!” He said, “Come in and bring him.” The son of Ader came out to him, and they brought him up to him onto the chariot.

21:34 He said to him, “I will restore to you the cities my father took from your father. You may establish outlets for yourself in Damascus, as my father did in Samaria.” “And I will send you away with a covenant.” He made a covenant with him and sent him away.

21:35 One of the sons of the prophets said to his neighbor by the Lord’s word, “Please strike me.” But the man was unwilling to strike him.

21:36 He said to him, “Because you have not listened to the Lord’s voice, behold, you are running away from me, and a lion will strike you.” He left him, and a lion found him and struck him.

21:37 He found another man and said, “Please strike me.” The man struck him, delivering a blow and bruising him.

21:38 The prophet went and stood waiting for the king of Israel on the road, binding his eyes with a bandage.

21:39 As the king passed, he cried to the king, “Your servant went out to the army of the battle. Behold, a man brought a man to me and said, ‘Guard this man. If he escapes, your life will be for his life, or you must weigh out a talent of silver.’

21:40 Your servant looked around here and there, and the man was gone.” The king of Israel said to him, “Behold, the ambushes too! You have committed murder beside me.”

21:41 He hurried and removed the bandage from his eyes. The king of Israel recognized him as one of the prophets.

21:42 He said to him, “Thus says the Lord: ‘Because you did let a doomed man out of your hand, your life will be for his life, and your people for his people.’”

21:43 The king of Israel went away, confounded and dispirited, and came to Samaria.

1 Kings 22

22:1 He remained three years, and there was no war between Syria and Israel.

22:2 In the third year, Jehoshaphat king of Judah went down to the king of Israel.

22:3 The king of Israel said to his attendants, “Do you know that Remmath-gilead belongs to us, yet we remain silent about taking it from the hand of the king of Syria?”

22:4 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “Will you go up with us to Remmath-gilead for battle?” Jehoshaphat said, “As I am, so are you; as my people, so your people; as my horses, so your horses.”

22:5 Jehoshaphat king of Judah said to the king of Israel, “Please inquire of the Lord this day.”

22:6 The king of Israel gathered all the prophets, about four hundred men, and the king said to them, “Shall I go to Remmath-gilead for battle, or hold back?” They said, “Go up, and the Lord will surely give it into the king’s hands.”

22:7 Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, “Is there no prophet of the Lord here, so we may inquire of the Lord through him?”

22:8 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “There is still one man through whom to inquire of the Lord, but I hate him, because he does not speak good things concerning me, only bad things: Micaiah son of Imlah.” Jehoshaphat king of Judah said, “Let the king not say so.”

22:9 The king of Israel called a eunuch and said, “Bring Micaiah son of Imlah quickly.”

22:10 The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah sat, each on his throne, armed, at Samaria’s gates. All the prophets were prophesying before them.

22:11 Zedekiah son of Chenaanah made himself iron horns and said, “Thus says the Lord: ‘With these you will gore Syria until it is finished off.’”

22:12 All the prophets were prophesying in the same way: “Go up to Remmath-gilead! The Lord will grant success and give even the king of Syria into your hands.”

22:13 The messenger who went to call Micaiah spoke to him, saying, “Behold, all the prophets speak favorable things about the king with one mouth. Please let your words be like the words of one of them, and speak favorably.”

22:14 Micaiah said, “As the Lord lives, whatever the Lord says to me, that I will speak.”

22:15 He came to the king, and the king said to him, “Micaiah, shall I go up to Remmath-gilead for battle, or hold back?” He said, “Go up! The Lord will grant success and give it into the king’s hand.”

22:16 The king said to him, “How many times must I put you under oath to speak truth to me in the Lord’s name?”

22:17 Micaiah said, “Not so! I have seen all Israel scattered on the mountains like a flock without a shepherd. The Lord said, ‘These have no master. Let each return to his own house in peace.’”

22:18 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, “Did I not tell you that this man prophesies no good things for me, only bad things?”

22:19 Micaiah said, “Not so—not I! Hear the Lord’s word—not so! I saw the Lord, the God of Israel, sitting on His throne, and all the army of heaven stood around Him, on His right and His left.

22:20 The Lord said, ‘Who will deceive Ahab king of Israel, that he may go up and fall at Remmath-gilead?’ One said this, and another said that.

22:21 A spirit came forward, stood before the Lord, and said, ‘I will deceive him.’ The Lord said to it, ‘By what means?’

22:22 It said, ‘I will go out and become a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.’ He said, ‘You will deceive him and indeed prevail. Go out and do so.’

22:23 Now behold, the Lord has put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these prophets of yours, and the Lord has spoken calamities against you.”

22:24 Zedekiah son of Chenaanah approached, struck Micaiah on the cheek, and said, “What sort of spirit of the Lord was it that spoke in you?”

22:25 Micaiah said, “Behold, you will see on that day, when you enter an inner chamber within an inner chamber to hide.”

22:26 The king of Israel said, “Take Micaiah and return him to Emer the city ruler; and to Joash the king’s son

22:27 say to put this man in prison and have him eat bread of affliction and water of affliction until I return in peace.”

22:28 Micaiah said, “If you do return in peace, the Lord has not spoken in me.”

22:29 The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah with him went up to Remmath-gilead.

22:30 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, “I will conceal myself and enter the battle, but you must put on my clothing.” The king of Israel concealed himself and entered the battle.

22:31 The king of Syria had commanded his thirty-two chariot commanders, “Fight neither small nor great, but only the king of Israel.”

22:32 When the chariot commanders saw Jehoshaphat king of Judah, they said, “This appears to be the king of Israel!” They surrounded him to fight, and Jehoshaphat cried out.

22:33 When the chariot commanders saw that this was not the king of Israel, they turned away from him.

22:34 One man drew his bow with good aim and struck the king of Israel between the lung and the breastplate. He said to his charioteer, “Turn your hands and take me out of the battle, for I am wounded.”

22:35 The battle turned into a rout that day. The king stood on the chariot facing Syria from morning until evening, and the blood from the wound poured into the hollow of the chariot. He died in the evening, and the blood of the rout ran into the hollow of the chariot.

22:36 At sunset the army herald stood and said, “Each man to his own city and his own land, 22:37 for the king is dead.” They came to Samaria and buried the king in Samaria.

22:38 They washed the chariot at Samaria’s spring. Swine and dogs licked the blood, and prostitutes bathed in the blood, according to the Lord’s word which He had spoken.

22:39 The rest of Ahab’s acts, all he did, the ivory house he built, and all the cities he made—behold, are these not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel?

22:40 Ahab slept with his fathers, and Ahaziah his son reigned in his place.

22:41 Jehoshaphat son of Asa became king over Judah. In the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel he became king.

22:42 Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he became king and reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Azubah daughter of Selei.

22:43 He walked in all the way of Asa his father and did not turn aside from it, doing what was right in the Lord’s eyes.

22:44 Yet he did not remove the high places. The people still sacrificed and burned incense at the high places.

22:45 Jehoshaphat made peace with the king of Israel.

22:46 The rest of Jehoshaphat’s acts and his mighty deeds, all he did—behold, are these not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah?

22:51 Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers and was buried beside his fathers in the City of David his father. Joram his son reigned in his place.

22:52 Ahaziah son of Ahab became king over Israel in Samaria in the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and he reigned in Israel two years.

22:53 He did evil before the Lord and walked in the way of Ahab his father, the way of Jezebel his mother, and the sins of the house of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin.

22:54 He served the Baalim, bowed down to them, and provoked the Lord, the God of Israel, according to all that had happened before him.

2 Kings

2 Kings 1

1:1 Moab broke faith with Israel after Ahab died.

1:2 Ahaziah fell through the lattice in his upper room in Samaria and became ill. He sent messengers and said to them, ‘Come, and inquire of Baal Fly, the god of Ekron, whether I shall recover from this illness of mine.’ And they went to inquire through him.

1:3 An angel of the Lord spoke to Elijah the Tishbite, saying, ‘Rise, come to meet the messengers of Ahaziah king of Samaria, and say to them: Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are going to inquire of Baal Fly, the god of Ekron?’

1:4 ‘It shall not be so! For thus says the Lord: The bed onto which you have gone up—you will not come down from it, for there you will surely die.’ And Elijah went and spoke to them.

1:5 The messengers returned to him, and he said to them, ‘Why have you returned?’

1:6 They said to him, ‘A man came up to meet us and said to us: Come, return to the king who sent you and tell him, Thus says the Lord: Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are going to inquire of Baal Fly, the god of Ekron? It shall not be so! The bed onto which you have gone up—you will not come down from it, for you will surely die.’

1:7 He spoke to them, saying, ‘What was the character of the man who came up to meet you and spoke these words to you?’

1:8 They said to him, ‘A hairy man, with a leather belt fastened around his waist.’ He said, ‘This is Elijah the Tishbite.’

1:9 He sent to him a commander, a captain of fifty, with his fifty men. He went up and came to him, and there Elijah was, sitting on the top of the mountain. The captain of fifty spoke to him and said, ‘Man of God, the king has summoned you. Come down!’

1:10 Elijah answered and said to the captain of fifty, ‘If I am a man of God, fire will come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty men.’ Fire came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty men.

1:11 The king again sent to him another captain of fifty with his fifty men. The captain went up and spoke to him, saying, ‘Man of God, thus says the king: Come down quickly!’

1:12 Elijah answered and spoke to him, saying, ‘If I am a man of God, fire will come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty men.’ Fire came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty men.

1:13 The king again sent a commander, a third captain of fifty, with his fifty men. The third captain of fifty came to him, bent his knees before Elijah, and pleaded with him, saying, ‘Man of God, please let my life and the lives of these fifty slaves of yours be honored in your eyes.’

1:14 ‘Behold, fire came down from heaven and consumed the first two captains of fifty and their fifty men. But now please let the lives of your slaves be honored in your eyes.’

1:15 An angel of the Lord spoke to Elijah and said, ‘Go down with him; do not be afraid of them.’ Elijah rose and went down with him to the king.

1:16 Elijah spoke to him and said, ‘Thus says the Lord: Why did you send messengers to inquire of Baal Fly, the god of Ekron? It shall not be so! The bed onto which you have gone up—you will not come down from it, for you will surely die.’

1:17 He died according to the word of the Lord that Elijah had spoken.

1:18 The rest of the acts of Ahaziah, all that he did—behold, are these not written in the book of the daily records for the kings of Israel?

1:18a Jehoram son of Ahab reigns over Israel in Samaria for twelve years, beginning in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah.

1:18b He did what was evil before the Lord, though not as his brothers did, nor as his mother did.

1:18c He removed the pillars of Baal that his father had made and shattered them. Yet he clung to the sins of the house of Jeroboam, who caused Israel to sin; he did not turn away from them.

1:18d The Lord was stirred to anger against the house of Ahab.

2 Kings 2

2:1 When the Lord was about to take Elijah up in a tumult, as into heaven, Elijah and Elisha went from Gilgal.

2:2 Elijah said to Elisha, ‘Please stay here, for the Lord has sent me as far as Bethel.’ Elisha said, ‘As the Lord lives, and as you live, I will not leave you.’ So they came to Bethel.

2:3 The sons of the prophets who were in Bethel came to Elisha and said to him, ‘Do you know that this day the Lord is taking your master away from above your head?’ He said, ‘I too know it. Be silent.’

2:4 Elijah said to Elisha, ‘Please stay here, for the Lord has sent me to Jericho.’ Elisha said, ‘As the Lord lives, and as you live, I will not leave you.’ So they came to Jericho.

2:5 The sons of the prophets who were in Jericho approached Elisha and said to him, ‘Do you know that this day the Lord is taking your master away from above your head?’ He said, ‘Indeed, I too know it. Be silent.’

2:6 Elijah said to him, ‘Please stay here, for the Lord has sent me as far as the Jordan.’ Elisha said, ‘As the Lord lives, and as you live, I will not leave you.’ So both of them went on.

2:7 Fifty men, sons of the prophets, stood opposite them at a distance, while both of them stood beside the Jordan.

2:8 Elijah took his sheepskin, rolled it up, and struck the water. The water divided to this side and that, and both of them crossed over on barren ground.

2:9 When they had crossed, Elijah said to Elisha, ‘Ask what I should do for you before I am taken up from you.’ Elisha said, ‘Please let a double portion of your spirit be upon me.’

2:10 Elijah said, ‘You have made a difficult request. If you see me being taken up from you, it will be so for you; but if not, it certainly will not happen.’

2:11 As they went, walking and speaking, behold—a chariot of fire and horses of fire separated the two of them, and Elijah was taken up in a tumult, as into heaven.

2:12 Elisha was watching and crying, ‘Father, father! Israel’s chariot and its horseman!’ He saw him no more. He seized his clothes and tore them into two pieces.

2:13 He picked up Elijah’s sheepskin, which had fallen upon Elisha, and Elisha returned and stood on the edge of the Jordan.

2:14 He took Elijah’s sheepskin, which had fallen upon him, and struck the water, but it did not separate. He said, ‘Where is the God of Elijah—Appho?’ He struck the waters, and they split to this side and that, and Elisha crossed over.

2:15 The sons of the prophets in Jericho saw him from opposite him and said, ‘The spirit of Elijah has come to rest upon Elisha.’ They came to meet him and bowed before him to the ground.

2:16 They said to him, ‘Behold, with your servants are fifty capable men. Please let them go and search for your master, in case a spirit of the Lord has lifted him and cast him into the Jordan, or onto one of the mountains, or onto one of the hills.’ Elisha said, ‘Do not send them.’

2:17 They pressed him until he was ashamed, and he said, ‘Send them.’ They sent fifty men, who searched for three days but did not find him.

2:18 They returned to him while he was staying in Jericho, and Elisha said, ‘Did I not tell you, Do not go?’

2:19 The men of the city said to Elisha, ‘Behold, the city’s settlement is good, as the lord sees, but the waters are bad and the land is bereaved of offspring.’

2:20 Elisha said, ‘Bring me a new small water jar and put salt in it.’ They brought it to him.

2:21 Elisha went out to the outlet of the waters, threw salt there, and said, ‘Thus says the Lord: I have healed these waters. No longer will death or loss of offspring come from there.’

2:22 The waters have remained healed to this day, according to the word Elisha spoke.

2:23 He went up from there to Bethel. As he was going up along the road, small children came out from the city and made fun of him, saying to him, ‘Go up, baldhead! Go up!’

2:24 He turned back toward them, saw them, and cursed them in the name of the Lord. Behold, two bears came out of the woodland and tore open forty-two of the children.

2:25 He went from there to Mount Carmel, and from there he returned to Samaria.

2 Kings 3

3:1 Jehoram son of Ahab became king in Israel in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and he reigned twelve years.

3:2 He did what was evil in the eyes of the Lord, though not as his father and not as his mother had done. He removed the pillars of Baal that his father had made.

3:3 Yet he clung to the sin of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin; he did not turn away from it.

3:4 Mesha king of Moab was a noqed. At the rising, he rendered to the king of Israel a hundred thousand lambs and a hundred thousand rams in their fleeces.

3:5 After Ahab died, the king of Moab broke faith with the king of Israel.

3:6 King Jehoram went out from Samaria that day and mustered Israel.

3:7 He went and sent word to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, saying, ‘The king of Moab has broken faith with me. Will you go with me to Moab for war?’ He said, ‘I will go up. As I am, so are you; my people are as your people, my horses as your horses.’

3:8 He said, ‘By which road shall I go up?’ He said, ‘By the wilderness road of Edom.’

3:9 The king of Israel, the king of Judah, and the king of Edom went on. They made a circuit of seven days' journey, but there was no water for the camp or the livestock at their feet.

3:10 The king of Israel said, 'Alas! The Lord has called the three kings who are passing through to give them into the hand of Moab.'

3:11 Jehoshaphat said, 'Is there no prophet of the Lord here, through whom we may inquire of the Lord?' One of the attendants of the king of Israel answered, 'Elisha son of Shaphat is here, who poured water on Elijah's hands.'

3:12 Jehoshaphat said, 'A word of the Lord is with him.' The king of Israel, Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and the king of Edom went down to him.

3:13 Elisha said to the king of Israel, 'What have I to do with you? Go to your father's prophets.' The king of Israel said to him, 'No! For the Lord has called the three kings together to hand them over into the hands of Moab.'

3:14 Elisha said, 'As the Lord of hosts lives, before whom I stand, if I were not showing regard for Jehoshaphat king of Judah, I would neither look toward you nor see you.'

3:15 'But now bring me a player of strings.' As the player plucked the strings, the hand of the Lord came upon him.

3:16 He said, 'Thus says the Lord: Make this torrent bed pit after pit.'

3:17 'For thus says the Lord: You will see no wind and see no rain, yet this torrent bed will be filled with water. You will drink—you, your possessions, and your livestock.'

3:18 'This is a light thing in the eyes of the Lord; I will also hand Moab over into your hand.'

3:19 'You will strike every fortified city. You will bring down every good tree, block every spring of water, and make every good plot useless with stones.'

3:20 In the morning, when the sacrifice was going up, look—waters were coming from the direction of Edom, and the land filled with water.

3:21 All Moab heard that the kings had come up to fight them. They raised a cry, from everyone wearing a belt and upward, and stood at the border.

3:22 They rose early in the morning, and the sun rose over the waters. From opposite them Moab saw the waters fiery red, like blood.

3:23 They said, 'This is blood from the sword! The kings have fought and each has struck his neighbor. Now, Moab, to the spoils!'

3:24 They entered Israel's camp. Israel rose and struck Moab, and they fled before them. They kept going in and striking Moab.

3:25 They tore down the cities. Each man threw his stone onto every good plot, filling it. They blocked every spring of water and brought down every good tree, until the stones of the wall were left demolished. The slingers surrounded it and struck it.

3:26 The king of Moab saw that the battle had become too strong for him. He took with him seven hundred men with drawn swords to break through to the king of Edom, but they could not.

3:27 He took his firstborn son, who had reigned in his place, and offered him as a whole burnt offering on the wall. Great regret came upon Israel, and they withdrew from him and returned to the land.

2 Kings 4

4:1 A woman from among the sons of the prophets cried to Elisha, saying, 'Your slave, my husband, has died. You know that he was a slave who feared the Lord. Now the lender has come to take my two sons as his slaves.'

4:2 Elisha said, 'What should I do for you? Tell me what you have in the house.' She said, 'Your slave woman has nothing in the house except oil with which I may anoint myself.'

4:3 He said to her, 'Go, ask for vessels from outside, from all your neighbors—empty vessels, not a few.'

4:4 'Then go inside and shut the door behind yourself and your sons. Pour into these vessels, and take away each full one.'

4:5 She went away from him and did so. She shut the door behind herself and her sons. They kept bringing vessels to her, and she kept pouring,

4:6 until the vessels were full. She said to her sons, 'Bring me another vessel.' They said to her, 'There is no other vessel.' Then the oil stopped.

4:7 She came and reported to the man of God. Elisha said, 'Go, sell the oil, and pay your interest. You and your sons can live on the remaining oil.'

4:8 One day Elisha passed through Shunem. A prominent woman was there, and she pressed him to eat bread. As he continued coming there over time, he would turn aside to eat there.

4:9 The woman said to her husband, 'Behold, I know that this is a holy man of God who continually passes by us.'

4:10 'Please let us make a small upstairs place for him and put a bed, a table, a stool, and a lampstand there for him. When he comes to us, he can turn aside there.'

4:11 One day he came there, turned aside to the upper room, and slept there.

4:12 He said to Gehazi his attendant, ‘Call this Shunammite woman for me.’ He called her, and she stood before him.

4:13 He said to him, ‘Please say to her: Behold, you have shown us all this extraordinary concern. What should be done for you? Do you have a matter for the king or the commander of the army?’ She said, ‘I am living among my own people.’

4:14 He said, ‘What should be done for her?’ Gehazi his attendant said, ‘Indeed, she has no son, and her husband is an old man.’

4:15 He called her, and she stood beside the door.

4:16 Elisha said to her, ‘At this season, as the season comes alive, you will be holding a son.’ She said, ‘No, my lord! Do not deceive your slave woman.’

4:17 The woman conceived and bore a son at that season, as the season came alive, just as Elisha had told her.

4:18 The child grew strong. When the child went out to his father, to the reapers,

4:19 he said to his father, ‘My head, my head!’ His father said to the attendant, ‘Carry him to his mother.’

4:20 He carried him to his mother. The boy lay on her knees until noon, and died.

4:21 She carried him up and laid him on the bed of the man of God, shut the door behind him, and went out.

4:22 She called her husband and said, ‘Please send me one of the attendants and one of the female donkeys, so that I may run to the man of God and return.’

4:23 He said, ‘Why are you going to him this day? It is neither new moon nor Sabbath.’ She said, ‘Peace.’

4:24 She saddled the female donkey and said to her attendant, ‘Lead on, go. Do not hold me back from riding unless I tell you.

4:25 Come, and you will go and come to the man of God at Mount Carmel.’ When Elisha saw her coming, he said to Gehazi his attendant, ‘Behold, there is that Shunammite woman.’

4:26 ‘Now run to meet her and say: Is there peace with you? Is there peace with your husband? Is there peace with the child?’ She said, ‘Peace.’

4:27 She came to Elisha at the mountain and seized his feet. Gehazi approached to push her away, but Elisha said, ‘Leave her alone, for her soul is in pain within her. The Lord has hidden it from me and has not told me.’

4:28 She said, ‘Did I ask my lord for a son? Did I not say, Do not play me false?’

4:29 Elisha said to Gehazi, ‘Fasten your belt, take my staff in your hand, and come. If you meet a man, do not bless him, and if a man blesses you, do not answer him. Place my staff on the child’s face.’

4:30 The child’s mother said, ‘As the Lord lives, and as you live, I will not leave you.’ Elisha rose and went behind her.

4:31 Gehazi went ahead of her and placed the staff on the child’s face, but there was no voice and no hearing. He returned to meet him and reported, ‘The child has not been raised.’

4:32 Elisha entered the house, and there was the child, dead, lying on his bed.

4:33 Elisha entered the house, shut the door behind the two of them, and prayed to the Lord.

4:34 He went up and lay upon the child, putting his mouth on his mouth, his eyes on his eyes, and his hands on his hands. He bent over him, and the child’s flesh was warmed.

4:35 He returned and walked in the house this way and that. He went up and bent over the child as many as seven times, and the child opened his eyes.

4:36 Elisha called out to Gehazi and said, ‘Call this Shunammite woman.’ He called, and she came in to him. Elisha said, ‘Take your son.’

4:37 The woman came in, fell at his feet, and bowed to the ground. She took her son and went out.

4:38 Elisha returned to Gilgal. There was famine in the land, and the sons of the prophets were sitting before him. Elisha said to his attendant, ‘Set on the large cauldron and prepare a cooked dish for the sons of the prophets.’

4:39 One went out into the field to gather arioth. He found a vine in the field and gathered wild round fruit from it, filling his garment. He put it into the cauldron of the cooked dish, for they did not recognize it.

4:40 He poured it out for the men to eat. As they ate from the cooked dish, look—they cried out, ‘Death is in the cauldron, man of God!’ They could not eat it.

4:41 He said, ‘Bring flour and put it into the cauldron.’ Elisha said to Gehazi the attendant, ‘Pour it out for the people, and let them eat.’ There was no longer anything harmful there in the cauldron.

4:42 A man passed through from Baithsarisa and brought the man of God twenty barley loaves of firstfruits and cakes of dried fruit. He said, ‘Give them to the people, and let them eat.’

4:43 His minister said, ‘How can I put this before a hundred men?’ He said, ‘Give it to the people, and let them eat, for thus says the Lord: They will eat and leave some over.’

4:44 They ate and left some over, according to the word of the Lord.

2 Kings 5

5:1 Naaman, commander of Syria’s army, was a great man before his master and admired in his presence, for through him the Lord had given deliverance to Syria. The man was powerful in strength, but afflicted with leprosy.

5:2 Lightly equipped Syrians had gone out and taken captive a young girl from the land of Israel. She attended Naaman’s wife.

5:3 She said to her mistress, ‘If only my master were before the prophet of God who is in Samaria! Then he would free him from his leprosy.’

5:4 She went in and reported to her own master, saying, ‘Thus and thus the girl from the land of Israel has spoken.’

5:5 The king of Syria said to Naaman, ‘Come, go in, and I will send a letter to the king of Israel.’ He went, taking with him ten talents of silver, six thousand gold coins, and ten changes of robes.

5:6 He brought the letter to the king of Israel. It said, ‘Now, when this letter reaches you, behold, I have sent you Naaman my slave, and you shall free him from his leprosy.’

5:7 When the king of Israel read the letter, he tore his garments and said, ‘Am I God, to put to death and bring to life, that this man sends to me to free a man from his leprosy? Please understand and see: this man is looking for a pretext against me.’

5:8 When Elisha heard that the king of Israel had torn his garments, he sent word to the king of Israel, saying, ‘Why have you torn your garments? Please let Naaman come to me, and let him know that there is a prophet in Israel.’

5:9 Naaman came with a horse and chariot and stood at the doors of Elisha’s house.

5:10 Elisha sent a messenger to him, saying, ‘Go and bathe seven times in the Jordan. Your flesh will be restored to you, and you will be cleansed.’

5:11 Naaman became angry and went away, saying, ‘Behold, I thought that he would come out to me, stand, call on the name of his God, place his hand on the place, and remove the leprous condition.’

5:12 ‘Are not Abanah and Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than the Jordan and all the waters of Israel? Could I not go and bathe in them and be cleansed?’ He turned aside and went away in anger.

5:13 His attendants approached and spoke to him: ‘The prophet has told you a great thing; will you not do it? And he has said to you, Bathe and be cleansed.’

5:14 And Naaman went down, and dipped himself in the Jordan seven times, according to the word of Elisha; and his flesh was restored as the flesh of a little child, and he was cleansed.

5:15 He returned to Elisha, he and all his company. He came and stood and said, ‘Behold, now I know that there is no God in all the earth except in Israel. Now accept the blessing from your slave.’

5:16 Elisha said, ‘As the Lord lives, before whom I stand, I will not accept it.’ He pressed him to accept, but he would not comply.

5:17 Naaman said, ‘If not, please let your slave be given a pair of mules’ load, and you shall give me some of the red earth, for your slave will no longer offer whole burnt offering or sacrifice to other gods, but to the Lord alone.’

5:18 ‘The Lord will be propitious to your slave when my master enters the house of Remman to bow to him and leans on my arm, and I bow in the house of Remman when he bows in the house of Remman. The Lord will indeed be propitious to your slave in this matter.’

5:19 Elisha said to Naaman, ‘Go in peace.’ He went away from him a debratha of the land.

5:20 Gehazi, Elisha’s attendant, said, ‘Behold, my master has spared this Naaman the Syrian by not taking from his hand what he brought. As the Lord lives, I will run after him and take something from him.’

5:21 Gehazi pursued Naaman. Naaman saw him running after him and turned back from the chariot to meet him.

5:22 He said, ‘Peace. My master sent me, saying: Behold, two young men from the sons of the prophets have now come to me from Mount Ephraim. Please give them a talent of silver and two changes of robes.’

5:23 Naaman said, ‘Take two talents of silver.’ He took them in two bags, with two changes of robes, and placed them on two of his attendants, who carried them ahead of him.

5:24 They came to the dark place. He took the goods from their hands and set them in a house, then sent the men away.

5:25 He went in and stood beside his master. Elisha said to him, ‘From where, Gehazi?’ Gehazi said, ‘Your slave has not gone here or there.’

5:26 Elisha said to him, ‘Did not my heart go with you when the man turned from the chariot to meet you? Now you have taken the silver and now you have taken the garments, and with it you will acquire gardens and olive groves and vineyards and sheep and cattle and male servants and female servants.’

5:27 ‘Naaman’s leprosy will cling to you and to your offspring for ever.’ He went out from his presence afflicted with leprosy, like snow.

2 Kings 6

6:1 The sons of the prophets said to Elisha, ‘Behold, the place where we dwell before you is too narrow for us.’

6:2 ‘Please let us go as far as the Jordan, and let each man take one beam from there. Let us build for ourselves there, to dwell there.’ He said, ‘Go on.’

6:3 One of them said, ‘Please come with your slaves.’ He said, ‘I will go.’

6:4 He went with them. They came to the Jordan and cut the timber.

6:5 Behold, as one of them was bringing down a beam, the iron fell out into the water. He cried, ‘Alas, lord! It was borrowed!’

6:6 The man of God said, ‘Where did it fall?’ He showed him the place. He chipped off a piece of wood and threw it there, and the iron floated.

6:7 He said, ‘Lift it up for yourself.’ He stretched out his hand and took it.

6:8 The king of Syria was at war in Israel. He consulted with his attendants, saying, ‘I will camp at this particular place, Elmoni.’

6:9 Elisha sent word to the king of Israel, saying, ‘Take care not to pass through this place, for Syria is concealed there.’

6:10 The king of Israel sent to the place of which Elisha had told him, and guarded himself from there—not once or twice.

6:11 The soul of the king of Syria was shaken over this matter. He called his attendants and said to them, ‘Will you not tell me who is betraying me to the king of Israel?’

6:12 One of his attendants said, ‘No, my lord king. Elisha, the prophet in Israel, reports to the king of Israel all the words you speak in the chamber of your bedroom.’

6:13 He said, ‘Go and see where he is, and I will send and take him.’ They reported to him, saying, ‘Behold, he is in Dothaim.’

6:14 He sent horse and chariot forces and a large army there. They came by night and encircled the city.

6:15 Elisha’s minister rose early and went out, and there was an army encircling the city, with horse and chariot forces. The attendant said to him, ‘Alas, lord! What shall we do?’

6:16 Elisha said, ‘Do not be afraid, for those with us are more numerous than those with them.’

6:17 Elisha prayed and said, ‘Lord, open the attendant’s eyes so that he may see.’ The Lord opened his eyes, and he saw: behold, the mountain was full of horses, and a chariot of fire was all around Elisha.

6:18 They came down to him, and Elisha prayed to the Lord, saying, ‘I pray Thee, strike this nation with blindness.’ He struck them with blindness according to Elisha’s word.

6:19 Elisha said to them, ‘This is not the city or the road. Follow me, and I will lead you to the man you seek.’ He led them to Samaria.

6:20 When they entered Samaria, Elisha said, ‘I pray Thee, Lord, open their eyes so they may see.’ The Lord opened their eyes, and they saw: behold, they were in the middle of Samaria.

6:21 When the king of Israel saw them, he said, ‘Shall I indeed strike them, father?’

6:22 He said, ‘You shall not strike them, except those whom you have captured with your sword and your bow—you strike those. Set loaves and water before them, and let them eat and drink and go to their master.’

6:23 He set a great spread before them. They ate and drank, and he sent them away. They went to their master, and Syria’s lightly equipped troops no longer came into the land of Israel.

6:24 After this, the son of Ader, king of Syria, gathered his whole army, went up, and laid siege to Samaria.

6:25 There was a great famine in Samaria. They besieged it until a donkey’s head cost fifty shekels of silver, and a quarter of a kab of pigeons’ dung cost five shekels of silver.

6:26 As the king of Israel was passing along the wall, a woman cried to him, saying, ‘Save me, lord king!’

6:27 He said to her, ‘May the Lord not save you! From where could I save you—from the threshing floor or from the winepress?’

6:28 The king said to her, ‘What is the matter with you?’ She said, ‘This woman said to me: Give your son, and we will eat him this day; and my son, we will eat him tomorrow.’

6:29 ‘We boiled my son and ate him. On the second day I said to her, Give your son, and let us eat him. But she hid her son.’

6:30 When the king of Israel heard the woman’s words, he tore his garments. He was passing along the wall, and the people saw sackcloth on his flesh underneath.

6:31 He said, ‘May God do thus to me, and add thus, if Elisha’s head remains on him this day.’

6:32 Elisha was sitting in his house, and the elders were sitting with him. The king sent a man ahead of him. Before the messenger reached him, Elisha said to the elders, ‘Do you know that this son of a murderer has sent to remove my head? Watch: when the messenger comes, shut the door and press him at the door. Is not the sound of his master’s feet behind him?’

6:33 While he was still speaking with them, behold, a messenger came down to him and said, ‘Behold, this calamity is from the Lord. Why should I wait for the Lord any longer?’

2 Kings 7

7:1 Elisha said, ‘Hear the word of the Lord. Thus says the Lord: About this hour tomorrow, a measure of fine flour will sell for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel, at the gates of Samaria.’

7:2 The officer on whose arm the king leaned answered Elisha, saying, ‘Behold, the Lord will make floodgates in heaven—surely this word cannot come true?’ Elisha said, ‘Behold, you will see it with your eyes, but you will not eat from there.’

7:3 Four leprous men were beside the city’s doorway. One said to his neighbor, ‘Why are we sitting here until we die?’

7:4 ‘If we say, Let us enter the city, the famine is in the city, and we will die there. If we sit here, we will die. Now come, let us throw ourselves upon the camp of Syria. If they keep us alive, we will live; if they kill us, we will die.’

7:5 They rose in the darkness to enter Syria’s camp. They came to a part of Syria’s camp, and behold, no man was there.

7:6 The Lord had made Syria’s camp hear the sound of a chariot, the sound of horse forces, and the sound of a great army. One said to his brother, ‘Now the king of Israel has hired the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Egypt against us, to come upon us.’

7:7 They rose and ran away in the darkness, abandoning their tents, their horses, and their donkeys in the camp just as it was, and fled for their lives.

7:8 These leprous men entered as far as part of the camp and entered one tent. They ate and drank, carried away silver, gold, and clothing from there, and went away. They returned, entered another tent, took things from there, and went and hid them.

7:9 One said to his neighbor, ‘We are not acting rightly. This day is a day of good news, yet we are silent and remain until morning light, and we will encounter lawlessness. Now come, let us go in and report to the king’s house.’

7:10 They came and cried toward the city gate and reported to them, saying, ‘We entered Syria’s camp, and behold, no man was there, not a human voice—only a tethered horse and a donkey, and their tents just as they were.’

7:11 The gatekeepers cried out and reported it inside the king’s house.

7:12 The king rose in the night and said to his attendants, ‘I will tell you what Syria has done to us. They know that we are hungry. They have left the camp and hidden in the field, saying: They will come out of the city; we will seize them alive and enter the city.’

7:13 One of his attendants answered, ‘Please let them take five of the remaining horses left here. Behold, they are like all the multitude of Israel that is failing. We will send there and see.’

7:14 They took two horse riders, and the king of Israel sent them after the king of Syria, saying, ‘Go and see.’

7:15 They followed them as far as the Jordan, and behold, the whole road was full of garments and equipment that Syria had thrown away in their panic. The messengers returned and reported to the king.

7:16 The people went out and plundered Syria’s camp. A measure of fine flour sold for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel, according to the word of the Lord.

7:17 The king had placed the officer on whose arm the king leaned over the gate. The people trampled him in the gate, and he died, just as the man of God had said when the messenger came down to him.

7:18 It happened just as Elisha had said to the king: ‘Two measures of barley for a shekel, and a measure of fine flour for a shekel, will be available about this hour tomorrow at the gate of Samaria.’

7:19 The officer had answered Elisha, saying, ‘Behold, the Lord makes floodgates in heaven—surely this word cannot come true?’ Elisha had said, ‘Behold, you will see it with your eyes, but you will not eat from there.’

7:20 So it happened: the people trampled him in the gate, and he died.

2 Kings 8

8:1 Elisha had spoken to the woman whose son he had revived, saying, ‘Rise and go, you and your household, and live as a sojourner wherever you may. For the Lord has called famine upon the land, and indeed it has come upon the land for seven years.’

8:2 The woman rose and acted according to Elisha’s word. She and her household went and lived as sojourners in the land of the foreigners for seven years.

8:3 After the end of seven years, the woman returned from the land of the foreigners to the city and came to cry to the king about her house and her fields.

8:4 The king was speaking to Gehazi, the attendant of Elisha the man of God, saying, ‘Please recount to me all the great things Elisha has done.’

8:5 As he was explaining to the king how he had revived a dead son, behold, the woman whose son Elisha had revived was crying to the king about her house and her fields. Gehazi said, ‘Lord king, this is the woman, and this is her son whom Elisha revived.’

8:6 The king questioned the woman, and she recounted it to him. The king assigned her one eunuch, saying, ‘Restore all her belongings and all the produce of her field from the day she left the land until now.’

8:7 Elisha came to Damascus, and the son of Ader, king of Syria, was ill. They reported to him, saying, ‘The man of God has come here.’

8:8 The king said to Hazael, ‘Take a manaa in your hand and go to meet the man of God. Inquire of the Lord through him, saying, Will I recover from this illness of mine?’

8:9 Hazael went to meet him, taking a manaa in his hand and all the good things of Damascus, a load for forty camels. He came and stood before him and said to Elisha, ‘Your son, the son of Ader, king of Syria, sent me to you, saying, Will I recover from this illness of mine?’

8:10 Elisha said, ‘Go, tell him: You will surely live. And the Lord has shown me that you will surely die.’

8:11 He stood before his face and held it until shame, and the man of God wept.

8:12 Hazael said, ‘Why does my lord weep?’ He said, ‘Because I know all the evils you will do to the sons of Israel: you will send their strongholds into fire, kill their chosen men with the sword, dash down their infants, and tear open their pregnant women.’

8:13 Hazael said, ‘Who is your slave, a dead dog, that he should do this thing?’ Elisha said, ‘The Lord has shown me you reigning over Syria.’

8:14 He went away from Elisha and entered his master’s presence. He said to him, ‘What did Elisha say to you?’ He said, ‘He told me, You will surely live.’

8:15 The next day he took the machma, dipped it in the water, and wrapped it over his face. He died, and Hazael became king in his place.

8:16 In the fifth year of Joram son of Ahab king of Israel, Joram son of Jehoshaphat became king of Judah.

8:17 He was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.

8:18 He walked in the way of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done, for Ahab’s daughter was his wife. He did what was evil before the Lord.

8:19 Yet the Lord was unwilling to destroy Judah because of David His slave, as He had said He would give a lamp to him and to his sons all the days.

8:20 In his days Edom broke away from beneath Judah’s hand and made a king over themselves.

8:21 Joram went up to Sior with all the chariots. He rose and struck the Edomites who had encircled him and the chariot commanders, and the people fled to their dwellings.

8:22 Edom has remained broken away from beneath Judah’s hand to this day. Lobena also broke away at that time.

8:23 The rest of the acts of Joram, and everything he did—behold, are these not written in the book of the daily records for the kings of Judah?

8:24 Joram lay down with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father. Ahaziah his son became king in his place.

8:25 In the twelfth year of Joram son of Ahab king of Israel, Ahaziah son of Joram became king.

8:26 Ahaziah was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Athaliah, daughter of Omri king of Israel.

8:27 He walked in the way of the house of Ahab and did what was evil before the Lord, just as the house of Ahab did.

8:28 He went with Joram son of Ahab to war against Hazael king of the foreigners at Remmoth-gilead. The Syrians struck Joram.

8:29 King Joram returned to Jezreel to be treated for the wounds they had inflicted on him at Remmoth when he fought Hazael king of Syria. Ahaziah son of Joram went down to see Joram son of Ahab at Jezreel, because he was ill.

2 Kings 9

9:1 Elisha the prophet called one of the sons of the prophets and said to him, ‘Fasten your belt, take this flask of oil in your hand, and go to Remmoth-gilead.’

9:2 ‘Go in there and look there for Jehu son of Jehoshaphat son of Nimshi. Go in, make him rise from among his brothers, and bring him into a chamber within a chamber.’

9:3 ‘Take the flask of oil, pour it over his head, and say: Thus says the Lord: I have anointed you king over Israel. Then open the door and flee; do not remain.’

9:4 The young man, the prophet, went to Remmoth-gilead

9:5 and entered, and there the army commanders were sitting. He said, ‘I have a word for you, commander.’ Jehu said, ‘For which of all of us?’ He said, ‘For you, commander.’

9:6 He rose and entered the house. He poured the oil over his head and said to him, ‘Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: I have anointed you king over the Lord’s people, over Israel,

9:7 and you shall destroy the house of Ahab your master from before Me, and you shall avenge the blood of My slaves the prophets and the blood of all the Lord’s slaves at Jezebel’s hand

9:8 and at the hand of the whole house of Ahab. You shall destroy from Ahab’s house every one who urinates against a wall, both confined and abandoned in Israel.

9:9 I will make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam son of Nebat and like the house of Baasha son of Ahijah.

9:10 Dogs shall devour Jezebel in the portion of Jezreel, and there will be no one to bury her.’ He opened the door and fled.

9:11 Jehu came out to his master’s attendants. They said to him, ‘Is there peace? Why did this deranged man come in to you?’ He said to them, ‘You know the man and his idle chatter.’

9:12 They said, ‘That is wrong! Please report it to us.’ Jehu said to them, ‘Thus and thus he spoke to me, saying: Thus says the Lord: I have anointed you king over Israel.’

9:13 On hearing it, they hurried, each took his garment and placed it beneath him on the garem of the steps, and they sounded a horn trumpet and said, ‘Jehu has become king!’

9:14 Jehu son of Jehoshaphat son of Nimshi conspired against Joram. Joram himself and all Israel had been guarding Remmoth-gilead against Hazael king of Syria,

9:15 and King Joram had returned to Jezreel to be treated for the wounds the Syrians had inflicted on him when he fought Hazael king of Syria. Jehu said, ‘If your life is with me, let no one escape from the city to go and report in Jezreel.’

9:16 Jehu rode on horseback, went on, and came down to Jezreel, for Joram king of Israel was being treated in Jezreel for the arrow wounds with which the Aramim had shot him at Rammath in the war against Hazael king of Syria, for he was powerful and a man of might. Ahaziah king of Judah had gone down to see Joram.

9:17 The lookout went up onto the tower in Jezreel. He saw Jehu’s dust as he approached and said, ‘I see dust.’ Joram said, ‘Take a rider and send him before them, and let him say, Is there peace?’

9:18 The horse rider went to meet them and said, ‘Thus says the king: Is there peace?’ Jehu said, ‘What have you to do with peace? Turn back behind me.’ The lookout reported, ‘The messenger has reached them but has not returned.’

9:19 He sent a second horse rider. He came to him and said, ‘Thus says the king: Is there peace?’ Jehu said, ‘What have you to do with peace? Turn back behind me.’

9:20 The lookout reported, ‘He has reached them but has not returned.’ The driver was driving Jehu son of Nimshi, for he was in a deranged state.

9:21 Joram said, ‘Yoke up!’ A chariot was yoked. Joram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Judah went out, each in his chariot, to meet Jehu. They found him in the portion of Naboth the Jezreelite.

9:22 When Joram saw Jehu, he said, ‘Is there peace, Jehu?’ Jehu said, ‘What peace? The prostitutions of Jezebel your mother and her many sorceries still remain.’

9:23 Joram turned his hands to flee and said to Ahaziah, ‘Deceit, Ahaziah!’

9:24 Jehu filled his hand with the bow and struck Joram between his arms. The arrow came out through his heart, and he bent down onto his knees.

9:25 Jehu said to Badekar his officer, ‘Throw him into the portion of the field of Naboth the Jezreelite. For I remember you and me riding on paired teams behind Ahab his father, when the Lord took up this oracle against him, saying:

9:26 “Surely, alongside Naboth’s blood, I saw the blood of his sons yesterday, says the Lord, and I will repay him in this portion, says the Lord.” Now lift him up and throw him into the portion, according to the word of the Lord.’

9:27 Ahaziah king of Judah saw this and fled by the road of Baithaggan. Jehu pursued him and said, ‘Him too!’ He struck him in the chariot on the ascent of Gai, which is Ibleam. He fled to Megiddo and died there.

9:28 His attendants placed him on the chariot, brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his tomb in the city of David.

9:29 In the eleventh year of Joram king of Israel, Ahaziah became king over Judah.

9:30 Jehu came to Jezreel. Jezebel heard, painted her eyes with antimony, adorned her head, and looked out through the window.

9:31 As Jehu entered the city, she said, ‘Is there peace, Zimri, murderer of his master?’

9:32 He lifted his face toward the window, saw her, and said, ‘Who are you? Come down with me.’ Two eunuchs leaned down toward him.

9:33 He said, ‘Roll her down!’ They rolled her down. Some of her blood spattered the wall and the horses, and they trampled her.

9:34 Jehu went in, ate and drank, and said, ‘Please attend to this cursed woman and bury her, for she is a king’s daughter.’

9:35 They went to bury her, but found nothing else of her except the skull, the feet, and the traces of the hands.

9:36 They returned and reported to him. He said, ‘It is the word of the Lord that He spoke through His slave Elijah the Tishbite, saying: In the portion of Jezreel dogs will devour Jezebel’s flesh,

9:37 and Jezebel’s carcass will be like dung on the surface of the field in the portion of Jezreel, so that they cannot say, Jezebel.’

2 Kings 10

10:1 Ahab had seventy sons in Samaria. Jehu wrote a letter and sent it to Samaria, to the rulers of Samaria, the elders, and the guardians of Ahab’s sons, saying:

10:2 ‘Now, when this letter reaches you, your master’s sons are with you, and the chariot force, horses, fortified cities, and weapons are with you.

10:3 Look for the good and upright one among your master’s sons, place him on his father’s throne, and fight for your master’s house.’

10:4 They were greatly afraid and said, ‘Behold, the two kings did not stand before him. How shall we stand?’

10:5 Those over the palace, those over the city, the elders, and the guardians sent word to Jehu, saying, ‘We are your attendants. Everything you tell us, we will do. We will make no man king. We will do what is good in your eyes.’

10:6 He wrote them a second letter, saying, ‘If you are for me and obey my voice, take the heads of the men, your master’s sons, and bring them to me at Jezreel about this hour tomorrow.’ The king’s sons were seventy men; these prominent men of the city were bringing them up.

10:7 When the letter reached them, they took the king’s sons and slaughtered them, seventy men. They put their heads in baskets and sent them to him at Jezreel.

10:8 The messenger came and reported, saying, ‘They have brought the heads of the king’s sons.’ He said, ‘Put them in two mounds beside the doorway of the gate until morning.’

10:9 In the morning he went out, stood in the city’s gateway, and said to all the people, ‘You are righteous. Behold, I conspired against my master and killed him. But who struck all these?’

10:10 ‘See—Appho—that nothing of the Lord’s word that the Lord spoke against Ahab’s house will fall to the ground. The Lord has done all that He spoke through His slave Elijah.’

10:11 Jehu struck all who remained in Ahab’s house in Jezreel, all his prominent men, his acquaintances, and his priests, so that he left him no remnant.

10:12 He rose and went toward Samaria. He was at Baithakad of the shepherds on the road,

10:13 and Jehu found the brothers of Ahaziah king of Judah. He said, ‘Who are you?’ They said, ‘We are Ahaziah’s brothers, and we have come down for the peace of the king’s sons and the ruling lady’s sons.’

10:14 He said, ‘Seize them alive.’ They seized them alive and slaughtered them at Baithakad, forty-two men. He left not one of them.

10:15 He went from there and found Jonadab son of Rechab on the road coming to meet him, and blessed him. Jehu said to him, ‘Is your heart upright with my heart, as my heart is with your heart?’ Jonadab said, ‘It is.’ Jehu said, ‘If it is, give me your hand.’ He gave his hand, and he brought him up to himself onto the chariot.

10:16 He said to him, ‘Come with me and see me being zealous for the Lord Sabaoth.’ He seated him in his chariot.

10:17 He entered Samaria and struck all who remained of Ahab in Samaria until he made him disappear, according to the word of the Lord that He had spoken to Elijah.

10:18 Jehu gathered all the people and said to them, ‘Ahab served Baal a little; Jehu indeed will serve him much.’

10:19 ‘Now, all Baal’s prophets, summon to me all his slaves and his priests. Let no man be absent, for I have a great sacrifice for Baal. Whoever is absent will not live.’ Jehu acted with trickery, so that he might destroy Baal’s slaves.

10:20 Jehu said, ‘Consecrate a sacrificial festival for Baal.’ They proclaimed it.

10:21 Jehu sent throughout Israel, saying, ‘Now, all Baal’s slaves, all his priests, and all his prophets, let no one stay away, for I am making a great sacrifice. Whoever stays away will not live.’ All Baal’s slaves, all his priests, and all his prophets came; not one man remained who did not arrive. They entered Baal’s house, and Baal’s house was filled from mouth to mouth.

10:22 Jehu said to the one over the house of Mesthaal, ‘Bring out garments for all Baal’s slaves.’ The dresser brought them out for them.

10:23 Jehu and Jonadab son of Rechab entered Baal’s house. He said to Baal’s slaves, ‘Search and see whether any of the Lord’s slaves are with you, for there must be only Baal’s slaves alone.’

10:24 He went in to perform the sacrifices and whole burnt offerings. Jehu stationed eighty men outside for himself and said, ‘If any man is saved from the men I bring into your hands, his life shall be in place of his life.’

10:25 When he finished performing the whole burnt offering, Jehu said to the runners and officers, ‘Go in and strike them. Let no man come out from them.’ They struck them with the edge of the sword. The runners and officers threw them out and went as far as the city of Baal’s house.

10:26 They brought out Baal’s pillar and burned it.

10:27 They pulled down Baal’s pillars and tore down Baal’s house, making it latrines to this day.

10:28 Jehu made Baal disappear from Israel.

10:29 Yet Jehu did not turn away from following the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin: the golden heifers in Bethel and in Dan.

10:30 The Lord said to Jehu, ‘Because you have done well in doing what is upright in My eyes, and have done to Ahab’s house everything that was in My heart, sons of yours to the fourth generation will sit on Israel’s throne.’

10:31 But Jehu did not take care to walk in the law of the Lord, the God of Israel, with his whole heart. He did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin.

10:32 In those days the Lord began cutting down within Israel, and Hazael struck them throughout Israel’s territory,

10:33 from the Jordan toward sunrise, all the land of Gilead belonging to Gad, Reuben, and Manasseh, from Aroer on the bank of the Arnon torrent, both Gilead and Bashan.

10:34 The rest of the acts of Jehu, everything he did, all his power, and the engagements he fought—are these not written in the book of the daily records for the kings of Israel?

10:35 Jehu lay down with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria. Jehoahaz his son became king in his place.

10:36 The days Jehu reigned over Israel were twenty-eight years in Samaria.

2 Kings 11

11:1 Athaliah, Ahaziah’s mother, saw that her sons had died, and destroyed all the royal offspring.

11:2 Jehosheba, daughter of King Joram and sister of Ahaziah, took Joash, her brother’s son, and stole him away from among the king’s sons who were being put to death—him and his nurse—in the chamber of the beds. She hid him from Athaliah, and he was not put to death.

11:3 He remained with her in the Lord’s house, hidden for six years, while Athaliah was reigning over the land.

11:4 In the seventh year Jehoiada the priest sent for the captains of hundreds, the Chorri and the Rasim. He brought them to him into the Lord’s house, made a covenant of the Lord with them, put them under oath before the Lord, and Jehoiada showed them the king’s son.

11:5 He commanded them, saying, ‘This is what you shall do: let a third of you enter on the Sabbath, and you shall guard the king’s house at the gateway,

11:6 and a third shall be at the Gate of the Roads, and a third at the gate behind the runners. Keep the watch over the house.

11:7 The two divisions among you, everyone going out on the Sabbath, shall keep watch over the Lord’s house for the king.

11:8 Surround the king on every side, each man with his equipment in his hand. Whoever enters the saderoth shall die.’ And he was with the king when he went out and came in.

11:9 The captains of hundreds did everything Jehoiada the discerning one commanded. Each took his men entering on the Sabbath, together with those going out on the Sabbath, and came to Jehoiada the priest.

11:10 The priest gave the captains of hundreds King David’s lances and threefold weapons that were in the Lord’s house.

11:11 The runners stood, each man with his equipment in his hand, from the house’s right flank to its left flank, beside the altar and the house, all around the king.

11:12 He brought out the king’s son and put the nezer and the testimony upon him. He made him king and anointed him, and they clapped their hands and said, ‘Long live the king!’

11:13 Athaliah heard the sound of the running people and entered among the people in the Lord’s house.

11:14 She looked, and there was the king standing by the pillar according to the ordinance, with the singers and trumpets beside the king. All the people of the land were rejoicing and sounding trumpets. Athaliah tore her garments and cried, ‘Conspiracy! Conspiracy!’

11:15 Jehoiada the priest commanded the captains of hundreds, the army’s overseers, and said to them, ‘Bring her out from inside the saderoth. Whoever enters after her shall certainly be put to death by the sword.’ For the priest had said, ‘She must not die in the Lord’s house.’

11:16 They laid hands on her. She entered by the way of the horses’ entrance of the king’s house, and died there.

11:17 Jehoiada made a covenant between the Lord, the king, and the people, that they should be the Lord’s people, and between the king and the people.

11:18 All the people of the land entered Baal’s house and pulled it down. They thoroughly shattered its altars and images, and killed Mattan, Baal’s priest, before the altars. The priest appointed overseers for the Lord’s house.

11:19 He took the captains of hundreds, the Chorri, the Rasim, and all the people of the land. They brought the king down from the Lord’s house. He entered the king’s house by the way of the Runners’ Gate, and they seated him on the throne of the kings.

11:20 All the people of the land rejoiced, and the city became quiet. They had put Athaliah to death by the sword in the king’s house.

2 Kings 12

12:1 Joash was seven years old when he became king.

12:2 In Jehu’s seventh year Joash became king, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Abia of Beersheba.

12:3 Joash did what was upright before the Lord all the days in which Jehoiada the priest enlightened him.

12:4 Yet the high places were not removed, and the people were still sacrificing and burning incense there at the high places.

12:5 Joash said to the priests, ‘All the silver of the holy things received into the Lord’s house—silver of assessment, each man taking silver of assessment, and all silver that may arise in a man’s heart to bring into the Lord’s house—

12:6 let the priests receive it for themselves, each from their sale, and they shall strengthen the bedek of the house wherever bedek is found.’

12:7 In the twenty-third year of King Joash, the priests had not strengthened the bedek of the house.

12:8 King Joash called Jehoiada the priest and the priests and said to them, ‘Why are you not strengthening the bedek of the house? Now take no silver from your sales, but give it for the bedek of the house.’

12:9 The priests agreed neither to take silver from the people nor to strengthen the bedek of the house.

12:10 Jehoiada the priest took a chest, bored a hole in its board, and placed it beside Iamibin, in the house of a man of the Lord’s house. The priests guarding the doorpost put in all the silver found in the Lord’s house.

12:11 Whenever they saw that there was much silver in the chest, the king’s scribe and the high priest came up. They bound up and counted the silver found in the Lord’s house.

12:12 They placed the prepared silver in the hands of those doing the work, the overseers of the Lord’s house. They paid it out to the carpenters and builders working on the Lord’s house,

12:13 to the wall builders and stone quarriers, to acquire timber and quarried stones to make firm the bedek of the Lord’s house, for everything spent on strengthening the house.

12:14 But silver doors, nails, bowls, trumpets, or any gold or silver vessel were not to be made for the Lord’s house from the silver brought into the Lord’s house.

12:15 They would give it to those doing the work, and with it they strengthened the Lord’s house.

12:16 They did not call the men to account into whose hands they placed the silver to give to those doing the work, for they acted in their trustworthiness.

12:17 Silver for sin and silver for trespass, whatever was brought into the Lord’s house, belonged to the priests.

12:18 Then Hazael king of Syria went up, fought against Gath, and seized it. Hazael set his face to go up against Jerusalem.

12:19 Joash king of Judah took all the holy things that Jehoshaphat, Joram, and Ahaziah, his fathers and kings of Judah, had consecrated, his own holy things, and all the gold found in the treasuries of the Lord’s house and the king’s house. He sent them to Hazael king of Syria, and he went away from Jerusalem.

12:20 The rest of the acts of Joash, and everything he did—behold, are these not written in the book of the daily records for the kings of Judah?

12:21 His slaves rose, bound together a conspiracy, and struck Joash in the house of Mallo in Gaalla.

12:22 Jezichar son of Jemuath and Jezebuth—his son Shomer—his slaves, struck him, and he died. They buried him with his fathers in the city of David, and Amaziah his son became king in his place.

2 Kings 13

13:1 In the twenty-third year of Joash son of Ahaziah, king of Judah, Jehoahaz son of Jehu became king in Samaria, for seventeen years.

13:2 He did evil in the Lord’s eyes and followed the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin; he did not turn away from them.

13:3 The Lord was fiercely angry with Israel, and He gave them into the hand of Hazael king of Syria and into the hand of the son of Ader, Hazael’s son, all those days.

13:4 Jehoahaz entreated the Lord’s face, and the Lord listened to him, for He saw Israel’s affliction, because the king of Syria afflicted them.

13:5 The Lord gave Israel deliverance, and Israel came out from under Syria’s hand. The Israelites lived in their dwellings as in former days.

13:6 Nevertheless, they did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam’s house, who caused Israel to sin; they walked in them. Moreover, the grove stood in Samaria.

13:7 For no troops were left to Jehoahaz except fifty horsemen, ten chariots, and ten thousand foot soldiers, because the king of Syria destroyed them, and they made them like dust for trampling.

13:8 The rest of Jehoahaz’s deeds, all that he did, and his mighty acts—are these not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

13:9 Jehoahaz lay down with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in Samaria. His son Joash became king in his place.

13:10 In the thirty-seventh year of Joash king of Judah, Joash son of Jehoahaz became king over Israel in Samaria, for sixteen years.

13:11 He did evil in the Lord’s eyes. He did not turn away from every sin of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin; he walked in them.

13:12 The rest of Joash’s deeds, all that he did, and his mighty acts, which he performed with Amaziah king of Judah—are these not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

13:13 Joash lay down with his fathers, and Jeroboam sat on his throne in Samaria with the sons of Israel.

13:14 Elisha fell ill with the sickness from which he died. Joash king of Israel came down to him, wept over his face, and said, ‘Father, father! Israel’s chariot and its horseman!’

13:15 Elisha said to him, ‘Take a bow and arrows.’ He brought a bow and arrows to him.

13:16 He said to the king, ‘Put your hand on the bow.’ Joash put his hand on the bow, and Elisha placed his hands on the king’s hands.

13:17 He said, ‘Open the window toward the east.’ He opened it. Elisha said, ‘Shoot!’ He shot. He said, ‘An arrow of deliverance for the Lord, an arrow of deliverance against Syria! You shall strike Syria at Aphek until it is finished.’

13:18 Elisha said to him, ‘Take bows.’ He took them. He said to the king of Israel, ‘Strike the ground.’ The king struck three times and stopped.

13:19 The man of God was grieved at him and said, ‘If you had struck five or six times, then you would have struck Syria until it was finished. But now you shall strike Syria three times.’

13:20 Elisha died, and they buried him. Moab's lightly equipped raiders came into the land when the year came round.

13:21 As they were burying the man, suddenly they saw the lightly equipped raider. They threw the man into Elisha's grave. He went and touched Elisha's bones, came to life, and stood on his feet.

13:22 Hazael afflicted Israel all Jehoahaz's days.

13:23 The Lord had mercy on them, pitied them, and looked toward them because of His covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. The Lord was unwilling to destroy them and did not cast them from His presence.

13:24 Hazael king of Syria died, and his son, the son of Ader, became king in his place.

13:25 Joash son of Jehoahaz took back from the son of Ader, Hazael's son, the towns he had taken in war from his father Jehoahaz. Joash struck him three times and recovered Israel's towns.

2 Kings 14

14:1 In the second year of Joash son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel, Amaziah son of Joash, king of Judah, became king.

14:2 He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Joadin, from Jerusalem.

14:3 He did what was right in the Lord's eyes, though not like his father David. He did in accordance with everything his father Joash had done.

14:4 Only he did not remove the high places; the people still sacrificed and burned incense at the high places.

14:5 When the kingdom was firmly in his hand, he struck down his servants who had struck down his father.

14:6 But he did not put the killers' sons to death, as written in the book of Moses' laws, as the Lord commanded: 'Fathers shall not die for sons, and sons shall not die for fathers; each shall die only for his own sins.'

14:7 He struck down ten thousand of Edom in Gaimela, captured the Rock in battle, and named it Kathoel, to this day.

14:8 Then Amaziah sent messengers to Joash son of Jehoahaz son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying, 'Come, let us face one another.'

14:9 Joash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, 'The thornbush in Lebanon sent to the cedar in Lebanon: "Give your daughter to my son as a wife." But the wild animals in Lebanon passed by and trampled the thornbush.

14:10 You have indeed struck Idumea, and your heart has lifted you up. Enjoy glory while sitting at home! Why contend in your wickedness? You will fall, you and Judah with you.'

14:11 Amaziah did not listen. The king of Israel went up, and he and Amaziah king of Judah faced one another at Baithsamys in Judah.

14:12 Judah stumbled before Israel, and each man fled to his dwelling.

14:13 Joash son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel, captured Amaziah son of Joash son of Ahaziah, king of Judah, at Baithsamys. He came to Jerusalem and pulled down four hundred cubits of Jerusalem's wall, from the Ephraim Gate to the Corner Gate.

14:14 He took the gold and silver, all the vessels found in the Lord's house and in the treasuries of the king's house, and the sons of the mixed unions, and returned to Samaria.

14:15 The rest of Joash's deeds, what he did in his might, how he fought Amaziah king of Judah—are these not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

14:16 Joash lay down with his fathers and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel. His son Jeroboam became king in his place.

14:17 Amaziah son of Joash, king of Judah, lived fifteen years after the death of Joash son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel.

14:18 The rest of Amaziah's deeds and everything he did—are these not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

14:19 They formed a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem, and he fled to Lachish. They sent after him to Lachish and put him to death there.

14:20 They carried him on horses, and he was buried in Jerusalem with his fathers in David's city.

14:21 All the people of Judah took Azariah—he was sixteen years old—and made him king in place of his father Amaziah.

14:22 He built Ailoth and restored it to Judah after the king lay down with his fathers.

14:23 In the fifteenth year of Amaziah son of Joash, king of Judah, Jeroboam son of Joash became king over Israel in Samaria, for forty-one years.

14:24 He did evil before the Lord. He did not turn away from any of the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin.

14:25 He shifted Israel's boundary from the entrance of Aimath to the Sea of the Arabah, according to the word of the Lord, Israel's God, which He spoke through His servant Jonah son of Amathi, the prophet from Gethchober.

14:26 For the Lord saw Israel's humiliation was very bitter, and they were few, hemmed in, impoverished, and abandoned; there was no one helping Israel.

14:27 The Lord had not spoken of blotting out Israel's seed from beneath heaven, and He saved them through Jeroboam son of Joash.

14:28 The rest of Jeroboam's deeds, all that he did, his mighty acts, all his warfare, and how he restored Damascus and Aimath to Judah in Israel—are these not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

14:29 Jeroboam lay down with his fathers, with Israel's kings, and Azariah son of Amaziah became king in place of his father.

2 Kings 15

15:1 In the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Azariah son of Amaziah, king of Judah, became king.

15:2 He was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Chalia, from Jerusalem.

15:3 He did what was right in the Lord's eyes, in accordance with everything his father Amaziah had done.

15:4 Only he did not remove the high places; the people still sacrificed and burned incense at the high places.

15:5 The Lord touched the king, and he was leprous until the day of his death. He reigned in the house of Apphousoth, while Jotham the king's son was over the house, judging the people of the land.

15:6 The rest of Azariah's deeds and all that he did—behold, are these not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

15:7 Azariah lay down with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in David's city. His son Jotham became king in his place.

15:8 In the thirty-eighth year of Azariah king of Judah, Zechariah son of Jeroboam became king over Israel in Samaria, for six months.

15:9 He did evil in the Lord's eyes as his fathers had done. He did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin.

15:10 Sellum son of Jabis and Keblaam conspired against him, struck him, and put him to death; Sellum became king in his place.

15:11 The rest of Zechariah's deeds—behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

15:12 The Lord's word which He spoke to Jehu was: 'Your sons to the fourth generation shall sit on Israel's throne.' And so it happened.

15:13 Sellum son of Jabis became king. In the thirty-ninth year of Azariah king of Judah, Sellum reigned a month of days in Samaria.

15:14 Manaem son of Gaddi went up from Tharsila, came to Samaria, struck Sellum son of Jabis in Samaria, and put him to death.

15:15 The rest of Sellum's deeds and the conspiracy he formed—behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

15:16 Then Manaem struck Thersa, everything in it, and its territory from Thersa, because they did not open to him. He struck it and ripped open the pregnant women.

15:17 In the thirty-ninth year of Azariah king of Judah, Manaem son of Gaddi became king over Israel for ten years in Samaria.

15:18 He did evil in the Lord's eyes. He did not turn away from any of the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin.

15:19 In his days Phul king of the Assyrians went up against the land. Manaem gave Phul a thousand talents of silver so that his hand would be with him.

15:20 Manaem exacted the silver from Israel, from everyone mighty in strength, to give to the king of the Assyrians: fifty shekels for each man. The king of the Assyrians returned and did not remain there in the land.

15:21 The rest of Manaem's deeds and all that he did—behold, are these not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

15:22 Manaem lay down with his fathers, and his son Phakeias became king in his place.

15:23 In the fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah, Phakeias son of Manaem became king over Israel in Samaria, for two years.

15:24 He did evil in the Lord's eyes. He did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin.

15:25 Phakee son of Romelias, his third-ranking officer, conspired against him and struck him in Samaria, in front of the king's house, with Argob and Aria. With him were fifty men from the four hundred. He put him to death and became king in his place.

15:26 The rest of Phakeias’s deeds and all that he did—behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

15:27 In the fifty-second year of Azariah king of Judah, Phakee son of Romelias became king over Israel in Samaria, for twenty years.

15:28 He did evil in the Lord’s eyes. He did not turn away from any of the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin.

15:29 In the days of Phakee king of Israel, Thaglathphellasar king of the Assyrians came and took Ain, Abelbaithamaacha, Janoch, Kenez, Asor, Gilead, and Galilee, all Naphtali’s land, and deported them to the Assyrians.

15:30 Hoshea son of Ela formed a conspiracy against Phakee son of Romelias, struck him, put him to death, and became king in his place, in the twentieth year of Jotham son of Azariah.

15:31 The rest of Phakee’s deeds and all that he did—behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

15:32 In the second year of Phakee son of Romelias, king of Israel, Jotham son of Azariah, king of Judah, became king.

15:33 He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Jerusa daughter of Sadok.

15:34 He did what was right in the Lord’s eyes, in accordance with everything his father Ozias had done.

15:35 Only he did not remove the high places; the people still sacrificed and burned incense at the high places. He built the upper gate of the Lord’s house.

15:36 The rest of Jotham’s deeds and everything he did—are these not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

15:37 In those days the Lord began sending Raasson king of Syria and Phakee son of Romelias against Judah.

15:38 Jotham lay down with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of his father David. His son Ahaz became king in his place.

2 Kings 16

16:1 In the seventeenth year of Phakee son of Romelias, Ahaz son of Jotham, king of Judah, became king.

16:2 Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. He did not faithfully do what was right in the eyes of the Lord his God, as his father David had done.

16:3 He walked in the way of Jeroboam son of Nebat, king of Israel. He even led his son through fire, according to the abominations of the nations whom the Lord removed before the Israelites.

16:4 He sacrificed and burned incense at the high places, on the hills, and under every leafy tree.

16:5 Then Raasson king of Syria and Phakee son of Romelias, king of Israel, went up to Jerusalem for war. They besieged Ahaz but could not wage the battle successfully.

16:6 At that time Raasson king of Syria restored Ailath to Syria and expelled the Judeans from Ailath. Idumeans came to Ailath and lived there to this day.

16:7 Ahaz sent messengers to Thaglathphellasar king of the Assyrians, saying, ‘I am your slave and your son. Come up and save me from the hand of the king of Syria and the hand of the king of Israel, who are rising against me.’

16:8 Ahaz took the silver and gold found in the treasuries of the Lord’s house and the king’s house, and sent gifts to the king.

16:9 The king of the Assyrians listened to him. The king of the Assyrians went up against Damascus, captured it, deported it, and put Raasson to death.

16:10 King Ahaz went to Damascus to meet Thaglathphellasar king of the Assyrians. He saw the altar in Damascus, and King Ahaz sent Uriah the priest the altar’s likeness and design for all its construction.

16:11 Uriah the priest built the altar in accordance with everything King Ahaz sent from Damascus.

16:12 The king saw the altar and went up onto it.

16:13 He burned his whole burnt offering, his sacrifice, and his drink offering, and poured the blood of his peace offerings against the altar.

16:14 He moved the bronze altar that stood before the Lord from the front of the Lord’s house, from between the altar and the Lord’s house, and placed it at the altar’s north side.

16:15 King Ahaz commanded Uriah the priest: ‘On the great altar offer the morning whole burnt offering and evening sacrifice, the king’s whole burnt offering and sacrifice, and the whole burnt offering of all the people, their sacrifice, and their drink offering. Pour all blood of whole burnt offering and all blood of sacrifice against it. The bronze altar shall be for me for the morning.’

16:16 Uriah the priest did in accordance with everything King Ahaz commanded him.

16:17 King Ahaz cut apart the enclosures of the mechonoth and removed the basin from them. He took the Sea down from the bronze oxen beneath it and placed it on a stone base.

16:18 He built the foundation of the seat in the Lord's house, and he turned the king's outer entrance into the Lord's house because of the king of the Assyrians.

16:19 The rest of Ahaz's deeds, what he did—are these not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

16:20 Ahaz lay down with his fathers and was buried in David's city. His son Hezekiah became king in his place.

2 Kings 17

17:1 In the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah, Hoshea son of Ela became king in Samaria over Israel, for nine years.

17:2 He did evil in the Lord's eyes, though not like the kings of Israel who were before him.

17:3 Salamanasar king of the Assyrians went up against him. Hoshea became his slave and paid him manaa.

17:4 The king of the Assyrians found wrongdoing in Hoshea, because he had sent messengers to Segor king of Egypt and had not brought manaa to the king of the Assyrians in that year. The king of the Assyrians besieged him and bound him in prison.

17:5 The king of the Assyrians went up through the whole land, went up to Samaria, and besieged it for three years.

17:6 In Hoshea's ninth year the king of the Assyrians captured Samaria and deported Israel to the Assyrians. He settled them in Alae and Abor, rivers of Gozan, and Ore of the Medes.

17:7 This happened because the Israelites sinned against the Lord their God, who brought them up from Egypt, from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and they feared other gods.

17:8 They walked in the ordinances of the nations whom the Lord removed before the Israelites; and Israel's kings, all who acted so,

17:9 and all the Israelites who clothed themselves in words that were not so against the Lord their God, built themselves high places in all their cities, from watchtower to fortified city.

17:10 They set up pillars and groves for themselves on every high hill and under every leafy tree.

17:11 They burned incense there at all the high places like the nations whom the Lord deported before them. They made associates and engraved, to provoke the Lord.

17:12 They served the idols, concerning which the Lord had said to them, 'You shall not do this thing to the Lord.'

17:13 The Lord warned Israel and Judah through all His prophets, every seer: 'Turn from your evil ways and keep My commandments, My ordinances, and all the law I commanded your fathers, all that I sent to them through My servants the prophets.'

17:14 But they did not listen. They hardened their back more than the back of their fathers.

17:15 They did not keep His testimonies by which He warned them. They followed vain things and became vain, and followed the nations around them, concerning whom He had commanded them not to do such things.

17:16 They abandoned the commandments of the Lord their God. They made a casting for themselves, two heifers, made groves, bowed down to all heaven's host, and served Baal.

17:17 They led their sons and daughters through fire, practiced divinations, read omens, and were sold to do evil in the Lord's eyes, provoking Him.

17:18 The Lord was very angry with Israel and removed them from His presence. None remained except the tribe of Judah alone.

17:19 Judah also did not keep the commandments of the Lord their God; they walked in the ordinances Israel had made.

17:20 They rejected the Lord throughout all Israel's seed; He shook them and gave them into the hands of those plundering them, until He cast them from His presence.

17:21 For Israel was apart from David's house, and they made Jeroboam son of Nebat king. Jeroboam thrust Israel away from following the Lord and caused them to commit a great sin.

17:22 The Israelites walked in every sin Jeroboam committed; they did not turn away from it,

17:23 until the Lord removed Israel from His presence, as the Lord had spoken through all His servants the prophets. Israel was deported from its land to the Assyrians, to this day.

17:24 The king of the Assyrians brought from Babylon the one from Chountha, and from Aia, Aimath, and Seppharouain. They were settled in Samaria's cities in place of the Israelites, took possession of Samaria, and lived in its cities.

17:25 At the beginning of their residence, they did not fear the Lord. The Lord sent lions among them, and they killed some of them.

17:26 They told the king of the Assyrians, ‘The nations you did deport and did resettle in Samaria’s cities do not know the judgment of the God of the land. He has sent lions among them, and behold, they are killing them, because they do not know the judgment of the God of the land.’

17:27 The king of the Assyrians commanded, ‘Take away from there; let them go and live there, and they shall enlighten them about the judgment of the God of the land.’

17:28 They brought one of the priests whom they had deported from Samaria, and he lived in Bethel. He enlightened them about how to fear the Lord.

17:29 But each nation made its own gods and placed them in the house of the high places which the Samaritans had made, the nations in their cities where they lived.

17:30 The men of Babylon made Sokchothbainith; the men of Chouth made Nerigel; the men of Aimath made Asimath.

17:31 The Evites made Eblazer and Tharthak, and the Seppharouain burned their sons in fire to Adramelech and Anemelech, gods of Seppharouain.

17:32 They feared the Lord and installed their abominations in the houses of the high places they had made in Samaria, each nation in the city where it lived. They feared the Lord and made priests of the high places for themselves, and performed rites for themselves in the house of the high places.

17:33 They feared the Lord while serving their own gods, according to the judgment of the nations from which he had deported them.

17:34 To this day they acted according to their judgment. They fear, and they act according to their ordinances, their judgment, the law, and the commandment which the Lord commanded Jacob’s sons, whom He named Israel.

17:35 The Lord made a covenant with them and commanded them, ‘You shall not fear other gods, bow down to them, serve them, or sacrifice to them,

17:36 but only the Lord, who brought you up from Egypt with great strength and a raised arm—Him you shall fear, to Him you shall bow down, and to Him you shall sacrifice.

17:37 The ordinances, judgments, law, and commandments He wrote for you, you shall take care to perform all the days; you shall not fear other gods.

17:38 You shall not forget the covenant He made with you, and you shall not fear other gods.

17:39 But you shall fear the Lord your God, and He will rescue you from all your enemies.

17:40 You shall not listen to their judgment, which they themselves practice.’

17:41 These nations feared the Lord while serving their carved images. Their sons and their sons’ sons also do as their fathers did, to this day.

2 Kings 18

18:1 In the third year of Hoshea son of Ela, king of Israel, Hezekiah son of Ahaz, king of Judah, became king.

18:2 He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Abou daughter of Zechariah.

18:3 He did what was right in the Lord’s eyes, in accordance with everything his father David had done.

18:4 He removed the high places, shattered all the pillars, and destroyed the groves and the bronze serpent Moses had made, because until those days the Israelites burned incense to it. He called it Neesthan.

18:5 He hoped in the Lord, Israel’s God. Among Judah’s kings there was none like him after him, nor among those before him.

18:6 He clung to the Lord, did not turn away from following Him, and kept His commandments which He commanded Moses.

18:7 The Lord was with him; in everything he did, he acted with understanding. He broke with the king of the Assyrians and did not serve him.

18:8 He struck the foreigners as far as Gaza and its boundary, from watchtower to fortified city.

18:9 In King Hezekiah’s fourth year—which was the seventh year of Hoshea son of Ela, king of Israel—Salamanassar king of the Assyrians went up against Samaria and besieged it.

18:10 He captured it at the end of three years, in Hezekiah’s sixth year—which was Hoshea king of Israel’s ninth year—and Samaria was captured.

18:11 The king of the Assyrians deported Samaria to the Assyrians and placed them in Alae, on the Abor, the river of Gozan, and in Ore of the Medes.

18:12 This was because they did not listen to the voice of the Lord their God but transgressed His covenant, everything Moses the Lord’s servant commanded. They neither listened nor acted.

18:13 In King Hezekiah’s fourteenth year, Sennacherib king of the Assyrians went up against Judah’s fortified cities and captured them.

18:14 Hezekiah king of Judah sent messengers to the king of the Assyrians at Lachish: ‘I have sinned. Withdraw from me; whatever you impose on me, I will bear.’ The king of the Assyrians imposed on Hezekiah king of Judah three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold.

18:15 Hezekiah gave all the silver found in the Lord’s house and in the treasuries of the king’s house.

18:16 At that time Hezekiah cut apart the doors of the Lord’s sanctuary and the fixed supports which Hezekiah king of Judah had gilded, and gave them to the king of the Assyrians.

18:17 The king of the Assyrians sent Tharthan, Raphis, and Rhapsakes from Lachish to King Hezekiah against Jerusalem with a great force. They went up, came to Jerusalem, and stood at the aqueduct of the upper pool, on the road of the Fuller’s Field.

18:18 They called to Hezekiah. Eliakim son of Chelkias the steward, Somnas the scribe, and Joash son of Asaph the recorder went out to him.

18:19 Rhapsakes said to them, ‘Tell Hezekiah: Thus says the great king, the king of the Assyrians: What is this confidence in which you trust?

18:20 You said—only words of lips!—“Counsel and strength for war.” Now then, in whom do you trust, that you have broken with me?

18:21 Now behold, you have put your trust in this broken reed staff, Egypt. If a man supports himself on it, it enters his hand and pierces it. So is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who trust him.

18:22 Since you said to me, “We trust the Lord God,” is He not the One whose high places and altars Hezekiah removed, saying to Judah and Jerusalem, “Before this altar you shall bow down in Jerusalem”?

18:23 Now join yourselves to my master, the king of the Assyrians. I will give you two thousand horses if you can provide riders for them.

18:24 How can you turn back the face of one district governor, one of my master’s least servants? Yet you hope in Egypt for chariots and horsemen!

18:25 Now have we come up without the Lord against this place to destroy it? The Lord said to me, “Go up against this land and destroy it.”’

18:26 Eliakim son of Chelkias, Somnas, and Joash said to Rhapsakes, ‘Please speak to your servants in Syrian, for we understand it. Do not speak with us in Judean. Why are you speaking within the hearing of the people on the wall?’

18:27 Rhapsakes said to them, ‘Has my master sent me to speak these words to your master and to you? Was it not to the men sitting on the wall, who are to eat their own dung and drink their own urine together with you?’

18:28 Rhapsakes stood and cried out loudly in Judean: ‘Hear the words of the great king of the Assyrians!

18:29 Thus says the king: Do not let Hezekiah lift you up with words, for he cannot rescue you from my hand.

18:30 Do not let Hezekiah make you hope in the Lord by saying, “The Lord will surely rescue us; this city will certainly not be handed into the hand of the king of the Assyrians.”

18:31 Do not listen to Hezekiah, for thus says the king of the Assyrians: Make a blessing with me and come out to me. Each man shall drink from his vine, eat from his fig tree, and drink water from his cistern,

18:32 until I come and take you to a land like your own, a land of grain, wine, bread, and vineyards, a land of oil-bearing olives and honey. You will live and certainly not die. Do not listen to Hezekiah, because he deceives you, saying, “The Lord will rescue us.”

18:33 Have the gods of the nations ever rescued, each his own country, from the hand of the king of the Assyrians?

18:34 Where is the god of Aimath and Arphad? Where is the god of Seppharouain? And have they rescued Samaria from my hand?

18:35 Who among all the gods of the lands has rescued their lands from my hand, that the Lord should rescue Jerusalem from my hand?’

18:36 They kept silent and did not answer him a word, for the king had commanded, ‘Do not answer him.’

18:37 Eliakim son of Chelkias the steward, Somnas the scribe, and Joash son of Asaph the recorder came to Hezekiah with torn garments and reported Rhapsakes’s words to him.

2 Kings 19

19:1 When King Hezekiah heard, he tore his garments, put on sackcloth, and entered the Lord’s house.

19:2 He sent Eliakim the steward, Somnas the scribe, and the elders of the priests, clothed in sackcloth, to Isaiah the prophet, son of Amos.

19:3 They said to him, ‘Thus says Hezekiah: This day is a day of affliction, rebuke, and provocation. Children have reached the birth pains, but the woman giving birth has no strength.

19:4 Perhaps the Lord your God will hear all Rhapsakes's words, whom his master the king of the Assyrians sent to reproach the living God and to blaspheme with words which the Lord your God has heard. Take up a prayer for the remnant that remains.'

19:5 King Hezekiah's servants came to Isaiah.

19:6 Isaiah said to them, 'Tell your master: Thus says the Lord: Do not fear the words you have heard, with which the king of the Assyrians' young servants blasphemed.

19:7 Behold, I am putting a spirit within him. He shall hear a report and return to his land, and I shall bring him down by the sword in his land.'

19:8 Rhapsakes returned and found the king of the Assyrians fighting against Lomna, for he had heard that he had departed from Lachish.

19:9 He heard concerning Tharaka king of the Ethiopians, 'Behold, he has come out to fight you.' He returned and sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

19:10 'Do not let your God, in whom you trust, lift you up by saying, "Jerusalem will certainly not be handed into the hands of the king of the Assyrians."

19:11 Behold, you have heard everything the kings of the Assyrians did to all the lands, devoting them to destruction. And will you be rescued?

19:12 Did the gods of the nations my fathers destroyed rescue them—Gozan, Charran, Raphes, and the sons of Edem in Thaesthen?

19:13 Where are the king of Aimath and the king of Arphad? And where are Seppharouain, Ana, and Ava?'

19:14 Hezekiah took the letters from the messengers' hand and read them. He went up to the Lord's house, and Hezekiah unfolded them before the Lord.

19:15 He said, 'Lord, Israel's God, seated upon the cherubim, Thou alone art God among all the kingdoms of the earth. Thou madest heaven and earth.

19:16 Incline Thine ear, Lord, and hear. Open Thine eyes, Lord, and see. Hear Sennacherib's words, which he sent to reproach the living God.

19:17 For truly, Lord, the kings of the Assyrians have devastated the nations

19:18 and put their gods into the fire, for they are not gods but the work of human hands, wood and stones; so they destroyed them.

19:19 Now, Lord our God, save us from his hand, and all the kingdoms of the earth will know that Thou art the Lord, God alone.'

19:20 Isaiah son of Amos sent to Hezekiah: 'Thus says the Lord, the God of hosts, Israel's God: What you did pray to Me concerning Sennacherib king of the Assyrians, I have heard.

19:21 This is the word the Lord has spoken concerning him: Virgin daughter Zion despises you and sneers at you; daughter Jerusalem shakes her head at you.

19:22 Whom have you reproached and blasphemed? Against whom have you raised your voice? You have lifted your eyes on high against Israel's Holy One!

19:23 Through your messengers you did reproach the Lord and did say, "With the multitude of my chariots I shall climb the mountain heights, Lebanon's flanks. I cut down its cedar's height, its choice cypresses, and came to the melon of its farthest part, the woodland of its Carmel.

19:24 I cooled and drank foreign waters, and with my foot's tread I dried up all rivers of enclosure."

19:25 I formed it; now I brought it. It became a carrying away into exiles of fighting men—fortified cities.

19:26 Their inhabitants grew weak in hand, cowered, and were ashamed. They became field grass or green herbage, rooftop grass, and a trampling before one standing.

19:27 I know your sitting, your going out, your coming in, and your anger against Me.

19:28 Because you were angry with Me and your arrogance rose to My ears, I shall put My hooks in your nostrils and a bridle in your lips, and turn you back by the road on which you came.

19:29 This shall be the sign for you: You shall eat this year what grows by itself, and in the second year what sprouts. In the third, sowing, harvest, and planting vineyards; you shall eat their fruit.

19:30 The rescued remnant of Judah's house shall again take root downward and bear fruit upward.

19:31 For a remnant shall come out from Jerusalem, and one escaping from Mount Zion. The zeal of the Lord of hosts shall do this.

19:32 Not so! Thus says the Lord concerning the king of the Assyrians: He shall not enter this city or shoot an arrow there; no shield shall come before it, and he shall certainly not pour up a siege ramp against it.

19:33 By the road on which he came he shall return; he shall not enter this city, says the Lord.

19:34 I shall shield this city for My own sake and for the sake of David My servant.'

19:35 By night the Lord's angel went out and struck one hundred eighty-five thousand in the Assyrians' camp. When they rose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead bodies.

19:36 Sennacherib king of the Assyrians departed, went away, returned, and lived in Nineveh.

19:37 As he was bowing down in the house of Neserach his god, his sons Adramelech and Sarasar struck him with the sword and escaped to the land of Ararat. His son Asordan became king in his place.

2 Kings 20

20:1 In those days Hezekiah became sick to the point of death. Isaiah son of Amos the prophet came to him and said, ‘Thus says the Lord: Give instructions for your house, for you are dying and shall not live.’

20:2 Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the Lord,

20:3 ‘I pray Thee, Lord, remember how I walked before Thee in truth and with a full heart, and did what was good in Thine eyes.’ Hezekiah wept bitterly.

20:4 Isaiah was in the middle courtyard when the Lord’s word came to him:

20:5 ‘Return and tell Hezekiah, leader of My people: Thus says the Lord, the God of your father David: I have heard your prayer and seen your tears. Behold, I shall heal you; on the third day you shall go up to the Lord’s house,

20:6 and I shall add fifteen years to your days. I shall save you and this city from the hand of the king of the Assyrians, and shield this city for My own sake and for the sake of David My servant.’

20:7 He said, ‘Let them take a cake of figs and place it on the ulcer, and he will recover.’

20:8 Hezekiah said to Isaiah, ‘What is the sign that the Lord will heal me and I shall go up to the Lord’s house on the third day?’

20:9 Isaiah said, ‘This is the sign from the Lord that the Lord will do the word He has spoken: The shadow will advance ten steps, if it returns ten steps.’

20:10 Hezekiah said, ‘It is easy for the shadow to incline ten steps. No, let the shadow return ten steps backward.’

20:11 Isaiah the prophet cried to the Lord, and the shadow returned backward ten steps on the stairway.

20:12 At that time Marodachbaladan son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and manaa to Hezekiah, because he heard that Hezekiah was sick.

20:13 Hezekiah rejoiced over them and showed them the whole house of the nechotha: the silver, gold, spices, fine oil, the house of equipment, and everything found in his treasuries. There was nothing in his house or all his authority that Hezekiah did not show them.

20:14 Isaiah the prophet came to King Hezekiah and said, ‘What did these men say, and from where have they come to you?’ Hezekiah said, ‘They have come to me from a distant land, from Babylon.’

20:15 He said, ‘What have they seen in your house?’ He said, ‘They saw everything in my house. There was nothing in my house that I did not show them, and also the things in my treasuries.’

20:16 Isaiah said to Hezekiah, ‘Hear the Lord’s word:

20:17 Behold, days are coming when everything in your house, and what your fathers stored up to this day, shall be taken to Babylon. No word which the Lord spoke shall be left over.

20:18 He shall take your sons who come forth from you, whom you beget, and they shall be eunuchs in the house of the king of Babylon.’

20:19 Hezekiah said to Isaiah, ‘The word of the Lord which He spoke is good. Let there be peace in my days.’

20:20 The rest of Hezekiah’s deeds, all his might, and what he made—the fountain and aqueduct—and how he brought water into the city—are these not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

20:21 Hezekiah lay down with his fathers and was buried in David’s city. His son Manasseh became king in his place.

2 Kings 21

21:1 Manasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Opsiba.

21:2 He did evil in the Lord’s eyes, according to the abominations of the nations whom the Lord removed before the Israelites.

21:3 He rebuilt the high places his father Hezekiah had pulled down, erected an altar for Baal, and made groves as Ahab king of Israel had done. He bowed down to all heaven’s host and served them.

21:4 He built an altar in the Lord’s house, as He had said, ‘In Jerusalem I shall place My name.’

21:5 He built an altar for all heaven’s host in the two courts of the Lord’s house.

21:6 He led his sons through fire, practiced divination from sounds, read omens, and appointed a charmer and knowing ones. He did much evil in the Lord’s eyes, provoking Him.

21:7 He placed the carved image of the grove in the house of which the Lord said to David and his son Solomon, ‘In this house and in Jerusalem, which I chose from all Israel’s tribes, I shall place My name there for ever.

21:8 I shall no longer shake Israel's foot from the land I gave their fathers, for those who keep everything I commanded according to the whole commandment My servant Moses commanded them.'

21:9 But they did not listen. Manasseh led them astray to do evil in the Lord's eyes beyond the nations whom the Lord obliterated before the Israelites.

21:10 The Lord spoke through His servants the prophets:

21:11 'Because Manasseh king of Judah has done these evil abominations, worse than everything the Amorite before him did, and has also caused Judah to sin through their idols,

21:12 not so! Thus says the Lord, Israel's God: Behold, I am bringing disasters upon Jerusalem and Judah, so that both ears of everyone hearing shall ring.

21:13 I shall stretch over Jerusalem Samaria's measure and the weight of Ahab's house. I shall wipe Jerusalem as an alabaster jar is wiped, wiped and overturned on its face.

21:14 I shall reject the remnant of My inheritance and hand them into their enemies' hands. They shall become plunder and booty for all their enemies,

21:15 because they did evil in My eyes and provoked Me from the day I brought their fathers out of Egypt until this day.'

21:16 Manasseh also poured out very much innocent blood, until he filled Jerusalem from end to end, besides his sins by which he caused Judah to do evil in the Lord's eyes.

21:17 The rest of Manasseh's deeds, all that he did, and the sin he committed—are these not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

21:18 Manasseh lay down with his fathers and was buried in the garden of his house, in Oza's garden. His son Amon became king in his place.

21:19 Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Mesollam daughter of Arous, from Jeteba.

21:20 He did evil in the Lord's eyes, as his father Manasseh had done.

21:21 He walked in every way his father had walked, served the idols his father had served, and bowed down to them.

21:22 He abandoned the Lord, the God of his fathers, and did not walk in the Lord's way.

21:23 Amon's servants conspired against him and put the king to death in his house.

21:24 All the people of the land struck down all who had conspired against King Amon. The people of the land made his son Josiah king in his place.

21:25 The rest of Amon's deeds, what he did—behold, are these not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

21:26 They buried him in his tomb in Oza's garden. His son Josiah became king in his place.

2 Kings 22

22:1 Josiah was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jedida daughter of Edeia, from Basouroth.

22:2 He did what was right in the Lord's eyes and walked in every way of his father David, turning aside neither right nor left.

22:3 In King Josiah's eighteenth year, in the eighth month, the king sent Sapphan son of Eselias son of Mesollam, the scribe of the Lord's house, saying,

22:4 'Go up to Chelkias the high priest and seal the silver brought into the Lord's house, which those guarding the doorpost collected from the people.

22:5 Let them give it into the hand of the workers appointed in the Lord's house.' He gave it to the workers in the Lord's house to strengthen the house's bedek:

22:6 to the carpenters, builders, and wall builders, and to acquire timber and quarried stones to strengthen the house's bedek.

22:7 But they did not demand an account from them for the silver given to them, for they act faithfully.

22:8 Chelkias the high priest said to Sapphan the scribe, 'I found a book of the law in the Lord's house.' Chelkias gave the book to Sapphan, and he read it.

22:9 He brought it to King Josiah, reported to the king, and said, 'Your servants have melted down the silver found in the Lord's house and given it into the hand of the workers appointed in the Lord's house.'

22:10 Sapphan the scribe told the king, 'Chelkias the priest gave me a book.' Sapphan read it before the king.

22:11 When the king heard the words of the book of the law, he tore his garments.

22:12 The king commanded Chelkias the priest, Achikam son of Sapphan, Achobor son of Michaias, Sapphan the scribe, and Asaia the king's servant:

22:13 ‘Come, seek the Lord for me, for all the people, and for all Judah concerning the words of this book that has been found. For great is the Lord’s anger which burns among us, because our fathers did not listen to this book’s words, to do everything written against us.’

22:14 Chelkias the priest, Achikam, Achobor, Sapphan, and Asaias went to Olda the prophetess, wife of Sellem son of Thekoue son of Araas, keeper of the garments. She lived in Jerusalem in the masena. They spoke to her.

22:15 She said to them, ‘Thus says the Lord, Israel’s God: Tell the man who sent you to me:

22:16 Thus says the Lord: Behold, I am bringing disasters on this place and its inhabitants, all the words of the book which the king of Judah has read,

22:17 because they abandoned Me and burned incense to other gods, provoking Me with the works of their hands. My wrath shall burn against this place and shall not be quenched.

22:18 But to the king of Judah who sent you to seek the Lord, say this: Thus says the Lord, Israel’s God: The words you have heard—

22:19 because your heart was softened and you did feel shame before the Lord when you heard what I spoke against this place and its inhabitants, that they should become an obliteration and a curse, and because you did rend your garments and did weep before Me, I also have heard, says the Lord.

22:20 Not so! Behold, I am adding you to your fathers, and you shall be gathered into your grave in peace. None of all the disasters I am bringing upon this place shall appear before your eyes.’ They reported the word to the king.

2 Kings 23

23:1 The king sent and gathered to himself all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem.

23:2 The king went up to the Lord’s house, with every man of Judah and all who inhabited Jerusalem, the priests, the prophets, and all the people, from small to great. He read in their hearing all the words of the covenant book found in the Lord’s house.

23:3 The king stood beside the pillar and made a covenant before the Lord: to follow the Lord and keep His commandments, testimonies, and ordinances with the whole heart and whole soul, upholding the words of this covenant, the things written in this book. All the people stood in the covenant.

23:4 The king commanded Chelkias the high priest, the priests of the second rank, and the doorpost guards to bring out of the Lord’s sanctuary all the vessels made for Baal, for the grove, and for all heaven’s host. He burned them outside Jerusalem in the sademoth of Kidron and took their dust to Bethel.

23:5 He put an end to the chomarim whom Judah’s kings had appointed, who burned incense at the high places and in Judah’s cities and the places around Jerusalem, and to those burning incense to Baal, the sun, the moon, the mazouroth, and all heaven’s host.

23:6 He brought the grove out of the Lord’s house, outside Jerusalem to the Kidron torrent. He burned it in the Kidron torrent, reduced it to dust, and threw its dust into the grave of the sons of the people.

23:7 He pulled down the house of the kadesim in the Lord’s house, where the women were weaving chettiin for the grove.

23:8 He brought up all the priests from Judah’s cities and defiled the high places where the priests burned incense, from Gabaa to Beersheba. He pulled down the house of the gates beside the doorway of the gate of Joshua, the city’s ruler, on a man’s left at the city gate.

23:9 Nevertheless, the priests of the high places did not go up to the Lord’s altar in Jerusalem; they only ate unleavened bread among their brothers.

23:10 He defiled Tapheth in the valley of the son of Ennom, for a man to lead his son, and a man his daughter, through fire to Moloch.

23:11 He removed the horses which Judah’s kings had given to the sun, at the entrance of the Lord’s house, toward the treasury of Nathan the king, the eunuch, in the pharourim. He burned the sun’s chariot with fire.

23:12 The king pulled down the altars on the roof of Ahaz’s upper chamber which Judah’s kings had made, and the altars Manasseh had made in the two courts of the Lord’s house. He tore them down from there and threw their dust into the Kidron torrent.

23:13 The king defiled the house facing Jerusalem, to the right of Mount Mosoath, which Solomon king of Israel had built for Astarte, the Sidonians’ offensive thing, for Chamos, Moab’s offensive thing, and for Molchol, the Ammonites’ abomination.

23:14 He shattered the pillars, destroyed the groves, and filled their sites with human bones.

23:15 Moreover, he tore down the altar at Bethel, the high place Jeroboam son of Nabat had made, who caused Israel to sin—both that altar and the high place. He shattered its stones, reduced it to dust, and burned the grove.

23:16 Josiah turned aside and saw the tombs there in the city. He sent and took the bones from the tombs, burned them on the altar, and defiled it, according to the Lord's word which the man of God spoke while Jeroboam stood at the festival beside the altar. Turning, he lifted his eyes toward the tomb of the man of God who had spoken these words.

23:17 He said, 'What is that rocky marker I see?' The city's men told him, 'It is the man of God who came out of Judah and proclaimed these words which he proclaimed against Bethel's altar.'

23:18 He said, 'Leave it alone. Let no one move his bones.' His bones were spared together with the bones of the prophet who came from Samaria.

23:19 Josiah also removed all the high-place houses in Samaria's cities which Israel's kings had made to provoke the Lord. He carried out in them all the works he had carried out at Bethel.

23:20 He sacrificed all the priests of the high places who were there upon the altars, and burned human bones upon them. Then he returned to Jerusalem.

23:21 The king commanded all the people, 'Keep Passover to the Lord our God, as written in this covenant book.'

23:22 For this Passover had not occurred since the days of the judges who judged Israel, throughout all the days of Israel's kings and Judah's kings.

23:23 Only in King Josiah's eighteenth year did this Passover to the Lord take place in Jerusalem.

23:24 King Josiah also removed the charmers, the knowing ones, the theraphin, the idols, and all the offensive things present in Judah's land and Jerusalem, to uphold the law's words written in the book Chelkias the priest found in the Lord's house.

23:25 Before him there was no king like him who returned to the Lord with his whole heart, his whole soul, and all his strength, according to all Moses' law; and after him none like him arose.

23:26 Nevertheless, the Lord did not turn from His great burning wrath which burned against Judah because of the provocations with which Manasseh had provoked Him.

23:27 The Lord said, 'I shall also remove Judah from My presence, as I removed Israel. I shall reject this city which I chose, Jerusalem, and the house of which I said, "My name shall be there."'

23:28 The rest of Josiah's acts and everything he did—are these not written in the book of the chronicles of Judah's kings?

23:29 In his days Pharaoh Nechao king of Egypt went up against the king of the Assyrians to the River Euphrates. Josiah went to meet him, and Nechao killed him at Mageddo when he saw him.

23:30 His servants transported him dead from Mageddo, brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his grave in David's city. The people of the land took Joachas son of Josiah, anointed him, and made him king in his father's place.

23:31 Joachas was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Amital daughter of Jeremiah, from Lemna.

23:32 He did what was evil in the Lord's eyes, according to everything his fathers had done.

23:33 Pharaoh Nechao removed him at Deblatha in Emath's land so that he would not reign in Jerusalem. He imposed a penalty on the land of one hundred talents of silver and one hundred talents of gold.

23:34 Pharaoh Nechao made Eliakim, son of Josiah king of Judah, king over them in place of his father Josiah and changed his name to Joakim. He took Joachas and brought him into Egypt, and he died there.

23:35 Joakim gave the silver and gold to Pharaoh, but assessed the land to provide the silver at Pharaoh's command. Each according to his assessment, they gave the silver and gold with the people of the land, to give to Pharaoh Nechao.

23:36 Joakim was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jeldaph daughter of Phedeia, from Rouma.

23:37 He did what was evil in the Lord's eyes, according to everything his fathers had done.

2 Kings 24

24:1 In his days Nabouchodonosor king of Babylon came up. Joakim became his slave for three years, then turned and broke faith with him.

24:2 He sent against him the lightly equipped raiders of the Chaldeans, Syria, Moab, and the Ammonites. He sent them out in Judah's land to prevail, according to the Lord's word which He spoke through His servants the prophets.

24:3 Nevertheless, this came upon Judah because of the Lord's anger, to remove it from His presence because of Manasseh's sins, according to everything he had done.

24:4 He also shed innocent blood and filled Jerusalem with innocent blood, and the Lord was unwilling to be propitiated.

24:5 The rest of Joakim's acts and everything he did—behold, are these not written in the book of the chronicles of Judah's kings?

24:6 Joakim lay down with his fathers, and his son Joakim became king in his place.

24:7 The king of Egypt did not again leave his land, because the king of Babylon had taken everything belonging to the king of Egypt from Egypt's torrent to the River Euphrates.

24:8 Joakim was eighteen years old when he became king, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Nestha daughter of Ellanathan, from Jerusalem.

24:9 He did what was evil in the Lord's eyes, according to everything his father had done.

24:10 At that time Nabouchodonosor king of Babylon came up to Jerusalem, and the city came under siege.

24:11 Nabouchodonosor king of Babylon entered the city while his servants were besieging it.

24:12 Joakim king of Judah went out to the king of Babylon, he, his servants, his mother, his rulers, and his eunuchs. The king of Babylon took him in the eighth year of his reign.

24:13 He brought out from there all the treasures of the Lord's house and the treasures of the king's house. He cut apart all the gold vessels Solomon king of Israel had made in the Lord's sanctuary, according to the Lord's word.

24:14 He deported Jerusalem, all the rulers, and the mighty in strength, taking ten thousand captives, and every craftsman and one who shuts up. None remained except the land's poor.

24:15 He deported Joakim to Babylon, along with the king's mother, the king's wives, and his eunuchs. He led the land's powerful men into deportation from Jerusalem to Babylon, 24:16 and all the men of the force, seven thousand, and the craftsmen and those who shut up, one thousand—all mighty men who waged war. The king of Babylon brought them into deportation to Babylon.

24:17 The king of Babylon made Maththanias, his son, king in his place and gave him the name Sedekias.

24:18 Sedekias was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Amital daughter of Jeremiah.

24:19 He did what was evil before the Lord, according to everything Joakim had done.

24:20 For this came upon Jerusalem and Judah because of the Lord's anger, until He cast them from His presence. Sedekias broke faith with the king of Babylon.

2 Kings 25

25:1 In the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, Nabouchodonosor king of Babylon came with all his force against Jerusalem. He camped against it and built an enclosing wall against it all around.

25:2 The city remained under siege until King Sedekias's eleventh year.

25:3 On the ninth of the month the famine grew severe in the city, and there were no loaves for the people of the land.

25:4 The city was breached, and all the men of war went out by night by way of the gate between the walls, the one belonging to the king's garden, with the Chaldeans surrounding the city. He went by the way of the Araba.

25:5 The Chaldean force pursued the king and overtook him in Araboth Jericho, and all his force scattered away from him.

25:6 They seized the king and brought him to the king of Babylon at Deblatha, and he pronounced judgment upon him.

25:7 He slaughtered Sedekias's sons before his eyes. He blinded Sedekias's eyes, bound him with fetters, and brought him to Babylon.

25:8 In the fifth month, on the seventh of the month, in the nineteenth year of Nabouchodonosor king of Babylon, Nabouzardan, the chief cook who stood before the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem.

25:9 He set fire to the Lord's house, the king's house, and all Jerusalem's houses; every house was set ablaze by 25:10 the chief cook.

25:11 Nabouzardan, the chief cook, removed the rest of the people left in the city, those who had gone over to the king of Babylon, and the remaining support.

25:12 The chief cook left some of the land's poor as vinedressers and as gabin.

25:13 The Chaldeans shattered the bronze pillars in the Lord's house, the mechonoth, and the bronze sea in the Lord's house, and carried their bronze to Babylon.

25:14 He took the cauldrons, the iamin, the bowls, the incense dishes, and all the bronze utensils with which they ministered.

25:15 The chief cook took the firepans and the gold and silver bowls,

25:16 the two pillars, the one sea, and the mechonoth which Solomon made for the Lord’s house. The bronze of all the objects had no reckoned weight.

25:17 One pillar was eighteen cubits high, with the bronze chothar upon it. The chothar was three cubits high, with sabacha and pomegranates around the chothar, all bronze. The second pillar was the same, with the sabacha.

25:18 The chief cook took Saraias the first priest, Sophonias, son of the second rank, and the three doorpost guards,

25:19 and from the city he took one eunuch who supervised the warriors, five men who saw the king’s face who were found in the city, the scribe of the commander of the force who drew up the people of the land, and sixty men of the people of the land found in the city.

25:20 Nabouzardan, the chief cook, took them and led them to the king of Babylon at Deblatha.

25:21 The king of Babylon struck them and put them to death at Deblatha in Aimath’s land. Judah was deported from its land.

25:22 As for the people remaining in Judah’s land whom Nabouchodonosor king of Babylon had left, he appointed over them Godolias son of Achikam son of Saphan.

25:23 All the commanders of the force, they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon had appointed Godolias. They came to Godolias at Massephath: Ishmael son of Nathanias, Joanan son of Karee, Saraias son of Thanemath the Netophathite, and Jezonias son of the Machathi, they and their men.

25:24 Godolias swore to them and their men and said, ‘Do not fear the passing of the Chaldeans. Settle in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall go well for you.’

25:25 In the seventh month Ishmael son of Nathanias son of Elisama, of the kings’ offspring, came with ten men. He struck Godolias—who died—and the Judeans and Chaldeans who were with him at Massephath.

25:26 All the people, from small to great, and the commanders of the forces arose and entered Egypt, for they feared the Chaldeans.

25:27 In the thirty-seventh year of the deportation of Joakim king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-seventh of the month, Euilmarodach king of Babylon, in the year of his reign, lifted the head of Joakim king of Judah and brought him out of his prison house.

25:28 He spoke kindly to him and placed his throne above the thrones of the kings who were with him in Babylon,

25:29 and he changed his prison garments, and he ate bread continually before him all the days of his life.

25:30 His table provision was given to him continually from the king’s house, each day’s portion on its day, all the days of his life.

1 Chronicles 10

10:1 The foreigners fought against Israel. They fled before the foreigners and fell wounded on Mount Gelboue.

10:2 The foreigners pursued Saul and his sons, and the foreigners struck Jonathan, Amminadab, and Melchisoue, Saul's sons.

10:3 The battle weighed heavily on Saul. The archers found him with bows and pains, and he suffered from the bows.

10:4 Saul said to the man carrying his equipment, "Draw your sword and pierce me with it, lest these uncircumcised men come and mock me." The man carrying his equipment was unwilling, for he was very afraid. Saul took the sword and fell on it.

10:5 The man carrying his equipment saw that Saul was dead; he too fell on his sword and died.

10:6 Saul and his three sons died on that day, and all his house died together.

10:7 Every man of Israel in the valley saw that Israel had fled and that Saul and his sons were dead. They abandoned their cities and fled; the foreigners came and dwelt in them.

10:8 The next day the foreigners came to plunder the wounded and found Saul and his sons fallen on Mount Gelboue.

10:9 They stripped him and took his head and his equipment, and sent throughout the foreigners' land to announce good news to their idols and to the people.

10:10 They placed his equipment in the house of their god, and placed his head in the house of Dagon.

10:11 All those dwelling in Galaad heard everything the foreigners had done to Saul and to Israel.

10:12 Every mighty man arose from Galaad. They took Saul's body and the body of his sons, brought them to Jabis, buried their bones beneath the oak in Jabis, and fasted seven days.

10:13 Saul died in the lawless acts he committed against the Lord, according to the Lord's word, because he did not keep it; because Saul inquired through the spirit medium to seek counsel, and Samuel the prophet answered him.

10:14 He did not seek the Lord, and He killed him and turned the kingdom over to David son of Jesse.

1 Chronicles 11

11:1 All Israel came to David at Hebron, saying, "Behold, we are your bones and your flesh.

11:2 Formerly, while Saul was king, you were the one leading Israel out and bringing them in. The Lord your God said to you, 'You shall shepherd My people Israel, and you shall be leader over Israel.'"

11:3 All Israel's elders came to the king in Hebron. King David established a covenant with them in Hebron before the Lord, and they anointed David king over Israel, according to the Lord's word through Samuel.

11:4 The king and the men of Israel went to Jerusalem, which is Jebus; the Jebusites, inhabitants of the land, were there.

11:5 The inhabitants of Jebus said to David, "You shall not enter here." But he seized the fortified enclosure of Zion, which is the City of David.

11:6 David said, "Whoever strikes a Jebusite first shall become a ruler and general." Joab son of Sarouia went up against it first and became ruler.

11:7 David settled in the fortified enclosure; therefore he called it the City of David.

11:8 He built the city all around, and fought and took the city.

11:9 David continued growing greater, and the Lord Almighty was with him.

11:10 These were the rulers of David's mighty men, who grew strong with him in his kingdom, together with all Israel, so that he might reign according to the Lord's word concerning Israel.

11:11 This was the number of David's mighty men: Jesebaal son of Achamani, first of the thirty; he drew his sword once against three hundred wounded at one time.

11:12 After him was Eleazar son of Dodai the Achochi; he was among the three mighty men.

11:13 He was with David at Phasodomin, where the foreigners gathered for war. There was a portion of the field full of barley, and the people fled before the foreigners.

11:14 He stood in the middle of the plot, saved it, and struck the foreigners; the Lord brought about a great deliverance.

11:15 Three of the thirty rulers went down to the rock, to David at the cave of Odollam, while the foreigners' camp was encamped in the Valley of the Giants.

11:16 David was then in the fortified enclosure, and the foreigners' garrison was then in Bethlehem.

11:17 David desired it and said, "Who will give me water to drink from Bethlehem's cistern at the gate?"

11:18 The three broke through the foreigners' camp, drew water from the cistern in Bethlehem at the gate, took it, and came to David. David did not wish to drink it and poured it as a libation to the Lord.

11:19 He said, “May God be gracious unto me, that I should not do this deed! Shall I drink the blood of these men at the cost of their lives? For at the cost of their lives they brought it.” He would not drink it. The three mighty men did these things.

Note †: 11:19 Wording. The blood image describes the men’s lives placed at risk. The repeated reference to their lives is retained.

11:20 Abessa, Joab’s brother, was ruler of the three. He drew his sword against three hundred wounded at one time, and he was renowned among the three.

11:21 Among the three he was honored above the two and became their ruler, but he did not attain to the three.

11:22 Banaias son of Jodae, son of a mighty man—many were his deeds beyond Kabasael. He struck the two ariels of Moab; he also went down and struck the lion in the pit on a snowy day.

Note †: 11:22 Meaning. Ariels is retained as an uncertain designation in this account. The reading does not decide whether it names persons, a title, or an image.

11:23 He struck an Egyptian man, a conspicuous man five cubits tall. The Egyptian held a spear like a weavers’ beam. Banaias went down against him with a staff, took the spear from the Egyptian’s hand, and killed him with his own spear.

11:24 Banaias son of Jodae did these things, and he had a name among the three mighty men.

11:25 He was honored above the thirty, but did not attain to the three. David appointed him over his ancestral house.

11:26 The mighty men of the forces were Asael, Joab’s brother; Eleanan son of Dodo from Baithlaem;

11:27 Sammoth the Adite; Chelles the Phelonite;

12:17 Some of Benjamin's and Judah's sons came to David's aid.

12:18 David went out to meet them and said to them, "If you have come unto me in peace, may my heart be freely inclined toward you. But if you have come to deliver me to my enemies, without truth of hand, may the God of our fathers see and reprove."

Note †: 12:18 Meaning. "Freely inclined" is a contextual rendering of the difficult heart expression. "Without truth of hand" remains opaque; neither phrase has received independent linguistic approval.

12:19 A spirit clothed Amasai, ruler of the thirty, and he said, "Go, you and your people, David son of Jesse! Peace, peace unto you, and peace unto your helpers, for your God has helped you!" David received them and appointed them rulers of the forces.

12:20 Some from Manasseh came over to David when the foreigners came against Saul for war, and he did not help them, for a decision was made among the foreigners' generals, who said, "With those men's heads he will return to his master Saul."

12:22 They fought alongside David against the Geddour, for all were mighty in strength and were leaders in the army, in the force.

12:23 Day after day men came to David, forming a great force, like a force of God.

12:24 These were the names of the rulers of the army who came to David at Hebron to turn Saul's kingdom over to him, according to the Lord's word:

12:39 All these were warriors arrayed in battle formation with a peaceful soul. They came to Hebron for David to reign over all Israel; the rest of Israel was one soul for David to reign.

12:40 They were there three days, eating and drinking, for their brethren had prepared for them.

12:41 Their neighbors as far as Issachar, Zaboulon, and Nephthali brought them food on camels, donkeys, mules, and calves: flour, fig cakes, raisins, wine, oil, calves, and sheep in abundance, for there was gladness in Israel.

13:1 David took counsel with the commanders of thousands and of hundreds, every leader.

13:2 David said to the whole assembly of Israel, "If it seems good to you and is prospered by the Lord our God, let us send to our brethren who remain throughout Israel's land, and with them the priests, the Levites, in their possession towns, and they shall gather to us.

13:3 Let us transfer our God's ark to us, for they have not sought it since Saul's days."

13:4 The whole assembly agreed to do so, for the matter was right in the eyes of all the people.

13:8 David and all Israel were playing before God with all their strength, with psalm singers, lyres, harps, tambourines, cymbals, and trumpets.

13:9 They came to the threshing floor. Oza stretched out his hand to hold the ark, for the calf tipped it.

13:10 The Lord was angered with wrath against Oza and struck him there for stretching out his hand upon the ark. He died there before God.

13:11 David was disheartened because the Lord had cut a cutting against Oza. He called that place the Cutting of Oza, to this day.

13:12 David feared God that day, saying, “How shall I bring God’s ark to myself?”

13:13 David did not turn the ark toward himself in the City of David; he turned it aside to the house of Abeddara the Geththite.

13:14 God’s ark stayed in Abeddara’s house three months. God blessed Abeddaram and everything that was his.

14:11 He went up to Baalpharasin, and David struck them there. David said, “God has cut through my enemies by my hand like a cutting of water.” Therefore he called that place the Cutting of Pharasin.

14:12 They abandoned their gods there, and David ordered that they be burned with fire.

14:13 The foreigners came again and again fell upon the Valley of the Giants.

14:14 David again inquired of God, and God said to him, “Do not go behind them. Turn away from them and approach them near the pear trees.

14:15 When you hear the sound of shaking in the tops of the pear trees, then go out to war, for God has gone out before you to strike the foreigners’ camp.”

14:16 He did as God commanded him, and he struck the foreigners’ camp from Gabaon to Gazara.

16:8 Give thanks unto the Lord; call upon Him by His name; make His works known among peoples.

Note †: 16:8 Wording. Give thanks expresses the contextual praise sense; a confession of sins is not inserted. Brenton’s introductory “Song” is not added to the verse.

16:9 Sing unto Him and hymn Him; recount to everyone His wonders, which the Lord has done.

16:10 Praise in His holy name; the heart seeking His good pleasure shall rejoice.

16:11 Seek the Lord and be strengthened; seek His face continually.

16:12 Remember His wonders which He has done, portents and judgments of His mouth,

16:13 you offspring of Israel, His servants, sons of Jacob His chosen ones.

16:14 He is the Lord our God; His judgments are throughout all the earth.

16:15 He remembers His covenant for ever, His word which He commanded for a thousand generations,

16:16 which He established with Abraham, and His oath to Isaac.

16:17 He established it for Jacob as an ordinance, for Israel as an everlasting covenant,

16:18 saying, “I will give you the land of Canaan, the measured allotment of your inheritance,”

Note †: 16:18 Wording. The Greek moves from singular soi to plural hymōn. Accordingly “thee” and “your” are deliberately different in number.

16:19 when they became few in number, as they were made small and dwelt as strangers in it.

16:20 They traveled from nation to nation, from a kingdom to another people.

16:21 He allowed no man to overpower them and reproved kings on their account:

16:22 “Do not touch My anointed ones, and do not act wickedly against My prophets.”

16:23 Sing unto the Lord, all the earth; proclaim His salvation from day to day.

16:25 For the Lord is great and greatly to be praised; He is fearsome above all the gods.

16:26 For all the nations’ gods are idols, but our God made heaven.

16:27 Glory and praise are before Him; strength and boasting are in His place.

16:28 Give unto the Lord, ancestral families of the nations; give to the Lord glory and strength.

16:29 Give unto the Lord the glory of His name; take gifts and bring them before Him, and bow before the Lord in His holy courts.

Note †: 16:29 Text. The Greek says “in His holy courts.” The King James wording about the beauty of holiness is a comparison reading, not a substitute for this place noun.

16:30 Let all the earth fear before Him; let the earth be set right and not be shaken.

16:31 Let heaven be glad and the earth exult; let them say among the nations, “The Lord reigns!”

16:32 The sea shall resound with its fullness, and the tree of the field and everything in it.

16:33 Then the trees of the forest shall be glad before the Lord, for He has come to judge the earth.

16:34 Give thanks unto the Lord, for it is good, for His mercy endures for ever.

Note †: 16:34 Wording. The Greek has the neuter “it is good” and the mercy refrain. Endureth supplies natural English predication without adding a separate claim.

16:35 Say, “Save us, O God of our salvation, and rescue us from the nations, that we may praise Thy holy name and glory in Thy praises.”

16:36 Blessed be the Lord, Israel’s God, from age to age! All the people shall say, “Amen.” And they praised the Lord.

16:37 They left Asaph and his brethren there before the ark of the Lord’s covenant to minister continually before the ark, each day’s duty on its day,

16:38 with Abdedom and his brethren, sixty-eight; Abdedom son of Idithon and Ossa were gatekeepers.

16:39 They left Sadok the priest and his brother priests before the Lord’s tent at Bama in Gabaon,

16:40 to present whole burnt offerings to the Lord continually on the altar of whole burnt offerings, morning and evening, according to everything written in the Lord’s law, all He commanded Israel’s sons through Moses, God’s attendant;

16:41 With him were Aiman, Idithon, and the remaining men chosen by name, to praise the Lord, for His mercy endures for ever.

16:42 With them were trumpets and cymbals for sounding out, and instruments for God’s songs; Idithon’s sons were at the gate.

16:43 All the people went, each to his house, and David returned to bless his household.

1 Chronicles 17

17:1 When David was dwelling in his house, he said to Nathan the prophet, “Behold, I dwell in a cedar house, but the ark of the Lord’s covenant is beneath skins.”

17:2 Nathan said to David, “Do everything in your soul, for God is with you.”

17:3 That night the Lord’s word came to Nathan, saying,

17:4 “Go and say to David My servant, ‘Thus says the Lord: You shall not build Me a house for Me to dwell in it.

17:5 For I have not dwelt in a house from the day I brought Israel up until this day; I was in a tent and in a lodging.

17:6 In all the places through which I passed in all Israel, did I ever speak unto one tribe of Israel appointed to shepherd My people, saying, “You have not built Me a cedar house”?

17:7 Now say this to My servant David: Thus says the Lord Almighty: I took you from the sheepfold, from following the flocks, to become leader over My people Israel.

17:8 I was with you wherever you went and destroyed all your enemies before you; I made you a name like the name of the great ones on the earth.

17:9 I will appoint a place for My people Israel and plant them, and they shall dwell by themselves and no longer be anxious. Injustice shall no longer humble them as at the beginning.

17:10 From the days when I appointed judges over My people Israel, I humbled all your enemies. I will increase you, and the Lord will build you a house.

17:11 When your days are fulfilled and you sleep with your fathers, I will raise up your offspring after you, one who will be from your body, and prepare his kingdom.

17:12 He shall build Me a house, and I will set his throne upright for ever.

17:13 I will be a Father unto him, and he shall be a son unto Me. I will not withdraw My mercy from him, as I withdrew it from those before you.

Note †: 17:13 Text. The plural “those before thee” is retained. The promise is not harmonized to the singular predecessor of other witnesses.

17:14 I will make him secure in My house and in his kingdom for ever, and his throne shall be set upright for ever.’”

17:15 Nathan spoke to David according to all these words and all this vision.

17:16 King David went in and sat before the Lord. He said, “Who am I, O Lord God, and what is my house, that Thou hast loved me for ever?

17:17 These things became small before Thee, God, and Thou didst speak of Thy servant’s house far ahead. Thou didst look upon me as a human vision, and Thou didst exalt me, Lord God.

17:18 What more can David add unto Thee in giving glory? Thou knowest Thy servant.

17:19 Thou hast done all this greatness according to Thy heart.

17:20 Lord, there is none like Thee, and there is none besides Thee, according to all we have heard with our ears.

17:21 There is no nation on the earth like Thy people Israel, whom God led to redeem a people for Himself, to make Himself a great and manifest name, driving nations out before Thy people whom Thou didst redeem from Egypt.

17:22 Thou didst give Thy people Israel to Thyself as a people for ever, and Thou, O Lord, art their God.

17:23 Now, Lord, let Thy word which Thou didst speak to Thy servant and concerning his house be made secure for ever,

17:24 while people say, ‘Lord, Lord Almighty, God of Israel,’ and let the house of David Thy servant be set upright before Thee.

17:25 For Thou, O Lord, didst open Thy servant’s ear to build him a house. Therefore Thy servant has found courage to pray before Thee.

17:26 Now, Lord, Thou art God, and Thou hast spoken these good things concerning Thy servant.

17:27 Now Thou hast begun to bless Thy servant’s house, so it may remain before Thee for ever. For Thou, O Lord, hast blessed it; bless it for ever.”

1 Chronicles 18

18:1 After these things David struck the foreigners and routed them. He took Geth and its villages from the foreigners’ hand.

18:2 He struck Moab, and Moab became servants to David, bringing gifts.

18:3 David struck Adraazar king of Souba, Hemath, as he went to establish his hand upon the River Euphrates.

18:4 David seized from them a thousand chariots, seven thousand horses, and twenty thousand foot soldiers. David disabled all the chariots, but left a hundred chariots from them.

18:5 The Syrian came from Damascus to help Adraazar king of Souba, and David struck twenty-two thousand men among the Syrian force.

18:6 David placed a garrison in Syria near Damascus, and they became servants to David, bringing gifts. The Lord kept saving David in all his journeys.

18:7 David took the golden collars that were upon Adraazar’s servants and brought them to Jerusalem.

18:8 From Metabechas and from Adraazar’s choice cities David took a very great amount of bronze. From it Solomon made the bronze sea, the pillars, and the bronze vessels.

18:9 Thoa king of Hemath heard that David had struck the entire force of Adraazar king of Souba.

18:10 He sent his son Idouram to King David to inquire after his peace and to bless him because he had fought Adraazar and struck him, for Thoa was a hostile man toward Adraazar. With him were all the silver and gold vessels.

18:11 David consecrated these also to the Lord, with the silver and gold he had taken from all the nations: from Idumea, Moab, the sons of Ammon, the foreigners, and Amalek.

18:12 Abessa son of Sarouia struck Idumea in the Valley of Salts: eighteen thousand.

18:13 He placed garrisons in the valley, and all the Idumeans became David’s servants. The Lord kept saving David in all his journeys.

18:14 David reigned over all Israel, and he administered judgment and righteousness for all his people.

18:15 Joab son of Sarouia was over the army, and Josaphat son of Achiloud was recorder.

18:16 Sadok son of Achitob and Achimelech son of Abiathar were priests, and Sousa was secretary.

18:17 Banaias son of Jodae was over the Chereththi and the Phelethi, and David's sons were the king's foremost successors.

1 Chronicles 19

19:1 After these things Naas king of the sons of Ammon died, and his son Anan reigned in his place.

19:2 David said, "I will show mercy to Anan son of Naas, as his father showed mercy to me." David sent messengers to comfort him concerning his father. David's servants came to the land of the sons of Ammon to comfort him.

19:3 The rulers of Ammon said to Anan, "Do you suppose David sent comforters to you to glorify your father before you? Have not his servants come to you so that they might search out the city and spy out the land?"

19:4 Anan took David's servants, shaved them, removed half their cloaks up to the fold, and sent them away.

19:5 They came to report to David about the men. He sent to meet them because they had been greatly dishonored. The king said, "Stay in Jericho until your beards grow, then return."

19:6 The sons of Ammon saw that David's people had been put to shame. Anan and the sons of Ammon sent a thousand talents of silver to hire chariots and horsemen for themselves from Syria of Mesopotamia, Syria of Moocha, and Soba.

19:7 They hired thirty-two thousand chariots for themselves, and the king of Mocha and his people. They came and camped opposite Maidaba. The sons of Ammon gathered from their cities and came to wage war.

19:8 David heard and sent Joab and the whole army of mighty men.

19:9 The sons of Ammon came out and arrayed themselves for war beside the city gate. The kings who had come camped by themselves in the plain.

19:10 Joab saw that opponents had come to fight him in front and behind. He selected from all the young men of Israel, and they arrayed themselves against the Syrian.

19:11 He placed the remainder of the people in the hand of Abessa his brother, and they arrayed themselves opposite the sons of Ammon.

19:12 He said, "If the Syrian prevails over me, you shall be my deliverance; and if the sons of Ammon prevail over you, I will save you.

19:13 Act courageously, and let us strengthen ourselves for our people and for the cities of our God. The Lord will do what is good in His eyes."

19:14 Joab and the people with him arrayed themselves opposite the Syrians for war, and they fled from him.

19:15 The sons of Ammon saw that the Syrians had fled, and they too fled before Joab and before Abessa his brother and entered the city. Joab came to Jerusalem.

19:16 The Syrian saw that Israel had routed him. He sent messengers, and they brought out the Syrian from beyond the River, with Sophach, chief commander of Adraazar's force, before them.

19:17 David was informed. He gathered all Israel, crossed the Jordan, came against them, and arrayed himself against them. The Syrian arrayed himself opposite David, and they fought him.

19:18 The Syrian fled before David. David killed from the Syrian force seven thousand chariot fighters and forty thousand foot soldiers, and he killed Sophach the chief commander of the force.

19:19 Adraazar's servants saw that they had fallen before Israel. They made a covenant with David and served him, and the Syrian was no longer willing to help the sons of Ammon.

1 Chronicles 20

20:1 In the following year, when the kings went out, Joab led the army's entire force, and they devastated the country of the sons of Ammon. He came and besieged Rabba, while David remained in Jerusalem. Joab struck Rabba and razed it.

20:2 David took the crown of Molchol their king from his head. Its weight was found to be a talent of gold, with a precious stone in it, and it came upon David's head. He brought out a very great amount of spoil from the city.

20:3 He brought out the people who were in it and sawed them apart with saws and iron adzes. David did this to all the sons of Ammon. David and all his people returned to Jerusalem.

20:4 After these things there was again war with the foreigners at Gazer. Then Sobochai the Ousathi struck Saphou, one of the sons of the giants, and humbled him.

20:5 There was again war with the foreigners. Ellanan son of Jair struck Leemi, brother of Goliath the Geththite, whose spear shaft was like a weavers' beam.

20:6 There was again war at Geth. There was a man of extraordinary size whose digits were six and six, twenty-four; he too was descended from giants.

20:7 He reproached Israel, and Jonathan son of Samaa, David's brother, struck him.

20:8 These belonged to Rapha in Geth. They were four giants in all, and they fell by David's hand and by the hand of his servants.

1 Chronicles 21

21:1 The devil stood in Israel and stirred David to number Israel.

Note †: 21:1 Meaning. Devil is retained provisionally for anarthrous diabolos; adversary or accuser remains a lexical alternative. "In Israel" preserves the Greek preposition. The agency is not harmonized with Samuel.

21:2 King David said to Joab and the rulers of the force, "Go, number Israel from Bersabee to Dan, and bring the report to me, so that I may know their number."

21:3 Joab said, "May the Lord add to His people a hundredfold as many as they are, with my lord the king's eyes seeing it! All are my lord's servants. Why does my lord seek this? Let it not become sin for Israel!"

21:4 The king's word prevailed over Joab. Joab went out, passed through all Israel's territory, and came to Jerusalem.

21:5 Joab gave David the number of the people's inspection: all Israel was a million and a hundred thousand men who drew the sword, and Judah was four hundred eighty thousand men who drew the sword.

21:6 He did not number Levi and Benjamin among them, because the king's word had overpowered Joab.

21:7 This matter appeared evil before God, and He struck Israel.

21:8 David said to God, "I have sinned greatly in doing this thing. Now, I beseech Thee, take away Thy servant's wickedness, for I have become exceedingly foolish."

21:9 The Lord spoke to Gad, David's seer, saying,

21:10 "Go and speak to David, saying, 'Thus says the Lord: I am raising three things against you. Choose one of them for yourself, and I will do it to you.'"

21:11 Gad came to David and said to him, "Thus says the Lord: Choose for yourself

21:12 either three years of famine, or three months of your fleeing before your enemies and your enemies' sword destroying, or three days of the Lord's sword and death in the land, with the Lord's angel destroying throughout Israel's inheritance. Now consider what word I should answer Him who sent me."

21:13 David said to Gad, "All three press me very hard. I will indeed fall into the Lord's hands, for His compassions are very many; but I will certainly not fall into human hands."

21:14 The Lord sent death upon Israel, and seventy thousand men of Israel fell.

21:15 God sent an angel to Jerusalem to destroy it. As he destroyed, the Lord saw and relented concerning the calamity. He said to the destroying angel, "Let it be enough for you! Relax your hand." The Lord's angel was standing at the threshing floor of Orna the Jebusite.

21:16 David lifted his eyes and saw the Lord's angel standing between earth and heaven, with his drawn sword in his hand, stretched over Jerusalem. David and the elders, clothed in sackcloth, fell upon their faces.

21:17 David said to God, "Was it not I who ordered the people to be numbered? I am the one who sinned; in doing evil I did evil. But these sheep—what have they done? Lord God, let Thy hand be upon me and my father's house, and not upon Thy people for destruction, Lord."

21:18 The Lord's angel told Gad to tell David to go up and establish an altar to the Lord at the threshing floor of Orna the Jebusite.

21:19 David went up according to Gad's word, which he had spoken in the Lord's name.

21:20 Orna turned and saw the king, and his four sons with him were methachabin. Orna was threshing wheat.

Note †: 21:20 Text. Methachabin preserves a difficult source form. The edition does not replace it with a confident account of what the four sons were doing.

21:21 David came to Ornan. Orna came out from the threshing floor and bowed to David with his face to the ground.

21:22 David said to Orna, "Give me your threshing-floor site, and I will build an altar to the Lord on it. Give it to me for its worth in silver, and the plague will cease from the people."

21:23 Orna said to David, "Take it for yourself, and let my lord the king do what is good before him. Behold, I give the calves for a whole burnt offering, the plow and the wagons for wood, and the grain for a sacrifice. I give everything."

21:24 King David said to Orna, “No! I will surely buy it for its worth in silver. I will not take what is yours for the Lord, to offer a whole burnt offering unto the Lord for nothing.”

21:25 David gave Orna at his site six hundred shekels of gold by weight.

21:26 David built an altar there to the Lord and offered whole burnt offerings and a deliverance offering. He cried to the Lord, and He answered him with fire from heaven upon the altar of whole burnt offering, and consumed the whole burnt offering.

21:27 The Lord spoke to the angel, and he put the sword into its sheath.

21:28 At that time, when David saw that the Lord had answered him at the threshing floor of Orna the Jebusite, he sacrificed there.

21:29 The Lord’s tent, which Moses had made in the wilderness, and the altar of whole burnt offerings were at that time in Bama at Gabaon.

21:30 David could not go before it to seek God, because he hastened away from the sword of the Lord’s angel.

1 Chronicles 22

22:1 David said, “This is the house of the Lord God, and this is the altar for whole burnt offering for Israel.”

22:2 David ordered all the resident foreigners in Israel’s land to be gathered. He appointed quarrymen to cut dressed stones for building a house for God.

22:3 David prepared much iron for the nails of the doorways and gates and for hinges, and bronze in abundance, beyond weighing.

22:4 There were cedar timbers beyond counting, because the Sidonians and Tyrians brought cedar timbers to David in abundance.

22:5 David said, “My son Solomon is a tender child, and the house to be built for the Lord must rise to greatness, renowned and glorious throughout all the earth. I will prepare for it.” David prepared in abundance before his death.

22:6 He called Solomon his son and commanded him to build the house for the Lord, the God of Israel.

22:7 David said to Solomon, “Child, it came upon my soul to build a house for the name of the Lord God.

22:8 But the Lord’s word came upon me, saying, ‘You have poured out much blood and waged great wars. You shall not build a house for My name, because you have poured out much blood upon the earth before Me.

22:9 Behold, a son is born unto you; he shall be a man of rest. I will give him rest from all the enemies round about him, for Solomon is his name; and I will give peace and quietness unto Israel in his days.

Note †: 22:9 Wording. Rest, peace, and quietness remain distinct, related words. Solomon remains the personal name.

22:10 He will build a house for My name. He will be a son to Me, and I will be a Father to him. I will set upright the throne of his kingdom in Israel for ever.’

22:11 Now, my son, the Lord will be with you, and He will grant success, and you will build a house for the Lord your God, as He spoke concerning you.

22:12 Only may the Lord give you wisdom and understanding, and strengthen you over Israel, to observe and to do the law of the Lord your God.

22:13 Then He will grant success, if you take care to do the ordinances and judgments that the Lord commanded Moses concerning Israel. Act courageously and be strong; do not fear or be terrified.

22:14 Behold, according to my poverty I have prepared for the Lord’s house a hundred thousand talents of gold and a million talents of silver, with bronze and iron beyond weighing because there is so much. I have also prepared timber and stones; add to these.

22:15 With you are workers in abundance: artisans, builders in stone, carpenters in wood, and everyone skilled in every kind of work.

22:16 In gold, in silver, in bronze, and in iron, there is no counting. Arise and act, and the Lord be with you.”

22:17 David commanded all the rulers of Israel to support Solomon his son:

22:18 “Is not the Lord with you? He has given you rest on every side, for He has given the land’s inhabitants into hands, and the land has been subjected before the Lord and before His people.

22:19 Now give your hearts and your souls to seek the Lord your God. Arise and build a sanctuary for the Lord your God, to bring the ark of the Lord’s covenant and God’s holy vessels into the house being built for the Lord’s name.”

1 Chronicles 23

23:1 David was old and full of days, and he made Solomon his son king in his place over Israel.

23:2 He gathered all Israel’s rulers, the priests, and the Levites.

23:3 The Levites were numbered from thirty years old and upward. Their number, counting the men head by head, was thirty-eight thousand.

23:4 Of these, twenty-four thousand were supervisors over the works of the Lord’s house, and six thousand were scribes and judges.

23:5 Four thousand were gatekeepers, and four thousand praised the Lord with the instruments that he made for praising the Lord.

23:6 David divided them into service courses according to Levi’s sons: Gedson, Kaath, and Merari;

23:7 and according to Parosom, Edan, and Semei.

23:8 Edan’s sons: Jiiel the ruler, Zethom, and Joel—three.

23:9 Semei’s sons: Salomith, Jiiel, and Aidan—three. These were the ancestral rulers of Edan.

23:10 The sons of Semei: Jeth, Ziza, Joas, and Beria. These were Semei’s sons—four.

23:11 Jeth was the ruler, and Ziza the second. Joas and Beria did not have many sons, so they became one ancestral house for a single inspection.

23:12 Kaath’s sons: Ambram, Issaar, Chebron, and Oziel—four.

23:13 Ambram’s sons: Aaron and Moses. Aaron was distinguished to be consecrated as most holy, he and his sons for ever, to burn incense before the Lord, to minister, and to invoke His name for ever.

23:14 As for Moses, the man of God, his sons were called into the tribe of Levi.

23:15 Moses’ sons: Gersam and Eliezer.

23:16 Gersam’s sons: Soubael the ruler.

23:17 Eliezer’s sons were Raabia the ruler. Eliezer had no other sons, but Raabia’s sons increased greatly.

23:18 Issaar’s sons: Salomoth the ruler.

23:19 Chebron’s sons: Idoud the ruler, Amadia the second, Oziel the third, and Ikemias the fourth.

23:20 Oziel’s sons: Michas the ruler and Isia the second.

23:21 Merari’s sons: Mooli and Mousi. Mooli’s sons: Eleazar and Kis.

23:22 Eleazar died and had no sons, only daughters. The sons of Kis, their kinsmen, took them as wives.

23:23 Mousi’s sons: Mooli, Eder, and Jarimoth—three.

23:24 These were Levi’s sons according to their ancestral houses, their ancestral rulers according to their inspection, by the number of their names, head by head, doing the works of ministry in the Lord’s house, from twenty years old and upward.

23:25 For David said, “The Lord, the God of Israel, has given rest to His people and has dwelt in Jerusalem for ever.”

23:26 The Levites were no longer carrying the tent and all its vessels for its ministry.

23:27 For David’s last words record the number of Levi’s sons from twenty years old and upward,

23:28 for he stationed them at Aaron’s hand to minister in the Lord’s house, over the courts and chambers, over the purification of all holy things, and over the works of ministry in God’s house:

23:29 for the bread of presentation, the fine flour of the sacrifice, the unleavened flat cakes, the pan preparation, the mixed preparation, and every measure;

23:30 and to stand in the morning to praise and give thanks unto the Lord, and likewise in the evening;

23:31 and over all the whole burnt offerings offered to the Lord on sabbaths, new moons, and feasts, by number according to the ordinance concerning them, continually for the Lord.

23:32 They shall keep the charges of the Tent of Testimony and the charges of Aaron’s sons their brethren, to minister in the Lord’s house.

1 Chronicles 24

24:1 The sons of Aaron had divisions. Aaron’s sons were Nadab, Abioud, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

24:2 Nadab and Abioud died before their father and had no sons. Eleazar and Ithamar, Aaron’s sons, served as priests.

24:3 David, Sadok from Eleazar’s sons, and Achimelech from Ithamar’s sons divided them according to their inspection, according to their ministry, according to their ancestral houses.

24:4 Eleazar’s sons were found to have more rulers of the mighty men than Ithamar’s sons. He divided them: sixteen rulers of ancestral houses for Eleazar’s sons, and eight according to ancestral houses for Ithamar’s sons.

24:5 He divided them by lots, these alongside those, because there were rulers of the holy things and rulers of the Lord among Eleazar’s sons and among Ithamar’s sons.

24:6 Samaias son of Nathanael, the secretary from Levi, recorded them before the king and the rulers, with Sadok the priest, Achimelech son of Abiathar, and the ancestral rulers of the priests and Levites: one ancestral house at a time for Eleazar and one at a time for Ithamar.

24:7 The first lot came out for Jarib, the second for Ideia,

24:8 the third for Charem, the fourth for Seorim,

24:9 the fifth for Melchia, the sixth for Miamin,

24:10 the seventh for Kos, the eighth for Abia,

24:11 the ninth for Jesus, the tenth for Sechenia,

24:12 the eleventh for Eliasib, the twelfth for Jakim,

24:13 the thirteenth for Ochchopha, the fourteenth for Isbaal,

24:14 the fifteenth for Belga, the sixteenth for Emmer,

24:15 the seventeenth for Chezir, the eighteenth for Aphesse,

24:16 the nineteenth for Phetaia, the twentieth for Ezekiel,

24:17 the twenty-first for Jachin, the twenty-second for Gamoul,

24:18 the twenty-third for Dalaia, the twenty-fourth for Maasai.

24:19 This was their inspection according to their ministry, to enter the Lord's house according to their ordinance through Aaron their father, as the Lord, the God of Israel, had commanded.

24:20 As for the remaining sons of Levi: of Ambram's sons, Soubael; of Soubael's sons, Jadia.

24:21 For Raabia: Jesias the ruler.

24:22 Of the Issari, Salomoth; of Salomoth's sons, Jath.

24:23 The sons of Jediou: Amadia the second, Jaziel the third, Jokom the fourth.

24:24 Oziel's sons: Micha; Micha's sons: Samer.

24:25 Micha's brother: Isia; Isia's sons: Zacharia.

24:26 Merari's sons: Mooli and Mousi; Ozia's sons; Bonni's sons.

24:27 Merari's sons belonging to Ozia, his sons: Isoam, Zakchour, and Abdi.

24:28 Of Mooli: Eleazar and Ithamar. Eleazar died and had no sons.

24:29 As for Kis: Kis's sons, Iramael.

24:30 Mousi's sons: Mooli, Eder, and Jarimoth. These were the sons of the Levites according to their ancestral houses.

24:31 They too received lots as did their brethren, Aaron's sons, before the king, Sadok, Achimelech, and the ancestral rulers of the priests and Levites: ancestral heads, araab, as his younger brethren.

Note †: 24:31 Text. Araab remains an unresolved inherited transliteration in the final administrative comparison.

1 Chronicles 25

25:1 King David and the rulers of the force appointed for the works the sons of Asaph, Aiman, and Idithon, who uttered inspired words with kinyrai, nablai, and cymbals. Their number was reckoned head by head, those working in their tasks:

Note †: 25:1 Context. Kinyrai and nablai are inherited names for ancient stringed instruments. Their spellings and singular forms are preserved; the edition does not assert a precise modern construction.

25:2 Asaph's sons: Zakchour, Joseph, Nathanias, and Erael, Asaph's sons attached to Asaph the prophet, attached to the king.

25:3 Of Idithon: Idithon's sons, Godolia, Souri, Isaia, Semei, Asabia, and Mattathias—six—with their father Idithon, striking the kinyra in thanksgiving and praise to the Lord.

25:4 Of Aiman: Aiman's sons, Boukias, Manthanias, Azarael, Soubael, Jerimoth, Ananias, Anani, Eliatha, Godollathi, Romemthi-od, Jesbakasa, Mallethi, Otheri, and Meazoth.

25:5 All these were sons of Aiman, who played for the king in God's words, to raise a horn. God gave Aiman fourteen sons and three daughters.

25:6 All these were with their father, singing hymns in the Lord's house with cymbals, nablai, and kinyrai, under the king and Asaph, Idithon, and Aiman.

25:7 Their number, together with their brethren, was two hundred eighty-eight; they were taught to sing to the Lord, each with understanding.

25:8 They too cast lots for the service courses, for the small and for the great, the accomplished and those learning.

25:9 The first lot of his sons and his brethren came out for Asaph, for Joseph, Godolia; the second, Enia, his brethren and his sons—twelve.

25:10 The third: Zakchour, his sons and his brethren—twelve.

25:23 The sixteenth: Ananias, his sons and his brethren—twelve.

25:24 The seventeenth: Jesbakasa, his sons and his brethren—twelve.

25:25 The eighteenth: Anani, his sons and his brethren—twelve.

25:26 The nineteenth: Mellethi, his sons and his brethren—twelve.

25:27 The twentieth: Eliatha, his sons and his brethren—twelve.

25:28 The twenty-first: Ethir, his sons and his brethren—twelve.

25:29 The twenty-second: Godollathi, his sons and his brethren—twelve.

25:30 The twenty-third: Meazoth, his sons and his brethren—twelve.

25:31 The twenty-fourth: Romemthi-od, his sons and his brethren—twelve.

1 Chronicles 26

26:1 For the divisions of the gates: of the sons of Koreim, Mosollamia son of Kore, of Abiasaph's sons.

26:2 Mosollamia had sons: Zacharias the firstborn, Idiel the second, Zabadias the third, Jethnouel the fourth, 26:3 Olam the fifth, Joanan the sixth, Elioenai the seventh.

26:4 Abdedom had sons: Samaias the firstborn, Jozabad the second, Joaa the third, Sochar the fourth, Nathanael the fifth,

26:5 Amiel the sixth, Issachar the seventh, Phollathi the eighth, because God had blessed him.

26:6 To Samaia his son were born sons of the firstborn Rosai for his ancestral house, because they were mighty.

26:7 Samaia's sons: Gothni, Raphael, Obed, Elzabad, and Achiou, mighty sons; Eliou, Sabchia, and Isbakom.

26:8 All were from Abdedom's sons, they and their brethren and their sons, working mightily in the labor: sixty-two in all belonging to Abdedom.

26:9 Mosollamia had sons and brethren—eighteen mighty men.

26:10 Osa, of Merari's sons, had sons guarding the leadership, for he was not firstborn, and his father made him ruler

26:11 of the second division; Tablai the third, Zacharias the fourth. All these, Osa's sons and brethren, were thirteen.

26:12 These divisions of gates, belonging to the rulers of the mighty men, had service courses like their brethren, to minister in the Lord's house.

26:13 They cast lots for the small and the great, according to their ancestral houses, for each gate.

26:14 The eastern lot fell to Salamia and Zacharia. The sons of Joas cast lots for Melchia, and the lot came out northward.

26:15 To Abdedom fell the south, opposite the house of esephin,

Note †: 26:15 Text. Esephin is retained in the description of the gatekeepers' stations. The exact architectural identification remains under review.

26:16 for the second; to Osa, westward beyond the gate of the chamber of the ascent, guard opposite guard.

26:17 To the east, six each day; to the north, four each day; to the south, four each day; and for the esephin, two;

26:18 for those relieving one another, and westward four, and for the path two relieving one another.

26:19 These were the divisions of the gatekeepers belonging to Kore's sons and Merari's sons.

26:20 The Levites, their brethren, were over the treasuries of the Lord's house and the treasuries of the consecrated things.

26:21 Ladan's sons, the sons of the Gersoni belonging to Ladan, the ancestral rulers belonging to Ladan the Gersoni: Jiiel.

26:22 Jiiel's sons: Zethom and Joel, the brethren, over the treasuries of the Lord's house.

26:23 For Ambram, Issaar, Chebron, and Oziel:

26:24 Soubael, the descendant of Gersam, the descendant of Moses, was leader over the treasuries.

26:25 For his brother Eliezer were Raabias a son, and Josaias, Joram, Zechri, and Salomoth.

26:26 This Salomoth and his brethren were over all the treasuries of the holy things that King David and the ancestral rulers, commanders of thousands and hundreds and leaders of the force, had consecrated,

26:27 which he took from the wars and from the spoils, and from which he consecrated gifts so that the building of God’s house would not fall behind,

26:28 and over all the holy things of Samuel the prophet, Saul the descendant of Kis, Abenner the descendant of Ner, and Joab the descendant of Sarouia: everything they consecrated was through the hand of Salomoth and his brethren.

26:29 Of the Issari, Chonenia and his sons were assigned the outside labor over Israel, to act as scribes and give judgments.

26:30 Of the Chebroni, Asabias and his brethren, mighty men, a thousand seven hundred, had oversight of Israel beyond the Jordan toward the west for all the Lord’s ministry and the king’s work.

26:31 Of the Chebroni, Joudias was ruler of the Chebroni according to their generations and ancestral houses. In the fortieth year of his reign they were inspected, and a mighty man was found among them at Jazer in Galaaditis, 26:32 and his brethren, mighty men, were two thousand seven hundred ancestral rulers. King David appointed them over the Roubeni, the Gaddi, and half the tribe of Manasseh for every ordinance of the Lord and word of the king.

1 Chronicles 27

27:1 The sons of Israel according to their number, the ancestral rulers, commanders of thousands and hundreds, and scribes ministered to the people and attended to every word of the king according to divisions, in every matter of coming in and going out month by month throughout all the months of the year. Each division had twenty-four thousand.

27:2 Over the first division, for the first month, was Jesboam son of Zabdiel. His division had twenty-four thousand.

27:3 He was of Phares’s sons, ruler of all the commanders of the force for the first month.

27:4 Over the division of the second month was Dodia the Echochi. His division had twenty-four thousand, commanders of the force.

27:5 The third, for the third month, was Banaias son of Jodae, the priest, the ruler. His division had twenty-four thousand.

27:6 This Banaias was mightier than the thirty and over the thirty. His son Amizabath was over his division.

27:7 The fourth, for the fourth month, was Asael, Joab’s brother, and his son Zabdias and the brethren. His division had twenty-four thousand.

27:8 The fifth, for the fifth month, was the leader Samaoth the Jesrae. His division had twenty-four thousand.

27:9 The sixth, for the sixth month, was Odouias son of Ekkes the Thekoite. His division had twenty-four thousand.

27:11 The eighth, for the eighth month, was Sobochai the Isathi, belonging to the Zarai. His division had twenty-four thousand.

27:12 The ninth, for the ninth month, was Abiezer from Anathoth, from Benjamin’s land. His division had twenty-four thousand.

27:13 The tenth, for the tenth month, was Meera from Netouphat, belonging to the Zarai. His division had twenty-four thousand.

27:14 The eleventh, for the eleventh month, was Banaias from Pharathon, of Ephraim’s sons. His division had twenty-four thousand.

27:15 The twelfth, for the twelfth month, was Choldai the Netophati, belonging to Gothoniel. His division had twenty-four thousand.

27:16 Over Israel’s tribes: for Reuben, Eliezer son of Zechri was leader; for Simeon, Saphatias son of Maacha;

27:17 for Levi, Asabias son of Kamouel; for Aaron, Sadok;

27:18 for Judah, Eliab, one of David’s brethren; for Issachar, Ambri son of Michael;

27:19 for Zaboulon, Samaias son of Abdiou; for Nephthali, Jerimoth son of Esriel;

27:20 for Ephraim, Ose son of Oziou; for half the tribe of Manasseh, Joel son of Phadaia;

27:21 for half the tribe of Manasseh in Galaad, Jaddai son of Zabdiou; for Benjamin’s sons, Asiel son of Abenner;

27:22 For Dan, Azarael son of Joram. These were the ancestral heads of Israel’s tribes.

27:23 David did not take their number from twenty years old and downward, because the Lord had said He would multiply Israel like the stars of heaven.

27:24 Joab son of Sarouia began numbering among the people but did not finish. In these matters wrath came upon Israel, and the number was not registered in the book of King David’s daily records.

27:25 Over the king’s treasuries was Asmoth son of Odiel. Over the storehouses in the countryside, villages, settlements, and towers was Jonathan son of Oziou.

27:26 Over the workers farming the land was Esdri son of Choloub.

27:27 Over the estates was Semei from Rama. Over the wine stores in the estates was Zachri son of Sephni.

27:28 Over the olive groves and sycamores in the plain was Balanas the Gedorite. Over the oil stores was Joas.

27:29 Over the grazing cattle in Asidon was Satrais the Sharonite. Over the cattle in the valleys was Sophat son of Adli.

27:30 Over the camels was Obil the Ishmaelite. Over the donkeys was Jadias from Merathon.

27:31 Over the sheep was Jaziz the Agarite. All these were overseers of King David's possessions.

27:32 Jonathan, David's paternal uncle, was a counselor, an understanding man and a scribe. Jiiel son of Achamani was with the king's sons.

27:33 Achitophel was the king's counselor, and Chousi was the king's first friend.

27:34 After this man, Achitophel; next was Jodae son of Banaiou and Abiathar, and Joab was the king's chief commander.

1 Chronicles 28

28:1 David assembled in Jerusalem all Israel's rulers: the rulers of the judges, the rulers of the service courses attending the king's person, the commanders of thousands and hundreds, the treasury keepers, those over his possessions, the powerful men, and the army's warriors.

28:2 David stood in the midst of the assembly and said, "Hear me, brethren and my people. It came upon my heart to build a house of rest for the ark of the Lord's covenant and a standing place for our Lord's feet, and I prepared the things suitable for the dwelling.

28:3 But God said, 'You shall not build Me a house to have My name called upon it, because you are a warrior and have shed blood.'

28:4 The Lord, the God of Israel, chose me from all my father's house to be king over Israel for ever. He chose the royal power in Judah, and from Judah's house my father's house, and among my father's sons He was willing that I become king over all Israel.

28:5 From all my sons—for the Lord gave me many sons—He chose Solomon my son to seat him upon the throne of the Lord's kingdom over Israel.

28:6 God said to me, 'Solomon your son will build My house and My court, for I have chosen him to be My son, and I will be a Father to him,

28:7 and I will set his kingdom upright for ever, if he remains strong to observe My commandments and My judgments, as on this day.'

28:8 Now, before the whole assembly of the Lord and in the ears of our God, observe and seek all the commandments of the Lord our God, so that you may inherit the good land and pass it on as an inheritance to your sons after you for ever.

28:9 And now, Solomon my son, know the God of your fathers, and serve Him with a whole heart and a willing soul; for the Lord examines every heart and knows every thought. If you seek Him, He shall be found by you; but if you forsake Him, He will forsake you utterly.

Note †: 28:9 Wording. Whole heart and willing soul are both retained. The conditions address Solomon in the singular, including the warning of being forsaken.

28:10 See, therefore, that the Lord has chosen you to build Him a house as a sanctuary. Be strong and act."

28:11 David gave Solomon his son the pattern of the temple, its houses, its zakcho, its upper rooms, its inner storerooms, and the house of propitiation;

Note †: 28:11 Text. Zakcho is retained as an uncertain architectural term. "House of propitiation" remains distinct from an unmarked architectural paraphrase.

28:12 and the pattern he had in his spirit: the courts of the Lord's house, all the surrounding chambers for the storerooms of the Lord's house, and the storerooms of the holy things;

28:13 and the lodgings of the priests' and Levites' service courses for all the work of ministry in the Lord's house, and the storerooms of the service vessels for worship in the Lord's house.

28:14 He gave the measure of their weight, both the gold and the silver ones;

28:15 he gave him the weight of the lampstands and of the lamps.

28:16 Likewise he gave him the weight of the tables of presentation, each golden table, and likewise of the silver ones;

28:17 and of the meat hooks, libation vessels, and golden bowls, and the weight of the gold and silver ones, kephphoure of each weight.

Note †: 28:17 Text. Kephphoure is retained as the inherited designation among the vessels. Identification remains for specialist review.

28:18 He showed him the weight of the incense altar of tested gold, and the pattern of the chariot of the cherubim with outspread wings, overshadowing the ark of the Lord's covenant.

28:19 David gave Solomon everything in writing from the Lord's hand, according to the understanding that had come to him about carrying out the pattern.

28:20 David said to Solomon his son, “Be strong, be of good courage, and act. Do not fear or be dismayed, for the Lord my God is with you. He will not let you go nor forsake you, until you finish all the work of ministry in the Lord’s house.

28:21 Behold, the service courses of the priests and Levites are ready for all ministry in God’s house, and are with you in every undertaking, together with everyone eager and wise in every craft. The rulers and all the people are ready for all your words.”

1 Chronicles 29

29:1 King David said to the whole assembly, “Solomon my son, the one whom the Lord has chosen, is young and tender, and the work is great, for the building is for the Lord God, not for a human being.

29:2 With all my strength I have prepared for my God’s house gold, silver, bronze, iron, timber, soom stones and filling stones, costly and variegated stones, every precious stone, and much Parian marble.

Note †: 29:2 Context. Soom names a stone in the source-facing wording. Its precise mineral identification is not asserted.

29:3 Moreover, because I delight in my God’s house, I have gold and silver that I have acquired for myself. Behold, I give it to my God’s house in addition, apart from what I have prepared for the house of holy things:

29:4 three thousand talents of gold from Souphir and seven thousand talents of tested silver to coat the sanctuary’s walls with them,

29:5 by the craftsmen’s hand. Who is eager to fill his hands today for the Lord?”

29:6 The ancestral rulers, the rulers of Israel’s sons, the commanders of thousands and hundreds, the overseers of the works, and the king’s stewards offered eagerly.

29:7 They gave for the works of the Lord’s house five thousand talents of gold and ten thousand gold coins, ten thousand talents of silver, eighteen thousand talents of bronze, and a hundred thousand talents of iron.

29:8 Those who had a stone gave it to the storerooms of the Lord’s house through Jiiel the Gersoni.

29:9 The people rejoiced because of their eagerness, for they offered eagerly to the Lord with a full heart. King David rejoiced greatly.

29:10 King David blessed the Lord before the assembly, saying, “Blessed art Thou, O Lord, the God of Israel, our Father, from everlasting to everlasting.

29:11 Thine, O Lord, are greatness, power, glory, victory, and strength; for Thou rulest all things in heaven and upon earth. Before Thee every king and nation is shaken.

Note †: 29:11 Wording. Glory renders the contextual praise sense of kauchēma; glorying or ground of praise explains the sense. All five praise nouns and the shaking of kings and nations are retained. Verse 13 carries the related word family as “the name of Thy glory.”

29:12 From Thee come wealth and glory. Thou governest all, O Lord, Ruler of every rule. In Thy hand are strength and dominion; and it is in Thy hand, O Almighty, to make all things great and strong.

29:13 Now, O Lord, we give thanks unto Thee, and praise the name of Thy glory.

29:14 Who am I, and who are my people, that we had strength to offer willingly unto Thee in this manner? All things are Thine, and of Thine own have we given unto Thee.

29:15 For we are resident strangers before Thee, and sojourners, as all our fathers were: our days upon earth are as a shadow, and there is no endurance.

Note †: 29:15 Meaning. Strangers, sojourners, and the shadow image describe transience. “No endurance” preserves the final expression without turning it into a universal denial of hope.

29:16 Lord our God, all this abundance that I have prepared for a house to be built for Thy holy name is from Thy hand, and everything is Thine.

29:17 I know, Lord, that Thou examinest hearts and lovest righteousness. In simplicity of heart I eagerly offered all these things. Now I have seen Thy people found here offer eagerly to Thee in gladness.

29:18 Lord, God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel our fathers, preserve these things for ever in the thought of Thy people’s heart, and direct their hearts toward Thee.

29:19 Give Solomon my son a good heart to do Thy commandments, testimonies, and ordinances, and to bring the construction of Thy house to completion.”

29:20 David said to the whole assembly, “Bless the Lord your God.” The whole assembly blessed the Lord, the God of their fathers. Bending their knees, they prostrated themselves before the Lord and the king.

29:21 On the day after the first day David sacrificed sacrifices to the Lord and offered whole burnt offerings to God: a thousand calves, a thousand rams, and a thousand lambs, with their libations, and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel.

29:22 They ate and drank before the Lord that day with joy. They made Solomon son of David king a second time and anointed him for the Lord as king, and Sadok for priesthood.

29:23 Solomon sat upon the throne of David his father and was accepted with favor. All Israel obeyed him.

29:24 The rulers, the powerful men, and all the sons of King David his father submitted to him.

29:25 The Lord made Solomon exceedingly great before all Israel and gave him a king’s glory such as had not belonged to any king before him.

29:26 David son of Jessai reigned over Israel

29:27 for forty years: in Chebron seven years, and in Jerusalem thirty-three years.

29:28 He died in a good old age, full of days, wealth, and glory. Solomon his son reigned in his place.

29:29 The remaining deeds of King David, the earlier and the later, are written in the records of Samuel the seer, the records of Nathan the prophet, and the records of Gad the seer, 29:30 concerning all his kingdom and dominion, and the times that came upon him, upon Israel, and upon all the kingdoms of the earth.

2 Chronicles

2 Chronicles 1

1:1 Solomon son of David grew strong over his kingdom. The Lord his God was with him and made him exceedingly great.

1:2 Solomon spoke to all Israel: the commanders of thousands and hundreds, the judges, and all the rulers before Israel, the ancestral rulers.

1:3 Solomon and the whole assembly with him went to the high place in Gabaon, where God’s Tent of Testimony was, which Moses, the Lord’s servant, had made in the wilderness.

1:4 But David had brought God’s ark up from the city of Kariathiarim, because he had prepared a tent for it in Jerusalem.

1:5 The bronze altar that Beseleel son of Ouriou son of Or had made was there before the Lord’s tent, and Solomon and the assembly sought it out.

1:6 Solomon offered there upon the bronze altar before the Lord, the one in the tent; he offered a thousandfold whole burnt offering upon it.

1:7 That night God appeared to Solomon and said to him, “Ask what I should give you.”

1:8 Solomon said to God, “Thou didst show great mercy to David my father, and Thou didst make me king in his place.

1:9 Now, Lord God, let Thy name be confirmed upon David my father, for Thou hast made me king over a people as numerous as the dust of the earth.

1:10 Now give me wisdom and understanding, and I shall go out before this people and come in; for who can judge this great people of Thine?”

Note †: 1:10 Wording. Wisdom and understanding are paired; going out and coming in remain the image of leadership. The following future is retained.

1:11 God said to Solomon, “Because this came into your heart, and you did not ask for wealth of possessions, glory, or the life of opponents, and did not ask for many days, but did ask for wisdom and understanding to judge My people over whom I made you king,

1:12 I give you wisdom and understanding. I will also give you wealth, possessions, and glory, so that none like you has existed among the kings before you, nor will it be so after you.”

1:13 Solomon came from the bama in Gabaon to Jerusalem, from before the Tent of Testimony, and he reigned over Israel.

Note †: 1:13 Context. Bama is the inherited designation for the high place already identified at Gabaon in verse 3.

1:14 Solomon gathered chariots and horsemen. He had a thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand horsemen. He left them in the chariot cities, and the people were with the king in Jerusalem.

1:15 The king made gold and silver in Jerusalem like stones, and cedars in Judea as abundant as the sycamores in the plain.

1:16 Solomon’s horses came out of Egypt, and there was the price of the king’s merchants; they bought them to trade,

1:17 and they went up and exported from Egypt one chariot for six hundred in silver and a horse for a hundred fifty. Likewise they brought them through their hands for all the kings of the Chettites and the kings of Syria.

1:18 Solomon resolved to build a house for the Lord’s name and a house for his kingdom.

2 Chronicles 2

2:1 Solomon gathered seventy thousand burden-bearing men and eighty thousand quarrymen in the mountain, with three thousand six hundred overseers over them.

2:2 Solomon sent to Chiram king of Tyre, saying, “As you dealt with my father David and sent him cedars to build himself a house to live in,

2:3 behold, I his son am building a house for the name of the Lord my God, to consecrate it to Him, to burn incense before Him, with continual presentation and the continual offering of whole burnt offerings morning and evening, on sabbaths, new moons, and the feasts of the Lord our God. This is an everlasting obligation upon Israel.

2:4 The house I am building is great, for our God is greater than all the gods.

2:5 Who will be able to build Him a house, since heaven and the heaven of heaven cannot bear His glory? Who am I to build Him a house, except to burn incense before Him?

2:6 Now send me a wise and knowledgeable man to work in gold, silver, bronze, and iron, in purple, scarlet, and hyacinth blue, skilled at engraving, with the skilled men with me in Judah and Jerusalem whom David my father prepared.

2:7 Send me cedar, juniper, and pine timbers from Lebanon, for I know your slaves know how to cut timber from Lebanon. Behold, your servants will be with my servants

2:8 and will go to prepare abundant timber for me, for the house I am building is great and glorious.

2:9 Behold, I give the workers cutting timber grain for food, as gifts to your servants: twenty thousand kors, and twenty thousand kors of barley, twenty thousand measures of wine, and twenty thousand measures of oil.”

2:10 Chiram king of Tyre replied in writing and sent it to Solomon: “Because the Lord loves His people, He has appointed you king over them.”

2:11 Chiram said, “Blessed is the Lord, the God of Israel, who made heaven and earth, who gave King David a wise son, skilled in understanding and knowledge, who will build a house for the Lord and a house for his kingdom.

2:12 Now I have sent you a wise man, possessing understanding: Chiram, my father,

2:13 his mother is from Dan’s daughters, and his father is a Tyrian man. He knows how to work in gold, silver, bronze, iron, stone, and timber; to weave in purple, hyacinth blue, fine linen, and scarlet; to engrave engravings and devise every design, whatever you give him, with your skilled men and the skilled men of David my lord, your father.

2:14 Now let my lord send his servants the grain, barley, oil, and wine of which he spoke.

2:15 We will cut timber from Lebanon according to all your need and bring it in rafts to Joppa’s sea. You shall bring it to Jerusalem.”

2:16 Solomon gathered all the resident foreign men in Israel’s land after the numbering by which David his father had numbered them. They were found to be a hundred fifty-three thousand six hundred.

2:17 He assigned seventy thousand of them as burden bearers, eighty thousand as quarrymen, and three thousand six hundred as taskmasters over the people.

2 Chronicles 3

3:1 Solomon began building the Lord’s house in Jerusalem on Mount Amoria, where the Lord appeared to David his father, at the place David had prepared, at the threshing floor of Orna the Jebusite.

3:2 He began building in the second month, in the fourth year of his reign.

3:3 These were the measurements when Solomon began building God’s house: the length in cubits, by the first measurement, was sixty cubits, and the width twenty cubits.

3:4 The ailam before the house extended twenty cubits across the house’s width, and its height was a hundred twenty cubits. He gilded it inside with pure gold.

Note †: 3:4 Context. Ailam is retained for the structure before the house. Its stated measurements are preserved without replacing them with a modern unit.

3:5 He paneled the great house with cedar wood, gilded it with pure gold, and carved palm trees and hanging ornaments upon it.

3:6 He adorned the house with precious stones for glory, and with gold from Pharouaim,

3:7 and he gilded the house, the walls, gateways, ceilings, and doorways with gold, and carved cherubim upon the walls.

3:8 He made the House of the Holy of Holies. Its length across the width was twenty cubits, and its width twenty cubits. He gilded it with pure gold for cherubim, amounting to six hundred talents.

3:9 As for the weight of the nails, the weight of one was fifty shekels of gold. He gilded the upper room with gold.

3:10 He made two cherubim in the House of the Holy of Holies, work made from wood, and he gilded them with gold.

3:11 The cherubim’s wings extended twenty cubits in length. One wing, five cubits, touched the house’s wall, and the other wing, five cubits, touched the other cherub’s wing.

3:12 One wing of the other cherub, five cubits, touched the house’s wall, and the other wing, five cubits, touched the wing of the other cherub.

3:13 The cherubim’s wings were spread twenty cubits. They stood upon their feet, with their faces toward the house.

3:14 He made the curtain of hyacinth blue, purple, scarlet, and fine linen, and wove cherubim into it.

3:15 He made two pillars before the house, thirty-five cubits in height, and their capitals five cubits.

3:16 He made serseroth in the dabir and placed them upon the pillars’ capitals. He made a hundred pomegranates and placed them upon the hanging ornaments.

Note †: 3:16 Text. Serseroth and dabir are preserved as the inherited architectural designations. Their exact historical forms are not reconstructed in the verse.

3:17 He erected the pillars before the temple, one on the right and one on the left. He named the one on the right Establishment and the one on the left Strength.

2 Chronicles 4

4:1 He made the bronze altar, twenty cubits long, twenty cubits wide, and ten cubits high.

4:2 He made the cast sea, ten cubits in diameter, round all around, and five cubits high, with a circumference of thirty cubits.

4:3 Likenesses of calves were beneath it, circling it all around; ten cubits surrounded the basin. They cast the calves in two groups when they were cast,

4:4 in which they made them, twelve calves: three looking north, three looking west, three looking south, and three looking east. The sea was above them, with their hindquarters inward.

4:5 Its thickness was a handbreadth, and its rim was like a cup's rim, carved with lily shoots, holding three thousand metretes. He completed it.

Note †: 4:5 Context. Metretes is the ancient capacity-unit designation. No British or American gallon conversion is inserted.

4:6 He made ten basins and placed five on the right and five on the left, to wash and rinse in them the preparations for the whole burnt offerings. The sea was for the priests to wash in.

4:7 He made ten golden lampstands according to their ordinance and placed them in the temple, five on the right and five on the left.

4:8 He made ten tables and placed them in the temple, five on the right and five on the left. He made a hundred golden bowls.

4:9 He made the priests' court, the great court, and doors for the court, with their doorways covered in bronze.

4:10 He placed the sea at the house's right-hand corner, facing toward the east.

4:11 Chiram made the meat hooks, fire pans, the altar's grate, and all its vessels. Chiram finished doing all the work he performed for Solomon the king in God's house:

4:12 two pillars, with golath for the chothareth upon the tops of the two pillars, and two networks covering the heads of the chothareth that are upon the pillars' tops;

Note †: 4:12 Text. Golath and chothareth are inherited architectural terms in the pillar description. The related wording in verse 13 is retained.

4:13 four hundred golden bells for the two networks, and two groups of pomegranates on each network, covering the two golath of the chothareth above the pillars.

4:14 He made ten mechonoth and made the basins upon the mechonoth,

Note †: 4:14 Text. Mechonoth is retained as the source-facing designation of the supports associated with the basins.

4:15 and the one sea and the twelve calves beneath it,

4:16 and the foot pieces, lifting tools, cauldrons, meat hooks, and all their vessels, which Chiram made and brought up to King Solomon in the Lord's house, of pure bronze.

4:17 The king cast them in the Jordan region, in the thick earth, in the house of Sokchoth and between Sirdatha.

4:18 Solomon made all these vessels in very great abundance, because the supply of bronze by weight did not run out.

4:19 Solomon made all the vessels of the Lord's house, the golden altar, and the tables with the bread of presentation upon them;

4:20 the lampstands and the lamps for light according to the ordinance before the dabir, of pure gold,

4:21 and their tongs, their lamps, the bowls, the incense cups, and the fire pans of pure gold;

4:22 and the inner door of the house into the Holy of Holies, for the golden doors of the temple house.

2 Chronicles 5

5:1 All the work that Solomon made in the Lord's house was finished. Solomon brought in the holy things of David his father—the silver, the gold, and the vessels—and put them in the treasury of the Lord's house.

5:2 Then Solomon assembled Israel's elders and all the rulers of the tribes, the leaders of the ancestral houses of Israel's sons, at Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the Lord's covenant from David's city, which is Zion.

5:3 All the men of Israel assembled before the king at the feast; this was the seventh month.

5:4 All Israel's elders came, and all the Levites took up the ark.

5:5 They brought up the ark, the Tent of Testimony, and all the holy vessels that were in the tent; the priests and the Levites brought it up.

5:6 King Solomon and all Israel's congregation, and those who feared, and their assembled ones, were before the ark, sacrificing calves and sheep that could neither be numbered nor reckoned because of their multitude.

5:7 The priests brought the ark of the Lord's covenant to its place, into the dabir of the house, into the Holy of Holies, beneath the cherubim's wings.

5:8 The cherubim spread out their wings over the ark's place, and the cherubim covered the ark and its carrying poles from above.

5:9 The carrying poles projected, and their ends could be seen from the holy places in front of the dabir, but they could not be seen outside. They have been there to this day.

5:10 There was nothing in the ark except the two tablets that Moses had placed at Choreb, which the Lord covenanted with Israel's sons when they came out of the land of Egypt.

5:11 When the priests came out of the holy places—for all the priests who were found there were sanctified, without being arranged by their courses—

5:12 and all the Levitical singers belonging to the sons of Asaph, to Heman, and to Idithoun, and their sons and their brethren, clothed in fine-linen robes, with cymbals, nablai, and kinyrai, stood opposite the altar, and with them were a hundred and twenty priests sounding trumpets,

5:13 there was one voice as they sounded the trumpets, sang psalms, and cried out with one voice to give thanks and praise to the Lord. And as they raised their voice with trumpets, cymbals, and musical instruments and said, "Give thanks to the Lord, for it is good, for His mercy endures for ever," the house was filled with a cloud of the Lord's glory.

Note †: 5:13 Wording. The unity of the singers' voice and the mercy refrain are preserved. "Endureth" is supplied English predication for the Greek noun phrase, not a separate Greek verb.

5:14 The priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud, for the Lord's glory filled God's house.

2 Chronicles 6

6:1 Then Solomon said, "The Lord said that He would dwell in thick darkness.

6:2 I have built a house for Thy name, holy to Thee and ready for dwelling throughout the ages."

6:3 The king turned his face and blessed all Israel's assembly, while all Israel's assembly stood by.

6:4 He said, "Blessed be the Lord, Israel's God, who spoke with His mouth to David my father and fulfilled it with His hands, saying,

6:5 'Since the day I brought My people up from Egypt's land, I chose no city from all Israel's tribes in which to build a house for My name to be there, and I chose no man to be leader over My people Israel.

6:6 But I chose Jerusalem for My name to be there, and I chose David to be over My people Israel.'

6:7 It came upon the heart of David my father to build a house for the name of the Lord, Israel's God.

6:8 The Lord said to David my father, 'Because it came upon your heart to build a house for My name, you did well that it came upon your heart.

6:9 Nevertheless, you will not build the house. Your son who will come from your loins—he will build the house for My name.'

6:10 The Lord has established the word He spoke. I have come to be in place of David my father and sat on Israel's throne, as the Lord spoke, and I have built the house for the name of the Lord, Israel's God.

6:11 I placed there the ark, in which is the Lord's covenant that He made with Israel."

6:12 He stood before the Lord's altar, opposite all Israel's assembly, and spread out his hands.

6:13 For Solomon had made a bronze base and put it in the middle of the temple court, five cubits long, five cubits wide, and three cubits high. He stood on it, fell on his knees opposite all Israel's assembly, and spread out his hands toward heaven.

6:14 He said, "Lord, Israel's God, there is no god like Thee in heaven or on earth, keeping covenant and mercy for Thy servants who walk before Thee with their whole heart.

6:15 Thou hast kept for Thy servant David my father the things Thou didst speak to him, saying them. Thou didst speak with Thy mouth and didst fulfill them with Thy hands, as on this day.

6:16 Now, O Lord, the God of Israel, keep for Thy servant David my father that which Thou didst speak to him: 'You shall never lack a man before Me sitting upon the throne of Israel, provided your sons guard their way, walking in My law as you walked before Me.'

6:17 Now, Lord, Israel's God, let Thine utterance that Thou didst speak to Thy servant David indeed be confirmed.

6:18 But will God indeed dwell with men upon earth? If heaven and the heaven of heaven will not suffice for Thee, what is this house that I have built?

Note †: 6:18 Meaning. The rhetorical question retains God dwelling with men and the comparison with the house. "Will not suffice" follows the displayed Greek verb; the question does not itself deny every form of divine presence.

6:19 Yet look upon Thy servant's prayer and my supplication, Lord God, to hear the supplication and prayer that Thy servant prays before Thee today.

6:20 Let Thine eyes be open toward this house day and night, toward this place where Thou didst say Thy name would be invoked, to hear the prayer that Thy servant prays toward this place.

6:21 Hear the supplication of Thy servant and Thy people Israel, whatever they pray toward this place. Hear in Thy dwelling place, from heaven; hear and be propitious.

6:22 If a man sins against his neighbor and takes upon himself an oath-curse to bind himself by it, and comes and swears before the altar in this house,

6:23 then hear from heaven, act, and judge Thy servants, repaying the lawless and returning his ways upon his own head, and justifying the righteous, giving him according to his righteousness.

6:24 If Thy people Israel are crushed before the enemy, if they sin against Thee, and they return, confess Thy name, and pray and supplicate before Thee in this house,

6:25 then hear from heaven and be propitious toward the sins of Thy people Israel. Return them to the land Thou didst give to them and their fathers.

6:26 When heaven is shut and there is no rain because they will sin against Thee, and they pray toward this place, praise Thy name, and turn from their sins because Thou wilt humble them,

6:27 then hear from heaven and be propitious toward the sins of Thy servants and Thy people Israel, for Thou wilt make known to them the good way in which they should walk. Give rain upon Thy land that Thou didst give Thy people as an inheritance.

6:28 If there is famine upon the land, if there is death, damage from wind or yellowing, locust or consuming locust; if the enemy oppresses them before their cities; in every plague and every suffering,

6:29 and every prayer and every supplication that comes to any person or to all Thy people Israel, if a man knows his own affliction and weakness and spreads out his hands toward this house,

6:30 then hear from heaven, from Thy prepared dwelling place, and be propitious. Give to each man according to his ways, as Thou knowest his heart; for Thou alone knowest the heart of men,

6:31 so that they may fear Thy ways all the days they live upon the land Thou didst give our fathers.

6:32 And every foreigner who is not of Thy people Israel, who comes from a distant land because of Thy great name, Thy mighty hand, and Thine uplifted arm—when they come and pray toward this place,

6:33 then hear from heaven, from Thy prepared dwelling place, and do everything for which the foreigner invokes Thee, so that all earth's peoples may know Thy name and fear Thee as Thy people Israel do, and know that Thy name has been invoked over this house that I have built.

6:34 If Thy people go out to war against their enemies by the way Thou sendest them, and pray to Thee toward this city Thou hast chosen and the house I have built for Thy name,

6:35 then hear from heaven their supplication and prayer and uphold their right.

6:36 For they will sin against Thee—for there will be no human being who will not sin—and Thou wilt strike them and hand them over before enemies, and their captors will carry them captive to an enemy land, a land far away or near,

6:37 and they turn their heart in their land where they were deported, and indeed return and supplicate Thee in their captivity, saying, 'We have sinned, done wrong, and acted lawlessly,'

6:38 and return to Thee with all their heart and all their soul in the land of those who took them captive, and pray toward their land that Thou didst give their fathers, the city Thou didst choose, and the house I built for Thy name,

6:39 then hear from heaven, from Thy prepared dwelling place, their prayer and supplication, execute judgments, and be propitious toward the people who sinned against Thee.

6:40 Now, O Lord, I beseech Thee, let Thine eyes be open, and Thine ears attentive to the supplication of this place.

6:41 Now arise, O Lord God, to Thy rest, Thou and the ark of Thy strength. Let Thy priests, O Lord God, clothe themselves with salvation, and let Thy sons rejoice in good things.

6:42 Lord God, do not turn away the face of Thine anointed one. Remember the mercies of David Thy servant."

2 Chronicles 7

7:1 When Solomon finished praying, fire came down from heaven and consumed the whole burnt offerings and sacrifices, and the Lord's glory filled the house.

7:2 The priests could not enter the Lord's house at that time, because the Lord's glory had filled the house.

7:3 All Israel's sons saw the fire descending and the Lord's glory upon the house. They fell face down to the earth upon the stone pavement, worshiped, and praised the Lord: "For it is good, for His mercy endures for ever."

7:4 The king and all the people were sacrificing offerings before the Lord.

7:5 Solomon offered the sacrifice: twenty-two thousand calves and a hundred and twenty thousand flock animals. The king and all the people dedicated God's house.

7:6 The priests stood at their watches, and the Levites had instruments for the Lord's songs belonging to King David, to give thanks before the Lord, "For His mercy endures for ever," with David's hymns through their hands. The priests sounded trumpets on the trumpets opposite them, while all Israel stood.

7:7 Solomon sanctified the middle of the court in the Lord's house, for he offered the whole burnt offerings and the fat of the salvation offerings there, because the bronze altar Solomon had made was not sufficient to receive the whole burnt offerings, the manaa, and the fat portions.

Note †: 7:7 Text. Manaa is retained as an unresolved source-facing cultic term. Its presence does not authorize a guess about the precise offering.

7:8 Solomon kept the feast at that time for seven days, with all Israel, a very great assembly, from the entrance of Aimath to Egypt's torrent.

7:9 On the eighth day he held a closing celebration, for he had celebrated the altar's dedication as a feast for seven days.

7:10 On the twenty-third day of the seventh month he sent the people to their dwellings, rejoicing and with a good heart over the good things the Lord had done for David, Solomon, and His people Israel.

7:11 Solomon completed the Lord's house and the king's house. Everything Solomon desired in his soul to do in the Lord's house and in his own house prospered.

7:12 God appeared to Solomon at night and said to him, "I have heard your prayer and chosen this place for Myself as a house of sacrifice.

7:13 If I shut heaven so that there is no rain, if I command the locust to devour the tree, or if I send death among My people,

7:14 and if My people, upon whom My name has been invoked, are ashamed, and pray, and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven, and be propitious toward their sins, and heal their land.

Note †: 7:14 Wording. "Be ashamed" follows the Greek-facing contextual decision. Praying, seeking, turning, hearing, forgiveness, and healing remain separately expressed.

7:15 Now My eyes will be open and My ears attentive to the prayer of this place.

7:16 Now I have chosen and sanctified this house for My name to be there for ever. My eyes and My heart will be there all the days.

7:17 And you, if you walk before Me as David your father did, doing everything I commanded you and keeping My ordinances and judgments,

7:18 then I will establish the throne of your kingdom, as I covenanted with David your father, saying, 'A man leading in Israel will not be removed from you.'

7:19 But if you turn away and abandon My ordinances and commandments that I placed before you, and go and render service to other gods and worship them,

Note †: 7:19 Wording. Verses 17–18 address Solomon in the singular. Verse 19 turns to plural address, preserved as ye and you through verse 20.

7:20 then I will remove you from the land that I gave them, and this house that I sanctified for My name I will turn away from My presence. I will make it a parable and a tale among all nations.

7:21 This lofty house—everyone passing through it will be astonished and say, 'For what reason has the Lord done this to this land and this house?'

7:22 They will say, 'Because they abandoned the Lord, their fathers' God, who brought them out of Egypt's land, and attached themselves to other gods, worshiped them, and served them. Therefore He brought all this calamity upon them.'"

2 Chronicles 8

8:1 After twenty years, during which Solomon built the Lord's house and his own house,

8:2 Solomon rebuilt the cities Chiram had given him and settled Israel's sons there.

8:3 Solomon came to Aimath Soba and prevailed over it.

8:4 He built Thedmor in the wilderness and all the fortified cities that he built in Emath.

8:5 He built Upper Baithoron and Lower Baithoron, fortified cities with walls, gates, and bars,

8:6 also Baalath, all the fortified cities belonging to Solomon, all the chariot cities, the cavalry cities, and everything Solomon desired, according to his desire to build in Jerusalem, Lebanon, and all his kingdom.

8:7 All the people left from the Chettites, Amorrites, Pherezites, Hevites, and Jebusites, who were not of Israel—

8:8 they were from their descendants left after them in the land, whom Israel's sons had not exterminated—and Solomon brought them under tribute, continuing to this day.

8:9 But Solomon did not assign Israel's sons as servants to his kingdom, for they were warriors, rulers, mighty men, and commanders of chariots and cavalry.

8:10 These were the chiefs of King Solomon's supervisors: two hundred and fifty, driving the people's work.

8:11 Solomon brought Pharaoh's daughter up from David's city to the house he had built for her, for he said, "My wife shall not live in the city of David, Israel's king, because the place where the Lord's ark entered is holy."

8:12 Then Solomon offered whole burnt offerings to the Lord on the altar that he had built opposite the sanctuary,

8:13 according to each day's requirement, offering as Moses commanded on the Sabbaths, at the months, and at the feasts, three seasons of the year: at the Feast of Unleavened Bread, the Feast of Weeks, and the Feast of Tents.

8:14 Following David's ordinance, he stationed the priestly divisions according to their services; the Levites were at their watches to praise and minister before the priests according to each day's requirement, and the gatekeepers in their divisions at each gate. For such were the commands of David, the man of God.

8:15 They did not transgress the king's commands concerning the priests and Levites in any matter or concerning the treasuries.

8:16 All the work was prepared from the day it was founded until Solomon completed the Lord's house.

8:17 Then Solomon went to Gasion-gaber and to coastal Ailath in Idumean land.

8:18 Chiram sent ships and servants who knew the sea through his servants' hands. They went with Solomon's servants to Sophira, took four hundred and fifty talents of gold from there, and came to King Solomon.

2 Chronicles 9

9:1 The queen of Saba heard Solomon's name and came to Jerusalem to test Solomon with riddles, with a very great force and camels carrying spices, plentiful gold, and precious stones. She came to Solomon and spoke to him about everything in her soul.

9:2 Solomon explained all her questions to her. No matter escaped Solomon that he did not explain to her.

9:3 When the queen of Saba saw Solomon's wisdom and the house he had built,

9:4 the food of the tables, the seating of his servants, the station of his ministers and their clothing, his wine-pourers and their attire, and the whole burnt offerings he offered in the Lord's house, she was beside herself.

9:5 She said to the king, "The report I heard in my land about your words and wisdom was true.

9:6 I did not believe the words until I came and my eyes saw. Behold, not half the abundance of your wisdom was reported to me! You surpass the report I heard.

9:7 Happy are the men, happy are these servants of yours who stand by you continually and hear your wisdom!

9:8 Blessed be the Lord your God, who favored you to put you on His throne as king for the Lord your God! Because the Lord your God loved Israel, to establish it for ever, He made you king over them to enact judgment and righteousness."

9:9 She gave the king a hundred and twenty talents of gold, a very great quantity of spices, and precious stones. There was nothing like those spices the queen of Saba gave King Solomon.

9:10 Solomon's servants and Chiram's servants brought gold to Solomon from Souphir, pinewood, and precious stones.

9:11 The king made the pinewood into stairways for the Lord's house and the king's house, and kitharas and nablas for the singers. Such things had not previously been seen in Judah's land.

9:12 King Solomon gave the queen of Saba everything she desired and requested, apart from all that she had brought to King Solomon. Then she returned to her land.

9:13 The weight of gold brought to Solomon in one year was six hundred and sixty-six talents of gold,

9:14 apart from what the subjected men and merchants brought; all Arabia's kings and the land's satraps brought gold and silver to King Solomon.

9:15 King Solomon made two hundred large shields of hammered gold: six hundred pure gold pieces for each large shield; six hundred gold pieces went onto each shield.

9:16 He made three hundred shields of hammered gold; three hundred gold pieces were applied to each shield. The king placed them in the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

9:17 The king made a great ivory throne of tusks and gilded it with tested gold.

9:18 The throne had six steps fastened with gold, with armrests on either side of the throne's seat and two lions standing beside the armrests.

9:19 Twelve lions stood there on the six steps, on either side. Nothing like it had existed in any kingdom.

9:20 All King Solomon's vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon were covered with gold. Silver was considered of no account in Solomon's days.

9:21 For a ship belonging to the king traveled to Tharsis with Chiram's servants. Once every three years ships came from Tharsis to the king, laden with gold, silver, elephant tusks, and apes.

9:22 Solomon became greater than all the kings in both wealth and wisdom.

9:23 All earth's kings sought Solomon's presence to hear the wisdom God had put in his heart.

9:24 Each brought his gifts: silver vessels, gold vessels, clothing, stacte, aromatic spices, horses, and mules, year after year.

9:25 Solomon had four thousand mares for chariots and twelve thousand horsemen. He stationed them in the chariot cities and with the king in Jerusalem.

9:26 He was leader over all the kings from the River to the foreigners' land and to Egypt's border.

9:27 The king made gold and silver in Jerusalem like stones, and cedars as plentiful as sycamores in the plain.

9:28 The supply of horses for Solomon came out of Egypt and all the land.

9:29 The remaining deeds of Solomon, first and last—behold, they are written in the records of Nathan the prophet, the records of Achia the Selonite, and the visions of Joel the seer concerning Jeroboam son of Nabat.

9:30 King Solomon reigned over all Israel for forty years.

9:31 Solomon fell asleep, and they buried him in the city of David his father. Rehoboam his son became king in his place.

2 Chronicles 10

10:1 Rehoboam came to Sychem, for all Israel was coming to Sychem to make him king.

10:2 When Jeroboam son of Nabat heard—he was in Egypt, having fled from King Solomon's presence, and Jeroboam had settled in Egypt—Jeroboam returned from Egypt.

10:3 They sent and called him, and Jeroboam and all Israel's assembly came to Rehoboam, saying,

10:4 "Your father made our yoke harsh. Now release us from your father's harsh bondage and the heavy yoke he placed upon us, and we will serve you."

10:5 He said to them, "Go away for three days and come to me." The people went away.

10:6 King Rehoboam gathered the elders who had stood before Solomon his father while he was alive: "How do you advise answering this people?"

10:7 They told him, "If today you are good to this people, show favor, and speak good words to them, they will be your servants all the days."

10:8 He abandoned the elders' counsel that they had given him and consulted the young men brought up with him who stood before him.

10:9 He said to them, "What do you advise, that I may answer this people who said to me, 'Relax the yoke your father placed upon us'?"

10:10 The young men brought up with him told him, "Speak this way to the people who said to you, 'Your father made our yoke heavy; you release us from it.' Say this: 'My little finger is thicker than my father's loins.

10:11 My father disciplined you with a heavy yoke; I will add to your yoke. My father disciplined you with whips; I will discipline you with scorpions.'"

10:12 Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day, as the king had said, "Return to me on the third day."

10:13 The king answered harshly. King Rehoboam abandoned the elders' counsel,

10:14 and spoke to them according to the younger men's counsel: "My father made your yoke heavy, and I will add to it. My father disciplined you with whips; I will discipline you with scorpions."

10:15 The king did not listen to the people, for there was a reversal from God, saying, "The Lord established His word that He spoke through Achia the Selonite concerning Jeroboam son of Nabat

10:16 and all Israel," because the king did not listen to them. The people answered the king: "What share have we in David, and what inheritance in Jesse's son? To your dwellings, Israel! Now see to your house, David!" All Israel went to their dwellings.

10:17 As for Israel's men living in Judah's cities, Rehoboam ruled over them.

10:18 King Rehoboam sent Adoniram, who was over the tribute, and Israel's sons stoned him with stones, and he died. King Rehoboam hurried to mount the chariot and flee to Jerusalem.

10:19 Israel rejected allegiance to David's house, continuing to this day.

2 Chronicles 11

11:1 Rehoboam came to Jerusalem and assembled Judah and Benjamin, a hundred and eighty thousand young warriors, and was waging war against Israel to restore the kingdom to Rehoboam.

11:2 The Lord's word came to Samaia, the man of God, saying,

11:3 “Speak to Rehoboam, Solomon’s son, and to all Judah and Benjamin, saying,

11:4 ‘Thus says the Lord: You shall not go up or fight your brethren. Return, each to his house, for this matter has come from Me.’” They obeyed the Lord’s word and turned back, so as not to go against Jeroboam.

11:5 Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem and built walled cities in Judea.

11:6 He built Baithleem, Aitam, and Thekoe,

11:7 Baithsoura, Sokchoth, and Odollam,

11:8 Geth, Marisa, and Ziph,

11:9 Adoraim, Lachis, and Azeka,

11:10 Saraa, Aialon, and Chebron, which belongs to Judah and Benjamin—walled cities.

11:11 He fortified them with walls and placed leaders in them, with supplies of food, oil, and wine.

11:12 In every city there were large shields and spears, and he strengthened them exceedingly. Judah and Benjamin belonged to him.

11:13 The priests and Levites throughout Israel gathered to him from all the territories.

11:14 For the Levites abandoned the dwellings of their possession and went to Judah, to Jerusalem, because Jeroboam and his sons had expelled them so that they could not minister to the Lord,

11:15 and he appointed priests for himself for the high places, the idols, the vain things, and the calves Jeroboam had made,

11:16 and he expelled them from Israel’s tribes, those who gave their heart to seek the Lord, Israel’s God; and they came to Jerusalem to sacrifice to the Lord, their fathers’ God.

11:17 They strengthened Judah’s kingdom and strengthened Rehoboam, Solomon’s son, for three years, for he walked in the ways of David and Solomon for three years.

11:18 Rehoboam took as wife Mollath, daughter of Jerimouth son of David, and Abaia daughter of Eliab, Jesse’s son.

11:19 She bore him sons: Jaous, Samaria, and Roollam.

11:20 After these things he took Maacah daughter of Absalom, and she bore him Abijah, Jetthi, Ziza, and Emmoth.

11:21 Rehoboam loved Maacah daughter of Absalom more than all his wives and concubines, for he had eighteen wives and thirty concubines. He begot twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters.

11:22 Rehoboam appointed Abijah, Maacah’s son, as ruler, a leader among his brethren, because he intended to make him king.

11:23 He grew greater than all his sons throughout Judah’s and Benjamin’s territories and in the fortified cities. He gave those cities very abundant provisions and requested many wives.

2 Chronicles 12

12:1 When Rehoboam’s kingdom was established and secured, he abandoned the Lord’s commandments, and all Israel with him.

12:2 In the fifth year of Rehoboam’s reign, Sousakim king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, because they had sinned before the Lord,

12:3 with a thousand and two hundred chariots and sixty thousand horses. The multitude that came with him from Egypt was beyond numbering: Libyans, Troglodytes, and Ethiopians.

12:4 They seized the fortified cities in Judah, and he came to Jerusalem.

12:5 Samaia the prophet came to Rehoboam and Judah’s rulers who had gathered in Jerusalem because of Sousakim, and said to them, “Thus said the Lord: You forsook Me, and I will forsake you into Sousakim’s hand.”

12:6 Israel’s rulers and the king felt shame and said, “The Lord is righteous.”

12:7 When the Lord saw that they felt shame, the Lord’s word came to Samaia: “They have felt shame. I will not destroy them; I will give them over in a little while to salvation, and My wrath will certainly not drip upon Jerusalem,

12:8 for they will become servants, and they will know My service and the service of the kingdom of the earth.”

12:9 Sousakim king of Egypt came up and took the treasures in the Lord’s house and the king’s house; he took everything. He also took the large gold shields Solomon had made,

12:10 and Rehoboam made large bronze shields in their place. Sousakim appointed over him commanders of runners who guarded the king’s gateway.

12:11 Whenever the king entered the Lord’s house, the guards entered, and the runners, and those returning to meet the runners.

12:12 When he felt shame, the Lord’s wrath turned away from him, and not toward utter destruction. For there were also good things in Judah.

12:13 Rehoboam became strong in Jerusalem and reigned. Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city the Lord chose from all the tribes of Israel's sons to name His name there. His mother's name was Noomma the Ammanite.

12:14 He did evil, because he did not direct his heart to seek the Lord.

12:15 Rehoboam's deeds, first and last—behold, are they not written in the records of Samaia the prophet and Addo the seer, and his acts? Rehoboam fought Jeroboam all the days.

12:16 Rehoboam died and was buried with his fathers, and he was buried in David's city. Abijah his son became king in his place.

2 Chronicles 13

13:1 In the eighteenth year of Jeroboam's reign, Abijah became king over Judah.

13:2 He reigned three years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Maacah daughter of Ouriel from Gabaon. There was war between Abijah and Jeroboam.

13:3 Abijah prepared for battle with a force of powerful warriors, four hundred thousand mighty men. Jeroboam prepared for battle against him with eight hundred thousand, mighty warriors of strength.

13:4 Abijah stood on Mount Somoron in Ephraim's hill country and said, "Listen, Jeroboam and all Israel!

13:5 Should you not know that the Lord, Israel's God, gave kingship over Israel for ever to David and his sons, a covenant of salt?

13:6 Yet Jeroboam, Nabat's son, servant of Solomon, David's son, arose and withdrew from his lord.

13:7 Pestilent men, lawless sons, gathered to him, and he opposed Rehoboam, Solomon's son. Rehoboam was younger and cowardly in heart and did not withstand him.

13:8 Now you say you will stand against the Lord's kingdom through the hands of David's sons. You are a great multitude, and with you are the gold calves Jeroboam made for you as gods.

13:9 Did you not expel the Lord's priests, Aaron's sons, and the Levites, and make priests for yourselves from the people of the land? Anyone approaching to fill his hands with a calf from the cattle and seven rams became a priest to the god who does not exist.

13:10 But we have not abandoned the Lord our God. His priests minister to the Lord, Aaron's sons, and the Levites in their appointed courses.

13:11 They burn whole burnt offerings to the Lord morning and evening, and compounded incense; bread is presented upon the pure table, and the gold lampstand and its burning lamps are kindled in the evening. For we keep the charges of the Lord, our fathers' God, but you have abandoned Him.

13:12 Behold, the Lord is with us in command, with His priests and the signal trumpets to signal against you. Israel's sons, you will fight against the Lord, our fathers' God, for it will not prosper for you!"

13:13 Jeroboam turned the ambush around to come behind them. He was in front of Judah, and the ambush was behind.

13:14 Judah turned, and behold, the battle was before and behind them! They cried to the Lord, and the priests sounded the trumpets.

13:15 Judah's men cried out. As Judah's men cried out, the Lord struck Jeroboam and Israel before Abijah and Judah.

13:16 Israel's sons fled before Judah, and the Lord handed them over into their hands.

13:17 Abijah and his people struck them a great blow, and five hundred thousand mighty men of Israel fell wounded.

13:18 Israel's sons were humbled on that day, while Judah's sons prevailed, because they hoped in the Lord, their fathers' God.

13:19 Abijah pursued Jeroboam and seized cities from him: Baithel and its villages, Isana and its villages, and Ephron and its villages.

13:20 Jeroboam had no strength again throughout all Abijah's days. The Lord struck him, and he died.

13:21 Abijah grew strong and took fourteen wives. He begot twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters.

13:22 The remaining deeds of Abijah, his acts, and his words are written in the book of Addo the prophet.

13:23 Abijah died with his fathers, and they buried him in David's city. Asa his son became king in his place. In Asa's days Judah's land was quiet for ten years.

2 Chronicles 14

14:1 He did what was good and right before the Lord his God.

14:2 He removed the foreigners' altars and the high places, shattered the pillars, and cut down the sacred groves.

14:3 He told Judah to seek the Lord, their fathers' God, and carry out the law and commandments.

14:4 He removed the altars and idols from all Judah's cities, and he made peace;

14:5 walled cities in Judah's land, for the land was at peace. There was no war with him during those years, because the Lord had given him rest.

14:6 He said to Judah, "Let us build these cities and make walls, towers, gates, and bars while we hold the land. For just as we sought the Lord our God, He sought us, gave us rest all around, and prospered us."

14:7 Asa had a force of armed men carrying large shields and spears in Judah's land, three hundred thousand; and in Benjamin's land, light-shield bearers and archers, two hundred and fifty thousand. All these were powerful warriors.

14:8 Zare the Ethiopian came out against them with a force of a thousand thousands and three hundred chariots. He came as far as Marisa.

14:9 Asa went out to meet him and arrayed the battle in the ravine north of Marisa.

14:10 Asa cried to the Lord his God: "Lord, it is not beyond Thy power to save with many or with few. Strengthen us, Lord our God, for we trust in Thee, and in Thy name we have come against this great multitude. Lord our God, let no human being prevail against Thee."

14:11 The Lord struck the Ethiopians before Judah, and the Ethiopians fled.

14:12 Asa and his people pursued as far as Gedor. Ethiopians fell so that there was no preservation among them, for they were shattered before the Lord and His force. They plundered much spoil.

14:13 They cut down their villages around Gedor, for terror from the Lord had come upon them. They plundered all their cities, for there was abundant spoil for them.

14:14 They also cut down tents of possessions—the Amazonians—and took many sheep and camels, then returned to Jerusalem.

2 Chronicles 15

15:1 The Spirit of the Lord came upon Azarias son of Oded,

15:2 and he went out to meet Asa and all Judah and Benjamin, and said, "Hear me, Asa and all Judah and Benjamin! The Lord is with you while you are with Him. If you seek Him, He shall be found by you; but if you forsake Him, He will forsake you.

Note †: 15:2 Wording. Ye and you address the assembled hearers in the plural. Both conditional outcomes, seeking and forsaking, remain explicit.

15:3 For many days Israel is without a true God, without a priest giving guidance, and without law.

15:4 They will return to the Lord, Israel's God, and He will be found by them.

15:5 At that time there is no peace for anyone going out or coming in, for terror from the Lord is upon all who inhabit the regions.

15:6 Nation will fight against nation and city against city, for God terrified them with every affliction.

15:7 But you, be strong, and do not let your hands grow feeble; for there is a reward for your work."

15:8 When he heard these words and the prophecy of Adad the prophet, he grew strong. He expelled the abominations from all Judah's and Benjamin's land and from the cities he had seized in Ephraim's hill country, and renewed the Lord's altar before the Lord's sanctuary.

15:9 He assembled Judah and Benjamin and the resident foreigners living with him from Ephraim, Manasse, and Symeon, for many from Israel joined him when they saw that the Lord his God was with him.

15:10 They gathered in Jerusalem in the third month of the fifteenth year of Asa's reign.

15:11 On that day he sacrificed to the Lord from the spoil they had brought: seven hundred calves and seven thousand sheep.

15:12 He passed into a covenant to seek the Lord, their fathers' God, with all the heart and all the soul.

15:13 Everyone who does not seek the Lord, Israel's God, will die, from younger to older, man or woman.

15:14 They swore by the Lord with a loud voice, trumpets, and horn trumpets.

15:15 All Judah rejoiced over the oath, for they had sworn with all their soul and sought Him with every desire. He was found by them, and the Lord gave them rest all around.

15:16 He also removed Maacah his mother from ministering to Astarte, cut down the idol, and burned it in the Kedron torrent.

15:17 But the high places did not depart; they still existed in Israel. Yet Asa's heart was complete all his days.

15:18 He brought in the holy things of David his father and the holy things of the house of the Lord God: silver, gold, and vessels.

15:19 There was no war with him until the thirty-fifth year of Asa's reign.

2 Chronicles 16

16:1 In the thirty-eighth year of Asa's reign, Baasha king of Israel came up against Judah and fortified Rama, to allow no exit or entrance for Asa king of Judah.

16:2 Asa took gold and silver from the treasuries of the Lord's house and the king's house and sent it to the son of Ader, Syria's king, who dwelt in Damascus, saying,

16:3 "Make a covenant between me and you, and between my father and your father. Behold, I have sent you gold and silver. Come, drive Baasha king of Israel away from me, and let him depart from me."

16:4 The son of Ader listened to King Asa and sent his army commanders against Israel's cities. He struck Ion, Dan, Abelmain, and all Naphtali's surrounding districts.

16:5 When Baasha heard, he gave up building Rama any further and stopped his work.

16:6 King Asa took all Judah and took Rama's stones and timber with which Baasha had built. With them he built Gabae and Maspha.

16:7 At that time Anani the prophet came to Asa king of Judah and said, "Because you trusted in Syria's king and did not trust in the Lord your God, Syria's force has been saved from your hand.

16:8 Were not the Ethiopians and Libyans a great force, with confidence and exceedingly many horsemen? Yet because you trusted in the Lord, He handed them into your hands.

16:9 For the Lord's eyes look throughout all the earth, to show strength in every heart that is whole toward Him. You have acted ignorantly in this; from now on there will be war with you."

16:10 Asa became enraged with the prophet and put him in prison, because he was angry over this. Asa also maltreated the people at that time.

16:11 Behold, Asa's deeds, first and last, are written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel.

16:12 In the thirty-ninth year of his reign Asa became ill in his feet, until he was very ill. In his illness he did not seek the Lord, but the physicians.

16:13 Asa fell asleep with his fathers and died in the thirty-ninth year of his reign,

16:14 and they buried him in the tomb he had dug for himself in David's city. They laid him on the bed and filled it with spices and kinds of perfumers' ointments, and made an exceedingly great funeral procession for him.

2 Chronicles 17

17:1 Jehoshaphat his son became king in his place, and Jehoshaphat grew strong against Israel.

17:2 He stationed a force in all Judah's fortified cities and appointed leaders in all Judah's cities and in Ephraim's cities that Asa his father had seized.

17:3 The Lord was with Jehoshaphat because he walked in his father's earlier ways and did not seek the idols,

17:4 but sought the Lord, his father's God, and walked in his father's commandments, unlike Israel's works.

17:5 The Lord established the kingdom in his hand, and all Judah gave gifts to Jehoshaphat. He had abundant wealth and glory.

17:6 His heart was lifted up in the Lord's way, and he further removed the high places and sacred groves from Judah's land.

17:7 In the third year of his reign he sent his leaders and the sons of the mighty men—Abdia, Zacharia, Nathanael, and Michaia—to teach in Judah's cities,

17:8 and with them the Levites Samouia, Nathania, Zabdia, Asiel, Semiramoth, Jonathan, Adonia, and Tobia, the Levites; and with them Elisama and Joram, the priests.

17:9 They taught in Judah, having with them a book of the Lord's law. They went through Judah's cities and taught the people.

17:10 Terror from the Lord fell upon all the kingdoms of the earth around Judah, and they did not fight Jehoshaphat.

17:11 Some of the foreigners brought Jehoshaphat gifts, silver, and offerings. The Arabs brought him seven thousand and seven hundred rams of the flock.

17:12 Jehoshaphat continued to grow greater, rising to a height. He built dwellings in Judea and fortified cities.

17:13 He had many works in Judea, and powerful, mighty warriors in Jerusalem.

17:14 This was their number by ancestral houses. For Judah, commanders of thousands: Ednas the ruler, with three hundred thousand mighty sons of strength;

17:15 after him, Joanan the leader, with two hundred and eighty thousand;

17:16 after him, Amasia, Zachri's son, who was eager for the Lord, with two hundred thousand mighty men of strength.

17:17 From Benjamin, Eliada, a mighty man of strength, with two hundred thousand archers and light-shield bearers;

17:18 after him, Jozabad, with a hundred and eighty thousand mighty in war.

17:19 These ministered to the king, apart from those the king had stationed in the fortified cities throughout Judea.

2 Chronicles 18

18:1 Jehoshaphat still had abundant wealth and glory, and he formed a marriage alliance with Ahab’s house.

18:2 At the end of some years he went down to Ahab in Samaria. Ahab sacrificed many sheep and calves for him and the people with him, and was enticing him to go up with him to Ramoth in Galaaditis.

18:3 Ahab king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, “Will you go with me to Ramoth in Galaaditis?” He answered him, “As I am, so are you; as your people, so my people will be with you for war.”

18:4 Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, “Please seek the Lord today.”

18:5 The king of Israel gathered the prophets, four hundred men, and said to them, “Shall I go to Ramoth-galaad for war, or shall I refrain?” They said, “Go up, and God will give it into the king’s hands.”

18:6 Jehoshaphat said, “Is there not another prophet of the Lord here, so that we may inquire from him?”

18:7 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “There is still one man through whom to seek the Lord, but I have hated him, because he does not prophesy good concerning me; all his days are for evil. He is Michaias son of Iemla.” Jehoshaphat said, “Let the king not speak so.”

18:8 The king of Israel called one eunuch and said, “Quickly, Michaias son of Iemla!”

18:9 The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah were seated, each on his throne and dressed in robes, sitting in the broad space at the doorway of Samaria’s gate. All the prophets were prophesying before them.

18:10 Sedekias son of Chanana made himself iron horns and said, “Thus says the Lord: With these you will gore Syria until it is finished.”

18:11 All the prophets were prophesying in this way, saying, “Go up to Ramoth-galaad, and you will prosper; the Lord will give it into the king’s hands.”

18:12 The messenger who went to summon Michaias spoke to him: “Behold, the prophets have spoken with one mouth favorably about the king. Please let your words be like those of one of them, and you shall speak favorably.”

18:13 Michaias said, “As the Lord lives, whatever God says to me, that I will speak.”

18:14 He came to the king, and the king said to him, “Michaias, shall I go to Ramoth-galaad for war, or shall I refrain?” He said, “Go up and prosper, and they will be given into your hands.”

18:15 The king said to him, “How many times do I put you under oath that you speak to me nothing but truth in the Lord’s name?”

18:16 He said, “I saw Israel scattered on the mountains like sheep that have no shepherd. The Lord said, ‘They have no leader; let each return to his house in peace.’”

18:17 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “Did I not tell you that he does not prophesy good concerning me, but only evil?”

18:18 He said, “Not so! Hear the word of the Lord. I saw the Lord seated on His throne, and all the host of heaven stood at His right and His left.

18:19 The Lord said, ‘Who will deceive Ahab king of Israel, so that he will go up and fall at Ramoth-galaad?’ One said this, and another said that.

18:20 The spirit came out and stood before the Lord and said, ‘I will deceive him.’ The Lord said, ‘By what means?’

18:21 He said, ‘I will go out and become a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.’ He said, ‘You will deceive him, and you will prevail. Go out and do so.’

18:22 Now behold: the Lord has put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these prophets of yours, and the Lord has spoken evil against you.”

18:23 Sedekias son of Chanana approached and struck Michaias on the jaw. He said to him, “By which road did the Spirit of the Lord pass from me to speak to you?”

18:24 Michaias said, “Behold, you will see on that day when you enter a chamber from a chamber to hide yourself.”

18:25 The king of Israel said, “Take Michaias and return him to Emer the city’s ruler and to Joash, a ruler and the king’s son.

18:26 You shall say, ‘Thus said the king: Put this man in the prison house, and let him eat bread of affliction and water of affliction until I return in peace.’”

18:27 Michaias said, “If you return indeed in peace, the Lord has not spoken in me. Hear, all you peoples!”

18:28 The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah went up to Ramoth-galaad.

18:29 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “I will cover myself and enter the battle, but you put on my clothing.” The king of Israel covered himself and entered the battle.

18:30 The king of Syria had commanded the chariot commanders who were with him, “Do not fight the small or the great, but only the king of Israel.”

18:31 When the chariot commanders saw Jehoshaphat, they said, “He is the king of Israel!” They encircled him to fight, but Jehoshaphat cried out. The Lord saved him, and God turned them away from him.

18:32 When the chariot commanders saw that he was not the king of Israel, they turned away from him.

18:33 A man drew his bow with accurate aim and struck the king of Israel between the lung and the breastplate. He said to the charioteer, “Turn your hand and take me out of the battle, for I am hurt.”

18:34 The battle turned into a rout that day. The king of Israel stood on the chariot facing Syria until evening, and he died as the sun was setting.

2 Chronicles 19

19:1 Jehoshaphat king of Judah returned in peace to his house in Jerusalem.

19:2 Jehu son of Anani the prophet went out to meet him and said, “King Jehoshaphat, do you help a sinner, or befriend one hated by the Lord? For this cause wrath from the Lord has come upon you.

19:3 Nevertheless, good things have been found in you, because you removed the sacred groves from the land of Judah and directed your heart to seek the Lord.”

19:4 Jehoshaphat dwelt in Jerusalem. He went out again to the people, from Beersabee to the mountain of Ephraim, and turned them back to the Lord, the God of their fathers.

19:5 He appointed judges in all the fortified cities of Judah, city by city.

19:6 He said to the judges, “Consider what you are doing, because you judge for the Lord, not for a human being, and the matters of judgment are with you.

19:7 Now let the fear of the Lord be upon you. Keep watch and act, because with the Lord our God there is no injustice, admiration of a person’s status, or taking of gifts.”

19:8 In Jerusalem also, Jehoshaphat appointed some of the priests, Levites, and ancestral rulers of Israel for the Lord’s judgment and to judge those living in Jerusalem.

19:9 He commanded them, “This is how you shall act: in the fear of the Lord, in truth, and with a full heart.

19:10 Whatever judgment comes before you from your brethren dwelling in their cities, between blood and blood, between ordinance and commandment, and statutes and judgments, you shall give them clear instruction, so that they do not sin against the Lord, and wrath does not come upon you and your brethren. This is how you shall act, and you shall not sin.

19:11 Behold: Amarias the priest is the leader over you in every matter of the Lord, and Zabdias son of Ismael, the leader for Judah’s house, in every matter of the king. The scribes and the Levites are before you. Be strong and act, and the Lord will be with the good.”

2 Chronicles 20

20:1 After this, the sons of Moab and the sons of Ammon, with some of the Minaeans, came against Jehoshaphat for war.

20:2 People came and informed Jehoshaphat, “A great multitude has arrived against you from beyond the sea, from Syria. Behold, they are at Asasanthamar, that is, Engaddi.”

20:3 Jehoshaphat was afraid and set his face to seek the Lord. He proclaimed a fast throughout Judah.

20:4 Judah assembled to seek the Lord. They came from all the cities of Judah to seek the Lord.

20:5 Jehoshaphat stood in the assembly of Judah in Jerusalem, in the Lord’s house before the new courtyard.

20:6 He said, “Lord, God of our fathers, art Thou not God in heaven? Thou rulest over all the kingdoms of the nations. In Thy hand is mighty strength, and no one can resist Thee.

20:7 Was it not Thou, O Lord, who didst destroy this land’s inhabitants before Thy people Israel and didst give it for ever to the descendants of Abraham, Thy beloved?

20:8 They dwelt in it and built a sanctuary in it for Thy name, saying,

20:9 ‘If calamities come upon us—sword, judgment, death, famine—we will stand before this house and before Thee, for Thy name is upon this house. We will cry to Thee from affliction, and Thou wilt hear and save.’

20:10 Now behold the sons of Ammon and Moab and Mount Seir, through whom Thou didst not let Israel pass when they came out from Egypt’s land. They turned aside from them and did not destroy them.

20:11 Now behold: they are attempting to come out against us and expel us from our inheritance, which Thou didst give us.

20:12 O Lord our God, wilt Thou not judge among them? For we have no strength to withstand this great multitude that has come against us, and we do not know what we should do to them: but our eyes are upon Thee.”

Note †: 20:12 Wording. The direct prayer retains the people’s lack of strength and the final image, “our eyes are upon Thee.” No prediction of the military outcome is inserted.

20:13 All Judah stood before the Lord, with their children and the women.

20:14 The Spirit of the Lord came upon Oziel son of Zacharias, of the sons of Banaias, of the sons of Eleel, of Manthanias the Levite, from Asaph's sons, in the assembly.

20:15 He said, "Listen, all Judah, inhabitants of Jerusalem, and King Jehoshaphat! Thus says the Lord to you yourselves: Do not fear or be terrified before this great crowd, because the battle array belongs to God, not to you.

20:16 Tomorrow go down against them. Behold, they are coming up by the ascent of Asas. You will find them at the edge of the river of the wilderness of Jeriel.

20:17 You will not have to wage war. Understand these things and see the Lord's salvation with you, Judah and Jerusalem. Do not fear or be terrified about going out tomorrow to meet them, and the Lord will be with you."

20:18 Jehoshaphat bowed on his face, and all Judah and Jerusalem's inhabitants fell before the Lord to worship the Lord.

20:19 The Levites from the sons of Kaath and the sons of Kore stood up to praise the Lord, the God of Israel, with a loud voice raised high.

20:20 They rose early in the morning and went out to the wilderness of Thekoe. As they went out, Jehoshaphat stood, cried out, and said, "Hear me, Judah and Jerusalem's inhabitants. Trust in the Lord your God, and you will be trusted. Trust in His prophet, and you will prosper."

20:21 He consulted the people and appointed psalm singers and those giving praise, to give thanks and praise the holy things as they went out before the army. They said, "Give thanks to the Lord, for His mercy is for ever."

20:22 When His praise of thanksgiving began, the Lord set the sons of Ammon to fight against Moab and Mount Seir, who had come out against Judah, and they were routed.

20:23 The sons of Ammon and Moab rose against Mount Seir's inhabitants to destroy and wipe them out. When they had finished Seir's inhabitants, they rose against one another to be destroyed.

20:24 Judah reached the wilderness lookout and looked out and saw the multitude. There they were: all dead, fallen on the ground, with no survivor.

20:25 Jehoshaphat and his people came to plunder their spoils. They found many herds, baggage, spoils, and precious articles, and plundered them for themselves. They spent three days plundering the spoils, because they were so many.

20:26 On the fourth day they assembled in the Vale of Blessing, for there they blessed the Lord. Therefore they called that place the Valley of Blessing, as it is to this day.

20:27 Every man of Judah returned to Jerusalem, with Jehoshaphat leading them, in great rejoicing, because the Lord had made them rejoice over their enemies.

20:28 They entered Jerusalem with nablas, kinyras, and trumpets, going to the Lord's house.

20:29 Terror from the Lord came upon all the kingdoms of the earth when they heard that the Lord had fought against Israel's adversaries.

20:30 Jehoshaphat's kingdom was at peace, and his God gave him rest all around.

20:31 Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah. He was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Azouba daughter of Sali.

20:32 He walked in the ways of his father Asa and did not turn aside from doing what was right before the Lord.

20:33 However, the high places still existed, and the people still had not directed their heart toward the Lord, the God of their fathers.

20:34 The rest of Jehoshaphat's acts, first and last, are written in the accounts of Jehu son of Anani, who wrote down a book of the kings of Israel.

20:35 After this, Jehoshaphat king of Judah entered a partnership with Ahaziah king of Israel—this man acted lawlessly—

20:36 in undertaking the work and going to him to make ships to sail to Tharsis; and he made ships at Gasion-gaber.

20:37 Eliezer son of Dodia from Marisa prophesied against Jehoshaphat: "Because you befriended Ahaziah, the Lord has shattered your work, and your ships have been wrecked." He was unable to go to Tharsis.

2 Chronicles 21

21:1 Jehoshaphat fell asleep with his fathers and was buried beside his fathers in David's city. His son Joram reigned in his place.

21:2 He had six brethren, sons of Jehoshaphat: Azarias, Iiel, Zacharias, Azarias, Michael, and Saphatias. All these were sons of Jehoshaphat king of Judah.

21:3 Their father gave them many gifts: silver, gold, and weapons, along with walled cities in Judah. But he gave the kingdom to Joram, because he was the firstborn.

21:4 Joram rose over his kingdom and grew strong. He killed all his brethren with the sword, and some of Israel's rulers.

21:5 When Joram was thirty-two years old, he was established over his kingdom, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.

21:6 He walked in the way of Israel's kings, as Ahab's house had done, because Ahab's daughter was his wife. He did what was evil before the Lord.

21:7 Yet the Lord was unwilling to destroy David's house because of the covenant He had made with David, and as He had told him, to give him and his sons a lamp always.

21:8 In those days Edom broke away from Judah, and they set a king over themselves.

21:9 Joram went out with the rulers, with all the cavalry accompanying him. He rose by night and struck Edom, which was surrounding him, and the chariot commanders. The people fled to their tents.

21:10 Edom has remained apart from Judah to this day. At that same time Lomna rebelled from his hand, because he had abandoned the Lord, the God of his fathers.

21:11 He also made high places in Judah's cities, caused Jerusalem's inhabitants to prostitute themselves, and led Judah astray.

21:12 A written message came to him from Elias the prophet, saying, "Thus says the Lord, the God of David your father: Because you have not walked in the way of Jehoshaphat your father or in the ways of Asa king of Judah,

21:13 but have walked in the ways of Israel's kings and caused Judah and Jerusalem's inhabitants to prostitute themselves as Ahab's house caused prostitution, and because you have killed your brethren, your father's sons, who were better than you,

21:14 behold: the Lord will strike you with a great blow in your people, your sons, your wives, and all your belongings.

21:15 You yourself will be in a grievous sickness, a disease of the belly, until your belly comes out with the sickness, from day to day."

21:16 The Lord stirred up against Joram the foreigners, the Arabs, and the neighbors of the Ethiopians.

21:17 They came up against Judah and overpowered it. They carried away all the belongings they found in the king's house, his sons, and his daughters. No son remained to him except Ahaziah, the youngest of his sons.

21:18 After all this, the Lord struck him in his belly with a sickness for which there was no cure.

21:19 As day followed day, when the time of the days came, two days, his belly came out with the disease, and he died in grievous sickness. His people made no funeral procession like the procession for his fathers.

21:20 He was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. He departed without praise and was buried in David's city, but not in the tombs of the kings.

2 Chronicles 22

22:1 Jerusalem's inhabitants made his younger son Ahaziah king in his place, because the raiding band that had come against them, the Arabs and the Alimazonians, had killed all the older ones. Ahaziah son of Joram king of Judah reigned.

22:2 Ahaziah was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Athaliah daughter of Omri.

22:3 He too walked in the way of Ahab's house, because his mother was his counselor in sinning.

22:4 He did what was evil before the Lord, like Ahab's house, because after his father died they were counselors to him, to destroy him.

22:5 He followed their counsels and went with Joram son of Ahab to war against Hazael king of Syria at Rama-galaad. The archers struck Joram.

22:6 Joram returned to Jezrael to be healed of the wounds the Syrians had inflicted on him at Rama when he fought Hazael king of Syria. Ahaziah son of Joram king of Judah went down to see Joram son of Ahab in Jezrael, because he was ill.

22:7 Ahaziah's downfall came from God through his going to Joram. When he arrived, Joram went out with him to Jehu son of Namessi, the Lord's anointed—Ahab's house.

22:8 When Jehu took vengeance on Ahab's house, he found Judah's rulers and Ahaziah's brethren ministering to Ahaziah, and he killed them.

22:9 He ordered a search for Ahaziah, and they caught him while he was receiving treatment in Samaria. They brought him to Jehu, and he killed him. They buried him, for they said, “He is a son of Jehoshaphat, who sought the Lord with his whole heart.” There was no one in Ahaziah’s house able to hold power over the kingdom.

22:10 Athaliah, Ahaziah’s mother, saw that her son was dead. She rose and destroyed all the royal offspring in Judah’s house.

22:11 Jehoshabeath the king’s daughter took Joash son of Ahaziah and stole him away from among the king’s sons who were being killed. She put him and his nurse in the chamber of beds. Jehoshabeath, daughter of King Joram, sister of Ahaziah, and wife of Jehoiada the priest, hid him; she hid him from Athaliah, and Athaliah did not kill him.

22:12 He remained hidden with her in God’s house for six years, while Athaliah ruled over the land.

2 Chronicles 23

23:1 In the seventh year Jehoiada grew strong and took the commanders of hundreds with him into a house: Azarias son of Joram, Ismael son of Joanan, Azarias son of Obed, Maasaias son of Adaia, and Elisaphan son of Zacharias.

23:2 They went around Judah and gathered the Levites from all Judah’s cities and the ancestral rulers of Israel. They came to Jerusalem.

23:3 The whole assembly of Judah made a covenant with the king in God’s house. He showed them the king’s son and said to them, “Behold, let the king’s son reign, as the Lord spoke concerning David’s house.

23:4 Now this is what you shall do: let a third of you, from the priests and Levites, enter on the Sabbath, at the gates of the entrances;

23:5 a third shall be in the king’s house, and a third at the Middle Gate. All the people shall be in the courtyards of the Lord’s house.

23:6 Let no one enter the Lord’s house except the priests, the Levites, and the ministering Levites. They may enter, because they are holy. Let all the people keep the Lord’s charges.

23:7 The Levites shall surround the king, each man’s weapon in his hand. Anyone entering the house will die. They shall be with the king when he enters and leaves.”

23:8 The Levites and all Judah did everything Jehoiada the priest commanded. Each took his men from the beginning of the Sabbath until the Sabbath’s departure, because Jehoiada had not dismissed the divisions.

23:9 He gave the swords, large shields, and weapons that had belonged to King David, in God’s house.

23:10 He stationed all the people, each with his weapons, from the house’s right side to the left side of the altar and the house, surrounding the king.

23:11 He brought out the king’s son and placed the royal crown and the testimonies upon him. Jehoiada and his sons made him king and anointed him, and said, “Long live the king!”

23:12 Athaliah heard the sound of the people running, giving thanks, and praising the king, and she came to the king in the Lord’s house.

23:13 She looked: there was the king at his station, and at the entrance were the rulers and trumpets around the king. All the people rejoiced and blew trumpets, and the singers with instruments were singing and hymning praise. Athaliah tore her robe, cried out, and said, “You are attacking! You are attacking!”

23:14 Jehoiada the priest went out and commanded the commanders of hundreds and the leaders of the army: “Throw her outside the house and go in after her, and let her die by the sword.” For the priest had said, “Do not let her die in the Lord’s house.”

23:15 They gave her room, and she passed through the Gate of the Horsemen at the king’s house. They put her to death there.

23:16 Jehoiada made a covenant between himself, the people, and the king, that they should be the Lord’s people.

23:17 All the people of the land entered Baal’s house and pulled it down. They ground its altars and idols fine, and put Matthan the priest of Baal to death before its altars.

23:18 Jehoiada the priest entrusted the work of the Lord’s house to priests and Levites and established the divisions of priests and Levites that David had arranged over the Lord’s house, to offer burnt offerings to the Lord as written in Moses’ law, with rejoicing and songs according to David’s direction.

23:19 The gatekeepers stood at the gates of the Lord’s house, and no one unclean in any respect shall enter.

23:20 He took the ancestral rulers, the powerful men, the people's rulers, and all the people of the land. They brought the king up into the Lord's house, and he entered the king's house through the Inner Gate. They seated the king on the royal throne.

23:21 All the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was quiet. They had put Athaliah to death with the sword.

2 Chronicles 24

24:1 Joash was seven years old when he became king, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Sabia from Beersabee.

24:2 Joash did what was right before the Lord all the days of Jehoiada the priest.

24:3 Jehoiada took two wives for him, and he begot sons and daughters.

24:4 After this, it came into Joash's heart to repair the Lord's house.

24:5 He gathered the priests and Levites and said to them, "Go out to Judah's cities and collect silver from all Israel to strengthen the Lord's house year by year. Hurry to speak." But the Levites did not hurry.

24:6 King Joash called Jehoiada the ruler and said to him, "Why have you not overseen the Levites' bringing from Judah and Jerusalem what Moses the man of God prescribed when he assembled Israel for the Tent of Testimony?"

24:7 For Athaliah was the lawless woman, and her sons had pulled down God's house; they had also used the holy things of the Lord's house for the Baalim.

24:8 The king said, "Let a collection box be made and placed outside at the gate of the Lord's house.

24:9 Let them proclaim in Judah and Jerusalem that they should bring to the Lord as Moses, God's servant, directed Israel in the wilderness."

24:10 All the rulers and all the people gave. They brought their contributions and put them into the collection box until it was full.

24:11 Whenever the collection box was brought by the Levites to the king's overseers, and they saw that the silver had increased, the king's scribe and the high priest's overseer came, emptied the collection box, and restored it to its place. They did this day after day and gathered much silver.

24:12 The king and Jehoiada the priest gave it to those doing the work for the service of the Lord's house. They hired stonecutters and carpenters to repair the Lord's house, and smiths of iron and bronze to repair the Lord's house.

24:13 The workers did their work, and the extent of the work increased through their hands. They set the Lord's house in its standing place and strengthened it.

24:14 When they finished, they brought the remaining silver to the king and Jehoiada. They made articles for the Lord's house: articles for the service of burnt offerings and golden and silver incense vessels. They offered burnt offerings continually in the Lord's house all Jehoiada's days.

24:15 Jehoiada grew old, full of days, and died, being one hundred thirty years old at his death.

24:16 They buried him in David's city with the kings, because he had done good toward Israel and toward God and His house.

24:17 After Jehoiada's death, Judah's rulers came in and bowed down to the king. Then the king listened to them.

24:18 They abandoned the Lord, the God of their fathers, and served the Astartes and idols. Wrath came upon Judah and Jerusalem on that day.

24:19 He sent prophets to them to turn them back to the Lord, but they did not listen. They testified to them, but they did not listen.

24:20 The Spirit of God clothed Azarias, the priest, son of Jehoiada. He stood above the people and said, "Thus says the Lord: Why do you transgress the Lord's commandments? You shall not prosper. Because you have forsaken the Lord, He will forsake you."

Note †: 24:20 Text. The Greek reading names Azarias and says the Spirit "clothed" him. Zechariah or Zacharias in other witnesses is not silently substituted, and the clothing image remains.

24:21 They attacked him and stoned him by the command of King Joash in the courtyard of the Lord's house.

24:22 Joash did not remember the mercy that Jehoiada, the victim's father, had shown him, but put his son to death. As he was dying, he said, "May the Lord see and judge!"

24:23 After the year's completion, Syria's army came up against him. It came against Judah and Jerusalem, and they destroyed all the people's rulers among the people and sent all their spoils to the king of Damascus.

24:24 Although Syria's army arrived with few men, God delivered a very great army into their hands, because they had abandoned the Lord, the God of their fathers. He executed judgments against Joash.

24:25 After they left him, leaving him with grave illnesses, his servants attacked him because of the blood of the son of Jehoiada the priest. They put him to death on his bed, and he died. They buried him in David's city, but did not bury him in the tomb of the kings.

24:26 Those who attacked him were Zabed son of Samath, the Ammonite, and Jozabed son of Somaroth, the Moabite,

24:27 and all his sons; the five came against him. The remaining matters are written in the writing of the kings. His son Amaziah reigned in his place.

2 Chronicles 25

25:1 Amaziah became king at twenty-five years of age, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Joaden from Jerusalem.

25:2 He did what was right before the Lord, but not with a full heart.

25:3 When the kingdom was established in his hand, he put to death his servants who had murdered his father the king.

25:4 But he did not kill their sons, according to the covenant of the Lord's law, as written, as the Lord commanded: "Fathers shall not die for children, and sons shall not die for fathers; each shall die for his own sin."

25:5 Amaziah gathered Judah's house and organized them by their ancestral houses under commanders of thousands and hundreds throughout Judah and Jerusalem. He counted those twenty years old and upward and found three hundred thousand capable men able to go out to war, bearing spear and large shield.

25:6 He hired one hundred thousand men mighty in strength from Israel for one hundred talents of silver.

25:7 A man of God came to him and said, "King, Israel's army shall not go with you, because the Lord is not with Israel, all the sons of Ephraim.

25:8 For if you suppose you can be strong through these men, the Lord will rout you before your enemies, because both strength and rout come from the Lord."

25:9 Amaziah said to the man of God, "What shall I do about the hundred talents I gave Israel's army?" The man of God said, "The Lord can give you far more than these."

25:10 Amaziah separated off the army that had come to him from Ephraim, to return to their place. They became very angry with Judah and returned to their place in furious wrath.

25:11 Amaziah grew strong, took his people with him, and went to the Valley of Salts. There he struck down ten thousand of Seir's sons.

25:12 The sons of Judah captured ten thousand alive and brought them to the top of the cliff. They hurled them down from the cliff's top, and all were torn apart.

25:13 The men of the army that Amaziah had sent back from accompanying him to war attacked Judah's cities, from Samaria to Baithoron. They struck down three thousand in them and took many spoils.

25:14 After Amaziah returned from striking Idumea, he brought to them the gods of Seir's sons and set them up as gods for himself. He bowed before them and himself sacrificed to them.

25:15 The Lord's wrath came upon Amaziah, and He sent him prophets who said, "Why have you sought the gods of a people who could not rescue their own people from your hand?"

25:16 While he was speaking to him, the king said, "Have I appointed you the king's counselor? Take care that you are not flogged." The prophet fell silent, but said, "I know that He has purposed against you to destroy you, because you have done this and have not heeded my counsel."

25:17 Amaziah took counsel and sent to Joash son of Joachaz, son of Jehu, king of Israel: "Come, let us appear face to face."

25:18 Joash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah: "The achouch in Lebanon sent to the cedar in Lebanon, saying, 'Give your daughter to my son as a wife.' Behold, the wild animals of the field in Lebanon will come. The animals came and trampled the achouch.

Note †: 25:18 Meaning. Achouch is retained as the uncertain plant designation in the fable. The reading does not assert a precise species.

25:19 You say, 'Behold, you have struck Idumea,' and your heavy heart lifts you up. Now remain in your house. Why engage in evil, so that you fall, you and Judah with you?"

25:20 Amaziah did not listen, for this came from the Lord, to deliver him into others' hands, because he had sought the Idumeans' gods.

25:21 Joash king of Israel went up, and he and Amaziah king of Judah appeared before one another at Baithsamys, which belongs to Judah.

25:22 Judah was routed before Israel, and each man fled to his tent.

25:23 Joash king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, son of Joash, at Baithsamys. He brought him into Jerusalem and tore down four hundred cubits of Jerusalem’s wall, from the Ephraim Gate to the Corner Gate.

25:24 He took all the gold and silver, all the articles found in the Lord’s house and with Abdedom, the treasures of the king’s house, and the sons of the mixed company, and returned to Samaria.

25:25 Amaziah son of Joash king of Judah lived fifteen years after the death of Joash son of Joachaz king of Israel.

25:26 As for the rest of Amaziah’s acts, first and last, are they not written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel?

25:27 At the time Amaziah departed from the Lord, they formed an attack against him. He fled from Jerusalem to Lachis, but they sent after him to Lachis and put him to death there.

25:28 They carried him on horses and buried him with his fathers in David’s city.

2 Chronicles 26

26:1 All the people of the land took Uzziah, who was sixteen years old, and made him king in place of his father Amaziah.

26:2 He built Ailath; he restored it to Judah after the king fell asleep with his fathers.

26:3 Uzziah became king at sixteen years of age, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Chalia from Jerusalem.

26:4 He did what was right before the Lord, according to everything his father Amaziah had done.

26:5 He sought the Lord in the days of Zacharias, who understood the fear of the Lord. In his days he sought the Lord, and the Lord made him prosper.

26:6 He went out and fought the foreigners. He pulled down Geth’s walls, Jabne’s walls, and Azotus’s walls, and built cities of Azotus and among the foreigners.

26:7 The Lord strengthened him against the foreigners, against the Arabs living on the rock, and against the Minaeans.

26:8 The Minaeans gave gifts to Uzziah, and his name reached as far as Egypt’s entrance, because he grew exceedingly strong.

26:9 Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem, at the Corner Gate, the Ravine Gate, and at the corners, and grew strong.

26:10 He built towers in the wilderness and hewed many cisterns, because he had many herds in Sephela and the plain, and vinedressers in the hill country and Carmel, for he loved farming.

26:11 Uzziah had forces that waged war and went out to battle array by number. Their number was recorded by Iiel the scribe and Maasaias the judge under Ananias, the king’s deputy.

26:12 The total number of ancestral rulers mighty for war was two thousand six hundred.

26:13 With them was a fighting force of three hundred seven thousand five hundred, waging war with mighty strength to help the king against his adversaries.

26:14 Uzziah prepared for them, for the whole force, large shields, spears, helmets, breastplates, bows, and slings for stones.

26:15 In Jerusalem he made machines devised by a designer to stand on the towers and corners for shooting missiles and large stones. Their construction was heard of far away, for he was wonderfully helped until he grew strong.

26:16 But when he grew strong, his heart was lifted up to destruction. He acted unjustly against the Lord his God and entered the Lord’s sanctuary to burn incense on the incense altar.

26:17 Azarias the priest entered after him, with eighty priests of the Lord, mighty men.

26:18 They stood against King Uzziah and said to him, “Uzziah, burning incense to the Lord belongs to the priests, Aaron’s sons, who are sanctified to burn incense; it does not belong to you. Leave the sanctuary, for you have departed from the Lord. This will bring you no glory from the Lord God.”

26:19 Uzziah became angry, holding the censer in his hand to burn incense in the sanctuary. As he raged against the priests, leprosy rose on his forehead before the priests in the Lord’s house, above the incense altar.

26:20 The chief priest and the priests turned toward him: there he was, leprous on his forehead. They hurried him from there, and he himself also hurried to leave, because the Lord had rebuked him.

26:21 King Uzziah remained leprous until the day of his death. He lived leprous in a house of apphousoth, for he was separated from the Lord’s house. His son Jotham was over his kingdom, judging the people of the land.

Note †: 26:21 Meaning. Apphousoth is retained in the description of the king’s separate dwelling. The precise designation remains under review.

26:22 The rest of Uzziah’s acts, first and last, were written by Jessias the prophet.

26:23 Uzziah fell asleep with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the field of the kings' burial, for they said, "He is leprous." His son Jotham reigned in his place.

2 Chronicles 27

27:1 Jotham was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jerousa daughter of Sadok.

27:2 He did what was right before the Lord, according to everything his father Uzziah had done, except that he did not enter the Lord's sanctuary. But the people were still becoming corrupt.

27:3 He built the Upper Gate of the Lord's house and did much building on the wall of Ophla.

27:4 He built cities in Judah's hill country and in the wooded areas, and also dwellings and towers.

27:5 He fought the king of the sons of Ammon and prevailed over him. The sons of Ammon gave him yearly one hundred talents of silver, ten thousand kors of wheat, and ten thousand of barley. The king of Ammon brought him these each year, in the first, second, and third years.

27:6 Jotham grew strong because he prepared his ways before the Lord his God.

27:7 The rest of Jotham's acts, his war, and his deeds are written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel.

27:9 Jotham fell asleep with his fathers and was buried in David's city. His son Ahaz reigned in his place.

2 Chronicles 28

28:1 Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. He did not do what was right before the Lord as David his father had done.

28:2 He walked according to the ways of Israel's kings and also made carved images for their idols.

28:3 He sacrificed in Gaibenenom and made his children pass through fire, according to the abominations of the nations the Lord had destroyed before the sons of Israel.

28:4 He burned incense at the high places, on the rooftops, and beneath every leafy tree.

28:5 The Lord his God delivered him through the hand of Syria's king, who struck him, took a great number of captives from them, and brought them to Damascus. He also delivered him into Israel's king's hands, and the king struck him a great blow.

28:6 Phakee son of Romelia, king of Israel, killed one hundred twenty thousand men mighty in strength in Judah in one day, because they had abandoned the Lord, the God of their fathers.

28:7 Ezekri, the mighty man of Ephraim, killed Maasaias the king's son, Esdrikam the ruler of his house, and Elkana, the king's deputy.

28:8 The sons of Israel took captive three hundred thousand of their brethren: women, sons, and daughters. They took many spoils from them and brought the spoils to Samaria.

28:9 The Lord's prophet was there, named Oded. He went out to meet the army coming to Samaria and said to them, "Behold: the wrath of the Lord, the God of your fathers, is upon Judah, and He delivered them into your hands. You killed among them in anger; it has reached the heavens.

28:10 Now you say you will possess Judah's and Jerusalem's sons as male and female slaves. Behold, am I not with you to bear witness to the Lord your God?

28:11 Now hear me: return the captivity you took from your brethren, for the Lord's furious wrath is upon you."

28:12 Rulers from Ephraim's sons stood against those returning from the war: Oudia son of Joanos, Barachias son of Mosolamoth, Ezekias son of Sellem, and Amasias son of Chodli.

28:13 They said to them, "You must not bring the captivity here to us, for you intend to bring sin against the Lord upon us, adding to our sins and ignorance. Our sin is great, and the Lord's furious wrath is upon Israel."

28:14 The warriors left the captivity and the spoils before the rulers and the whole assembly.

28:15 The men called by name rose and took charge of the captivity. They covered all the naked from the spoils, dressed them, shod them, and provided for them to eat and anoint themselves. They helped every weak person on pack animals and brought them to their brethren at Jericho, the City of Palms. Then they returned to Samaria.

28:16 At that time Ahaz sent to the king of Assour to help him,

28:17 at this juncture, because Idumeans had attacked, struck Judah, and carried away captives,

28:18 and the foreigners had attacked the cities of Judah's plain and southwest. They captured Baithsamys, Ailon, Gaderoth, Socho and its villages, Thamna and its villages, and Gamzo and its villages, and settled there.

28:19 For the Lord humbled Judah because of Ahaz king of Judah, because he had utterly departed from the Lord.

28:20 Thaglath-phellasar king of Assour came against him and struck him.

28:21 Ahaz took what was in the Lord's house, in the king's house, and among the rulers, and gave it to Assour's king, but it brought him no help.

28:22 Instead, when he was afflicted, he departed still further from the Lord, and the king said,

28:23 "I will seek the gods of Damascus that are striking me." He said, "The gods of Syria's king will strengthen them; therefore I will sacrifice to them, and they will support me." But they became a stumbling block to him and all Israel.

28:24 Ahaz removed the articles of the Lord's house and cut them up. He shut the doors of the Lord's house and made altars for himself at every corner in Jerusalem.

28:25 In every city of Judah he made high places for burning incense to foreign gods, and they provoked the Lord, the God of their fathers.

28:26 The rest of his acts and his deeds, first and last, are written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel.

28:27 Ahaz fell asleep with his fathers and was buried in David's city, for they did not bring him into the tombs of Israel's kings. His son Hezekiah reigned in his place.

2 Chronicles 29

29:1 Hezekiah became king at twenty-five years of age, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Abba daughter of Zacharias.

29:2 He did what was right before the Lord, according to everything David his father had done.

29:3 When he was established over his kingdom, in the first month, he opened the doors of the Lord's house and repaired them.

29:4 He brought in the priests and Levites and stationed them on the side toward the east.

29:5 He said to them, "Listen, Levites! Now purify yourselves and purify the house of the Lord, the God of your fathers. Cast the uncleanness out of the holy places.

29:6 For our fathers departed and did what was evil before the Lord. They abandoned Him, turned their face away from the Lord's tent, and turned their backs.

29:7 They shut the sanctuary's doors, extinguished the lamps, burned no incense, and brought no burnt offerings in the holy place to Israel's God.

29:8 The Lord became fiercely angry with Judah and Jerusalem and gave them over to terror, disappearance, and hissing, as you see with your own eyes.

29:9 Behold, your fathers have been struck by the sword, and your sons, daughters, and wives are captive in a land not their own, as they are even now.

29:10 In view of these things, it is now in my heart to establish a covenant of the Lord, the God of Israel, and He will turn His furious wrath away from us.

29:11 Now do not slacken, for the Lord has chosen you to stand before Him, to minister and be His ministers and burners of incense."

29:12 The Levites rose: Maath son of Amasi and Joel son of Azarias from Kaath's sons; Kis son of Abdi and Azarias son of Jallelel from Merari's sons; Joa son of Zemmath and Jodan son of Joacha from the sons of Gedsoni;

29:13 Sambri and Iiel from Elisaphan's sons; Zacharias and Matthanias from Asaph's sons;

29:14 Iiel and Semei from Heman's sons; Samaias and Oziel from Jeduthun's sons.

29:15 They gathered their brethren and purified themselves according to the king's command, through the Lord's ordinance, to cleanse the Lord's house.

29:16 The priests went inside the Lord's house to purify it. They cast out all the uncleanness found in the Lord's house into the courtyard of the Lord's house, and the Levites received it to cast it outside into the Kedron torrent.

29:17 They began purifying on the first day, the new moon of the first month. On the eighth day of the month they entered the Lord's sanctuary. They purified the Lord's house in eight days and finished on the sixteenth day of the first month.

29:18 They went inside to King Hezekiah and said, "We have purified everything in the Lord's house: the altar of burnt offering and its articles, and the table of presentation and its articles.

29:19 All the articles King Ahaz defiled in his reign through his apostasy we have prepared and purified. Behold, they are before the Lord's altar."

29:20 King Hezekiah rose early, gathered the city's rulers, and went up to the Lord's house.

29:21 He brought up seven calves, seven rams, seven lambs, and seven male goats for sin, for the kingdom, the holy places, and Israel. He told Aaron's sons, the priests, to go up onto the Lord's altar.

29:22 They sacrificed the calves, and the priests received the blood and poured it onto the altar. They sacrificed the rams and poured the blood onto the altar. They sacrificed the lambs and poured the blood around the altar.

29:23 They brought the male goats for sin before the king and the assembly, and they laid their hands on them.

29:24 The priests sacrificed them and made propitiation with their blood at the altar, and made propitiation for all Israel, because the king had said, “The burnt offering and the offerings for sin are for all Israel.”

29:25 He stationed the Levites in the Lord’s house with cymbals, nablas, and kinyras, according to the command of King David, Gad the king’s seer, and Nathan the prophet, for the ordinance came by the Lord’s command through the prophets.

29:26 The Levites stood with David’s instruments, and the priests with trumpets.

29:27 Hezekiah ordered the burnt offering to be offered on the altar. When they began offering the burnt offering, they began singing to the Lord, and the trumpets accompanied the instruments of David king of Israel.

29:28 The whole assembly worshiped, the psalm singers sang, and the trumpets sounded until the burnt offering was finished.

29:29 When they finished offering, the king and everyone present bent down and worshiped.

29:30 King Hezekiah and the rulers told the Levites to hymn the Lord with the words of David and Asaph the prophet. They hymned with rejoicing, fell down, and worshiped.

29:31 Hezekiah answered, “Now you have filled your hands for the Lord. Draw near and bring sacrifices and offerings of praise to the Lord’s house.” The assembly brought sacrifices and offerings of praise to the Lord’s house, and everyone eager in heart brought burnt offerings.

29:32 The number of burnt offerings the assembly brought was seventy calves, one hundred rams, and two hundred lambs; all these were for a burnt offering to the Lord.

29:33 The consecrated animals were six hundred calves and three thousand sheep.

29:34 But the priests were few and could not skin the burnt offering. Their brethren the Levites helped them until the work was completed and the priests were purified, for the Levites purified themselves more eagerly than the priests.

29:35 The burnt offering was abundant, with the fat for completing the salvation offering and the libations of the burnt offering. Thus the work in the Lord’s house was set right.

29:36 Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced because God had prepared for the people, for the matter had happened suddenly.

2 Chronicles 30

30:1 Hezekiah sent throughout Israel and Judah and wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasse, inviting them to come to the Lord’s house in Jerusalem to keep the Passover for the Lord, the God of Israel.

Note †: 30:1 Wording. Passover renders the inherited phasek designation under the supplied Lexicon’s Passover rule. It names the festival, meal, or sacrifice as context requires; no later Christian interpretation is added to the verse. The same policy applies in chapter 35.

30:2 The king, the rulers, and the whole assembly in Jerusalem took counsel to keep the Passover in the second month.

30:3 They could not keep it at that time, because enough priests had not purified themselves and the people had not gathered in Jerusalem.

30:4 The proposal pleased the king and the assembly.

30:5 They established a decree for a proclamation to pass throughout Israel, from Beersabee to Dan, inviting people to come and keep the Passover for the Lord, the God of Israel, in Jerusalem, because a multitude had not observed it according to the writing.

30:6 The runners went with letters from the king and the rulers throughout Israel and Judah, according to the king’s ordinance: “Sons of Israel, return to the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, and He will bring back the survivors left from the hand of Assour’s king.

30:7 Do not become like your fathers and your brethren who departed from the Lord, the God of their fathers, so that He delivered them to devastation, as you see.

30:8 Now do not harden your necks. Give glory to the Lord God and enter His sanctuary, which He has sanctified for ever. Serve the Lord your God, and He will turn furious wrath away from you.

30:9 For when you return to the Lord, your brethren and children shall find compassion before all who took them captive, and He will bring them back to this land. The Lord our God is merciful and compassionate; He will not turn His face from us, if we return to Him.”

Note †: 30:9 Wording. Merciful and compassionate remain two adjectives. The Greek changes from your to our and we; the reading preserves that movement.

30:10 The runners passed from city to city in the hill country of Ephraim and Manasse, as far as Zaboulon, but people treated them with laughter and mockery.

30:11 Nevertheless, men from Aser, Manasse, and Zaboulon felt shame and came to Jerusalem.

30:12 In Judah the Lord's hand gave them one heart to come and carry out the king's and the rulers' ordinance according to the Lord's word.

30:13 A great people gathered in Jerusalem to keep the Feast of Unleavened Bread in the second month, a very great assembly.

30:14 They rose and demolished the altars in Jerusalem. They pulled down everything on which they had burned incense to false gods and threw it into the Kedron torrent.

30:15 They sacrificed the Passover on the fourteenth day of the second month. The priests and Levites felt shame, purified themselves, and brought burnt offerings into the Lord's house.

30:16 They stood at their stations according to their rule, according to the command of Moses the man of God. The priests received the blood from the Levites' hands.

30:17 Because a multitude in the assembly had not been purified, the Levites were responsible for sacrificing the Passover for everyone unable to purify himself for the Lord.

30:18 Most of the people from Ephraim, Manasse, Issachar, and Zaboulon had not purified themselves, yet ate the Passover contrary to the writing. Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, "May the good Lord be propitious toward 30:19 every heart directed to seek the Lord, the God of their fathers, though not according to the purity of the holy places."

30:20 The Lord heard Hezekiah and healed the people.

30:21 The sons of Israel present in Jerusalem kept the Feast of Unleavened Bread for seven days with great rejoicing, hymning the Lord day after day, with the priests and Levites playing instruments for the Lord.

30:22 Hezekiah spoke to every heart of the Levites and of those who showed good understanding toward the Lord. They completed the Feast of Unleavened Bread for seven days, sacrificing salvation offerings and giving thanks to the Lord, the God of their fathers.

30:23 The assembly together agreed to keep another seven days, and they kept seven days with rejoicing.

30:24 Hezekiah contributed to Judah, to the assembly, one thousand calves and seven thousand sheep. The rulers contributed to the people one thousand calves and ten thousand sheep, and the priests' holy things were abundant.

30:25 The whole assembly rejoiced, with the priests, Levites, the whole assembly of Judah, those present from Israel, the resident foreigners who came from Israel's land, and those living in Judah.

30:26 There was great rejoicing in Jerusalem, for since the days of Solomon son of David king of Israel, there had been no such festival in Jerusalem.

30:27 The Levitical priests rose and blessed the people. Their voice was heard, and their prayer came to His holy dwelling place, to heaven.

2 Chronicles 31

31:1 When all these things were finished, all Israel present in Judah's cities went out. They shattered the pillars, cut down the sacred groves, and demolished the high places and altars throughout Judea and Benjamin, Ephraim, and Manasse, to completion. Then all Israel returned, each to his inheritance and their cities.

31:2 Hezekiah arranged the divisions of priests and Levites, and each one's divisions according to his own ministry, priests and Levites for the burnt offering and the sacrifice of salvation, to praise, give thanks, and minister at the gates in the courtyards of the Lord's house.

31:3 The king's portion from his belongings was for the morning and evening burnt offerings and burnt offerings for Sabbaths, new moons, and the festivals written in the Lord's law.

31:4 He told the people living in Jerusalem to give the portion of the priests and Levites, so that they could be strong in the ministry of the Lord's house.

31:5 When he commanded the matter, the sons of Israel increased the firstfruits of grain, wine, oil, honey, and every crop of the field. They brought all the tithes abundantly—

31:6 the sons of Israel and Judah. Those living in Judah's cities also brought tithes of calves and sheep and tithes of goats, consecrated them to the Lord their God, brought them in, and laid heaps upon heaps.

31:7 In the third month the heaps began to be laid, and in the seventh month they were completed.

31:8 Hezekiah and the rulers came and saw the heaps. They blessed the Lord and His people Israel.

31:9 Hezekiah questioned the priests and Levites about the heaps.

31:10 Azarias, the priest who headed Sadok's house, answered him: "Since the firstfruits began coming into the Lord's house, we have eaten, drunk, and left a remainder, because the Lord has blessed His people. We have still left this great quantity."

31:11 Hezekiah ordered chambers to be prepared in the Lord's house, and they prepared them.

31:12 They faithfully brought the firstfruits and tithes there. Chonenias the Levite was overseer of them, and his brother Semei was his deputy.

31:13 Iiel, Ozazias, Naeth, Asael, Jerimoth, Jozabath, Eliel, Samachia, Maath, Banaias, and his sons were appointed through Chonenias and his brother Semei, as King Hezekiah and Azarias, the leader of the Lord's house, commanded.

31:14 Kore son of Jemna the Levite, gatekeeper toward the east, was over the gifts, to distribute the firstfruits to the Lord and the most holy things

31:15 through Odom, Benjamin, Jeshua, Semei, Amarias, and Sechonias, through the priests, faithfully distributing to their brethren by divisions, to great and small alike,

31:16 apart from the male offspring from three years old and upward, for everyone entering the Lord's house for the daily account, for ministry in their appointed divisions.

31:17 This was the enrollment of the priests by ancestral houses, and the Levites in their divisions from twenty years old and upward, according to their appointment,

31:18 in enrollment with all the offspring of their sons and daughters, for the whole multitude, because in faithfulness they purified the holy place

31:19 for Aaron's sons who served as priests. Those from their cities, men designated by name in every city, distributed a portion to every male among the priests and everyone counted among the Levites.

31:20 Hezekiah did this throughout Judah. He did what was good and right before the Lord his God.

31:21 In every work he began in service in the Lord's house, and in the law and ordinances, he sought his God with his whole soul, acted, and prospered.

2 Chronicles 32

32:1 After these events and this faithfulness, Sennacherib king of the Assyrians came. He came against Judah, camped against the walled cities, and said he would seize them beforehand.

32:2 Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib had arrived and that his face was set to wage war against Jerusalem.

32:3 He consulted with his elders and mighty men about blocking the waters of the springs outside the city, and they joined in strengthening him.

32:4 He gathered a great crowd and blocked the waters of the springs and the river that divided the city, saying, "Let the king of Assyria not come and find abundant water and gain strength."

32:5 Hezekiah grew strong and built the entire demolished wall and towers, and outside another defensive wall. He strengthened the retaining work of the City of David and prepared many weapons.

32:6 He appointed commanders of war over the people, and they gathered to him in the square at the gate of the ravine. He spoke to their hearts, saying,

32:7 "Be strong and act courageously. Do not be terrified before the king of Assyria or before the entire nation with him, because more are with us than with him.

32:8 With him are arms of flesh, but with us is the Lord our God, to save and to fight our war." The people took courage from the words of Hezekiah king of Judah.

32:9 After these things, Sennacherib king of the Assyrians sent his servants against Jerusalem; he himself was at Lachish, with all the army with him. He sent to Hezekiah king of Judah and all Judah in Jerusalem, saying, 32:10 "Thus says Sennacherib king of the Assyrians: On what have you placed your trust, sitting within the siege in Jerusalem?

32:11 Is Hezekiah not deceiving you, to hand you over to death and hunger and thirst, saying, 'The Lord our God will save us from the hand of the king of Assyria'?

32:12 Is this not Hezekiah who removed His altars and His high places and told Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, 'Before this altar you shall bow down, and upon it you shall burn incense'?

32:13 Will you not learn what I and my fathers did to all the peoples of the countries? Were the gods of the nations of the whole earth at all able to save their people from my hand?

32:14 Who among all the gods of these nations, whom my fathers destroyed? Were they able to save their people from my hand, that your God will be able to save you from my hand?

32:15 Now do not let Hezekiah deceive you or make you confident on these grounds, and do not believe him. The god of any nation and kingdom certainly cannot save his people from my hand and my fathers' hand; your God certainly will not save you from my hand."

32:16 His servants spoke still more against the Lord God and against Hezekiah His servant.

32:17 He wrote a letter to reproach the Lord God of Israel and spoke about Him, saying, “As the gods of the nations of the earth did not deliver their peoples from my hand, so the God of Hezekiah certainly will not deliver His people from my hand.”

32:18 He shouted in a loud voice in the Judean language to the people of Jerusalem upon the wall, to frighten and bring them down so that they might seize the city beforehand.

32:19 He spoke against the God of Jerusalem as also against the gods of the peoples of the earth, works of human hands.

32:20 King Hezekiah and Isaiah son of Amoz the prophet prayed about these things and cried out to heaven.

32:21 The Lord sent an angel, and he wiped out every mighty warrior, ruler, and commander in the camp of the king of Assyria. The king returned to his land with shame of face. He entered the house of his god, and some who had come from his own body struck him down with the sword.

32:22 The Lord saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib king of Assyria and from everyone’s hand, and He gave them rest all around.

32:23 Many brought gifts to the Lord at Jerusalem and presents to Hezekiah king of Judah, and afterward he was highly exalted in the eyes of all the nations.

32:24 In those days Hezekiah became ill to the point of death. He prayed to the Lord, and He listened to him and gave him a sign.

32:25 Hezekiah did not repay according to the recompense He had given him, but his heart was lifted up. Wrath came upon him and upon Judah and Jerusalem.

32:26 Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem humbled themselves from the height of his heart, and the Lord’s wrath did not come upon them in Hezekiah’s days.

32:27 Hezekiah had exceedingly great wealth and glory. He made himself treasuries for silver, gold, precious stones, and spices, and armories, and places for desirable articles,

32:28 and cities for the produce of grain, oil, and wine, mangers for every animal, and folds for the flocks,

32:29 and cities that he built for himself, and a great stock of sheep and cattle, because the Lord gave him exceedingly many possessions.

32:30 Hezekiah himself blocked the upper outlet of the water of Gihon and directed the waters downward toward the southwest of the City of David. Hezekiah prospered in all his works.

32:31 And so, concerning the ambassadors of the rulers from Babylon sent to him to learn from him about the wonder that had happened upon the land, the Lord left him to test him, to know what was in his heart.

32:32 The rest of Hezekiah’s deeds and his mercy are written in the prophecy of Isaiah son of Amoz the prophet and in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel.

32:33 Hezekiah lay down with his fathers, and they buried him on the ascent to the tombs of David’s sons. All Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem gave him glory and honor at his death, and his son Manasseh reigned in his place.

2 Chronicles 33

33:1 Manasseh was twelve years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem.

33:2 He did what was evil before the Lord, following all the abominations of the nations whom the Lord had destroyed before the sons of Israel.

33:3 He rebuilt the high places that his father Hezekiah had pulled down, erected pillars for the Baals, made sacred groves, and bowed down to all the army of heaven and served them.

33:4 He built altars in the Lord’s house, concerning which the Lord had said, “My name shall be in Jerusalem for ever.”

33:5 He built altars for all the army of heaven in the two courtyards of the Lord’s house.

33:6 He passed his children through fire in Gai-banai-ennom. He sought omens from utterances, practiced augury and sorcery, and appointed spirit-mediums and enchanters. He multiplied evil before the Lord, provoking Him to anger.

33:7 He set the carved object and the cast object, an image he had made, in God’s house, concerning which God had said to David and his son Solomon, “In this house and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, I will set My name for ever.

33:8 I will no longer shake Israel’s foot from the land I gave their fathers, if only they take care to do everything I commanded them, according to all the law, ordinances, and judgments through Moses.”

33:9 Manasseh led Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem astray, to do evil beyond all the nations the Lord had removed before the sons of Israel.

33:10 The Lord spoke against Manasseh and his people, but they did not listen.

33:11 The Lord brought against them the commanders of the king of Assyria’s force. They seized Manasseh in bonds, bound him in fetters, and brought him to Babylon.

33:12 When he was afflicted, he sought the face of the Lord his God and humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers.

33:13 He prayed to Him, and He listened to him. He heard his cry and restored him to Jerusalem, to his kingdom. Then Manasseh knew that the Lord Himself is God.

33:14 After these things he built a wall outside the City of David, from the southwest opposite Gihon in the winter stream, and where people go out through the surrounding gate, and toward Ophla, and raised it very high. He stationed commanders of the force in all Judah’s walled cities.

33:15 He removed the foreign gods and the carved object from the Lord’s house, and all the altars he had built on the mountain of the Lord’s house and in Jerusalem and outside the city.

33:16 He set the Lord’s altar right and sacrificed an offering of salvation and praise upon it. He told Judah to serve the Lord God of Israel.

33:17 Nevertheless the people still worshiped at the high places; yet it was the Lord their God whom they worshiped.

Note †: 33:17 Wording. The Greek clauses are elliptical. The verb worship is supplied from the immediate cultic context for intelligible English; it is not a separately written verb in this verse.

33:18 The remaining deeds of Manasseh, his prayer to God, and the words of the seers who spoke to him in the name of the Lord God of Israel—behold, in the accounts

33:19 of his prayer, and how He listened to him, and all his sins and rebellions, and the places where he built the high places and set up sacred groves and carved objects before turning back—behold, they are written in the accounts of the seers.

33:20 Manasseh lay down with his fathers, and they buried him in the garden of his house. His son Amon reigned in his place.

33:21 Amon was twenty-two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem.

33:22 He did what was evil before the Lord, as his father Manasseh had done. Amon sacrificed to all the idols his father Manasseh had made and served them.

33:23 He did not humble himself before the Lord as his father Manasseh had humbled himself, because his son Amon multiplied transgression.

33:24 His servants attacked him and struck him in his house.

33:25 The people of the land struck down those who had attacked King Amon, and the people of the land made his son Josiah king in his place.

2 Chronicles 34

34:1 Josiah was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem.

34:2 He did what was upright before the Lord and walked in the ways of his father David, turning aside neither to the right nor to the left.

34:3 In the eighth year of his reign, while still a boy, he began to seek the Lord, the God of his father David. In the twelfth year of his reign he began to cleanse Judah and Jerusalem of the high places, sacred groves, and cast objects.

34:4 He pulled down before him the altars of the Baals and the high places upon them. He cut down the sacred groves, shattered and pulverized the carved and cast objects, and scattered them over the graves of those who had sacrificed to them.

34:5 He burned priests’ bones upon the altars and cleansed Judah and Jerusalem.

34:6 And in the cities of Ephraim, Manasseh, Simeon, and Naphtali, and in their surrounding places,

34:7 he pulled down the sacred groves and altars, cut the idols into fine pieces, and cut down all the high places throughout the land of Israel. Then he returned to Jerusalem.

34:8 In the eighteenth year of his reign, to cleanse the land and the house, he sent Shaphan son of Eselias, Maasias the city ruler, and Joah son of Joahaz his recorder to strengthen the house of the Lord his God.

34:9 They came to Hilkiah the high priest and handed over the silver brought into God’s house, which the Levites guarding the gate had gathered from Manasseh, Ephraim, the rulers, all the remnant in Israel, the sons of Judah and Benjamin, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

34:10 Those appointed in the Lord’s house put it into the hands of the workers, and they gave it to the workers laboring in the Lord’s house, to repair and strengthen the house.

34:11 They gave it to the craftsmen and builders to buy four-foot stones and timber for beams, to roof the buildings the kings of Judah had destroyed.

Note †: 34:11 Context. “Four-foot stones” retains the Greek compound tetrapedous. The exact sense and dimensions remain for lexical review; no modern imperial conversion is intended.

34:12 The men were faithful in their work. Their overseers were Jeth and Abdias, Levites from the sons of Merari, and Zacharias and Mosollam from the sons of Kohath, appointed to oversee the work; and every Levite skilled in instruments of song

34:13 was over the burden-bearers and over all who did the works, task by task. From the Levites came scribes, judges, and gatekeepers.

34:14 As they brought out the silver that had been received into the Lord’s house, Hilkiah the priest found a book of the Lord’s law by the hand of Moses.

Note †: 34:14 Wording. “By the hand of Moses” preserves the agency idiom. It does not by itself establish that the discovered manuscript was a surviving Mosaic autograph.

34:15 Hilkiah answered and said to Shaphan the scribe, “I have found a book of law in the Lord’s house.” Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan.

34:16 Shaphan brought the book to the king and also reported to the king, “All the silver given is in the hands of your servants who are doing the work,

34:17 and they melted the silver found in the Lord’s house and gave it into the hands of the overseers and those doing the work.”

34:18 Shaphan the scribe told the king, “Hilkiah the priest has given me a book.” Shaphan read it before the king.

34:19 When the king heard the words of the law, he tore his garments.

34:20 The king commanded Hilkiah, Ahikam son of Shaphan, Abdon son of Michaias, Shaphan the scribe, and Asaias the king’s servant, saying,

34:21 “Go, seek the Lord concerning me and all who are left in Israel and Judah, concerning the words of the book that has been found. The Lord’s great anger has burned against us because our fathers did not heed the Lord’s words by doing all that is written in this book.”

34:22 Hilkiah and those to whom the king had spoken went to Huldah the prophetess, wife of Sellem son of Thakouath son of Chelles, herself keeper of the robes. She dwelt in Jerusalem in Masana, and they spoke to her accordingly.

34:23 She said to them, “Thus said the Lord God of Israel: Tell the man who sent you to me,

34:24 ‘Thus says the Lord: I am bringing evils upon this place—all the words written in the book read before the king of Judah,

34:25 because they abandoned Me and burned incense to foreign gods, provoking Me with all the works of their hands. My anger has been kindled in this place and will not be quenched.’

34:26 But concerning the king of Judah who sent you to seek the Lord, this is what you shall say to him: ‘Thus says the Lord God of Israel: The words which you have heard—

34:27 and your heart felt shame, and you humbled yourself before Me when you heard My words against this place and its inhabitants, and humbled yourself before Me, tore your garments, and wept before Me—I also have heard, says the Lord.

34:28 I am adding you to your fathers, and you will be added to your tombs in peace. Your eyes will not see all the evils I am bringing upon this place and its inhabitants.’” They brought word back to the king.

34:29 The king sent and gathered the elders of Judah and Jerusalem.

34:30 The king went up to the Lord’s house with all Judah, the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the priests, the Levites, and all the people from great to small. He read in their hearing all the words of the book of the covenant found in the Lord’s house.

34:31 The king stood by the pillar and established a covenant before the Lord: to walk before the Lord and keep His commandments, testimonies, and ordinances with the whole heart and the whole soul—the words of the covenant written in this book.

34:32 He made everyone found in Jerusalem and Benjamin stand. The inhabitants of Jerusalem made a covenant in the house of the Lord, the God of their fathers.

34:33 Josiah removed all the abominations from all the land belonging to the sons of Israel and made everyone present in Jerusalem and Israel serve the Lord their God throughout his days. He did not turn aside from following the Lord, the God of his fathers.

2 Chronicles 35

35:1 Josiah observed the Passover to the Lord his God, and they sacrificed the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month.

35:2 He stationed the priests at their watches and strengthened them for the works of the Lord’s house.

35:3 He told the Levites who were mighty in all Israel to consecrate themselves to the Lord, and they placed the holy ark in the house Solomon son of David, king of Israel, built. The king said, “You have nothing to lift upon your shoulders. Now therefore minister to the Lord your God and His people Israel,

35:4 and prepare yourselves by your ancestral houses and by your courses, according to the writing of David king of Israel and through the hand of his son Solomon,

35:5 and stand in the house according to the divisions of your ancestral houses for your brethren, the sons of the people, with a portion of an ancestral house for the Levites,

35:6 and sacrifice the Passover and prepare the holy things for your brethren, to act according to the Lord's word through the hand of Moses."

35:7 Josiah set apart for the sons of the people sheep, lambs, and kids from the offspring of goats, all for the Passover for everyone present, thirty thousand in number, and three thousand calves. These came from the king's property.

35:8 His rulers set apart contributions for the people, priests, and Levites. Hilkiah, Zacharias, and Jiiel, rulers of God's house, gave to the priests; they gave for the Passover two thousand six hundred sheep, lambs, and kids, and three hundred calves.

35:9 Chonenias, Banaias, Samaias, his brother Nathanael, and Asabias, Jiiel, and Jozabad, rulers of the Levites, set apart for the Levites five thousand sheep for the Passover and five hundred calves.

35:10 The ministry was set in order. The priests stood at their station and the Levites in their divisions, according to the king's command.

35:11 They sacrificed the Passover, and the priests poured the blood from their hands while the Levites skinned the animals.

35:12 They prepared the burnt offering to hand it to them according to the division by ancestral houses of the sons of the people, to bring it to the Lord as written in the Book of Moses; and so until morning.

35:13 They roasted the Passover with fire according to the ruling, and boiled the holy things in bronze vessels and cauldrons. It went well, and they ran to all the sons of the people.

35:14 After preparing for themselves and the priests—because the priests were offering the fat and burnt offerings until night—the Levites prepared for themselves and for their brethren, Aaron's sons.

35:15 The psalm-singers, Asaph's sons, were at their station according to the commands of David, Asaph, Heman, and Jeduthun, the king's prophets, together with the rulers and the gatekeepers at each gate. They did not have to move from the ministry of holy things, because their brethren the Levites prepared for them.

35:16 All the Lord's ministry was set in order and prepared that day, to observe the Passover and bring burnt offerings to the Lord's altar according to King Josiah's command.

35:17 The sons of Israel who were present observed the Passover at that time, and the Feast of Unleavened Bread for seven days.

35:18 No Passover like it had occurred in Israel since the days of Samuel the prophet. None of Israel's kings had observed a Passover like the one Josiah observed with the priests, Levites, all Judah and Israel who were present, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, to the Lord

35:19 in the eighteenth year of Josiah's reign.

35:19a King Josiah burned the spirit-mediums, the spirit-knowers, the tharaphin, the idols, and the karasim that were in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, to establish the words of the law written in the book Hilkiah the priest had found in the Lord's house.

Note †: 35:19a Text. The inherited labels 19a–19d are retained. The publisher displays their Greek content as successive sections under verse 19; these lettered labels are reading aids, not extra content invented in this revision. Tharaphin and karasim remain inherited source forms requiring separate lexical review.

35:19b Before him there had been no one like him, who turned to the Lord with all his heart, all his soul, and all his strength according to all the law of Moses; after him no one like him arose.

35:19c Nevertheless the Lord did not turn from the wrath of His great anger, with which the Lord was angry against Judah over all the provocations with which Manasseh had provoked Him.

35:19d The Lord said, "I will indeed remove Judah from My presence, just as I removed Israel, and I have rejected the city I chose, Jerusalem, and the house of which I said, 'My name shall be there.'"

35:20 Pharaoh Neco king of Egypt went up against the king of the Assyrians at the River Euphrates, and King Josiah went to meet him.

35:21 He sent messengers to him, saying, "What is there between me and you, king of Judah? I have not come against you today to make war, and God has told me to hurry. Beware of God, who is with me, lest He destroy you."

35:22 Josiah did not turn his face away from him, but strengthened himself to fight him. He did not listen to Neco's words through God's mouth, and came to fight in the plain of Magedon.

35:23 The archers shot at King Josiah, and the king said to his servants, "Bring me out, for I am in great pain."

35:24 His servants brought him out of the chariot, put him into his second chariot, and brought him to Jerusalem. He died and was buried with his fathers. All Judah and Jerusalem mourned for Josiah,

35:25 and Jeremiah lamented over Josiah. All the male and female rulers spoke a lament over Josiah to this day. They made it an ordinance for Israel, and it is written among the laments.

35:26 Josiah's deeds and his hope were written in the Lord's law;

35:27 and his deeds, first and last, are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah.

2 Chronicles 36

36:1 The people of the land took Jehoahaz son of Josiah, anointed him, and installed him as king in his father's place in Jerusalem.

36:2 Joahaz was twenty-three years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem,

36:2a and his mother's name was Amital, daughter of Jeremiah from Lobena.

36:2b He did what was evil before the Lord, according to everything his fathers had done.

36:2c Pharaoh Neco bound him at Deblatha in the land of Emath so that he would not reign in Jerusalem,

36:3 and the king transported him to Egypt and imposed tribute on the land of one hundred talents of silver and one talent of gold.

36:4 Pharaoh Neco installed Eliakim son of Josiah as king of Judah in place of his father Josiah and changed his name to Jehoiakim. Pharaoh Neco took his brother Joahaz and brought him into Egypt, and he died there.

36:4a They gave the silver and gold to Pharaoh. Then the land began to be taxed to provide the silver at Pharaoh's command, and each, according to his capacity, exacted the silver and gold from the people of the land to give to Pharaoh Neco.

36:5 Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zechora, daughter of Nerias from Rama. He did what was evil before the Lord, according to everything his fathers had done.

36:5a In his days Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came into the land, and he served him for three years and then revolted against him.

36:5b The Lord sent against them the Chaldeans, bands of Syrian raiders, bands of Moabite raiders, and the sons of Ammon and of Samaria. They withdrew after this event, according to the Lord's word through His servants the prophets.

36:5c Nevertheless the Lord's anger was against Judah, to remove him from His presence because of Manasseh's sins in everything he had done,

36:5d and because of the innocent blood that Jehoiakim shed, filling Jerusalem with innocent blood; yet the Lord did not wish to destroy them.

36:6 Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up against him, bound him with bronze fetters, and took him away to Babylon.

36:7 He carried away part of the vessels of the Lord's house to Babylon and put them in his temple in Babylon.

36:8 The rest of Jehoiakim's deeds and everything he did—are these not written in the book of the accounts of the days for the kings of Judah? Jehoiakim lay down with his fathers and was buried in Ganoza with his fathers, and his son Jechonias reigned in his place.

36:9 Jechonias was eighteen years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months and ten days in Jerusalem. He did what was evil before the Lord.

36:10 At the turn of the year King Nebuchadnezzar sent and brought him into Babylon with the desirable vessels of the Lord's house. He made Zedekiah, his father's brother, king over Judah and Jerusalem.

36:11 Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem.

36:12 He did what was evil before the Lord his God. He felt no shame before Jeremiah the prophet, and at what came from the Lord's mouth,

36:13 in breaking his obligations to King Nebuchadnezzar, who had made him swear by God. He hardened his neck and strengthened his heart so as not to return to the Lord God of Israel.

36:14 All the distinguished men of Judah, the priests, and the people of the land multiplied breaches of faith in the nations' abominations and defiled the Lord's house in Jerusalem.

36:15 The Lord, the God of their fathers, sent through prophets, rising early and sending His messengers, because He spared His people and His sanctuary.

36:16 They kept sneering at His messengers, treating His words as nothing, and mocking His prophets, until the Lord's anger rose among His people, until there was no healing.

36:17 He brought against them a king of the Chaldeans, who killed their young men with the sword in the house of his sanctuary and did not spare Zedekiah. They had no mercy on their virgins and carried away their elders. He handed everything into their hands.

36:18 All the vessels of God's house, great and small, the treasures, and all the treasures of the king and the magnates—he brought everything into Babylon.

36:19 He burned the Lord’s house, demolished Jerusalem’s wall, and burned its citadels with fire, consigning every beautiful article to destruction.

36:20 He deported the survivors to Babylon, and they became slaves to him and his sons until the kingdom of the Medes,

36:21 to fulfill the Lord’s word through Jeremiah’s mouth, until the land accepted its Sabbaths, to keep Sabbath. All the days of its desolation it kept Sabbath, to complete seventy years.

36:22 In the first year of Cyrus king of the Persians, after the Lord’s word through Jeremiah’s mouth had been fulfilled, the Lord stirred the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians. He ordered a proclamation throughout his kingdom in writing, saying,

36:23 “Thus says Cyrus king of the Persians: The Lord, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth, and He has commanded me to build Him a house in Jerusalem in Judea. Who among you is of all His people? His God shall be with him, and let him go up.”

Note †: 36:23 Text. The future “His God shall be with him” is distinguished from the command “let him go up.” This decision follows the supplied lexical source record dated 26 September 2026; a fresh publisher retrieval for this chapter was unavailable in this pass.

1 Maccabees

1 Maccabees 1

1:1 After Alexander son of Philip, the Macedonian who came from the land of Kittim, had defeated Darius king of the Persians and Medes, he became king in his place, having first ruled over Greece.

1:2 He waged many wars, took possession of strongholds, and slaughtered kings of the earth.

1:3 He passed through to the ends of the earth and took the spoils of a multitude of nations. The earth became quiet before him; he was exalted, and his heart was lifted up.

1:4 He gathered an exceedingly strong army and ruled over countries, nations, and rulers; they became tributary to him.

1:5 After this he fell upon his bed and knew that he was dying.

1:6 He summoned his distinguished officers, who had been brought up with him from his youth, and divided his kingdom among them while he was still alive.

1:7 Alexander reigned twelve years, and he died.

1:8 His officers took power, each in his own place.

1:9 They all put on diadems after his death, and their sons after them for many years; they multiplied evils on the earth.

1:10 From them came a sinful root: Antiochus Epiphanes, son of King Antiochus, who had been a hostage in Rome. He became king in the one hundred and thirty-seventh year of the kingdom of the Greeks.

1:11 In those days lawless sons came out of Israel and persuaded many, saying, “Let us go and make a covenant with the nations around us, because since we separated ourselves from them, many evils have overtaken us.”

1:12 The proposal was good in their eyes.

1:13 Some of the people eagerly went to the king, and he gave them authority to follow the ordinances of the nations.

1:14 They built a gymnasium in Jerusalem according to the customs of the nations

1:15 and made foreskins for themselves. They abandoned the holy covenant, yoked themselves to the nations, and sold themselves to do evil.

1:16 The kingdom was established before Antiochus, and he planned to reign over the land of Egypt so that he might rule both kingdoms.

1:17 He entered Egypt with a heavy force, with chariots, elephants, cavalry, and a great fleet,

1:18 and waged war against Ptolemy king of Egypt. Ptolemy was driven back before him and fled, and many fell wounded.

1:19 They seized the fortified cities in the land of Egypt, and he took the spoils of the land of Egypt.

1:20 After striking Egypt, Antiochus returned in the one hundred and forty-third year. He went up against Israel and came up to Jerusalem with a heavy force.

1:21 He arrogantly entered the sanctuary and took the golden altar, the lampstand for light and all its utensils,

1:22 the table of presentation, the libation vessels, the bowls, the golden censers, the curtain, the crowns, and the gold ornament on the front of the temple. He stripped everything off.

1:23 He took the silver, the gold, the precious vessels, and the hidden treasures that he found.

1:24 Having taken everything, he went away to his own land. He committed bloodshed and spoke with great arrogance.

1:25 Great mourning came upon Israel in every place where they lived.

1:26 Rulers and elders groaned; young women and young men grew weak, and the beauty of women was changed.

1:27 Every bridegroom took up a lament, and the bride sitting in her bridal chamber mourned.

1:28 The earth shook over its inhabitants, and the whole house of Jacob put on shame.

1:29 After two full years, the king sent a chief collector of tribute to the cities of Judah. He came to Jerusalem with a heavy force.

1:30 He spoke peaceful words to them deceitfully, and they trusted him. Then he suddenly fell upon the city, struck it a great blow, and destroyed many people of Israel.

1:31 He took the spoils of the city and burned it with fire. He demolished its houses and its surrounding walls.

1:32 They took the women and children captive and took possession of the livestock.

1:33 They fortified the city of David with a great, strong wall and strong towers, and it became their citadel.

1:34 They stationed there a sinful nation, lawless men, and strengthened themselves in it.

1:35 They stored weapons and food, gathered the spoils of Jerusalem, and deposited them there. They became a great trap.

1:36 It became an ambush against the sanctuary and an evil adversary to Israel continually.

1:37 They poured out innocent blood around the sanctuary and defiled the sanctuary.

1:38 Because of them the inhabitants of Jerusalem fled, and she became a dwelling of foreigners. She became foreign to those born in her, and her children abandoned her.

1:39 Her sanctuary was laid waste like a wilderness; her festivals were turned into mourning, her sabbaths into reproach, and her honour into contempt.

1:40 In proportion to her glory, her dishonour multiplied, and her exaltation was turned into mourning.

1:41 The king wrote to his whole kingdom that all should become one people

1:42 and that each should abandon his own customs. All the nations accepted the king's command.

1:43 Many from Israel consented to his worship, sacrificed to idols, and profaned the sabbath.

1:44 The king sent letters by messengers to Jerusalem and the cities of Judah, ordering them to follow customs foreign to the land,

1:45 to prevent whole burnt offerings, sacrifice, and libation in the sanctuary, to profane sabbaths and festivals,

1:46 to defile the sanctuary and holy people,

1:47 to build pagan altars, sacred precincts, and shrines for idols, and to sacrifice pigs and unclean livestock,

1:48 to leave their sons uncircumcised, and to make themselves abominable through every uncleanness and profanation,

1:49 so that they would forget the law and change all the ordinances.

1:50 Whoever did not act according to the king's command was to die.

1:51 In accordance with all these commands he wrote to his whole kingdom. He appointed overseers over all the people and commanded the cities of Judah to sacrifice, city by city.

1:52 Many of the people gathered to them, everyone who abandoned the law, and they did evil in the land.

1:53 They drove Israel into hiding in all their places of refuge.

1:54 On the fifteenth day of Chislev, in the one hundred and forty-fifth year, he built an abomination of desolation upon the altar. They built pagan altars in the surrounding cities of Judah.

1:55 At the doors of the houses and in the squares they burned incense.

1:56 They tore apart the books of the law that they found and burned them with fire.

1:57 Whenever a book of the covenant was found in someone's possession, or anyone consented to the law, the king's decree put him to death.

1:58 By their power they dealt in this way with Israelites found in the cities, month after month.

1:59 On the twenty-fifth day of the month they offered sacrifice on the pagan altar that stood upon the altar.

1:60 According to the decree, they put to death the women who had circumcised their children,

1:61 hanging the infants from their necks; they also killed their households and those who had circumcised them.

1:62 Many in Israel stood firm and fortified themselves against eating unclean things.

1:63 They chose to die so that they would not be defiled by foods or profane the holy covenant, and they died.

1:64 Very great wrath came upon Israel.

1 Maccabees 2

2:1 In those days Mattathias son of John son of Simeon, a priest of the sons of Joarib, arose from Jerusalem and settled in Modein.

2:2 He had five sons: John, called Gaddi;

2:3 Simon, called Thassi;

2:4 Judas, called Maccabeus;

2:5 Eleazar, called Avaran; and Jonathan, called Apphous.

2:6 He saw the blasphemies being committed in Judah and Jerusalem

2:7 and said, "Alas for me! Why was I born to see the ruin of my people and the ruin of the holy city, and to sit there while she was given into the hand of enemies, the sanctuary into the hand of foreigners?

2:8 Her temple has become like a man without honour.

2:9 The vessels of her glory were carried away captive; her little children were slain in her squares, her young men by the sword of an enemy.

2:10 What nation has not taken possession of her royal places and seized her spoils?

2:11 All her adornment was taken away; she that was free became a slave.

2:12 Behold! Our holy places, our beauty, and our glory have been laid waste, and the nations have profaned them.

2:13 Why should we live any longer?"

2:14 Mattathias and his sons tore their garments, put on sackcloth, and mourned greatly.

2:15 The king’s officials who were compelling apostasy came to the city of Modein to make the people sacrifice.

2:16 Many from Israel came to them, and Mattathias and his sons gathered.

2:17 The king’s officials addressed Mattathias, saying, “You are a ruler, honoured and great in this city, supported by sons and brothers.

2:18 Now be the first to come forward and carry out the king’s decree, as all the nations, the men of Judah, and those left in Jerusalem have done. You and your sons shall be among the king’s Friends, and you and your sons shall be honoured with silver, gold, and many gifts.”

2:19 Mattathias answered in a loud voice, “Even if all the nations within the king’s realm obey him, each abandoning the worship of his fathers, and have chosen his commands,

2:20 I and my sons and my brothers will walk in the covenant of our fathers.

2:21 Far be it from us to abandon the law and the ordinances!

2:22 We will not obey the king’s words by turning aside from our worship to the right or to the left.”

2:23 When he finished speaking these words, a Jewish man came forward in the sight of everyone to sacrifice upon the pagan altar in Modein, according to the king’s decree.

2:24 Mattathias saw and burned with zeal; his inward parts trembled. He gave vent to anger according to the judgment, ran forward, and slaughtered him upon the altar.

2:25 At that time he also killed the king’s officer who was compelling sacrifice, and he pulled down the altar.

2:26 He was zealous for the law, just as Phinehas had acted toward Zimri son of Salom.

2:27 Mattathias cried out in the city with a loud voice, “Let everyone who is zealous for the law and upholds the covenant come out after me!”

2:28 He and his sons fled to the mountains and abandoned everything they had in the city.

2:29 Then many who sought righteousness and judgment went down into the wilderness to settle there,

2:30 with their sons, their wives, and their livestock, because the evils had become severe against them.

2:31 It was reported to the king’s men and the forces in Jerusalem, the city of David, that men who had rejected the king’s command had gone down into hiding places in the wilderness.

2:32 Many pursued them, overtook them, encamped against them, and prepared for battle against them on the sabbath day.

2:33 They said to them, “Enough of this! Come out and act according to the king’s command, and you shall live.”

2:34 They said, “We will not come out, nor will we carry out the king’s command by profaning the sabbath day.”

2:35 They hurried into battle against them.

2:36 But they did not answer them, throw a stone at them, or block the hiding places,

2:37 saying, “Let us all die in our integrity. Heaven and earth bear witness concerning us that you are destroying us without judgment.”

2:38 They attacked them in battle on the sabbath. They died, together with their wives, their children, and their livestock—about a thousand human lives.

2:39 Mattathias and his friends learned of it and mourned for them greatly.

2:40 Each said to his neighbour, “If we all do as our brothers have done and do not fight the nations for our lives and our ordinances, they will now quickly destroy us from the earth.”

2:41 That day they resolved, saying, “If anyone comes against us for battle on the sabbath day, we will fight against him, and we will certainly not all die as our brothers died in the hiding places.”

2:42 Then a company of Hasideans gathered to them, strong warriors from Israel, everyone who willingly offered himself for the law.

2:43 All who were fleeing from the evils joined them and became their support.

2:44 They organized an army and struck sinners in their anger and lawless men in their wrath. The rest fled to the nations for safety.

2:45 Mattathias and his friends went around and pulled down the pagan altars.

2:46 They forcibly circumcised all the uncircumcised boys whom they found within the borders of Israel.

2:47 They pursued the sons of arrogance, and the work prospered in their hands.

2:48 They took the law out of the hand of the nations and the kings, and they did not allow the sinner to gain a horn.

2:49 When the days drew near for Mattathias to die, he said to his sons, “Now arrogance and rebuke have grown strong—a time of overthrow and furious wrath.

2:50 Now, children, be zealous for the law and give your lives for the covenant of our fathers.

2:51 Remember the deeds of the fathers that they did in their generations, and receive great glory and an everlasting name.

2:52 Was not Abraham found faithful in testing, and was it not reckoned to him as righteousness?

2:53 Joseph, in the time of his distress, kept the commandment and became lord of Egypt.

2:54 Phinehas our father, by burning with zeal, received a covenant of everlasting priesthood.

2:55 Joshua, by fulfilling the word, became a judge in Israel.

2:56 Caleb, by bearing witness in the assembly, received an inheritance of land.

2:57 David, through his mercy, inherited a royal throne for ever.

2:58 Elijah, by burning with zeal for the law, was taken up into heaven.

2:59 Hananiah, Azariah, and Mishael trusted and were saved from the flame.

2:60 Daniel, in his integrity, was rescued from the mouth of lions.

2:61 So consider it from generation to generation: all who hope in Him will not fail.

2:62 Do not fear the words of a sinful man, for his glory will become dung and worms.

2:63 Today he shall be exalted, and tomorrow he shall not be found, for he has returned to his dust, and his thought shall perish.

2:64 Children, be courageous and be strong in the law, because through it you shall be glorified.

2:65 Behold, Simon your brother—I know that he is a man of counsel. Listen to him all your days; he will be your father.

2:66 Judas Maccabeus has been a strong warrior from his youth. He will be your army commander and will fight the battle of peoples.

2:67 Gather to yourselves all who carry out the law, and exact vengeance for your people.

2:68 Repay the nations what is due to them, and attend to the law's command."

2:69 Then he blessed them and was gathered to his fathers.

2:70 He died in the one hundred and forty-sixth year and was buried in the tombs of his fathers in Modein. All Israel lamented him with a great lament.

1 Maccabees 3

3:1 His son Judas, called Maccabeus, arose in his place.

3:2 All his brothers and everyone who had joined his father helped him, and they fought Israel's war with gladness.

3:3 He spread glory for his people, put on a breastplate like a giant, and girded himself with his weapons of war; he waged battles, shielding the army with his sword.

3:4 In his deeds he was like a lion, like a young lion roaring over prey.

3:5 He searched out and pursued the lawless, and burned those who troubled his people.

3:6 The lawless shrank back from fear of him; all workers of lawlessness were shaken, and deliverance prospered in his hand.

3:7 He embittered many kings and gladdened Jacob by his deeds; his memory is a blessing for ever.

3:8 He passed through the cities of Judah, destroyed the ungodly out of her, and turned wrath away from Israel.

3:9 His name reached to the end of the earth, and he gathered those who were perishing.

3:10 Apollonius gathered nations and a great force from Samaria to fight against Israel.

3:11 Judas learned of it, went out to meet him, struck him, and killed him. Many fell wounded, and the survivors fled.

3:12 They took their spoils. Judas took Apollonius's sword and fought with it all his days.

3:13 Seron, commander of the Syrian force, heard that Judas had gathered a body of men, an assembly of faithful men who were with him and went out to war.

3:14 He said, "I will make a name for myself and be honoured in the kingdom. I will fight Judas and those with him who despise the king's command."

3:15 He set out again, and a strong army of ungodly men went up with him to help him take vengeance on the sons of Israel.

3:16 He approached the ascent of Beth-horon, and Judas went out to meet him with only a few men.

3:17 When they saw the army coming to meet them, they said to Judas, "How can we, being so few, fight such a strong multitude? We are exhausted, having eaten nothing today."

3:18 Judas said, "It is easy for many to be shut into the hands of a few. Before Heaven there is no difference between saving by many or by few.

3:19 For victory in battle does not lie in the size of an army; strength comes from heaven.

3:20 They come against us in an abundance of arrogance and lawlessness to destroy us, our wives, and our children, and to plunder us.

3:21 But we are fighting for our lives and our customs.

3:22 He Himself will crush them before us. Do not be afraid of them.”

3:23 When he finished speaking, he rushed upon them suddenly, and Seron and his army were crushed before him.

3:24 They pursued him down the descent of Beth-horon as far as the plain. About eight hundred of their men fell, and the rest fled into the land of the Philistines.

3:25 Then fear of Judas and his brothers began, and terror fell upon the nations around them.

3:26 His name reached the king, and the nations recounted the battles of Judas.

3:27 When King Antiochus heard these reports, he became furious. He sent and gathered all the forces of his kingdom, an exceedingly strong army.

3:28 He opened his treasury, gave the forces a year’s pay, and commanded them to be ready for every need.

3:29 He saw that the money in the treasuries was exhausted and the revenues of the country were small because of the dissension and disaster he had brought upon the land by removing the customs that had existed from the earliest days.

3:30 He feared that he would not have enough, as on former occasions, for expenses and for the gifts that he had previously given with a lavish hand, surpassing the kings before him.

3:31 He was greatly perplexed in his soul and resolved to go to Persia, collect the revenues of the countries, and gather much silver.

3:32 He left Lysias, an honoured man of royal lineage, in charge of the king’s affairs from the Euphrates River to the borders of Egypt

3:33 and to bring up his son Antiochus until he returned.

3:34 He handed over to him half the forces and the elephants, and instructed him concerning everything he wished, including the inhabitants of Judea and Jerusalem:

3:35 he was to send an army against them to crush and remove Israel’s strength and the remnant of Jerusalem, and to remove their memory from the place.

3:36 He was to settle foreigners throughout all their territory and allot their land to them.

3:37 The king took the remaining half of the forces and set out from Antioch, his royal city, in the one hundred and forty-seventh year. He crossed the Euphrates River and travelled through the upper countries.

3:38 Lysias selected Ptolemy son of Dorymenes, Nicanor, and Gorgias, capable men among the king’s Friends.

3:39 He sent with them forty thousand men and seven thousand cavalry to enter the land of Judah and destroy it, according to the king’s command.

3:40 He set out with all their force, and they came and encamped near Emmaus in the lowland.

3:41 The merchants of the country heard their reputation, took a very great quantity of silver and gold, along with shackles, and came to the camp to buy the sons of Israel as slaves. A force from Syria and the land of foreigners joined them.

3:42 Judas and his brothers saw that the evils had multiplied and that the forces were encamping within their borders. They learned the king’s commands to bring destruction and an end upon the people.

3:43 Each said to his neighbour, “Let us restore our people’s fallen state and fight for our people and the holy places.”

3:44 The assembly gathered to prepare for war, to pray, and to ask for mercy and compassion.

3:45 Jerusalem was uninhabited like a wilderness. None of those born in her went in or out; the sanctuary was being trampled, and foreigners were in the citadel, a lodging for the nations. Delight was removed from Jacob, and flute and lyre ceased.

3:46 They gathered and came to Mizpah opposite Jerusalem, because formerly Mizpah had been a place of prayer for Israel.

3:47 They fasted that day, put on sackcloth, placed ashes on their heads, and tore their garments.

3:48 They unrolled the book of the law concerning the matters for which the nations consulted the likenesses of their idols.

3:49 They brought the priestly garments, the firstfruits, and the tithes, and brought forward the Nazirites who had completed their days.

3:50 They cried aloud to Heaven, saying, “What shall we do with these, and where shall we take them,

3:51 when Thy holy places have been trampled and profaned, and Thy priests are in mourning and humiliation?

3:52 Behold! The nations have gathered against us to destroy us. Thou knowest what they are planning against us.

3:53 How can we stand before them unless Thou help us?”

3:54 They sounded the trumpets and cried out with a loud voice.

3:55 After this Judas appointed leaders of the people: commanders of thousands, hundreds, fifties, and tens.

3:56 He told those building houses, those betrothed to wives, those planting vineyards, and the fearful to return, each to his own house, according to the law.

3:57 The army set out, and they encamped south of Emmaus.

3:58 Judas said, “Gird yourselves and become men of strength. Be ready in the morning to fight these nations that have gathered against us to destroy us and our holy places.

3:59 It is better for us to die in battle than to look upon the evils suffered by our nation and the holy places.

3:60 But whatever the will in heaven may be, that He will do.”

1 Maccabees 4

4:1 Gorgias took five thousand men and a thousand picked cavalry, and the army set out by night

4:2 to fall upon the camp of the Jews and strike them suddenly. Men from the citadel served as his guides.

4:3 Judas heard of it, and he and the mighty men set out to strike the king’s force at Emmaus,

4:4 while the forces were still scattered away from the camp.

4:5 Gorgias came to Judas’s camp by night and found no one. He searched for them in the mountains, saying, “They are fleeing from us.”

4:6 At daybreak Judas appeared on the plain with three thousand men, though they did not have the protective equipment and swords they wanted.

4:7 They saw a strong army of nations, armoured, with cavalry surrounding it; these men were trained for war.

4:8 Judas said to the men with him, “Do not fear their multitude or lose courage before their assault.

4:9 Remember how our fathers were saved at the Red Sea when Pharaoh pursued them with an army.

4:10 Now let us cry to Heaven: perhaps He will favour us, remember the covenant of the fathers, and crush this army before us today.

4:11 Then all the nations will know that there is One who redeems and saves Israel.”

4:12 The foreigners raised their eyes and saw them coming from the opposite side.

4:13 They went out of the camp for battle, and Judas’s men sounded the trumpet.

4:14 They engaged, and the nations were crushed and fled into the plain.

4:15 All who were at the rear fell by the sword. They pursued them as far as Gazera and the plains of Idumea, Azotus, and Jamnia; about three thousand of their men fell.

4:16 Judas and his force returned from pursuing them,

4:17 and he said to the people, “Do not covet the spoils, because a battle lies before us.

4:18 Gorgias and his force are in the mountain near us. Stand now against our enemies and fight them; afterward take the spoils freely.”

4:19 While Judas was finishing these words, a detachment appeared, looking out from the mountain.

4:20 They saw that their men had been routed and that the camp was being burned, for the visible smoke made plain what had happened.

4:21 Seeing these things, they became exceedingly afraid. When they also saw Judas’s army on the plain ready for battle,

4:22 they all fled into the land of foreigners.

4:23 Judas returned to plunder the camp, and they took much gold and silver, blue cloth, sea-purple cloth, and great wealth.

4:24 On their return they sang hymns and blessed Heaven: “For it is good, for His mercy is for ever.”

4:25 A great deliverance came to Israel that day.

4:26 Those foreigners who escaped came and reported to Lysias everything that had happened.

4:27 When he heard it, he was confused and disheartened, because what he had wished had not happened to Israel, and what the king had commanded him had not come about.

4:28 In the following year he assembled sixty thousand picked men and five thousand cavalry to make war on them.

4:29 They came into Idumea and encamped at Beth-zur. Judas met them with ten thousand men.

4:30 He saw the strong army and prayed, saying, “Blessed art Thou, Saviour of Israel, who didst crush the mighty man’s assault by the hand of Thy servant David, and didst deliver the foreigners’ army into the hands of Jonathan son of Saul and his armour-bearer.

4:31 So shut this army into the hand of Thy people Israel, and let them be ashamed of their force and their cavalry.

4:32 Give them cowardice; melt the boldness of their strength, and let them be shaken by their collapse.

4:33 Bring them down by the sword of those who love Thee, and let all who know Thy name praise Thee with hymns.”

4:34 They joined battle with one another. About five thousand men from Lysias’s army fell; they fell before them.

4:35 Lysias saw the rout of his own formation, the courage that had arisen in Judas’s men, and how they were ready either to live or to die nobly. He withdrew to Antioch and recruited mercenaries in greater numbers to come again into Judea.

4:36 Judas and his brothers said, “Behold! Our enemies have been crushed. Let us go up to cleanse the holy places and dedicate them anew.”

4:37 The whole army gathered, and they went up to Mount Zion.

4:38 They saw the sanctuary desolate, the altar profaned, the gates burned down, plants growing in the courts as in a thicket or on one of the mountains, and the chambers demolished.

4:39 They tore their garments, lamented with a great lament, and put ashes on themselves.

4:40 They fell face down upon the ground, sounded the signal trumpets, and cried to Heaven.

4:41 Then Judas ordered men to fight those in the citadel until he had cleansed the holy places.

4:42 He chose blameless priests devoted to the law.

4:43 They cleansed the holy places and carried the stones of defilement to an unclean place.

4:44 They deliberated what to do with the altar of whole burnt offering, which had been profaned.

4:45 They considered it best to pull it down, so that it would not become a reproach to them because the nations had defiled it. They pulled down the altar

4:46 and placed the stones on the mountain of the house in a suitable place until a prophet should come to give an answer about them.

4:47 They took whole stones according to the law and built a new altar like the former one.

4:48 They rebuilt the holy places and the interior of the house, and consecrated the courts.

4:49 They made new holy vessels and brought the lampstand, the incense altar, and the table into the temple.

4:50 They burned incense upon the altar and lit the lamps on the lampstand, and they shone in the temple.

4:51 They placed loaves on the table and spread out the curtains. They completed all the works they had undertaken.

4:52 They rose early in the morning on the twenty-fifth day of the ninth month, which is the month of Chislev, in the one hundred and forty-eighth year.

4:53 They offered sacrifice according to the law upon the new altar of whole burnt offerings that they had made.

4:54 At the season and on the day on which the nations had profaned it, it was dedicated with songs, harps, lyres, and cymbals.

4:55 All the people fell face down, worshiped, and blessed toward heaven the One who had prospered them.

4:56 They celebrated the dedication of the altar for eight days, offered whole burnt offerings with gladness, and sacrificed a sacrifice of well-being and praise.

4:57 They adorned the front of the temple with golden crowns and small shields, renewed the gateways and chambers, and fitted them with doors.

4:58 There was exceedingly great gladness among the people, and the reproach of the nations was turned away.

4:59 Judas, his brothers, and the whole assembly of Israel established that the days of the altar’s dedication should be celebrated at their proper season, year by year, for eight days beginning on the twenty-fifth of the month of Chislev, with gladness and joy.

4:60 At that time they built high walls and strong towers around Mount Zion so that the nations could not come and trample them as they had done before.

4:61 He stationed a force there to guard it, and fortified it to guard Beth-zur, so that the people would have a stronghold facing Idumea.

1 Maccabees 5

5:1 When the nations round about heard that the altar had been rebuilt and the sanctuary dedicated as before, they became exceedingly angry.

5:2 They resolved to remove the descendants of Jacob living among them, and began killing and destroying people.

5:3 Judas fought against the sons of Esau in Idumea, in Akrabattene, because they were besieging Israel. He struck them a great blow, subdued them, and took their spoils.

5:4 He remembered the evil of the sons of Baean, who had become a trap and a stumbling block for the people by ambushing them on the roads.

5:5 He shut them into the towers, encamped against them, devoted them to destruction, and burned the towers with everyone inside.

5:6 He crossed over against the sons of Ammon and found a strong force and many people, with Timothy as their leader.

5:7 He engaged them in many battles. They were crushed before him, and he struck them.

5:8 He seized Jazer and its daughter towns, then returned to Judea.

5:9 The nations in Gilead gathered against the Israelites living in their territory to destroy them, and they fled into the stronghold of Dathema.

5:10 They sent letters to Judas and his brothers, saying, “The nations around us have gathered against us to destroy us.

5:11 They are preparing to come and seize the stronghold into which we fled, and Timothy is leading their force.

5:12 Now, therefore, come and rescue us from their hand, because many of us have fallen.

5:13 All our brothers in the region of Tobiah have been put to death. They have taken their wives, children, and belongings captive, and have destroyed about a thousand men there.”

5:14 While the letters were still being read, other messengers arrived from Galilee with torn garments, reporting similar things.

5:15 They said that people from Ptolemais, Tyre, and Sidon, and all Galilee of foreigners, had gathered against them “to consume us completely.”

5:16 When Judas and the people heard these words, a great assembly gathered to deliberate what to do for their brothers who were in distress and under attack.

5:17 Judas said to Simon his brother, “Choose men for yourself and go and deliver your brothers in Galilee. I and Jonathan my brother will go to Gilead.”

5:18 He left Joseph son of Zechariah and Azariah, a leader of the people, with the remaining force in Judea to guard it.

5:19 He commanded them, saying, “Take charge of this people, and do not engage the nations in battle until we return.”

5:20 Three thousand men were assigned to Simon to go to Galilee, and eight thousand men to Judas for Gilead.

5:21 Simon went to Galilee and engaged the nations in many battles. The nations were crushed before him,

5:22 and he pursued them to the gate of Ptolemais. About three thousand men of the nations fell, and he took their spoils.

5:23 He took those from Galilee and Arbattos, with their wives, children, and everything they had, and brought them into Judea with great gladness.

5:24 Judas Maccabeus and Jonathan his brother crossed the Jordan and travelled a three-day journey in the wilderness.

5:25 They met the Nabateans, who received them peacefully and recounted everything that had happened to their brothers in Gilead.

5:26 Many of them had been confined in Bosora, Bosor in Alema, Chaspho, Maked, and Carnaim—all these cities were strong and large.

5:27 They were also confined in the other cities of Gilead. The enemy had arranged to attack the strongholds the next day, seize them, and destroy all these people in one day.

5:28 Judas and his army suddenly turned their route toward Bosora through the wilderness. He seized the city, killed every male with the edge of the sword, took all their spoils, and burned it with fire.

5:29 He set out from there by night, and they travelled as far as the stronghold.

5:30 In the morning they raised their eyes and saw a great people beyond counting, carrying ladders and siege engines to seize the stronghold and attacking its defenders.

5:31 Judas saw that the battle had begun and that the city’s cry rose to heaven with trumpets and a loud shout.

5:32 He said to the men of the force, “Fight today for our brothers!”

5:33 He came out behind them in three divisions. They sounded the trumpets and cried out in prayer.

5:34 Timothy’s army recognized that it was Maccabeus and fled before him. He struck them a great blow, and about eight thousand of their men fell that day.

5:35 He turned aside to Alema, attacked it, seized it, killed every male in it, took its spoils, and burned it with fire.

5:36 He set out from there and seized Chaspho, Maked, Bosor, and the other cities of Gilead.

5:37 After these events Timothy gathered another army and encamped opposite Raphon, beyond the stream.

5:38 Judas sent men to spy out the camp. They reported to him, saying, “All the nations around us have gathered to him, a very large force.

5:39 They have hired Arabs to help them and are encamped beyond the stream, ready to come against you in battle.” Judas went to meet them.

5:40 As Judas and his army approached the watercourse, Timothy said to his army commanders, “If he crosses over to us first, we will not be able to stand against him; he will surely prevail against us.

5:41 But if he becomes afraid and encamps beyond the river, we will cross over to him and prevail against him.”

5:42 When Judas approached the watercourse, he stationed the officers of the people at the stream and commanded them, saying, “Do not allow anyone to encamp; let everyone come into the battle.”

5:43 He crossed over against them first, with all the people behind him. All the nations were crushed before them; they threw away their weapons and fled to the sacred precinct of Carnaim.

5:44 They seized the city and burned the sacred precinct with everyone inside. Carnaim was overthrown, and they could no longer stand before Judas.

5:45 Judas gathered all Israel in Gilead, from small to great, with their wives, their children, and their belongings—a very great company—to go into the land of Judah.

5:46 They came as far as Ephron. It was a large, exceedingly strong city on the road, and there was no way to turn aside from it to the right or left, but only to pass through its midst.

5:47 The people of the city shut them out and blocked the gates with stones.

5:48 Judas sent to them with peaceful words, saying, “We will pass through your land to go to our land. No one will harm you; we will only pass through on foot.” But they would not open to him.

5:49 Judas ordered a proclamation through the company that each should encamp in the place where he was.

5:50 The men of the force encamped. He attacked the city all that day and all that night, and the city was given into his hand.

5:51 He destroyed every male with the edge of the sword, uprooted the city, took its spoils, and passed through the city over the slain.

5:52 They crossed the Jordan into the great plain opposite Beth-shan.

5:53 Judas gathered those who lagged behind and encouraged the people along the whole road until he came into the land of Judah.

5:54 They went up to Mount Zion with gladness and joy and presented whole burnt offerings, because none of them had fallen before they returned in peace.

5:55 In the days when Judas and Jonathan were in the land of Gilead, and Simon his brother was in Galilee opposite Ptolemais,

5:56 Joseph son of Zechariah and Azariah, commanders of the force, heard of their brave deeds and the warfare they had carried out.

5:57 They said, “Let us also make a name for ourselves. Let us go and fight the nations around us.”

5:58 They gave orders to the men of the force with them, and they marched against Jamnia.

5:59 Gorgias and his men came out of the city to meet them in battle.

5:60 Joseph and Azariah were routed and pursued to the borders of Judea. About two thousand men of the people of Israel fell that day.

5:61 A great rout occurred among the people because they had not listened to Judas and his brothers, thinking to perform brave deeds.

5:62 But they were not of the line of those men through whose hand the deliverance of Israel had been granted.

5:63 The man Judas and his brothers were greatly honoured before all Israel and all the nations wherever their name was heard.

5:64 People gathered to them, acclaiming them.

5:65 Judas and his brothers went out and fought the sons of Esau in the southern land. He struck Hebron and its daughter towns, demolished its fortifications, and burned its towers all around.

5:66 He set out to go into the land of foreigners and passed through Marisa.

5:67 That day priests fell in battle because they wished to perform brave deeds and went out to battle without counsel.

5:68 Judas turned aside to Azotus in the land of foreigners, pulled down their pagan altars, burned the carved images of their gods with fire, took the spoils of the cities, and returned to the land of Judah.

1 Maccabees 6

6:1 King Antiochus was travelling through the upper countries when he heard that Elymais in Persia was a city renowned for wealth, silver, and gold.

6:2 Its temple was exceedingly rich, and there were golden coverings, breastplates, and weapons left there by Alexander son of Philip, the Macedonian king who first reigned among the Greeks.

6:3 He came and tried to seize the city and plunder it, but could not, because the people of the city learned of his plan.

6:4 They resisted him in battle, and he fled and withdrew from there in great sorrow to return to Babylon.

6:5 Someone came to Persia to report to him that the armies that had gone into the land of Judah had been routed;

6:6 that Lysias had gone at first with a strong army but had been driven back before them; and that they had grown strong in weapons, power, and the many spoils they had taken from the armies they had cut down.

6:7 They had pulled down the abomination he had built upon the altar in Jerusalem and surrounded the sanctuary with high walls as before, and also Beth-zur, his city.

6:8 When the king heard these reports, he was astonished and greatly shaken. He fell upon his bed and became ill from sorrow, because things had not happened to him as he had intended.

6:9 He remained there many days, for great sorrow came upon him again, and he judged that he was dying.

6:10 He called all his Friends and said to them, “Sleep is departing from my eyes, and my heart has collapsed from anxiety.

6:11 I said in my heart, ‘Into what distress and great storm have I come, in which I now find myself?’ For I was kind and beloved during my rule.

6:12 But now I remember the evils I committed in Jerusalem: I took all the silver and gold vessels in it and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Judah without cause.

6:13 I know that because of these things these evils have found me. Behold! I am perishing in great sorrow in a foreign land.”

6:14 He summoned Philip, one of his Friends, and appointed him over his whole kingdom.

6:15 He gave him the diadem, his robe, and his ring, to guide his son Antiochus and bring him up to reign.

6:16 King Antiochus died there in the one hundred and forty-ninth year.

6:17 Lysias learned that the king had died and appointed his son Antiochus, whom he had brought up from youth, to reign. He called his name Eupator.

6:18 Those in the citadel were hemming Israel in around the holy places, continually seeking harm, and providing support to the nations.

6:19 Judas determined to remove them and assembled all the people to besiege them.

6:20 They gathered together and besieged it in the one hundred and fiftieth year. He made artillery platforms and siege engines.

6:21 Some of them escaped from the blockade, and certain ungodly men from Israel joined them.

6:22 They went to the king and said, “How long will you refrain from giving judgment and avenging our brothers?

6:23 We are willing to serve your father, walk according to his words, and follow his decrees.

6:24 For this reason the sons of our people besieged it and became estranged from us. Moreover, as many of us as were found were put to death, and our inheritances were plundered.

6:25 They have stretched out their hand not only against us but also against all their territories.

6:26 Behold! Today they have encamped against the citadel in Jerusalem to seize it. They have fortified the sanctuary and Beth-zur.

6:27 Unless you act against them quickly, they will do greater things than these, and you shall not be able to restrain them.”

6:28 The king became angry when he heard this. He gathered all his Friends, his army commanders, and those in charge of the reins.

6:29 Mercenary forces came to him from other kingdoms and from islands of the seas.

6:30 His forces numbered a hundred thousand infantry, twenty thousand cavalry, and thirty-two elephants trained for war.

6:31 They came through Idumea, encamped against Beth-zur, and fought for many days, making siege engines. The defenders came out, burned them with fire, and fought courageously.

6:32 Judas withdrew from the citadel and encamped at Beth-zechariah opposite the king’s camp.

6:33 The king rose early in the morning and set his army moving rapidly along the road to Beth-zechariah. The forces prepared for battle and sounded the trumpets.

6:34 They showed the elephants the blood of grapes and mulberries to ready them for battle.

6:35 They divided the beasts among the phalanxes. Beside each elephant they stationed a thousand men armoured in chain mail, with bronze helmets on their heads, and five hundred picked cavalry were assigned to each beast.

6:36 They were in position beforehand wherever the beast was; wherever it went, they went together and did not leave it.

6:37 Strong, covered wooden towers were on them, secured by devices upon each beast. On each were four fighting men and its Indian driver.

6:38 He stationed the remaining cavalry on either side, on the two wings of the army, threatening the enemy and shielding the phalanxes.

6:39 When the sun flashed upon the golden and bronze shields, the mountains flashed from them and shone like torches of fire.

6:40 One part of the king’s army spread out on the high mountains and others on the low ground. They advanced securely and in order.

6:41 Everyone who heard the sound of their multitude, the march of the multitude, and the clash of weapons was shaken, for the army was exceedingly large and strong.

6:42 Judas and his army drew near for battle, and six hundred men of the king’s army fell.

6:43 Eleazar Avaran saw one of the beasts armoured with royal breastplates, towering above all the beasts, and thought that the king was on it.

6:44 He gave himself to save his people and to gain for himself an everlasting name.

6:45 He ran boldly toward it into the midst of the phalanx, killing to the right and left, and they parted before him on either side.

6:46 He slipped beneath the elephant, thrust under it, and killed it. It fell to the ground on top of him, and he died there.

6:47 They saw the strength of the kingdom and the onrush of the forces and withdrew from them.

6:48 The men of the king’s army went up to meet them at Jerusalem, and the king encamped in Judea and against Mount Zion.

6:49 He made peace with the people of Beth-zur, and they came out of the city, because they had no provisions there to sustain a siege, since it was a sabbath for the land.

6:50 The king seized Beth-zur and stationed a garrison there to guard it.

6:51 He encamped against the sanctuary for many days and set up artillery platforms, siege engines, fire-throwers, stone-throwers, small scorpions for shooting missiles, and slings.

6:52 The defenders also made engines to oppose their engines and fought for many days.

6:53 There was no food in the storage vessels, because it was the seventh year, and those who had escaped into Judea from the nations had consumed the remaining stores.

6:54 Only a few men were left in the holy places, because famine prevailed over them. They scattered, each to his own place.

6:55 Lysias heard that Philip, whom King Antiochus had appointed while still alive to bring up his son Antiochus to reign,

6:56 had returned from Persia and Media with the forces that had gone with the king, and that he was seeking to take control of affairs.

6:57 He hurried and pressed for departure, saying to the king, the commanders of the force, and the men, “We are dwindling day by day, our food is scarce, the place against which we are encamped is strong, and the affairs of the kingdom are pressing upon us.

6:58 Now, therefore, let us give these men our right hands and make peace with them and with their whole nation.

6:59 Let us establish their right to follow their customs as before. For it was because of their customs, which we abolished, that they became angry and did all these things.”

6:60 The proposal pleased the king and the commanders. He sent to make peace with them, and they accepted.

6:61 The king and the commanders swore to them, and on these terms they came out of the stronghold.

6:62 The king entered Mount Zion and saw the strength of the place. He rejected the oath he had sworn and ordered the surrounding wall to be pulled down.

6:63 He set out hurriedly and returned to Antioch. He found Philip in control of the city, fought against him, and seized the city by force.

1 Maccabees 7

7:1 In the one hundred and fifty-first year, Demetrius son of Seleucus departed from Rome, came up with a few men to a coastal city, and reigned there.

7:2 As he was entering the royal house of his fathers, the forces seized Antiochus and Lysias to bring them to him.

7:3 The matter became known to him, and he said, “Do not show me their faces.”

7:4 The forces killed them, and Demetrius sat upon the throne of his kingdom.

7:5 All the lawless and ungodly men from Israel came to him. Alcimus, who wished to serve as priest, was their leader.

7:6 They accused the people before the king, saying, “Judas and his brothers have destroyed all your Friends and scattered us from our land.

7:7 Now, therefore, send a man whom you trust. Let him go and see all the devastation he has brought upon us and the king's country, and let him punish them and all who help them."

7:8 The king chose Bacchides, one of the king's Friends, who ruled Beyond the River, was great in the kingdom, and was faithful to the king.

7:9 He sent him and the ungodly Alcimus, confirmed Alcimus in the priesthood, and commanded Bacchides to exact vengeance among the sons of Israel.

7:10 They set out and came with a large force into the land of Judah. He sent messengers to Judas and his brothers with peaceful words, deceitfully.

7:11 They paid no attention to their words, for they saw that they had come with a large force.

7:12 A company of scribes gathered to Alcimus and Bacchides to seek just terms.

7:13 The Hasideans were the first among the sons of Israel to seek peace from them,

7:14 for they said, "A man who is a priest of Aaron's line has come with the forces, and he will not wrong us."

7:15 He spoke peaceful words with them and swore to them, saying, "We will not seek harm for you or your friends."

7:16 They trusted him. But he seized sixty men from among them and killed them in one day, according to the word that was written:

7:17 "They poured out the flesh of Thy holy ones and their blood around Jerusalem, and there was no one to bury them."

7:18 Fear and trembling because of them fell upon all the people, for they said, "There is no truth or justice in them; they have violated the agreement and the oath they swore."

7:19 Bacchides withdrew from Jerusalem and encamped at Beth-zaith. He sent and seized many of the men who had deserted to him and some of the people, and slaughtered them into the great pit.

7:20 He placed the country under Alcimus and left a force with him to help him. Then Bacchides went to the king.

7:21 Alcimus contended for the high priesthood.

7:22 All who troubled their people gathered to him, took control of the land of Judah, and inflicted a great blow upon Israel.

7:23 Judas saw all the evil that Alcimus and those with him had committed among the sons of Israel, beyond that of the nations.

7:24 He went out throughout all the territory of Judea and exacted vengeance on the deserters. They were prevented from going out into the country.

7:25 Alcimus saw that Judas and those with him had grown strong and knew that he could not stand against them. He returned to the king and brought evil accusations against them.

7:26 The king sent Nicanor, one of his distinguished commanders, who hated Israel and was hostile to them, and commanded him to destroy the people.

7:27 Nicanor came to Jerusalem with a large force. He sent deceitfully to Judas and his brothers with peaceful words, saying,

7:28 "Let there be no battle between me and you. I will come with a few men so that I may see your faces in peace."

7:29 He came to Judas, and they greeted one another peacefully, but the enemies were ready to seize Judas.

7:30 Judas learned that he had come against him deceitfully. He became wary of him and would no longer see his face.

7:31 Nicanor knew that his plan had been revealed and went out to meet Judas in battle near Caphar-salama.

7:32 About five hundred of Nicanor's men fell, and they fled into the city of David.

7:33 After these events Nicanor went up to Mount Zion. Some of the priests came out of the holy places, together with some elders of the people, to greet him peacefully and show him the whole burnt offering being presented for the king.

7:34 He sneered at them, mocked them, defiled them, and spoke arrogantly.

7:35 He swore in anger, saying, "Unless Judas and his army are handed over into my hands now, if I return safely, I will burn this house." He went out in great anger.

7:36 The priests went in and stood before the altar and the temple. They wept and said,

7:37 "Thou didst choose this house for Thy name to be called upon it, to be a house of prayer and petition for Thy people.

7:38 Exact vengeance upon this man and his army, and let them fall by the sword. Remember their insults, and grant them no continuance."

7:39 Nicanor went out from Jerusalem and encamped at Beth-horon, and a Syrian force met him.

7:40 Judas encamped at Adasa with three thousand men. Judas prayed and said,

7:41 “When the king’s men spoke blasphemously, Thine angel went out and struck a hundred and eighty-five thousand among them.

7:42 In this way crush this army before us today. Let the survivors know that he has spoken wickedly against Thy holy places, and judge him according to his wickedness.”

7:43 The armies joined battle on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar. Nicanor’s army was crushed, and he himself fell first in the battle.

7:44 When his army saw that Nicanor had fallen, they threw down their weapons and fled.

7:45 They pursued them a day’s journey from Adasa until they came to Gazera, sounding the signal trumpets behind them.

7:46 People came out from all the surrounding villages of Judea and outflanked them. They turned against one another and all fell by the sword; not even one of them remained.

7:47 They took the spoils and plunder, cut off Nicanor’s head and his right hand, which he had stretched out arrogantly, and brought and displayed them beside Jerusalem.

7:48 The people rejoiced greatly and celebrated that day as a day of great gladness.

7:49 They established that this day should be celebrated every year, on the thirteenth of Adar.

7:50 The land of Judah was quiet for a few days.

1 Maccabees 8

8:1 Judas heard the reputation of the Romans: that they were mighty in strength, that they looked favourably on all who joined them, that they established friendship with whoever approached them, and that they were mighty in strength.

8:2 They recounted to him their wars, the brave deeds they were doing among the Galatians, and how they had subdued them and brought them under tribute;

8:3 also what they had done in the country of Spain to gain control of the silver and gold mines there.

8:4 By their counsel and perseverance they had gained control of the whole region, although it was very far from them. They had also overcome the kings who came against them from the end of the earth, crushing them and striking them a great blow; the survivors paid them tribute every year.

8:5 They had crushed in battle Philip, Perseus king of the Kittians, and those who rose against them, and had subdued them.

8:6 Antiochus the Great, king of Asia, had marched against them for battle with a hundred and twenty elephants, cavalry, chariots, and an exceedingly large force, but he was crushed by them.

8:7 They took him alive and required him and those reigning after him to pay a great tribute, give hostages, and make a territorial settlement,

8:8 including the country of India, Media, and Lydia, some of their finest regions. They took them from him and gave them to King Eumenes.

8:9 They also heard that the people of Greece had resolved to come and destroy them.

8:10 The Romans learned the plan and sent one general against them. They fought them, and many fell wounded; they took their wives and children captive, plundered them, subdued their land, demolished their strongholds, and enslaved them to this day.

8:11 The remaining kingdoms and islands, as many as ever resisted them, they destroyed and enslaved. But with their friends and those who relied on them they maintained friendship.

8:12 They subdued kings near and far, and all who heard their name feared them.

8:13 Those whom they wish to help and to have as kings do reign; those whom they wish to remove, they remove. They have been greatly exalted.

8:14 Yet in all these things not one of them has put on a diadem or clothed himself in purple to magnify himself by it.

8:15 They made a council chamber for themselves, and every day three hundred and twenty men deliberated, continually taking counsel concerning the people so that they might be well ordered.

8:16 Each year they entrust one man to rule them and govern their whole land. All obey the one, and there is no envy or rivalry among them.

8:17 Judas chose Eupolemus son of John son of Accos, and Jason son of Eleazar, and sent them to Rome to establish friendship and an alliance

8:18 and to remove the yoke from them, because they saw the kingdom of the Greeks enslaving Israel in servitude.

8:19 They went to Rome, a very long journey, entered the council chamber, and spoke, saying,

8:20 “Judas, also called Maccabeus, his brothers, and the people of the Jews have sent us to you to establish an alliance and peace with you, and to have us enrolled as your allies and friends.”

8:21 The proposal pleased them.

8:22 This is the copy of the letter they inscribed on bronze tablets and sent to Jerusalem to remain there with them as a memorial of peace and alliance:

8:23 “May it be well with the Romans and the nation of the Jews on sea and on dry land for ever, and may sword and enemy be far from them.

8:24 If war comes first upon Rome or upon any of their allies throughout their whole dominion,

8:25 the nation of the Jews shall fight alongside them wholeheartedly, as circumstances prescribe for them.

8:26 They shall neither give nor supply grain, weapons, money, or ships to those making war, as Rome has decided. They shall keep their obligations, receiving nothing.

8:27 Likewise, if war comes first upon the nation of the Jews, the Romans shall fight alongside them with all their soul, as circumstances prescribe for them.

8:28 To those acting as allies, grain, weapons, money, and ships shall not be given, as Rome has decided. They shall keep these obligations without deceit.

8:29 On these terms the Romans thus established an agreement with the Jewish people.

8:30 If after these terms both parties decide to add or remove anything, they shall do so by their own choice; whatever they add or remove shall be binding.

8:31 Concerning the evils that King Demetrius is committing against them, we have written to him, saying, ‘Why have you made your yoke heavy upon our friends and allies, the Jews?

8:32 If, therefore, they appeal against you again, we will give judgment for them and make war on you by sea and by land.’”

1 Maccabees 9

9:1 Demetrius heard that Nicanor and his force had fallen in battle, and again sent Bacchides and Alcimus into the land of Judah, with the right wing of the army.

9:2 They travelled the road to Gilgal, encamped against Mesaloth in Arbela, seized it, and destroyed many human lives.

9:3 In the first month of the one hundred and fifty-second year they encamped against Jerusalem.

9:4 They set out and went to Berea with twenty thousand men and two thousand cavalry.

9:5 Judas was encamped at Elasa with three thousand picked men.

9:6 They saw the multitude of the forces, how many they were, and became exceedingly afraid. Many slipped away from the camp, and only eight hundred men were left.

9:7 Judas saw that his army had slipped away and that the battle was pressing upon him. His heart was crushed, because he had no time to gather them.

9:8 He grew faint and said to those remaining, “Let us arise and go up against our adversaries, if perhaps we can fight them.”

9:9 They tried to turn him back, saying, “We certainly cannot! Let us save our lives for now. We will return with our brothers and fight them, but we are few.”

9:10 Judas said, “Far be it from us to do this thing and flee from them! If our time has drawn near, let us die courageously for our brothers and leave no charge against our glory.”

9:11 The force moved out of the camp and took position to meet them. The cavalry was divided into two parts; the slingers and archers went ahead of the force, and all the foremost fighters were mighty men. Bacchides was on the right wing.

9:12 The phalanx approached from both sides, and they sounded the trumpets. Judas’s men also sounded their trumpets.

9:13 The earth was shaken by the sound of the armies, and battle was joined from morning until evening.

9:14 Judas saw that Bacchides and the strongest part of the army were on the right. All who were courageous in heart gathered to him,

9:15 and the right wing was crushed by them. He pursued them as far as Mount Azotus.

9:16 Those on the left wing saw that the right wing had been crushed, and turned to follow on the heels of Judas and those with him from behind.

9:17 The battle grew heavy, and many fell wounded on both sides.

9:18 Judas fell, and the rest fled.

9:19 Jonathan and Simon took up Judas their brother and buried him in the tomb of his fathers in Modein.

9:20 They wept for him, and all Israel lamented him with a great lament. They mourned for many days and said,

9:21 “How has the mighty one fallen, the saviour of Israel!”

9:22 The rest of the deeds of Judas, his battles, the brave deeds he performed, and his greatness were not written down, for they were exceedingly many.

9:23 After the death of Judas, the lawless emerged throughout all Israel’s territory, and all who practiced injustice rose up.

9:24 In those days an exceedingly great famine occurred, and the country went over to their side.

9:25 Bacchides chose the ungodly men and appointed them masters of the country.

9:26 They sought out and searched for Judas's friends and brought them to Bacchides, who punished and mocked them.

9:27 Great distress came upon Israel, such as had not occurred since the day a prophet was no longer seen among them.

9:28 All Judas's friends gathered and said to Jonathan,

9:29 "Since your brother Judas died, there is no man like him to go out and come in against our enemies, Bacchides, and those hostile to our nation.

9:30 Now, therefore, today we have chosen you to be our ruler and leader in his place, to fight our war."

9:31 Jonathan accepted the leadership at that time and arose in place of Judas his brother.

9:32 Bacchides learned of it and sought to kill him.

9:33 Jonathan, Simon his brother, and all who were with him learned of it and fled into the wilderness of Tekoa. They encamped by the water of the pool of Asphar.

9:34 Bacchides learned of it on the sabbath day, and he and his whole army came beyond the Jordan.

9:35 Jonathan sent his brother, a leader of the company, and appealed to his friends the Nabateans to allow their many belongings to be deposited with them.

9:36 The sons of Jambri from Medaba came out, seized John and everything he had, and went away with it.

9:37 After these events they reported to Jonathan and Simon his brother, "The sons of Jambri are holding a great wedding and bringing the bride from Nadabath, the daughter of one of the great nobles of Canaan, with a great escort."

9:38 They remembered the blood of John their brother, went up, and hid under the cover of the mountain.

9:39 They raised their eyes and saw a commotion and much baggage. The bridegroom, his friends, and his brothers came out to meet them with tambourines, musicians, and many weapons.

9:40 They rose against them from the ambush and killed them. Many fell wounded, and the survivors fled into the mountain. They took all their spoils.

9:41 The wedding was turned into mourning, and the sound of their musicians into lamentation.

9:42 They exacted vengeance for their brother's blood and returned to the marsh of the Jordan.

9:43 Bacchides heard and came on the sabbath day to the banks of the Jordan with a large force.

9:44 Jonathan said to his men, "Come, let us arise and fight for our lives, for today is not like yesterday or the day before.

9:45 Behold! Battle is before us and behind us, the water of the Jordan is on either side, and there are marsh and thicket. There is nowhere to turn aside.

9:46 Now, therefore, cry out to Heaven so that you may be rescued from the hand of our enemies."

9:47 The battle was joined. Jonathan stretched out his hand to strike Bacchides, but he withdrew backward from him.

9:48 Jonathan and those with him leaped into the Jordan and swam across. The enemy did not cross the Jordan after them.

9:49 About a thousand of Bacchides's men fell that day.

9:50 He returned to Jerusalem. They built fortified cities in Judea: the stronghold at Jericho, Emmaus, Beth-horon, Bethel, Thamnatha-Pharathon, and Tephon, with high walls, gates, and bars.

9:51 He placed garrisons in them to act against Israel.

9:52 He fortified the city of Beth-zur, Gazara, and the citadel, and placed forces and stores of food in them.

9:53 He took the sons of the leaders of the country as hostages and placed them under guard in the citadel at Jerusalem.

9:54 In the second month of the one hundred and fifty-third year, Alcimus ordered the wall of the inner court of the holy places to be demolished. He began tearing down the works of the prophets.

9:55 At that time Alcimus was struck, and his work was obstructed. His mouth was stopped, and he was paralyzed, unable to speak another word or give orders concerning his household.

9:56 Alcimus died at that time in great torment.

9:57 Bacchides saw that Alcimus had died and returned to the king. The land of Judah was quiet for two years.

9:58 All the lawless took counsel, saying, "Behold! Jonathan and his men are living quietly and confidently. Let us now bring up Bacchides, and he will seize them all in one night."

9:59 They went and conferred with him.

9:60 He set out to come with a large force and secretly sent letters to all his allies in Judea to seize Jonathan and those with him. But they could not, because their plan had become known.

9:61 Jonathan's men seized about fifty men from the country who were ringleaders of the evil and killed them.

9:62 Jonathan, Simon, and those with him withdrew to Beth-basi in the wilderness. He rebuilt its demolished parts, and they strengthened it.

9:63 Bacchides learned of it, gathered his whole multitude, and gave orders to those from Judea.

9:64 He came, encamped against Beth-basi, attacked it for many days, and made siege engines.

9:65 Jonathan left Simon his brother in the city, went out into the country, and came with a small number.

9:66 He struck Odomera, his brothers, and the sons of Phasiron in their encampment. They began striking and advancing with their forces.

9:67 Simon and those with him came out of the city and burned the siege engines.

9:68 They fought Bacchides, and he was crushed by them. They pressed him greatly, for his plan and his expedition had come to nothing.

9:69 He became furious with the lawless men who had advised him to come into the country, killed many of them, and resolved to depart to his own land.

9:70 Jonathan learned of it and sent envoys to him to arrange peace with him and to return the captives to them.

9:71 He accepted and acted according to his words, and swore to him that he would not seek his harm all the days of his life.

9:72 He returned to him the captives he had previously taken from the land of Judah. He turned and went away to his own land and did not come again into their territory.

9:73 The sword ceased from Israel. Jonathan settled in Michmash, began to judge the people, and removed the ungodly from Israel.

1 Maccabees 10

10:1 In the one hundred and sixtieth year Alexander Epiphanes, son of Antiochus, came up and seized Ptolemais. They received him, and he reigned there.

10:2 King Demetrius heard of it, gathered very large forces, and went out to meet him in battle.

10:3 Demetrius sent letters to Jonathan with peaceful words, intending to exalt him.

10:4 For he said, "Let us be first to make peace with them before he makes an agreement with Alexander against us.

10:5 He will remember all the evils we have committed against him, his brothers, and the nation."

10:6 He gave him authority to gather forces, prepare weapons, and be his ally. He ordered that the hostages in the citadel be handed over to him.

10:7 Jonathan came to Jerusalem and read the letters in the hearing of all the people and those in the citadel.

10:8 They were greatly afraid when they heard that the king had given him authority to gather a force.

10:9 Those in the citadel handed over the hostages to Jonathan, and he returned them to their parents.

10:10 Jonathan settled in Jerusalem and began rebuilding and renewing the city.

10:11 He told the workers to build the walls and the enclosure around Mount Zion with four-foot stones for fortification, and they did so.

10:12 The foreigners in the strongholds that Bacchides had built fled.

10:13 Each abandoned his place and went to his own land.

10:14 Only at Beth-zur did some who had abandoned the law and the decrees remain, for it was a place of refuge.

10:15 King Alexander heard all the promises Demetrius had sent Jonathan. They recounted to him the battles and brave deeds that he and his brothers had performed, and the hardships they had endured.

10:16 He said, "Could we find another man like this? Now we will make him our friend and ally."

10:17 He wrote letters and sent them to him in these words:

10:18 "King Alexander to his brother Jonathan, greetings.

10:19 We have heard concerning you, that you are a man mighty in strength and suitable to be our friend.

10:20 Now, therefore, today we have appointed you high priest of your nation and to be called the king's Friend"—and he sent him a purple robe and a golden crown—"to be concerned for our interests and maintain friendship with us."

10:21 Jonathan put on the holy robe in the seventh month of the one hundred and sixtieth year, at the Festival of Booths. He gathered forces and prepared many weapons.

10:22 Demetrius heard these things and was grieved. He said,

10:23 "What have we done, that Alexander has anticipated us in securing friendship with the Jews for support?

10:24 I too will write them words of encouragement, honour, and gifts, so that they may be with me to help."

10:25 He sent to them in these words: “King Demetrius to the nation of the Jews, greetings.

10:26 We have heard that you have kept your agreements with us, remained in our friendship, and not joined our enemies, and we rejoiced.

10:27 Now continue to keep faith with us, and we will repay you with good things for what you do with us.

10:28 We will grant you many remissions and give you gifts.

10:29 Now I release you and exempt all the Jews from tribute, the salt charge, and crown payments.

10:30 I relinquish from today onward the right to receive the third of the grain crop and the half of the fruit of the trees that fall to me, from the land of Judah and the three districts added to it from Samaria and Galilee, from this day and for all time.

10:31 Let Jerusalem and its territory be holy and exempt, free of tithes and dues.

10:32 I also relinquish authority over the citadel in Jerusalem and give it to the high priest, so that he may appoint in it men of his own choosing to guard it.

10:33 Every Jewish person taken captive from the land of Judah into any part of my kingdom I release freely, without payment. Let all remit their taxes, including those upon their livestock.

10:34 Let all festivals, sabbaths, new moons, and appointed days, and the three days before a festival and the three after it, all be days of exemption and release for all Jews in my kingdom.

10:35 No one shall have authority to exact payment from or trouble any of them concerning any matter.

10:36 Let up to thirty thousand men of the Jews be enrolled in the king’s forces, and let allowances be given to them, as is proper for all the king’s forces.

10:37 Some of them shall be stationed in the king’s great strongholds, and some shall be appointed to positions of trust in the kingdom. Their supervisors and commanders shall be from among them, and they shall follow their own laws, as the king has also decreed in the land of Judah.

10:38 Let the three districts added to Judea from the region of Samaria be attached to Judea, so that they may be reckoned under one authority and obey no other authority except the high priest.

10:39 I have given Ptolemais and the territory belonging to it as a gift to the holy places in Jerusalem, for the expenses proper to the holy places.

10:40 I myself give every year fifteen thousand shekels of silver from the king’s accounts, from the appropriate places.

10:41 All the excess that they did not pay from the revenues as in former years they shall from now on give for the works of the house.

10:42 Besides these, the five thousand shekels of silver that they used to take from the revenues of the holy place from its account each year are also remitted, because they belong to the priests who minister.

10:43 All who flee to the temple in Jerusalem and anywhere within its precincts, owing royal dues or any other obligation, shall be released, together with all they possess in my kingdom.

10:44 The cost of rebuilding and renewing the works of the holy places shall be given from the king’s account.

10:45 The cost of rebuilding Jerusalem’s walls and fortifying it all around shall be given from the king’s account, and likewise for rebuilding walls in Judea.”

10:46 When Jonathan and the people heard these words, they neither believed nor accepted them, because they remembered the great evil he had committed in Israel and how severely he had oppressed them.

10:47 They favoured Alexander, because he had been the first to speak peaceful words to them, and they remained his allies all his days.

10:48 King Alexander gathered great forces and encamped opposite Demetrius.

10:49 The two kings joined battle. Demetrius’s army fled; Alexander pursued him and prevailed against them.

10:50 He pressed the battle fiercely until the sun went down, and Demetrius fell that day.

10:51 Alexander sent envoys to Ptolemy king of Egypt in these words:

10:52 “I have returned to my kingdom, sat upon the throne of my fathers, and taken control of the government. I have crushed Demetrius and gained control of our country.

10:53 I joined battle with him, and he and his army were crushed by us. We have sat upon the throne of his kingdom.

10:54 Now let us establish friendship with one another. Give me your daughter as wife, and I will become your son-in-law and give you and her gifts worthy of you.”

10:55 King Ptolemy answered, saying, “The day you returned to the land of your fathers and sat upon the throne of their kingdom was a good day.

10:56 Now I will do for you what you have written. But meet me at Ptolemais, so that we may see one another, and I will form a marriage alliance with you as you have said.”

10:57 Ptolemy left Egypt with Cleopatra his daughter and came to Ptolemais in the one hundred and sixty-second year.

10:58 King Alexander met him, and he gave him Cleopatra his daughter in marriage and celebrated her wedding at Ptolemais with great glory, as kings do.

10:59 King Alexander wrote to Jonathan to come and meet him.

10:60 He went in honour to Ptolemais and met the two kings. He gave them and their Friends silver, gold, and many gifts, and found favour before them.

10:61 Pestilent men from Israel, lawless men, gathered against him to petition against him, but the king paid no attention to them.

10:62 The king ordered them to remove Jonathan’s garments and clothe him in purple, and they did so.

10:63 The king seated him with himself and said to his commanders, “Go out with him into the midst of the city and proclaim that no one may petition against him concerning any matter, and that no one may trouble him concerning any charge.”

10:64 When the accusers saw his honour as proclaimed and saw him clothed in purple, they all fled.

10:65 The king honoured him, enrolled him among the First Friends, and appointed him general and district governor.

10:66 Jonathan returned to Jerusalem in peace and gladness.

10:67 In the one hundred and sixty-fifth year, Demetrius son of Demetrius came from Crete into the land of his fathers.

10:68 King Alexander heard of it, was greatly distressed, and returned to Antioch.

10:69 Demetrius appointed Apollonius, who was over Coele-Syria. He gathered a great force and encamped against Jamnia, and sent to Jonathan the high priest, saying,

10:70 “You alone are raising yourself against us, and because of you I have become an object of ridicule and reproach. Why are you exercising power against us in the mountains?

10:71 Now, if you trust in your forces, come down to us into the plain, and let us measure ourselves against one another there, for a force from the cities is with me.

10:72 Ask and learn who I am and who the others helping us are. They say, ‘There is no foothold for you before us, because your fathers were routed twice in their own land.’

10:73 Now you shall not be able to stand against the cavalry and such a force in the plain, where there is neither stone nor pebble nor a place to flee.”

10:74 When Jonathan heard Apollonius’s words, he was stirred in mind. He chose ten thousand men and went out from Jerusalem; Simon his brother met him to help him.

10:75 He encamped against Joppa. The people of the city shut it against him, because Apollonius’s garrison was in Joppa, and they attacked it.

10:76 The people of the city became afraid and opened it, and Jonathan gained control of Joppa.

10:77 Apollonius heard and brought three thousand cavalry and a large force into camp. He went toward Azotus as though passing through, while drawing forward into the plain because he had many cavalry and trusted in them.

10:78 Jonathan pursued him toward Azotus, and the armies joined battle.

10:79 Apollonius had secretly left a thousand cavalry behind them.

10:80 Jonathan realized there was an ambush behind him. They surrounded his army and hurled missiles at the people from morning until evening.

10:81 But the people stood firm, as Jonathan had commanded, and their enemies’ horses grew weary.

10:82 Simon drew out his force and engaged the phalanx, for the cavalry was exhausted. They were crushed by him and fled,

10:83 and the cavalry scattered in the plain. They fled into Azotus and entered Beth-dagon, their idol shrine, for safety.

10:84 Jonathan burned Azotus and its surrounding towns and took their spoils. He burned the temple of Dagon and those who had fled into it with fire.

10:85 Those who had fallen by the sword, together with those burned, numbered about eight thousand men.

10:86 Jonathan set out from there and encamped against Ascalon. The people of the city came out to meet him with great honour.

10:87 Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with his men, carrying many spoils.

10:88 When King Alexander heard these things, he honoured Jonathan still more.

10:89 He sent him a golden clasp, as is customarily given to the king’s Kinsmen, and gave him Ekron and all its territory as an inheritance.

1 Maccabees 11

11:1 The king of Egypt gathered many forces, like the sand beside the seashore, and many ships. He sought to gain control of Alexander’s kingdom by deceit and add it to his own kingdom.

11:2 He went out to Syria with peaceful words. The people of the cities opened to him and met him, because King Alexander had commanded them to meet him, since he was his father-in-law.

11:3 As Ptolemy entered the cities, he stationed forces as a garrison in each city.

11:4 When they approached Azotus, they showed him the burned temple of Dagon, Azotus and its surrounding towns demolished, the bodies thrown out, and those whom Jonathan had burned in the war. They had piled them in heaps along his route.

11:5 They recounted to the king what Jonathan had done, to bring blame upon him. But the king remained silent.

11:6 Jonathan met the king at Joppa with honour. They greeted one another and lodged there.

11:7 Jonathan accompanied the king as far as the river called Eleutherus, then returned to Jerusalem.

11:8 King Ptolemy gained control of the coastal cities as far as Seleucia by the sea, and devised evil plans concerning Alexander.

11:9 He sent envoys to King Demetrius, saying, “Come, let us make a covenant with one another, and I will give you my daughter whom Alexander had, and you shall reign over your father’s kingdom.

11:10 For I regret giving him my daughter, because he sought to kill me.”

11:11 He accused him because he desired his kingdom.

11:12 He took his daughter away from him, gave her to Demetrius, and became estranged from Alexander; their hostility became evident.

11:13 Ptolemy entered Antioch and put on the diadem of Asia. He placed two diadems on his head, that of Egypt and that of Asia.

11:14 King Alexander was in Cilicia at that time, because the people of those places were in revolt.

11:15 Alexander heard and came against him in battle. Ptolemy led out his forces, met him with a strong force, and routed him.

11:16 Alexander fled into Arabia to find shelter there, and King Ptolemy was exalted.

11:17 Zabdiel the Arab cut off Alexander’s head and sent it to Ptolemy.

11:18 King Ptolemy died on the third day, and his men in the strongholds were destroyed by those in the strongholds.

11:19 Demetrius became king in the one hundred and sixty-seventh year.

11:20 In those days Jonathan gathered the men of Judea to make war on the citadel in Jerusalem, and he made many siege engines against it.

11:21 Some lawless men who hated their own nation went to the king and reported to him that Jonathan was besieging the citadel.

11:22 When he heard, he became angry. Immediately on hearing it he set out and came to Ptolemais. He wrote to Jonathan to stop the siege and to come as quickly as possible to confer with him at Ptolemais.

11:23 When Jonathan heard, he ordered the siege to continue, selected some elders of Israel and priests, and exposed himself to danger.

11:24 He took silver, gold, clothing, and many other gifts, went to the king at Ptolemais, and found favour before him.

11:25 Some lawless men from the nation were petitioning against him.

11:26 The king treated him as those before him had done and exalted him before all his Friends.

11:27 He confirmed him in the high priesthood and all the other honours he had held before, and made him rank among the First Friends.

11:28 Jonathan asked the king to make Judea, the three districts, and Samaria free from tribute, and promised him three hundred talents.

11:29 The king consented and wrote letters to Jonathan concerning all these things in the following form:

11:30 “King Demetrius to Jonathan his brother and to the nation of the Jews, greetings.

11:31 We have also written to you a copy of the letter we wrote about you to Lasthenes our Kinsman, so that you may know it.

11:32 ‘King Demetrius to Lasthenes his father, greetings.

11:33 We have judged it good to benefit the nation of the Jews, our friends who keep their obligations toward us, because of their goodwill toward us.

11:34 We have confirmed to them the territory of Judea and the three districts of Aphairema, Lydda, and Rathamin, added to Judea from Samaria, with everything belonging to them, for all who sacrifice in Jerusalem, in place of the royal dues that the king formerly received from them each year from the produce of the land and the fruit trees.

11:35 The other things belonging to us from now on—the tithes and dues belonging to us, the salt lakes, and the crown payments belonging to us—we grant all these to them.

11:36 Not one of these provisions shall be annulled from now and for all time.

11:37 Now, therefore, take care to make a copy of these things. Let it be given to Jonathan and placed on the holy mountain in a conspicuous place.’”

11:38 King Demetrius saw that the land was quiet before him and that nothing resisted him. He dismissed all his forces, each to his own place, except the foreign forces he had recruited from the islands of the nations. All the forces inherited from his fathers became hostile to him.

11:39 Tryphon had formerly been one of Alexander’s men. He saw that all the forces were grumbling against Demetrius and went to Imalcue the Arab, who was bringing up Alexander’s young son Antiochus.

11:40 He stayed with him, urging him to hand the boy over so that he might reign in his father’s place. He reported everything Demetrius had done and the hostility his forces felt toward him, and remained there many days.

11:41 Jonathan sent to King Demetrius, asking him to remove the men of the citadel from Jerusalem and those in the strongholds, because they were fighting Israel.

11:42 Demetrius sent to Jonathan, saying, “I will do not only these things for you and your nation, but I will greatly honour you and your nation if I find an opportunity.

11:43 Now, therefore, you will do well to send me men who will fight alongside me, because all my forces have revolted.”

11:44 Jonathan sent three thousand men mighty in strength to him at Antioch. They came to the king, and the king rejoiced at their arrival.

11:45 The people of the city gathered in its midst, about a hundred and twenty thousand men, intending to kill the king.

11:46 The king fled into the palace. The people of the city seized its passageways and began fighting.

11:47 The king called the Jews to help. They all gathered to him together, spread through the city, and killed about a hundred thousand that day.

11:48 They burned the city, took many spoils that day, and saved the king.

11:49 The people of the city saw that the Jews controlled the city as they wished. They lost courage and cried to the king with a plea, saying,

11:50 “Give us your right hand, and let the Jews stop fighting us and the city.”

11:51 They threw down their weapons and made peace. The Jews were honoured before the king and before everyone in his kingdom, and returned to Jerusalem with many spoils.

11:52 King Demetrius sat upon the throne of his kingdom, and the land was quiet before him.

11:53 He proved false in everything he had said, became estranged from Jonathan, did not repay the goodwill shown to him, and oppressed him greatly.

11:54 After this Tryphon returned, and with him Antiochus, a young boy. Antiochus became king and put on a diadem.

11:55 All the forces Demetrius had dismissed gathered to him. They fought Demetrius, and he fled and was routed.

11:56 Tryphon took the elephants and gained control of Antioch.

11:57 The young Antiochus wrote to Jonathan, saying, “I confirm you in the high priesthood, appoint you over the four districts, and make you one of the king’s Friends.”

11:58 He sent him gold vessels and a table service, and granted him authority to drink from gold vessels, wear purple, and have a golden clasp.

11:59 He appointed Simon his brother general from the Ladder of Tyre to the borders of Egypt.

11:60 Jonathan went out and travelled through Beyond the River and its cities. All the Syrian forces gathered to him as allies. He came to Ascalon, and the people of the city met him with honour.

11:61 He went from there to Gaza, but the people of Gaza shut him out. He besieged it, burned its surrounding towns with fire, and plundered them.

11:62 The people of Gaza appealed to Jonathan. He gave them his right hand, took their rulers’ sons as hostages, and sent them to Jerusalem. He passed through the country as far as Damascus.

11:63 Jonathan heard that Demetrius’s commanders had arrived at Kedesh in Galilee with a large force, intending to remove him from his office.

11:64 He went to meet them, leaving Simon his brother in the country.

11:65 Simon encamped against Beth-zur, attacked it for many days, and blockaded it.

11:66 They asked him to receive a pledge of peace, and he gave it to them. He expelled them from there, seized the city, and placed a garrison over it.

11:67 Jonathan and his army encamped by the water of Gennesar. Early in the morning they went to the plain of Hazor.

11:68 The army of foreigners met him in the plain, having sent out an ambush against him in the mountains, while they themselves met him from the front.

11:69 The men in ambush rose from their positions and joined battle.

11:70 All Jonathan's men fled. Not one remained except Mattathias son of Absalom and Judas son of Chalphi, commanders of the army's forces.

11:71 Jonathan tore his garments, put earth on his head, and prayed.

11:72 He turned back against them in battle and routed them, and they fled.

11:73 Those who had fled from him saw it and returned to him. They pursued with him as far as Kedesh, to their camp, and encamped there.

11:74 About three thousand men of the foreigners fell that day. Jonathan returned to Jerusalem.

1 Maccabees 12

12:1 Jonathan saw that circumstances favoured him. He chose men and sent them to Rome to establish and renew their friendship.

12:2 He also sent letters to the Spartans and other places for the same purpose.

12:3 They went to Rome, entered the council chamber, and said, "Jonathan the high priest and the nation of the Jews have sent us to renew their friendship and alliance as before."

12:4 They gave them letters to the authorities in each place so that they might escort them peacefully to the land of Judah.

12:5 This is the copy of the letters Jonathan wrote to the Spartans:

12:6 "Jonathan the high priest, the council of elders of the nation, the priests, and the rest of the Jewish people, to the Spartans their brothers, greetings.

12:7 In former times letters were sent to Onias the high priest from Areus, who reigned among you, stating that you are our brothers, as the copy below shows.

12:8 Onias received the envoy with honour and accepted the letters, in which alliance and friendship were declared.

12:9 Although we have no need of these things, since we have as encouragement the holy books that are in our hands,

12:10 we have undertaken to send to renew brotherhood and friendship with you, so that we may not become estranged from you. For many seasons have passed since you sent to us.

12:11 We therefore remember you continually at every season, at the festivals and the other appointed days, in the sacrifices we offer and in our prayers, as it is right and fitting to remember brothers.

12:12 We rejoice in your glory.

12:13 But many afflictions and many wars have surrounded us, and the kings around us have made war on us.

12:14 We did not wish to trouble you or our other allies and friends in these wars,

12:15 for we have help from Heaven helping us; we were rescued from our enemies, and our enemies were humbled.

12:16 We have therefore chosen Numenius son of Antiochus and Antipater son of Jason and sent them to the Romans to renew the former friendship and alliance with them.

12:17 We have also commanded them to go to you, greet you, and deliver our letters concerning the renewal of our brotherhood.

12:18 Now you will do well to answer us concerning these matters."

12:19 This is the copy of the letters they sent to Onias:

12:20 "Areus king of the Spartans to Onias the great priest, greetings.

12:21 It has been found in a writing concerning the Spartans and Jews that they are brothers and are of the lineage of Abraham.

12:22 Now that we have learned these things, you will do well to write to us concerning your welfare.

12:23 We in turn write to you: your livestock and your property are ours, and ours are yours. We therefore command that they report to you accordingly."

12:24 Jonathan heard that Demetrius's commanders had returned with a force larger than before to fight him.

12:25 He set out from Jerusalem and met them in the region of Hamath, for he gave them no opportunity to enter his country.

12:26 He sent spies into their camp. They returned and reported to him that they were arranging to fall upon them that night.

12:27 When the sun went down, Jonathan commanded his men to keep watch and remain under arms, ready for battle all night. He posted sentries around the camp.

12:28 The adversaries heard that Jonathan and his men were ready for battle. They were afraid and their hearts trembled, and they kindled fires in their camp.

12:29 Jonathan and his men did not know until morning, for they could see the lights burning.

12:30 Jonathan pursued them but did not overtake them, because they had crossed the Eleutherus River.

12:31 Jonathan turned aside against the Arabs called Zabadeans, struck them, and took their spoils.

12:32 He set out, came to Damascus, and passed through the whole region.

12:33 Simon went out and travelled as far as Ascalon and the nearby strongholds. He turned aside to Joppa and seized it,

12:34 for he had heard that they wished to hand over the stronghold to Demetrius's men. He placed a garrison there to guard it.

12:35 Jonathan returned, assembled the elders of the people, and deliberated with them about building strongholds in Judea

12:36 and raising Jerusalem's walls higher, and building a great barrier between the citadel and the city to separate it from the city, so that it might stand alone and its people could neither buy nor sell.

12:37 They gathered to rebuild the city. Part of the wall by the stream on the east had fallen, and he repaired the section called Chaphenatha.

12:38 Simon rebuilt Adida in the Shephelah, fortified it, and fitted it with doors and bars.

12:39 Tryphon sought to reign over Asia, put on the diadem, and stretch out his hand against King Antiochus.

12:40 He feared that Jonathan might not permit him and might fight against him. He sought to seize and destroy him, and set out and came to Beth-shan.

12:41 Jonathan went out to meet him with forty thousand picked men for battle, and came to Beth-shan.

12:42 Tryphon saw that he had come with a large force and feared to stretch out his hands against him.

12:43 He received him with honour, introduced him to all his Friends, gave him gifts, and commanded his Friends and forces to obey him as they obeyed himself.

12:44 He said to Jonathan, "Why have you wearied all these people when no war threatens us?

12:45 Now send them to their homes, choose a few men to remain with you, and come with me to Ptolemais. I will hand it over to you, along with the other strongholds, the remaining forces, and all who are in charge of affairs. Then I will turn and go away, for this is why I have come."

12:46 Jonathan trusted him and did as he said. He sent away the forces, and they departed to the land of Judah.

12:47 He kept three thousand men with himself, of whom he left two thousand in Galilee, while a thousand accompanied him.

12:48 When Jonathan entered Ptolemais, the people of Ptolemais shut the gates and seized him. They killed with the sword everyone who had entered with him.

12:49 Tryphon sent forces and cavalry into Galilee and the great plain to destroy all Jonathan's men.

12:50 They learned that he had been captured and had perished, along with those with him. They encouraged one another and marched in close formation, ready for battle.

12:51 Their pursuers saw that they were fighting for their lives and turned back.

12:52 They all came safely into the land of Judah, mourned Jonathan and those with him, and were exceedingly afraid. All Israel mourned with great mourning.

12:53 All the nations around them sought to crush them, for they said, "They have no ruler or helper. Now let us fight them and remove their memory from among humankind."

1 Maccabees 13

13:1 Simon heard that Tryphon had gathered a large force to enter the land of Judah and crush it.

13:2 He saw that the people were trembling and terrified. He went up to Jerusalem and gathered the people.

13:3 He encouraged them and said, "You yourselves know all that I, my brothers, and my father's house have done for the laws and the holy places, and the battles and hardships we have seen.

13:4 For this cause all my brothers have perished for Israel, and I alone am left.

13:5 Now far be it from me to spare my life in any time of distress, for I am no better than my brothers.

13:6 I will avenge my nation, the holy places, your wives, and your children, for all the nations have gathered to crush us out of hatred.”

13:7 The spirit of the people was rekindled as soon as they heard these words.

13:8 They answered in a loud voice, saying, “You are our leader in place of Judas and Jonathan your brother.

13:9 Fight our war, and we will do everything you tell us.”

13:10 He gathered all the warriors, hastened to complete Jerusalem’s walls, and fortified it all around.

13:11 He sent Jonathan son of Absalom and a sufficient force with him to Joppa. He expelled those who were in it and remained there.

13:12 Tryphon set out from Ptolemais with a large force to enter the land of Judah, with Jonathan under guard.

13:13 Simon encamped at Adida facing the plain.

13:14 Tryphon learned that Simon had arisen in place of Jonathan his brother and was about to join battle with him. He sent envoys to him, saying,

13:15 “We are holding Jonathan your brother because of money he owed to the royal treasury for the offices he held.

13:16 Now send a hundred talents of silver and two of his sons as hostages, so that he will not revolt against us when released, and we will release him.”

13:17 Simon knew that they were speaking deceitfully to him, yet sent to fetch the money and the children, lest he incur great hostility among the people

13:18 if they said, “Because I did not send him the money and the children, he perished.”

13:19 He sent the children and the hundred talents, but Tryphon proved false and did not release Jonathan.

13:20 After this Tryphon came to invade the country and crush it. They went around by the road to Adora. Simon and his army moved opposite him wherever he went.

13:21 Those in the citadel sent envoys to Tryphon, urging him to come to them through the wilderness and send them food.

13:22 Tryphon prepared all his cavalry to go, but that night there was exceedingly heavy snow, and he did not go because of the snow. He set out and came to Gilead.

13:23 When he approached Bascama, he killed Jonathan, and Jonathan was buried there.

13:24 Tryphon turned and went away to his own land.

13:25 Simon sent and took the bones of Jonathan his brother and buried him in Modein, the city of his fathers.

13:26 All Israel lamented him with a great lament and mourned him for many days.

13:27 Simon built over the tomb of his father and brothers and raised it high to be seen, with dressed stone at the back and front.

13:28 He erected seven pyramids, one opposite another, for his father, his mother, and his four brothers.

13:29 For these he made elaborate structures, setting great columns around them. On the columns he made full suits of armour for an everlasting name, and beside the armour he carved ships, to be seen by all who sailed the sea.

13:30 This is the tomb he made in Modein, remaining to this day.

13:31 Tryphon dealt deceitfully with the young King Antiochus and killed him.

13:32 He reigned in his place, put on the diadem of Asia, and inflicted a great blow upon the land.

13:33 Simon rebuilt Judea’s strongholds, enclosed them with high towers and great walls, gates, and bars, and placed food in the strongholds.

13:34 Simon chose men and sent them to King Demetrius to secure remission for the country, because all Tryphon’s acts were plunder.

13:35 King Demetrius sent to him in these words, replying with a letter of this form:

13:36 “King Demetrius to Simon, high priest and Friend of kings, and to the elders and nation of the Jews, greetings.

13:37 We have received the golden crown and the palm branch that you sent. We are ready to make a great peace with you and to write to the officials to grant you the remissions.

13:38 Everything we have established with you stands, and the strongholds you have built shall be yours.

13:39 We remit offences of ignorance and sins up to this day, and the crown payment you owed. If any other levy was collected in Jerusalem, let it be collected no longer.

13:40 If any of you are suitable to be enrolled among those around us, let them be enrolled, and let there be peace between us.”

13:41 In the one hundred and seventieth year, the yoke of the nations was removed from Israel.

13:42 The people began to write in their documents and contracts, “In the first year of Simon, great high priest, general, and leader of the Jews.”

13:43 In those days he encamped against Gazara, surrounded it with camps, made a siege tower, brought it against the city, struck one tower, and took it.

13:44 Those in the siege tower leaped into the city, and a great commotion arose in the city.

13:45 The people of the city, with their wives and children, went up onto the wall with torn garments and cried in a loud voice, asking Simon to give them his right hand.

13:46 They said, “Do not deal with us according to our wickedness, but according to your mercy.”

13:47 Simon came to terms with them and did not fight them. He expelled them from the city and cleansed the houses in which the idols had been. Then he entered it, singing hymns and blessings.

13:48 He removed every uncleanness from it, settled in it men who would carry out the law, further fortified it, and built himself a dwelling in it.

13:49 Those in the citadel in Jerusalem were prevented from going out and coming into the country to buy and sell. They became exceedingly hungry, and many of them perished from famine.

13:50 They cried to Simon to receive a pledge of peace, and he gave it to them. He expelled them from there and cleansed the citadel from its defilements.

13:51 They entered it on the twenty-third day of the second month in the one hundred and seventy-first year, with praise and palm branches, with lyres, cymbals, harps, hymns, and songs, because a great enemy had been crushed out of Israel.

13:52 He established that this day should be celebrated every year with gladness. He further fortified the temple mountain beside the citadel, and he and his men lived there.

13:53 Simon saw that his son John was a grown man, and appointed him commander of all the forces. He lived in Gazara.

1 Maccabees 14

14:1 In the one hundred and seventy-second year, King Demetrius gathered his forces and went to Media to obtain help for himself so that he might fight Tryphon.

14:2 Arsaces king of Persia and Media heard that Demetrius had entered his territory, and sent one of his commanders to seize him alive.

14:3 He went, struck Demetrius’s army, seized him, and brought him to Arsaces, who put him under guard.

14:4 The land of Judah was quiet all the days of Simon. He sought good things for his nation, and his authority and glory pleased them all his days.

14:5 Among all his glorious deeds he took Joppa as a harbour and made an entrance to the islands of the sea.

14:6 He enlarged the borders of his nation and gained control of the country.

14:7 He gathered many who had been captive and gained control of Gazara, Beth-zur, and the citadel. He removed its uncleannesses, and there was no one to oppose him.

14:8 They tilled their land in peace; the land yielded its produce, and the trees of the plains their fruit.

14:9 Elders sat in the squares, all conversing about good things; the young men clothed themselves in splendour and garments of war.

14:10 He supplied food to the cities and equipped them with means of defence, until the fame of his glory reached the end of the earth.

14:11 He made peace upon the land, and Israel rejoiced with great gladness.

14:12 Each sat beneath his vine and his fig tree, and none made them afraid.

14:13 Those who fought them ceased from the land, and the kings were crushed in those days.

14:14 He strengthened all the lowly of his people. He sought out the law and removed every lawless and wicked person.

14:15 He glorified the holy places and multiplied the vessels of the holy places.

14:16 It was heard in Rome, and as far as Sparta, that Jonathan had died, and they were greatly grieved.

14:17 When they heard that Simon his brother had become high priest in his place and was in control of the country and its cities,

14:18 they wrote to him on bronze tablets to renew with him the friendship and alliance they had established with Judas and Jonathan his brothers.

14:19 The letters were read before the assembly in Jerusalem.

14:20 This is the copy of the letters the Spartans sent: “The rulers of the Spartans and the city to Simon the great priest, the elders, the priests, and the rest of the Jewish people, their brothers, greetings.

14:21 The envoys sent to our people reported to us concerning your glory and honour, and we rejoiced at their arrival.

14:22 We entered what they said in the resolutions of the people as follows: ‘Numenius son of Antiochus and Antipater son of Jason, envoys of the Jews, came to us to renew friendship with us.

14:23 The people resolved to receive the men with honour and to place a copy of their words in the designated public records, so that the Spartan people might have a memorial.’” They wrote a copy of these things to Simon the high priest.

14:24 After this Simon sent Numenius to Rome carrying a great golden shield weighing a thousand minas to establish the alliance with them.

14:25 When the people heard these things, they said, “What thanks shall we return to Simon and his sons?

14:26 For he, his brothers, and his father’s house stood firm, fought off Israel’s enemies, and established freedom for Israel.” They inscribed it on bronze tablets and placed them on pillars on Mount Zion.

14:27 This is the copy of the inscription: “On the eighteenth of Elul, in the one hundred and seventy-second year, which is the third year under Simon the great high priest, in Asaramel,

14:28 in a great assembly of priests, people, rulers of the nation, and elders of the country, a declaration was made to us:

14:29 ‘Since wars have often occurred in the country, Simon son of Mattathias, a priest of the sons of Joarib, and his brothers exposed themselves to danger and resisted their nation’s adversaries, so that their holy places and the law might stand. They honoured their nation with great glory.

14:30 Jonathan gathered their nation, became their high priest, and was gathered to his people.

14:31 Their enemies wished to invade their country and stretch out their hands against their holy places.

14:32 Then Simon resisted and fought for his nation. He spent much of his own money, supplied the men of his nation’s force with weapons, and gave them pay.

14:33 He fortified the cities of Judea and Beth-zur on Judea’s border, where the enemies’ weapons had formerly been, and stationed Jewish men there as a garrison.

14:34 He fortified Joppa by the sea and Gazara on the borders of Azotus, where the enemies had formerly lived. He settled Jews there and provided everything necessary for their restoration.

14:35 The people saw Simon’s faithfulness and the glory he had resolved to bring to his nation. They made him their leader and high priest because he had done all these things, because of the righteousness and faithfulness he maintained toward his nation, and because he sought in every way to exalt his people.

14:36 In his days it prospered in his hands to remove the nations from their country, including those in the city of David at Jerusalem who had made themselves a citadel. From it they used to go out and defile the surroundings of the holy places, inflicting a great blow upon purity.

14:37 He settled Jewish men in it, fortified it for the security of the country and city, and raised Jerusalem’s walls.

14:38 King Demetrius accordingly confirmed him in the high priesthood,

14:39 made him one of his Friends, and honoured him with great glory.

14:40 For he had heard that the Jews had been addressed by the Romans as friends, allies, and brothers, and that they had received Simon’s envoys with honour;

14:41 and that the Jews and priests had agreed that Simon should be their leader and high priest for ever, until a faithful prophet should arise;

14:42 that he should be their general, and take care of the holy places, appointing through his authority those in charge of their works, the country, the weapons, and the strongholds;

14:43 that he should take care of the holy places, be obeyed by everyone, have all documents in the country written in his name, and wear purple and gold ornaments;

14:44 and that no one among the people or priests should have authority to annul any of these things, contradict what he should say, convene a gathering in the country without him, wear purple, or fasten on a golden clasp.

14:45 Whoever acts contrary to these provisions or annuls any of them shall be liable.’

14:46 All the people agreed to establish Simon to act according to these terms.

14:47 Simon accepted and agreed to serve as high priest, to be general and ethnarch of the Jews and priests, and to preside over them all.

14:48 They directed that this inscription be placed on bronze tablets and that these be set up within the enclosure of the holy places in a conspicuous place,

14:49 and that copies be placed in the treasury so that Simon and his sons might possess them.”

1 Maccabees 15

15:1 Antiochus son of King Demetrius sent letters from the islands of the sea to Simon, priest and ethnarch of the Jews, and to the whole nation.

15:2 They contained the following: “King Antiochus to Simon the great priest and ethnarch, and to the nation of the Jews, greetings.

15:3 Since certain pestilent men have seized the kingdom of our fathers, I wish to reclaim the kingdom and restore it as it was before. I have recruited a multitude of forces and prepared warships.

15:4 I intend to land in the country to pursue those who have ruined our country and devastated many cities in my kingdom.

15:5 Now, therefore, I confirm to you all the remissions that the kings before me granted you, and all the other gifts they granted you.

15:6 I permit you to strike your own coinage as money for your country.

15:7 Jerusalem and the holy places shall be free. All the weapons you have prepared and the strongholds you have built and hold shall remain yours.

15:8 Every royal debt and all future royal dues shall be remitted to you from now and for all time.

15:9 When we gain control of our kingdom, we will honour you, your nation, and the temple with great glory, so that your glory may become evident throughout the whole earth.”

15:10 In the one hundred and seventy-fourth year Antiochus went out into the land of his fathers. All the forces joined him, so that only a few remained with Tryphon.

15:11 Antiochus pursued him, and he fled to Dora by the sea,

15:12 for he knew that evils had gathered against him and that the forces had abandoned him.

15:13 Antiochus encamped against Dora, with a hundred and twenty thousand warriors and eight thousand cavalry.

15:14 He surrounded the city, and the ships joined the attack from the sea. He pressed the city from land and sea and allowed no one to go out or come in.

15:15 Numenius and his companions came from Rome carrying letters to the kings and countries, in which the following was written:

15:16 “Lucius, consul of the Romans, to King Ptolemy, greetings.

15:17 The envoys of the Jews, our friends and allies, came to us to renew the friendship and alliance established from the beginning, sent by Simon the high priest and the Jewish people.

15:18 They brought a golden shield of a thousand minas.

15:19 We therefore resolved to write to the kings and countries that they should not seek their harm or make war on them, their cities, or their country, and should not ally themselves with those making war against them.

15:20 We decided to accept the shield from them.

15:21 If, therefore, any pestilent men have escaped from their country to you, hand them over to Simon the high priest, so that he may punish them according to their law.”

15:22 He wrote the same things to King Demetrius, Attalus, Ariarathes, and Arsaces,

15:23 and to all the countries: to Sampsame, the Spartans, Delos, Myndos, Sicyon, Caria, Samos, Pamphylia, Lycia, Halicarnassus, Rhodes, Phaselis, Cos, Side, Aradus, Gortyna, Cnidus, Cyprus, and Cyrene.

15:24 They wrote a copy of these things to Simon the high priest.

15:25 On the second day King Antiochus encamped against Dora, continually bringing his forces against it, making siege engines, and blocking Tryphon from going out or coming in.

15:26 Simon sent him two thousand picked men to fight alongside him, along with silver, gold, and ample equipment.

15:27 He would not receive them, but annulled everything he had previously agreed with Simon and became estranged from him.

15:28 He sent Athenobius, one of his Friends, to confer with him, saying, “You hold Joppa, Gazara, and the citadel in Jerusalem, cities of my kingdom.

15:29 You have devastated their territories, inflicted a great blow upon the land, and gained control of many places in my kingdom.

15:30 Now, therefore, hand over the cities you have seized and the tribute of the places you have taken outside the borders of Judea.

15:31 Otherwise, give five hundred talents of silver in their place, and another five hundred talents for the destruction you have caused and the tribute of the cities. If not, we will come and make war on you.”

15:32 Athenobius, the king’s Friend, came to Jerusalem. He saw Simon’s glory, the display of gold and silver vessels, and the large retinue, and was astonished. He reported the king’s words to him.

15:33 Simon answered him, “We have neither taken foreign land nor gained control of others’ property, but the inheritance of our fathers, which our enemies unjustly seized at one time.

15:34 Now that we have the opportunity, we are holding fast to the inheritance of our fathers.

15:35 As for Joppa and Gazara, which you demand, these caused a great blow among the people and in our country. For these we will give a hundred talents."

15:36 He did not answer him a word, but returned angrily to the king and reported these words, Simon's glory, and everything he had seen. The king became greatly angry.

15:37 Tryphon boarded a ship and fled to Orthosia.

15:38 The king appointed Cendebaeus chief commander of the coast and gave him infantry and cavalry forces.

15:39 He commanded him to encamp opposite Judea, rebuild Kedron, fortify its gates, and fight the people. The king himself pursued Tryphon.

15:40 Cendebaeus came to Jamnia and began provoking the people, invading Judea, taking the people captive, and killing them.

15:41 He rebuilt Kedron and stationed cavalry and forces there, so that they might go out and make sorties along the roads of Judea, as the king had ordered him.

1 Maccabees 16

16:1 John came up from Gazara and reported to Simon his father what Cendebaeus had done.

16:2 Simon called his two elder sons, Judas and John, and said to them, "I, my brothers, and my father's house have fought Israel's wars from youth until this day, and it has prospered in our hands to rescue Israel many times.

16:3 Now I have grown old, but through mercy you are mature in years. Take my place and my brother's, go out and fight for our nation, and may help from Heaven be with you."

16:4 He chose from the country twenty thousand warriors and cavalry, and they marched against Cendebaeus and lodged in Modein.

16:5 They arose in the morning and went into the plain. A large force of infantry and cavalry came to meet them, with a stream between them.

16:6 He and his people encamped opposite them. He saw that the people were afraid to cross the stream, and he crossed first. The men saw him and crossed behind him.

16:7 He divided the people, placing the cavalry among the infantry, for the adversaries had very many cavalry.

16:8 They sounded the trumpets, and Cendebaeus and his army were routed. Many of them fell wounded, and the survivors fled into the stronghold.

16:9 Then Judas, John's brother, was wounded. John pursued them until he came to Kedron, which Cendebaeus had built.

16:10 They fled into the towers in the countryside of Azotus, and he burned it with fire. About two thousand of their men fell. He returned to Judea in peace.

16:11 Ptolemy son of Abubus had been appointed commander over the plain of Jericho and possessed much silver and gold, 16:12 for he was the high priest's son-in-law.

16:13 His heart was lifted up, and he wished to gain control of the country. He plotted deceitfully against Simon and his sons to remove them.

16:14 Simon was visiting the cities in the country and attending to their care. He came down to Jericho with his sons Mattathias and Judas in the one hundred and seventy-seventh year, in the eleventh month, which is the month of Shebat.

16:15 The son of Abubus deceitfully received them in the small stronghold called Dok, which he had built. He made a great drinking feast for them and hid men there.

16:16 When Simon and his sons had become drunk, Ptolemy and his men arose, took their weapons, entered the banquet room against Simon, and killed him, his two sons, and some of his attendants.

16:17 He committed a great act of treachery and repaid evil for good.

16:18 Ptolemy wrote these things and sent them to the king, asking him to send forces to help him and hand over their country and cities.

16:19 He sent others to Gazara to remove John, and sent letters to the commanders of thousands to come to him so that he might give them silver, gold, and gifts.

16:20 He sent others to seize Jerusalem and the temple mountain.

16:21 Someone ran ahead and reported to John at Gazara that his father and brothers had perished, and said, "He has also sent men to kill you."

16:22 When he heard, he was greatly astonished. He seized the men who had come to destroy him and killed them, for he had learned that they were seeking to destroy him.

16:23 The rest of John's deeds, his wars, the brave acts he performed, the building of the walls he built, and his actions—

16:24 behold, these are written in the book of the days of his high priesthood, from the time he became high priest after his father.

2 Maccabees

2 Maccabees 1

1:1 To the brothers, the Jews throughout Egypt: greetings from the brothers, the Jews in Jerusalem and in the land of Judea, and good peace.

1:2 May God do good to you and remember His covenant with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, His faithful servants.

1:3 May He give you all a heart to revere Him and do His wishes with a generous heart and a willing soul.

1:4 May He open your heart to His law and His ordinances, and make peace.

1:5 May He hear your petitions, be reconciled to you, and not abandon you in an evil time.

1:6 And now we are here praying for you.

1:7 In the reign of Demetrius, in the one hundred sixty-ninth year, we Jews wrote to you in the affliction and the crisis that came upon us in those years, from the time Jason and those with him revolted from the holy land and the kingdom.

1:8 They burned the gateway and poured out innocent blood. We petitioned the Lord and were heard; we offered sacrifice and fine flour, lit the lamps, and set out the loaves.

1:9 And now, see that you observe the days of the Festival of Booths in the month of Chislev. In the one hundred eighty-eighth year.

1:10 Those in Jerusalem and those in Judea, the council of elders and Judas, to Aristobulus, teacher of King Ptolemy and a member of the family of the anointed priests, and to the Jews in Egypt: greetings and good health.

1:11 Saved by God from great dangers, we give Him great thanks, as those drawn up against a king;

1:12 for He Himself drove out those arrayed against us in the holy city.

1:13 For when the ruler came to Persia with his force, which seemed irresistible, they were cut down in the temple of Nanea, the priests of Nanea having used a deception.

1:14 Antiochus and the friends with him came to the place as though he were to marry her, in order to take the greater part of the money as a dowry.

1:15 The priests of Nanea's temple laid it out, and he entered the enclosure of the sacred precinct with a few men. Once Antiochus had gone inside, they shut the temple.

1:16 Opening the concealed door in the coffered ceiling, they hurled stones and struck the ruler down. They cut them into pieces, removed their heads, and threw them to those outside.

1:17 Blessed in every way is our God, who handed over those who acted impiously.

1:18 As we are about to observe the purification of the temple on the twenty-fifth of Chislev, we thought it necessary to explain this to you, so that you yourselves may observe the festival of booths and of the fire, when Nehemiah, who rebuilt the temple and the altar, offered sacrifices.

1:19 For when our fathers were being taken to Persia, the devout priests of that time secretly took some of the altar's fire and hid it in the hollow of a well-like place without water. They secured it there so that the place was unknown to everyone.

1:20 After many years had passed, when it pleased God, Nehemiah was sent by the king of Persia. He sent the descendants of the priests who had hidden it to fetch the fire. When they reported to us that they had found no fire but thick water, he ordered them to draw some and bring it.

1:21 When the sacrificial materials had been brought up, Nehemiah ordered the priests to sprinkle the water on the wood and on what lay upon it.

1:22 When this was done and some time had passed, the sun, previously hidden by clouds, shone out. A great fire was kindled, so that everyone marveled.

1:23 While the sacrifice was being consumed, the priests offered prayer—the priests and everyone—with Jonathan beginning and the others responding, as Nehemiah did.

1:24 The prayer was in this form: "Lord, Lord God, Creator of all, fearsome, strong, righteous and merciful, the only King and good,

1:25 the only Provider, the only righteous One, Almighty and eternal, who dost preserve Israel from every evil, who didst choose the fathers and sanctify them,

1:26 accept the sacrifice on behalf of all Thy people Israel. Protect Thy portion and make it holy.

1:27 Gather our scattered people together. Free those enslaved among the nations. Look upon the despised and abhorred, and let the nations know that Thou art our God.

1:28 Torment those who oppress us and outrage us in arrogance.

1:29 Plant Thy people in Thy holy place, as Moses said."

1:30 The priests sang the hymns in response.

1:31 When the sacrificial materials had been consumed, Nehemiah ordered that the remaining water also be poured over larger stones.

1:32 When this was done, a flame was kindled, but it was consumed by the light shining back from the altar.

1:33 When the matter became known, the king of the Persians was informed that water had appeared in the place where the deported priests had hidden the fire, and that Nehemiah and his companions had purified the sacrificial materials with it.

1:34 The king fenced off the place and made it sacred, after examining the matter.

1:35 The king received many different revenues and shared them with those whom he favoured.

1:36 Nehemiah and his companions called this "Nephthar," which is interpreted "purification"; but most people call it "Nephthai."

2 Maccabees 2

2:1 In the records it is found that Jeremiah the prophet ordered those who were being deported to take some of the fire, as has been indicated,

2:2 and that the prophet, after giving the law to those being deported, commanded them not to forget the Lord's ordinances, nor to go astray in their thoughts when they saw gold and silver statues and the adornment surrounding them.

2:3 Saying these and other such things, he urged them not to let the law depart from their heart.

2:4 It was also in the writing that, after receiving an oracle, the prophet ordered the tent and the ark to accompany him, as he went out to the mountain where Moses had gone up and viewed God's inheritance.

2:5 Jeremiah arrived and found a cave-like chamber. He brought the tent, the ark and the altar of incense inside, and blocked the entrance.

2:6 Some of his companions came to mark the way, but could not find it.

2:7 When Jeremiah learned this, he rebuked them and said, "The place will remain unknown until God gathers His people together and becomes merciful.

2:8 Then the Lord will reveal these things, and the Lord's glory and the cloud will appear, as they were shown in the time of Moses, and as Solomon also prayed that the place might be greatly sanctified."

2:9 It was also explained how, being wise, Solomon offered a sacrifice for the dedication and completion of the temple.

2:10 Just as Moses prayed to the Lord, and fire came down from heaven and consumed the sacrificial materials, so Solomon also prayed, and the fire came down and consumed the whole burnt offerings.

2:11 Moses said, "Because the sin offering was not eaten, it was consumed."

2:12 In the same way Solomon also observed the eight days.

2:13 These same things were related in the records and in the memoirs concerning Nehemiah, and also how, in establishing a library, he gathered together the books concerning the kings and prophets, the writings of David, and kings' letters concerning dedicated gifts.

2:14 In the same way Judas also gathered all the writings that had been scattered because of the war that befell us, and they are with us.

2:15 Therefore, if you need any of them, send people to bring them to you.

2:16 As we are about to observe the purification, we have written to you. You will do well, then, to observe the days.

2:17 Now God, who saved all His people and restored to all the inheritance, the kingship, the priesthood and the sanctification,

2:18 as He promised through the law—for we hope in God that He will soon have mercy on us and gather us from under heaven into the holy place, for He rescued us from great evils and purified the place.

2:19 The events concerning Judas Maccabeus and his brothers, the purification of the greatest temple and the dedication of the altar,

2:20 and also the wars against Antiochus Epiphanes and his son Eupator,

2:21 and the manifestations from heaven to those who zealously performed brave deeds for Judaism, so that, although few, they plundered the whole land and pursued the barbarian multitudes,

2:22 recovered the temple renowned throughout the inhabited world, freed the city, and restored the laws that were about to be abolished, the Lord having become merciful to them with all gentleness—

2:23 these things, set forth by Jason of Cyrene in five books, we shall attempt to abridge into one composition.

2:24 For, seeing the abundance of figures and the difficulty caused by the mass of material for those who wish to enter into the narratives of the history,

2:25 we have taken thought for the pleasure of those who wish to read, for the ease of those eager to commit it to memory, and for the benefit of everyone who encounters it.

2:26 For us who have undertaken the hard work of abridgement, the task is not easy; it involves sweat and sleeplessness.

2:27 Just as it is not easy for someone preparing a banquet and seeking others' benefit, nevertheless, for the gratitude of the many, we will gladly bear the hard work.

2:28 We leave the precise treatment of each matter to the historian, while labouring to follow the outlines of the abridgement.

2:29 For just as the architect of a new house must consider its whole foundation, while the person undertaking its encaustic work and painting must examine what is suitable for decoration, so, I think, it is with us.

2:30 To enter deeply into matters, range widely in the discussion, and investigate the particulars belongs to the original historian.

2:31 But the person making a recasting should be permitted to pursue concise expression and set aside an exhaustive treatment of the subject.

2:32 Let us therefore begin the narrative here, adding only this much to what has already been said: it would be foolish to expand the preface to the history while abridging the history itself.

2 Maccabees 3

3:1 While the holy city was inhabited in complete peace and the laws were being kept most carefully because of the high priest Onias's piety and hatred of wickedness,

3:2 even the kings themselves honoured the place and glorified the temple with their finest gifts,

3:3 so that Seleucus, king of Asia, also supplied from his own revenues all the expenses required for the service of the sacrifices.

3:4 But a certain Simon, of the tribe of Benjamin, who had been appointed overseer of the temple, disagreed with the high priest over the administration of the city's market.

3:5 Unable to overcome Onias, he went to Apollonius son of Thraseas, who at that time was governor of Coele-Syria and Phoenicia.

3:6 He reported that the treasury in Jerusalem was full of indescribable riches, so that the amount of money was beyond counting, and that it did not belong to the account for the sacrifices; these funds, he said, could fall under the king's authority.

3:7 Apollonius met the king and informed him about the money reported to him. The king chose Heliodorus, his chief minister, and sent him with orders to remove that money.

3:8 Heliodorus immediately began his journey, ostensibly to inspect the cities of Coele-Syria and Phoenicia, but actually to carry out the king's intention.

3:9 When he arrived in Jerusalem and was cordially received by the city's high priest, he related the information that had been given and explained why he was there. He asked whether these things were really so.

3:10 The high priest explained that they were deposits belonging to widows and orphans,

3:11 and that some also belonged to Hyrcanus son of Tobias, a man of very high standing. Thus the impious Simon had misrepresented matters. In all there were four hundred talents of silver and two hundred of gold.

3:12 It was utterly impossible, he said, that those who had trusted in the holiness of the place and in the dignity and inviolability of the temple honoured throughout the whole world should suffer injustice.

3:13 But Heliodorus, because of his royal instructions, insisted that the money must certainly be taken into the royal treasury.

3:14 He appointed a day and went in to arrange the inspection of these things. There was no small anguish throughout the city.

3:15 The priests threw themselves down before the altar in their priestly robes, calling to heaven upon the One who had legislated about deposits, that He would keep them safe for those who had entrusted them.

3:16 Whoever saw the high priest's appearance was wounded in mind, for his face and altered complexion revealed his soul's anguish.

3:17 Dread and bodily shuddering had come over the man, making the pain lodged in his heart plain to those who looked at him.

3:18 People also rushed out of their houses in crowds for a public supplication, because the place was about to be treated with contempt.

3:19 Women, girded with sackcloth beneath their breasts, thronged the streets. Of the secluded virgins, some ran together to the gateways, some to the walls, and others leaned out through the windows.

3:20 All of them stretched their hands toward heaven and offered their entreaty.

3:21 It was pitiful to see the mingled multitude falling prostrate, and the high priest waiting in great anguish.

3:22 So they called on the all-powerful Lord to keep the entrusted property safe and fully secure for those who had entrusted it.

3:23 Heliodorus, however, was carrying out his decision.

3:24 When he was already there at the treasury with his bodyguards, the Sovereign of spirits and of all authority made a great manifestation. All who had dared accompany him were struck with awe at God's power and were overcome by faintness and cowardice.

3:25 For there appeared to them a horse with a fearsome rider, adorned with the finest harness. Rushing forcefully forward, it struck at Heliodorus with its forehooves; its rider appeared to wear a full suit of golden armour.

3:26 Two other young men appeared to him, remarkable in strength, most beautiful in glory, and splendid in clothing. They stood on either side of him and flogged him without ceasing, raining many blows upon him.

3:27 He suddenly fell to the ground, and deep darkness enveloped him. They picked him up and placed him on a litter.

3:28 The man who had just entered that treasury with a large retinue and all his bodyguard was carried out, unable to help himself. They plainly recognized God's sovereignty.

3:29 Through the divine action he lay speechless, deprived of every hope and means of deliverance.

3:30 But they blessed the Lord, who had wonderfully honoured His own place. The temple that a little earlier had been full of dread and turmoil was filled with joy and gladness when the Almighty Lord appeared.

3:31 Some of Heliodorus's companions quickly begged Onias to call upon the Most High to grant life to the man who lay at his last breath.

3:32 The high priest, fearing that the king might form the opinion that the Jews had perpetrated some wrongdoing against Heliodorus, offered a sacrifice for the man's deliverance.

3:33 While the high priest was making propitiation, the same young men again appeared to Heliodorus, clothed in the same garments. They stood and said, "Give many thanks to Onias the high priest, for it is because of him that the Lord has granted you life.

3:34 You, having been scourged from heaven, proclaim to everyone God's majestic might." Having said this, they became invisible.

3:35 Heliodorus offered a sacrifice to the Lord and made very great vows to the One who had preserved his life. He warmly took leave of Onias and departed with his company to the king.

3:36 He bore witness to everyone about the deeds of the greatest God that he had seen with his own eyes.

3:37 When the king asked Heliodorus what sort of person would be suitable to send once more to Jerusalem, he said,

3:38 "If you have an enemy or someone plotting against your government, send him there. You shall receive him back scourged, if indeed he survives, because a certain power of God is truly present about that place.

3:39 For He who has His dwelling in heaven is the Overseer and Helper of that place, and He strikes down and destroys those who come to harm it."

3:40 This was how the events concerning Heliodorus and the preservation of the treasury unfolded.

2 Maccabees 4

4:1 The same Simon, who had informed against the funds and his homeland, spoke evil of Onias, alleging that he himself had instigated the attack on Heliodorus and had become the author of the troubles.

4:2 He dared to call the city's benefactor, the guardian of his fellow countrymen and the zealous defender of the laws a conspirator against the government.

4:3 The hostility advanced so far that murders were committed through one of Simon's approved supporters.

4:4 Onias saw the danger of the rivalry and that Apollonius son of Menestheus, governor of Coele-Syria and Phoenicia, was increasing Simon's wickedness.

4:5 He went to the king, not to accuse his fellow citizens but to seek the common and individual benefit of the entire people.

4:6 For he saw that without royal intervention public affairs could no longer find peace and Simon would not cease his folly.

4:7 When Seleucus departed this life and Antiochus, called Epiphanes, took over the kingdom, Jason, Onias's brother, obtained the high priesthood by fraud.

4:8 In an audience he promised the king three hundred sixty talents of silver, and eighty talents from another source of revenue.

4:9 Beyond these he promised to pay a further one hundred fifty if he were permitted by royal authority to establish a gymnasium and a training institution for young men, and to enroll the people in Jerusalem as Antiochenes.

4:10 When the king consented and Jason gained office, he immediately turned his fellow countrymen toward the Greek manner of life.

4:11 He set aside the benevolent royal concessions established for the Jews through John, the father of Eupolemus, who had undertaken the embassy to the Romans for friendship and alliance. Abolishing the lawful forms of civic life, he introduced unlawful customs.

4:12 For he eagerly established a gymnasium immediately beneath the citadel and brought the most distinguished young men under his direction to wear the broad-brimmed hat.

4:13 There was such an upsurge of Hellenism and advance of foreign ways because of the surpassing impurity of the impious Jason, who was no high priest,

4:14 that the priests were no longer eager for the services of the altar. Despising the temple and neglecting the sacrifices, they hurried to take part in the unlawful provision of exercises in the wrestling ground after the signal for the discus.

4:15 They regarded their ancestral honours as nothing and considered Greek distinctions the finest.

4:16 For this reason a difficult crisis overtook them: those whose ways they admired and whom they wished to resemble in everything became their enemies and punishers.

4:17 For acting impiously against the divine laws is no light matter; the ensuing time will show this.

4:18 When the games held every fifth year were being celebrated in Tyre and the king was present,

4:19 the defiled Jason sent spectators from Jerusalem, as Antiochenes, carrying three hundred silver drachmas for the sacrifice to Heracles. The bearers themselves asked that these not be used for sacrifice, because it was unfitting, but assigned to another expense.

4:20 Thus, although intended by the sender for the sacrifice to Heracles, the money was applied, through the bearers, to the construction of triremes.

4:21 When Apollonius son of Menestheus was sent to Egypt for King Philometor’s accession celebration, Antiochus learned that Philometor had become hostile to his affairs and took thought for his own security. Therefore he came to Joppa and proceeded to Jerusalem.

4:22 Received magnificently by Jason and the city, he was welcomed with torches and shouts. Afterward he departed with his army into Phoenicia.

4:23 After a period of three years, Jason sent Menelaus, brother of the previously mentioned Simon, to convey the money to the king and present memoranda on necessary matters.

4:24 When introduced to the king, Menelaus impressed him by the appearance of authority and secured the high priesthood for himself by outbidding Jason by three hundred talents of silver.

4:25 Having received the royal orders, he returned, bringing nothing worthy of the high priesthood, but possessing the temper of a cruel tyrant and the rage of a savage beast.

4:26 Jason, who had fraudulently displaced his own brother, was himself displaced by another and driven as a fugitive into the land of the Ammonites.

4:27 Menelaus held the office, but made no regular payment of the funds promised to the king,

4:28 although Sostratus, commander of the citadel, demanded them, since collection of the funds belonged to him. For this reason the two men were summoned by the king.

4:29 Menelaus left his own brother Lysimachus as his deputy in the high priesthood, while Sostratus left Crates, the commander of the Cypriots.

4:30 While these things were taking place, the people of Tarsus and Mallus happened to revolt because they had been given as a gift to Antiochis, the king’s concubine.

4:31 The king therefore went quickly to settle the matter, leaving Andronicus, one of the men of high rank, as his deputy.

4:32 Menelaus, thinking he had found a favourable opportunity, stole some of the temple’s gold objects and gave them to Andronicus. He had also sold others in Tyre and the surrounding cities.

4:33 Onias, who had learned these things clearly, denounced them, having withdrawn to a place of asylum at Daphne near Antioch.

4:34 Therefore Menelaus took Andronicus aside and urged him to do away with Onias. Andronicus came to Onias, having been persuaded to act deceitfully, greeted him and gave his right hand with oaths. Although under suspicion, he persuaded Onias to leave the asylum and immediately killed him, showing no regard for justice.

4:35 For this reason not only Jews but also many of the other nations were indignant and distressed at the man’s unjust murder.

4:36 When the king returned from the regions of Cilicia, the Jews in the city petitioned him about the senseless killing of Onias; the Greeks shared their hatred of the wickedness.

4:37 Antiochus was deeply grieved, moved to pity, and wept because of the deceased man's self-restraint and admirable conduct.

4:38 Burning with anger, he immediately stripped Andronicus of his purple robe, tore off his tunics, and led him around the whole city to the very place where he had committed the impious act against Onias. There he removed the murderer from life, the Lord rendering him his deserved punishment.

4:39 Many sacrilegious thefts were committed in the city by Lysimachus with Menelaus's consent, and the report spread abroad. The multitude gathered against Lysimachus, many gold objects having already been carried off.

4:40 As the crowds rose up and were filled with anger, Lysimachus armed about three thousand men and began unjust acts of violence, led by a certain Auranus, advanced in age and no less advanced in folly.

4:41 Seeing Lysimachus's attack, some seized stones, others thick pieces of wood, and some handfuls of the ashes lying nearby, and hurled them in confusion at Lysimachus's men.

4:42 In this way they wounded many of them, struck down some, and drove them all into flight. They killed the temple-robber himself beside the treasury.

4:43 A trial concerning these matters was brought against Menelaus.

4:44 When the king arrived in Tyre, three men sent by the council of elders presented their case before him.

4:45 Menelaus, already losing, promised a large sum of money to Ptolemy son of Dorymenes to persuade the king.

4:46 Ptolemy therefore took the king aside into a colonnade, as though for refreshment, and changed his mind.

4:47 The king acquitted Menelaus, the cause of the entire evil, of the charges, but condemned to death the unfortunate men who would have been released uncondemned even if they had pleaded before Scythians.

4:48 Those who had spoken for the city, the communities and the sacred vessels quickly suffered the unjust penalty.

4:49 For this reason even the Tyrians, hating the wickedness, generously provided for their burial.

4:50 But through the greed of those in power, Menelaus remained in office, growing in wickedness and becoming a great conspirator against his fellow citizens.

2 Maccabees 5

5:1 About this time Antiochus organized his second expedition into Egypt.

5:2 Throughout the whole city, for nearly forty days, horsemen were seen racing through the air, wearing robes interwoven with gold, armed with lances and arrayed in squadrons; there were drawn swords,

5:3 formations of cavalry, attacks and countercharges on either side, movements of shields, masses of spears, volleys of missiles, flashes of golden ornaments, and armour of every kind.

5:4 Therefore everyone prayed that the manifestation had come for good.

5:5 When a false rumor arose that Antiochus had departed this life, Jason took no fewer than a thousand men and suddenly attacked the city. Those on the wall were driven back, and when the city was finally being taken, Menelaus fled to the citadel.

5:6 Jason slaughtered his own fellow citizens without mercy, not realizing that success against his kinsmen was the greatest misfortune. He imagined he was setting up trophies over enemies rather than his own countrymen.

5:7 He did not gain control of the government; receiving shame as the outcome of his plot, he again went away as a fugitive into the Ammonite country.

5:8 In the end he met a disastrous conclusion. Accused before Aretas, ruler of the Arabs, he fled from city to city, pursued by everyone, hated as a deserter of the laws and abhorred as the executioner of his homeland and fellow citizens, until he was driven into Egypt.

5:9 He who had made many strangers to their homeland perished in a foreign land, having sailed to the Lacedaemonians in the hope of obtaining shelter because of their kinship.

5:10 He who had thrown out multitudes unburied went unmourned and received neither any funeral care whatever nor a place in his ancestral tomb.

5:11 When news of these events reached the king, he concluded that Judea was in revolt. He therefore broke camp in Egypt, savage in spirit, took the city by force of arms,

5:12 and ordered the soldiers to cut down without mercy those they met and slaughter those who went up into the houses.

5:13 There was killing of young and old, destruction of boys, women and children, and slaughter of virgins and infants.

5:14 In the space of three days eighty thousand were lost: forty thousand in the acts of violence, and no fewer than those slaughtered were sold.

5:15 Not content with this, he dared to enter the holiest temple in all the earth, with Menelaus as guide—the man who had become a traitor to both the laws and his homeland.

5:16 With defiled hands he took the sacred vessels, and with profane hands swept away the gifts other kings had dedicated for the enhancement, glory and honour of the place.

5:17 Antiochus was exalted in his mind, not seeing that the Master had been briefly angered because of the sins of those inhabiting the city, and therefore had disregarded the place.

5:18 Had they not happened to be involved in many sins, he too, like Heliodorus, whom King Seleucus sent to inspect the treasury, would have been scourged immediately upon advancing and thrown back from his rashness.

5:19 But the Lord did not choose the nation for the sake of the place; He chose the place for the sake of the nation.

5:20 Therefore the place itself, having shared in the nation's misfortunes, afterward shared in its benefits. What had been abandoned in the Almighty's anger was restored again in all glory when the great Master became reconciled.

5:21 Antiochus, then, carried off eighteen hundred talents from the temple and quickly withdrew to Antioch. In his arrogance he imagined he could make the land navigable and the sea passable on foot, because of the haughtiness of his heart.

5:22 He also left overseers to afflict the people: in Jerusalem, Philip, a Phrygian by birth, whose character was more barbarous than that of the man who appointed him;

5:23 and at Gerizim, Andronicus; besides these, Menelaus, who exalted himself over his fellow citizens more wickedly than the others. Having a hateful disposition toward the Jewish citizens,

5:24 he sent Apollonius, commander of the Mysians, with an army of twenty-two thousand, ordering him to slaughter all the men in their prime and sell the women and the younger people.

5:25 On arriving in Jerusalem, Apollonius pretended to be peaceable and waited until the holy day of the Sabbath. Finding the Jews at rest, he ordered those under him to parade under arms.

5:26 He stabbed all who came out to watch, and rushing armed into the city, struck down considerable multitudes.

5:27 But Judas, also called Maccabeus, withdrew into the wilderness with about nine others. He and those with him lived in the mountains like wild animals, continually eating plants so as not to share in the defilement.

2 Maccabees 6

6:1 Not long afterward the king sent an elderly Athenian to compel the Jews to depart from their ancestral laws and cease conducting their lives according to God's laws,

6:2 and also to defile the temple in Jerusalem and name it for Olympian Zeus, and the one at Gerizim for Zeus the Protector of Strangers, in keeping with those who inhabited the place.

6:3 The intensification of the evil was harsh and wholly grievous.

6:4 For the temple was filled by the nations with debauchery and revels. They dallied with prostitutes, had intercourse with women in the sacred enclosures, and also brought inside things that were unfit.

6:5 The altar was filled with forbidden things excluded by the laws.

6:6 It was impossible to keep the Sabbath, observe ancestral festivals, or even profess simply to be a Jew.

6:7 With bitter compulsion they were led to partake of sacrificial entrails on the king's monthly birthday celebration. When the festival of Dionysus came, they were compelled to carry ivy and march in procession for Dionysus.

6:8 At Ptolemy's suggestion a decree also went out to the neighboring Greek cities, to follow the same policy against the Jews and make them partake of sacrificial entrails,

6:9 and to slaughter those who would not choose to adopt Greek customs. Thus one could see the misery that had come upon them.

6:10 Two women were brought forward for circumcising their children. They hung the infants from the women's breasts, paraded the women publicly through the city, and hurled them down from the wall.

6:11 Others, who had gathered in nearby caves to observe the seventh day secretly, were reported to Philip and burned together, because their reverence for the most holy day's dignity restrained them from defending themselves.

6:12 I therefore urge those who encounter this book not to shrink back because of the disasters, but to consider these punishments as intended for the discipline of our people, not their destruction.

6:13 For it is a sign of great kindness that those who act impiously are not left alone for long, but immediately encounter penalties.

6:14 For the Master has not determined to deal with us as with the other nations, patiently waiting to punish them until they have reached the full measure of sins,

6:15 so that He may not take vengeance on us afterward, when we have reached the end of our sins.

6:16 Therefore He never withdraws His mercy from us. Though He disciplines through disaster, He does not abandon His own people.

6:17 Let these words serve only as a reminder; we must now return briefly to the narrative.

6:18 A certain Eleazar, one of the foremost scribes, a man already advanced in age and most handsome in appearance, was being forced to open his mouth and eat pork.

6:19 Choosing a glorious death rather than a defiled life, he went of his own accord to the torture frame,

6:20 having spat it out, as those ought to approach who persevere in refusing things it is unlawful to taste, even for love of life.

6:21 Those appointed to oversee the unlawful eating of sacrificial entrails, because of their long acquaintance with the man, took him aside and urged him to bring meat prepared by himself that he could lawfully use, but to pretend that he was eating the sacrificial meat ordered by the king.

6:22 By doing this, they said, he would be released from death and receive humane treatment because of his old friendship with them.

6:23 But he adopted a noble resolve, worthy of his age, the dignity of his old age, his acquired and distinguished gray hair, his excellent conduct from childhood, and still more the holy legislation established by God. Accordingly he declared at once that they should send him to Hades.

6:24 “For it is unworthy of our age to pretend, lest many of the young suppose that Eleazar, at ninety years of age, has gone over to foreign ways,

6:25 and through my pretence, for the sake of a brief and momentary life, they themselves be led astray because of me, and I acquire defilement and a stain upon my old age.

6:26 For even if I now escape the punishment inflicted by human beings, neither living nor dead shall I escape the hands of the Almighty.

6:27 Therefore, by departing this life courageously now, I shall show myself worthy of my old age,

6:28 and leave the young a noble example of dying willingly and nobly for the revered and holy laws.” After saying this, he went immediately to the torture frame.

6:29 Those who led him changed their goodwill of a little earlier into hostility, because they considered his preceding words madness.

6:30 As he was about to die under the blows, he groaned and said, “It is clear to the Lord, who possesses holy knowledge, that although I could have been released from death, I endure harsh bodily pains under the scourging. Yet in my soul I gladly suffer these things because I fear Him.”

6:31 Thus he departed in this way, leaving his own death as an example of nobility and a memorial of virtue, not only to the young but also to the greater part of the nation.

2 Maccabees 7

7:1 It also happened that seven brothers were arrested with their mother and compelled by the king to partake of forbidden pork, while being tortured with whips and sinew lashes.

7:2 One of them became their spokesman and said, “What do you intend to ask and learn of us? We are ready to die rather than transgress our ancestral laws.”

7:3 The king became furious and ordered pans and cauldrons to be heated.

7:4 When they were immediately heated, he ordered the tongue of their spokesman cut out, and that he be scalped and his extremities cut off while the other brothers and their mother watched.

7:5 When he had been rendered completely helpless, the king ordered him brought to the fire, still breathing, and fried in a pan. As the vapor from the pan spread far, they encouraged one another with their mother to die nobly, saying,

7:6 “The Lord God watches, and in truth He has compassion on us, as Moses explained in the song that bears witness against us to our face, saying, ‘And He will have compassion on His servants.’”

7:7 After the first had departed in this manner, they brought the second for their mockery. Tearing the skin from his head together with his hair, they asked, “Will you eat before your body is punished limb by limb?”

7:8 He answered in his ancestral language, “No.” Therefore he too received the ensuing torture, as the first had.

7:9 And when he was at his last breath, he said, “You, accursed one, release us from this present life; but the King of the world shall raise us, who die for His laws, unto everlasting renewal of life.”

7:10 After him the third was mocked. When asked for his tongue, he quickly put it out and fearlessly stretched forth his hands.

7:11 He nobly said, “I received these from heaven, and for His laws I disregard them; from Him I hope to receive them again.”

7:12 The king himself and those with him were astonished at the young man’s spirit, for he regarded his pains as nothing.

7:13 When he too had departed, they tortured the fourth in the same manner, tormenting him.

7:14 As he was about to die, he said, “It is preferable, when dying at human hands, to look for the hopes given by God, to be raised again by Him. But for you there shall be no resurrection to life.”

7:15 Next they brought forward the fifth and tormented him.

7:16 Looking at the king, he said, “Although mortal, you have authority among human beings and do what you will. But do not suppose our people have been abandoned by God.

7:17 Wait and behold His majestic might, how He will torment you and your offspring.”

7:18 After him they brought the sixth, and as he was about to die he said, “Do not deceive yourself vainly. We suffer these things because of ourselves, having sinned against our own God; astonishing things have happened.

7:19 But do not imagine that you shall go unpunished after attempting to fight against God.”

7:20 Their mother was exceedingly admirable and worthy of a good remembrance. Although she saw seven sons perish within the span of a single day, she bore it courageously because of her hopes in the Lord.

7:21 Filled with a noble resolve, she encouraged each of them in their ancestral language, rousing her womanly reasoning with a man’s courage, and said to them,

7:22 “I do not know how you appeared in my womb. It was not I who granted you spirit and life, nor did I arrange the composition of each of you.

7:23 Therefore the Creator of the world, who fashioned humanity’s beginning and devised the beginning of all things, in mercy gives you again both spirit and life, since you now disregard yourselves for the sake of His laws.”

7:24 Antiochus thought himself despised and suspected her words were reproaches. As the youngest was still alive, he not only urged him with words but assured him with oaths that, if he turned away from his ancestral ways, he would make him rich and enviable, regard him as a friend, and entrust him with public responsibilities.

7:25 When the young man paid no attention at all, the king summoned the mother and urged her to advise the boy to save himself.

7:26 After he had urged her at length, she agreed to persuade her son.

7:27 Bending toward him, she mocked the cruel tyrant by speaking in their ancestral language: “Son, have mercy on me, who carried you in my womb for nine months, nursed you for three years, nourished you, brought you to this age, and sustained you.

7:28 I beseech you, child, look up at heaven and earth and see everything in them. Recognize that God made them not from things that were, and that the human race comes into being in the same way.

7:29 Do not fear this executioner. Prove worthy of your brothers and accept death, so that in mercy I may receive you back with your brothers.”

7:30 While she was still finishing, the young man said, “What are you waiting for? I do not obey the king’s ordinance; I obey the ordinance of the law given to our fathers through Moses.

7:31 But you, who have devised every evil against the Hebrews, shall certainly not escape God’s hands.

7:32 For we are suffering because of our own sins.

7:33 Although our living Lord has been angered briefly for rebuke and discipline, He will again be reconciled to His own servants.

7:34 But you, unholy and most defiled of all human beings, do not be vainly exalted, raging with uncertain hopes as you raise your hand against Heaven’s children.

7:35 For you have not yet escaped the judgment of the Almighty, the all-seeing God.

7:36 Our brothers, after enduring a short pain, have now fallen under God’s covenant of everlasting life; but you, by God’s judgment, shall bear the just penalties of your arrogance.

7:37 I, like my brothers, give up both body and soul for our ancestral laws, calling upon God to become merciful quickly to the nation, and that through trials and scourges you may confess that He alone is God.

7:38 May the Almighty’s anger, justly brought upon our whole people, come to rest in me and my brothers.”

7:39 The king became furious and treated this one more cruelly than the others, bitterly resenting the mockery.

7:40 Thus he too departed undefiled, trusting entirely in the Lord.

7:41 Last of all, after her sons, the mother died.

7:42 Let this account suffice concerning the sacrificial eating and the surpassing tortures.

2 Maccabees 8

8:1 Judas, also called Maccabeus, and those with him slipped secretly into the villages, called their kinsmen to join them, and gathered those who had remained in Judaism, assembling about six thousand.

8:2 They called upon the Lord to look upon the people trampled by everyone, and to have pity on the temple profaned by impious men,

8:3 to have mercy also on the city being destroyed and about to be levelled, and to listen to the blood crying out to Him,

8:4 to remember the unlawful destruction of innocent infants and the blasphemies committed against His name, and to show His hatred of wickedness.

8:5 Once Maccabeus had formed his company, he became irresistible to the nations, the Lord's anger having turned to mercy.

8:6 Coming unexpectedly upon cities and villages, he burned them; seizing strategic places, he put not a few enemies to flight.

8:7 He especially used the nights as allies in such attacks. The report of his courage resounded everywhere.

8:8 Philip saw that the man was gradually advancing and making increasingly frequent progress in his successes. He wrote to Ptolemy, governor of Coele-Syria and Phoenicia, to assist the king's affairs.

8:9 Ptolemy quickly selected Nicanor son of Patroclus, one of the foremost friends, and sent him, placing under him no fewer than twenty thousand men from nations of every kind, to eradicate the whole people of Judea. He also associated with him Gorgias, a general experienced in military affairs.

8:10 Nicanor determined to discharge the king's tribute to the Romans, amounting to two thousand talents, from the captivity of the Jews.

8:11 He immediately sent to the coastal cities, inviting people to buy Jewish bodies and promising to give ninety bodies for a talent, not expecting the judgment that was about to follow upon him from the Almighty.

8:12 News of Nicanor's advance reached Judas. When he informed those with him of the army's approach,

8:13 the cowardly and those who distrusted God's judgment slipped away and left the place.
